Course Guides and Programme Regulations 2012-2013
www.lse.ac.uk/calendar

© Copyright 2012 The London School of Economics and Political Science CERTIFICATE

Programme Regulations 1

UNDERGRADUATE

Programme Regulations 5
Course Guides 35

DIPLOMA

Programme Regulations 143

TAUGHT MASTERS

Programme Regulations 147
Partnership Programme Regulations 203
Course Guides 213

LANGUAGE CENTRE COURSES

Modern Foreign Language Certificate Courses 499
English for Academic Purposes Insessional Programme 521

RESEARCH

MRes/PhD Programme Regulations 527
MPhil/PhD Programme Regulations 535
Course Guides 567

TEACHING AND LEARNING CENTRE COURSES

Study skills and personal development for undergraduate and MSc students 591
Academic and professional development for PhD students 591
Academic and professional development for research staff 591
Postgraduate Certificate in Higher Education course 591
Certificate Programme Regulations
Certificate Programme Regulations

Key to Certificate Regulations
(H) means a half-unit course
(C) means this course is capped
(n/a 12/13) means not available in the 2012/13 academic year
(M) means Michaelmas Term
(L) means Lent Term
(S) means Summer Term

Certificate in Health Economics, Policy and Management (modular)
Students take four compulsory half unit courses.

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Paper</th>
<th>Course number and title</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>Year 1</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>1</td>
<td>SA4G1 Financing Health Care (modular) (H)</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>2</td>
<td>SA4G2 Health Economics (modular) (H)</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>3</td>
<td>SA4E1 Health Administration and Management (modular) (H)</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>4</td>
<td>SA4E2 Resource Allocation and Cost-effectiveness Analysis (modular) (H)</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>
2 Certificate Programme Regulations
Key to Undergraduate Regulations

(H) means a half-unit course
(C) means this course is capped
(n/a 12/13) means not available in the 2012/13 academic year
(M) means Michaelmas Term
(L) means Lent Term
(S) means Summer Term

BSc Accounting and Finance
For all first, second and third year students in 2012-13

Paper  Course number and title
See note

LSE100 The LSE Course: Understanding the causes of things

Year 1
1  AC100 Elements of Accounting and Finance
2  EC102 Economics B
3  MA107 Quantitative Methods (Mathematics) (H) and ST107 Quantitative Methods (Statistics) (H) or ST102 Elementary Statistical Theory or
   ST108 Probability and Statistics for the Social Sciences*
4  One of:
   MA100 Mathematical Methods (must be selected if ST102 taken under paper 3) or MA110 Basic Quantitative Methods (must be selected if ST108 taken under paper 3)*
   or an approved paper taught outside the Department

Year 2
5  AC211 Managerial Accounting
6  FM212 Principles of Finance
7  Either EC201 Microeconomic Principles I or EC202
   Microeconomic Principles II or EC210 Macroeconomic Principles
8  One of:
   Either EC220 Introduction to Econometrics or EC221
   Principles of Econometrics
   Either ID200 Organisational Theory and Behaviour, LL209
   Commercial Law, MN200 The Process of Management or
   OR202 Operational Research Methods
   A student may take approved papers to the value of one unit not listed above (normally papers available only to second or third year students), but permission will need to be sought from the Departmental Tutor.

Year 3
9  AC330 Financial Accounting, Analysis and Valuation
10  Either AC310 Management Accounting, Financial Management and Organizational Control or AC340
    Auditing, Governance and Risk Management
11  Either FM300 Corporate Finance, Investments and Financial Markets or FM320 Quantitative Finance
12  One from the selection list below:
    (if not already taken under papers 10 &11):
    AC310 Management Accounting, Financial Management and Organizational Control
    AC340 Auditing, Governance and Risk Management
    FM300 Corporate Finance, Investments and Financial Markets
    FM320 Quantitative Finance
    (if not already taken under papers 7 or 8):
    EC201 Microeconomic Principles I
    EC210 Macroeconomic Principles
    EC220 Introduction to Econometrics or EC221 Principles of Econometrics
    (if not already taken under paper 8):
    EH206 The Evolution of Economic Policy in Advanced Economies (n/a 12/13)
    EH207 The Making of an Economic Superpower: China since 1850

ID200 Organisational Theory and Behaviour
LL209 Commercial Law
MN200 Management: Theory and Evidence
OR202 Operational Research Methods
Or one of the following:
EC315 International Economics
EH240 Business and Economic Performance since 1945:
Britain in International Context
ID290 Human Resource Management
LN320 Spanish Language and Society 5 (Mastery)
LN330 French Language and Society 5 (Mastery)
MA207 Further Quantitative Methods (H)
MA212 Further Mathematical Methods
MA300 Game Theory
MA301 Game Theory 1 (H)
MA303 Chaos in Dynamic Systems (H)
SO203 Political Sociology
SO212 Work, Management and Globalisation
ST201 Statistical Models and Data Analysis (H)
ST202 Probability, Distribution and Inference
ST203 Statistics for Management Sciences
ST307 Aspects of Market Research (H)
ST308 Bayesian Inference (H)

In exceptional circumstances a student may take a course not listed above (normally papers available only to second or third year students), but permission will need to be sought from the Departmental Tutor.

Notes
* ST108 and MA110 must be taken by those students who have not studied Mathematics beyond GCSE level or equivalent.
LSE100 is taken by all students in the Lent Term of Year 1 and the Michaelmas Term of Year 2. The course is compulsory but does not affect the final degree classification

This programme is externally accredited by the ICAEW, ICAS, CIMA and ACCA. Further information is available from the Department of Accounting (accounting@lse.ac.uk) or the BSc
Finance and Accounting programme brochure lse.ac.uk/accounting/prospectiveStudents/undergraduate/BSc_programmebrochure.pdf
(pdf)

BSc Actuarial Science
For first, second and third year students in 2012-13

Paper  Course number and title
See note

LSE100 The LSE Course: Understanding the causes of things

Year 1
1  ST102 Elementary Statistical Theory
2  MA100 Mathematical Methods
3  Either AC100 Elements of Accounting and Finance or MA103 Introduction to Abstract Mathematics
4  EC102 Economics B

Year 2
5  ST202 Probability, Distribution Theory and Inference
6  MA212 Further Mathematical Methods
7  ST226 Actuarial Investigations: Financial (H) and
   ST227 Survival Models (H)
8  Courses to the value of one unit from:
   SO100 Key Concepts in Sociology: An Introduction to Sociological Theory
   PS102 Social Psychology
   IS143 Information Technology and Society
   SA103 Population, Economy and Society
   MA103 Introduction to Abstract Mathematics
   MA318 History of Mathematics in Finance and Economics
   (H)
   ST211 Applied Regression (H)
   ST212 Applied Statistics Project (H)
BA Anthropology and Law

For first, second and third year students in 2012-13

Paper
Course number and title

See note LSE100 The LSE Course: Understanding the causes of things

Year 1

1. AN100 Introduction to Social Anthropology
2. AN101 Ethnography and Theory: Selected Texts
3. LL106 Public Law
4. LL105 Property I (H) and LL109 Introduction to the Legal System (H)

Year 2

5. AN226 Political and Legal Anthropology
6. LL108 Criminal Law
7. LL104 Law of Obligations
8. Courses to the value of one unit to be selected from the Anthropology Selection Lists A and B

Year 3

9. LL232 Law and Institutions of the European Union
10. LL275 Property II
11. Courses to the value of one unit not already taken to be selected from Law Selection List
12. Courses to the value of one unit not already taken to be selected from the Anthropology Selection Lists A, B and C.

Notes

No more than one unit taken under papers 8 and 12 may be selected from Anthropology Selection List A. LSE100 is taken by all students in the Lent Term of Year 1 and the Michaelmas Term of Year 2. The course is compulsory but does not affect the final degree classification.

This programme is externally accredited by the Institute and Faculty of Actuaries. Further information is available on the Department of Statistics website lse.ac.uk/statistics/study/currentstudents/exemptions.aspx.

---

Anthropology Selection List A

- AN205 The Anthropology of Melanesia (n/a 12/13)
- AN216 Cognition and Anthropology (H) (n/a 12/13)
- AN221 The Anthropology of Christianity (H) (n/a 12/13)
- AN223 The Anthropology of South East Asia (H) (n/a 12/13)
- AN230 The Anthropology of Industrialisation and Industrial Life (H) (n/a 12/13)
- AN231 The Anthropology of China (H)
- AN235 The Anthropology of Southern Africa (H) (n/a 12/13)
- AN237 The Anthropology of Development (H)
- AN238 Anthropology and Human Rights (H)
- AN240 Investigating the Philippines: New Approaches and Ethnographic Contexts (H) (n/a 12/13)
- AN243 Children and Youth in Contemporary Ethnography (H) (n/a 12/13)
- AN244 Anthropology and Media (H) (n/a 12/13)
- AN245 The Anthropology of Borders and Boundaries (H) (n/a 12/13)

---

Anthropology Selection List B

- AN200 The Anthropology of Kinship, Sex and Gender
- AN227 The Anthropology of Economic Institutions and their Social Transformations

---

Anthropology Selection List C

- AN300 Advanced Theory of Social Anthropology
- AN301 The Anthropology of Religion

---

Law Selection List

- LL201 Administrative Law
- LL202 Commercial Contracts
- LL203 Law of Business Associations
- LL204 Advanced Torts
- LL205 Medical Law
- LL207 Civil Liberties and Human Rights
- LL210 Information Technology and the Law
- LL212 Conflict of Laws (n/a 12/13)
- LL221 Family Law
- LL233 Law of Evidence
- LL241 Introduction to Civil Law
- LL242 International Protection of Human Rights
- LL250 Law and the Environment
- LL251 Intellectual Property Law
- LL253 The Law of Corporate Insolvency
- LL257 Labour Law
- LL259 Legal and Social Changes Since 1750
- LL262 Outlines of Modern Criminology (H)
- LL278 Public International Law
- LL284 Sentencing and Treatment of Offenders (H)
- LL293 Taxation
- LL295 Media Law
- LL300 Competition Law
- LL305 Jurisprudence

This programme is externally accredited by the Law Society. Further information is available from the Department of Anthropology either by emailing anthropology.enquiries@lse.ac.uk or accessing the Anthropology Department website lse.ac.uk/anthropology/degree_programmes/degree_programmes_home.aspx.

---

BSc Business Mathematics and Statistics

For first and second year students in 2012-13

Paper
Course number and title

See note LSE100 The LSE Course: Understanding the causes of things

Year 1

1. ST102 Elementary Statistical Theory
2. MA100 Mathematical Methods
3. Either EC100 Economics A* or EC102 Economics B
   *The Course Tutor must approve and countersign the selection of options form for any student wishing to take EC100
4. Either AC100 Elements of Accounting and Finance or MA103 Introduction to Abstract Mathematics

Year 2

5. MA212 Further Mathematical Methods
6. ST205 Sample Surveys and Experiments (H) and ST211
<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Courses to the value of one unit from:</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>MA103 Introduction to Abstract Mathematics</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>MA203 Real Analysis (H)</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>OR202 Operational Research Methods</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>ST202 Probability, Distribution Theory and Inference</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>ST212 Applied Statistics Project (H)</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>ST226 Actuarial Investigations - Financial (H)</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>ST227 Survival Models (H)</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>MA208 Optimisation Theory (H)</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>MA209 Differential Equations (H)</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>MA210 Discrete Mathematics (H)</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Courses to the value of one unit from:</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>AC100 Elements of Accounting and Finance</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>AC211 Managerial Accounting</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>EC202 Microeconomic Principles II (only if EC102 has previously been taken)</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>EC210 Macroeconomic Principles (only if EC102 has previously been taken)</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>FM212 Principles of Finance</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>GV101 Introduction to the Study of Politics</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>GY100 Environment, Economy and Society</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>ID200 Organisational Theory and Behaviour</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>ID290 Human Resource Management</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>IS143 Information Technology and Society</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>MN200 The Process of Management</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>MN201 Economics for Management</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>PH201 Philosophy of Science</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>PS102 Social Psychology</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>SA103 Population, Economy and Society</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>SQ100 Key Concepts in Sociology</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>SQ212 Work, Management and Globalisation</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Students may also take a Language course unit at least at intermediate level, or a course taught outside the Department of Mathematics, Statistics and Operations Research with the approval of the Course Tutor.</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

Year 3

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Courses to the value of one unit from the following:</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>ST300 Regression and Generalised Linear Models (H)</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>ST302 Stochastic Processes (H)</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>ST304 Time Series and Forecasting (H)</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>ST305 Actuarial Mathematics: (Life)</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>ST306 Actuarial Mathematics: General (H)</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>ST307 Aspects of Market Research (H) (not if ST327 is taken)</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>ST308 Bayesian Inference (H)</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>ST327 Market Research: An Integrated Approach (not if ST307 is taken)</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>ST330 Stochastic and Actuarial Methods in Finance (can only be taken in conjunction with ST302)</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Courses to the value of one unit from the list below or from paper 9 (above):</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>MA203 Real Analysis (H)</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>MA208 Optimisation Theory (H)</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>MA209 Differential Equations (H)</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>MA210 Discrete Mathematics (H)</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>MA211 Algebra and Number Theory (H)</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>MA300 Game Theory (not if MA301 also taken)</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>MA301 Game Theory I (H) (not if MA300 also taken)</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>MA303 Chaos in Dynamical Systems (H)</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>MA305 Optimisation in Function Spaces (H)</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>MA310 Mathematics of Finance and Valuation (H)</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>MA313 Probability for Finance (H)</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>MA314 Algorithms in Java (H)</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>MA315 Algebra and its Applications (H)</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>MA317 Complex Analysis (H)</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>MA318 History of Mathematics in Finance and Economics (H)</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>MN307 Aspects of Marketing Management (H)</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>OR301 Model Building in Operational Research (not if OR307 is taken)</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>OR304 Decision Sciences in Theory and Practice</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

Year 4

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Courses to the value of one unit from:</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>OR307 Simulation Modelling and Analysis (H)</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Courses to the value of one unit from:</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>AC211 Managerial Accounting</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>AC310 Management Accounting, Financial Management and Organizational Control</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>AC330 Financial Accounting, Analysis and Valuation</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>AC340 Auditing, Governance and Risk Management</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>EC202 Microeconomic Principles II</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>EC210 Macroeconomic Principles</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>EC313 Industrial Economics</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>EC321 Monetary Economics</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>FM212 Principles of Finance</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>FM300 Corporate Finance, Investments and Financial Mathematics</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>FM320 Quantitative Finance</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>GV225 Public Choice and Politics</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>ID200 Organisational Theory and Behaviour</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>ID290 Human Resource Management</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>IS340 Information Systems in Business</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>LL209 Commercial Law</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>LL210 Information Technology and the Law</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>MN200 The Process of Management</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>MN201 Economics for Management</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>MN302 International Marketing: A Strategic Approach</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>MN303 International Context of Management (H)</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>MN304 Strategy (H)</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>MN307 Aspects of Marketing Management (H)</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>PH201 Philosophy of Science</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>PH211 Philosophy of Economics</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>SA250 Demographic Description and Analysis</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>SQ212 Work, Management and Globalisation</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Students may also take a Language course unit, or a course taught outside of the Departments of Mathematics and Statistics with the approval of the Course Tutor.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Any courses to the value of one unit from the options listed under papers 9, 10 and 11 or from the list below:</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>EC221 Principles of Econometrics</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>OR202 Operational Research Methods</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>ST202 Probability, Distribution Theory and Inference (if not already taken under paper 7)</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>ST212 Applied Statistics Project (H) (if not already taken under paper 7)</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>ST226 Actuarial Investigations: Financial (H)</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>ST227 Survival Models (H)</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

Notes

LSE100 is taken by all students in the Lent Term of Year 1 and the Michaelmas Term of Year 2. The course is compulsory but does not affect the final degree classification.

---

BSc Business Mathematics and Statistics

For third year students in 2012-13

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Paper</th>
<th>Course number and title</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>See note</td>
<td>LSE100 The LSE Course: Understanding the causes of things</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

Year 1

| 1 | ST102 Elementary Statistical Theory |
| 2 | MA100 Mathematical Methods |
| 3 | Either EC100 Economics A* or EC102 Economics B |
| The Course Tutor must approve and countersign the selection of options form for any student wishing to take |
| 4 | EC100 |
| 5 | Either AC100 Elements of Accounting and Finance or MA103 Introduction to Abstract Mathematics |

Year 2

| 5 | MA212 Further Mathematical Methods |
| 6 | ST202 Probability, Distribution Theory and Inference or ST211 Applied Regression (H) and ST212 Applied Statistics Project (H) |
| 7 | Courses to the value of one unit from: |
| 8 | MA103 Introduction to Abstract Mathematics |
MA203 Real Analysis (H)
ST202 Probability, Distribution Theory and Inference
ST205 Sample Surveys and Experiments (H)
ST226 Actuarial Investigations - Financial (H)
ST227 Survival Models (H)
MA208 Optimisation Theory (H)
MA209 Differential Equations (H)
MA210 Discrete Mathematics (H)

Courses to the value of one unit from:
AC100 Elements of Accounting and Finance
AC211 Managerial Accounting
EC202 Microeconomic Principles II (only if EC102 has previously been taken)
EC210 Macroeconomic Principles (only if EC102 has previously been taken)
FM212 Principles of Finance
GV101 Introduction to the Study of Politics
GY100 Environment, Economy and Society
ID200 Organisational Theory and Behaviour
ID290 Human Resource Management
IS143 Information Technology and Society
MN200 The Process of Management
MN201 Economics for Management
PH201 Philosophy of Science
PS102 Social Psychology
SA103 Population, Economy and Society
SO100 Key Concepts in Sociology
SO212 Work, Management and Globalisation

Students may also take a Language course unit at least at intermediate level, or a course taught outside the Department of Mathematics, Statistics and Operations Research with the approval of the Course Tutor.

Year 3

Courses to the value of one unit from the following:
ST300 Regression and Generalised Linear Models (H)
ST302 Stochastic Processes (H)
ST304 Time Series and Forecasting (H)
ST305 Actuarial Mathematics: Life
ST306 Actuarial Mathematics: General (H)
ST307 Aspects of Market Research (H) (not if ST327 is taken)
ST308 Bayesian Inference (H)
ST327 Market Research: An Integrated Approach (not if ST307 is taken)
ST330 Stochastic and Actuarial Methods in Finance (can only be taken in conjunction with ST302)

Courses to the value of one unit from the list below or from paper 9 (above):
MA203 Real Analysis (H)
MA208 Optimisation Theory (H)
MA209 Differential Equations (H)
MA210 Discrete Mathematics (H)
MA211 Algebra and Number Theory (H)
MA300 Game Theory (not if MA301 is taken)
MA301 Game Theory I (H) (not if MA300 is taken)
MA303 Chaos in Dynamical Systems (H)
MA305 Optimisation in Function Spaces (H)
MA310 Mathematics of Finance and Valuation (H)
MA313 Probability for Finance (H)
MA314 Algorithms in Java (H)
MA315 Algebra and its Applications (H)
MA317 Complex Analysis (H)
MN307 Aspects of Marketing Management (H)
OR301 Model Building in Operational Research (not if OR307 is taken)
OR304 Decision Sciences in Theory and Practice
OR307 Simulation Modelling and Analysis (H)

Courses to the value of one unit from:
AC211 Managerial Accounting
AC310 Management Accounting, Financial Management and Organizational Control

AC330 Financial Accounting, Analysis and Valuation
AC340 Auditing, Governance and Risk Management
EC202 Microeconomic Principles II
EC210 Macroeconomic Principles
EC313 Industrial Economics
EC321 Monetary Economics
FM212 Principles of Finance
FM300 Corporate Finance, Investments and Financial Mathematics
FM320 Quantitative Finance
GV225 Public Choice and Politics
ID200 Organisational Theory and Behaviour
ID290 Human Resource Management
IS340 Information Systems in Business
LL209 Commercial Law
LL210 Information Technology and the Law
MN200 The Process of Management
MN201 Economics for Management
MN302 International Marketing: A Strategic Approach
MN303 International Context of Management (H)
MN304 Strategy (H)
MN307 Aspects of Marketing Management (H)
PH201 Philosophy of Science
PH211 Philosophy of Economics
SA250 Descriptive and Analysis
SO212 Work, Management and Globalisation

Students may also take a Language course unit, or a course taught outside of the Departments of Mathematics and Statistics with the approval of the Course Tutor.

12

Any courses to the value of one unit from the options listed under papers 9, 10 and 11 or from the list below:
EC221 Principles of Econometrics
OR202 Operational Research Methods
ST202 Probability, Distribution Theory and Inference (if not already taken under paper 7)
ST205 Sample Surveys and Experiments (if not already taken under paper 7)
ST211 Applied Regression (H) (if not already taken under paper 6)
ST212 Applied Statistics Project (H) (if not already taken under paper 6)
ST226 Actuarial Investigations: Financial (H)
ST227 Survival Models (H)

Notes
LSE100 is taken by all students in the Lent Term of Year 1 and the Michaelmas Term of Year 2. The course is compulsory but does not affect the final degree classification.

BSc Econometrics and Mathematical Economics
For first, second and third year students in 2012-13

Paper Course number and title
See note
LSE100 The LSE Course: Understanding the causes of things

Year 1

1 EC102 Economics B
2 MA100 Mathematical Methods
3 ST102 Elementary Statistical Theory
4 An approved paper taught outside the Department of Economics

Year 2

5 EC202 Microeconomic Principles II
6 EC221 Principles of Econometrics
7 Either:
EC210 Macroeconomic Principles
or MA212 Further Mathematical Methods or Courses to the value of one unit from: MA203 Real Analysis (H) AND an appropriate Mathematics second half module, with the permission of the Department Tutor
8 Either ST202 Probability, Distribution Theory and Inference or an approved paper taught outside the Department
Year 3
9 Either EC309 Econometric Theory or EC319 Economic Theory and its Applications or EC333 Problems of Applied Econometrics
10 One from the Selection list below
11 Either a further paper from 9 above or an approved paper from the Selection list below
12 EC331 Project in Quantitative Economics

In exceptional circumstances a student may substitute an outside paper for paper 11. This outside paper should be both of an advanced nature and coherent with the student’s other choice of papers. Permission to take such a paper should first be obtained from the Departmental Tutor who must countersign the Additional Permission Form. Any subsequent revision to the student’s choice of papers must also be countersigned by the Departmental Tutor.

Econometrics and Mathematical Economics Selection list
AC211 Managerial Accounting
AC210 Management Accounting, Financial Management and Organisational Control
AC340 Auditing, Governance and Risk Management
(Students may take only one of AC211, AC310 and AC340 in year 3)
FM212 Principles of Finance
FM300 Corporate Finance, Investments and Financial Markets (if FM212 taken in second year)
FM320 Quantitative Finance (if FM212 taken in second year)
(Students may take only one of FM212, FM300 and FM320 in year 3)
EC210 Macroeconomic Principles (if not taken under 7 above)
EC301 Advanced Economic Analysis
EC302 Political Economy (n/a 12/13)
EC303 Economic Policy Analysis
EC307 Development Economics
EC310 Behavioural Economics
EC311 History of Economics: How Theories Change
EC313 Industrial Economics
EC315 International Economics
EC317 Labour Economics
EC321 Monetary Economics
EC325 Public Economics
MA300 Game Theory
OR202 Operational Research Methods
OR301 Model Building in Operational Research (if OR202 taken in 2nd year)
(Students may take only one from OR202 and OR301 in year 3)
PH211 Philosophy of Economics
ST202 Probability, Distribution Theory and Inference (if not taken under 8 above)

Notes LSE100 is taken by all students in the Lent Term of Year 1 and the Michaelmas Term of Year 2. The course is compulsory but does not affect the final degree classification.

BSc Economic History
For all first, second and third year students in 2012-13
Paper Course number and title
See note LSE100 The LSE Course: Understanding the causes of things

Year 1
1 EH101 The Internationalisation of Economic Growth, 1870 to the Present Day
2 Either EC100 Economics A or EC102 Economics B
   One from:
3 HY113 From Empire to Independence: the Extra-European World in the Twentieth Century
   HY114 War and Society from the Renaissance to the Napoleonic Era, c.1500-1815

Year 2
4 HY116 International History since 1890
   An approved paper from outside the Department
5 EH237 Theories and Evidence in Economic History
   Two from:
6 EH101 The Internationalisation of Economic Growth, 1870 to the Present Day (if not taken in year 1)
7 EH203 From Money to Finance: European Financial History, 800-1750 (n/a 12/13)
8 EH205 Towns, Society and Economy in England and Europe, 1450-1750
9 EH206 The Evolution of Economic Policy in Advanced Economies (n/a 12/13)
10 EH207 The Making of an Economic Superpower: China since 1850
11 EH211 Africa and the World Economy, 1500-2000
12 EH220 Comparative Economic Development: Late Industrialisation in Russia, India and Japan (n/a 12/13)
13 EH225 Latin America and the International Economy
14 EH238 The Industrial Revolution (n/a 12/13)
15 EH240 Business and Economic Performance since 1945: Britain in International Context

Year 3
9 & 10 Two from:
16 EC311 History of Economics: How Theories Change
17 EH301 The Origins of the World Economy, 1450-1750 (n/a 12/13)
18 EH304 The Economic History of North America: from Colonial Times to the Cold War (n/a 12/13)
19 EH306 Monetary and Financial History since 1750
20 EH307 The Economic History of South Asia, 1600-2000
21 EH325 Issues of Modern Japanese Economic Development: Late Industrialisation, Imperialism and High Speed Growth (n/a 12/13)
22 EH326 Innovation and its Finance in the 19th and 20th Centuries
23 EH327 China’s Traditional Economy and its Growth in the Very Long-Term

11 A further paper taught by the Department of Economic History from those listed under papers 7 or 9 & 10
12 EH390 Dissertation in Economic or Social History

Notes LSE100 is taken by all students in the Lent Term of Year 1 and the Michaelmas Term of Year 2. The course is compulsory but does not affect the final degree classification.

BSc Economic History with Economics
For all first, second and third year students in 2012-13
Paper Course number and title
See note LSE100 The LSE Course: Understanding the causes of things

Year 1
1 EC102 Economics B
2 EH101 The Internationalisation of Economic Growth, 1870 to the Present Day
3 MA100 Mathematical Methods
4 An approved paper taught outside the Departments of Economics and Economic History

Year 2
5 Either EC201 Microeconomic Principles I or EC202 Microeconomic Principles II or EC210 Macroeconomic Principles
6 EH237 Theories and Evidence in Economic History
   One from:
7 EH203 From Money to Finance: European Financial History, 800-1750 (n/a 12/13)
8 EH205 Towns, Society and Economy in England and Europe, 1450-1750
Paper Course number and title
For all first, second and third year students in 2012-13
BSc Economics

EH206 The Evolution of Economic Policy in Advanced Economies (n/a 12/13)
EH207 The Making of an Economic Superpower: China since 1850
EH211 Africa and the World Economy, 1500-2000
EH220 Comparative Economic Development: Late Industrialisation in Russia, India and Japan (n/a 12/13)
EH225 Latin America and the International Economy
EH238 The Industrial Revolution (n/a 12/13)
EH240 Business and Economic Performance since 1945: Britain in International Context

8 An approved paper taught outside the Departments of Economic History and Economics (normally papers available to 2nd and 3rd year students) or a further paper from 7 above

Year 3

9 One from:
Either EC201 Microeconomic Principles I or EC202 Microeconomic Principles II or EC210 Macroeconomic Principles

10 One from:
EC311 History of Economics: How Theories Change
EH301 The Origins of the World Economy, 1450-1750 (n/a 12/13)
EH304 The Economic History of North America: From Colonial Times to the Cold War (n/a 12/13)
EH306 Monetary and Financial History since 1750
EH307 The Economic History of South Asia, 1600-2000
EH325 Issues in Modern Japanese Economic Development: Late Industrialisation, Imperialism and High Speed Growth (n/a 12/13)
EH326 Innovation and its Finance in the 19th and 20th Centuries
EH327 China's Traditional Economy and its Growth in the Very Long-Term

11 Either a further paper from 7 above or a further paper from 10 above

12 EH390 Dissertation in Economic or Social History

Notes
LSE100 is taken by all students in the Lent Term of Year 1 and the Michaelmas Term of Year 2. The course is compulsory but does not affect the final degree classification.

In exceptional circumstances a student may substitute an outside paper for paper 12. This outside paper should be both of an advanced nature and coherent with the student’s other choice of papers. Permission to take such a paper should first be obtained from the Departmental Tutor who must countersign the Additional Permission Form. Any subsequent revision to the student’s choice of papers must also be countersigned by the Departmental Tutor.

Economics Selection List

EC301 Advanced Economic Analysis
EC302 Political Economy (n/a 12/13)
EC303 Economic Policy Analysis
EC307 Development Economics
EC310 Behavioural Economics
EC311 History of Economics: How Theories Change
EC313 Industrial Economics
EC315 International Economics
EC317 Labour Economics
EC319 Economic Theory and its Applications
EC321 Monetary Economics
EC325 Public Economics
EC333 Problems of Applied Econometrics
Either FM212 Principles of Finance or FM300 Corporate Finance, Investments and Financial Markets (if FM212 taken in 2nd year) or FM320 Quantitative Finance (if FM212 taken in 2nd year)
* Students may not take both FM300 and FM320 in Year 3

BSc Economics and Economic History

For all first, second and third year students in 2012-13
Paper Course number and title
See note LSE100 The LSE Course: Understanding the causes of things

Year 1

1 EC102 Economics B
2 MA100 Mathematical Methods
3 ST102 Elementary Statistical Theory
4 An approved paper taught outside the Department

Year 2

5 EC201 Microeconomic Principles I or EC202 Microeconomic Principles II
6 EC210 Macroeconomic Principles
7 Either EC220 Introduction to Econometrics or EC221Principles of Econometrics
8 An approved paper taught outside the Department

Year 3

9, 10, 11 Three from the Economics Selection List
12 Either an additional paper from the Economics Selection list or a paper from the list below:
AC211 Managerial Accounting
AC310 Management Accounting, Financial Management and Organizational Control
AC340 Auditing, Governance and Risk Management
EH206 The Evolution of Economic Policy in Advanced Economies (n/a 12/13)
EH207 The Making of an Economic Superpower: China since 1850
EH220 Comparative Economic Development: Late Industrialisation in Russia, India and Japan (n/a 12/13)
EH225 Latin America and the International Economy
EH240 Business and Economic Performance since 1945: Britain in International Context
EH304 The Economic History of North America: From Colonial Times to the Cold War (n/a 12/13)

Notes
LSE100 is taken by all students in the Lent Term of Year 1 and the Michaelmas Term of Year 2. The course is compulsory but does not affect the final degree classification.

In exceptional circumstances a student may substitute an outside paper for paper 12. This outside paper should be both of an advanced nature and coherent with the student’s other choice of papers. Permission to take such a paper should first be obtained from the Departmental Tutor who must countersign the Additional Permission Form. Any subsequent revision to the student’s choice of papers must also be countersigned by the Departmental Tutor.

Economics Selection List

EC301 Advanced Economic Analysis
EC302 Political Economy (n/a 12/13)
EC303 Economic Policy Analysis
EC307 Development Economics
EC310 Behavioural Economics
EC311 History of Economics: How Theories Change
EC313 Industrial Economics
EC315 International Economics
EC317 Labour Economics
EC319 Economic Theory and its Applications
EC321 Monetary Economics
EC325 Public Economics
EC333 Problems of Applied Econometrics
Either FM212 Principles of Finance or FM300 Corporate Finance, Investments and Financial Markets (if FM212 taken in 2nd year) or FM320 Quantitative Finance (if FM212 taken in 2nd year)
* Students may not take both FM300 and FM320 in Year 3

BSc Economics

For all first, second and third year students in 2012-13
Paper Course number and title
See note LSE100 The LSE Course: Understanding the causes of things

Year 1

1 EC102 Economics B
2 MA100 Mathematical Methods
3 ST102 Elementary Statistical Theory
4 An approved paper taught outside the Department

Year 2

5 EC201 Microeconomic Principles I or EC202 Microeconomic Principles II
6 EC210 Macroeconomic Principles
7 Either EC220 Introduction to Econometrics or EC221Principles of Econometrics
8 An approved paper taught outside the Department

Year 3

9, 10, 11 Three from the Economics Selection List
12 Either an additional paper from the Economics Selection list or a paper from the list below:
AC211 Managerial Accounting
AC310 Management Accounting, Financial Management and Organizational Control
AC340 Auditing, Governance and Risk Management
EH206 The Evolution of Economic Policy in Advanced Economies (n/a 12/13)
EH207 The Making of an Economic Superpower: China since 1850
EH220 Comparative Economic Development: Late Industrialisation in Russia, India and Japan (n/a 12/13)
EH225 Latin America and the International Economy
EH240 Business and Economic Performance since 1945: Britain in International Context
EH304 The Economic History of North America: From Colonial Times to the Cold War (n/a 12/13)

Notes
LSE100 is taken by all students in the Lent Term of Year 1 and the Michaelmas Term of Year 2. The course is compulsory but does not affect the final degree classification.

In exceptional circumstances a student may substitute an outside paper for paper 12. This outside paper should be both of an advanced nature and coherent with the student’s other choice of papers. Permission to take such a paper should first be obtained from the Departmental Tutor who must countersign the Additional Permission Form. Any subsequent revision to the student’s choice of papers must also be countersigned by the Departmental Tutor.

Economics Selection List

EC301 Advanced Economic Analysis
EC302 Political Economy (n/a 12/13)
EC303 Economic Policy Analysis
EC307 Development Economics
EC310 Behavioural Economics
EC311 History of Economics: How Theories Change
EC313 Industrial Economics
EC315 International Economics
EC317 Labour Economics
EC319 Economic Theory and its Applications
EC321 Monetary Economics
EC325 Public Economics
EC333 Problems of Applied Econometrics
Either FM212 Principles of Finance or FM300 Corporate Finance, Investments and Financial Markets (if FM212 taken in 2nd year) or FM320 Quantitative Finance (if FM212 taken in 2nd year)
* Students may not take both FM300 and FM320 in Year 3
For all first, second and third year students in 2012/13

BSc Economics with Economic History

For all first, second and third year students in 2012/13

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Year</th>
<th>Paper</th>
<th>Course number and title</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>Year 1</td>
<td>LSE100 The LSE Course: Understanding the causes of things</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>1</td>
<td>EC102 Economics A</td>
<td>E2012 Economics A for year 1 students</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>2</td>
<td>EH101 The Internationalisation of Economic Growth</td>
<td>E2011 The Internationalisation of Economic Growth</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

Notes

*For third year students in 2012/13

BSc Environmental Policy

For third year students in 2012/13

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Paper</th>
<th>Course number and title</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>See note LSE100 The LSE Course: Understanding the causes of things</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Year</th>
<th>Paper</th>
<th>Course number and title</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>1</td>
<td>GY120 Environmental Change: Past, Present and Future</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>2</td>
<td>GY121 Sustainable Development</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>3 &amp; 4</td>
<td>Two from:</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td>Either EC100 Economics A or EC102 Economics B</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td>EH101 The Internationalisation of Economic Growth, 1870 to the Present Day</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td>GV100 Introduction to Political Theory</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td>GV103 Contemporary Europe</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td>IR100 The Structure of International Society</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td>MA107 Quantitative Methods (Mathematics) (H)</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td>ST107 Quantitative Methods (Statistics) (H)</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>
SA103 Population, Economy and Society
SO100 Key Concepts in Sociology: An Introduction to Contemporary Sociology
An approved Language (L) course

Year 2
5  GY222 Applied Environmental Economics
6  GY220 Environment: Science and Society
7 & 8  Two from:
      EC230 Economics in Public Policy
      EH225 Latin America and the International Economy
      GV227 The Politics of Economic Policy

Year 3
9  GY324 Environmental Governance
10  GY325 Environment and Development
11  Either:
      GY350 Independent Research Project (GY240 compulsory prerequisite) or: any other approved option at an appropriate level
12  One from: (Illustrative and subject to alteration as Departments' offerings change)
      GY300 Theories of Regional Development and Change
      GY301 The Political Geography of Development and the South
      GY302 Urban Development: Politics, Policy and Planning
      GY303 The Geography of Gender: Global Perspectives
      GY304 Urban and Spatial Economic Analysis II
      IR203 International Organisations
      IR305 Strategic Aspects of International Relations
      IR306 Sovereignty, Rights and Justice: Issues in International Political Theory

Notes
LSE100 is taken by all students in the Lent Term of Year 1 and the Michaelmas Term of Year 2. The course is compulsory but does not affect the final degree classification.

BA Geography
For all first, second and third year students in 2012-13
Paper  Course number and title
See note LSE100 The LSE Course: Understanding the causes of things

Year 1
1  GY100 Environment, Economy and Society
2  GY140 Methods in Spatial and Social Analysis
3  Either GY103 Contemporary Political Theory or GY120 Environmental Change: Past, Present and Future or GY121 Sustainable Development
4  An approved paper taught outside the Department or another paper from 3 above

Year 2
5  GY244 London’s Geographies: An Introduction to Cultural and Historical Geography
6, 7 & 8  Three units from:
      GY200 Economy, Society and Space
      GY201 Urban and Spatial Economic Analysis I
      GY202 Introduction to Development in the South
      GY205 Political Geographies, Policy and Space
      GY220 Environment Science and Society
      GY222 Applied Environmental Economics
      GY244 London's Geographies: An Introduction to Cultural and Historical Geography
      Or an approved LSE taught option (either within or outside the Department of Geography but not a Language course)

Year 3
9  GY350 Independent Research Project
BSc Environment and Development

For first and second year students in 2012/13

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Paper</th>
<th>Course number and title</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td>See note LSE100 The LSE Course: Understanding the causes of things</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

Year 1

| | |
<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th></th>
<th></th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>1</td>
<td>GY120 Environmental Change: Past, Present and Future</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>2</td>
<td>GY121 Sustainable Development</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>3</td>
<td>GY100 Environment, Economy and Society</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>4</td>
<td>One from:</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td>Either EC100 Economics A or EC102 Economics B</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td>AN100 Introduction to Social Anthropology</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td>EH101 The Internationalisation of Economic Growth, 1870 to the Present Day</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td>GY100 Introduction to Political Theory</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td>GY103 Contemporary Europe</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td>GY140 Methods in Spatial and Social Analysis</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td>HY113 From Empire to Independence: the Extra-European World in the Twentieth Century</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td>IR100 The Structure of International Society</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td>SA103 Population, Economy and Society</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

Year 2

| | |
<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th></th>
<th></th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>5</td>
<td>GY202 Introduction to Development in the South</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>6</td>
<td>GY220 Environmental: Science and Society</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>7</td>
<td>GY222 Applied Environmental Economics</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>8</td>
<td>One from:</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td>Either GY220 Comparative Economic Development: Late Industrialisation in Russia, India and Japan (n/a 12/13)</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td>GY265 States, Nations and Empires</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td>GY200 Economy, Society and Space</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td>GY201 Urban and Spatial Economic Analysis I</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td>GY205 Political Geographies, Policy and Space</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td>GY240 Research Techniques (Spatial, Social and Environmental) (compulsory prerequisite for GY350 Independent Research Project)</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td>LL250 Law and the Environment</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td>SA221 Poverty, Social Exclusion and Social Change</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

Year 3

| | |
<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th></th>
<th></th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>9</td>
<td>GY324 Environmental Governance</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>10</td>
<td>GY325 Environment and Development</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>11 &amp; 12</td>
<td>Two from:</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td>GY300 Theories of Regional Development and Change</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td>GY301 The Political Geography of Development and the South</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td>GY302 Urban Development: Politics, Policy and Planning</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td>GY303 The Geography of Gender: Global Perspectives</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td>GY305 Urban and Spatial Economic Analysis II</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td>GY350 Independent Research Project (GY240 compulsory prerequisite)</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

Notes

LSE100 is taken by all students in the Lent Term of Year 1 and the Michaelmas Term of Year 2. The course is compulsory but does not affect the final degree classification.

BSc Geography with Economics

For all first, second and third year students in 2012-13

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Paper</th>
<th>Course number and title</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td>See note LSE100 The LSE Course: Understanding the causes of things</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

Year 1

| | |
<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th></th>
<th></th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>1</td>
<td>EC102 Economics B</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>2</td>
<td>Either MA100 Mathematical Methods or MA107</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td>Quantitative Methods (Mathematics) (H) and ST107</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td>Quantitative Methods (Statistics) (H)</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>3</td>
<td>GY100 Environment, Economy and Society</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>4</td>
<td>Either GY103 Contemporary Europe or GY140 Methods</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td>in Spatial and Social Analysis</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td>or ST102 Elementary Statistical Theory (not permitted if taking ST107 under paper 2) or GY120 Environmental Change. Past, Present and Future or GY121 Sustainable Development</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

Year 2

| | |
<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th></th>
<th></th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>5</td>
<td>EC201 Microeconomic Principles</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>6</td>
<td>GY201 Urban and Spatial Economic Analysis I</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>7 &amp; 8</td>
<td>Two from the following:</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td>GY200 Economy, Society and Space</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td>GY202 Introduction to Development in the South</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td>GY205 Political Geographies, Policy and Space</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td>GY220 Environmental: Science and Society</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td>GY222 Applied Environmental Economics</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td>GY240 Research Techniques (Spatial, Social and Environmental) (required for GY350 under papers 11 and 12)</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td>GY244 London’s Geographies: An Introduction to Cultural and Historical Geography</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td>GY300 Theories of Regional Development and Change</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

Year 3

| | |
<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th></th>
<th></th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>9</td>
<td>EC210 Macroeconomic Principles</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>10</td>
<td>GY305 Urban and Spatial Economic Analysis II</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>11 &amp; 12</td>
<td>Two from:</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td>GY300 Theories of Regional Development and Change</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td>GY301 The Political Geography of Development and the South</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td>GY302 Urban Development: Politics, Policy and Planning</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td>GY303 The Geography of Gender: Global Perspectives</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td>GY324 Environmental Governance</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td>GY325 Environment and Development</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td>GY350 Independent Research Project (GY240 compulsory prerequisite)</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td>MA100 Mathematical Methods</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td>MA107 Quantitative Methods (Statistics) (H)</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td>Either GY210 Quantitative Methods (Mathematics) (H) and ST107</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td>Quantitative Methods (Statistics) (H)</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td>Either GY103 Contemporary Europe or GY140 Methods</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td>in Spatial and Social Analysis</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td>or ST102 Elementary Statistical Theory (not permitted if taking ST107 under paper 2) or GY120 Environmental Change. Past, Present and Future or GY121 Sustainable Development</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

Notes

LSE100 is taken by all students in the Lent Term of Year 1 and the Michaelmas Term of Year 2. The course is compulsory but does not affect the final degree classification.

BSc Government

For all first, second and third year students in 2012-13

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Paper</th>
<th>Course number and title</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td>See note LSE100 The LSE Course: Understanding the causes of things</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

Year 1

| | |
<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th></th>
<th></th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>1</td>
<td>EC102 Economics B</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>2</td>
<td>Either MA100 Mathematical Methods or MA107</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td>Quantitative Methods (Mathematics) (H) and ST107</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td>Quantitative Methods (Statistics) (H)</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>3</td>
<td>GY100 Environment, Economy and Society</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>4</td>
<td>Either GY103 Contemporary Europe or GY140 Methods</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td>in Spatial and Social Analysis</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td>or ST102 Elementary Statistical Theory (not permitted if taking ST107 under paper 2) or GY120 Environmental Change. Past, Present and Future or GY121 Sustainable Development</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

Year 2

| | |
<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th></th>
<th></th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>5</td>
<td>EC201 Microeconomic Principles</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>6</td>
<td>GY201 Urban and Spatial Economic Analysis I</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>7 &amp; 8</td>
<td>Two from the following:</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td>GY200 Economy, Society and Space</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td>GY202 Introduction to Development in the South</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td>GY205 Political Geographies, Policy and Space</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td>GY220 Environmental: Science and Society</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td>GY222 Applied Environmental Economics</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td>GY240 Research Techniques (Spatial, Social and Environmental) (required for GY350 under papers 11 and 12)</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td>GY244 London’s Geographies: An Introduction to Cultural and Historical Geography</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td>GY300 Theories of Regional Development and Change</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

Year 3

| | |
<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th></th>
<th></th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>9</td>
<td>EC210 Macroeconomic Principles</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>10</td>
<td>GY305 Urban and Spatial Economic Analysis II</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>11 &amp; 12</td>
<td>Two from:</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td>GY300 Theories of Regional Development and Change</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td>GY301 The Political Geography of Development and the South</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td>GY302 Urban Development: Politics, Policy and Planning</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td>GY303 The Geography of Gender: Global Perspectives</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td>GY324 Environmental Governance</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td>GY325 Environment and Development</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td>GY350 Independent Research Project (GY240 compulsory prerequisite)</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td>MA100 Mathematical Methods</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td>MA107 Quantitative Methods (Statistics) (H)</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td>Either GY210 Quantitative Methods (Mathematics) (H) and ST107</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td>Quantitative Methods (Statistics) (H)</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td>Either GY103 Contemporary Europe or GY140 Methods</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td>in Spatial and Social Analysis</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td>or ST102 Elementary Statistical Theory (not permitted if taking ST107 under paper 2) or GY120 Environmental Change. Past, Present and Future or GY121 Sustainable Development</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

Notes

LSE100 is taken by all students in the Lent Term of Year 1 and the Michaelmas Term of Year 2. The course is compulsory but does not affect the final degree classification.

Level 1 courses and modern language courses are not permitted as part of this degree programme in Years 2 and 3. Students wishing to study a modern language are encouraged to take one of the LSE Language Centre's extra-curricular courses.
Year 1
1. GV101 Introduction to Political Science
2. GV100 Introduction to Political Theory
3. An approved paper taught outside the Department
4. An approved paper taught outside the Department

Year 2
5, 6, 7, 8 Four from:
   a) Comparative Politics:
      GV265 States, Nations and Empires
   b) European Politics:
      GV264 Politics and Institutions in Europe
   c) Political Theory:
      GV262 Contemporary Political Theory
   d) Public Policy:
      One from:
      GV263 Public Policy Analysis
      GV225 Public Choice and Politics
      GV227 Politics of Economic Policy
   e) An approved paper taught outside the Department (if GV100 or GV101 not taken in year 1, this outstanding paper must be taken under this option in the second year) No third year course can be taken in year 2.

Year 3
9. A paper not chosen under 5, 6, 7 or 8 a-d or a paper from the Government Selection List
10. Either
   A paper from the Government Selection List
   or
   A further paper from 5, 6, 7, or 8d) Public Policy
11. A paper from the Government Selection List
12. One from:
   An approved paper taught outside the Department
   A paper from the Government Selection List
   A further paper from 5-8d) Public Policy
   GV390 Essay Option (with the permission of his or her tutor and the teacher responsible for this course a student may chose to have one of his or her third year Government courses examined by means of a 10,000 word essay instead of the normal mode of examination. Permission to submit an essay must be obtained by 30th November. This essay will replace a listed 3rd year paper).

Notes
LSE100 is taken by all students in the Lent Term of Year 1 and the Michaelmas Term of Year 2. The course is compulsory but does not affect the final degree classification.

Government Selection List

Comparative Politics
GV303 From Empire to Globalisation (n/a 12/13)
GV305 Sustainability Science and Policy: Problems and Perspectives
GV310 Democracy and Democratisation
GV350 Theories and Problems of Nationalism European Politics
GV351 Government, Politics and Public Policy in the EU Political Theory
GV302 Key Themes in the History of Political Thought Public Policy
GV314 Empirical Research in Government
GV353 Politics of Money, Finance and Trade in Comparative Perspective
GV366 Political Economy of the Developing World

Options in Government normally require GV101 or GV100 to have been completed; Course Guides should be checked accordingly.

BSc Government and Economics
For all first, second and third year students in 2012-13

Paper Course number and title
See note LSE100 The LSE Course: Understanding the causes of things
BSc Government and History

For all first, second and third year students in 2012-13

Paper
Course number and title

See note LSE100 The LSE Course: Understanding the causes of things

| Year 1 |
|---|---|
| 1 | Either GV101 Introduction to Political Science or GV100 Introduction to Political Theory |
| 2 | One from: HY113 From Empire to Independence: the Extra-European World in the Twentieth Century
HY114 War and Society from the Renaissance to the Napoleonic Era c.1500-1815
HY116 International History since 1890 |
| 3 | Either the paper not taken under 1 or a further paper from 2 |
| 4 | An approved paper taught outside the Departments of Government and International History |

| Year 2 |
|---|---|
| 5 | One from: GV100 Introduction to Political Theory (must be taken and examined at the end of the second year if not taken in Year 1)
GV101 Introduction to Political Science (must be taken and examined at the end of the second year if not taken in Year 1)
An approved paper from the Government Selection List A or B* (if both GV100 and GV101 taken under 1 above)
An approved paper from the Government Selection List A or B* |

| Year 3 |
|---|---|
| 6 | Two approved papers from the History Selection List A and B* |
| 7 & 8 | An approved paper from the History Selection List A or B |

Notes

* Students are required to choose at least one paper from each of the Government Selections Lists

Government Selection List A

Comparative Politics

GV264 Politics and Institutions in Europe
GV265 States, Nations and Empires
GV303 From Empire to Globalisation (n/a 12/13)

GV310 Democracy and Democratisation
GV350 Theories and Problems of Nationalism European Politics
GV351 Government, Politics and Public Policy in the EU
GV366 Political Economy of the Developing World

History Selection List A

HY203 The Arab-Israeli Conflict: Nationalism, Territory, Religion
HY206 The International History of Cold War, 1945-1989
HY208 The History of the United States since 1783
HY216 Four Reichs: Austria, Prussia and the Contest for Germany since 1618
HY221 The History of Russia, 1682-1825
HY226 The Great War 1914-1918
HY232 Frontiers of Nationalism, Statehood and Independence. The History of Eastern and South-Eastern Europe, 1914-1990
HY233 Empire and Nation: Britain and India since 1750
HY235 Modernity and the State in East Asia: China, Japan and Korea since 1840 (may not be selected if HY211 and/or HY229 previously taken)
HY238 The Cold War and European Integration, 1947-1992
HY239 Latin America and the United States since 1898 (n/a 12/13)

History Selection List B

HY303 Russia in Revolution, 1914-1921
HY304 Germany's New Order in Europe, 1939-1945
HY311 Limited War During the Cold War Era: The United States in Korea (1950-53) and Vietnam (1954-75)
HY315 The European Enlightenment, c.1680-1799
HY319 Napoleonic and European
HY320 The Cold War Endgame

BA History

For first year students in 2012-13

Paper
Course number and title

See note LSE100 The LSE Course: Understanding the causes of things

| Year 1 |
|---|---|
| 1 & 2 | Two from: HY113 From Empire to Independence: the Extra-European World in the Twentieth Century
HY114 War and Society from the Renaissance to the Napoleonic Era c.1500-1815
HY116 International History since 1890
EH101 The Internationalisation of Economic Growth |
| 3 | Either a further paper not taken under papers 1 and 2 or an approved paper taught outside the Department. |
| 4 | An approved paper taught outside the Department |

| Year 2 |
|---|---|
| 5 | One from: EH205 Towns, Society and Economy in England and Europe 1450-1750
EH238 The Industrial Revolution (n/a 12/13)
HY216 Four Reichs: Austria, Prussia and the Contest for Germany since 1618
HY221 The History of Russia 1682-1825
HY233 Empire and Nation: Britain and India since 1750
HY235 Modernity and the State in East Asia: China, Japan and Korea since 1840
HY315 The European Enlightenment, c.1680-1799
HY319 Napoleon and Europe

6 Either HY314 Representing the Past: Historiography and Historical Methods, or one paper from Selection List A.

7 One paper from Selection List B or one paper from Selection List B or EH225 Latin America and the International Economy or EH206 The Evolution of Economic Policy in Advanced Economies (n/a 12/13) or EH207 The Making of an Economic Superpower: China since 1850

8 An approved paper taught outside the Department

Year 3

9 & 10 Two papers from Selection List A or B, one of which must be from Selection List B if not already taken as Paper 7.

11 Either a further paper from Selection Lists A or B not already taken or an approved paper taught outside of the Department.

12 HY300 Dissertation

Notes
LSE100 is taken by all students in the Lent Term of Year 1 and the Michaelmas Term of Year 2. The course is compulsory but does not affect the final degree classification

History Selection List A
HY203 The Arab-Israeli Conflict: Nationalism, Territory, Religion
HY206 The International History of the Cold War, 1945-1989 (may not be taken in the same year as HY320)
HY208 The History of the United States since 1783
HY216 Four Reichs: Austria, Prussia and Contest for Germany since 1618
HY221 The History of Russia, 1682-1825
HY226 The Great War 1914-1918
HY232 Frontiers of Nationalism, Statehood and Independence. The History of Eastern and South-Eastern Europe, 1914-1990
HY233 Empire and Nation: Britain and India since 1750
HY235 Modernity and the State in East Asia: China, Japan and Korea since 1840 (may not be selected if HY211 and/or HY229 previously taken)
HY238 The Cold War and European Integration, 1947-1992
HY239 Latin America and the United States since 1898 (n/a 12/13)
HY240 From Empire to Commonwealth: war, race and imperialism in British History, 1780 to 1979

History Selection List B
HY303 Russia in Revolution, 1914-1921
HY304 Germany's New Order in Europe, 1939-1945
HY311 Limited War During the Cold War Era: The United States in Korea (1950-53) and Vietnam (1954-75)
HY315 The European Enlightenment, c.1680-1799
HY319 Napoleon and Europe
HY320 The Cold War Endgame (may not be taken in the same year as HY206)
HY321 The Struggle for the Persian Gulf, 1945-2003

5 One from:
EH205 Towns, Society and Economy in England and Europe 1450-1750
EH238 The Industrial Revolution (n/a12/13)
HY216 Four Reichs: Austria, Prussia and Contest for Germany since 1618
HY221 The History of Russia 1682-1825
HY233 Empire and Nation: Britain and India since 1750
HY235 Modernity and the State in East Asia: China, Japan and Korea since 1840
HY315 The European Enlightenment, c.1680-1799
HY319 Napoleon and Europe

6 One paper from the Selection List A

7 One paper from Selection List A or EH225 Latin America and the International Economy or EH206 The Evolution of Economic Policy in Advanced Economies (n/a 12/13) or EH207 The Making of an Economic Superpower: China since 1850

8 An approved paper taught outside the Department

Year 3

9 HY314 Representing the Past: Historiography and Historical Methods

10 A paper from the Selection List B

11 A further paper from Selection Lists A or B or a further paper from paper No 5 above (not already taken)

12 HY300 Dissertation

Notes
LSE100 is taken by all students in the Lent Term of Year 1 and the Michaelmas Term of Year 2. The course is compulsory but does not affect the final degree classification

History Selection List A
HY203 The Arab-Israeli Conflict: Nationalism, Territory, Religion
HY206 The International History of the Cold War, 1945-1989 (may not be taken in the same year as HY320)
HY208 The History of the United States since 1783
HY216 Four Reichs: Austria, Prussia and Contest for Germany since 1618
HY221 The History of Russia, 1682-1825
HY226 The Great War 1914-1918
HY232 Frontiers of Nationalism, Statehood and Independence. The History of Eastern and South-Eastern Europe, 1914-1990
HY233 Empire and Nation: Britain and India since 1750
HY235 Modernity and the State in East Asia: China, Japan and Korea since 1840 (may not be selected if HY211 and/or HY229 previously taken)
HY238 The Cold War and European Integration, 1947-1992
HY239 Latin America and the United States since 1898 (n/a 12/13)
HY240 From Empire to Commonwealth: war, race and imperialism in British History, 1780 to 1979

History Selection List B
HY303 Russia in Revolution, 1914-1921
HY304 Germany's New Order in Europe, 1939-1945
HY311 Limited War During the Cold War Era: The United States in Korea (1950-53) and Vietnam (1954-75)
HY315 The European Enlightenment, c.1680-1799
HY319 Napoleon and Europe
HY320 The Cold War Endgame (may not be taken in the same year as HY206)
HY321 The Struggle for the Persian Gulf, 1945-2003

BA History
For second and third year students in 2012-13
Paper Course number and title
See note LSE100 The LSE Course: Understanding the causes of things

Year 1
1, 2 & 3 Three from:
HY113 From Empire to Independence: the Extra-European World in the Twentieth Century
HY114 War and Society from the Renaissance to the Napoleonic Era c.1500-1815
HY116 International History since 1890
EH101 The Internationalisation of Economic Growth
An approved paper taught outside the Department

5 One from:
EH205 Towns, Society and Economy in England and Europe 1450-1750
EH238 The Industrial Revolution (n/a12/13)
HY216 Four Reichs: Austria, Prussia and Contest for Germany since 1618
HY221 The History of Russia 1682-1825
HY233 Empire and Nation: Britain and India since 1750
HY235 Modernity and the State in East Asia: China, Japan and Korea since 1840
HY315 The European Enlightenment, c.1680-1799
HY319 Napoleon and Europe

6 One paper from the Selection List A

7 One paper from Selection List A or EH225 Latin America and the International Economy or EH206 The Evolution of Economic Policy in Advanced Economies (n/a 12/13) or EH207 The Making of an Economic Superpower: China since 1850

8 An approved paper taught outside the Department

Year 3

9 HY314 Representing the Past: Historiography and Historical Methods

10 A paper from the Selection List B

11 A further paper from Selection Lists A or B or a further paper from paper No 5 above (not already taken)

12 HY300 Dissertation

Notes
LSE100 is taken by all students in the Lent Term of Year 1 and the Michaelmas Term of Year 2. The course is compulsory but does not affect the final degree classification

History Selection List A
HY203 The Arab-Israeli Conflict: Nationalism, Territory, Religion
HY206 The International History of the Cold War, 1945-1989 (may not be taken in the same year as HY320)
HY208 The History of the United States since 1783
HY216 Four Reichs: Austria, Prussia and Contest for Germany since 1618
HY221 The History of Russia, 1682-1825
HY226 The Great War 1914-1918
HY232 Frontiers of Nationalism, Statehood and Independence. The History of Eastern and South-Eastern Europe, 1914-1990
HY233 Empire and Nation: Britain and India since 1750
HY235 Modernity and the State in East Asia: China, Japan and Korea since 1840 (may not be selected if HY211 and/or HY229 previously taken)
HY238 The Cold War and European Integration, 1947-1992
HY239 Latin America and the United States since 1898 (n/a 12/13)
HY240 From Empire to Commonwealth: war, race and imperialism in British History, 1780 to 1979

History Selection List B
HY303 Russia in Revolution, 1914-1921
HY304 Germany's New Order in Europe, 1939-1945
HY311 Limited War During the Cold War Era: The United States in Korea (1950-53) and Vietnam (1954-75)
HY315 The European Enlightenment, c.1680-1799
HY319 Napoleon and Europe
HY320 The Cold War Endgame (may not be taken in the same year as HY206)
HY321 The Struggle for the Persian Gulf, 1945-2003

BSc Human Resource Management and Employment Relations
For second and third year students in 2012-13
Paper Course number and title
See note LSE100 The LSE Course: Understanding the causes of things

Year 2
BSc International Relations

For all first, second and third year students in 2012-13

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Paper</th>
<th>Course number and title</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>Year 1</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>1</td>
<td>IR100 The Structure of International Society</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>2</td>
<td>HY116 International History since 1890</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>
| 3 | One from:
| | GV100 Introduction to Political Theory
| | PH103 Reason, Knowledge and Values: An Introduction to Philosophy
| | SO100 Key Concepts in Sociology: An Introduction to Sociological Theory |
| Year 2 |  |
| 1 | IR200 International Political Theory |
| 2 | IR202.1 Foreign Policy Analysis I |
| 3 | IR203 International Organisations |
| Year 3 |  |
| 9, 10, 11 | Three units from:
| | GV350 Theories and Problems of Nationalism
| | IR304 Politics of International Economic Relations *
| | IR306 Sovereignty, Rights and Justice: Issues in International Political Theory
| | IR308 Systemic Change in the Twentieth Century: Theories of the Cold War |

Group A
(at least two and up to a maximum of six units)

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Course number and title</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>ID200 Organisational Theory and Behaviour</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>ID205 Corporate Social Responsibility and International Labour Standards (H)</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>ID222 Managing Employment Law (H) (n/a 12/13)</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>ID301 Leadership in Organisations: Theory and Practice</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>ID316 Managing Diversity in Organisations (H) (Third year only) (n/a 12/13)</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>ID399 Employment Relations Project (Third year only)</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>MN307 Aspects of Marketing Management (H)</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>PH225 Business and Organisational Ethics (H)</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>SO212 Work, Management and Globalisation</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

Group B
(up to four units)

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Course number and title</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>AC100 Elements of Accounting and Finance</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>AC211 Managerial Accounting</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>AN227 The Anthropology of Economic Institutions and Social Transformations</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>AN230 The Anthropology of Industrialisation and Industrial Life (H) (n/a 12/13)</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>EH220 Comparative Economic Development: Late Industrialisation in Russia, India and Japan (n/a 12/13)</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>EH240 Business and Economic Performance since 1945: Britain in International Context</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>EH325 Issues in Modern Japanese Economic Development: Late Industrialisation, Imperialism and High Speed Growth (n/a 12/13) (may only be selected if EH220 previously taken)</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>IS340 Information Systems in Business</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>LL209 Commercial Law</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>MN201 Economics for Management</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>SO208 Gender and Society</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

Two approved papers taught outside the Department (2nd and 3rd year papers only, any 1st year paper requires the permission of the Departmental Tutor)
IR313 Managing China's Rise in East Asia
IR314 Southeast Asia: Intra-regional Politics and Security
IR315 The Middle East and International Relations Theory
IR316 United Nations (n/a 12/13)
IR398 Dissertation
LL242 International Protection of Human Rights **

A paper relevant to the study of International Relations approved by the candidate's teachers from the Selection List below
A further Language course from those listed under paper 8 above

Notes * Prerequisites for this course are normally EH101 or EC100
 Prerequisite for this course is LL278
LSE100 is taken by all students in the Lent Term of Year 1 and the Michaelmas Term of Year 2. The course is compulsory but does not affect the final degree classification.

Selection List of Papers Approved by the Department as Relevant to the Study of International Relations
EC230 Economics in Public Policy
EH220 Comparative Economic Development: Late Industrialisation in Russia, India and Japan (n/a 12/13)
EH225 Latin America and the International Economy
GV100 Introduction to Political Theory
GV227 The Politics of Economic Policy
GV262 Contemporary Political Theory
GV264 Politics and Institutions in Europe
GV265 States, Nations and Empires
GV310 Democracy and Democratisation
GV350 Problems and Theories of Nationalism
GV351 Government, Politics and Public Policy in the European Union
GY207 Introduction to Development in the South
GY220 Environment: Science and Society
GV301 The Political Geography of Development and the South
HY203 The Arab-Israeli Conflict: Nationalism, Territory, Religion
HY206 The International History of the Cold War, 1945-1989
HY226 The Great War 1914-1918
HY239 Latin America and the United States since 1898
HY240 From Empire to Commonwealth: War, Race and Imperialism in British History, 1780 to 1979

Year 3

6 Either IR202.1 Foreign Policy Analysis I or IR203 International Organisations
7 & 8 Two from:
EH206 The Evolution of Economic Policy in Advanced Economies (n/a 12/13)
HY203 The Arab-Israeli Conflict: Nationalism, Territory, Religion
HY206 The International History of the Cold War, 1945-1989 (may not be taken in the same year as HY320)
HY208 The History of the United States since 1783
HY216 Four Reichs: Austria, Prussia and the Contest for Germany since 1618
HY221 The History of Russia 1682-1825
HY226 The Great War 1914-1918
HY232 Frontiers of Nationalism, Statehood and Independence. The History of Eastern and South-Eastern Europe, 1914-1990
HY233 Empire and Nation: Britain and India since 1750
HY235 Modernity and the State in East Asia: China, Japan and Korea since 1840
HY238 The Cold War and European Integration, 1947-1992
HY239 Latin America and the United States since 1898
HY240 From Empire to Commonwealth: War, Race and Imperialism in British History, 1780 to 1979

Year 2

9 Either IR202.1 or IR203, not taken above
10 One from:
GV350 Theories and Problems of Nationalism
IR304 The Politics of International Economic Relations I *
IR305 Strategic Aspects of International Relations
IR306 Sovereignty, Rights and Justice: Issues in International Political Theory
IR307 Systemic Change in the Twentieth Century: Theories of the Cold War
IR311 Europe's Institutional Order
IR312 Genocide (n/a 12/13)
IR313 Managing China's Rise in East Asia
IR314 Southeast Asia: Intra-regional Politics and Security
IR315 The Middle East and International Relations Theory
IR316 United Nations (n/a 12/13)
11 One from:
HY208 The History of the United States since 1783
HY209 The History of the United States since 1783
HY216 Four Reichs: Austria, Prussia and the Contest for Germany since 1618
HY217 From Empire to Commonwealth: War, Race and Imperialism in British History, 1780 to 1979
HY239 Latin America and the United States since 1898
HY240 From Empire to Commonwealth: War, Race and Imperialism in British History, 1780 to 1979

Year 1

1 IR100 The Structure of International Society
2 HY116 International History since 1890
3 & 4 Two from:
HY113 From Empire to Independence: The Extra European World in the 20th Century
HY114 War and Society from the Renaissance to the Napoleonic Era c.1500-1815
An approved language (LN) course
An approved paper taught outside the Department

Notes * Prerequisites for this course are normally EH101 or EC100
LSE100 is taken by all students in the Lent Term of Year 1 and the Michaelmas Term of Year 2. The course is compulsory but does not affect the final degree classification.

BSc International Relations and History
For first year students in 2012-13

Paper Course number and title
See note LSE100 The LSE Course: Understanding the causes of things

Year 1

1 IR100 The Structure of International Society
2 HY116 International History since 1890
3 & 4 Two from:
HY113 From Empire to Independence: The Extra European World in the 20th Century
HY114 War and Society from the Renaissance to the Napoleonic Era c.1500-1815
An approved language (LN) course
An approved paper taught outside the Department

Year 2

5 IR200 International Political Theory

BSc International Relations and History
For second and third year students in 2012-13

Paper Course number and title
See note LSE100 The LSE Course: Understanding the causes of things
Year 1

1. IR100 The Structure of International Society
2. HY116 International History since 1890
3 & 4. Two from:
   - HY113 From Empire to Independence: The Extra European World in the 20th Century
   - HY114 War and Society from the Renaissance to the Napoleonic Era c.1500-1815
   - EH101 The Internationalisation of Economic Growth
   - LL278 Public International Law
3. An approved language (LN) course
4. An approved paper taught outside the Department

Year 2

5. IR200 International Political Theory
6. Either IR202.1 Foreign Policy Analysis I or IR203 International Organisations
7 & 8. Two from:
   - EH206 The Evolution of Economic Policy in Advanced Economies (n/a 12/13)
   - HY203 The Arab-Israeli Conflict: Nationalism, Territory, Religion
   - HY206 The International History of the Cold War, 1945-1989
   - HY208 The History of the United States since 1783
   - HY216 Four Reichs: Austria, Prussia and the Contest for Germany since 1618
   - HY221 The History of Russia 1682-1825
   - HY226 The Great War 1914-1918
   - HY233 Empire and Nation: Britain and India since 1750
   - HY235 Modernity and the State in East Asia: China, Japan and Korea since 1840
   - HY238 The Cold War and European Integration, 1947-1992
   - HY239 Latin America and the United States since 1898 (n/a 12/13)
   - HY240 From Empire to Commonwealth: War, Race and Imperialism in British History, 1780 to 1979 (may not be taken if HY117 was previously taken)

Year 3

9. Either IR202.1 or IR203, not taken above
10. One from:
    - GV350 Theories and Problems of Nationalism
    - IR304 The Politics of International Economic Relations I *
    - IR305 Strategic Aspects of International Relations
    - IR306 Sovereignty, Rights and Justice: Issues in International Political Theory
    - IR308 Systemic Change in the Twentieth Century: Theories of the Cold War
    - IR311 Europe's Institutional Order
    - IR312 Genocide (n/a 12/13)
    - IR313 Managing China's Rise in East Asia
    - IR314 Southeast Asia: Intra-regional Politics and Security
    - IR315 The Middle East and International Relations Theory
    - IR316 United Nations (H) (n/a 12/13)
11. One from:
    - HY303 Russia in Revolution, 1914-21
    - HY304 Germany's New Order in Europe, 1939-1945
    - HY311 Limited War During the Cold War Era: The United States in Korea (1950-53) and Vietnam (1954-75)
    - HY314 Representing the Past: Historiography and Historical Methods
    - HY315 European Enlightenment, c1680-1799
    - HY319 Napoleon and Europe
    - HY320 The Cold War Endgame (may not be taken in the same year as HY206)
    - HY321 The Struggle for the Persian Gulf, 1945-2003
12. A further paper from 10 or 11 above

Notes

* Prerequisites for this course are normally EH101 or EC100

LSE100 is taken by all students in the Lent Term of Year 1 and the Michaelmas Term of Year 2. The course is compulsory but does not affect the final degree classification.

---

LLB

For all first, second and third year students in 2012-13

Paper

Course number and title

See note LSE100 The LSE Course: Understanding the causes of things

Year 1

1. LL104 Law of Obligations
2. LL105 Property I (H) and LL109 Introduction to The Legal System (H)
3. LL106 Public Law
4. LL108 Criminal Law

Year 2

5, 6, 7, 8. Students take courses to the value of four full units. Students must take at least three courses from Selection List A, and can take courses to the value of one full unit from Selection List B.

Year 3

9. LL305 Jurisprudence
10, 11. Students take course to the value of three full units. Students must take at least one full unit course from Selection List A and another two from either List A or List B which have not already been taken in Year 2.

Notes

LSE100 is taken by all students in the Lent Term of Year 1 and the Michaelmas Term of Year 2. The course is compulsory but does not affect the final degree classification.

Selection List A

AN226 Political and Legal Anthropology
LL201 Administrative Law
LL202 Commercial Contracts
LL203 Law of Business Associations
LL204 Advanced Torts
LL205 Medical Law
LL207 Civil Liberties and Human Rights
LL210 Information Technology and the Law
LL212 Conflict of Laws (n/a 12/13)
LL221 Family Law
LL232 Law and Institutions of the European Union
LL233 Law of Evidence
LL241 Introduction to Civil Law
LL242 International Protection of Human Rights
LL250 Law and the Environment
LL251 Intellectual Property Law
LL253 Law of Corporate Insolvency
LL257 Labour Law
LL259 Legal and Social Change Since 1750
LL275 Property II
LL278 Public International Law
LL293 Taxation
LL295 Media Law
LL299 Full Unit Essay Option (cannot be taken in the same year as LL298)
LL300 Competition Law (Year 3 students only)

A course taught outside the Law Department, other than those on the exclusion list (only one can be selected over years 2 and 3

Selection List B

LL272 Outlines of Modern Criminology (H)
LL284 Sentencing and Treatment of Offenders (H)
LL298 Essay on an Approved Topic (H) (cannot be taken in the same year as LL299)

This programme constitutes a qualifying law degree (QLD). QLDs are recognised by the Solicitors Regulation Authority www.sra.org.uk/consumers/consumers.page and the Bar Standards Board www.barstandardsboard.org.uk/ as meeting the requirements for completing the academic stage of legal education for solicitors or barristers. For further information contact the Law Department lawdepartment@lse.ac.uk.

BSc Management

For second and third year students in 2012-13

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Paper</th>
<th>Course number and title</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>Year 1</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>1</td>
<td>EC102 Economics B</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>2</td>
<td>MA107 Quantitative Methods (Mathematics) (H) and ST107 Quantitative Methods (Statistics) (H)</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>3</td>
<td>MN101 Introduction to Psychology and Behavioural Science for Management</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>4</td>
<td>Either AC100 Elements of Accounting and Finance or an approved paper taught outside the Department</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Year 2</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>5</td>
<td>MN200 Management: Theory and Evidence</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>6</td>
<td>MN201 Economics for Management</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>7</td>
<td>MN203 Social Science Research Methods for Management</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>8</td>
<td>Either AC100 Elements of Accounting and Finance (if not taken in Year 1) or one from Groups A-F</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Year 3</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>9</td>
<td>MN303 International Context of Management (H) and MN304 Strategy (H)</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>10</td>
<td>MN302 International Marketing: A Strategic Approach</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>11, 12</td>
<td>Two from Groups A-F</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

Notes: LSE100 is taken by all students in the Lent Term of Year 1 and the Michaelmas Term of Year 2. The course is compulsory but does not affect the final degree classification.

Group A, Accounting and Finance

Group B, Economics and Economic History

EC210 Macroeconomic PrinciplesEC313 Industrial EconomicsEC317 Labour EconomicsEH206 The Evolution of Economic Policy in Advanced Economies (n/a 12/13)EH207 The Making of an Economic Superpower: China since 1850EH220 Comparative Economic Development: Late Industrialisation in Russia, India and Japan (n/a 12/13)EH240 Business and Economic Performance since 1945: Britain in International ContextEH326 Innovation and its Finance in the 19th and 20th Centuries

Group C, Management Science

MA207 Further Quantitative Methods (Mathematics) (H) and ST201 Statistical Models and Data Analysis (H) or MA207 Further Quantitative Methods (Mathematics) (H) and MA301 Game Theory I (H) or OR202 Operational Research Methods or OR301 Model Building in Operational Research or OR304 Decision Sciences in Theory and Practice or ST205 Sample Surveys and Experiments (H) or ST307 Aspects of Market Research (H)

Group D, The International Context of Management

IR203 International OrganisationsIR304 The Politics of International Economic RelationsIR311 Europe's Institutional OrderGY300 Theories of Regional Development and Change

Group E, Public Policy and Legal Context of Management

EC230 Economics in Public PolicyGV225 Public Choice and PoliticsGV227 The Politics of Economic PolicyLL209 Either Commercial Law or LL232 Law and Institutions of the European UnionPG225 Business and Organisational Ethics (H)*

Group F, Human Aspects of Organizations and Management

ID200 Organisational Theory and BehaviourID290 Human Resource ManagementSQ212 Work, Management and Globalisation

In exceptional circumstances a student may substitute a different outside paper for one of the papers 8, 11 and 12. This outside paper would normally be of an advanced nature and be coherent with the student’s other choice of papers. Permission to take such a paper should first be obtained from the student's tutor and then confirmed by the Departmental Tutor, who must countersign the ‘Selection of Papers for Next Session’ form and any subsequent course change form.

* Plus an appropriate half-unit course. Permission to take such a paper should first be obtained from the student's tutor and then confirmed by the Departmental Tutor, who must countersign the ‘Selection of Papers for Next Session’ form and any subsequent course change form.

BSc Management

For first year students in 2012-13

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Paper</th>
<th>Course number and title</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>Year 1</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>1</td>
<td>Either AC102 Elements of Financial Accounting (H) or AC103 Elements of Management Accounting and Financial Management (H)*</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>2</td>
<td>MG101 Core Business Disciplines I: Finance and Operations Management (H)</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>3</td>
<td>EC102 Economics B</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>4</td>
<td>MA107 Quantitative Methods (Mathematics) (H) and ST107 Quantitative Methods (Statistics) (H)</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>5</td>
<td>MG100 Leadership and Communication in Teams (H) and MG102 Organisational Behaviour (H)</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Year 2</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>5</td>
<td>MG201 Core Disciplines II: Marketing, Human Resource Management and Information Management (n/a 12/13)</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>6</td>
<td>MN201 Economics for Management</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>7</td>
<td>MG202 Analytical Methods for Management (n/a 12/13) or MN203 Social Science Research Methods for Management (n/a 12/13)</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>8</td>
<td>Papers to the value of one unit: AC102 Elements of Financial Accounting (H) (if not taken under paper 1) or AC103 Elements of Management Accounting and Financial Management (H) (if not taken under paper 1)</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Year 3</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>9</td>
<td>MG301 Strategy (n/a 12/13)</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>10 &amp; 11</td>
<td>Courses to the value of 3 units from the options listed below:</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>
Accounting
AC211 Managerial Accounting
AC310 Management Accounting, Financial Management and Organisational Control
AC330 Financial Accounting, Analysis and Valuation
Economics and Economic History
EC210 Macroeconomic Principles
EC313 Industrial Economics
EH240 Business and Economic Performance Since 1945: Britain in International Context

Finance
FM300 Corporate Finance, Investments and Financial Markets
FM320 Quantitative Finance

Law
LL209 Commercial Law

Management Science
OR202 Operational Research Methods

Managerial Economics and Strategy
MN303 International Context of Management (H)

Marketing
MN302 International Marketing: A Strategic Approach ST307 Aspects of Market Research (H)
ST327 Market Research: An Integrated Approach

Organisational Behaviour and Employee Relations
ID205 Corporate Social Responsibility and International Labour Standards
ID301 Leadership (H)
ID316 Managing Diversity in Organizations (H) (n/a 12/13)

Philosophy
PH225 Business and Organisational Ethics (H)
A course not already taken under Paper 8.
12 Any course not already taken under Papers 8, 10, 11, or any course from the following list:
   AC340 Auditing Governance and Risk Management
   ANZ27 The Anthropology of Economic Institutions and Social Transformations
   ANZ30 The Anthropology of Industrialisation and Industrial Life (H) (n/a 12/13)
   SO208 Gender and Society
   EC317 Labour Economics
   EH220 Comparative Economic Development: Late Industrialisation in Russia, India and Japan (n/a 12/13)
   MA207 Further Quantitative Methods (Mathematics) (H)
   MA301 Game Theory (H)
   LL232 Law and Institutions of the European Union
   OR (subject to approval by the Departmental Tutor) any other paper which is normally available only to second or third year students taught within the School or at other colleges of the University where practicable (see Outside Options www.lse.ac.uk/resources/calendar2012-2013/programmeRegulations/undergraduate/2012_outsideOptions.htm). Conditions under which the Departmental Tutor will approve papers are given in the BSc Management student handbook.

Notes LSE100 is taken by all students in the Lent Term of Year 1 and the Michaelmas Term of Year 2. The course is compulsory but does not affect the final degree classification.
* In year one students choose between AC102 and AC103, on financial and management accounting respectively. Students MUST do ONE of these courses in year one; should they wish, they MAY choose to do the other in their second or third year as an option. All students are required to attend the first AC100 lecture to get an overview of the topics to be covered in each course. Students wishing to continue their studies with advanced financial accounting (AC330) in the second or third year should be advised to take AC102 in the first year. Students wishing to continue with advanced management accounting (e.g. AC211, AC310) in the second and third year should be advised to take AC103 in the first year. Should they wish to do both AC102 and AC103 in the course of their degree programme, it is recommended that they opt for the financial accounting unit (AC102) in the first year to ease their way through the management accounting and financial management unit (AC103).

BSc Management Sciences
For all second and third year students in 2012-13

Paper Course number and title
See note 1 LSE100 The LSE Course: Understanding the causes of things

Year 1
1 MA107 Quantitative Methods (Mathematics) (H) and ST107 Quantitative Methods (Statistics) (H)
2 Either EC100 Economics A or EC102 Economics B
3 AC100 Elements of Accounting and Finance
4 IS143 Information Technology and Society

Years 2 & 3
5 OR202 Operational Research Methods
6 ST203 Statistics for Management Sciences
7 & 8 OR301 Model Building in Operational Research (third year only)
   OR304 Decision Sciences in Theory and Practice (third year only) 9 Papers to the value of one unit from:
   AC211 Managerial Accounting
   FM212 Principles of Finance
   Either FM320 Quantitative Finance (only if FM212 taken in second year) or FM300 Corporate Finance, Investments and Financial Markets (only if FM212 taken in second year)
   EC201 Microeconomic Principles I or EC202 Microeconomic Principles II or MN201 Economics for Management
   EC210 Macroeconomic Principles
   EC220 Introduction to Econometrics
   ID200 Organisational Theory and Behaviour
   LL209 Commercial Law
   MN302 International Marketing: A Strategic Approach
   ST327 Market Research: An Integrated Approach (third year only)

10 & 11 Papers to the value of two units from:
   A further paper under 9 above
   IS340 Information Systems in Business
   MA207 Further Quantitative Methods (Mathematics) (H)
   MA301 Game Theory I (H)
   MN307 Aspects of Marketing Management (H) (may not be combined with MN302 or ST307)
   OR302 Applied Management Sciences
   PH225 Business and Organisational Ethics (H)
   SA250 Demographic Description and Analysis
   ST226 Actuarial Investigations - Financial (H)
   ST307 Aspects of Market Research (H)

12 Papers to the value of one unit from 10&11 above or (subject to approval by the Departmental Tutor) any other paper which is normally available only to second or third year students taught within the School or at other colleges of the University where practicable.

Notes LSE100 is taken by all students in the Lent Term of Year 1 and the Michaelmas Term of Year 2. The course is compulsory but does not affect the final degree classification.
BSc Mathematics and Economics

For all first, second and third year students in 2012-13

Paper Course number and title

See note LSE100 The LSE Course: Understanding the causes of things

Year 1

1. EC102 Economics B
2. MA100 Mathematical Methods
3. ST102 Elementary Statistical Theory
4. MA103 Introduction to Abstract Mathematics

Year 2

5. Either EC201 Microeconomic Principles I or EC202 Microeconomic Principles II
6. MA212 Further Mathematical Methods
7. EC210 Macroeconomic Principles or EC221 Principles of Econometrics or FM212 Principles of Finance (formerly AC212)

8. (a) MA203 Real Analysis (H) and one of (i) MA208 Optimisation Theory (H) or (ii) MA209 Differential Equations (H) or (iii) MA210 Discrete Mathematics (H) or (iv) MA211 Algebra and Number Theory (H)

Year 3

9. One from:
   - EC301 Advanced Economic Analysis (if EC210 was taken under paper 7)
   - EC302 Political Economy (n/a 12/13) (if EC210 was taken under paper 7)
   - EC309 Econometric Theory (if EC221 was taken under paper 7)
   - EC310 Behavioural Economics
   - EC313 Industrial Economics
   - EC317 Economic Theory and its Applications
   - EC321 Monetary Economics (if EC210 was taken under paper 7)

10. Courses to the value of one unit from the following, but at most one MA2 can be taken:
    - MA208 Optimisation Theory (H) (if not taken under 8 above or 12 below)
    - MA209 Differential Equations (H) (if not taken under 8 above or 12 below)
    - MA210 Discrete Mathematics (H) (if not taken under 8 above or 12 below)
    - MA211 Algebra and Number Theory (H)

11. If FM212 was taken as paper 7 then:
    - Either EC210 Macroeconomic Principles or EC221 Principles of Econometrics
    - If EC210 or EC221 was taken under paper 7 then one from:
      - EC210 Macroeconomic Principles
      - EC221 Principles of Econometrics
      - EC301 Advanced Economic Analysis (if not taken under paper 9)
      - EC302 Political Economy (if not taken under paper 9)
      - EC309 Econometric Theory (if not taken under paper 9)
      - EC310 Behavioural Economics
      - EC313 Industrial Economics (if not taken under paper 9)
      - EC319 Economic Theory and its Applications (if not taken under paper 9)
      - EC321 Monetary Economics
      - MA300 Game Theory (not to be taken with MA301 under 10 above)
      - FM212 Principles of Finance
      - FM320 Quantitative Finance
      - ST202 Probability, Distribution Theory and Inference

Another third year paper in Mathematics or Economics (MA3 or EC3) with the approval of the Departmental Tutor.

12. A further paper to the value of one unit from papers 10 and 11 but no more than one MA2 course can be taken in year three.

Any other paper approved by the Departmental Tutor.

Notes

LSE100 is taken by all students in the Lent Term of Year 1 and the Michaelmas Term of Year 2. The course is compulsory but does not affect the final degree classification.

BSc Mathematics with Economics

For all first, second and third year students in 2012-13

Paper Course number and title

See note LSE100 The LSE Course: Understanding the causes of things

Year 1

1. EC102 Economics B
2. MA100 Mathematical Methods
3. ST102 Elementary Statistical Theory
4. MA103 Introduction to Abstract Mathematics

Year 2

5. Either EC201 Microeconomic Principles I or EC202 Microeconomic Principles II
6. MA212 Further Mathematical Methods
7. MA203 Real Analysis (H)
8. Courses to the value of 1.5 units from:
    - MA208 Optimisation Theory (H)
    - MA209 Differential Equations (H)
    - MA210 Discrete Mathematics (H)
    - MA211 Algebra and Number Theory (H)

Year 3

9. EC210 Macroeconomic Principles or EC221 Principles of Econometrics or EC319 Economic Theory and its Applications

10 & 11. Courses to the value of two units from the following (no more than one MA2 course and no more than two of the listed ST courses can be taken):
    - MA208 Optimisation Theory (H) (if not taken under 8)
    - MA209 Differential Equations (H) (if not taken under 8)
    - MA210 Discrete Mathematics (H) (if not taken under 8)
    - MA211 Algebra and Number Theory (H) (if not taken under 8)

Any other paper approved by the Course Tutor.

Notes

LSE100 is taken by all students in the Lent Term of Year 1 and the Michaelmas Term of Year 2. The course is compulsory but does not affect the final degree classification.
BSc Philosophy and Economics
For all first, second and third year students in 2012-13

Paper  Course number and title
See note  LSE100 The LSE Course: Understanding the causes of things

Year 1
1  EC102 Economics B
2 and 3  Either MA107 Quantitative Methods (Mathematics) (H) and ST107 Quantitative Methods (Statistics) (H) and PH101 Logic or MA100 Mathematical Methods and ST102 Elementary Statistical Theory
4  PH103 Reason, Knowledge and Values: An Introduction to Philosophy

Year 2
5  An approved paper from the Philosophy Selection List below
6  Either PH101 Logic (must be taken if not taken under paper 3) or an approved paper from the Philosophy Selection List below
7  Either EC201 Microeconomic Principles I or EC202 Microeconomic Principles II
8  EC210 Macroeconomic Principles

Year 3
9  An approved paper from the Philosophy Selection List below
10  Either (a) an approved paper taught outside the Departments of Philosophy and Economics or (b) an approved paper from the Economics or Philosophy Selection List below
11  An approved paper from the Economics Selection List below
12  PH211 Philosophy of Economics

Notes  LSE100 is taken by all students in the Lent Term of Year 1 and the Michaelmas Term of Year 2. The course is compulsory but does not affect the final degree classification.

Philosophy Selection List
PH201 Philosophy of Science
PH203 Philosophy of the Social Sciences
PH213 Scientific Revolutions: Philosophical and Historical Issues
PH214 Morality and Values
PH217 Set Theory and Further Logic
PH218 Philosophy of the Biological and Cognitive Sciences
PH220 Evidence and Scientific Method
PH221 Philosophy of the Biological and Cognitive Sciences
PH222 Philosophy and Public Policy
PH225 Business and Organisational Ethics (H)
PH299 Essay on an approved subject in Philosophy (third year only)
To be combined with another approved half-unit course taught outside the Department.

Economics Selection List
EC220 Either Introduction to Econometrics or EC221 Principles of Econometrics
EC301 Advanced Economic Analysis
EC302 Political Economy (n/a 12/13)
EC303 Economic Policy Analysis
EC307 Development Economics
EC311 History of Economics: How Theories Change
EC313 Industrial Economics
EC315 International Economics
EC317 Labour Economics
EC319 Economic Theory and its Applications
EC321 Monetary Economics
EC325 Public Economics

BSc Philosophy, Logic and Scientific Method
For all first, second and third year students in 2012-13

Paper  Course number and title
See note  The LSE Course: Understanding the causes of things

Year 1
1  PH103 Reason Knowledge and Values: An Introduction to Philosophy
2  PH101 Logic
3 & 4  Two approved papers taught outside the Department

Year 2
5  PH201 Philosophy of Science or PH203 Philosophy of the Social Sciences or PH213 Scientific Revolutions: Philosophical and Historical Issues or PH220 Evidence and Scientific Method
6, 7, & 8  Three from: Up to three papers from the Philosophy Selection List below
An approved paper outside the Department

Year 3
9, 10, 11 & 12  Four from:
The Philosophy Selection List below
An approved paper taught outside the Department
LSE100 is taken by all students in the Lent Term of Year 1 and the Michaelmas Term of Year 2. The course is compulsory but does not affect the final degree classification.

Philosophy Option List
PH201 Philosophy of Science
PH203 Philosophy of the Social Sciences
PH211 Philosophy of Economics
PH213 Scientific Revolutions: Philosophical and Historical Issues
PH214 Morality and Values
PH217 Set Theory and Further Logic
PH218 Philosophy of the Biological and Cognitive Sciences
PH220 Evidence and Scientific Method
PH221 Problems in Analytic Philosophy
PH222 Philosophy and Public Policy
PH225 Business and Organisational Ethics (H)
PH299 Essay on an approved subject in Philosophy (3rd year only)
To be combined with another approved half-unit course taught outside the Department.

BSc Politics and Philosophy
For all first and second year students in 2012-13

Paper  Course number and title
See note  LSE100 The LSE Course: Understanding the causes of things

Year 1
1  PH101 Logic
2  PH103 Reason Knowledge and Values: An Introduction to Philosophy
3  GV100 Introduction to Political Theory
4  GV101 Introduction to Political Science

Year 2
5  A Paper from the Government selection lists A or B or an approved paper taught outside the Government and Philosophy Departments.
6 & 7  Either PH214 Morality and Values or GV262 Contemporary Political Theory
An approved paper from the Government Selection List A
8  Either PH201 Philosophy of Science or PH203 Philosophy of the Social Sciences or PH213 Scientific Revolutions: Philosophical and Historical Issues or PH220 Evidence and Scientific Method

Year 3
9  An approved paper from the Government Selection List B
10  PH222 Philosophy and Public Policy
Year 1
1 A Paper from the Government selection lists A or B or an approved paper taught outside of the Government and Philosophy Departments if an outside option was not taken as paper 5.
2 Either PH299 Essay on an approved subject in Philosophy or GV390 Government Essay Option or a paper from the Government Selection Lists A or B or a paper from the Philosophy Selection List or an approved paper taught outside of the Government and Philosophy Departments

Notes
LSE100 is taken by all students in the Lent Term of Year 1 and the Michaelmas Term of Year 2. The course is compulsory but does not affect the final degree classification.

Government Selection List
Selection List A
Comparative Politics
GV264 Politics and Institutions in Europe
GV265 States, Nations and Empires
GV303 From Empire to Globalisation (n/a 12/13)
GV310 Democracy and Democratisation
GV350 Theories and Problems of Nationalism
GV366 Political Economy of the Developing World

European Politics
GV351 Government, Politics and Public Policy in the European Union

Selection List B
Political Theory
GV262 Contemporary Political Theory
GV302 Key Themes in the History of Political Thought

Public Policy
GV225 Public Choice and Politics
GV227 The Politics of Economic Policy
GV263 Public Policy Analysis
GV305 Sustainability Science and Policy: Problems and Perspectives
GV314 Empirical Research in Government
GV353 Politics of Money, Finance and Trade in Comparative Perspective*

Notes
*Students selecting this option will require the approval of the course convenors.

No third year course can be taken in the second year

Philosophy Selection List
PH201 Philosophy of Science
PH203 Philosophy of the Social Sciences
PH213 Scientific Revolutions: Philosophical and Historical Issues
PH214 Morality and Values
PH211 Philosophy of Economics
PH203 Philosophy of the Social Sciences
PH211 Philosophy of Economics
PH213 Scientific Revolutions: Philosophical and Historical Issues
PH214 Morality and Values

Notes
To be combined with another approved half-unit course taught outside the Department.

BSc Politics and Philosophy
For third year students in 2012-13
Paper Course number and title
See note LSE100 The LSE Course: Understanding the causes of things

Year 1
1 PH101 Logic
2 PH103 Reason Knowledge and Values: An Introduction to Philosophy
3 Either GV100 Introduction to Political Theory or GV101 Introduction to Political Science
4 Either a paper not taken under paper 3 above or an approved paper taught outside of the Government and Philosophy Departments

Year 2
5 Either the paper mentioned under paper 3 above not taken in year 1 or if both GV100 and GV101 were taken in year 1, an approved paper from the Philosophy or Government selection lists below
6 Either PH214 Morality and Values or GV262 Contemporary Political Theory
7 An approved paper from the Government Selection List A
8 Either PH201 Philosophy of Science or PH203 Philosophy of the Social Sciences or PH213 Scientific Revolutions: Philosophical and Historical Issues or PH220 Evidence and Scientific Method

Year 3
9 An approved paper from the Government Selection List B
10 PH222 Philosophy and Public Policy
11 Either a paper from the Philosophy Selection List below or Government Selection Lists A or B
12 Either PH299 Essay on an approved subject in Philosophy or GV390 Government Essay Option or a paper from the Government Selection Lists A or B or a paper from the Philosophy Selection List or an approved paper taught outside of the Government and Philosophy Departments

Notes
LSE100 is taken by all students in the Lent Term of Year 1 and the Michaelmas Term of Year 2. The course is compulsory but does not affect the final degree classification.

Government Selection List
Selection List A
Comparative Politics
GV264 Politics and Institutions in Europe
GV265 States, Nations and Empires
GV303 From Empire to Globalisation (n/a 12/13)
GV310 Democracy and Democratisation
GV350 Theories and Problems of Nationalism
GV366 Political Economy of the Developing World

European Politics
GV351 Government, Politics and Public Policy in the European Union

Selection List B
Political Theory
GV262 Contemporary Political Theory
GV302 Key Themes in the History of Political Thought

Public Policy
GV225 Public Choice and Politics
GV227 The Politics of Economic Policy
GV263 Public Policy Analysis
GV305 Sustainability Science and Policy: Problems and Perspectives
GV314 Empirical Research in Government
GV353 Politics of Money, Finance and Trade in Comparative Perspective*

Notes
*Students selecting this option will require the approval of the course convenors.

No third year course can be taken in the second year

Philosophy Selection List
PH201 Philosophy of Science
PH203 Philosophy of the Social Sciences
PH211 Philosophy of Economics
PH213 Scientific Revolutions: Philosophical and Historical Issues
PH214 Morality and Values
BA/BSc Social Anthropology

For all first, second and third year students in 2012-13

Paper Course number and title

See note LSE100 The LSE Course: Understanding the causes of things

Year 1

1. AN100 Introduction to Social Anthropology
2. AN101 Ethnography and Theory: Selected Texts
3. AN102 Reading Other Cultures: The Anthropological Interpretation of Text and Film
4. An approved paper taught outside the Department

Year 2

5. AN200 The Anthropology of Kinship, Sex and Gender
6. AN226 Political and Legal Anthropology
7. AN227 The Anthropology of Economic Institutions and their Social Transformations
8. Papers to the value of one unit from Selection List A below*

Year 3

9. AN300 Advanced Theory of Social Anthropology
10. AN301 Anthropology of Religion
11. Papers to the value of one unit from Selection List A below*
12. AN399 Ethnography as Research Method and Text

Notes

* Students must take ethnographic options to the value of at least half a unit under papers 8 and 11

LSE100 is taken by all students in the Lent Term of Year 1 and the Michaelmas Term of Year 2. The course is compulsory but does not affect the final degree classification.

Anthropology Selection List A

- AN025 The Anthropology of Melanesia (H) (n/a 12/13)
- AN016 Cognition and Anthropology (H) (n/a 12/13)
- AN221 The Anthropology of Christianity (H) (n/a 12/13)
- AN223 The Anthropology of South East Asia (H) (n/a 12/13)
- AN230 The Anthropology of Industrialisation and Industrial Life (H) (n/a 12/13)
- AN231 The Anthropology of China (H)
- AN235 The Anthropology of Southern Africa (H) (n/a 12/13)
- AN237 The Anthropology of Development (H)
- AN238 Anthropology and Human Rights (H)
- AN240 Investigating the Philippines: New Approaches and Ethnographic Contexts (H) (n/a 12/13)
- AN243 Children and Youth in Contemporary Ethnography (H) (n/a 12/13)
- AN244 Anthropology and Media (H) (n/a 12/13)
- AN245 The Anthropology of Borders and Boundaries (H) (n/a 12/13)
- AN246 The Anthropology of Post-Soviet Eurasia (H) (n/a 12/13)
- AN247 Anthropological Approaches to Questions of Being (H) (n/a 12/13)
- AN248 Ethnography of a Selected Region (H) (n/a 12/13)
- AN249 Research Methods in Social Anthropology (H) (n/a 12/13)
- AN250 The Anthropology of South Asia (H)
- AN251 Cognition and Anthropology: Learning and Thinking in Relation to Social Institutions (H)
- AN268 Anthropology of Schooling (H) (n/a 12/13)
- AN269 The Anthropology of Amazonia (H)

An approved paper taught outside the Department

BSc Social Policy

For all first, second and third year students in 2012-13

Paper Course number and title

See note LSE100 The LSE Course: Understanding the causes of things

Year 1

1. SA100 Foundations of Social Policy
2. SA101 Sociology and Social Policy
3. SA103 Population, Economy and Society
4. SA104 Social Economics and Policy
5. SA105 Crime and Society

Year 2

6. SA201 Research Methods for Social Policy
7. One from the Selection List below
8. Either a paper from the Selection List below or an approved paper taught outside the Department

Selection List

- SA100 Foundations of Social Policy
- SA101 Sociology and Social Policy
- SA103 Population, Economy and Society
- SA104 Social Economics and Policy
- SA105 Crime and Society

Notes

* If not taken under papers 2 and 3 above

BSc Social Policy and Criminology

For all students in 2012-13

Paper Course number and title

Year 1

1. SA100 Foundations of Social Policy
2. SA105 Crime and Society
3. One from:
   - SA101 Sociology and Social Policy
   - SA103 Population, Economy and Society
   - SA104 Social Economics and Policy
4. An approved paper taught outside the Department

Year 2
BSc Social Policy and Economics
For all first, second and third year students in 2012/13
Paper Course number and title
See note LSE100 The LSE Course: Understanding the causes of things

Year 1
1 SA100 Foundations of Social Policy
2 EC102 Economics B
3 MA107 Quantitative Methods (Mathematics) (H) and ST107 Quantitative Methods (Statistics) (H)
4 An approved paper taught outside the Departments of Social Policy and Economics

Year 2
5 SA222 Principles of Social Policy
6 EC201 Microeconomic Principles I
7 Either EC210 Macroeconomic Principles or EC220 Introduction to Econometrics
8 SA201 Research Methods for Social Policy

Year 3
9 SA320 Comparative and International Social Policy
10 EC325 Public Economics
11 Either The paper not taken under No 7 or a paper from the Social Policy or Economics Selection Lists
12 Either a paper from the Social Policy or Economics Selection Lists or an approved paper taught outside the Departments of Social Policy and Economics

Notes LSE100 is taken by all students in the Lent Term of Year 1 and the Michaelmas Term of Year 2. The course is compulsory but does not affect the final degree classification.

Social Policy Selection List
SA101 Sociology and Social Policy
SA103 Population, Economy and Society
SA104 Social Economics and Policy
SA105 Crime and Society
SA204 Education Policy
SA217 Psychology of Crime and Criminal Justice
SA218 Criminological Perspectives
SA221 Poverty, Social Exclusion and Social Change
SA250 Demographic Description and Analysis
SA302 Assessing Social Progress
SA309 Criminal Justice Policy
SA313 European Social Policy
SA349 A Long Essay on an Approved Topic

Economics Selection List
EC301 Advanced Economic Analysis
EC302 Political Economy (n/a 12/13)
EC303 Economic Policy Analysis
EC307 Development Economics
EC311 History of Economics: How Theories Change
EC313 Industrial Economics
EC315 International Economics
EC317 Labour Economies
EC319 Economic Theory and its Applications
EC321 Monetary Economics
EC333 Problems of Applied Econometrics
FM212 Principles of Finance

BSc Social Policy and Sociology
For all first, second and third year students in 2012/13
Paper Course number and title
See note LSE100 The LSE Course: Understanding the causes of things

Year 1
1 Either SO110 Key Issues in Contemporary Societies: An Introduction to Contemporary Sociology or SO100 Key Concepts in Sociology: An Introduction to Sociological Theory
2 SA100 Foundations of Social Policy
3 SA101 Sociology and Social Policy
4 An approved paper taught outside the Departments of Sociology and Social Policy

Year 2
5 SO201 Sociological Analysis
6 A paper from the Sociology Selection List below
7 SA222 Principles of Social Policy
8 SA201 Research Methods for Social Policy

Year 3
9 SA320 Comparative and International Social Policy
10 A paper from the Sociology Selection List below
11 A paper from the Social Policy Selection List below
12 An approved paper taught outside the Departments of Sociology and Social Policy

Notes LSE100 is taken by all students in the Lent Term of Year 1 and the Michaelmas Term of Year 2. The course is compulsory but does not affect the final degree classification.

Sociology Selection List
Year Course
2,3 GV350 Theories and Problems of Nationalism
2,3 SO203 Political Sociology
2,3 SO208 Gender and Society
2,3 SO210 Crime, Deviance and Control
2,3 SO211 Sociology of Health and Medicine
2,3 SO212 Work, Management and Globalisation
2,3 SO307 Human Rights, Social Suffering and Justice (n/a 12/13)

Social Policy Selection List
SA103 Population, Economy and Society
SA104 Social Economics and Policy
SA105 Crime and Society
SA204 Education Policy
SA217 Psychology of Crime and Criminal Justice
SA218 Criminological Perspectives
SA221 Poverty, Social Exclusion and Social Change
SA250 Demographic Description and Analysis
SA302 Assessing Social Progress
SA309 Criminal Justice Policy
SA313 European Social Policy
SA349 A Long Essay on an Approved Topic
BSc Social Policy with Government

For all first, second and third year students in 2012-13

Paper

Course number and title

See note LSE100 The LSE Course: Understanding the causes of things

Year 1

1. SA100 Foundations of Social Policy
2. GV101 Introduction to Political Science
3. GV100 Introduction to Political Theory
4. SA201 Research Methods for Social Policy
5. From SA202 Principles of Social Policy
6. From SA203 Research Methods for Social Policy
7. From SA204 Education Policy
8. From SA205 Research Methods for Social Policy
9. One from the Social Policy Selection List below (to exclude SA349)

Notes

Students are required to select at least one paper from GV264, GV265, GV310, GV350 and GV351 and at least one paper from GV225, GV227, GV262, GV263, and GV302.

Year 2

5. SA222 Principles of Social Policy
6. SA201 Research Methods for Social Policy
7. One from the Social Policy Selection List Below (to exclude SA349)

Year 3

9. SA320 Comparative and International Social Policy

Sociology Selection List

SA101 Sociology and Social Policy
SA103 Population, Economy and Society
SA104 Social Economics and Policy
SA105 Crime and Society
SA204 Education Policy
SA217 Psychology of Crime and Criminal Justice
SA218 Criminological Perspectives
SA221 Poverty, Social Exclusion and Social Change

SA250 Demographic Description and Analysis
SA302 Assessing Social Progress
SA309 Criminal Justice Policy
SA313 European Social Policy
SA349 A Long Essay on an Approved Topic

BSc Sociology

For all first, second and third year students in 2012-13

Paper

Course number and title

See note LSE100 The LSE Course: Understanding the causes of things

Year 1

1. ST103 Statistical Methods for Social Research*
2. SO100 Key Concepts in Sociology: An Introduction to Sociological Theory
3. SO110 Key Issues in Contemporary Societies: An Introduction to Contemporary Sociology
4. Either PS102 Social Psychology or an approved level 1 paper taught outside the Department or another paper taught outside the Department subject to the approval of your personal tutor and the Department Tutor.

Year 2

5. SO224 Researching London: An Introduction to Social Research Methods
6. SO201 Sociological Analysis
7. An approved year 2 or year 3 Sociology option
8. An approved year 2 or year 3 Sociology option or an approved paper from outside the Department

Year 3

9. SO302 Sociological Project
10. An approved year 2 or year 3 Sociology option
11. An approved year 2 or year 3 Sociology option
12. Either an approved year 2 or 3 paper Sociology option or an approved paper taught outside the Department

Notes

LSE100 is taken by all students in the Lent Term of Year 1 and the Michaelmas Term of Year 2. The course is compulsory but does not affect the final degree classification.

* Please note that this course cannot be taken with ST102 Elementary Statistical Theory, ST107 Quantitative Methods (Statistics)

Sociology Selection List

PS203 Societal Psychology: Theory and Applications (n/a 12/13)
SO203 Political Sociology
SO208 Gender and Society
SO210 Crime, Deviance and Control
SO211 Sociology of Health and Medicine
SO212 Work, Management and Globalisation
SO224 The Sociology of Race and Ethnicity (n/a 12/13)
SO307 Human Rights, Social Suffering and Justice (n/a 12/13)
SO308 Personal Life, Intimacy and the Family

BSc Statistics with Finance

For first and second year students in 2012-13.

Paper

Course number and title

See note LSE100 The LSE Course: Understanding the causes of things.

Year 1

1. ST102 Elementary Statistical Theory.
2. MA100 Mathematical Methods
3. EC102 Economics B
4. AC100 Elements of Accounting and Finance or MA103 Introduction to Abstract Mathematics

* Note that AC100 is a pre-requisite for all AC courses under paper 12

Year 2
Outside options

Outside options for first year students

Where the regulations refer to an approved paper taught outside the department, this means that you may take any course in a subject other than the principal subject(s) of your degree, subject to any restrictions listed in the Course Guides. If your degree is for joint honours (e.g., Philosophy and Economics) or is a major/minor combination (e.g., Geography with Economics), a course outside the department means a course taught in any department other than the two named in the title of your degree. The home department of each course is indicated by the letters in its code.

The courses available for this purpose in your first year are:

AC100 Elements of Accounting and Finance
AN100 Introduction to Social Anthropology
AN101 Ethnography and Theory: Selected Texts
AN102 Reading Other Cultures: Anthropological Interpretation Of Text and Film
EC100 Economics A
EC102 Economics B
EH101 The Internationalisation of Economic Growth, 1870 to the Present Day
GV100 Introduction to Political Theory
GV101 Introduction to Political Science
GY100 Environment, Economy and Society
GY103 Contemporary Europe
GY120 The Natural Environment
GY121 Environmental Change and sustainable Development
HY113 Empire to Independence: the Extra-European World in the Twentieth Century
HY114 War and Society from the Renaissance to the Napoleonic Era, c1500-1815
HY116 International History since 1890
ID100 Employment Relations
IR100 The Structure of International Society
IS143 Information Technology and Society
LL104 Law of Obligations
LL105 Property I
LL106 Public Law
LL108 Criminal Law
LL109 Introduction to the Legal System
LN100 Russian Language and Society 3 (Advanced)
LN101 Russian Language and Society 1 (Beginner)
LN102 Russian Language and Society 2 (Intermediate)
LN104 Mandarin Language and Society 1 (Beginner)
LN110 Intensive German Language and Society 3 (Advanced)
LN120 Spanish Language and Society 3 (Advanced)
LN121 Spanish Language and Society 1 (Beginner)
LN122 Spanish Language and Society 2 (Intermediate)
LN130 French Language and Society 3 (Advanced)
LN131 French Language and Society 1 (Beginner)
LN132 French Language and Society 2 (Intermediate)
LN140 Mandarin Language and Society 3 (Advanced)
LN142 Mandarin Language and Society 2 (Intermediate)
LN200 Russian Language and Society 4 (Proficiency)
LN210 German Language and Society 4 (Proficiency)
LN220 Spanish Language and Society 4 (Proficiency)
LN230 French Language and Society 4 (Proficiency)
LN240 Mandarin Language and Society 4 (Proficiency)
LN250 English Literature and Society
Undergraduate Programme Regulations

Outside options for second and third year students

Where undergraduate programme regulations refer to an approved paper taught outside the department this will be a paper in a subject other than the principal subject(s) of your degree, subject to timetabling constraints and any restrictions listed in the Course Guides. An outside paper may be selected from the Undergraduate Course Guides, subject to the approval of the candidate's tutor and to the successful completion of prerequisites where necessary, with the following exceptions:

• certain first-year courses are not available to students in the second or third year of their degree;
• some courses are not available as an outside option;
• some papers are mutually exclusive and may therefore not be combined.

The following are courses that are available to second and/or third year students as an outside option where regulations permit.

AN200 The Anthropology of Kinship, Sex and Gender
AN205 The Anthropology of Melanesia (n/a 12/13)
AN216 The Anthropology of Christianity (n/a 12/12)
AN223 The Anthropology of South-East Asia (n/a 12/13)
AN226 Political and Legal Anthropology
AN227 The Anthropology of Economic Institutions and their Social Transformations
AN230 The Anthropology of Industrialization and Industrial Life (n/a 12/13)
AN231 The Anthropology of China (H)
AN235 The Anthropology of Southern Africa (n/a 12/13)
AN237 The Anthropology of Development
AN240 Investigating the Philippines: New Approaches and Ethnographic Contexts (n/a 12/13)
AN241 The Anthropology of India
AN243 Children and Youth in Contemporary Ethnography (n/a 12/13)
AN244 Anthropology and Media (n/a 12/13)
AN245 The Anthropology of Borders and Boundaries (n/a 12/13)
AN246 The Anthropology of Post-Soviet Eurasia (n/a 12/13)
AN247 Anthropological Approaches to Questions of Being (n/a 12/13)
AN248 Ethnography of a Selected Region (n/a 12/13)
AN250 The Anthropology of South Asia (H)
AN251 Cognition and Anthropology: Learning and Thinking in Relation to Social Institutions (H)
AN265 Medical Anthropology
AN268 Anthropology of Schooling (H) (n/a 12/13)
AN269 The Anthropology of Amazonia (H)
EC100 Economics A
EC102 Economics B
EC201 Microeconomic Principles I
EC202 Microeconomic Principles II
EC210 Macroeconomic Principles
EC221 Principles of Econometrics
EC230 Economics in Public Policy
EC301 Advanced Economic Analysis
EC302 Political Economy (n/a 12/13)
EC303 Economic Policy Analysis
EC307 Development Economics
EC310 Behavioural Economics
EC311 History of Economics: How Theories Change
EC313 Industrial Economics
EC315 International Economics
EC317 Labour Economics
EC319 Mathematical Economics
EC321 Monetary Economics
EC325 Public Economics
EC333 Problems of Applied Econometrics
EH101 Internationalization of Economic Growth
EH203 From Money to Finance: European Financial History, 800-1750 (n/a 12/13)
EH205 Towns, Society and Economy in England and Europe, 1450-1750
EH206 The Evolution of Economic Policy in Advanced Economies (n/a 12/13)
EH207 The Making of an Economic Superpower: China since 1850
EH211 Africa and the World Economy, 1500-2000
EH220 Comparative Economic Development: Late Industrialisation in Russia, India and Japan (n/a 12/13)
EH225 Latin America and the International Economy
EH238 The Industrial Revolution (n/a 12/13)
EH240 Business and Economic Performance since 1945: Britain in International Context
EH315 Africa and the World Economy
FM121 Principles of Finance
FM300 Corporate Finance, Investments and Financial Markets
FM320 Quantitative Finance
GV100 Introduction to Political Theory
GV101 Introduction to Political Science
GV225 Public Choice and Politics
GV227 The Politics of Economic Policy
GV262 Contemporary Political Theory
GV263 Public Policy Analysis
GV264 Politics and Institutions in Europe
GV265 States, Nations and Empires
GV302 Key Themes in the History of Political Thought
GV305 Sustainability Science and Policy: Problems and Perspectives
GV310 Democracy and Democratization
GV350 Theories and Problems of Nationalism
GV351 Government, Politics and Public Policy in the European Union
GY100 Environment, Economy and Society
GY103 Contemporary Europe
GY120 The Natural Environment
GY121  Environmental Change and Sustainable Development
GY200  Economy, Society and Space
GY201  Urban and Spatial Economic Analysis I
GY202  Introduction to Development in the South
GY205  Political Geographies, Policy and Space
GY220  Environment: Science and Society
GY222  Applied Environmental Economics
GY244  London’s Geographies: An Introduction to Cultural and Historical Geography
GY300  Theories of Regional Development and Change
GY301  Political Geography of Development and the South
GY302  Urban Development: Politics, Policy and Planning
GY303  The Geography of Gender: Global Perspectives
HY101  The European Civil War 1890-1990
HY113  From Empire to Independence: the Extra-European World in the Twentieth Century
HY114  War and Society from the Renaissance to the Napoleonic Era, c.1500-1815
HY116  International History since 1890
HY203  The Arab-Israeli Conflict: Nationalism, Territory, Religion
HY206  The International History of the Cold War, 1945-1989
HY208  The History of the United States since 1783
HY216  Four Reichs: Austria, Prussia and the Contest for Germany since 1618
HY221  The History of Russia, 1682-1825
HY226  The Great War 1914-1918
HY232  Frontiers of Nationalism, Statehood and Independence: the History of South-Eastern Europe 1914-1990 (n/a 12/13)
HY233  Empire and Nation: Britain and India since 1750
HY238  The Cold War and European Integration, 1947-1992
HY239  Latin America and the United States since 1898 (n/a 12/13)
HY240  From Empire to Commonwealth: War, Race and Imperialism in British History, 1780 to 1979.
HY303  Russia in Revolution, 1914-1921
HY311  Limited War During the Cold War Era: The United States in Korea (1950-53) and Vietnam (1954-75)
HY315  The European Enlightenment, c.1680-1799
HY319  Napoleon and Europe
HY320  The Cold War Endgame
HY321  The Struggle for the Persian Gulf, 1945-2003
ID100  Employment Relations
ID200  Organisational Theory and Behaviour
ID205  Corporate Social Responsibility and International Labour Standards (H)
ID222  Managing Employment Law (n/a 12/13)
ID290  Human Resource Management
ID316  Managing Diversity in Organisations (n/a 12/13)
IR200  International Political Theory
IR202.1  Foreign Policy Analysis 1
IR203  International Organisations
IR304  The Politics of International Economic Relations
IR305  Strategic Aspects of International Relations
IR306  Sovereignty, Rights and Justice: Issues in IPT
IR308  Systemic Change in the Twentieth Century: Theories of the Cold War
IR311  Europe’s Institutional Order
IR312  Genocide (n/a 12/13)
IR315  The Middle East and International Relations Theory
IR316  United Nations (n/a 12/13)
IS340  Information Systems in Business
LL104  Law of Obligations
LL105  Property I
LL106  Public Law
LL108  Criminal Law
LL109  Introduction to the Legal System
LL201  Administrative Law
LL202  Commercial Contracts
LL204  Advanced Torts
LL205  Medical Law
LL209  Commercial Law
LL210  Information Technology and the Law
LL221  Family Law
LL232  Law and Institutions of the European Union
LL233  Law of Evidence
LL241  Introduction to Civil Law
LL250  Law and The Environment
LL259  Legal and Social Change since 1750
LL272  Outlines of Modern Criminology
LL275  Property II
LL278  Public International Law
LL284  Sentencing and Treatment of Offenders
LL293  Taxation
LL295  Media Law
LL300  Competition Law
LN100  Russian Language and Society 3 (Advanced)
LN101  Russian Language and Society 1 (Beginner)
LN102  Russian Language and Society 2 (Intermediate)
LN104  Mandarin Language and Society 1 (Beginner)
LN110  German Language and Society 3 (Advanced)
LN120  Spanish Language and Society 3 (Advanced)
LN121  Spanish Language and Society 1 (Beginner)
LN122  Spanish Language and Society 2 (Intermediate)
LN130  French Language and Society 3 (Advanced)
LN131  French Language and Society 1 (Beginner)
LN132  French Language and Society 2 (Intermediate)
LN140  Mandarin Language and Society 3 (Advanced)
LN142  Mandarin Language and Society 2 (Intermediate)
LN200  Russian Language and Society 4 (Proficiency)
LN210  German Language and Society 4 (Proficiency)
LN220  Spanish Language and Society 4 (Proficiency)
LN230  French Language and Society 4 (Proficiency)
LN240  Mandarin Language and Society 4 (Proficiency)
LN250  English Literature and Society
LN251  Comparative Literature and Society
LN252  Contemporary Literature and Global Society
LN270  Society and Language: Linguistics for Social Scientists
LN320  Spanish Language and Society 5 (Mastery)
LN330  French Language and Society 5 (Mastery)
LN340  Mandarin Language and Society 5 (Mastery)
MA100  Mathematical Methods
MA103  Introduction to Abstract Mathematics
MA107  Quantitative Methods (Mathematics)
MA110  Basic Quantitative Methods
MA203  Real Analysis
MA207  Further Quantitative Methods (Mathematics)
MA208  Optimisation Theory
MA209  Differential Equations
MA210  Discrete Mathematics
MA211  Algebra and Number Theory
MA212  Further Mathematical Methods
MA300  Game Theory
MA301  Game Theory I
MA303  Chaos in Dynamical Systems
MA305  Optimisation in Function Spaces
MA310  Mathematics of Finance and Valuation
MA313  Probability for Finance
MA314  Algorithms in Java
MA315  Algebra and its Applications
MA316  Graph Theory
MA317  Complex Analysis (H)
MA318  History of Mathematics in Finance and Economics (H)
MN307  Aspects of Marketing Management
OR202  Operational Research Methods
OR301  Model Building in Operational Research
OR304  Decision Analysis
OR307  Simulation Modelling and Analysis
PH101  Logic
PH103  Reason, Knowledge and Values: An Introduction to Philosophy
PH201  Philosophy of Science
PH203  Philosophy of the Social Sciences
PH211  Philosophy of Economics
PH213  Scientific Revolutions: Philosophical & Historical Issues
PH214  Morality and Values
PH217  Set Theory and Further Logic
PH218  Philosophy of the Biological and Cognitive Sciences
PH220  Evidence and Scientific Method
PH221  Problems of Analytic Philosophy
PH225  Business and Organisational Ethics (H)
PS102  Self, Others and Society: Perspectives on Social and Applied Psychology
PS203  Societal Psychology: Theory and Applications (n/a 12/13)
SA100  Foundations of Social Policy
SA101  Sociology and Social Policy
SA103  Population, Economy and Society
SA104  Social Economics and Policy
SA105  Crime and Society
SA201  Research Methods for Social Policy
SA204  Education Policy
SA217  Psychology of Crime and Criminal Justice
SA218  Criminological Perspectives
SA221  Poverty, Social Exclusion and Social Change
SA222  Principles of Social Policy
SA250  Demographic Description and Analysis
SA302  Assessing Social Progress
SA309  Crime Control: Ideas and Controversies
SA320  Comparative and International Social Policy
SO100  Key Concepts in Sociology: An Introduction to Sociological Theory
SO110  Key Issues in Contemporary Societies: An Introduction to Contemporary Sociology
SO201  Sociological Analysis
SO203  Political Sociology
SO208  Gender and Society
SO210  Crime, Deviance and Control
SO211  Sociology of Health and Medicine
SO212  Work, Management and Globalisation
SO221  Researching London: An Introduction to Social Research Methods
SO224  The Sociology of Race and Ethnicity (n/a 12/13)
SO307  Human Rights, Social Suffering and Justice (n/a 12/13)
SO308  Personal Life, Intimacy and the Family
ST102  Elementary Statistical Theory
ST103  Statistical Methods for Social Research
ST107  Quantitative Methods (Statistics)
ST108  Probability and Statistics for the Social Sciences
ST201  Statistical Models and Data Analysis
ST202  Probability, Distribution Theory and Inference
ST203  Statistics for Management Sciences
ST211  Applied Regression
ST226  Actuarial Investigations: Financial ST227  Survival Models
ST300  Regression and Generalized Linear Models
ST302  Stochastic Processes
ST304  Time Series and Forecasting
ST305  Actuarial Mathematics (Life)
ST306  Actuarial Mathematics (General)
ST307  Aspects of Market Research
ST308  Bayesian Inference (H)
ST327  Market Research: An Integrated Approach
ST330  Stochastic and Actuarial Methods in Finance
Undergraduate Programme Regulations

Mutually exclusive options (may not be combined)
The following courses may not be taken together i.e. students can only take one or other of the listed courses (and as programme regulations permit):

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Course 1</th>
<th>with</th>
<th>Course 2</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>EC100 Economics A</td>
<td>with</td>
<td>EC102 Economics B</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>EC201 Microeconomic Principles I</td>
<td>with</td>
<td>EC202 Microeconomic Principles II</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>EC220 Introduction to Econometrics</td>
<td>with</td>
<td>EC221 Principles of Econometrics</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>EC220 Introduction to Econometrics or</td>
<td>with</td>
<td>ST201 Statistical Models and Data Analysis (H) or</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>EC221 Principles for Econometrics</td>
<td>with</td>
<td>ST203 Statistics for Management Sciences or</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td>with</td>
<td>ST205 Sample Surveys and Experiments (H)</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>GY240 Research Techniques (Spatial, Social and Environmental)</td>
<td>with</td>
<td>GY2A0 Research Techniques (Spatial, Social and Environmental)</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>LL104 Law of Obligations</td>
<td>with</td>
<td>LL209 Commercial Law</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>MA100 Mathematical Methods</td>
<td>with</td>
<td>MA110 Basic Quantitative Methods or</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td>with</td>
<td>MA107 Quantitative Methods (Mathematics)</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td>with</td>
<td>MA207 Further Quantitative Methods (Mathematics)</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>MA107 Quantitative Methods (Mathematics) (H)</td>
<td>with</td>
<td>MA100 Mathematical Methods or</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>ST107 Quantitative Methods (Statistics) (H)</td>
<td>with</td>
<td>MA110 Basic Quantitative Methods or</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td>with</td>
<td>ST102 Elementary Statistical Theory or</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td>with</td>
<td>ST103 Statistical Methods for Social Research</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>MA110 Basic Quantitative Methods</td>
<td>with</td>
<td>MA100 Mathematical Methods</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>MA107 Quantitative Methods (Mathematics)</td>
<td>with</td>
<td>MA207 Further Quantitative Methods (Mathematics)</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>MA211 Algebra and Number Theory (H)</td>
<td>with</td>
<td>MA315 Algebra and its Applications</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>MA300 Game Theory</td>
<td>with</td>
<td>MA301 Game Theory I (H)</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>ST102 Elementary Statistical Theory</td>
<td>with</td>
<td>ST103 Statistical Methods for Social Research</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>ST107 Quantitative Methods (Statistics) (H)</td>
<td>with</td>
<td>ST203 Statistics for Management Sciences</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>ST201 Statistical Models and Data Analysis H</td>
<td>with</td>
<td>ST327 Market Research: An Integrated Approach</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>ST205 Sample Surveys and Experiments (H)</td>
<td>with</td>
<td>ST203 Statistics for Management Sciences</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>ST307 Aspects of Market Research (H)</td>
<td>with</td>
<td>ST203 Statistics for Management Sciences</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

(H) means a half-unit course
(n/a 12/13) means not available in the 2012/13 academic year
Undergraduate Course Guides
Undergraduate Course Guides

AC100  Elements of Accounting and Finance
This information is for the 2012/13 session.

Teachers responsible: Dr A Simpson OLD 3.31, Dr Y Chahed, OLD 3.30, and Dr E Bertero OLD M2.12.

Availability: Compulsory for BSc Accounting and Finance, BSc Business Mathematics and Statistics and BSc Management Sciences. Optional for BSc Actuarial Science and BSc Human Resource Management and Employment Relations. This course is also available as an outside option or to General Course students.

Teaching: Lectures: AC100 40, twice weekly, MT, LT. Classes: AC109-AB/C 21, weekly MT, LT, ST.

Formative coursework: Written answers to numerical problems and discussion questions will be expected weekly; some will be collected during classes for marking.

Assessment: Three and a quarter hour written examination (the first fifteen minutes of which will be reading time) in the ST.

Availability: For students on the BSc in Management only. Not available as an outside option or to General Course students.

Course content: Introduction to managerial accounting and financial management. The design, use and role of accounting information in the management and control of organisational activities. Costing and budgeting. Financial evaluation of decisions in the shorter and longer terms. The design and use of performance measurement systems. Accounting for environmental impacts.

Teaching: 20x one hour lectures and 9x one hour classes in the Lent term, plus 1x hour revision class in the Summer term.

Formative coursework: Written answers to numerical problems and discussion questions will be expected weekly; some will be collected during classes for marking and feedback.

Indicative reading: Detailed reading lists will be made available at the beginning of the course. Illustrative texts include: Peter Atrill and Eddie McLaney Management Accounting for Decision Makers, 7th edn, Pearson (2012); Boakes, K. Reading and Understanding the “Financial Times”, FT / Prentice-Hall (2012).

Assessment: 1 1/2 hours (+ 1/4 hr reading time) examination in the Summer term (100%).

AC211  Managerial Accounting
This information is for the 2012/13 session.

Teachers responsible: Dr Martin Girardeau OLD2.15, Dr Matthew Hall, OLD 2.11, Dr Yuval Millo, Dr Rita Samiolo, OLD 3.33

Availability: Compulsory for BSc Accounting and Finance. Optional for BSc Business Mathematics and Statistics, BSc Economics, BSc Econometrics and Mathematical Economics, BSc Human Resource Management and Employment Relations, BSc Management, BSc Management Sciences and the Diploma in Accounting and Finance and other students with the permission of the Accounting Departmental Tutor.

Pre-requisites: Students must have completed AC100, Elements of Accounting and Finance.

Course content: The course analyses the roles and applications of management accounting practices and concepts in contemporary organisations and enterprises. Management accounting is extensively involved in the planning, coordination and control of complex organisations and networks of organisations competing on a global scale. Given the changing nature of management accounting within and across modern organisations, the course explores key management accounting concepts and tools, and their institutional, strategic, behavioural and economic underpinnings. The course is organised in four modules. Management Accounting and Strategy looks at the emerging role of management accounting in modern enterprises, with a special focus on strategic finance in the global economy and the rise of cost and management accounting innovations. It considers also international issues and cross-national comparisons of financial management and control practices. Planning and Control in and across Organisations addresses intra- and inter-organizational management accounting and control issues, with particular attention to planning and budgeting practices ranging from long-range planning to budgeting and variance analysis, including the behavioural, organisational, political and cultural aspects of budgeting. Management Accounting for Decision Making examines how management accounting serves the needs of short- and long-term decision making from an individual, organisational and inter-organisational perspective, with a special focus on capital budgeting and investment appraisal. The final module, Performance Measurement, addresses the use of financial and non-financial performance measures in complex organisational and managerial settings, with particular emphasis on their behavioural consequences and the

AC102  Half Unit
Elements of Financial Accounting
This information is for the 2012/13 session.

Teachers responsible: Dr A Simpson OLD 3.31, Dr Y Chahed, OLD 3.30, and Dr E Bertero OLD M2.12.

Availability: For students on the BSc in Management only. Not available as an outside option or to General Course students.

Teaching: 20x one hour lectures in the Michaelmas term. 9x one hour classes in the Michaelmas term, 1x hour class in the Lent term and 1x hour revision class in the Summer term.

Formative coursework: Written answers to numerical problems and discussion questions will be expected weekly; some will be collected during classes for marking.

Assessment: 1 1/2 hours (+ 1/4 hr reading time) examination in the Summer term (100%).

AC103  Half Unit
Elements of Management Accounting and Financial Management
This information is for the 2012/13 session.

Teachers responsible: Dr Y Chahed, OLD 3.30; Professor R Maceve, OLD 3.11
AC310
Management Accounting, Financial Management and Organisational Control
This information is for the 2012/13 session.
Teachers responsible: Professor Wim A. van der Stede, OLD 2.18, and others
Availability: Optional for BSc Accounting and Finance, BSc Economics, BSc Econometrics and Mathematical Economics and other undergraduate/Diploma programmes and other students with the permission of the Accounting Departmental Tutor
Pre-requisites: Students must have completed AC100 Elements of Accounting and Finance.
Course content: The course addresses contemporary issues in management accounting, financial management, and organisational control. It focuses on cutting-edge concerns in practice and research, and seeks to foster a critical understanding of both. The course consists of four modules, all of which are taught by faculty with specific expertise in the area. The exact composition of the course may vary from year to year, but issues which are typically addressed include financial controls in internet-based firms and management accounting in the digital economy, supply-chain management and hybrid organisation structures, performance measurement and incentive systems, and public-sector and non-profit financial management.
The Function of management control systems: The course starts with the study of the quintessential role of management control systems in decentralised organisations, with a focus on the measurement and evaluation of the performances of organisational entities and their managers. Focusing on financial control systems, this module analyses issues related to financial target setting (as part of organisations’ planning and budgeting processes), performance measurement and evaluation, and the assignment of various forms of organisational rewards, such as bonuses and promotions.
Accounting in non-governmental organisations: Many of the concepts from the first module are then studied in the context of NGOs, including measuring the performance and effectiveness of NGOs, the use of ‘business-like’ management control and financial management systems, the evaluation of programme efficiency and impact, the accountability to donors and beneficiaries, and the role of accounting in ‘Northern’ vs. ‘Southern’ NGOs.
Management accounting, budgets and behaviour: Also building on the first module, this module focuses on budgeting issues, the no-budgeting option, contingency theory, organisational participation, understanding how budgets impact people, and how people impact operations and capital budgets in organisations, through the lens of different organisational theories.
Accounting in the new public sector: The final module studies management accounting and financial management in the ‘new public sector’, including performance measurement, cost accounting, cost management and pricing; the roles of accounting controls in the health system reforms in the UK and elsewhere.
Teaching: 20 Lectures of two hours and 20 classes of one hour given in MT and LT.
Formative coursework: Students will be expected to present cases and produce written work for classes. Some of this work may be done in groups. Case studies will be used extensively. All students will be expected to contribute to class discussion.
Indicative reading: Detailed reading lists will be given out at the start of each part of the course.
Assessment: A three-hour unseen examination will take place in the ST.

AC330
Financial Accounting, Analysis and Valuation
This information is for the 2012/13 session.
Teachers responsible: Dr Vasiliki Athanasakou, OLD 2.20, Dr Stefano Cascino, OLD 3.32, and Professor Richard Mace, OLD 3.35.
Availability: Compulsory for BSc Accounting and Finance. Optional for BSc Management and Diploma in Accounting and Finance. The course is also available as an outside option and to General Course students, subject to the course leader’s permission, if students have achieved a sufficient standard of performance in the pre-requisite course AC100 Elements of Accounting and Finance or equivalent.
Pre-requisites: Background required equivalent to AC100 Elements of Accounting and Finance.
Course content: The course addresses the theory and practice of financial reporting. Accounting practices are examined in the light of historical development, regulatory requirements, theories of income and capital and other approaches to accounting theory and to the use of accounting information in business analysis and valuation.
Teaching: 40 Lectures of one hour each (AC330), two each week MT, LT. 20 Classes of one hour each (AC330A, AC330B), weekly MT, LT, ST.
Formative coursework: Students should prepare weekly written work for class discussion. At least two pieces per term will be collected for marking.
Indicative reading: Detailed reading lists of books and journal articles will be provided during the course. No one book covers the entire course. Recommended books include G Whittington, Inflation Accounting: an introduction to the debate, CUP (1983); Baxter, W.T., Inflation Accounting, Oxford, Philip Allan, (1984); Beaver,
AC340 Auditing, Governance and Risk Management
This information is for the 2012/13 session.
Teachers responsible: Dr Liisa Kurunmaki, OLD 3.13 and others
Availability: Optional for BSc Accounting and Finance, BSc Management, BSc Economics, BSc Econometrics and Mathematical Economics and the Diploma in Accounting and Finance. The course is also available as an outside option to students on other programmes and is open to General Course students.
Pre-requisites: AC100 Elements of Accounting and Finance or equivalent.
Course content: The course provides a critical analysis of auditing practices and their role in organisational governance and risk management. Auditing is demanded by, and provides assurance to, a variety of internal and external stakeholders, including corporate shareholders and regulators. As societal demands for accountability have increased, auditing has become both more important and more regulated itself. Auditing also remains controversial and this course will address contemporary debates. The course addresses the theoretical basis of auditing, its role as a risk management function, its practical methodologies and its legal, professional and social environment. The course is divided into four modules. Corporate Financial Audit provides a basic overview and introduction to corporate auditing theory and practice. The module investigates the roles of corporate financial audit in contemporary society; discusses issues related to the collection of audit evidence and assurance of audit quality; and analyses recent national and international developments in audit regulation and standard setting. Internal Control and Risk Management critically examines recent developments in risk management and internal control practices, including the role of internal auditing and the problem of reporting on the effectiveness of control systems. Public Sector Auditing and Accounting considers variants of the audit function in the public sector context, such as value for money auditing. Finally, Sustainability Accounting and Auditing addresses the broader accountability framework of the corporation and related environmental and social accounting and auditing issues. While the primary focus of the course is upon UK practice, international comparisons will also be made. There is also an intention to run a small number of practitioner lectures during the 2011-12 session.
Further details will be provided at the start of the session.
Teaching: 20 lectures (1.5 hrs) (AC340) and 16 classes (AC340.A) in the MT, LT and ST.
Formative coursework: Students will be expected to produce a minimum of four written essays per year and one class presentation. All students will be expected to contribute to class discussion. Feedback on performance and progress will be provided during class, on written homework assignments, and during office hours.
Indicative reading: No one book covers the entire syllabus. In addition to professional and academic journals, reading will cover the following: I. Gray & S. Manson, The Audit Process, Thomson (2011); and refer to M. Power The Audit Explosion, Demos (1996) and The Audit Society, OUP (1999), D. Flint, Philosophy and principles of auditing: an introduction, Macmillan Education (1988). Background reading for the fourth module may be found in Henriques, A., Corporate Truth: The Limits to Transparency (Earthscan 2007). Students will also be provided with relevant examples of corporate and other reports and referred to relevant websites. Detailed course programmes and reading lists will be distributed at the first lecture of the course.
Assessment: A three-hour formal unseen examination will take place in the ST.
AC340 Mazars Prize The international accounting firm, Mazars, sponsors a prize for the best examination performance in AC340. The prize has a value of £200 and is awarded at the end of the examination period each year.

AN101 Ethnography & Theory: Selected Texts
This information is for the 2012/13 session.
Teachers responsible: Dr Harry Walker, OLD 6.14 and Dr Mukulika Banerjee, OLD 5.09
Availability: This course is compulsory for BA/BSc Social Anthropology and BA Anthropology and Law students. It is optional for BSc Human Resource Management and Employment Relations and BSc Environment and Development. Also available to General Course students and as an outside option.
Course content: This course discusses important aspects of anthropological and sociological theory in relation to modern ethnographic texts. It ranges from the classical social theory by Marx, Durkheim and Weber to the most recent theoretical advances in the discipline. The course is intended to give students a sound grasp of central theoretical concepts and of their significance for empirical research.
Formative coursework: Students are expected to prepare discussion material for presentation in the classes and are required to write assessment essays.
Anthropology students taking this course will have an opportunity to submit a tutorial essay for this course to their personal tutors. For non-Anthropology students taking this course, a formative essay may be submitted to the course teacher.
Assessment: A three-hour examination in the ST worth 70%. Two assessed essays (2,000-2,500 words each) one per term (30%).
AN102
Reading Other Cultures: Anthropological Interpretation of Text and Film
This information is for the 2012/13 session.
Teachers responsible: Dr Laura Bear, and Dr Hans Steinmuller, OLD 6.07
Availability: This course is compulsory for BA/BSc Social Anthropology. It is available to General Course students and as an outside option.
Course content: This course aims to provide training in the reading and interpretation of visual and textual anthropology for first-year students, and to develop analytic skills. The course introduces students to detailed, holistic study of a culture in its context, and develops skills in bringing together the various elements of cultural and social life analysed by anthropologists. By the end of each term, successful students will have both a detailed knowledge of three important texts, and also have a rounded view of the three cultures studied. They will also have developed the capacity to think critically about ethnographic writing and film-making. Great emphasis will be placed in this course on student presentation and participation. In addition, the course aims to enable students to examine in detail the process by which ethnographic texts are produced. The course brings students to a closer understanding of anthropological fieldwork. In gaining a thorough understanding of ethnographic methodology students will develop a sophisticated critical response to the texts they read. Students will usually read three book-length ethnographic accounts of other cultures (or the equivalent) per term, and will study a film (or pictorial, architectural or other visual material) associated with each text. Teaching will normally be arranged in cycles of three weeks; in the first two hour session, students will be given a background lecture, with a one-hour class. In the one-hour format, students will study a relevant ethnographic, documentary or fiction film (eg a significant film from the country under study), followed by a class. In the third week, they will have a two-hour seminar which brings together an overview of the significance of the text studied and its relationship to the visual material with which it is paired. There may be a final integrative session in the final week of each term.
Teaching: MT and LT. Three lectures per term plus an introductory lecture; three films/visual material presentations per term/six discussion classes per term/three two-hour seminars per term. This course will make consistent use of electronic resources, especially the ‘public forum’ posted on Moodle. Students are encouraged to avail themselves of this opportunity to constructively interact with the class and the class teachers.
Formative coursework: Students will be required to read the three set texts per term, approximately 1/3 text (two-four chapters) each week, and it will be essential to do this in order to pass this course. Students will be asked to give informal and formal presentations in the classes and seminars, and to present an assessment essay after each term’s work. Emphasis will be on developing students’ abilities to read and analyse texts as a whole, and to relate them to the other material offered on the course. Supplementary readings may be provided during the term.
Anthropology students taking this course will have an opportunity to submit a tutorial essay for this course to their personal tutors. For non-Anthropology students taking this course, a formative essay may be submitted to the course teacher.
Indicative reading: Texts may be chosen from among the following and other works; Veronique Benei, Schooling Passions: Nation, History, and Language in contemporary western India; Michael Taussig, My Cocaine Museum; Pardis Mahdavi, Passionate Uprisings: Iran’s Sexual Revolution; Rane Willersley, (2007) Soul Hunters: Hunting, Animism, and Personhood among the Siberian Yukaghirs; Sharon E. Hutchison (1996), Nuer Dilemmas: Coping with Money, War, and the State; Rebecca Cassidy (2002), The Sport of Kings: Kinship, Class, and Thoroughbred Breeding in Newmarket. Detailed reading lists are provided at the beginning of the course.
Assessment: A three-hour examination in the ST worth 70%. Two assessed essays (2,000-2,500 words each), one in MT, one in LT (together 30%).

AN200
The Anthropology of Kinship, Sex and Gender
This information is for the 2012/13 session.
Teachers responsible: Dr Tom Boylston, room TBC, Dr Charlotte Bruckermann, room TBC and Professor Rita Astuti, OLD 6.11
Availability: This course is compulsory for BA/BSc Social Anthropology. It is optional for BA Anthropology and Law students. Also available to General Course students and as an outside option.
Pre-requisites: Undergraduates should have completed an introductory course in Social Anthropology unless granted exemption by the course teacher.
Course content: An examination of the cultural frameworks and social aspects of kinship systems, gender roles, personhood and human sexuality, analysed through ethnographic examples from diverse cultures, an analysis of theoretical debates concerning core concepts such as ‘kinship’, ‘marriage’, ‘gender’, ‘sex’, and ‘the person’ and a critical discussion of ‘nature’ and ‘culture’. The course charts the history of anthropological debates on kinship and gender, and the critique of the notion of ‘kinship’ in the light of symbolic approaches, gender theory and culturally variant theories of sexuality and procreation.
Teaching: Lectures AN200 weekly MT, LT, Classes AN200.A weekly MT, LT.
Formative coursework: Students are expected to prepare discussion material for presentation in the classes and are required to write assessment essays.
Anthropology students taking this course will have an opportunity to submit a tutorial essay for this course to their personal tutors. For non-Anthropology students taking this course, a formative essay may be submitted to the course teacher.
Assessment: A three-hour examination in the ST worth 70%. Two assessed essays (2,000-2,500 words each) one per term (30%).

AN205
Half Unit Not available in 2012/13
The Anthropology of Melanesia
This information is for the 2012/13 session.
Teacher responsible: Dr Michael Scott, A616
Availability: Optional for BA/BSc Social Anthropology and BA Anthropology and Law. Also available to General Course students and as an outside option.
Course content: This course provides an introduction to the culture area in the southwest Pacific Ocean known as Melanesia through an examination of classic and contemporary ethnography of Papua New Guinea, Solomon Islands, Vanuatu, New Caledonia and Fiji.
In the 1880s a hereditary Fijian priest named Dugamoi claimed to have acquired supernatural powers through initiatory out-of-body experiences and prophesied the imminent transformation of the Fijian social order: soon the European colonial rulers would become subject to Fijians and Fijian chiefs would serve the commoners. The wealth of Europeans—cloth, tinned goods, and other manufactured items—would all flow spontaneously and prodigiously to Fiji.

In 1919 the ‘Vailala Madness’ inspired the followers of Evara on the south coast of what is now Papua New Guinea with expectations that the spirits of their ancestors were about to arrive in a huge steamer bearing abundant supplies of flour, rice, tobacco, and knives and transferring control of trade in these goods from whites to blacks.

In the 1940s, Tsek instructed the people of Espiritu Santo (in present-day Vanuatu) to prepare for the advent of cargo-laden Americans by killing their livestock, burning their villages, going naked, and living in communal antimonian anticipation of a new world order.

Collectively labelled ‘cargo cults’, such religious and political movements have, since the middle of the twentieth century, become iconic for many of the geographic and cultural area known as Melanesia. By tracking the classic ethnographic construction, late twentieth-century critique, and recent reassessment of this category, the course offers a thematically-centred survey of key themes in the anthropology of Melanesia.

Questions and topics considered include: what is ‘Melanesia’? Is ‘Melanesia’ still a useful concept? The place of Melanesia in the history of anthropological theory; cosmologies, mythologies and religious practices; spatiality and emplacement; leadership and community formation; knowledge and secrecy; exchange; gender, race, personhood, and sociality; colonial histories; custom politics; indigenous Christainities; decolonization, nationalism and ethnogenesis; and Melanesian modernities.

Teaching: Lectures AN205 weekly MT, classes AN205 weekly MT.

Formative coursework: Students are expected to prepare discussion material for presentation in classes and are required to write assessment essays.

Assessment: There is a two-hour examination in the ST worth 70%. One assessed essay of 2,000-2,500 words (30%).

AN216 Half Unit Not available in 2012/13
Cognition and Anthropology

This information is for the 2012/13 session.
Teacher responsible: Professor Rita Astuti, OLD 6.11

Availability: Optional for BA Anthropology and Law and BA/BSc Social Anthropology. Also available to General Course students and as an outside option.

Pre-requisites: Undergraduates taking this course should have completed an introductory course in anthropology unless granted exemption by the course teacher.

Course content: The course will examine the contribution that the study of human psychology can make to anthropology. After discussing why anthropologists should pay attention to psychology and why psychologists should pay attention to anthropology, we will examine a range of psychological findings and their relevance to anthropology (for example, on the nature of concepts, on the relationship between language and thought, on infant’s knowledge of the physical and mental world)

Teaching: Lectures AN216 weekly MT, Classes AN216.A weekly MT.

Formative coursework: Students are expected to prepare discussion material for presentation in the classes.

Anthropology students taking this course will have an opportunity to submit a tutorial essay for this course to their personal tutors. For non-Anthropology students taking this course, a formative essay may be submitted to the course teacher.

Indicative reading: C Strauss & N Quinn A Cognitive Theory of Cultural Meaning (1997); M Boch How We Think They Think (1998); D Sperber Explaining Culture (1996); M Boch Cultural Psychology (1996); M Tomasello The Cultural Origins of Human Cognition (1999); P Boyer Religion Explained (2001). Detailed reading lists are provided at the beginning of the course.

Assessment: A two-hour examination in the ST worth 70%. One assessed essay of 2000-2500 words (30%).
Anthropology students taking this course will have an opportunity to submit a tutorial essay for this course to their personal tutors. For non-Anthropology students taking this course, a formative essay may be submitted to the course teacher.

Assessment: A two-hour examination in the ST worth 70%. One assessed essay of 2,000-2,500 words (30%).

---

AN223 Half Unit Not available in 2012/13

The Anthropology of South-East Asia

This information is for the 2012/13 session.

Teacher responsible: Dr Catherine Allerton, A615

Availability: Optional for BA Anthropology and Law and BA/BSc Social Anthropology. Also available to General Course students and as an outside option.

Pre-requisites: Undergraduates taking this course should have completed an introductory course in anthropology unless granted exemption by the course teacher.

Course content: This course will introduce students to selected topics in the anthropology of Southeast Asia through the lens of the region’s material cultures. What are some of the distinctive aspects of material culture in Southeast Asia? How does a comparative study of material culture help illuminate key regional themes as: colonialism and post-colonialism, gender and personhood, ‘custom’ and religion, power and the foreign, unity and difference? Since this is a huge and varied region, the course will focus on the Austronesian-speaking island world of Indonesia, Malaysia and the Philippines, with some material from Thailand. The first lectures of the course will focus on some broad regional themes from the ethnography and history of island Southeast Asia. We will look at similarities of ecology and cultural patterns throughout the region, especially the contrast between highland and lowland societies. We will also consider comparative perspectives on notions of identity, power, gender and the construction of person in hierarchical and egalitarian systems of Southeast Asia.

We will then move to look at some key aspects of material culture, examining their significance amongst different societies and considering some of the ways in which both state and religious authorities have responded at different times to their perceived ‘threat’. Topics will include: Houses and architecture; Landscape; Textiles and weaving; Clothing; Food and Sacrifice; Heirlooms; The materiality of modernity; Tourism, postmodernity and theme-parks

Teaching: Lectures AN223 weekly MT, LT. Classes AN223.A weekly MT, LT.

Formative coursework: Students are expected to prepare discussion material for presentation in the classes. They will be given discussion material for presentation in the classes. They will be given a formative essay of 2,000-2,500 words each: one in MT (10%) and one in LT (10%).

Assessment: A three-hour examination in the ST worth 70%. Students must give two oral presentations (one each term), the best of these two presentations will count for 10% of the overall mark for the course. Students who do not give two presentations will receive a mark of 0 (incomplete). In addition, students submit two written pieces based on their presentations of no more than 1000 words each: one in MT (10%) and one in LT (10%).

---

AN226 Political and Legal Anthropology

This information is for the 2012/13 session.

Teachers responsible: Dr Mathijs Pelkmans, OLD 6.13 and Dr Fauzia Shariff, NAB 7.30

Availability: This course is compulsory for BA/BSc Social Anthropology and BA Anthropology and Law students. It is optional for LLB and LLF students. Also available to General Course students and as an outside option.

Pre-requisites: Undergraduates taking this course should have completed an introductory course in anthropology unless granted exemption by the course teacher.

Course content: The anthropological analysis of political and legal institutions as revealed in relevant theoretical debates and with reference to selected ethnography. The development of political and legal anthropology and their key concepts including forms of authority, forms of knowledge and power, political competition and conflict; colonial transformation of indigenous norms; writing legal ethnography of the ‘other’, folk concepts of justice; the theory of legal pluralism; accommodation of religious practices in secular laws of European states.

Teaching: Lectures AN226 weekly MT, LT. Classes AN226.A weekly MT, LT.

Formative coursework: Students are expected to prepare discussion material for presentation in the classes. They will be given a formative essay of 2,000-2,500 words each: one in MT (10%) and one in LT (10%).

Assessment: A three-hour examination in the ST worth 70%. One assessed essay of 2,000-2,500 words (30%).
in relation to relevant theoretical debates and with reference to selected ethnography. Indicative lists of topics which may be covered in this course: key concepts and theoretical debates in economic anthropology; the social organization of production and exchange; economic aspects of kinship and gender relations; work and alienation; money as an agent of social change; distinctions between gifts and commodities; theories of consumption; local responses to the transition from peasant to proletarian; the social and political impact of post-Fordism, flexible work regimes and the knowledge economy; transnationalism; new social movements; consumer citizenship; capitalist and state interventions in the environment and local reactions to them; commoditization of bodies and biological citizenship.

Teaching: Lectures AN227 weekly MT, LT. Classes AN227.A MT, LT.

Formative coursework: Students are expected to prepare discussion material for presentation in the classes and are required to write assessment essays. Anthropology students taking this course will have an opportunity to submit a tutorial essay for this course to their personal tutors. For non-Anthropology students taking this course, a formative essay may be submitted to the course teacher.

This is an indicative reading list: detailed reading lists are provided at the beginning of the course.

Assessment: A three-hour examination in the ST worth 70%. Two assessed essays (2,000-2,500 words each) one per term (30%).

---

AN230 Half Unit Not available in 2012/13

The Anthropology of Industrialization and Industrial Life

This information is for the 2012/13 session.

Teacher responsible: Professor J Parry, AS05

Availability: This course is optional for B/BSc Social Anthropology, BA Anthropology and Law and BSc Human Resource Management and Employment Relations.

Pre-requisites: Undergraduates taking this course should have completed an introductory course in anthropology unless granted exemption by the course teacher.

Course content: This course deals with anthropological perspectives on the industrialization process, on industrial life and industrial work, examined in relation to relevant theoretical debates and with reference to selected ethnographies. The themes touched on are likely to include the way in which local understandings of modern machine production are laid down on the template of pre-existing cultural assumptions and cosmological ideas; the rural-urban nexus linking neophyte proletarians with peasant villages; the extent to which traditional forms of social structure and inequality are reproduced in the modern factory; the modern factory as an ethnic ‘melting-pot’ and as an agent of the ‘secularization’ and ‘disenchantment of the world’; floor-shop organization, cultural and organizational factors affecting the intensity of labour, and the extent to which factory production requires new concepts of time and new kinds of work discipline; the social organization of the industrial neighbourhood; gender relations in factory and neighbourhood; the extent to which industrial workers in ‘the Third World’ represent an ‘aristocracy of labour’, the contrast between workers in the organised sector and the unorganised sector, and the conditions under which the industrial workforce emerges as a class ‘for itself’; trade-union activism; resistance to and collusion with management; local discourses about industrial pollution and environmental degradation.

Teaching: Lectures AN230 weekly MT, LT. Classes AN230.A weekly MT, LT.

Formative coursework: Students are expected to prepare discussion material for presentation in the classes and are required to write assessment essays. Anthropology students taking this course will have an opportunity to submit a tutorial essay for this course to their personal tutors. For non-Anthropology students taking this course, a formative essay may be submitted to the course teacher.

Assessment: A two-hour examination in the ST worth 70%. One assessed essay of 2,000-2,500 words (30%).

---

AN231 Half Unit The Anthropology of China

This information is for the 2012/13 session.

Teachers responsible: Stephan Feuchtwang and Charlotte Bruckermann

Availability: Optional for B/A/BSc Social Anthropology and BA Anthropology and Law. Also available to General Course students and as an outside option.

Pre-requisites: Undergraduates taking this course should have completed an introductory course in anthropology unless granted exemption by the course teacher.

Course content: The anthropological study of China offers new perspectives on general topics that will be considered are kinship, relatedness, gender, gift, honour, and trust; the performance of love; ritual and belief; the ambivalence and scales of hospitality; the stranger king; gods and ghosts; civilisation and its others; and the modern state.

Teaching: Lectures AN231 weekly, Classes AN231.A weekly. Both in MT.

Formative coursework: Students are expected to prepare discussion material for presentation in the classes and are required to write assessment essays. Anthropology students taking this course will have an opportunity to submit a tutorial essay for this course to their personal tutors. For non-Anthropology students taking this course, a formative essay may be submitted to the course teacher.

Indicative reading: Brandtstädter, Susanne and Santos, Gonçalo (eds.) Chinese Kinship: Contemporary anthropological perspectives; Fong, Vanessa Only Hope: Coming of Age under China’s One-Child Policy; Feuchtwang, Stephan The Anthropology of Religion, Charisma, and Ghosts; Chinese lessons for adequate theory; Gates, Hill China’s Motor: A thousand years of petty capitalism; Watson, James & E Rawski (Eds) Death Ritual in Late Imperial and Modern China; Stafford, Charles Separation and Reunion in Modern China; Yan, Yunxiang Private Life under Socialism.

Good background reading in history: Spence, Jonathan D. (1990) The Search for Modern China.

Assessment: A two-hour examination in the ST worth 70%. One assessed essay of 2,000-2,500 words (30%).
AN235  Half Unit  Not available in 2012/13

The Anthropology of Southern Africa

This information is for the 2012/13 session.

Teacher responsible: Julie Archambault.

Availability: Optional for BA Anthropology and Law and BA/BSc Social Anthropology. Also available to General Course students and as an outside option.

Pre-requisites: Undergraduates taking this course should have completed an introductory course in anthropology unless granted exemption by the course teacher.

Course content: This course serves as an introduction to the ethnography of Southern Africa. Topics to be considered include colonialism and postcolonialism, Christian missionization, labour migration, Apartheid and anti-colonial struggles, changing kinship and gender relations, ethnicity and identity, witchcraft, and the role of performance and expressive culture in social transformation. The ethnography of South and southern Africa has played a formative role in social anthropology, generating some of the key theoretical issues which underpin the discipline. This course provides students with an opportunity to understand changes in anthropological theory and practice by comparing the classic ethnographic texts of more recent writings from the same regions. Areas covered include South Africa, Lesotho, Swaziland, Botswana, Mozambique, Zambia and Zimbabwe. The course develops students’ ethnographic knowledge about specific communities, and also equips them with the skills to address key theoretical issues from the broader corpus of anthropological writings, in the context of data from this particular region.

Teaching: Lectures AN235 weekly (LT), Classes AN235.A weekly (LT).

Formative coursework: Students are expected to prepare discussion material for presentation in the classes and are required to write assessment essays. Anthropology students taking this course will have an opportunity to submit a tutorial essay for this course to their personal tutors. For non-Anthropology students taking this course, a formative essay may be submitted to the course teacher.

Assessment: A two-hour examination in the ST worth 70%. An oral presentation worth 10%. Students who do not give a presentation will receive a mark of 0 (incomplete). A written essay of 1500-2000 words on the topic covered in the presentation worth 20%.

---

AN238  Half Unit

Anthropology and Human Rights

This information is for the 2012/13 session.

Teacher responsible: Dr Matthew Engelke, OLD 6.10

Availability: Optional for BA Anthropology and Law and BA/BSc Social Anthropology. Also available to General Course students and as an outside option.

Pre-requisites: Undergraduates taking this course should have completed an introductory course in anthropology unless granted exemption by the course teacher.

Course content: The tension between respect for ‘local cultures’ and ‘universal rights’ is a pressing concern within human rights activism. For well over a decade, anthropologists have been increasingly involved in these discussions, working to situate their understandings of cultural relativism within a broader framework of social justice. This course explores the contributions of anthropology to the theoretical and practical concerns of human rights work. The term begins by reading a number of key human rights documents and theoretical texts. These readings are followed by selections in anthropology on the concepts of relativism and culture. Students will then be asked to relate their understandings of human rights to the historical and cultural dimensions of a particular case, addressing such questions as the nature of humanity, historical conceptions of the individual, colonialism and imperialism, the limits of relativism, and the relationship between human rights in theory and in practice. Case studies may include: gay rights in southern Africa; genocide in Rwanda; state violence in Guatemala.

Teaching: Lectures weekly LT, classes weekly LT

Formative coursework: Students are expected to prepare discussion material for classes/seminars and are required to write an
AN240 Half Unit Not available in 2012/13
Investigating the Philippines: New Approaches and Ethnographic Contexts

This information is for the 2012/13 session.
Teacher responsible: Dr Fenella Cannell, OLD 6.07
Availability: This is an optional course for BA/BSc Social Anthropology and BA Anthropology and Law students. This course may be taken as an outside option by undergraduates from other departments. It is most suitable for second and third year students but interested first year external students may seek an exemption. Also available to General Course students.
Pre-requisites: Undergraduates taking this course should have completed an introductory course in social anthropology unless granted exemption by the teacher.
Course content: This course offers the chance to look at the ethnography of one country in more detail than is usual for regional courses. It considers topics taken from the ethnography of the lowland and highland Philippines, with a focus on exciting new quality writing, drawing on the recent rennaissance in Philippine Studies. The course will balance works by expert non-Filipino ethnographers with the new writing of ‘native ethnographies’ by Filipino scholars resident both in the Philippines themselves and in the US. The course will be framed within the colonial, religious and social history of the archipelago, and will consider both new interpretations of Philippine history, and topics on contemporary social issues, as well as using classic works on the Philippines. Teaching each week will normally be organised around the reading of one outstanding ethnography, allowing students to look closely at particular cases. Topics in any year are likely to be drawn from the following list (although obviously only ten topics can be offered in one year): Migration, ‘mail-order’ brides, and the Philippine diaspora; New religious movements: Philippine colonialism and the processes of conversion: Healing, spirit possession, midwifery and local medicine: The contemporary Catholic Church; Violence in the Philippines; Ecology, landscape and environmental politics: Kinship and its transformations; Gender, Philippine queer theory and Philippine transvestism: Ritual, drama and local performance traditions: Philippine architecture and material culture: Philippine cinema: Colonial politics, tribal politics and issues of self-representation: Magic, sorcery and ‘antimiso’; Tourism, symbolic economies and the impact of international capitalism.
Teaching: Lectures AN240 weekly LT, seminars AN240.A weekly LT.
Formative coursework: Students are expected to prepare discussion material for classes/seminars. Students in the Anthropology Department have the opportunity to submit non-assessed essays to their tutor. Students external to the Department may submit a short piece of written work to the course teacher by arrangement.
Indicative reading: Selected texts: Renato Rosaldo Ilongot Headhunters; Vicente Rafael Contracting Christianity; Fenella Cannell Power and Intimacy in the Christian Philippines; Sally-Ann Ness Where Asia Smiles; Heather L. Clausen, Unconventional Sisterhood; J.Neil C. Garcia Philippine Gay Culture: the last Thirty Years; M. F. Manalanais Global Divas: Filipino Gay Men in the Diaspora; Vicente Rafael White Love and Other Events in Filipino History; Evelyn Tan Culleram Babaylanism in Negros; Benito M Vergera Displaying Filipinos: Photography and Colonialism in Early 20th Century Philippines; Renaldo Clemena Iletos Pasyon and Revolution; K.F. Wiegele, Investing in Miracles: El Shaddai and the Transformation of Popular Catholicism in the Philippines; Nicole Constable Maid to Order in Hong Kong; Albert Alejo Generating Energies in Mount Aso: Cultural Politics in a Contested Environment; Catherine Ceniza Choy Empire of Care: Nursing and Migration in Filipino American History; Esther C.M. Yau and Kyung Hyun Kim Asia/Pacific Cinema; Caroline S. Hau, Necessary Fictions; Philippine Literature and the Nation. Detailed reading lists are provided at the beginning of the course.
Assessment: A two-hour examination in the ST worth 70%. One assessed essay of 2,000-2,500 words (30%).

AN243 Half Unit Not available in 2012/13
Children and Youth in Contemporary Ethnography

This information is for the 2012/13 session.
Teacher responsible: Dr Catherine Allerton
Availability: BA/BSc Social Anthropology and BA Anthropology and Law. This course is also available to General Course students and as an outside option where regulations permit.
Pre-requisites: Undergraduates taking this course should normally have completed an introductory course in anthropology unless granted exemption by the course teacher.
Course content: For much of its history, and with some notable exceptions, anthropology has paid little serious attention to children. However, recent years have seen a growing interest in both ‘childhood’ as a historical and social construction, and in children’s engagement with their own social worlds. This course aims to introduce students to emerging ethnographic work on children and youth, in order to explore both its theoretical and methodological challenges. Ethnographic studies will cover a wide range of societies and regions, including anthropological work on children and childhood in the West. The course will begin with an investigation of children’s place in anthropology, including early ethnographic work on ‘Culture and Personality’ and ‘child socialisation’. The course will then move to consider a variety of topics that have been the focus of recent ethnographic study. These may include: children’s play, childhood identities and kinship, education and schooling, youth cultures and globalization, children’s work, street children and children’s competencies in contexts of crisis, including war. The course shall also consider the challenge that children pose to anthropological methodologies and shall investigate some of the ways in which fieldwork has been conducted with children.
Teaching: Weekly lectures and classes in the Lent Term. Film screenings in the Lent Term.
Formative coursework: In addition to preparing discussion material for classes, students will normally write one tutorial essay for the course. Non-Anthropology students taking this course may submit an essay to the teacher responsible.
AN244 Half Unit  Not available in 2012/13
Anthropology and Media
This information is for the 2012/13 session.
Teacher responsible: Dr Matthew Engelke, OLD 6.10
Availability: BA/BSc Social Anthropology and BA Anthropology and Law. Also available to General Course students and as an outside option.
Course content: This course introduces students to anthropological analyses of media, including books and other printed texts, photography, radio, television, film, and the internet. Although ‘the anthropology of media’ is often understood to be a relatively new subfield, there has been a long-standing interest in media technologies within the discipline. There is also an important manner, from an anthropological point of view, in which ‘media technologies’ have to be understood not only as these cultural artefacts (radio, film) but also the more elementary senses they express (hearing, sight, etc). We therefore investigate media both as a broad conceptual category and as specific technologies of communication. The course begins with a historical overview of anthropologists’ investigations of media technologies, broadly construed. We then move on to consider ethnographic case studies of media in context. Examples may include: photography in India, radio in Zambia, television and cassette circulation in Egypt, mobile phones in Jamaica, book groups in England, and ‘indigenous video’ in Brazil and Australia. Throughout the course, these case studies are framed in relation to some of the key theoretical debates that have shaped media studies in anthropology and related disciplines since the 1930s. Some attention is also given to the methodological problems involved in studying media, especially the extent to which it challenges the possibility of conducting fieldwork by participant observation.
Teaching: Lectures AN244 weekly LT, Classes AN244.A weekly LT. Revision session ST.
Formative coursework: Anthropology students taking this course will have an opportunity to submit a tutorial essay for this course to their personal tutors. For non-Anthropology students taking the course a formative essay may be submitted to the course teacher.
Assessment: Two hour unseen examination in the ST (70%) and one essay of 2000-2500 words (30%).

AN245 Half Unit  Not available in 2012/13
The Anthropology of Borders and Boundaries
This information is for the 2012/13 session.
Teacher responsible: Dr Mathijs Pelkmans
Availability: BA/BSc Social Anthropology. Also available to General Course students and as an outside option.
Pre-requisites: Undergraduates taking this course should have completed an introductory course in social anthropology unless granted exemption by the course tutor.
Course content: How do territorial borders influence human behaviour and thinking, and how, in turn, do citizens manage and manipulate such borders? These questions have become pressing in the current age of globalization and intensifying trans-national connections. The fall of the Iron Curtain and the disintegration of the USSR are but a few of the changes that have rendered ideas of borders as the self-evident limits of notions of society and culture problematic. At the same time, increased porosity of borders may make cultural differences more salient in everyday social and symbolic practice. Moreover, because of the tenuous relations between border dwellers and the state, border studies highlight blind spots in our understandings of concepts as society, identity, culture, ethnicity, and nation. As such, the study of borders links up with central anthropological questions. Whether dealing with ideas about purity, dynamics of inclusion and exclusion, or the (partly artificial) separation of modern society into “spheres,” boundaries are being drawn, enlivened, and contested.
Teaching: Weekly lectures and classes in the LT. Revision sessions will also be held in the Summer Term.
Formative coursework: Anthropology students taking this course will have an opportunity to write tutorial essays on topics from the course. Non-Anthropology students taking the course can submit a formative essay to the course teacher.
Indicative reading: Marx Went; Economies after Socialism; The Unmaking of Soviet Life: Everyday Economies after Socialism; Humphrey, Caroline. 1998. Marx Went...
Undergraduate Course Guides 45

AN247 Half Unit Not available in 2012/13
Anthropological Approaches to Questions of Being

This information is for the 2012/13 session.
Teacher responsible: Dr Michael W Scott
Availability: BABSc Social Anthropology, BA Anthropology and Law. Also available to General Course students and as an outside option.

Pre-requisites: Undergraduates taking this course should have completed an introductory course in social anthropology unless granted exemption by the teacher.

Course content: In titles of books and articles and in descriptions of conferences and seminars, anthropologists are using the word ‘ontology’ with increasing frequency, but what do they mean by it? Historically, ontology is a branch of Western thought devoted to the study of the nature of being (Greek ontos) and how the various categories of being said to exist in the universe are related to one another. Building on, but broadening the scope of this Western tradition, the anthropology of ontology is a growing area of research that seeks to document ethnographically and model theoretically the often radically different ontologies-sets of assumptions about the number and nature of fundamental categories in the world-that inform social practice in diverse historical, geographic, cultural, and sub-cultural contexts. Several recent publications have called for a ‘turn to ontology’, or the development of a new field of ‘ontological anthropology’. But there is, as yet, no unified approach to this topic. Working in different geographical regions and drawing on different intellectual antecedents, anthropologists have developed different analytical vocabularies that are now in need of comparison and mutual interpretation. This course provides an orientation to the different approaches within this emergent field.

Through ethnographic readings from Aboriginal Australia, Amazonia, Central Asia, China, Melanesia, Native Alaska, and Polynesia, as well as the anthropology of Christianity and the history of science, the course takes a comparative approach to the exploration of different ontologies and their relationship to practice, cultural change, ethics, and social conflict. Questions and topics covered include:

- The relationship between ontology and cosmology
- Where and how - beyond myth and ritual - are ontologies available to ethnographic observation?
- Theories of animism versus Western nature/culture dualism
- Amazonian perspectivism
- Relationship to place and the environment as indices of ontology
- The ontological status of ‘things’
- Dreams, illness, and curing as indices of different modalities of being
- Conflicting ontological assumptions in intercultural contexts
- Cognitivist experimental methods for the study of intuitive ontology
- Scientific ontologies
- Race and gender as categories of being
- ET culture and UFOlogy as sites of ontological anxiety
- What ontological assumptions have informed anthropology?

Teaching: 10 hours of lectures and 10 hours of classes in the MT.

There will also be a revision session in the ST.

Formative coursework: Anthropology students taking this course will have the opportunity to submit a tutorial essay for this course to their personal tutors. For non-Anthropology students taking this course, a formative essay may be submitted to the course teacher.

Assessment: Two hour unseen examination in the ST (70%) and a 2,000-2,500 word essay (30%).

AN248 Half Unit Not available in 2012/13
Ethnography of a Selected Region

This information is for the 2012/13 session.
Teachers responsible: TBA.
Availability: BABSc Social Anthropology and BA Anthropology and Law. Also available to General Course students and as an outside option.

Pre-requisites: Undergraduates taking this course should have completed an introductory course in social anthropology unless granted exemption by the teacher.

Course content: The course will focus on one (or two) specific culture/ethnographic areas through an examination of classic and contemporary ethnographic works. Topics to be covered in relation to this specific area may include colonialism and post-colonialism; kinship, gender and personhood; custom/tradition, belief and practices and the social organisation of religion; power, unity and difference; hierarchy and egalitarianism; modern politics and the state; the impact of globalisation.

Teaching: Lectures weekly MT (10 x 1-hour), classes weekly MT (10 x 1-hour). Revision sessions in the Summer Term.

Formative coursework: Students will have an opportunity to write tutorial essays on topics from the course which will be formatively assessed.

Indicative reading: To be announced
Assessment: Two hour unseen examination in the ST (70%) and one essay of 2,000-2,500 words (30%).

AN250 Half Unit
The Anthropology of South Asia

This information is for the 2012/13 session.
Teacher responsible: Dr. Mukulika Banerjee.
Availability: BA/BSc Social Anthropology and BA Anthropology and Law. Also available to General Course students and as an outside option.

Pre-requisites: Students taking this course should have completed an introductory course in social anthropology unless granted exemption by the teachers.
Course content: This course will aim to address issues of citizenship, inequality, political participation and democratic governance in rural and urban India. The course will cover both classic and current literature and weekly sessions will be organised thematically. We will start by looking at India’s place in the world as a democratic nation and emerging economy and the many paradoxes that the country throws up - alongside some of the highest rates of economic growth, India also has one of the lowest performances on development indicators; despite 40% adult illiteracy, India has among the highest voter turnout rates in the world; despite local institutions having the least power compared to state level or the central government, ordinary people feel most invested in local elections; India remains largely rural yet India will hold the largest urban population in the world in less than ten years... and so on. In order to understand these paradoxes, it is essential that issues of caste and class be examined in some detail, through the anthropological literature produced on these topics over the past 60 years or so. The changing caste dynamics will be examined through everyday practices of discrimination, violence and endogamy as well as institutional innovations of affirmative action for jobs and education. Class relations have also dramatically changed with land reforms in rural India as well as a substantial middle class has emerged in urban India. Economic reforms introduced since the 1990s have altered modes of retail and consumption in both urban and rural India creating new inequalities and entrenching old ones. In the political arena, these changing practices and dynamics have led to a democratic upsurge from below, leading to a greater participation in the electoral process by members of the lower castes and classes of India.

All these issues and more will be addressed in this course through the rich corpus of anthropological literature on the subject alongside examples from India’s vibrant media and popular culture.

Teaching: 10 hours of lectures and 10 hours of seminars in MT as well as film screenings (to be scheduled at the start of term). One revision session in ST.

Formative coursework: Anthropology students taking this course will have an opportunity to submit a tutorial essay for this course to their academic advisers. For non-Anthropology students taking this course, a formative essay may be submitted to the course teacher.

Indicative reading: Please do at least TWO of the following background reading before the start of the course and certainly by the end of the second week of the course.

Sunil Khilnani The Idea of India
Ramachandra Guha India After Gandhi
Katherine Boo Behind The Beautiful Forevers
Amartya Sen The Argumentative Indian
Vikram Seth A Suitable Boy
Rohinton Mistry A Fine Balance

Assessment: A two-hour examination in the ST worth 70%. An assessed essay (2000-2500 words) in the Michaelmas Term (30%).

AN251 Half Unit Cognition and Anthropology: Learning and Thinking in Relation to Social Institutions

This information is for the 2012/13 session.
Teacher responsible: Professor Charles Stafford, OLD 6.02
Availability: Optional for BA/BSc Social Anthropology and BA Anthropology and Law. Also available to students on other degree programmes as an outside option, and to General Course students.
Pre-requisites: Unless granted an exemption by the course teacher, students taking this course should have completed an introductory course in anthropology.
Course content: This course focuses on human learning, thinking and cognitive development, specifically in relation to cultural-historical artefacts (such as writing) and social institutions (such as schools). The topics covered include: (1) cultural models and distributed cognition; (2) attachment behaviours and rites of passage; (3) emotions cross-culturally; (4) incest aversion and incest taboos; (5) morality and ethics cross-culturally; (6) numerical cognition and mathematics; (7) human logic and reason cross-culturally; (8) language and literacy; (9) training, schooling and expertise; (10) exchange, reciprocity and economic psychology.

Teaching: 10 lectures and 10 classes, LT

Formative coursework: Students are expected to prepare discussion material for presentation in classes. Students registered for Anthropology degrees will prepare tutorial essays on the subject matter of the course and receive feedback from their academic advisors. Students who are not registered for Anthropology degrees will be given the option of submitting essays to the course teacher and receiving feedback on them.

Assessment: A two-hour examination in the ST (70%) and a 2,500 word essay (30%).

AN268 Half Unit Not available in 2012/13 Anthropology of Schooling

This information is for the 2012/13 session.
Teacher responsible: Stuart Thompson
Availability: BA/BSc Anthropology, BA Anthropology and Law, General Course, other programmes provided the pre-requisites are met.
Pre-requisites: Undergraduates taking this course should have completed an introductory course in social anthropology unless granted exemption by the teacher.
Course content: This course looks at ethnographical and cross-cultural approaches to schooling, language and literacy, and critically examines key theoretical approaches from an anthropological perspective. We will begin by reflecting on students’ own conceptions of education, situating these in terms of contemporary paradigms and debates. Next we will examine the efficacy of ‘reproduction’ and ‘resistance’ theories of education, and the spread of schooling as a crucial parameter of globalization. Attention will then be paid to schooling and attendant questions of identity, and the cultural production of the educated person. This is followed by a critical examination of bilingual education, racism in education, debates over ‘literacy’ or ‘literacies’, and, relatedly, a critical examination of the language(s) of schooling and a radical re-deployment of Hirsch’s notion of ‘cultural literacy’. The course concludes with looking at higher education initially by attention to Bourdieu’s Homo Academicus, and assessing how ‘cultural capital’ and the so-called ‘audit culture’ impacts on conditions of knowledge and involvement in university education.

Teaching: 10x Lectures in LT, 10x Classes in LT.

Formative coursework: Anthropology students taking this course will have the opportunity to submit a tutorial essay for this course to their academic tutors. For non-Anthropology students taking this course, a formative essay may be submitted to the course teacher.

Deborah Reed-Danahay 1996 Education and Identity in Rural France: the Politics of Schooling Cambridge: Cambridge University Press
Glen Peterson 1998 The Power of Words: Literacy and Revolution in South China, 1949-95 Vancouver: University of British Columbia Press
Shirley Brice Heath and Brian V. Street 2008 Ethnography:
AN269  Half Unit
The Anthropology of Amazonia
This information is for the 2012/13 session.
Teacher responsible: Dr Harry Walker
Availability: Optional for BA/BSc Social Anthropology and BA Anthropology and Law. Also available to students on other degree programmes as an outside option, and to General Course students.
Pre-requisites: Unless granted an exemption by the course teacher, students taking this course should have completed an introductory course in anthropology.
Course content: The course will introduce students to selected themes in the anthropology of Amazonia. It will provide a grounding in the ethnographic literature of the region while seeking to engage with current theoretical debates, highlighting their potential importance to the discipline of anthropology. Topics to be covered include history, myth and colonialism; indigenous social movements; sexuality and gender; cosmology and shamanism; trade and inter-ethnic relations; language and power; illness, well-being and death. Students will be encouraged to reflect on the broader relationship between ethnography and theory, to challenge common stereotypes of Amazonia and its inhabitants, and to explore ways in which the region has inscribed itself on the imagination of anthropologists and laypersons alike.
Teaching: Ten hours of lectures and ten hours of classes in the Lent Term. Film screenings will also be held throughout the term.
Formative coursework: Students registered for Anthropology degrees will prepare tutorial essays on the subject matter of the course and receive feedback from their academic advisors. Students who are not registered for Anthropology degrees will be given the option of submitting essays to the course teacher and receiving feedback on them.
Assessment: One two-hour exam in ST (70%) and one essay of 2000-2500 words (30%).

AN300  Advanced Theory of Social Anthropology
This information is for the 2012/13 session.
Teachers responsible: Dr Matthew Engelke, OLD 6.10 and Professor Maurice Bloch, OLD 6.12.
Availability: This course is compulsory for BA/BSc Social Anthropology. It is optional for BA Anthropology and Law and available to students on other degrees and General Course students with permission.
Pre-requisites: Students should have a substantial background in Social Anthropology.
Course content: The aim of the course is to train students to look critically at the theoretical implications of anthropological approaches by examining their origins, their strengths and their critique.
The content of the course is dependent in large part on the interests and expertise of the current teaching staff. Current topics include theories of meaning, including philosophy of language and linguistic ideology, theories dealing with power relations, theories of practice and the nature of the social and of culture. We will consider the theory of human beings that are and have been taken for granted in anthropological theory and engage with ideas about power, social reproduction, history and ethics in anthropology.
Teaching: Lectures AN300 weekly MT, LT, Classes AN300A. A weekly MT, LT.
Formative coursework: Students are expected to prepare discussion material for presentation in weekly classes and to write short commentaries on the required readings for each week.
Anthropology students taking this course will have an opportunity to submit a tutorial essay for this course to their personal tutors. For non-Anthropology students taking this course, a formative essay may be submitted to the course teacher.
Assessment: A three-hour examination in the ST worth 70%. The remaining 30% is based on two assessed essays (2,000-2,500 words each).

AN301  The Anthropology of Religion
This information is for the 2012/13 session.
Teachers responsible: Dr Michael W. Scott, OLD 6.16 (MT) and Dr George St.Claire (LT)
Availability: This course is compulsory for BA/BSc Social Anthropology. It is optional for BA Anthropology and Law. Available to General Course students and as an outside option with permission.
Pre-requisites: Students should have a substantial background in Social Anthropology.
Course content: This course covers selected topics in the anthropology of religion, focusing upon relevant theoretical debates. The Michaelmas term of this course will explore topics such as shamanism, cargo cults, initiation, witchcraft and sorcery, cosmology, and human-nonhuman relations, primarily with reference to ongoing transformations of the indigenous traditions of Melanesia, Africa, Amazonia, Australia, and the circumpolar north. Recurring themes will be: transformations in the definition of ‘religion‘ in relation to ‘science‘; the nature of rationality; and the extent to which anthropology itself can be either - or both - a religious and a scientific quest to experience the wonder of unknown others.
The Lent term engages directly with basic questions - about the anthropology of religion itself, and about religion in the
The twofold aim of this course is to provide students with deeper insight of the process by which anthropology or the BA Anthropology and Law.

Pre-requisites: Undergraduates taking this course need to have completed the first two years of either the BA/BSc Social Anthropology or the BA Anthropology and Law.

Course content: The twofold aim of this course is to provide students with deeper insight of the process by which anthropological knowledge is produced, and to develop their skills with regard to the collection, analysis and representation of ethnographic data. Students will carry out a small ethnographic research project and conduct library research, each of which will result in a written text.

In the first half of the course the focus is on ethnographic research. We will review the main tools of anthropological research, and discuss the ways in which empirical data are being incorporated in ethnographic texts. The research techniques that will be reviewed include ‘participant observation,’ various approaches to asking questions and interviewing, and research with documents and archives. Students will carry out a small research project in which they address a specific research question from different angles employing the various techniques learned during the course. They will report on their research activities and write a short ethnography on the basis of their research findings.

For the other half of the course students will write an extended essay based on any topic deemed to be amenable to anthropological analysis, and agreed by the candidate's tutor. The tutor will be concerned that there is an adequate body of relevant literature available for analysis, and that the topic as defined is not unmanageably large. Candidates will be expected to draw widely on their reading from other anthropology courses for their essay.

Teaching: Ten hours of lectures and ten hours of seminars in the Michaelmas Term.

A workshop will be held to help students conceptualise a relevant question for their extended essay. Tutors advise candidates during their normal tutorial meetings on scope, topic, and relevant reading, as well as on general approaches. At the beginning of the Lent Term each student is allocated a mentor who will also advise, utilising specialist knowledge of the subject where possible.

Formative coursework: Students have the opportunity to write tutorial essays on topics from the course during Michaelmas Term and have the opportunity to submit an abstract and a three-page outline of their extended essay to their mentor during Lent Term.

Assessment: The three elements of assessment are the following: Two “research reports” of 600 - 800 words each during MT (5% each). One 4,500-5,000 word “ethnography” or analytical description based on the research project to be submitted in the beginning of LT (40%). One 7,000-8,000 word “extended essay” based on literature research to be submitted in the beginning of ST (50%).

AN399
Ethnography as Research Method and Text
This information is for the 2012/13 session.
Teacher responsible: Dr Mathijs Pelkmans, OLD 6.13
Availability: This course is compulsory for students on the BA/BSc Social Anthropology. Not available to General Course students or as an outside option.
Pre-requisites: Undergraduates taking this course need to have completed the first two years of either the BA/BSc Social Anthropology or the BA Anthropology and Law.
Course content: The twofold aim of this course is to provide students with deeper insight of the process by which anthropological knowledge is produced, and to develop their skills with regard to the collection, analysis and representation of ethnographic data. Students will carry out a small ethnographic research project and conduct library research, each of which will result in a written text.

In the first half of the course the focus is on ethnographic research. We will review the main tools of anthropological research, and discuss the ways in which empirical data are being incorporated in ethnographic texts. The research techniques that will be reviewed include ‘participant observation,’ various approaches to asking questions and interviewing, and research with documents and in archives. Students will carry out a small research project in which they address a specific research question from different angles employing the various techniques learned during the course. They will report on their research activities and write a short ethnography on the basis of their research findings.

For the other half of the course students will write an extended essay based on any topic deemed to be amenable to anthropological analysis, and agreed by the candidate's tutor. The Assessment: A three-hour written examination in the ST, based on the full syllabus of parts A and B of the course.

EC201 Microeconomic Principles I

This information is for the 2012/13 session.

Teachers responsible: Professor Margaret Bray, S.476 and Dr Flavio Toxvaerd (room TBC).

Availability: This course is for BSc Accounting and Finance, BSc Econometrics and Mathematical Economics (second year students).

Pre-requisites: This is an intermediate course in microeconomic analysis. Students are expected to have completed EC102 Economics B or an equivalent introductory course in economics based on textbooks such as D Begg, S Fischer & R Dornbusch, Economics; P A Samuelson & W Nordhaus, Economics; or R G Lipsey, Positive Economics. Students are also expected to have completed an introductory mathematics course such MA107 Quantitative Methods (Mathematics) and should revise calculus including partial derivatives and the use of Lagrangians.

Course content: I. Consumer Theory. Utility functions and indifference curves. Income and substitution effects. The Slutsky equation. The expenditure function, compensating and equivalent variation, and consumer surplus. Selected applications to savings and labour supply, including the effects of taxes and benefits.

III. Strategic Choice. Basic ideas in game theory. Applications to oligopoly and auctions.

V. Topics in welfare economics. Public goods and externalities.

Pre-requisites: Students should complete the weekly formative coursework as well as revise calculus completed an introductory mathematics course such MA107 Quantitative Methods (Mathematics).

Attendance: A three-hour written examination in the ST. Candidates are required to answer eight short questions and three long questions.

EC202 Microeconomic Principles II

This information is for the 2012/13 session.

Teachers responsible: Professor F A Cowell, LRB. R520 and Dr F
EC210
Macroeconomic Principles
This information is for the 2012/13 session.
Teachers responsible: Dr L Rachel Ngai, STC. S675 and Dr Kevin Sheedy, STC. S682
Availability: Compulsory for BSc Economics, BSc Economics with Economic History, BSc Geography with Economics, BSc Government and Economics, BSc Philosophy and Economics and MSc Economics (Two Year Programme). Optional for BSc Accounting and Finance, BSc Business Mathematics and Statistics, BSc Econometrics and Mathematical Economics, BSc Economics, BSc Economic History with Economics, BSc Economics with Economic History, BSc Environmental Policy with Economics, BSc Management, BSc Management Sciences, BSc Mathematics and Economics, BSc Mathematics with Economics, BSc Mathematics and Economics, BSc Social Policy and Economics and the Diploma in Accounting and Finance.
Pre-requisites: This is an intermediate course in macroeconomic analysis, for BSc degrees in Economics and is also available to other students as permitted by the regulations. Students are expected to have completed Economics B or an equivalent introductory course in Economics. Students who have thoroughly mastered mathematics to the level of MA107 should be able to follow the course, but would find it difficult. MA100 would give a better grounding.
Course content: The coverage is similar to Microeconomic Principles I. However a greater mathematical facility will be assumed of the student permitting both greater depth and a number of additional topics, such as duality, to be covered. Further details are available on http://darp.lse.ac.uk/EC202.htm
Teaching: Lectures EC202: 40 MT and LT.
Classes will be largely devoted to discussion of problems designed to strengthen students’ understanding of analytical methods.
Formative coursework: Students are urged to attempt the assigned problems before attending classes. At least four pieces of written work will be required and marked by class teachers.
Indicative reading: The text for the course is Cowell, F.A. (2006) Microeconomics: Principles and analysis, Oxford University Press, Oxford. Additional readings to complement the lecture notes on specific topics from other books or articles will be indicated as needed.
Assessment: A three-hour written examination in the ST.
Candidates are required to answer four questions.

EC220
Introduction to Econometrics
This information is for the 2012/13 session.
Teacher responsible: Dr C Dougherty, STC. S376
Availability: Optional for BSc Accounting and Finance, BSc Economics, BSc Economics and Economic History, BSc Economics with Economic History, BSc Government and Economics, BSc Management Sciences, BSc Philosophy and Economics, BSc Social Policy and Economics, the Diploma in Accounting and Finance and MSc Economics (Two Year Programme). Available to other students, including General Course students, only with the prior permission of the teacher responsible.
Pre-requisites: Students are expected to have completed ST102 Elementary Statistical Theory or an equivalent full-year course. Those who have taken MA107/ST107 should consider taking EC220 only if they have obtained marks of 65 or better on both courses.
Course content: The course begins with four optional review lectures on random variables, expectations, unbiasedness, efficiency, consistency. The main lectures cover covariance, variance and correlation; simple and multiple regression analysis; test statistics; problems of multicollinearity and misspecification; transformation of variables; dummy variables and binary response models; proxy variables; autocorrelation; heteroscedasticity; measurement errors and Friedman’s Permanent Income Hypothesis; simultaneous equations bias, instrumental variables; two-stage least squares; binary choice (linear probability model, logit analysis, probit analysis); censored regression model (Tobit analysis); sample selection bias (heckman two-step method); an introduction to maximum-likelihood estimation; an introduction to non stationary time series, unit root tests, cointegration, and error-correction models.
Teaching: Lectures EC220: 43 (three optional) Sessional.
Dr Dougherty gives the three preliminary review lectures in the first two weeks of the MT and the main lectures from the third week of the MT. The theory lectures continue in the LT and ST.
Formative coursework: Exercises are provided each week and are discussed in the classes. Students are required to hand in written answers to the exercises for correction.
Indicative reading: C R S Dougherty, Introduction to Econometrics (3rd edn), Oxford University Press, 2006. Further materials will be available on the EC220 website (http://econ.lse.ac.uk/courses/ec220/)
Assessment: A three-hour written examination in the ST.

EC221
Principles of Econometrics
This information is for the 2012/13 session.
Teacher responsible: Dr M Schaafgans, STC. S583
Availability: Compulsory for BSc Econometrics and Mathematical Economics. Optional for BSc Accounting and Finance, BSc Business Mathematics and Statistics, BSc Economics, BSc Economics and Economic History, BSc Economics with Economic History, BSc Mathematics and Economics, BSc Mathematics with Economics, BSc Mathematics and Economics, BSc Philosophy and Economics and MSc Economics (Two Year Programme).
Pre-requisites: This course is an intermediate-level introduction to the theory and practice of econometrics. A knowledge of linear algebra and calculus (eg previous attendance at Mathematical Methods) and of basic statistical theory (Elementary Statistical Theory) is required. Although the course does involve some computing no previous experience is required.

Course content: Statistical background; continuous distribution, sampling theory, estimation, hypothesis testing, asymptotic theory. The Linear Model; multiple regression, t- and F-tests, dummy variables, multicollinearity, linear restrictions, measurement errors, omitted variables. Maximum likelihood estimation and the Wald, Likelihood Ratio, and Lagrange Multiplier tests. Limited dependent variable models. Dynamic models, time series autoregressive models, seasonal adjustment, generalised least squares, serial correlation, heteroskedasticity, distributive lags, stationarity, unit roots and cointegration. Simultaneous equation systems, instrumental variables and two stage least squares.

Teaching: Lectures EC221: 20 x two-hours MT and LT. Additional help lectures 20 x one-hour MT and LT.

Classes EC221 A: 20 Sessional.

Formative coursework: Weekly problem sets are expected to be attempted before each class. Two compulsory problem sets will be designated for each term.

Assessment: A three-hour written examination in the ST. The paper is in two sections, each containing four questions. Students need to answer two questions from each section.

---

EC302  Not available in 2012/13

Political Economy

This information is for the 2012/13 session.

Teacher responsible: Professor R Razin, STC. S480

Availability: Optional course for BSc Economics, BSc Economics with Economic History, BSc Econometrics and Mathematical Economics, BSc Economics and Economic History, BSc Government and Economics, BSc Mathematics and Economics, BSc Philosophy and Economics and BSc Social Policy and Economics. It is available as an outside option, and to General course students.

Pre-requisites: Students should have completed Microeconomic Principles I or II (or equivalent) and Macroeconomic Principles (or equivalent).

Course content: The course seeks to introduce students to the major theoretical models of Political Economy and the available empirical evidence. Sample topics to be covered include: Social Choice theory and Preference aggregation; Comparative electoral systems, Political economy of income redistribution; Turnout in elections; Strategic and Sincere voting; Political Parties; Debates and Communication.

Teaching: Lectures: 30 MT & LT. Classes: eight in MT, ten in LT and two in ST.

Formative coursework: At least four exercises or pieces of written work will be required and assessed by class teachers.

Indicative reading: There is no text book covering all the material in the course. The following books are recommended as supplements to what is covered in the lectures. Analyzing Politics, Rationality, Behavior and Institutions, K.A. Shepsle and M.S. Bonchek. W. W. Norton & Company, New York, London. Liberalism Against Populism, W.H. Riker, Waveland Press, Prospect Heights, Illinois. For additional readings see http://econ.lse.ac.uk/courses/ec302/

Assessment: A three-hour written examination in the ST.
EC303 Economic Policy Analysis
This information is for the 2012/13 session.
Teachers responsible: Prof P Sinclair and Dr V Rappoport.
Availability: This course is optional for BSc Ecomometrics and Mathematical Economics, BSc Economics, BSc Economics and Economic History, BSc Economics with Economic History, BSc Government and Economics, BSc Philosophy and Economics and BSc Social Policy and Economics.
Pre-requisites: Students should have completed Microeconomic Principles I or II (or equivalent) and Macroeconomic Principles (or equivalent).
Course content: The course will concentrate on various important economic policy issues and relevant economic tools. It will treat the issues at a level appropriate for students with the knowledge of economics provided by the courses already taken.
Teaching: Lectures EC303: 20 MT and LT.
Indicative reading: There is no course textbook. However, reference will be made during the course to particular chapters in at least some of the following books:
1. A book on international economics: during the first term, students are likely to find the following useful:
2. Books that provide useful background reading for the second half of the course, in Lent Term 2012:
   a. General books on the European economy / Union and the Eurozone:
      - R. Baldwin, C. Wyplosz The Economics of European Integration, 3e McGraw Hill 2009
      - P. de Grauwe The Economics of Monetary Union 8e Oxford UP 2009
      - F. Allen, E. Carletti, G. Corsetti (eds), Life in the Eurozone with or without Sovereign Default, Wharton School, U Penn 2011
   b. Other financial crisis books
      - V. Acharya et al, Guaranteed to Fail Princeton UP 2011 (USA: the mortgages debacle)
   c. Financial instability and the financial system:
      - A. Sheng, From Asian to Global Financial Crisis Cambridge UP 2009
   d. Other books
      - J. Gruber Public Finance and Public Policy 3e Worth 2011
      - L. Mahadeva and P. Sinclair How Monetary Policy Works Routledge Taylor and Francis 2005
Assessment: A three-hour written examination in the ST.

EC309 Econometric Theory
This information is for the 2012/13 session.
Teacher responsible: Dr M Seo, STC. S580 and Dr T Komarova, STC. S875.
Availability: This course is for BSc Ecomometrics and Mathematical Economics, BSc Mathematics and Economics and MSc Econometrics and Mathematical Economics (Two Year Programme).
Pre-requisites: A knowledge of linear algebra, calculus and statistical theory is required. Students should have taken the course Principles of Econometrics (or equivalent).
Course content: This course gives an introduction to the asymptotic theory of estimation and inference of economic models; Basics of large sample theory; Estimation of linear regression models (OLS, GMM, GLS); Testing hypotheses and model specifications; Estimation of nonlinear models (MLE, Nonlinear least squares); systems of equations; time series analysis.
Teaching: Lectures EC309: 20 MT and LT.
Classes EC309.A: 20 Sessional.
Formative coursework: Written answers to set problems will be expected on a weekly basis.
Indicative reading: The main text for the lectures is R Davidson, Econometric Theory and Methods, Oxford University Press (2004). Other useful texts include Davidson (2000), Econometric Theory Amemiya (1985), Advanced Econometrics; and

EC307 Development Economics
This information is for the 2012/13 session.
Teachers responsible: Dr G Bryan and Dr. G Fischer, LRB. R537
Availability: This course is optional for BSc Economics, BSc Econometrics and Mathematical Economics, BSc Economics and Economic History, BSc Economics with Economic History, BSc Government and Economics, BSc Geography with Economics, BSc Philosophy and Economics and BSc Social Policy and Economics.
Pre-requisites: Students should have completed Microeconomic Principles I or II (or equivalent) and Macroeconomic Principles (or equivalent). A knowledge of introductory econometrics such as that provided by Introduction to Econometrics is also necessary given the strong applied forms of the course.
Course content: The course provides an introduction to selected issues in economic development including theory, evidence and policy. The course will explore the related themes of Economic Growth and Development. The course begins by analysing the growth performance of different countries and by presenting the main growth theories to the purpose of identifying, both theoretically and empirically, the determinants of economic growth. The course will then analyse economic institutions in developing countries focusing around the themes of “Markets, Institutions and Welfare” and “Public Policy and Welfare”. Failures in key markets such as those for land, labour, credit and insurance have far reaching implications both for productive efficiency and welfare. The story of economic development is, in many ways, one of how informal, imaginative institutions have evolved to fill the gaps left by these market failures. The course will study how institutions have evolved to cope with missing markets, and how they affect the allocation and the distribution of resources. The course will analyse both the channel through which the institutional environment affects efficiency and welfare and how public policy can be designed to increase welfare and growth. The course has a strong applied focus. Under each section we want to derive testable implications from the theory, subject these to econometric testing, comment on the robustness of the results obtained and draw out policy conclusions.
Teaching: Lectures EC307: 30 MT and LT.
Classes EC307.A: 20 MT and LT.
Assessment: A three-hour written examination in the ST.
Hayashi (2000), Econometrics.

Assessment: A three-hour written examination in the ST. The paper contains eight questions, of which four are to be answered.

EC310

Behavioural Economics

This information is for the 2012/13 session.

Teacher responsible: Dr Erik Eyster and Dr Matthew Levy.

Availability: Optional for students on the following programmes:
BSc Economics; BSc Econometrics and Mathematical Economics; BSc Economics with Economic History; BSc Mathematics and Economics. Available as an outside option and to General Course students with permission.

Pre-requisites: Fluency in calculus is essential, and some knowledge of analysis and set theory advised. Ideally, students will have completed EC202 (or equivalent). A highly motivated student who completed EC201 could do the course, if he or she finds handling economics mathematically comes naturally. Any such student should see Dr Eyster or Dr Levy before the course starts.

Teaching: 15x1.5 hours of lectures in the MT and in the LT. 8x1 hours of classes in the MT, 10x1 hours of classes in the LT, 2x1 hours revision sessions in the ST.

Formative coursework: At least four exercises or pieces of written work will be required and assessed by class teachers.

Course content: The course will expose students to several major topics in Behavioural Economics, and will link theory with empirical applications. The first half of the course will focus on departures from neoclassical preferences, while the latter half will cover departures from rational expectations. The particular topics to be covered include:

Indicative reading:

Assessment: One 3hr examination (100%).

EC311

History of Economics: How Theories Change

This information is for the 2012/13 session.

Teacher responsible: Professor Mary Morgan, CMK C222

Availability: Optional for BSc Econometrics and Mathematical Economics, BSc Economics, BSc Economic History, BSc Economic History with Economics, BSc Economics and Economic History, BSc Economics with Economic History, BSc Government and Economics, BSc Philosophy and Economics, BSc Social Policy and Economics and other students by permission of the course lecturer. This course is capped www.lse.ac.uk/collections/studentServicesCentre/programmesAndCourses/coursecapging.htm

Course content: The course examines the ways in which economics has developed from the Mercantilists of the 17th century to the Neoclassical thinking of the later 20th century. The course will explore how the theories, concepts and methods of economics have changed over the last 250 years. We will use the original texts in order to understand how economists of the past approached perennial questions (about for example, the sources of growth or the role of money) and resolved them in the context of the scientific thinking and the economic conditions of their own time and place.

Teaching: Lectures EC311: 20 weekly MT and LT.

Classes EC311.A: 20 MT and LT.

Formative coursework: Students will be expected to discuss assigned texts and produce several pieces of written work.

Indicative reading: A reading list of original texts and secondary literature will be given at the beginning of the course. For an introduction, students may read R.L. Heilbroner's, The Worldly Philosophers; for general background, consult Roger E Backhouse's, The Penguin History of Economics or David Colander & Harry Landreth's, History of Economic Thought.

Assessment: A three-hour written examination in the ST.

EC313

Industrial Economics

This information is for the 2012/13 session.

Teachers responsible: Dr George Symeonidis (room TBC)

Availability: Optional for BSc Business Mathematics and Statistics, BSc Econometrics and Mathematical Economics, BSc Economics, BSc Economics and Economic History, BSc Economics with Economic History, BSc Environmental Policy with Economics, BSc Mathematics and Economics, BSc Geography with Economics, BSc Government and Economics, BSc Management, BSc Philosophy and Economics, BSc Social Policy and Economics and the Diploma in Accounting and Finance.

Pre-requisites: Students should have completed Microeconomic Principles I or II (or equivalent).

Course content: The aim of the course is to understand the structure, conduct, and performance of firms by studying analytical models of imperfect competition, determinants of industrial structure, entry in strategic settings, government regulation of natural monopolies, and markets with asymmetric information. The main subjects include monopoly, price discrimination, vertical and horizontal restraints, transactions costs and contract design, game theoretic models of firm behaviour, collusive arrangements, product differentiation, and strategic entry deterrence. Economic models will be used to address policy issues and will be illustrated in classes with case studies.

Teaching: Lectures EC313: 30 hours MT and LT.

Classes EC313.A: 15 MT and LT.

Formative coursework: At least four problem sets will be required and assessed by class teachers.

Indicative reading: A detailed reading list will be provided at the beginning of the course. As a primary text, students should choose between Church and Ware's Industrial Organization: a strategic approach and Tirole's The Theory of Industrial Organisation. Supplementary reading will be assigned.

Assessment: A three-hour written examination in the ST.

EC315

International Economics

This information is for the 2012/13 session.

Teachers responsible: Dr K Jin, STC. S586, TBC.

Availability: Optional for BSc Business Mathematics and Finance, BSc Econometrics and Mathematical Economics, BSc Economics, BSc Economics and Economic History, BSc Environmental Policy with Economics, BSc Government and Economics, BSc Philosophy and Economics and BSc Social Policy and Economics.

Pre-requisites: Students should have completed Microeconomic Principles I or II (or equivalent) and Macroeconomic Principles (or equivalent).

Course content: International Macroeconomics: The course offers an introduction to international macroeconomic theory and develops the main tools for macroeconomic policy analysis. We start by studying the balance of payments and the causes and consequences of global imbalances, followed by an in-depth study of the determination of exchange rates, money, and prices in open economies. We discuss the costs and benefits of different nominal exchange rate regimes and their sustainability, as well as examine the causes and consequences of debt and default, speculative attacks and financial crises.

International Trade: The course offers an introduction to international trade theory and develops the main tools for trade policy analysis. We start by studying the patterns of trade distinguishing between inter-industry and intra-industry trade flows. We then proceed to an in-depth analysis of the causes and the effects of those flows based on the concepts of absolute and comparative advantage, relative factor abundance and relative factor intensity, increasing returns to scale and imperfect competition. Finally we discuss the gains and losses from trade, their distribution among people and firms, and their implications for the
EC317 Labour Economics
This information is for the 2012/13 session.
Teacher responsible: Dr Stefano Gagliarducci (room TBC)
Availability: This course is optional for BSc Econometrics and Mathematical Economics, BSc Economics, BSc Economics and Economic History, BSc Management, BSc Philosophy and Economics and BSc Social Policy and Economics.
Pre-requisites: Students should have completed Microeconomics Principles I or II (or equivalent) and Macroeconomic Principles (or equivalent) as well as Introduction to Econometrics (or equivalent).
Course content: This course is an introduction to the economic analysis of labour market phenomena, such as supply and demand, and wage determination under different institutional settings. Students learn how to distinguish alternative theories empirically and how key parameters are obtained from the data. The course explores how the models can be applied to evaluate labour market policies, such as the minimum wage, the welfare reform, or restricting immigration. The goal of the course is to enable students to think independently about labour market issues, drawing on the models and tools developed during the course.
Teaching: Lectures EC317: 30 hours MT and LT.
Formative coursework: Problems sets in the course involve hands-on statistical analysis of real world data.
Indicative reading: G Borjas, Labor Economics. Additional reading, drawn from journals, will be suggested during the course.
Assessment: A three-hour written examination in the ST.

EC319 Economic Theory and its Applications
This information is for the 2012/13 session.
Teachers responsible: Prof R Razin, STC. S480 and Dr F Nava, STC. S482
Availability: This course is optional for BSc Mathematics and Economics, BSc Mathematics with Economics, BSc Econometrics and Mathematical Economics, BSc Philosophy and Economics, BSc Social Policy and Economics and MSc Econometrics and Mathematical Economics (Two Year Programme).
Pre-requisites: Students should have completed Microeconomic Principles I or II (or equivalent). Fluency in calculus is essential, some knowledge of analysis, linear algebra and set theory. A highly motivated student with a less technical background could do the course, if he or she finds handling economics mathematically comes naturally. Any such student should see Prof Razin before the course starts.
Course content: This course reviews fundamental concepts in Economic theory and presents some of its most successful applications. The first part of the course will introduce the student to the field of non-cooperative and cooperative/coalitional game theory and to models of bargaining. After setting up the primitives of the game theory framework, different solution concepts like Nash's axiomatic approach, the Rubinstein-Stahl model and the Baron-Ferejohn model of legislative bargaining.
The second part of the course consists of an introduction to Auction Theory. It presents standard auction formats and discusses strategic behaviour in such environments. Auctions will be analyzed both in private and interdependent value environments. Fundamental topics such as the revenue equivalence theorem, the optimal auction design problem and the linkage principle will be covered in detail. Throughout the course, departures from the standard model will be considered allowing for heterogeneity among players, risk aversion, and budget constraints. The focus of the course is mainly theoretical, but when possible some evidence supporting the formal models will be discussed with references to relevant work in the field.
Teaching: Lectures EC319: 20 MT and LT.
Classes EC319:A: 20 Sessional.
Formative coursework: Students will be expected to prepare two pieces of assessed written work during each of the MT and LT.
Assessment: A three-hour written examination in the ST.

EC321 Monetary Economics
This information is for the 2012/13 session.
Teachers responsible: Professor R Jackman, STC. S777 and Dr K Sheedy, STC. S682.
Availability: Optional for BSc Business Mathematics and Statistics, BSc Econometrics and Mathematical Economics, BSc Economics, BSc Economics and Economic History, BSc Economics with Economic History, BSc Government and Economics, BSc Mathematics and Economics, BSc Philosophy and Economics and BSc Social Policy and Economics.
Pre-requisites: Students should have completed Microeconomic Principles I or II (or equivalent) and Macroeconomic Principles (or equivalent).
Course content: This course provides an introduction to monetary theory, to the effects of monetary variables on the macroeconomic system, the role of the Central Bank and the conduct of monetary policy. Subjects covered include: The nature and function of money. Classical monetary theory, neutrality and inflation. Theories of the demand for money. The banking system, financial intermediation and the determinants of the money supply. The transmission mechanism of monetary policy, including theories of nominal rigidities and the Philips curve. The term structure of interest rates. The theory and practice of monetary policy and the design of optimal policies. Monetary policy strategies, including inflation targeting and Taylor rules. Policymaking in an uncertain environment. The interaction between monetary and fiscal policy and the arguments for Central Bank independence. Quantitative easing and unconventional policy.
Teaching: Lectures EC321: 30 MT and LT.
Formative coursework: Students should expect to write two essays or exercises in both the MT and LT, to be handed into, and marked by, their class teacher.
Indicative reading: The most useful text books are M Lewis & P Mizen, Monetary Economics, and C Goodhart, Money, Information and Uncertainty, 2nd edn. Other useful texts include K Bain & P Howells, Monetary Economics: Policy and its Theoretical Basis; B McCallum, Monetary Economics; D Lidier, The Demand for Money, 3rd edn; A Blinder, Central Banking in Theory and Practice.
Assessment: A three-hour written examination in the ST. The paper may include short questions and problems in addition to longer essays.
EC325
Public Economics

This information is for the 2012/13 session.

Teachers responsible: Dr J Leape, KSW. G408 and Dr Camille Landais (room TBC)

Availability: This course is for BSc Economics, BSc Econometrics and Mathematical Economics, BSc Economics and Economic History, BSc Economics with Economic History, BSc Environmental Policy with Economics, BSc Geography with Economics, BSc Government and Economics, BSc Philosophy and Economics and BSc Social Policy and Economics.

Pre-requisites: Students should have completed Microeconomic Principles I or II (or equivalent).

Course content: This is a course in theoretical and applied public economics using intermediate economic theory. Topics include issues of equity and efficiency and alternative theories of the role of the state. Recent research in behavioural economics and its implications for welfare analysis as well as for savings and pension policy. Models of public goods and externalities, including environmental policy. Who really pays taxes: issues of tax incidence and tax evasion. Income inequality, poverty alleviation and the role of welfare programmes in theory and in practice. Health and education policy.

The effects of taxes and transfers on labour supply and migration; incomes and behavioural responses at the top of the income distribution. The optimal taxation of commodities and incomes. Current topics in public finance.

The main institutional references will be to the UK and the US, but some attention will also be given to broader international experience.

Teaching: Lectures EC325: 20 MT and LT.

Classes EC325.A: 20 Sessional.

Formative coursework: Feedback is provided for one class presentation and one end-of-term essay (1,500 words) each term (Michaelmas and Lent).

Indicative reading: The recommended textbook for the course is Jonathan Gruber (2011) Public Finance and Public Policy, 3rd edition, Worth Publishers. Many of the readings will be journal articles.

Assessment: A three-hour written examination in the ST.

EC331
Quantitative Economics Project

This information is for the 2012/13 session.

Teacher responsible: Dr Henrik Kleven, room R518

Availability: This course is compulsory for BSc Econometrics and Mathematical Economics and MSc Econometrics and Mathematical Economics (Two Year Programme). Not available to General Course students.

Pre-requisites: Students should have completed Principles of Econometrics.

Course content: This course provides an opportunity to learn how to do quantitative economic research in a practical way. Seminars are designed to provide training in independent research work and to encourage the student to take an overall view of the different specialised areas in economics.

Teaching: Seminars in Quantitative Economics EC331.A: 10 x two hours LT.

Students are expected to pursue research on a subject of their own choice under the supervision of a member of staff. In the seminar each student will present a preliminary outline of the results of the project for comments by fellow students and teachers.

Formative coursework: Students are required to prepare material for their presentations in the seminar, but this is not formally graded.

Indicative reading: As each student chooses an individual topic, there is no reading list for this course.

Assessment: A completed project (up to 10,000 words) on an approved subject will be required to be submitted by 1 May in the year in which the course is taken. There is no written examination.

The project carries all the marks.

EC333
Problems of Applied Econometrics

This information is for the 2012/13 session.

Teachers responsible: Dr G Michaels, LRB. R438, Matt Gentry (details to be confirmed)

Availability: This course is optional for BSc Economics, BSc Econometrics and Mathematical Economics, BSc Economics and Economic History and BSc Social Policy and Economics.

Pre-requisites: Students should have completed Microeconomic Principles I or II (or equivalent), Macroeconomic Principles (or equivalent) and either Introduction to Econometrics or Principles of Econometrics.

Course content: The purpose of this course is to provide a solid grounding in recent developments in applied econometrics. A major feature of the course is the use of both analytical and computer-based (data) exercises for the classes, which will enable students to gain practical experience in analysing a wide variety of econometric problems. The topics covered in the Michaelmas term include analysis of experimental and non-experimental data, identification of average treatment effects and local average treatment effects, weak instrument problems, quantile regressions, and regression discontinuity. The Lent term will focus on topics in the analysis of panel data of both static and dynamic models, including fixed and random effects, measurement error in panel contexts, instrumental variable regression, and generalized method of moments.

Teaching: Lectures EC333: 15 MT and 15 LT.

Classes EC333.A: 20 Sessional. There will be required analytical and computer-based exercises throughout the course.

Formative coursework: 2-3 problem sets, usually to include econometric questions and Stata applications. Feedback to be provided by the class teacher.

Indicative reading: A detailed reading list will be provided at the beginning of each term of the course. In parts of the Michaelmas we will use sections from the textbook “Mostly Harmless Econometrics” by Angrist and Pischke. There is no single text for the Lent term, but useful books (somewhat more advanced than the lectures) are Hsiao, “The Analysis of Panel Data” and Wooldridge, “Econometrics”.

Assessment: A three-hour written examination in the ST.

EH101
Internationalization of Economic Growth

This information is for the 2012/13 session.

Teachers responsible: Dr Tim Leunig, CMK.C321 and Professor Stephen Broadberry, CMK.C320

Availability: Compulsory for BSc Economic History, BSc Economic History with Economics, BSc Economics and Economic History and BSc Economics with Economic History. Optional for BSc Environmental Policy, BSc Environment and Development, BA History, BSc International Relations and BSc International Relations and History. Available to all other students where their degree regulations permit including General Course Students. Available as an outside option.

Course content: The course examines the inter-relationships between the development of the international economy and the growth of national economies since the late nineteenth century. The course is designed to introduce students not only to a wide variety of topics and issues, but also to the wide variety of approaches used by historians. The course includes analyses of the original leading nation, Britain, and its replacement, the United States, as well as the catch-up of areas such as continental Europe, and the failure to catch-up of earlier well-placed areas such as Latin America. The effects of major events - such as wars and debt crises - are investigated, and we also consider the implications of changing global economic institutions, such as the Gold Standard and IMF.
as well as the effects of sometimes rapid changes in product and process technology.

Teaching: Lectures: There is one lecture course (EH101) with 22 lectures in the MT, LT and ST. The lectures are given by Professor Broadberry and Dr Leunig. A lecture programme will be circulated at the first meeting. This course uses Moodle, the open-source learning management system, and includes a web-based location for your core LSE course materials.

Formative coursework: Students are expected to write four very short papers during the year and two longer essays.

Assessment: A three-hour written examination in the ST.

EH203 Not available in 2012/13
From Money to Finance: European Financial History, 800-1750

This information is for the 2012/13 session.

Teacher responsible: Dr Olivier Volckart, CMK. C215

Availability: BSc Economic History, BSc Economic History with Economics and BSc Economics and Economic History. The course is also available to General Course students and as an outside option on other degree programmes where regulations permit.

Pre-requisites: None, however, it is essential that students who are unacquainted with the period devote time to the necessary background reading on medieval and early modern European history.

Course content: The course examines in outline the European financial history between the ninth and the mid-eighteenth centuries, taking the students from the simple beginnings of medieval European monetary history to the more complex arrangements that emerged toward the end of the early modern age. Developments in the major European countries (England, Spain, Italy, France and Germany) will be discussed and compared. The course emphasises both the many features shared by these countries and their often considerable differences, places monetary history in the context of more general economic history and discusses how money influenced the wider economy.

Teaching: Weekly lectures and classes in the Michaelmas and Lent Terms. There will also be two revision sessions in the Summer Term.

Formative coursework: Students are expected to write four essays or equivalent pieces of written work during the year.

Assessment: Three hour unseen examination in the Summer Term (100%).

EH205
Towns, Society and Economy in England and Europe, 1450-1750

This information is for the 2012/13 session.

Teachers responsible: Dr Patrick Wallis, CMK. C414

Availability: This is an optional course for students on the following programmes: BSc Economic History, BSc Economic History with Economics, BSc Economics and Economic History, BSc Economics with Economic History and BA History. Also available to General Course students and as an outside option.

Course content: The course examines in outline the social and economic history of European towns between the mid-15th and the mid-18th centuries.

Towns and economic development; the urban economy; manufactures, services and domestic and international trade; town-country relations, towns and rural industry; towns and the state; capital cities; urban hierarchies and networks; social structure and social mobility; standards of living; social conflict, crime and criminal repression; population structure; women, family and work; poverty and welfare; medicine and health; religion, education and literacy.

Teaching: Weekly lectures and classes (EH205). Classes are designed to discuss at greater depth topics covered in the lectures. Students are expected to prepare discussion papers for each class.

Formative coursework: Students are expected to write four essays or equivalent pieces of written work in the course of the year.

Assessment: A three-hour written examination in the ST.

EH206 Not available in 2012/13
The Evolution of Economic Policy in Advanced Economies

This information is for the 2012/13 session.

Teacher responsible: Dr Roman Studer, CMK. C322

Availability: BSc Economic History, BSc Economic History with Economics, BSc Economics and Economic History, BSc International Relations and History, BSc Economics, BSc Economics with Economic History, BA History, BSc Management and BSc Accounting and Finance. This course is also available as an outside option to students on other programmes and is open to General Course students.

Course content: This course examines major economic policy developments in advanced economies from World War I up to the present. Its organization will be chronological and it will deal with both major international as well as domestic policy issues.

Topics covered will include the Gold Standard and its breakdown, causes of and responses to the Great Depression, the establishment and the performance of the Bretton Woods regime, the Marshall plan, free trade vs. protectionism, growth and development policies, the integration of global capital markets, migration and labour market regulations, social spending and redistribution, regional integration, the rise of global business and the role of the nation state in the global economy, new public management and the governance of the global economy.

Teaching: 20 Lectures in MT and LT, with directly related classes. In addition a revision session is offered in the ST.

Formative coursework: Students are expected to write four essays or equivalent pieces of written work.

Assessment: Three hour written examination in Summer Term (100%).

---

EH211 Africa and the World Economy, 1500-2000

This information is for the 2012/13 session.

Teacher responsible: Dr Leigh Gardner, CMK.C322

Availability: Optional for students on the following programmes: BSc Economic History; BSc Economic History with Economics; BSc Economics and Economic History.

Teaching: 10x1 hour lectures in the MT and LT, and 1x1 hour lecture in the ST. 10x1 hour classes in the MT and LT and 1x1 hour class in the ST.

Formative coursework: Students will be expected to write four essays or equivalent pieces of written work during the course.

Course content: This course examines aspects of the economic history of sub-Saharan Africa, focusing on the nature and consequences for Africa of its external relationships. Lectures provide a chronological introduction to significant periods in African economic history, from the pre-colonial period through the slave trade, different periods of colonial rule, post-independence state-led development, and Structural Adjustment. Classes focus on case studies from individual countries and regions, which illustrate the diversity of experience across the continent. Primary source material related to the case studies will be included in the readings and facilitate the development of research skills in African economic history.

Assessment: One 3hr examination (100%).

---

EH220 Comparative Economic Development: Late Industrialisation in Russia, India and Japan

This information is for the 2012/13 session.

Teachers responsible: Dr Peter Howlett, CMK. C514 and Professor Janet Hunter, CMK. C420

Availability: This is a compulsory course for BSc Economic History. It is optional for BSc Economic History with Economics, BSc Economics, BSc Economics and Economic History, BSc Economics with Economic History, BSc Human Resource Management and Employment Relations, BSc Environment and Development, BSc International Relations and BSc Management. This course is also available to General Course students and as an outside option.

Course content: The course surveys the economic development of Russia, India and Japan over the last 150 years. The emphasis is comparative and the focus on particular problems of industrialisation in the pre-World War I, interwar and post-1945 years. Development and constraints in pre-industrial economies; state policy and industrial take-off; peasant agriculture, agricultural performance and industrialisation; traditional and modern manufacturing; capital, labour and entrepreneurship; effect of war and military expenditure; industrialisation strategies, planning and the role of the state; institutions and institutional reform; technological capability; impact of the international economy; quality of life issues.

Teaching: Lectures: 20 weekly lectures (EH220) and 24 classes (EH220.A).

Formative coursework: Students will be expected to write four essays or equivalent pieces of written work during the year and will also be expected to give class papers.

Indicative reading: No one book covers the whole syllabus and a detailed reading list will be supplied, the following texts are valuable for parts of the course: G C Allen, A Short Economic History of Assessment: A three-hour written exam in the ST.

EH225

Latin America and the International Economy

This information is for the 2012/13 session.

Teacher responsible: Dr. Alejandra Irigoien, CMK. C313

Availability: This is an optional course for BSc Economic History, BSc Economic History with Economics, BSc Economics, BSc Economics and Economic History, BSc Economics with Economic History, BSc Environmental Policy, BSc Environmental Policy with Economics and BSc International Relations. Also available to General Course students and as an outside option.

Course content: The course examines the development trajectory of Latin America and its relation with the international economy from the Early Modern period (c. 1700) to the present. It focuses on the political and economic factors that drove - and that resulted from - the region's engagement with the world attending to the environment, population and factor endowments, institutions and policies. The causes and outcomes of this 'engagement' will be explored in the following broad themes: the determinants of Latin American growth performance, the political economic legacy of European rule and of the formation of modern states and markets; the ambivalent relation with international markets and institutions, the continuous quest for development together with political and macroeconomic instability; the economic aspects of different political experiments and political culture - from authoritarian to democratic regimes and various generations of populism interspersed with military rule and direct democracy - and the short and long run impact on equality, poverty and the prospect for sustained intensive growth.

Teaching: Parallel programme of weekly lectures (EH225) and classes (EH225.A). MT, LT, ST with weekly lectures and class discussion synopses.

Formative coursework: Students are expected to write four essays or equivalent pieces of written work.

Indicative reading: C Abel & C M Lewis (Eds), Latin America: Economic Imperialism and the State; D Bushnell & N Macaulay, The Emergence of Latin America in the Latin America in the Nineteenth Century; S Engerman & K Sokoloff, Factor Endowments, Institutions and Differential Paths of Growth among New World Economies; T Hálperin Donghi The Contemporary History of Latin America; T E Skidmore & P.H. Smith Modern Latin America (2004); R Thorp, Progress, Poverty and Exclusion. For reference: L Bethell, The Cambridge History of Latin America, vols IV and VI.

EH228

The Industrial Revolution

This information is for the 2012/13 session.

Teachers responsible: Dr Patrick Wallis, CMK. C414, Dr Tim Leunig, CMK. C321 and Professor Albrech Ritschl CMK. C415

Availability: Optional on BSc Economic History, BSc Economic History with Economics, BSc Economics with Economic History, BSc Economics with Economic History and BA History. The course is also available to General Course students and as an outside option.

Course content: This course examines the Industrial Revolution in Britain, the turning point into modern economic growth. The course is designed to introduce students to the key debates around industrialisation. It will consider the causes and timing of British industrialisation, the process of industrialisation, and the economic and social effects of the industrial revolution. The course focuses on the British case, but will also explore why some other countries did not industrialise at that point, and processes of catch-up that followed.

Teaching: 10 lectures and 9 seminars in the MT. 10 lectures and seminars in the LT. 1 lecture and seminar in the ST.

Formative coursework: During the course students are expected to write four essays or equivalent pieces of written work.

Indicative reading: Mokyr, The British Industrial Revolution; Floud and Johnson, Cambridge Economic History of Modern Britain, vol I; Berg, Age of Manufactures; Allen, The British Industrial Revolution in Global Perspective; Crafts, British Economic Growth.

Assessment: One three-hour exam in the ST (100%).

EH238

Not available in 2012/13

Business and Economic Performance since 1945: Britain in International Context

This information is for the 2012/13 session.

Teacher responsible: Dr Peter Cirenza, CMK. C220

Availability: This is an optional course for BSc Accounting and Finance, BSc Economic History, BSc Economic History with Economics, BSc Economics, BSc Economics and Economic History, BSc Economics with Economic History, BSc Human Resource Management and Employment Relations, BSc Management and the Diploma in Accounting and Finance. Also available to General Course students and as an outside option. There are no pre-requisites for this course.

Course content: This course looks at the history of British business and industry, with an emphasis on the post-war period. It examines some of the hypotheses on why the UK economy grew more slowly than other OECD nations with particular reference to the decades after the Second World War. Explanations of relative economic decline are examined in the context of comparisons with other European nations and with the US and Japan. The main attention is on recent decades, including current changes in performance, but the historical roots of Britain’s poor performance are also considered. The focus is on business performance in the public and private sectors, including scale effects, multinationals’ comparative performance, technology, labour management and management quality. Other factors alleged to have contributed to Britain’s poor performance, ranging from ‘culture’ through government policy to education and trade unions, are also discussed.

Teaching: EH240 consists of 20 lectures in MT and LT, with directly related classes (EH240.A). In addition a revision session is offered in the ST.

Formative coursework: During the course students are expected to write four essays or equivalent pieces of written work.

Assessment: A three-hour written examination in the ST.

EH301 Not available in 2012/13
The Origins of the World Economy, 1450 - 1750
This information is for the 2012/13 session.
Teacher responsible: Dr Oliver Volckart, CMK. C215
Availability: Optional course for BSc Economic History, BSc Economic History with Economics, BSc Economics and Economic History and BSc Economics with Economic History. Not available to General Course students or as an outside option.

Course content: The course examines economic and social development in Western and Eastern Europe and Asia from the late Middle Ages to the mid-18th century. Its purpose is to discuss comparatively the sources of long-term economic development and growth in the past.

The course surveys issues, theories and historiography; economic development in premodern western Europe, population; agriculture; industry and protoindustry; urbanization; market integration and trade; technology; state structure, policy and political economy; taxation; technology, causes and consequences of west European overseas expansion; the emergence and nature of a ‘world economy’. Comparison with east-central Europe, Mong-Ching Empire to Europe: The Decline and Revival of British Industry since the Second World War. The following are also useful: R Floud & P Johnson (Eds), The Cambridge Economic History of Modern Britain, Vol III (3rd edn, 2004), chapters 3, 4, 5, 7, 10, 11, 12, 13 and 15; N F R Crafts & N Woodward (Eds), The British Economy since 1945 (1991); M Dintenfass, The Decline of Industrial Britain 1870-1980; B Elbaum & W Lazonick (Eds), The Decline of the British Economy (1986); S N Broadberry, The Productivity Race: British Manufacturing in International Perspective, 1850-1990 (1997).

Assessment: A three-hour written examination in the ST.

EH306 Monetary and Financial History since 1750
This information is for the 2012/13 session.
Teacher responsible: Dr. Olivier Accomminotti, CMK.C216
Availability: This is an optional course for BSc Economic History, BSc Economic History with Economics, BSc Economics and Economic History. This course is available to General Course students subject to permission of the Course Convenor. It is also available as an outside option with permission.

Course content: This course covers international Monetary and Financial History since the mid-18th century. It is a follow-up on EH203, European Financial History 800-1750. The course is designed to introduce students to the key issues around globalised finance and money. It will look into the rise and eventual demise of the Gold Standard, the emergence and occurrence of financial crises, the globalisation and geography of financial markets, and changes in policy responses and regulation over time.

Teaching: 20 lectures and 20 classes across the Michaelmas and Lent Terms. A one-hour revision lecture and a one-hour revision class will be held in the Summer Term.

Formative coursework: During the course students are expected to write three essays or equivalent pieces of written work.

Assessment: A three-hour written examination in the ST (100%).

EH307 The Economic History of South Asia, 1600-2000
This information is for the 2012/13 session.
Teacher responsible: Professor Tirthankar Roy, CMK.C315
Availability: This is an optional course for BSc Economic History, BSc Economic History with Economics, BSc Economics and Economic History, and BSc Economics with Economic History. Also optional for BSc Economics students with the permission of the course convenor, where teaching capacity permits. The course is not available to General Course students or as an outside option.

Pre-requisites: Students taking the course as an outside option must have completed at least one other economic history course.

Course content: The course surveys major developments in the economic history of India between 1600 and 2000. Its purpose is to discuss comparatively the sources of long-term economic development and growth in the past.

Teaching: A weekly one-hour student led lecture and one-hour student led seminar.

Formative coursework: A minimum of two essays and a mock examination.

Indicative reading: A detailed reading list will be distributed at the beginning of the course.

Assessment: A 3-hour written examination in the Summer Term (100%).
History. This course is also available to General Course students subject to the approval of the Course Convener. It is also available as an outside option with permission.

Teaching: 20 lectures and 20 classes across the Michaelmas and Lent Terms. One two-hour revision session will be held in the Summer Term.

Formative coursework: Students are expected to write three essays or equivalent pieces of written work.

Course content: South Asia is one of the fastest growing economies of the world. The region is also home to nearly one-third of the world's poorest people. How did this paradoxical mix between the creation of wealth and persistence of poverty come into being? Does economic history suggest an answer? The course introduces the stylized facts and major debates in the economic history of modern South Asia. It considers the legacies of empires and developmental states, globalization of the past and the present times, and the role of indigenous institutions and resource endowments. The course begins with a discussion of empires and markets before European colonial rule began, with special reference to maritime trade and craft production, in which the European East India companies were interested in. For the colonial period, the major theme is the transformation engendered by colonialism and international economic integration. In the sixty years since the end of colonial rule, developmental states tried to overcome the obstacles to growth as the economists interpreted them. The course considers how successful they were in meeting the aim, and why they were limitedly successful.

Indicative reading:

EH326

Innovation and Its Finance in the 19th and 20th Centuries

This information is for the 2012/13 session.

Teacher responsible: Dr Gerben Bakker, CMK. C214

Availability: Optional 3rd year course for BSc Economic History, BSc Economic History with Economics, BSc Economics with Economic History, BSc Economics and Economic History, BSc Economics with Economic History and, capacity permitting, BSc Management. In exceptional circumstances, other students (with a previous course in economic history) may be admitted with the consent of the course teacher. This course is not available to General Course students. This course will be capped.

Pre-requisites: Students taking the course as an outside option must have completed at least one other economic history course.

Course content: The course explores the relationship between innovation and the financing of it in the nineteenth and twentieth centuries, the impact on economic growth and how policy makers managed (or failed) to encourage innovation investment and technology adoption.

Technological change and organizational innovation are critical determinants of the pace of economic growth. This course looks at the specific ways in which innovation transformed industries around the world in the modern era. The course has a global reach though it will concentrate on countries in Northern Europe and the United States. Particular attention focuses on links between innovation and finance: finance is a fundamental input for almost every type of productive activity. The course will explore issues such as; the relationship between market size and structure and technological progress; how firms developed the capabilities to profit from new technologies; and how policy makers attempted to nurture institutions to stimulate investment and technology adoption. The course will therefore cover themes such as the process of invention, innovation typologies, the history of R&D management, anti-trust policy, corporate governance, organisational change, incentives, intellectual property rights and the regulation of technology and its finance more broadly.

Teaching: 22 weekly two-hour seminars, MT, LT, ST.

Formative coursework: All students are expected to write three essays or equivalent pieces of written work.

Indicative reading: A full reading list/course outline is distributed at the beginning of the course. The following readings provide some indication of the scope and nature of materials used in the course.

Assessment: A three-hour written examination in the ST (100%).

---

EH325 Not available in 2012/13

Issues in Modern Japanese Economic Development: Late Industrialisation, Imperialism and High Speed Growth

This information is for the 2012/13 session.

Teacher responsible: Professor Janet Hunter, CMK. C420

Availability: This is an optional course for BSc Economic History, BSc Economic History with Economics, BSc Economics with Economic History, BSc Economics and Economic History and BSc Human Resource Management and Employment Relations. Not available to General Course students or as an outside option.

Pre-requisites: Students will normally be expected to have taken Comparative Economic Development: Russia, India, Japan (EH220) in the 2nd year.

Course content: The course combines an examination of some major themes in modern Japanese development and in the historiography with a focus on particular aspects of Japanese economic history since the mid-19th century. Some use is made of statistical and English language primary sources. Topics for 2011/12 will include pre-industrial growth and its legacy; Japanese formal and informal empire; the Pacific War and the Occupation of Japan; trade and interaction with the international economy; consumption; institutions and organisations, including business structures and labour management; gender issues; natural disasters in modern Japanese economic history.

Teaching: 22 weekly seminars (EH325) of two hours each. Students are expected to do prior reading, to engage in group discussion and to make presentations.

Formative coursework: Students are expected to write three essays or equivalent pieces of written work.

Assessment: A three-hour written examination in the ST (100%).
EH327
China’s Traditional Economy and its Growth in the Very Long-Term
This information is for the 2012/13 session.
Teacher responsible: Dr Kent Deng, CMK. C213
Availability: Optional course for third-year BSc Economic History, BSc Economic History with Economics and BSc Economics and Economic History students, as regulations permit. Not available to General Course students or as an outside option.
Course content: The course explores the main aspects China’s economic growth in the very long term from c.1000 AD to 1800. It begins with a survey of general models/themes in Chinese economic history, followed by particular issues: the formation, expansion and the function of the Chinese empire; Confucian values and state economic policies; property rights; peasantry and peasant economy; proto-industrialisation; commerce and trade; science and technology; demographic fluctuations; living standards; external shocks and foreign influence; internal rebellions and revolutions; reforms and modernisation.
Teaching: 22 lecture-seminars of two-hours each in the MT, LT and ST. Students are expected to do prior reading and to make presentations on a regular basis.
Formative coursework: Students are required to write three essays or equivalent pieces of written work.
Assessment: A three-hour written examination in the ST (100%).

EH390
Dissertation in Economic or Social History
This information is for the 2012/13 session.
Teachers responsible: Professor Mary Morgan, CMK.C222
Availability: This course is compulsory for BSc Economic History, BSc Economic History with Economics and BSc Economics and Economic History. It is optional for students on the BSc Economics with Economic History. The course is not available to General Course students or as an outside option.
Course content: The subject of the dissertation should relate broadly to one of the economic history courses that have been chosen.
Assessment: The dissertation must not exceed 10,000 words in length. After being marked, the dissertation will not be returned to the candidate.

FM212
Principles of Finance
This information is for the 2012/13 session.
Teachers responsible: Professor Christopher Polk, OLD 4.32 and Dr Mungo Wilson, OLD M2.17
Availability: Compulsory for BSc Accounting and Finance and the Diploma in Accounting and Finance. Optional for BSc Business Mathematics and Statistics, BSc Econometrics and Mathematical Economics, BSc Economics, BSc Management, BSc Management Sciences, BSc Mathematics and Economics, BSc Philosophy and Economics, and BSc Social Policy and Economics. Available as an outside option. Available to General Course students only with permission from the course leader.
Pre-requisites: Elementary economics and quantitative methods.
Course content: The course examines the theory of financial decision-making by firms and examines the behaviour of the capital markets in which these decisions are taken. The topics covered are the theory of capital budgeting under certainty in perfect and imperfect capital markets, portfolio theory, equity and bond markets, the capital asset pricing model, efficient markets, sources of funds, basic theory of capital structure and the cost of capital, company dividend decisions and financial markets and institutions.
Teaching: 40 lectures (FM212) of one-hour MT and LT and 20 classes (FM212.A/B/C) of one-hour MT and LT.
Formative coursework: Students are expected to produce written work for classes and to make positive contributions to class discussion.
Indicative reading: Detailed course programmes and reading lists are distributed at the start of the course. Illustrative texts include: Grinblatt & Titman, Financial Markets and Corporate Strategy (Irwin, McGraw-Hill) or Brealey, Myers and Allen, Corporate Finance (McGraw-Hill).
Assessment: A three-hour written examination in the ST. Students will answer a total of four questions, two each from Sections A and B.

FM300
Corporate Finance, Investments and Financial Markets
This information is for the 2012/13 session.
Teachers responsible: Dr M Verardo, OLD 4.24 and Dr J Favilukis, OLD M2.14
Availability: Optional for BSc Accounting and Finance, BSc Economics, BSc Econometrics and Mathematical Economics, BSc Management and BSc Management Sciences. Available as an outside option. Available to General Course students.
Pre-requisites: Principles of Finance, including both asset markets and corporate finance (FM212 or equivalent course).
Course content: This course is intended for third-year undergraduates and will be a broad-based follow-up to FM212 Principles of Finance. The goal is to broaden, and selectively deepen, students’ understanding of finance, building on their existing knowledge of financial economics. The course will cover a broad range of topics, with both a theoretical and an empirical emphasis. These include topics in corporate finance, investments and performance evaluation and international finance.
The course consists of two interchangeable ten-week components, one on investments and international finance, and the other on corporate finance. The first component provides students with a way of thinking about and framing investment decisions by examining the empirical behaviour of security prices. We first study the empirical evidence of the CAPM and other asset pricing models, and then analyze different tests of market efficiency focusing on event studies, investment anomalies and behavioural finance. Finally, this part of the course illustrates techniques of performance evaluation and attribution and, after introducing elements of international finance, explores issues related to international portfolio management.
The second component of the course examines theory and evidence concerning major corporate financial policy decisions. We focus particularly on the firm’s decision to finance with debt vs. equity, the impact of taxes on such decisions, and the role of dividends. We will begin with the Modigliani and Miller proposition and discuss the firm’s choice to raise capital using debt versus equity and the firm’s choice to payout earnings using dividends versus repurchases. We will analyze the impact of taxes, financial distress, and asymmetric information on such decisions. We will also cover optimal managerial compensation, take on the role of the policy maker to learn about corporate governance mechanisms and discuss some recent corporate scandals. Finally, we will review empirical evidence from a wide range of international sources to support or refute the theories we discussed.

Teaching: 40 lectures of one-hour each in MT and LT, and 20 classes of one-hour in MT, LT, and ST. Classes start in week three of MT.

Formative coursework: Students are expected to produce written work for classes and to make positive contributions to class discussions.

Indicative reading: Detailed course programmes and reading lists are distributed at the start of the course. Illustrative texts include: Bodie, Kane & Marcus, Investments (Irwin) and Grinblatt & Titman, Financial Markets and Corporate Strategy (Irwin, McGraw-Hill).

Assessment: A three-hour written examination in the ST.

---

FM320 Quantitative Finance

This information is for the 2012/13 session.

Teachers responsible: Dr J Danielsson, OLD 4.20 and Dr R Rahi OLD 3.43

Availability: Optional for BSc Accounting and Finance, BSc Business Mathematics and Statistics, BSc Econometrics and Mathematical Economics, BSc Economics, BSc Management Sciences and BSc Mathematics and Economics. Available as an outside option. Available to General Course students only with permission from the course leader.

Pre-requisites: Students must have taken Principles of Finance, Microeconomic Principles I or Microeconomic Principles II. Introduction to Econometrics, Principles of Econometrics or other statistical courses where at least linear regression models are covered are recommended but not required. General Course students may only take this course with the approval of the course leader.

Course content: This course is intended for third-year undergraduates and builds upon FM212 Principles of Finance. The main topics covered are financial risk analysis and financial risk management (first part of the course) and derivative pricing (second part). As such, this course is complementary to FM300 Corporate Finance, Investments and Financial Markets, with minimal overlap. The first part of the course provides students with a thorough understanding of market risk from both a practical and technical points of view. We discuss the empirical properties of market prices (fat tails, volatility clusters, etc.), forecasting of prices, concepts of financial risk (volatility, Value-at-Risk, etc.), volatility models (ARCH, GARCH, etc.), and we analyze how interactions and feedback between market players can generate endogenous risk and liquidity crises. Finally, we discuss credit markets and liquidity, with applications to the current situation in financial markets. This part of the course presents methods and models used by banks and other financial institutions in the management of risk and allocation of risk capital, as well as models of financial crises. Students apply the models to real financial data using Matlab, a computer software popular in both industry and academia. No prior knowledge of programming is assumed: students will learn-by-doing in class. Students will at times use data and software for coursework assignments.

The second part of the course focuses on derivatives, addressing three questions: how do these products work? In what type of investment strategies can they be used? And above all: How are they priced and hedged? No-arbitrage arguments, risk-neutral valuation and the martingale pricing approach will be introduced and applied to the pricing of equity derivatives (European call and put options, American options, exotic options), futures and forwards contracts, and interest rate derivatives (swaps, caps and floors, swaptions, etc.). The lectures start with a self-contained introduction to continuous-time stochastic processes and elements of stochastic calculus. The course covers the Black-Scholes model, as well as stochastic volatility and local volatility models, aiming to explain how these models are used for the pricing and hedging of equity derivatives. The standard market model (Black’s model), as well as term structure models (Vasicek, CIR, HJM), are then introduced and applied to the pricing of interest rate derivatives. If time permits, credit derivatives might also be covered.

Teaching: 20 lectures of two hours and 20 classes of one hour over the MT, LT and ST. Classes start in week three of MT.

Formative coursework: Students will be expected to produce written work for classes and to make positive contributions to class discussion.

Indicative reading: J Danielsson, Financial Risk Forecasting: The Theory and Practice of Forecasting Market Risk will be required textbook for the first half of the course. J Hull, Options, Futures, and Other Derivatives, Prentice Hall (8th Edition) will be the required textbook for the second half of the course

Assessment: A three-hour unseen examination will take place in the ST.

---

GV100 Introduction to Political Theory

This information is for the 2012/13 session.

Teacher responsible: Professor Chandran Kukathas

Availability: Compulsory for BSc Government, BSc Politics and Philosophy, BSc Government and Economics, BSc Government and History, and BSc Social Policy with Government. Optional for BSc Environmental Policy, BSc Environment and Development, BSc Human Resource Management, BSc International Relations and BSc Social Policy. Available as an outside option.

Course content: An introduction to the study of politics and political theory through the thought and texts of some of the most important western political theorists. A study of the ideas of some of the major political theorists from the ancient Greeks to the 20th Century. Topics will include theories of human nature, the origin of government and law, man’s relation to society and the state, the rise, development and comparison of different constitutions (democracy, monarchy, republican etc), the nature of just and unjust government, the relation between the spiritual and the secular in thinkers, classical and modern natural law and natural rights, the basis of political obligation, the idea of social contract and the theory of utility. The thinkers discussed include Plato, Aristotle, Cicero, Augustine, Aquinas, Vitoria, Machiavelli, Hobbes, Spinoza, Locke, Rousseau, Wollstonecraft, J S Mill, Hegel, Marx, Nietzsche, Foucault, Hayek, and Rawls.

Teaching: Twenty weekly lectures in MT and LT and eight weekly one-hour classes in the MT and ten weekly one-hour classes in the LT. One two-hour revision lecture in ST.

Formative coursework: Students are required to write two 1500 word essays in the MT and two 1500 word essays in the LT. Specific reading lists referring to modern commentaries and historical contexts will be available on the Moodle page at the beginning of the course.

Assessment: One three-hour examination in the ST (100%). Candidates will be expected to answer four questions from a total of sixteen.
GV101
Introduction to Political Science
This information is for the 2012/13 session.
Teacher responsible: Professor Simon Hix
Availability: This is compulsory for BSc Government, BSc Government and Economics, BSc Government and History, BSc Politics and Philosophy and BSc Social Policy with Government. It is optional for BSc Human Resource Management and Employment Relations and BSc Social Policy. It is available as an outside option and to General Course students.
Course content: The course is an introduction to politics in a globalised world, with a focus on how political science tries to understand and explain cross-country and cross-time differences. The first part of the course will introduce students to some of the main empirical variations in political behaviour, institutions, and outcomes across the world, focusing mainly on democratic and partially democratic countries (in both the developed and developing world), and introduce students to some of the basic theoretical ideas and research methods in political science. Each subsequent week will be devoted to a substantive topic, where a more detailed analysis of a particular empirical phenomenon will be presented and various theoretical explanations of the phenomenon will be assessed. Most weeks will involve an interactive element. For example, students will be required to ‘adopt a country’, from the range of democratic or partially democratic countries across the world (which cannot be a student’s home country). The aim is for a student to become an expert on the political behaviour, institutions and outcomes in his or her adopted country, particularly to provide material and knowledge for class discussions.
Teaching: Twenty lectures will be given, ten in MT and ten in the LT. There will be twenty classes, each of one-hour.
Formative coursework: Students will be required to submit 1 essay and 1 problem set (relating to the interpretation of political science data) in the Michaelmas Term and 2 essays in the Lent Term.
Assessment: The course will be examined with a three-hour paper in the ST.

GV225
Public Choice and Politics
This information is for the 2012/13 session.
Teachers responsible: Dr Valentino Larcinese, Dr Torun Dewan, and Dr Kai Spiekermann.
Availability: Compulsory for BSc Government and Economics, optional for BSc Government, BSc Government and History, BSc Management, BSc Social Policy with Government, BSc Business Mathematics and Statistics and BSc Politics and Philosophy. Also available to General Course students as a compulsory question. In the ST, candidates will answer two compulsory questions. The essay is optional for BSc Government, BSc Government and Economics, BSc Government and History, BSc International Relations, BSc Management, BSc Social Policy with Government and BSc Politics and Philosophy.
Pre-requisites: Students will normally be expected to have taken GV101 Introduction to Political Science or equivalent, in a previous year. An introductory knowledge of economics would be useful.
Course content: The aim of this course is to look at political science explanations of changes in public policy, and to apply that literature to major cases of economic policy (both contemporary and historical). In particular, it aims to examine the extent to which economic policy change is affected by ideas, interests and institutions, and the interaction between international and national factors. The material for the course is drawn mainly from the comparative literature on the politics of markets in industrialised countries. Course topics will include privatisation, delegation to non-majoritarian institutions, varieties of capitalism, regulatory reform and supranational regulation of markets.
Teaching: 16 one-hour lectures/research sessions (GV227), 4 workshops (GV227) and 20 one-hour classes (GV227.A) in MT and LT.
Assessment: The course is examined by a two-hour unseen written examination in the ST. Candidates must also submit one essay for assessment by the beginning of the Summer Term. In the overall assessment for the course, the unseen examination will count as 75% of the final mark and the essay as 25%.

GV227
The Politics of Economic Policy
This information is for the 2012/13 session.
Teachers responsible: Dr Maja Rasmussen
Availability: Optional for BSc Environmental Policy, BSc Environmental Policy with Economics, BSc Economics, BSc Government, BSc Government and Economics, BSc Government and History, BSc International Relations, BSc Management, BSc Social Policy with Government and BSc Politics and Philosophy.
Pre-requisites: Students will normally be expected to have taken GV101 Introduction to Political Science or equivalent, in a previous year. An introductory knowledge of economics would be useful.
Course content: The aim of this course is to look at political science explanations of changes in public policy, and to apply that literature to major cases of economic policy (both contemporary and historical). In particular, it aims to examine the extent to which economic policy change is affected by ideas, interests and institutions, and the interaction between international and national factors. The material for the course is drawn mainly from the comparative literature on the politics of markets in industrialised countries. Course topics will include privatisation, delegation to non-majoritarian institutions, varieties of capitalism, regulatory reform and supranational regulation of markets.
Teaching: 20 weekly one-hour lectures (GV225) in the MT and 20 weekly one-hour classes (GV227) in the LT and 20 weekly one-hour classes (GV225) in the LT, and 20 weekly one-hour classes (GV225) in the LT. Three lectures in LT (revision).
Assessment: The course will be assessed by one three-hour unseen written examination in the ST. The exam will have two parts. Part A is a compulsory question. In Part B, candidates will answer two questions from eight posed.
GV262
Contemporary Political Theory
This information is for the 2012/13 session.
Teacher responsible: Dr Mathew Coakley.
Availability: Optional course for BSc International Relations, BSc Environmental Policy, BSc Environmental Policy with Economics, BSc Government, BSc Government and Economics, BSc Government and History, BSc Social Policy with Government, BSc Politics and Philosophy and pre-requisite for students wishing to take either of the third year options in Political Theory. Available as an outside option and to General Course students.
Pre-requisites: Introduction to Political Theory or equivalent.
Course content: This course provides an advanced introduction to contemporary political theory. The course will cover concepts such as democracy, freedom and equality. In the course of the year students will be introduced to such major contemporary theorists in the field as Rawls, Nozick, Sandel, Walzer and Okin. This course will provide students with a good grounding in the methods and substantive concerns of contemporary political theory as well as familiarity with the works of major thinkers in the field.
Assessment: There will be a three-hour unseen examination in the ST.

GV263
Public Policy Analysis
This information is for the 2012/13 session.
Teachers responsible: Professor Martin Lodge and Professor Edward Page.
Availability: Optional for BSc Environmental Policy with Economics, BSc Environmental Policy, BSc Government, BSc Government and Economics, BSc Government and History, BSc Politics and Philosophy and BSc Social Policy with Government.
Pre-requisites: GV101 Introduction to Political Science (or equivalent).
Course content: A systematic examination of the policy process in the context of developed nations. This course introduces key theories and models in the study of public policy and encourages a critical appreciation of the main trends in contemporary public policy-making. The course looks at the different stages of the ‘policy cycle’ (e.g. agenda-setting, implementation and evaluation), the determinants of public policy (for example, public opinion, political parties, technology) as well as central themes in the study and practice of public policy, such as corruption and risk management.
Teaching: 22 weekly lectures and 21 weekly classes.
Assessment: By Summer Term examination (75%) and assessed essay during the Lent Term (25%).

GV264
Politics and Institutions in Europe
This information is for the 2012/13 session.
Teachers responsible: Dr Michael Bruter, Professor Torun Dewan, Dr Eiko Thielemann and others.
Availability: Optional course for BSc Environmental Policy with Economics, BSc Environmental Policy, BSc Environment and Development, BSc Politics and Philosophy, BSc Government, BSc Government and Economics, BSc Government and History, BSc Politics and Philosophy, BSc International Relations and BSc Social Policy with Government. Available to General Course students and as an outside option.
Pre-requisites: GV101 Introduction to Political Science or equivalent.
Course content: The course aims to give students an understanding of the full range of leading topics and areas of debate and research relevant to the analysis of political institutions and policies in Europe. The course focuses on both traditional fields of comparative enquiry, such as the study of party competition and voting behaviour, and emerging fields of interest, such as national and European identities, and Europeanisation. The course places particular emphasis on the diverse experiences of liberal democracy in different parts of Europe. The course covers not only long-established democracies in Western Europe, but also the relatively new democracies in Central and Eastern Europe. In the Lent Term, the course will study in detail a number of European Countries, analysing the main developments in the country concerned in the last twenty years (elections, parties, governments), and then examining issues of particular interest related to that country. Course topics include: electoral behaviour; parties and party systems; parliamentary governance; government formation and coalitions; regionalism and federalism; national and European identities; and the challenge of Europeanisation.
Teaching: 20 weekly one-hour lectures in MT and LT, one revision session in ST, and 20 classes (MT: 9; LT: 10; ST: 1).
Assessment: One three-hour unseen written examination in the ST.

GV265
States, Nations and Empires
This information is for the 2012/13 session.
Teacher responsible: Dr John Chalkcroft.
Availability: Optional for BSc Environmental Policy with Economics, BSc Environmental Policy, BSc Environment and Development, BSc Politics and Philosophy, BSc Government, BSc Government and Economics and BSc Social Policy with Government students, third-year BSc International Relations and for General Course students. Also available to students on other degrees where regulations permit.
Pre-requisites: GV101 Introduction to Political Science or equivalent.
Course content: The course is a study of the historical development of various types of states, principally inside but also beyond Europe, of the ideas and institutions that underlay them, of the challenges faced, the reasons one kind of a state gave way to another, and the prospects for states and other forms of political organization. Particular attention will be paid to the emergence and spread of the nation-state, its relationship with other kinds of states (city-states, empires etc) and the challenges it confronts in the contemporary world.
The topics considered include: Factors of power over the millennia; the rise of the territorial state in Europe and its development towards the nation-state form; the rise and fall of European empire and the formation of nation-states beyond Europe; the Soviet and Nazi challenges to the nation-state and why these failed; nationalism and pan-Arabism in the Middle East; ethnic minorities and ethnic conflicts; economic and cultural globalization and supranational polities in the contemporary world.

Assessment: There will be a three-hour examination in the ST (100%).

---

GV302

Key Themes in the History of Political Thought

This information is for the 2012/13 session.

Teacher responsible: Professor Chandran Kukathas

Availability: Optional course for BSc Government, BSc Government and Economics, BSc Government and History, BSc Politics and Philosophy and BSc Social Policy with Government. Available to General Course students and as an outside option.

Pre-requisites: Students will normally be expected to have taken Introduction to Political Theory or equivalent, in a previous year.

Course content: A thematic study of political thought in Ancient, Medieval/Renaissance and Modern periods. This advanced course treats some of the major themes in the history of western European political thought as drawn from the writings of selected political philosophers of the ancient Greek, Roman, medieval, renaissance, early modern and modern periods. The aim is to demonstrate, and explain, some of the continuities and discontinuities in ethical and political problems and their solutions over time and changing context.

Examples of such themes: different views on the nature of “man” and the consequences for political agency of different perspectives on human reason, will, desire, debates on the origins of law and the purpose of legislation; changing conceptions of justice; different views on government and the state’s relation to the individual; on the sources of public authority and the nature of legitimate sovereignty; on the relation of property ownership to personal identity and to participation in collective governance; the historical and socio-political presuppositions behind the different constitutional regimes: democracy, monarchy, republic etc; on the role of religion in politics; the changing perspectives on the relationship between life in the family and a life of active citizenship; theories of natural law and natural rights; contractarianism; idealist political theory; utilitarianism; nationalism; liberal, conservative and socialist traditions of thought; anarchism and feminism. The themes, thinkers and primary texts will be selected each year to reflect the current debates in contemporary scholarly literature on them and the research interests of the lecturer.

The key theme for 2010-11 is Toleration and Freedom in the writings of Plato, Augustine, Locke, Bayle, Spinoza and Mill. A specific and dedicated reading list will be on Public Folders and distributed at the beginning of the year.

Teaching: 20 weekly lectures and 20 weekly classes.

Indicative reading: Jonathan Israel, Enlightenment Contested and Radical Enlightenment. Primary Sources: A selection of the following (this list should not be taken as exhaustive): Plato, Republic; Gorgias; Augustine, The City of God and Selected Writings; Locke, Letter concerning Toleration; Pierre Bayle, Philosophical Commentary; Spinoza, Theologico-Political Treatise and Political Treatise; J S Mill, Utilitarianism On Liberty.  Assessment: One three-hour paper will be taken in the ST. Four questions will be answered.

---

GV303

Not available in 2012/13 From Empire to Globalization

This information is for the 2012/13 session.

Teachers responsible: Professor David Held and Dr Jill Stuart

Availability: Optional to BSc Government, BSc Government and Economics, BSc Government and History, and BSc Politics and Philosophy. The course is capped and only available as an outside option to non-Government students and General Course students when there is space.

Teaching: 22 weekly hour-long lectures commencing in the MT, and 24 weekly 1-hour-long seminars starting in week 1 of the MT.

Formative coursework: All students are expected to produce two written essays plus one short presentation on topics assigned to them.

Course content: This course will provide a historical and comparative account of changing forms of world order in the modern period. Against the backdrop of the rise and fall of empires, it will examine the changing nature and form of globalisation and the rise of new forms of global politics. The course content will cover the following topics though specific lecture titles may change from year to year: the contemporary debate about globalisation; international systems and empires in world history; changes in the nature of military power and war; the evolution of global economic governance; the globalisation of migration and environmental concerns; the role of global intergovernmental and nongovernmental organisations; global communications and culture; the nature of US power in the contemporary global order; and core issues of global citizenship, governance and citizenship.

Assessment: Three-hour written examination in the ST.

---

GV305

Sustainability Science & Policy: Problems and Perspectives

This information is for the 2012/13 session.

Teacher responsible: Dr. Kira Matus

Availability: Optional for students on the following programmes: BSc Government; BSc Government and Economics; BSc Government and History; BSc Politics and Philosophy. Available to General Course students and as an outside option.

Teaching: 10x1 hours of lectures in the MT. 10x2 hours of classes in both the MT and LT. 2x1 hours of revision sessions in the ST.

Course content: This course is an introduction to the analysis and design of policies meant to address the challenges of sustainability. Sustainability problems are often particularly difficult for policy...
analysts and decision makers because of their complexity and uncertainty in both the technical and political realms. They often require interdisciplinary approaches, drawing on fields from economics to sociology to political science to ecology. Sustainability science seeks to develop and use rigorous methodologies and tool-sets to approach some of the most difficult problems at the intersection of human well-being and the environment. The goal of the course is to explore how policy makers and policy analysts can make use of this interdisciplinary approach to be effective in the design and implementation of policies that impact both society and environment. This year-long, project based course will have three main goals.

1) To examine some of the major problems of sustainability, including issues such as climate change, green technology, global health, agriculture, biodiversity and natural resource management.

2) To introduce the different disciplinary perspectives that can be brought to bear in the study and analysis of these kinds of problems.

3) To learn tools and methods, including analytical techniques and presentation skills, that are required for effective policy analysis and decision making in this area.

Work in the course will be largely case based, and topical issues will be presented and mastered alongside different analytical skills and techniques. Students will be expected to work in teams to produce presentations and policy memos on specific topics. For the final project, the students will choose a local-level sustainable development problem and produce a policy analysis aimed at the appropriate decision maker.

Formative coursework: Students will complete 2 formative written assignments and 1 group presentation each term.

Assessment: One 2 hour examination (35%); One 1500 word essay (15%); One 3000 word individual project (50%).

---

GV314 Empirical Research in Government

This information is for the 2012/13 session.

Teacher responsible: Professor Edward Page

Availability: Optional course for BSc Government, BSc Government and History, BSc Politics and Philosophy and BSc Government and Economics. Not available to General Course students or as an outside option.

Course content: The course introduces a variety of techniques and issues in the empirical study of political science and applies them to a practical research project in which students participate throughout the year.

The focus of the course will be the practical research project. Details of the research project will be made available at the time students make their course choices. At the theoretical level the course will cover questions relating to the utilization of policy research, forms of research design, sampling, questionnaire construction, coding and converting non-quantitative to quantitative indicators, response rates, elite interviewing and research ethics. As the practical research project progresses classes will cover the development of practical skills such as, principles of research report writing and, where appropriate for the project, use of text processing programmes, and SPSS.

Teaching: 22 weekly two-hour classes. Students will be expected to participate in the empirical research project outside class time. This will include tasks such as interviewing respondents, drawing up a questionnaire and coding.

Assessment: The course will be assessed in three ways:

(i) One quarter (25%) of the overall mark will be assessed by an essay of up to 2,500 words (due beginning of the LT).

(ii) One quarter (25%) of the overall mark will be assessed by each student writing up a report on part of the practical research project. A system of peer review will make it possible to gain (but not lose) marks through active and effective participation in the research project (due in the ST).

(iii) One half (50%) of the overall mark will be assessed by one two-hour unseen written examination in the ST.

---

GV310 Democracy and Democratisation

This information is for the 2012/13 session.

Teachers responsible: Dr Francisco Panizza.

Availability: Third year BSc Government, BSc Government and Economics, BSc Government and History, BSc Politics and Philosophy, BSc International Relations and BSc Social Policy with Government students. Also available to General Course students and as an outside option.

Pre-requisites: Introduction to Political Science GV101.

Course content: The course is concerned with theories and case studies of democratic transformations. It focuses on several different parts of the world including Eastern Europe, Latin America, Africa, Asia, the Middle East and the former Soviet Union. It analyses processes of transition to democracy in historical context and also analyses relations between democracy, democratisation and economic development in a global capitalist economy.

Teaching: 20 lectures and weekly classes plus two revision classes in the ST.

Formative coursework: Two essays are required, one in each term.

Assessment: There will be a three-hour unseen examination in the ST.
GV350
Theories and Problems of Nationalism
This information is for the 2012/13 session.
Teachers responsible: Professor John Breuilly and Dr John Hutchinson.
Availability: Optional for BSc Government, BSc Government and Economics, BSc Government and History, BSc International Relations, BSc International Relations and History, BSc Politics and Philosophy, BSc Social Policy and Sociology, BSc Social Policy with Government and BSc Sociology. Also available to General Course students and as an outside option.
Pre-requisites: Students should have completed a suitable course in Anthropology, Sociology, Political Science, International Relations or History. Government students should have completed GV101 Introduction to Political Science.
Course content: Investigations into various problems of nationalism and nation-states in their historical, sociological and international aspects, and a consideration of the main theories of their origins and diffusion in Europe and the wider world.

GV351
Government, Politics and Public Policy in the European Union
This information is for the 2012/13 session.
Teachers responsible: Dr Eiko Thielemann, Professor S Hix and Dr Rory Costello.
Availability: Optional for BSc Government, BSc Government and Economics, BSc Government and History, BSc Politics and Philosophy, BSc International Relations and BSc Social Policy with Government. Available to General Course students and as an outside option.
Pre-requisites: Pre-requisite: GV101 Introduction to Political Science, or equivalent.
Course content: The course is divided into two parts: (i) Government and Politics: the EU as a political system, the Council, the Commission and the Parliament in the policy process, Court of Justice and judicial politics, public opinion and EP elections, parties and Europe, interest representation; (ii) Policy: the policy-making process, policy implementation, the single market, social and environmental policies, budgetary policies, EMU, migration policies, external relations policies.
Teaching: 20 weekly lectures (GV351) in MT and LT and 20 weekly classes (GV351.A) in the MT and LT. One revision lecture in the ST.
Formative coursework: Two essays per term; students preparedness for the examinations will depend on this written work and on private reading.
Assessment: A three-hour unseen written examination held in the ST.

GV353
Politics of Money, Finance and Trade in Comparative Perspective
This information is for the 2012/13 session.
Teacher responsible: Dr Stephanie Rickard & Dr Cheryl Schonhardt-Bailey
Availability: BSc Government, BSc Government and Economics, BSc Government and History, BSc Politics and Philosophy. This course is not normally available to General Course students, unless they can demonstrate adequate background knowledge. The course is capped and only available as an outside option to non-Government students when there is space. Students who take this course will not be permitted to take ### LINK TO PAGE / SECTION FOLLOWS ### GV390 Government Essay Option.
Pre-requisites: Students should have background in political economy and/or public policy.
Course content: The course focuses on the role of institutions, ideas and interests in the process and formulation of three key areas of economic policy - i.e., (1) monetary policy, (2) financial stability and regulation, and (3) trade policy. We examine the causal influences of institutions, ideas and interests in monetary policy, finance and trade, focusing predominantly on developed countries. We draw on theories from economics and political science and analyze these using both historical and contemporary examples, and do so from a comparative perspective, rather than an international relations perspective. The primary focus of the course is on actual policy outcomes, which gives rise to the second portion of the course - namely the research dissertation. For this dissertation, we provide intensive supervision in assisting students to (1) design a scientific research question related to money, finance or trade, (2) compile appropriate data to test hypotheses which derive from the question, and (3) propose methods for analyzing the data. Students may employ either quantitative or qualitative methods for their research dissertation. Previous knowledge of statistical methods is assumed; however, some students may opt to acquire more specialist knowledge of textual analysis software, and the fundamentals for this will be provided in this course.
Teaching: Ten hours of lectures and ten hours of seminars in the Michaelmas Term; two hours of lectures, two hours of seminars and 16 hours of workshops in the Lent Term.
Formative coursework: One formative essay, based on the outline for students’ research dissertation, in Michaelmas Term.
Charles Kindleberger, Manias, Panics, and Crashes: A History of Undergraduate Course Guides 67
GV366 Political Economy of the Developing World

This information is for the 2012/13 session.

Teacher responsible: Dr Steffen Hertog.

Availability: Optional for students on the following programmes: BSc Government; BSc Government and Economics; BSc Government and History; and BSc Politics and Philosophy. Not available to General Course students, or as an outside option.

Teaching: 10x1 hour lectures in both the MT and LT. 1x1 hour revision session in the ST.

Formative coursework: One 3500 word essay to be handed in the Lent term on one question from a longer list of research questions provided by the course convenor, but drawing on literature and sources beyond the titles provided on the syllabus.

 GV390 Government Essay Option

This information is for the 2012/13 session.

Teacher responsible: Departmental Tutor, Dr Michael Bruter

Availability: Optional for BSc Government and BSc Politics and Philosophy students, may be taken only in the third year. This option is not available to General Course students, or as an outside option.

Students who take this course will not be permitted to take an oral examination on a final draft of the whole essay or any part of it. The number of individual meetings with the students will be strictly limited. It should be stressed that no member of staff is under an obligation to agree to supervise any proposed essay.

Assessment: The completed 10,000 word essay must be submitted to the appropriate LSE Office by the second week of the Summer Term.

Footnotes are to be included in the word limit - but not the bibliography. The examiners may determine that the candidate should be called for an oral examination.

GY103 Contemporary Europe

This information is for the 2012/13 session.

Teacher responsible: Dr Simona Iammarino, STC. S410

Availability: Optional first year course for BSc Environmental Policy, BSc Environment and Development, BA Geography and BSc Geography with Economics students. Open to other students as permitted by the regulations for their degrees. Available as an outside option.

Course content: This course provides an introduction to society, economy and politics of contemporary Europe.

Assessment: A formal three-hour unseen examination (100%).

Financial Crises (Wiley, 5th edn. 2005, 1st edn. 1978);
Walter Bagehot, Lombard Street: A Description of the Money Market (1873);
Carmen Reinhart & Kenneth Rogoff, This Time Is Different: Eight Centuries of Financial Folly (Princeton Univ. Press, 2009);

Assessment: One 10,000 word research dissertation (100%) due at the start of the Summer Term.
The main focus is upon the economic, social and political challenges the EU as a whole, and individual nation states within Europe are facing. These include the issues of integration, competitiveness, cohesion, enlargement, ageing, migration, employment trends, gender divisions and social polarization and the emergence of regionalism and nationalism. Particular stress is laid upon the geographical constitution of these themes, including regional issues.

Teaching: 38 hours of Lectures, one-hour Classes weekly in MT and LT.

Formative coursework: Students will be expected to produce a minimum of two class essays during the year and will also be expected to give class papers.

Assessment: A formal two-hour unseen examination paper (2 questions to answer from a choice of 6) (75%) and a 1,500 word assessed essay (25%).

GY120 Environmental Change: Past, Present and Future

This information is for the 2012/13 session.

Teacher responsible: Professor D K C Jones, STC. S417

Availability: Compulsory for BSc Environment and Development and BSc Environmental Policy with Economics and optional for BA Geography and BSc Geography with Economics students. Also available as an outside option for other students as permitted by the regulations for their degrees.

Course content: The course focuses on developing an appreciation of the Planet Earth as the home of human societies. The analysis focuses on the physical nature of the ‘natural’ or biophysical systems and involves consideration of how the solid earth, the gaseous atmosphere, the hydrosphere and the biosphere, were formed, have evolved, interact and have changed over time due to both external (extra-terrestrial) and internal factors, including humans.

Consideration of ‘material properties’, ‘processes’ and ‘fluxes’ is undertaken with the purpose of better understanding the varying causes and scales of ‘environmental change’ that have occurred. From this, an appreciation of change and evolution over differing timescales is developed which will serve as an essential basis for students when evaluating the contemporary two-way interaction between humans and the environment. The course consists of the following sections:

A. Introduction to Environmental Change: The structure and functioning of the Earth as a set of systems (The Geosystem). The Scientific Method. The systems approach and its application to environmental studies. Ecosystem concept. Biogeochemical cycles. The nature and causes of Environmental Change and Climate Change; “Change” and “Variability”.

B. Key Aspects of Environmental Change:

(i) The Biosphere; Development and change of Biodiversity over time due to evolution through Natural Selection

C. Long-term Geosystem Change: From Creationism to Deep Time. Consideration of relevant aspects of the following: The nature, origin and evolution of the Solar System and Planet Earth.

D. Quaternary Environmental Change: Environmental Change over the last 2.6 million years. The paradigm of Quaternary environmental change, i.e. the “Ice House- Hot House” paradigm. Ice cores, ocean sediment cores, isotope analysis, The Milankovitch Mechanism. Holocene Climate Change and debates. The nature and causes of sea-level change. Isotasy. Human impacts on the Ecosphere.

E. Global Environmental Change: Contemporary Climate/ Environmental Change and the basis of predictions to AD 2100.

Teaching: 38 one-hour lectures in the MT and LT; weekly one-hour classes in the MT, LT and ST, and a weekend residential Field Course in the Michaelmas Term.

Formative coursework: Students will be expected to produce two essays during the year and give class papers.

Assessment: A three-hour unseen examination in the ST (70%) and two 1,500 word essays in the ST (15% each).

GY121 Sustainable Development

This information is for the 2012/13 session.

Teacher responsible: Dr G Atkinson, STC. S513. Other teacher involved Dr J Childs.

Availability: Compulsory for BSc Environment and Development and BSc Environmental Policy with Economics. An optional course for BA Geography and BSc Geography with Economics. Available as an outside option and non-Geography students are welcome to attend where permitted by regulations.

Course content: “Is development sustainable?” While this is undoubtedly a challenging question, the purpose of this course is to provide the building blocks that will allow an answer to be formulated. In doing so, we will seek to understand better how the natural world is affected by development decisions and crucially how those decisions shape human development prospects or widen the gap between development outcomes across geographical regions or socioeconomic groups.

All of this gives rise to a rich array of themes and debates, which are reflected in distinct sections of the course. We begin by introducing the concept of sustainable development and by asking what exactly it is that should be sustained (and why) and what are the pathways whereby human development is influenced by resource and environmental scarcities. We then proceed to consider the viewpoint that society is being ‘guided by the wrong compass’ in the way that social and economic progress conventionally is measured. As such, we scrutinize proposals for better metrics of sustainable development that, for example, take human-induced environmental change into account. We will also investigate the the way in which this change affects human populations particularly those who are amongst the most vulnerable. Finally, resource scarcities are frequently relative and the uneven distribution of, or access to, resources has implications for how development outcomes and prospects are distributed globally and within countries. Our last section, therefore, examines issues of resource security including those surrounding food and energy availability as well as broader debates about North-South resource conflicts, population growth and changing technology.

Teaching: Lectures weekly MT and LT; Classes weekly MT and LT.

Formative coursework: Students will be expected to produce class essays during the year and to give class presentations.

Assessment: A formal three-hour unseen examination (75%); and the submission of an essay (25%).

---

GY140 Methods in Spatial and Social Analysis

This information is for the 2012/13 session.

Teacher responsible: Dr Alan Mace

Other teachers: Dr Murray Low, Mr Philippe Bracke

Course content: Introduces students to a range of qualitative and quantitative research approaches and methods used in the construction of contemporary knowledge related to human geography and the environment. The course covers an introduction to philosophy of science and discusses philosophical approaches to research such as Marxism, feminism, and postmodernism. The quantitative component of the course covers approaches to describing data visually and numerically, sampling techniques, the basics of statistical inference, and the principles of structured hypothesis testing. The course uses statistical software to analyse social deprivation data as well as the use of mapping software to represent these data spatially. The qualitative component of the course discusses research design and epistemology, the selection and analysis of primary data through fieldwork, and methods of interpreting primary and secondary texts. The final module includes a full week of fieldwork day trips to East and South London investigating themes of the impact of industrial restructuring, globalization, regeneration, and social exclusion, during which students are required to apply various methods from the course in their own research.

Availability: Compulsory for BA Geography. Optional for BSc Geography with Economics and BSc Environment and Development. Also available to suitable General Course students.

Teaching: Lectures: GY140, one hour, weekly, MT and LT. Classes: GY140A, two hours, weekly, MT and LT. Compulsory fieldwork: One week, London, Week 10 of LT.

Formative coursework: Several written practical projects during the year including a field work report.

Assessment: (i) A formal two-hour examination in which students answer two questions out of six (40%); (ii) Practical exercises (40%); (iii) Field work report (20%).

---

GY200 Economy, Society and Space

This information is for the 2012/13 session.

---

GY201 Urban and Spatial Economic Analysis I

This information is for the 2012/13 session.

Teacher responsible: Dr Giordano Mlon, STC. SS13a

Availability: This course is compulsory for students on BSc Geography with Economics. It is optional for BA Geography, BSc Economics, BSc Environmental Policy, BSc Environment and Development and BSc Environmental Policy with Economics.

Pre-requisites: Economics A is normally a prerequisite.

Course content: This course provides students with a theoretical and empirical understanding of spatial economic processes and how these influence the behaviour of firms and households and the wider economy. The course draws primarily on international and urban economics. Topics covered include: causes and consequences of international trade; the winners and losers from globalization; multinational companies; trade, firms, and productivity; offshoring and outsourcing; the function of cities and the urban system; cities as engines of economic growth; the sources of agglomeration and dispersion; the determinants of urban structure and the role of the housing market.

Teaching: 40 hours of lectures (of which 4 hours will be devoted to interactive discussion of some readings) and 20 x one-hour weekly classes over the MT and LT.

Formative coursework: Students will be expected to prepare for group discussion of some readings and hand in short essays and problem sets in both terms.

Indicative reading: Detailed reading lists will be given out at the beginning of each term. Readings will include journal articles. Some important items include: A O’Sullivan, Urban Economics (7th edn...

Assessment: A formal three-hour written examination in the ST (75%) and one 2,500-word essay (25%).

GY202
Introduction to Development in the South
This information is for the 2012/13 session.

Teachers responsible: Dr CC Mercer, STC. S412; other teachers involved: Professor S Chant, STC. S515, Dr S Char, STC. S418.

Availability: Compulsory for BSc Environment and Development. Second year option for BA Geography, BSc Environmental Policy, BSc Environmental Policy with Economics and BSc Geography with Economics. Third year option for BSc International Relations. Other second and third year students may take this course as permitted by the regulations for their degrees.

Course content: An introduction to analysing development in the Global South. The course focuses on key development problems, trajectories, theories and strategies. Section 1 (Development problems) covers definitions and measurements of development, demographic dynamics including population growth and control, demographic ageing, and rural-urban migration, and urban questions concerning employment, livelihoods, informality and struggles for shelter and health. Section 2 (Development trajectories) covers colonialism and labour regimes, agrarian change (households, kinship and gender relations), rural development, food famine and hunger, industrialization and labour movements, oil environment and subaltern struggles. Section 3 (Development theories and strategies) covers theories of development including modernization, dependency, basic needs and post-development, the changing role of the state and the rise of the neoliberal project, the debt crisis, structural adjustment and PRSPs, participatory development and NGOs.

Teaching: 32 hours of lectures (two hours per week MT weeks 1-10 and LT weeks 1-6) and 16 classes (1 hour per week MT weeks 1-10 and LT weeks 1-6).

Formative coursework: Students will be expected to produce two essays during the MT and LT, and also to prepare class presentations.

Assessment: One 2,000 word essay to be submitted in LT (25%); a three-hour unseen examination paper in the ST, three questions out of nine (75%).

GY205
Political Geographies, Policy and Space
This information is for the 2012/13 session.

Teacher responsible: Dr M M Low, STC. SS12.

Availability: BSc Environmental Policy, BSc Environment and Development, BSc Environmental Policy with Economics, BA Geography and BSc Geography with Economics. Available to students from other departments where regulations permit.

Course content: An introduction to the relevance of a geographical perspective for explanation of contemporary political processes, and of a political perspective for explanation of contemporary geographies, at scales from the local to the global. Topics covered include: states, citizenship, democracy; theories of the state and local state; geopolitics; empires and national states; citizenship rights, migration and national ‘closure’; nationalism, territory and identity; geographies of elections and representation; democratization; urban politics and policy; globalisation and governance.

Teaching: 10 x 2 hr lectures in MT and 9 x 2hr in LT. 10 x one-hour classes (weekly). 1 x one-hour revision lecture in ST.

Formative coursework: Students will be expected to submit one formative essay per term of up to 1,500 words.

Assessment: 25% course work (one essay of 2,000 words), 75% unseen three-hour examination in the ST.

GY220
Environment: Science and Society
This information is for the 2012/13 session.

Teachers responsible: Dr M Mason, STC. SS10. Other teachers involved, Professor D K C Jones, STC. 417.

Availability: Compulsory for BSc Environmental Policy, BSc Environment and Development, and BSc Environmental Policy with Economics. Optional for BA Geography, BSc Geography with Economics and BSc International Relations.

Course content: This course examines debates concerning the nature, cause, and effects of, and the alternative solutions to, the key natural environmental degradation and pollution problems faced by human societies. It highlights the role of science in environmental understanding and governance. The course consists of the three following elements although the specific content, order and relative proportion of teaching may change with staff availability. Part A: Introduction and Themes: this introduces students to social scientific perspectives on scientific knowledge and environmentalism. Part B: Environmental Risk and Science: this section examines the physical science basis of current regional and global environmental risks, including geohazards and global atmospheric pollution. Part C: Science and Environmental Governance: this final section of the course examines how environmental science is incorporated in global environmental governance. The course concludes with an examination of the notion of sustainability science.

Teaching: Lectures: (GY220) Two lectures per week in the MT and LT and weekly classes (GY220.A)

Formative coursework: Students will be expected to produce a minimum of three class essays during the year.

Indicative reading: No one book or small group of books adequately covers the themes considered in the course, and separate reading lists are provided for each distinct part of the syllabus. Basic reading material includes; T. Forsyth, Critical Political Ecology; The Politics of Environmental Science, 2003; A. Goudie (Ed), The Human Impact Reader, 1997; C. L. Harper, Environmental Hazards, 2001; United Nations Environment Programme, Global Environmental Outlook 4, 2007.

Assessment: A formal three-hour unseen examination paper (75%) and a course essay of no more than 2,000 words (25%).

GY222
Applied Environmental Economics
This information is for the 2012/13 session.

Teachers responsible: Dr Susana Mourato, STC. SS420. Other teacher involved: Professor Eric Neumayer, STC. SS03.

Availability: Second year compulsory course for BSc Environmental Policy with Economics, BSc Environment and Development and BSc Environmental Policy. Optional for BA Geography and BSc Geography.

Assessment: A formal three-hour unseen examination paper (75%) and one 2,500-word essay (25%).

Undergraduate Course Guides 71
Geography with Economics. Available for students on other degrees and General Course students with permission.

Course content: This course is an introduction to the use of economic principles in the analysis of environmental change and natural resource use and in designing appropriate policy responses. The first part of the course largely covers the concepts and tools of environmental economics, while the second part applies these concepts and tools to specific challenges for real world policy-making. Topics to be covered include: the evaluation of regulatory and market based instruments in controlling pollution; moral suasion and voluntary regulation; economics of natural resource use; economic growth, the environment and sustainable development; cost-benefit analysis and environmental valuation; economics of biodiversity, tropical forest conservation, and payments for ecosystem services; economics of international environmental agreements; trade and the environment; behavioural and happiness economics and the environment.

Teaching: 20 lectures, weekly during the MT and LT. Weekly classes during the MT and LT.

Formative coursework: Students will be expected to produce a minimum of two (non-assessed) essays during the year and will also be expected to give class presentations.

Assessment: A formal three-hour unseen written examination in the ST (75%). An assessed course essay (maximum 2,000 words) (25%).

GY240
Research Techniques (Spatial, Social and Environmental)

This information is for the 2012/13 session.

Teachers responsible: Dr M. Low. Other lecturers include Dr G. Mion, Dr Hyun Shin (S416)

Availability: BSc Environmental Policy, BSc Environmental Policy with Economics, BSc Environment and Development and BSc Geography with Economics. Not normally open to students registered in other Departments or to General Course students.

Course content: This course is similar to GY2A0 and shares most teaching arrangements with that course. It does not include the week long field-course associated with GY2A0. This course aims to prepare second year students, who already have some grounding in social science methodology, to undertake individual research projects. It examines the methodologies used in Geographical research and evaluates their application to different kinds of research problems. It considers the choice of methodology which may be used in the student’s own Independent Research Project (IRP) and how to plan research. It enables students to acquire familiarity with, and practice of, contemporary research techniques and to examine different ways of, and gain experience in, presenting research results. A further aim of the course is to enable students to evaluate critically the methodological validity of geographical literature.

The course covers a variety of different approaches to social science methodology including: (i) analysis of quantitative data using linear regression including hypothesis testing, (ii) analysis of quantitative spatial data using geographic information systems (GIS) software, (iii) techniques for qualitative data analysis including structured and unstructured interviewing, participant observation, and research ethics, including research ethics when conducting fieldwork (vi) techniques for the economic analysis of environmental issues; and (v) techniques for designing, carrying out and presenting the Independent Research Project.

Teaching: GY2A0 shares most teaching arrangements with GY2A0. The teaching provision is comprised of 20 one-hour lectures and up to 25 hours of classes over MT and LT.

Formative coursework: In the MT classes, and during the field-course, students work on elements of the summative assessment for the course with opportunities for support and feedback from staff as they do so. In addition, there is one piece of formative assessment (no more than 1000 words) in each term.

Assessment: Quantitative methods/Geographical Information Systems project (50%)

Fieldwork component (35%)

Proposal for 3rd Year Independent Research Project (15%)

GY244
London’s Geographies: An Introduction to Cultural and Historical Geography

This information is for the 2012/13 session.

Teacher responsible: Dr Sharad Chari, STC. S418

Availability: BA Geography and BSc Geography with Economics.

The course is available as an outside option, and to General Course students.

Course content: This course introduces students to socio-cultural and historical geography through past and present London. The city provides an opportunity for thinking about the interplay of culture, society, and space as we consider a series of questions about urban and social transformation. An important ‘lab’ component involves leaving the classroom to enter the LSE Archives and to walk the streets to interpret London’s geographies. Michaelmas Term begins with a series of ‘great transformations’ in the making of the modern world, culminating in the spatial and social divides of Victorian London. The founders of the LSE were centrally concerned with understanding these divides in order to change them. The course then turns to the 20th and 21st century processes, and challenges that have tested the possibilities of this great metropolis including migration and racism, gentrification, inequality and labour politics. The course uses theoretical and historical insights to better understand the city that surrounds us.

A detailed syllabus handed out in the first week of the course will include the following topics: the great transformations of time, space and nature; labour and class politics; sexuality and the Victorian city; the foundations of social science; the docks and the Empire; race, racism, immigration and the question of security; and urban inequality and labour politics today.

Teaching: 28 hours lectures, and 14 weekly classes as detailed in the course syllabus.

Formative coursework: Students are expected to write two formative essays and to participate actively in classes led by the Class Teacher.

Indicative reading: P Linebaugh and M Rediker, The Many-Headed
GY2A0
Research Techniques (Spatial, Social and Environmental)
This information is for the 2012/13 session.
Teachers responsible: Dr M Low, STC. S512. Other teachers involved: Dr C Mercer, Mr D Grover, Dr Hyun Shin (STC. S416).
Availability: Required for students on the BA Geography. Not normally open to students registered in other Departments or to General Course students.
Course content: This course is similar to GY240 and shares most teaching arrangements with that course. This course aims to prepare second year students, who already have some grounding in social science methodology, to undertake individual research projects. It examines the methodologies used in Geographical research and evaluates their application to different kinds of research problems. It considers the choice of methodology which may be used in the student’s own Independent Research Project (IRP) and how to plan research. It enables students to acquire familiarity with, and practice of, contemporary research techniques and to examine different ways of, and gain experience in, presenting research results. A further aim of the course is to enable students to evaluate critically the methodological validity of geographical literature. The course covers a variety of different approaches to social science methodology including: (i) analysis of quantitative data using linear regression including hypothesis testing, (ii) analysis of quantitative spatial data using geographic information systems (GIS) software, (iii) techniques for qualitative data analysis including structured and unstructured interviewing, participant observation, and research ethics, including research ethics when conducting fieldwork (iv) application of qualitative research techniques in the field; and (v) techniques for designing, carrying out and presenting an Independent Research Project (IRP) and how to plan research. It enables students to acquire familiarity with, and practice of, contemporary research techniques and to examine different ways of, and gain experience in, presenting research results. A further aim of the course is to enable students to evaluate critically the methodological validity of geographical literature.
Teaching: 19 one-hour lectures and up to 25 hours of classes/practicals in MT and LT. There is a week-long fieldcourse associated with this course, normally overseas, and normally in the final week of the Lent Term. Students should be aware that, although the costs of this course are subsidised by the Department, they will be expected to make a substantial financial contribution themselves. There are bursaries available from the Department for students who can document financial need.
Formative coursework: In the MT classes and during the field course, students work on elements of the summative assessment for the course with opportunities for support and feedback from staff as they do so. In addition, there is one piece of formative assessment (no more than 1000 words) each term.
Indicative reading: Reading lists will be available for each part of the course. Basic texts include: J Bell, Doing your Research Project - Guidelines for first time researchers in education and social science (2nd edn), 1993; J Burt & G Barber, Elementary Statistics for Geographers, 1996; I Heywood, S Cornelius & S Carver, An Introduction to GIS, 1998; P Kennedy, A Guide to Econometrics, 1985; A MacEachren, Some truth with maps: a primer on symbolization and design, 1994; K G Esterberg, Qualitative methods in social research, 2002; I Hay (Ed), Qualitative research methods in human geography, 2010
Students unfamiliar with basic inferential statistics and/or those who anticipate difficulty with the linear regression analysis component of the course in Michaelmas Term weeks 1-5 should prepare in advance by studying Chapter 16: Statistical Principles in Studenmund, A H (2000) ‘Using Econometrics: A Practical Guide.’ Fourth edition (or later), Boston: Addison Wesley or a similar text.
Assessment: Quantitative methods/Geographical Information Systems project (50%) Fieldwork component (35%) Proposal for 3rd Year Independent Research Project (15%)
Rights, Transnational Politics and Neoliberal Multiculturalism.

Teaching: Lectures: weekly MT and LT; Classes: weekly MT and LT.

Formative coursework: Students are expected to complete four class essays during the year.

Indicative reading: No one book covers the syllabus. Key themes will be linked to a main or set of texts, complemented by a more detailed reading list.

Assessment: a) A formal three-hour examination (75%); b) One 2,500 word essay (25%).

---

GY302 Urban Development: Politics, Policy and Planning

This information is for the 2012/13 session.

Teachers responsible: Dr M Low, STC. S512 and Dr Hyun Shin, STC. S416.

Availability: BSc Environmental Policy. BSc Environment and Development, BSc Environmental Policy with Economics, BA Geography and BSc Geography with Economics. Open to students from other departments where regulations permit.

Course content: This course covers theories and processes of urban politics and governance; urban problems and policy responses in developed and developing countries, within an institutional and political framework: Areas of study include:

1. Urban government in the UK and USA. Theories of urban politics. Politics of urban fiscal problems and local economic development policy. Management of urban social issues.
2. Urban policy and practice, e.g. urbanisation, urban redevelopment, mega-event politics, gentrification, right to the city. Case studies largely drawn from cities in mainland China and newly industrialised economies in East Asia

Teaching: 10 one-hour lectures (GY302) in MT; 10 one-hour lectures in LT, 1 2-hour lecture in ST (Revision Session); 18 one-hour classes (GY302.A) in ML/MT.

Formative coursework: Students should produce two essays during the year.

Assessment: A three-hour unseen examination in the ST (75%) and a course essay of no more than 2,500 words (25%).

---

GY303 The Geography of Gender: Global Perspectives

This information is for the 2012/13 session.

Teachers responsible: Professors Diane Perrons COL.504.c and Sylvia Chant S514

Availability: Optional third year course for BSc Environmental Policy, BSc Environment and Development, BSc Environmental Policy with Economics, BA Geography and BSc Geography with Economics and other students as permitted by their programmes.

Pre-requisites: It would be an advantage if students have some grounding in gender and/or development issues from a second year course such as GY200 Economy, Society and Space, or GY202 Introduction to Development in the South.

Course content: An analysis of the geography of gender in high income, emerging economies and in the developing world. The course focuses on the variability of gender roles and relations and their socio-spatial implications in different geographical contexts.

MT: Gender in high income and emerging economies: Gender inequality in a global context; Production and reproduction; Gender work and identity; Theorising the changing organisation of work, gender divisions between paid and unpaid work Global cities: polarisation and feminisation of work; Migrant workers and the global care chain. Changing gender divisions in high income and emerging economies - China, Financial crisis and gender equality; Policies for gender equality.

Teaching: Lectures (GY303) weekly MT and LT; Classes (GY303.A) weekly MT and LT starting in week two of MT.

Formative coursework: Students will be expected to produce one essay per term, and will also be expected to give class papers.

Indicative reading: No one book covers the entire syllabus, but the following are useful basic reading.

Assessment: One extended essay of 2,500 words (25%); One written examination (75%).

---

GY305 Urban and Spatial Economic Analysis II

This information is for the 2012/13 session.

Teacher responsible: Dr Simona Iammarino, STC. S410

Availability: Compulsory for BSc Geography with Economics. Optional for BA Geography, BSc Environmental Policy, BSc Environment and Development and BSc Environmental Policy with Economics. This course is not available to General Course students.

Pre-requisites: Students should have taken one or more from:

EC100, GY201, GY222.

Course content: The aim of the course is to develop theoretical and empirical understanding of spatial economic processes in order to study and evaluate a wide range of issues and policies. Particular emphasis will be put on urban and regional economies and business and worker location decisions. More specifically, the first part of the course will study models of the location of economic and innovation activity with a particular emphasis on regional economies. The second part of the course continues to study location, but focuses more on household location decisions, personal mobility and their implications for spatial labour markets and residential neighbourhood.

Teaching: 40 hours of Lectures and 10 x one-hour Classes (weekly).

Formative coursework: Students will be expected to produce a minimum of two essays during the year.

Indicative reading: A detailed reading list will be given out at the beginning of the course. Reading will predominantly include journal articles and policy documents.

Assessment: A formal three-hour unseen examination paper (75%) and one essay of no more than 2,500 words (25%).

---

GY324 Environmental Governance

This information is for the 2012/13 session.

Teacher responsible: Dr Michael Mason, STC, 5/10. Other teachers involved, Dr Carmen Marchiori, KGS, 1/102 and Dr Richard Perkins, STC, 4/13.

Availability: Compulsory for BSc Environment and Development, BSc Environmental Policy and BSc Environmental Policy with Economics. Optional for BA Geography, BSc Geography with Economics. Also available as an outside option and to General Course students.

Course content: This course seeks to explore and critically interrogate the evolving patterns and processes of environmental governance. The course begins by introducing different conceptions of environmental governance, highlighting the multiple actors, scales and interactions involved. It then considers the role of the territorial state, focusing on the organisations of national environmental governance, and how public environmental policy is made and implemented. The next part switches focus to the role of corporations in environmental governance, outlining the motives, practices and outcomes of corporate environmentalism. Lent Term provision examines the issues, actors and processes that shape environmental governance at the transnational and global scales. Introductory lectures on the global environmental policy process introduce different scholarly perspectives informing current research (e.g. regime analysis, critical political economy and constructivism): these perspectives will be referred to as subsequent lectures address particular actor groups and issues (e.g. sustainable energy transitions, climate security). Students will be encouraged to think critically about the ways in which the regulation of global environmental risk is framed and politically contested.

Teaching: Ten hours of lectures and classes in each of MT and LT. A one-hour revision class in the ST.

Formative coursework: Students will be expected to produce a minimum of three 1,500 word formative essays/projects during the year.

Assessment: One three-hour exam in the ST (75%) and one 2,500 word essay/report (25%).

---

GY325 Environment and Development

This information is for the 2012/13 session.

Teacher responsible: Dr Charles Palmer, KGS, 1/06.

Availability: Compulsory for BSc Environment and Development, BSc Environmental Policy and BSc Environmental Policy with Economics students. Optional on BA Geography and BSc Geography with Economics. The course is also available as an outside option and to general course students.

Course content: The course starts by recognising that developing countries tend to be more dependent on natural resources and to have higher pollution levels than developed countries. They are also typically characterised by lower institutional capacity and fewer financial resources. As a consequence, the issues and concerns are somewhat different from the management of natural resources and the environment in developed countries. Sustainability is a much more immediate concept, since it must take account of pressing concerns such as basic subsistence and survival. This course explores the complex relationships between development, poverty and the environment; it covers a range of important natural resource and environmental issues in developing countries, and provides students with the necessary tools critically to evaluate how these issues have been addressed by different stakeholders and at different levels of governance.

Teaching: Ten hours of lectures (fortnightly) and seminars (weekly) in the MT and LT. A one-hour lecture and seminar in the ST.

Indicative reading:

Assessment: One 3-hour exam in the ST (75%) and one 2,500 word essay (25%).

---

GY350 Independent Research Project

This information is for the 2012/13 session.

Teachers responsible: Dr Murray Low. Other teachers responsible: Student’s Academic Adviser in the Department of Geography and Environment.

Availability: For students required to, or choosing to, submit an independent research project (“IRP”) as part of a Bachelor’s degree within BSc Environmental Policy, BSc Environmental Policy with Economics, BSc Environment and Development, BA Geography and BSc Geography with Economics.

Pre-requisites: GY2A0 or GY240 Geographical Research Techniques (Spatial, Social and Environmental) are a pre-requisite.

Course content: Students plan their own independent research project from start to finish on a geography topic of their choice. Carrying out the project generally includes reviewing the literature in their chosen topic area, formulating a viable and geographically-relevant research question, analysing primary or secondary evidence or other material appropriate to the investigation (often a case study, data set, archival source, fieldwork observation, survey results or interviews, but also other material), and drafting the findings from their investigation into a final, polished submission. Students are expected to deal with relevant research, analysing key data and analysing the implications of their findings. They should also be expected to produce an extended proposal which they must submit during the MT. They will be expected to report regularly to their Academic Adviser on the progress they are making on their independent research project, at least during regular termly Advisee meetings, if not more frequently. Students may also choose to arrange additional oversight and update arrangements with either their Academic Adviser or PhD Adviser.

Students are also expected to deliver a presentation of their dissertation project in a workshop during the LT.

Assessment: IRPs should not exceed 10,000 words, exclusive of appendices and other supportive material. Appendices may be used for supporting documentation and evidence, but not for discussion and analysis. Two bound copies of the IRP must be submitted to the Undergraduate Office in S406 by the published deadline at the end of the LT, and by the same deadline an electronic copy must be submitted by Moodle.

---

HY113

From Empire to Independence: the Extra-European World in the Twentieth Century

This information is for the 2012/13 session.

Teacher responsible: Dr Kirsten Schulze EAS.600

Availability: Optional for BA History, BSc Government and History, BSc International Relations and History, BSc Environment and Development and General Course students. Available as an outside option for first and second year students where regulations permit, and to General Course students.

Course content: An introductory survey of events outside Europe in the twentieth century, with a particular emphasis on the collapse of the Western colonial empires, the development of relations between the West and the new states within Asia and Africa, revolutionary developments in Latin America, and the rise of non-Western models of political development.

The state of the European empires in the first half of the century; the Japanese challenge to the West; the Chinese revolution; Indian independence; the Palestinian issue and the birth of Israel; the decolonization process in Asia and Africa; the Japanese developmental state; the rise of the non-aligned movement; the Cuban revolution and the Central American wars of the 1980s; the development of the Arab and non-Arab Middle East; American and Soviet relations with the Third World; post-independence South Asia; the modernization and underdevelopment debates; the development of ASEAN and the Asian ‘tiger’ economies; post-independence Africa; China under Mao and Deng; the rise of Islamic fundamentalism and the Arab-Israeli peace process.

Teaching: There will be 20 lectures and 20 classes in the MT and LT, followed by two revision sessions in the ST.

Formative coursework: Students will be required to write three essays, one of which will be done under examination conditions.

Assessment: Three-hour written examination in the ST (100%).

---

HY114

War and Society from the Renaissance to the Napoleonic Era, c. 1500-1815

This information is for the 2012/13 session.

Teacher responsible: Dr Paul Keenan, EAS.391

Availability: Optional for BA History, BSc Government and History, BSc International Relations and History and General Course students, and as an outside option where regulations permit.

Course content: This course provides a broad, thematic study of war and society from the early sixteenth century to the end of the Napoleonic Wars. It will include substantive analysis of the ethos, causes and impact of wars during this period, as well as the role of war in the development of states and national identities. At the heart of the course is the lively debate relating to the ‘Military Revolution’, which ranges from questions of tactics and weaponry, to absolutism and finance. However, attention will also be paid to the technological clashes between different cultures and systems across the globe, embracing the conflicts between European states and those in the Americas, Africa and Asia.

The course explores the dramatic impact of the almost continuous wars of European powers, not only within the continent, but also across the globe. It examines the evolution of regular forces on land and sea; the changes in composition, size, tactics and weaponry, as well as changing defensive strategies adopted by different states. But it also seeks to evaluate the importance of irregulars such as pirates and militias, ranging from the Mediterranean to the Atlantic, from North America to Eastern Europe. The enduring question of whether Europeans succeeded in establishing colonial empires due to military advantages will be analysed in some detail. A case study of the Ottoman Empire offers interesting comparisons and broadens the analysis of ideological factors.

The topics covered include: the dynastic conflict between Charles V and Francis I; the Dutch Revolt; the Armada; the Thirty Years’ War; the Ottoman threat to Austria and Hungary; the wars of Louis XIV; Russia’s emergence as a European power; the wars of Frederick the Great; Britain’s colonial expansion; the impact of the French Revolutionary and Napoleonic Wars.

Teaching: There will be 20 lectures and 19 classes in the MT and LT, followed by two revision sessions in the ST.

Formative coursework: Students will be required to write three essays, one of which will be done under examination conditions.

Assessment: 90% three-hour written examination in the ST. 10% assessed class presentation

---

HY116

International History since 1890

This information is for the 2012/13 session.

Teacher responsible: Professor Sönke Neitzel room EAS.603

Availability: Intended primarily for first-year undergraduates in BSc International Relations and BSc International Relations and History, optional for BA History, BSc Government and History, also available to General Course students, and as an outside option where regulations permit.

Course content: The history of international relations from the 1890s through the 1990s. The course emphasises the changing character of international politics over the course of the ‘long twentieth century’, and aims to equip students with a comprehensive knowledge and understanding of international politics since 1890, to provide the factual grounding and conceptual apparatus necessary to understand the contemporary world, and to gain a sense of how some of the main historiographical debates have developed over the last few decades. Lectures and classes fall into six distinct chronological and analytical phases. The first segment covers the
HY203
The Arab-Israeli Conflict: Nationalism, Territory, Religion
This information is for the 2012/13 session.
Teacher responsible: Dr K E Schulte, EAS.600
Availability: Available for 2nd year BA History, BSc International Relations, BSc International Relations and History and BSc Government and History and General Course students. Other students may be admitted with the consent of the course teacher.
Course content: The 1948 Arab-Israeli War; Israeli foreign and defence policy; the 1956 Suez-Sinai Campaign; the 1967 Six-Day War; regime change in Egypt and Syria in 1970; 1970/71 Black September; the 1973 Yom Kippur War; the 1975 Lebanese civil war; the ascendance of the Likud; the Camp David Accords 1979; the invasion of the Lebanon 1982; Palestinian resistance; the 1987 Intifada; the 1991 Madrid Peace Conference; the 1993 Oslo Accords; the 1994 Jordanian-Israeli Peace Treaty; the 2000 al-Aqsa Intifada; and peace efforts since 2000.
Teaching: The course will be taught by 20 lectures and 22 classes.
Formative coursework: Students are required to write three essays, including a one-hour timed essay.
Assessment: A three-hour written examination in the ST.

HY208
The History of the United States since 1783
This information is for the 2012/13 session.
Teacher responsible: Professor Alan Sked, EAS.503
Availability: Primarily for 2nd year BA History, BSc International Relations and History, BSc International Relations and BSc Government and History students, but may be taken by 3rd years where regulations permit. May also be taken as an outside option and by General Course students where regulations, timetabling constraints and teaching capacity permit.
Course content: A survey of the political, diplomatic, social, economic and constitutional history of the USA since 1783. Topics covered will include the framing of the constitution; the establishment and development of federal institutions; the politics of the founding fathers; the 'age of good feelings'; Jacksonian democracy; slavery and the South; the Civil War; reconstruction; the moving frontier; the era of the 'robber barons'; populism and progressivism; Jim Crow; US imperialism; isolationism and world wars; the US and the Cold War; civil rights and the 'great society'; the war in Vietnam; politics and society in contemporary America.
General interpretations of US history will also be covered.

Teaching: One lecture and one class per week for 20 weeks, plus two revision classes.

Formative coursework: Students will be expected to write one essay in the Michaelmas term and one in the Lent term as well as do at least one class paper over the year. There will be a mock exam in the summer term.

Assessment: A three-hour written examination in the ST.

---

HY216
Four Reichs: Austria, Prussia and the Contest for Germany since 1618

This information is for the 2012/13 session.

Teacher responsible: Professor Alan Sked, EAS. 503

Availability: Optional for BA History, BSc International Relations and History, and BSc Government and History. This course is also available as an outside option to students on other programmes and is open to General Course students.

Course content: The aim of this course is to demonstrate how Austria (The Habsburg Monarchy, subsequently the Republic of Austria) tackled the German Problem as incorporated in a series of challenges: organising and controlling the Holy Roman Empire; withstanding the rivalries of Louis XIV’s France and Frederick II’s Prussia; resisting the French revolutionary and Napoleonic threat to Germany; organising the German Confederation after 1815; attempting to unify the Habsburg Monarchy and the German Confederation under Austrian leadership after the revolutions of 1848; contesting the leadership of Germany with Bismarck; allying with Imperial Germany in peace and war between 1879 and 1918; co-existing with Weimar Germany, experiencing Anschluss and war between 1938 and 1945; accepting a different path to independence from Germany between 1945 and 1955; taking a different view of the Nazi past from Germany after 1955; and finally, joining Germany as a full member of the EU.

Teaching: 10 lectures and 10 classes in Michaelmas Term; 10 lectures and 10 classes in Lent Term; 2 classes in Summer Term

Formative coursework: Students will be expected to write one essay in the Michaelmas term and one in the Lent term as well as do at least one class paper over the year. There will be a mock exam in the summer term.

---

HY221
The History of Russia, 1682-1825

This information is for the 2012/13 session.

Teacher responsible: Dr Paul Keenan, EAS.391

Availability: Primarily for 2nd year BA History, BSc International Relations and History, BSc International Relations and BSc Government and History students. May be taken by 3rd years, General Course students and as an outside option where regulations, timetabling constraints and teaching capacity permit.

Course content: The course provides an introduction to the history of Russia in all its major aspects from the reign of Peter I to the accession of Nicholas I. The following topics are studied: Russia in 1682; the impact of the reign of Peter I on the internal development and international position of Russia; the social and political developments of the period 1725-1762; popular revolt during the eighteenth century; the domestic and foreign policies of Catherine II; the impact of the Enlightenment and the French Revolution on Russia; Russia and the Napoleonic Wars; the failure of constitutional and social reform in the first quarter of the nineteenth century; the policies towards non-Russians within the empire; the Decembrist Revolt of 1825. The course is taught chronologically but several main themes are addressed throughout the period. These themes include: tsarist rule as an instrument of both reform and reaction; the relationship between the ruler and the major social groups; the significance of serfdom for Russia’s economic, institutional and legal development; the ‘missing’ middle class; the nature and impact of Western ideas on Russia; the role of the Orthodox Church within the Russian state; the growth of a disaffected elite in Russia; the relationship between Russia and other European powers; the development of Russia as a ‘great power’; the policies towards the non-Russians in the multi-ethnic empire; the growth of a Russian national consciousness.

Teaching: 20 lectures and 19 classes in the MT and LT with a mock exam and a revision session in the ST.

Formative coursework: Students will be required to write three essays, one of which will be done under examination conditions.

Indicative reading: A full reading list will be provided at the start of the course. Useful introductory works include: J Hartley, A Social History of the Russian Empire 1650-1825; S Dixon, The Modernization of Russia: 1682-1825; M Raef, Understanding Imperial Russia: State and Society in the Old Regime; J Billington, The Icon and the Axe: An Interpretive History of Russian Culture; A Kahan, The Plow, the Hammer and the Knout: An Economic History of 18th Century Russia; E Kimerling-Wirtschafter, Russia’s Age of Serfdom; D Saunders, Russia in the Age of Reaction and Reform, 1801-1881. Assessment: Three-hour written examination in the ST (90%). Assessed class presentation (10%).

---

HY226
The Great War, 1914-1918

This information is for the 2012/13 session.

Teacher responsible: Dr Heather Jones, EAS.508

Availability: Primarily for 2nd year BA History, BSc International Relations, BSc International Relations and History and BSc Government and History students, but may be taken by 3rd years where regulations permit. May also be taken as an outside option and by General Course students where regulations, timetabling constraints and teaching capacity permit.

Course content: The international and comparative history of the First World War. The military, diplomatic, political, economic, social, and cultural aspects of the conflict will all receive attention. The origins and outbreak of the war; the military campaigning on the Western, Eastern, Italian, and extra-European fronts; the war at sea and in the air; the intervention of neutral Powers, war aims and attempts to negotiate peace; domestic politics in the belligerents; the war’s economic and social effects; the experience of combat; the Russian Revolution and the road to the Armistice; the impact of the war on the international system and on individual and collective...
HY232
Frontiers of Nationalism, Statehood and Independence: the History of South-Eastern Europe 1914-1990

This information is for the 2012/13 session.
Teacher responsible: Dr Vladimir Unkovski-Korica
Availability: Primarily for 2nd year BA History, BSc International Relations, BSc International Relations and History, and BSc Government and History students, but may be taken by 3rd years where regulations permit. May also be taken as an outside option and by General Course students where regulations, timetabling constraints and teaching capacity permit.
Course content: The course will explain the complex route taken by the peoples of East and South East Europe from constituents of the 19th Century empires to full independence at the end of the 20th Century. The course aims to explain the history of these regions as expressed and moulded by the peoples and their leaders. Particular attention will be paid to international developments and to the two European wars, which had a profound impact on these countries' freedom to determine their destiny. The study of the inter-war period will include a debate of the reasons for the collapse of democratic institutions, the emergence of patriotic and anti-Semitic movements, economic failures and responses to German and Italian aggression. The establishment, development and the collapse of Soviet domination of the region after the Second World War will be discussed. In addition political, economic and cultural theories, which formed the background to the emergence of the independent states of Eastern and South Eastern Europe, will be considered. The course will develop these themes in the history of Poland, Czechoslovakia, Hungary, Bulgaria, Romania, Yugoslavia, Albania and the Baltic States. Final lectures will concentrate on the transition from Communism to democratic states. The break up of Yugoslavia and the wars in the Balkans will be considered in a separate lecture.
Teaching: The course will be taught through 20 weekly lectures and 21 weekly classes.
Formative coursework: Students will be required to write one essay in MT, one essay in LT and one timed essay in ST. In addition students will be requested to make one class presentation.

A full bibliography will be provided at the beginning of the academic year.
Assessment: There will be a three-hour formal examination in the ST.

HY233
Empire and Nation: Britain and India since 1750

This information is for the 2012/13 session.
Teacher responsible: Dr Taylor Sherman, room EAS.601
Availability: Primarily for 2nd year BA History, BSc International Relations and History, BSc International Relations, and BSc Government and History students, but may be taken by 3rd years where regulations permit. May also be taken as an outside option and by General Course students where regulations, timetabling constraints and teaching capacity permit.
Course content: This course examines the history of South Asia from the eighteenth century to the present day. Focusing on the imperial relationship between Britain and India, it investigates the ways in which imperial rule shaped South Asian society, studies the nature of anti-colonial nationalisms, and explores the legacies of British rule for the independent states of South Asia.

The course will explain how and why the East India Company acquired an empire in India, and will explore the techniques by which the British sought to derive profit, prestige and power from its empire in South Asia. It will ask, to what extent did the British seek to reform India, and what were the consequences - intentional or otherwise - of imperial efforts to understand and change Indian society? The course will examine the ways in which different groups of Indians responded to, benefited from, and resisted colonial rule in India. The economic impact of colonialism will be considered, as the course asks, did British rule drain India of its wealth? In the second term, it will assess the impulses behind the emergence of Indian nationalism, and discuss Gandhi’s philosophy and his political strategies. The course will consider why British India was partitioned in 1947 when India and Pakistan gained independence, and it will investigate the long-term consequences of partition, including the conflict over Kashmir. The course concludes with a discussion of the impact that colonialism has had on British and economic development of independent India, Pakistan and Bangladesh.

Teaching: There will be 20 lectures and 21 classes. An additional two revision classes will be given in the ST.
Formative coursework: Students will be required to submit two 2,000-word essays from topics designated in the course reading list and to sit a mock exam in the Summer Term. These assignments will not form part of the final assessment, but they are a required component of the course, and students must complete them in order to be admitted to the course examination.

Assessment: One assessed essay (25%) of maximum length 3000 of both the cold war in Europe and the process of European integration, asking what the linkages were between these parallel developments. The Marshall Plan; the birth of NATO; the Schuman Plan; German Reunification and the EDC; the Western European Union; the US and Euratom; the other Community - the EEC; JFK's Grand Design; De Gaulle's rival vision; the ‘double crisis’ of 1965-6; Harmel, NATO and the WEU; Ostpolitik and the re-emergence of German foreign policy activism; enlargement; EPC, and Kissingen; Schmidt, Giscard and Carter; Euromisibles and Eurosclerosis; Genscher-Colombo and the revival of political Europe; Europe and the end of the cold war - spectator or actor?; a German Europe or a European Germany?; Paris, Berlin & Maastricht.

Teaching: There will be 20 lectures and 22 classes, spread over MT, LT and ST.

Formative coursework: Students will be required to submit three essays, the last one of which will be formally assessed. There will also be a mock exam in the Summer Term.

Assessment: A three-hour written exam in ST (75%) and the fourth term-time essay- 3,000 words (25%).

---

HY235

Modernity and the State in East Asia: China, Japan and Korea since 1840

This information is for the 2012/13 session.

Teacher responsible: Dr Antony Best, room EAS.405

Availability: Primarily for 2nd year BA History, BSc International Relations and History, BSc International Relations and BSc Government and History students, but may be taken by 3rd years where regulations permit. May also be taken as an outside option and by General Course students where regulations, timetabling constraints and teaching capacity permit.

Course content: The course is concerned with providing a comparative political history of the major East Asian countries, China, Japan and Korea, in the period from the Opium War to the 1990s. The course is concerned with providing a comparative political history of the major East Asian countries, China, Japan and Korea, in the period from the Opium War to the 1990s. It begins by looking at the impact of the arrival of Western imperialism in the mid-nineteenth century and the respective approaches taken by Japan, Korea and China in response to this encroachment. For Japan, it covers the rise of the Meiji state, the beginnings of constitutional government and the development of Japanese imperialism. This naturally is linked with the study of Korea's failed efforts to maintain its independence; in regard to China it deals with the attempts by the Qing state to introduce reforms and the final collapse of Imperial China. It then deals with the difficulties provoked by modernization and nationalism in the first-half of the twentieth century, taking in the rise and fall of Taisho democracy and the drift towards fascism in Japan and the Guomindang's revolution and state-building and the birth of the Chinese Communist Party in China. The course then concentrates on the aftermath of the Second World War for East Asia, studying the Chinese Civil War and the emergence of the People's Republic, the course and legacy of the US occupation of Japan and the formation of the two Koreas. The last part of the course covers the development of the People's Republic under Mao and Deng, the rise of Japan as an economic superpower and the emergence of South Korea and Taiwan as economic powers.

Teaching: The course will be taught by both lectures and classes. There will be 20 lectures and 22 classes held in the MT, LT and ST.

Formative coursework: Students will be required to submit three 2000 word essays in all and to sit a mock exam.:

Assessment: A three-hour written examination in the ST.

---

HY239

Latin America and the United States since 1898

This information is for the 2012/13 session.

Teacher responsible: Dr Tanya Harmer, EAS. 602 (t.harmer@lse.ac.uk)

Availability: Primarily for 2nd year BA History, BSc International Relations and History and BSc Government and History students but may be taken by 3rd years where regulations permit. May also be taken as an outside option by students from other departments and by General Course students where regulations, timetabling constraints and teaching capacity permit.

Course content: HY239 is designed to provide students with an introductory overview of the history of the Americas and inter-American relations from 1898 to the present day. Rather than focussing exclusively on U.S. policy towards Latin America, the course explores the international history of Latin America and the United States from a variety of U.S and Latin American perspectives. It also incorporates broader thematic and interpretive questions alongside country specific studies. Among the major themes covered on the course are the concepts of imperialism, neo-colonialism and anti-imperialism, revolution and counter-revolution, nationalism and interventionism, democracy and dictatorship, human rights and repression, development and dependency, the ‘war on drugs’ and migration. More specific topics covered in lectures and class discussions include: the Spanish-American War; Big Stick and Dollar Diplomacy; FDR’s ‘Good Neighbour’ policy; Juan Perón and Peronism; the onset of the Cold War and post-war in the Americas; Jacobo Arbenz’ Guatemala; the Cuban Revolution; JFK and the Alliance For Progress; the Brazilian Coup of 1964 and U.S. intervention in the Dominican Republic, 1965; Cuba’s Latin American policy and Che Guevara’s Bolivian mission; Salvador Allende’s Chile; the ‘Condor Years’ and Cuban interventionism in Africa; the Panama Canal Treaty and Carter's opening to

---

HY238

The Cold War and European Integration, 1947-1992

This information is for the 2012/13 session.

Teacher responsible: Dr N Piers Ludlow, EAS.502

Availability: Primarily for 2nd year BA History, BSc International Relations and History, BSc International Relations, and BSc Government and History students, but may be taken by 3rd years where regulations permit. May also be taken as an outside option and by General Course students where regulations, timetabling constraints and teaching capacity permit.

Course content: The course will investigate the evolution
Cuba; the Nicaraguan Revolution and Reagan's Central American interventions; 'The Lost Decade' and Debt crisis of the 1980s; the Washington Consensus, the War on Drugs and Hugo Chavez and the 'Bolivarian Alternative for the Americas' (ALBA).

Teaching: 20 weekly lectures (MT & LT) and 22 classes (MT, LT & ST).

Formative coursework: Students will be required to do two presentations, to write one 2,000-word essay and one 1,000-1,500-word book review, to contribute to weekly Moodle discussion forums, and to sit a Mock exam in the Summer Term. These assignments will not form part of the final assessment but they are a required component of the course, and students must complete them in order to be admitted to the course examination.

Assessment: One assessed essay (25%) in the Lent Term and one three-hour written exam (75%) in the Summer Term.

---

HY240

From Empire to Commonwealth: War, Race and Imperialism in British History, 1780 to 1979

This information is for the 2012/13 session.

Teacher responsible: Dr Joanna Lewis, EAS.494

Availability: Optional for students on BA History and BA International Relations and History. Available as an outside option and to General Course students.

Teaching: 10x1 hr lectures in the MT and LT. 10x1 hr classes in the MT and LT. 2x1 hr revision sessions in the ST.

Formative coursework: 3 essays; one mock exam; 4 presentations.

Course content: This course offers an advanced history of the British Empire that focuses on the metropolitan experience of building, running and then losing an empire. It covers the period from the loss of the American colonies to the decolonisation of Africa. Within the context of Britain's wider political, social and cultural history, the course will examine the following: the extension of empire during the Victorian era; liberalism and racism; the expansion of colonies of white settlement; the role of missionaries; managing national decline and empire; the contribution of empire to the First and Second World Wars; violence and decolonisation. Case studies include: India; the Pacific; Australia; Malaya; Kenya and Rhodesia (Zimbabwe).

Assessment: One 3hr examination (100%).

---

HY300

Dissertation

This information is for the 2012/13 session.

Teacher responsible: Dr Roham Alvandi, EAS.310

Availability: Compulsory for BA History students; optional for BSc Government and History and BSc International Relations and History. Not available to General Course students or as an outside option.

Course content: A thesis of not more than 10,000 words on a topic to be approved by the candidate's teachers. It is designed to allow a detailed and thorough exploration of an area of interest to the candidate. The thesis should be on a topic within the field of the degree course. It should include the examination of primary sources, printed or in manuscript form.

Teaching: Candidates should secure the agreement of a supervisor in the department (who need not be their personal tutor) on a suitable topic before the end of the LT of their second year, and submit a title to the Undergraduate Programme Administrator by Wednesday, ST week 2 in their second year. Supervisors can be expected to offer advice on reading, guidance on the construction of the work, and will read an outline of up to 1,000 words.

Assessment: The thesis must be submitted to the Departmental Office by the published deadline in week 1 of the ST in the student's third year. It should be typewritten. Precise details on length, format, presentation and deadline will be issued by the Department at the end of the second year of study. Candidates may be called for an oral examination if the Examiners wish to satisfy themselves that the thesis is the candidate's own work.

---

HY303

Russia in Revolution, 1914-1921

This information is for the 2012/13 session.

Teacher responsible: Dr Vladimir Unkovski-Korica

Availability: Primarily for 3rd year BA History students, BSc International Relations and History, and BSc Government and History students, but may be taken by 2nd years where regulations permit. May also be taken as an outside option and by General Course students where regulations, timetabling constraints and teaching capacity permit.

Course content: This course involves a detailed study, based on documentary material, of the two revolutions of 1917 and the consolidation of Bolshevik rule, with reference to both internal developments and foreign relations. As a special subject, this course is heavily dependent on documents and draws on a variety of English-language sources including official documents of the Provisional Government, the Petrograd Soviet and the Soviet government, reports by police and local officials from the provinces, speeches and writings of prominent individuals, military records, memoir material and newspaper editorials. The following topics are studied: the impact of the First World War on the Tsarist regime; the February Revolution; the domestic and foreign policies of the Provisional Government; social and economic problems in 1917 in the towns and countryside; Bolshevik ideology and support in 1917; the Bolshevik Revolution and consolidation of power; the Civil War and the Allied Intervention; Bolshevik social, economic and cultural policies; Bolshevik foreign policy and the Comintern; society in the revolutionary period; cultural developments; the development of the Bolshevik state. General them in order to be admitted to the course examination. The Essays do not form part of the final course assessment but they are

2500 word essay from topics designated in the course reading list

Formative coursework:

22 weekly seminars of 2 hours each (MT, LT, ST)

Teaching:

propaganda and the media; men and women in the Third Reich; terror and the Germans as an interactive relationship; the role of and the processes of domination and extermination; Gestapo Nazi long-range racial-demographic planning; Nazi long-term rule, as the officer corps and big business; the radicalization of Nazi nature and role of ideology; Nazi paramilitarism; the 'partial identity the structure of Nazi 'government' and the role of its leader; the studied to seek understanding of the history of Nazi Germany, of advanced historical work in this and other areas. Printed English-conceptual apparatus necessary to understand the contemporary crucial period in European history; (ii) the factual grounding and to offer (i) comprehensive knowledge of Germany's role in this Availability: Primarily for 3rd year BA History, BSc International Relations, BSc Government and History students, but may be taken by 2nd years, General Course students and as an outside option where regulations, timetabling constraints and teaching capacity permits.

Course content: Based on a variety of primary sources, this course seminar in the first week of ST will include a mock exam.

Indicative reading: A detailed course outline and reading list, subdivided by weekly topics, will be provided at the first lecture, and will also be found, along with other course materials, in the departmental public folders. The following works are fundamental to the course: J Noakes & G Pridham (Eds), Nazism 1919-1945: A Documentary Reader, vols 2-4 (Exeter, 1983-1998); R Evans, The Third Reich in Power (London, 2005) and The Third Reich at War (London, 2008); A Hitler, Mein Kampf (New York, London, 1943) (R Mannheim translation); D Peukert, Inside Nazi Germany (London, 1989); I Kershaw, Hitler (series Profiles in Power) (London, 1991) and The Nazi Dictatorship (London, 4th ed, 2000); K Hildebrand, The Foreign Policy of the Third Reich (London, 1973); Mark Mazower, Hitler's Empire: Nazi Rule in Occupied Europe (London, 2008); Robert Gallaltay, Backing Hitler: Consent and Coercion in Nazi Germany (Oxford, 2001).

Assessment: 90% three-hour written examination in the ST, 10% assessed presentation in the LT.

HY311
Limited War During the Cold War Era: The United States in Korea (1950-53) and Vietnam (1954-75)

This information is for the 2012/13 session.

Teacher responsible: Dr Steve Casey, EAS. 311

Availability: Primarily for 3rd year BA History, BSc International Relations and History and BSc Government and History students, but may be taken by 2nd years, General Course students and as an outside option where regulations, timetabling constraints and teaching capacity permits.

Course content: Based on a variety of primary sources, this course will explore the US experience during the Korean and Vietnam Wars. The problems of limited war; the origins of the Korean War; Truman and the decision to intervene; Inchon and the decision to cross the 38th parallel; the Chinese intervention and its consequences; the US home front during the Korean War; the Truman-MacArthur Controversy; Korea and US Cold War strategy: NSC-68, NATO, and 'The Great Debate', fighting while negotiating, 1951-53; legacies; JFK and Vietnam; LBJ and the decision to escalate; LBJ as Commander in Chief; the war on the ground in Vietnam: 'search and destroy' versus 'hearts and minds'; the Tet Offensive; the media and military at war; the US home front during the Korean War; Vietnam and US Cold War strategy: détente and triangular diplomacy; fighting while negotiating, 1969-73; legacies.

Teaching: 21 two-hour seminars. Students are expected to keep up with the readings (documents and secondary literature) for the weekly meetings, and to participate in seminar discussions.

Formative coursework: Students will be required to write two essays and two gobbet exercises during the year.

Indicative reading: A detailed course outline and reading list, as well as handouts, will be available at the start of the course. The following works are recommended as essential reading: S Casey, Selling the Korean War (2008); W Stueck, Rethinking the Korean War(2002); B I Kaufman, The Korean War: Challenges in Crisis, Credibility, and Command (1986 or later edition); R Foot, The Wrong War: American Policy and Dimensions of the Korean Conflict, 1950-53 (1985); G Herring, America’s Longest War (1989 or later edition); D Anderson, Shadow on the White House: Presidents and the Vietnam War, 1954-75 (1993); M Gilbert, Why the North Won the Vietnam War (2002).

Assessment: A three-hour written examination in the ST.

HY304
Germany’s New Order in Europe, 1939-1945

This information is for the 2012/13 session.

Teachers responsible: Dr Paul Moore

Availability: Primarily for 3rd year BA History, BSc International Relations, BSc Government and History students, but may be taken by 2nd years where regulations permit. May also be taken as an outside option and by General Course students where regulations, timetabling constraints and teaching capacity permit.

Course content: The Nazi regime and its wartime domination of Europe; preconditions, aims, dynamics, methods, and consequences. The course aims to introduce students to the use of primary sources and to a variety of methods and interpretative perspectives, and to offer (i) comprehensive knowledge of Germany's role in this crucial period in European history; (ii) the factual grounding and conceptual apparatus necessary to understand the contemporary implications of the Nazi experiment, and (iii) a firm basis for more advanced historical work in this and other areas. Printed English-language primary sources and a large secondary literature will be studied to seek understanding of the history of Nazi Germany, of its domination of Europe during the Second World War, and the often bitter debates on its nature, actions, and place in European and world history. Topics covered in lectures and discussion include: the structure of Nazi 'government' and the role of its leader; the nature and role of ideology; Nazi paramilitarism; the 'partial identity of aims' between the Nazi movement and key German elites such as the officer corps and big business; the radicalization of Nazi domestic and foreign policy; the murder of the European Jews; Nazi long-range racial-demographic planning; Nazi long-term rule, collaboration and resistance in occupied Europe; the German people and the processes of domination and extermination; Gestapo terror and the Germans as an interactive relationship; the role of propaganda and the media; men and women in the Third Reich; the German resistance; the regime's ruinous end; and its imprint on post-war German society.

Teaching: 22 weekly seminars of 2 hours each (MT, LT, ST)

Formative coursework: Students will be expected to submit one 2500 word essay from topics designated in the course reading list and a timed gobbet exercise (30 minutes) each term.

Essays do not form part of the final course assessment but they are a required component of the course, and students must complete them in order to be admitted to the course examination. The

HY314
Representing the Past: Historiography and Historical Methods

This information is for the 2012/13 session.
Teacher responsible: TBC
Availability: Compulsory for BA History. Optional for BSc International Relations and History. Not available as an outside option or to General Course students.
Course content: The purpose of the course is to provide advanced undergraduate students with an overview of historiography from ancient times to the present and an introduction to the methodological implications of a wide range of present types of historical writing.

The growth of scientific history: von Ranke and the foundation of professional journals; primary sources - archival; primary sources - oral history; types of historical writing, good & bad; the development of history before the 19th century: Thucydides to Gibbon; military history; ideology and history; religion in history; nationalism; revolutions; economic history; empires and imperialism; the Annales school; the end of History? - the case of the cold war; the future of history; gender and sexuality in history; Holocaust and genocide; art and art history; the creation of 'collective memory', the emergence of the 'heritage industry' and history on TV.

Teaching: 22 seminar sessions (two-hours in duration).

Formative coursework: Students will be required to complete four different projects. Students will be required to write three essays (two in Michaelmas term and one in Lent Term) from the specified essay list and to deliver a class presentation in the Lent Term. NB: HY300 students may find it useful to choose a series of works relating to their chosen research area.

Indicative reading: A full reading list will be provided at the start of the course but will include the following introductory surveys: Berger, Feldner and Passmore, Writing History; D Cannadine (Ed), What is History now?; L Jordanova, History in Practice; R Evans, In Defence of History; J Tosh, The Pursuit of the Past; M Bloch, The Historian's Craft; R G Collingwood, The Idea of History.

Assessment: Three-hour written examination in ST.

HY315
The European Enlightenment, c.1680-1799
This information is for the 2012/13 session.
Teacher responsible: Dr Tim Hochstrasser, EAS. 407
Availability: Primarily for 2nd and 3rd year BA History, BSc International Relations and History, and BSc Government and History students. May also be taken as an outside option and by General Course students where regulations, timetabling constraints and teaching capacity permit.

Course content: The European Enlightenment of the eighteenth century is conventionally taken to be the period in which the disciplines of philosophy, history, economics and anthropology, and other social sciences began to emerge as discrete disciplines independent of state and church control. This course therefore sets out to explore the new ideas generated in these areas as a result of a fresh understanding of man's place in the physical world. But while the course aims to look at ideas and concepts in themselves it is also concerned with the way that they were applied in political practice and adapted to provide new understanding of social structures, or as contemporaries put it, a 'Science of Man'. The chronological context of the Enlightenment is taken to be Europe between the reign of Louis XIV and the end of the Directory in France in 1799.

Within this broad framework the following large themes provide the subject matter of both lectures and classes in the Michaelmas Term: the impact of the Scientific Revolution upon institutionalised religion, the emergence of a 'Republic of Letters', English and French critiques of absolutist monarchy; the creation of scientific approaches to the study of ethics and politics; the political theory of enlightened despotism; the intellectual origins of the French Revolution; intellectual encounters with the New World; the concept of a Counter-Enlightenment; and the move from a private to a public sphere of cultural inquiry. The contributions of Newton, Locke, Voltaire, Montesquieu, and Rousseau - among others - will be highlighted. In the Lent Term the focus will be more narrowly directed to the study of individual key authors and texts and on the impact of enlightened ideas in particular countries, notably England, France, Prussia, Russia and the Habsburg Monarchy. Space will also be found for an examination of the contribution of enlightened thought to the visual arts and music in the 18th century. The course gives students the chance to consider whether or not the Enlightenment was an era of European history that fostered the application of reason to political and social reform, an end to censorship, torture, and hierarchical social models, and a beginning to religious toleration and recognizably modern concepts of human rights, international law and social equality. The focus throughout will be on the writings of the philosophers themselves and their attempts to convert theoretical innovation into practical reform through the agency of bureaucracy and rulers.

Teaching: Lectures (20) and classes (22) will take place in the Michaelmas, Lent and Summer Terms.

Formative coursework: Two pieces of formative assessment are required, the first a source-criticism exercise in the Michaelmas Term (week 4), and the second a conventional essay in the Lent Term (week 4). In addition every student MUST give an assessed presentation in either the first or second terms, and there will be a mock-exam in the Summer Term.

Assessment: Three-hour written examination in the ST.

HY319
Napoleon and Europe
This information is for the 2012/13 session.
Teacher responsible: Dr Paul Stock EAS.497
Availability: Primarily for 2nd and 3rd year BA History and BSc International Relations and History students. May also be taken as an outside option and by General Course students where regulations, timetabling constraints and teaching capacity permit.

Course content: The Napoleonic Empire was crucial in the formation of modern Europe. Much of Europe was covered by the Napoleonic Empire and its impact was felt on all of Europe and parts of the non-European world. The course is taught thematically and also by country/geographical area. Themes covered include the impact of the empire on the European international system, as well as on law, constitutionalism, the economy, religion and culture. By studying how Napoleon’s empire was created and destroyed, the course will also focus on the nature of power in this era. An attempt will also be made to place the Napoleonic empire in a global context. The impact of the Napoleonic era on the rise of nationalism will be considered as part of the legacy of this period. The course ends with an assessment of the historiography of both the man - the ‘Napoleonic myth’ - and the period.

Teaching: 22 two-hour seminars.

Formative coursework: Two conventional essays, one set of gobbet answers and one timed essay.

Indicative reading: A full reading list will be provided at the beginning of the course. Useful introductory reading includes: G. Ellis, The Napoleonic Empire; M. Broers, Europe under Napoleon, 1799-1815; C. Esdaile, Napoleon’s Wars; S. J. Woolf, Napoleon’s Integration of Europe; P. G. Dwyer (Ed), Napoleon and Europe; M. Rowe (Ed), Collaboration and Resistance in Napoleonic Europe; D. Avene & L. Riall (Eds), Napoleon’s Legacy; P. Geyl, Napoleon, For and Against.

Assessment: A three-hour written examination in the ST.
HY320
The Cold War Endgame
This information is for the 2012/13 session.
Teacher responsible: Dr Kristina Spohr, EAS.500
Availability: Primarily intended for third-year BA History students. BSc International Relations and History, General Course and outside option students may also take this course. May not be taken in the same year as HY206.
Course content: This course examines the international history of the Persian Gulf as an ongoing struggle among external powers and local actors for regional supremacy. Through the use of documentary primary sources, the course covers the history of this struggle for mastery in the Gulf in three stages. It begins with the decline of the British Empire and the rise of American power in the Gulf after the Second World War, in the face of Arab and Iranian nationalism. It then examines the long era of intense regional competition for primacy between Iran and Iraq, with particular reference to the Cold War and the 1979 Iranian Revolution. Finally, the course turns to the renewed Anglo-American military intervention in the Gulf since 1991 that continues until today. As a List B paper, the course makes extensive use of primary sources as part of the weekly reading assignments. These will include government documents, public statements, diaries, and memoirs. These primary sources will all be in English and will all be available on Moodle for students to access. Key topics covered in the course include: nationalism in Musa'adiq’s Iran and Qasim’s Iraq; the Arab Cold War and the civil war in Yemen; the Cold War politics of reform in Mohammad Reza Shah’s Iran and King Faisal’s Saudi Arabia; the British withdrawal from the Persian Gulf between 1968 and 1971; Nixon and Kissinger in the Persian Gulf; the secret war between Iran and Iraq in Kurdistan from 1972 to 1975; the rise of OPEC and the 1973/74 energy crisis; the 1979 Iranian Revolution; the Iran-Iraq War of 1980 to 1988; the Persian Gulf War of 1991; the rise and fall of Iranian-American détente under Khatami; Saudi Arabia and the United States before and after 9/11; and the 2003 Anglo-American invasion of Iraq.
Teaching: Ten two-hour seminars in the Michaelmas Term; ten two-hour seminars in the Lent Term; two two-hour seminars in the Summer Term.
Formative coursework: Students will be required to write two conventional essays of 2000 words and one set of gobbet answers during MT and LT; and one timed mock exam in ST.
Assessment: One three-hour exam (100%) in the Summer Term.

HY321
The Struggle for the Persian Gulf, 1945-2003
This information is for the 2012/13 session.
Teacher responsible: Dr Roham Alvandi, Room EAS.310
Availability: BA History and BSc International Relations and History.
The course is also available as an outside option where programme regulations permit and with the permission of the course teachers. Also available to General Course students.
Course content: This course examines the international history of the Persian Gulf as an ongoing struggle among external powers and local actors for regional supremacy. Through the use of documentary primary sources, the course covers the history of this struggle for mastery in the Gulf in three stages. It begins with the decline of the British Empire and the rise of American power in the Gulf after the Second World War, in the face of Arab and Iranian nationalism. It then examines the long era of intense regional competition for primacy between Iran and Iraq, with particular reference to the Cold War and the 1979 Iranian Revolution. Finally, the course turns to the renewed Anglo-American military intervention in the Gulf since 1991 that continues until today. As a List B paper, the course makes extensive use of primary sources as part of the weekly reading assignments. These will include government documents, public statements, diaries, and memoirs. These primary sources will all be in English and will all be available on Moodle for students to access. Key topics covered in the course include: nationalism in Musa’adiq’s Iran and Qasim’s Iraq; the Arab Cold War and the civil war in Yemen; the Cold War politics of reform in Mohammad Reza Shah’s Iran and King Faisal’s Saudi Arabia; the British withdrawal from the Persian Gulf between 1968 and 1971; Nixon and Kissinger in the Persian Gulf; the secret war between Iran and Iraq in Kurdistan from 1972 to 1975; the rise of OPEC and the 1973/74 energy crisis; the 1979 Iranian Revolution; the Iran-Iraq War of 1980 to 1988; the Persian Gulf War of 1991; the rise and fall of Iranian-American détente under Khatami; Saudi Arabia and the United States before and after 9/11; and the 2003 Anglo-American invasion of Iraq.
Teaching: Ten two-hour seminars in the Michaelmas Term; ten two-hour seminars in the Lent Term; two two-hour seminars in the Summer Term.
Formative coursework: Students will be required to write two conventional essays of 2000 words and one set of gobbet answers during MT and LT; and one timed mock exam in ST.
Assessment: One three-hour exam (100%) in the Summer Term.

ID100
Employment Relations
This information is for the 2012/13 session.
Teacher responsible: Dr Eddy Donnelly & Dr Mark Williams
Availability: Optional for BSc Social Policy. Available as an outside option and for General Course students.

Teaching: Weekly lectures in MT and LT are given by Eddy Donnelly and Mark Williams. Associated weekly classes start in the second week of the first term. Revision sessions will be held in ST.

Formative coursework: As well as contributing to class discussion, students are expected to provide one piece of written work at the end of each term (MT and LT) in preparation for their final exam.

Indicative reading: The lecture course does not follow a single prescribed textbook. A detailed reading list will be supplied. However the following are useful; M Noon & P Blyton, The Realities of Work, 3rd edn, 2007; P Blyton & P Turnbull, The Dynamics of Employee Relations, 3rd edn, 2004; John W Budd, The Thought of Work, 2011.

Assessment: Three-hour unseen examination in the ST.

---

ID200 Organisational Theory and Behaviour

This information is for the 2012/13 session.

Teachers responsible: Dr and Dr Daniela Lup.

Availability: Optional for BSc Accounting and Finance, BSc Business Mathematics and Statistics, BSc Human Resource Management and Employment Relations, BSc Management, BSc Management Sciences and the Diploma in Accounting and Finance and for General Course students. Also available as an outside option.

Course content: Individual behaviour including: attitudes, motivation, personality, emotion, work-life balance and stress. Group and inter-group processes including: cohesion, power, and leadership. Organisational dynamics including: structure, culture, responses to work-life conflict, and change. This course introduces students to social science theories and research regarding individual, group and organisational issues in order to analyse employee behaviour in the organisational context.

Teaching: Lectures: weekly conducted by Dr Elliroma Gardiner and Dr Daniela Lup.

Classes: weekly, starting in MT Week 2.

Formative coursework: Students are required to submit three pieces of written work throughout the year, in the form of two unassessed essays and one mock examination.

Indicative reading: A complete reading list will be provided at the start of the course. Sample texts include the following: J Child, Organisations; S Dawson, Analysing Organisations; S Robbins & T Judge, Organizational Behaviour; R Steers & L Porter, Motivation and Work Behaviour.

Assessment: Summer examination.

---

ID222 Half Unit Not available in 2012/13 Managing Employment Law

This information is for the 2012/13 session.

Teacher responsible: Stephen Dunn

Availability: Optional for BSc Human Resource Management and Employment Relations, years 2 and 3, other BSc programmes in the Management Department, years 2 and 3 (where regulations permit) and the General Course. Also available as an outside option.

Course content: This course covers UK and EU Employment Law for non-specialists with some reference to practices outside Europe. It covers both individual and collective rights at work and explores the issues and constraints of ‘managing within the law’ from an HRM perspective together with an assessment of the impact of such legislation.

Classes: One two hour seminar per week, MT.

Formative coursework: Two non-assessed essays or case studies.

Assessment: Unseen two hour examination in ST (100%).

---

ID290 Human Resource Management

This information is for the 2012/13 session.

Teacher responsible: Dr Mark Williams

Availability: This course is compulsory for BSc Human Resource Management and Employment Relations. It is optional for BSc Accounting and Finance, BSc Management and for General Course students. Also available as an outside option.

Pre-requisites: No prior knowledge of human resource management or a related subject or practical experience is necessary. The course can be studied either before, after or in conjunction with ID200 Organisational Theory and Behaviour.

Course content: The course introduces students to the study of human resource management via a multi-disciplinary approach. Topics covered include: HRM strategy; reward systems; international HRM; diversity management; employee involvement.

Assessment: Three-hour unseen examination in the ST (100%).
policies; (4) To measure the effects of human resource management on outcomes such as company performance and worker attitudes.

Teaching: Lecture: ID290, weekly MT/LT/ST. Classes: One hour class per week MT/LT/ST starting in MT week 2.

Formative coursework: Students are required to write two essays and make occasional group presentations throughout the year. It is essential that students come to classes prepared and participate fully.

Indicative reading: There is no one textbook covering the range of the material presented but there are some useful introductions and we recommend that you purchase: J Baron & D Kreps, Strategic Human Resources: Frameworks for General Managers, Wiley, 1999.

Assessment: One three-hour unseen examination paper in the summer.

---

ID300

Selected Topics in Employment Relations and Organisational Behaviour

This information is for the 2012/13 session.

Teachers responsible: Dr Virginia Doellgast and Dr Jonathan Booth.

Availability: This course is compulsory for BSc Human Resource Management and Employment Relations. Not available as an outside option. Available to General Course students with permission.

Pre-requisites: A general knowledge of the social sciences including modern history is required and a general interest in and knowledge of institutions and processes in contemporary employment relations and management, through study or experience.

Course content: The aim of this course is to explore in depth some central problems and issues of Employment Relations and Organisational Behaviour. The selection of topics changes from year to year, depending on current research interests of faculty and topical issues. Broadly, the course examines the institutional and organisational factors that influence management strategy, employee outcomes, and economic performance. In the MT the course examines topical issues in Comparative Employment Relations; whilst in the LT, it examines topics relating to ‘the dark side’ of organisational behaviour.

Teaching: 24 two-hour seminars.

Formative coursework: Students will be expected to read assigned texts and do their own research and come fully prepared to classes. Students will be expected to complete an essay in Michaelmas Term and take part in a team project in Lent Term

Indicative reading: A full reading list and seminar programme will be issued at the beginning of the course.

Assessment: Three-hour unseen examination in ST, both parts of the course will be examined.

---

ID316 Half Unit Not available in 2012/13

Managing Diversity in Organisations

This information is for the 2012/13 session.

Teacher responsible: Dr Alexandra Beauregard

Availability: BSc Human Resource Management and Employment Relations. Also available to General Course students and as an outside option where programme regulations permit. The course will be capped at 15 students.

Pre-requisites: ID290 Human Resource Management would be useful.

Course content: The primary aim of the course is to develop students’ understanding and critical awareness of issues associated with managing a workforce characterised by diversity in age, gender, race, religion, disability, and sexual orientation. The course endeavours to combine academic rigour with a practical focus on promoting equality, diversity and inclusion in the workplace, enabling students to both develop a critical understanding of relevant theoretical and empirical literature and apply acquired knowledge to specific diversity management scenarios. Seminars will require participation in group exercises designed to enhance students’ appreciation of the wide range of issues associated with categorizing individuals as members of different groups, on whatever basis.

Students will become familiar with the drivers of increased workforce diversity, the psychological and sociological theories underlying discrimination and exclusion, current employment legislation related to diversity in the UK, EU and internationally, and the barriers to equality of opportunity in the workplace for minority groups. Students will examine “best practice” in diversity management programmes and learn to critically assess organisational policies and practices for managing workplace diversity with regard to their ability to enhance organisational performance and avoid costly litigation.

Teaching: Weekly lectures and classes in the Michaelmas Term. Lectures will be shared with Masters’ students, but separate classes will be held for undergraduate students. Revision sessions will also be held in the Summer Term.

Formative coursework: Students are required to submit an essay
ID399 Employment Relations Project
This information is for the 2012/13 session.
Teacher responsible: Dr Cecile Emery & Dr Mark Williams
Availability: Optional for BSc Human Resource Management and Employment Relations, may only be taken in the third year. Not available to General Course students or as an outside option.
Teaching: Individual tutorials by arrangement. Seminars during MT and LT on research methods, the content of which will be tailored to the needs of the students involved.
Assessment: 10,000 word project (100%). Three bound copies must be handed in to the Department of Management Reception, 3rd Floor New Academic Building by 16.00 on Monday 29 April 2013.

IR100 The Structure of International Society
This information is for the 2012/13 session.
Teacher responsible: Professor I Neumann, CLM 6.06
Availability: Compulsory for BSc International Relations and BSc International Relations and History. Optional for BSc Environmental Policy and BSc Environment and Development. Available as an outside option.
Course content: An examination of the theories and concepts designed to explain the nature of contemporary international relations.
1. The modern international system and the emergence of the academic study of international relations; realism, idealism and the 'English School'; contemporary theories.
2. State-centric international relations: power and statecraft, the balance of power, and war.
3. International organisations: The UN System, regional organisations, international regimes, 'global governance'.
4. The politics of the world economy: globalisation, 'north-south' relations.
5. Global social movements and the new agenda of international relations.
Teaching: Lectures: IR100. 20 Lectures, MT and LT.
Classes: IR100.A 20 classes, beginning week three MT, plus two revision sessions in ST.
Formative coursework: Students are required to write four essays of approximately 1,500 words, and to give at least one class presentation.
Indicative reading: A full course description with guide to reading will be provided: relevant course texts include J Baylis & S Smith (Eds), Globalisation and World Politics, 2nd edn, (Oxford UP, 2001); C Brown, Understanding International Relations, 2nd edn (Macmillan, 2001); R Jackson & G Sorensen, Introduction to International Relations (OUP, revised edn., 2003).
Assessment: A formal three-hour examination in the ST (100%). Sample papers are included in the full course description.

IR200 International Political Theory
This information is for the 2012/13 session.
Teacher responsible: Professor K Hutchings, CLM 4.07
Availability: Compulsory for BSc International Relations and BSc International Relations and History. Optional for BSc Environmental Policy and BSc Environmental Policy with Economics.
Course content: This is the core subject for specialists in international relations. It consists of a survey in two parts, of thinking about international relations, with emphasis on the political aspects. The first part deals with classical theory, the second with modern.
Ways of explaining and understanding international relations from Vitoria, Grotius and Hobbes to the present day. The chief concerns are war, peace, international law and order, international justice, power, intervention and non-intervention, sovereignty, diplomacy, revolution and counter-revolution, nationalism and national self-determination, stability, change, human rights, international organization.
Teaching: There are 20 lectures (IR200) in the MT and LT and 22 classes, beginning in the third week of the MT (IR200.A).
Formative coursework: Students are required to write four essays of a maximum length of 1,500 words each to be set and marked by class teachers. They are also expected to give at least one class presentation.
Assessment: A three-hour examination paper in ST which requires four questions be answered out of 12.

IR202.1 Foreign Policy Analysis 1
This information is for the 2012/13 session.
Teachers responsible: Dr C Alden, CLM 5.13
Availability: Course intended primarily for BSc International Relations and BSc International Relations and History.
Course content: The course analyses various theoretical perspectives on foreign policy, and the means of conduct of the main actors in the international system towards each other. It focuses mainly, but not entirely, on states.
Foreign Policy Analysis as a sub-discipline of IR; the problem of formulating goals and choosing policy instruments; the role of leadership and psychological elements in policy making; the rational actor model; bureaucratic politics; the impact of history and identity on foreign policy; domestic sources of foreign policy including public opinion, pressure groups and constitutions; the motivations underpinning foreign policy; the role and influence of transnational actors in relation to foreign policy making; foreign policy crises.
The discussion classes combine a discussion of these themes with their application to the foreign policies of major powers in the international system. A detailed programme of lectures will be provided at the start of the session.
Teaching: 10 weekly Foreign Policy Analysis lectures (IR202.1) in MT, followed by Contemporary Foreign Policy in Practice lectures (IR202.2) in LT. Classes: IR202.1A, 20, weekly, MT and LT (starting in week three MT), including two revision classes.
Formative coursework: Students are required to write four essays of about 1,500 words each for their class teachers during the course and to make presentations in the discussion classes.
Assessment: A formal three-hour examination in the ST.
IR203.2
Contemporary Foreign Policy in Practice
This information is for the 2012/13 session.
Teacher responsible: Dr C Alden, CLM 6.06
Availability: This lecture course is not examineable as a course in itself. It is offered to any interested students on its own or as part of the teaching for the BSc Foreign Policy Analysis I course (IR202.1). It is only available as credit for General Course students as part of IR202.1 as a whole.
Course content: The foreign policies and foreign policy processes of selected major states since 1945, depending on examination requirements and teachers available.
An analysis of the foreign policies of a selected group of major states, with due regard to their respective national interests, external commitments, traditional values and other relevant factors. The role of internal group interests and electoral considerations. Constitutional machinery for the formulation of foreign policy. Diplomatic services and techniques. Illustrative material will be drawn mainly from the post-1945 period. This year there will be lectures on Britain, the United States and the Soviet Union/Russia. Additional country case studies will be included for the remainder of lectures including some or all of the following: Indonesia, Brazil, South Africa, Iran, India and Japan.
Teaching: A number of members of the International Relations Department, as well as guest lecturers, participate in the series. There will be fifteen lectures in all, held in LT.
Indicative reading: Recommended texts include

IR304
The Politics of International Economic Relations
This information is for the 2012/13 session.
Teacher responsible: Dr T Sattler, CLM 4.10
Availability: Course intended primarily for BSc International Relations, BSc International Relations and History and BSc Management. Students from other degree programmes will be admitted by permission of the Course Coordinator, including BSc Economic History and BSc Economics.
Pre-requisites: Students should normally have completed EH101 or EC100.
Course content: The economic factor in foreign policy; the development of thought about the relationship between international politics and the international economy. Power and politics in international economic relations. Major approaches in international political economy: economic nationalism, laissez faire, Marxism and comparative political economy. The political economy of international monetary and trade systems since 1944. Current debates: domestic trade preferences, environmental protection, regionalism, preferential trade agreements, capital market integration, globalisation and the retreat of the state.
Teaching: 15 weekly lectures (IR304) commencing in week one of the MT and 16 weekly classes (IR304.A) commencing in week three of the MT, plus two revision classes. Ten lectures on Introduction to Economics (IR304.1) in MT.
Formative coursework: Students deliver class papers and write four essays of a maximum length of 1,500 words each.
Indicative reading: Basic references are: D Baldwin, Economic Statecraft; R Heilbroner, The Worldly Philosophers; S Strange, States and Markets; J Frieden & D Lake, International Political
IR305

Strategic Aspects of International Relations

This information is for the 2012/13 session.

Teacher responsible: Professor C Coker, CLM 5.09
Availability: For, BSc International Relations, BSc International Relations and History, BSc Environmental Policy, BSc Environmental Policy with Economics and General Course students. Also open to students from other University of London institutions by arrangement with the teacher.

Course content: Analyses various perspectives on strategy and war, the way war is conducted by states and within states and focuses on the way different cultures understand strategic outcomes. The attempt to humanise war; the western way of warfare; non-western ways of war, including Asian/Middle East; asymmetrical warfare; Globalisation and Security; Clausewitz and the western way of warfare; war and the risk society, war in the developing world; war and genocide, terrorism, the 'end of war' thesis. The discussion classes combine a discussion of these topics with their application by states in the international system.

Teaching: There will be a series of 15 lectures (IR305) running through MT and LT. 15 weekly classes will be arranged, commencing in week three of MT followed by two revision classes. The classes are compulsory. Students will be expected to contribute to class discussions and present papers each week.

Formative coursework: Students will be required to write four essays (c. 1,500 words each) in the course of the year, in MT and LT.

Assessment: An unseen, three-hour examination in the ST (100%).

IR306

Sovereignty, Rights and Justice: Issues in IPT

This information is for the 2012/13 session.

Teachers responsible: Professor C J Brown, CLM 4.08
Availability: A third-year option for BSc International Relations, BSc International Relations and History, BSc Environmental Policy and BSc Environmental Policy with Economics. Available as an outside option.

Course content: Combines insights and concepts from political theory and international relations theory, and focuses on modern debates on sovereignty, the rights of states, individuals and peoples, and international justice. The cosmopolitan-communitarian debate; sovereignty and the norm of non-intervention; the contemporary international human rights regime; the rights of peoples; the ethics of war and violence; the politics of humanitarian intervention (with case studies); justice in classical international thought; global social justice. Further details will be provided at the start of the session.

Teaching: 20 weekly lectures (IR306) commencing in week one of MT and 20 weekly classes (IR306.A) commencing week two of MT, plus two revision classes in ST.

Formative coursework: Students will write four essays, maximum length of 1,500 words each during the year, and to introduce class discussions.

Indicative reading: A detailed list of references will be provided: Widely used books include: C Brown, Sovereignty, Rights and Justice (Polity, 2002); Thomas Pogge & Darrel Moellendorf eds. Global Justice: Seminal Essays (2008); Michael Walzer Just and Unjust Wars (2006).

IR308

Systemic Change in the Twentieth Century: Theories of the Cold War

This information is for the 2012/13 session.

Teacher responsible: Dr J Kent, CLM 4.05
Availability: For 3rd year BSc International Relations and BSc International Relations and History students. Available to General Course students and as an outside option for 2nd and 3rd year students.

Course content: The course examines the nature of the Cold War system, the theories of its origins, causes and consequences, its relationship to systemic change and the reasons for its end. The course will provide a general analytical overview of the nature of and debates on the Cold War system and why it has been confused with all aspects of Soviet-American relations between the end of the Second World War and the collapse of the Soviet Union. The nature and significance of the systemic changes which its onset and sudden end produced will be analysed. And from a regional and systemic perspective the course will attempt to provide explanations of how the Cold War was fought in different time periods and how the goals changed. Emphasis will be given to the changing nature of the relationship between ideology and power politics within the international system and to the differences and links between Cold War and Hot War and their respective requirements. There will be coverage of how domestic aspects of the Cold War, including intelligence, propaganda and culture interacted with regional and international developments, covert operations and psychological warfare. There will be a requirement to study at least one area of the world in more detail and an opportunity briefly to examine the characteristics of the international systems which preceded and followed the Cold War.

Teaching: 15 lectures commencing week one of MT (IR308) and 20 classes (IR308.A), plus one revision class, commencing in week two of MT.

Formative coursework: Students are expected to write four essays, each of a maximum length of 1,500 words, during the course of the year.

Assessment: A three-hour unseen written examination divided into two sections with students required to answer questions from both sections.

IR311

Europe’s Institutional Order

This information is for the 2012/13 session.

Teacher responsible: Professor Karen E. Smith, CLM 4.09
Availability: Course intended primarily for BSc International Relations, BSc International Relations and History.

Assessment: A formal three-hour written examination (100%).

Economy; J Ravenhill, Global Political Economy; A Walter & G Sen, Analyzing the Global Political Economy. A detailed reading list will be given at the beginning of the course.

Assessment: A three-hour unseen examination in ST, four questions chosen from 12.
IR313 Half Unit
Managing China's Rise in East Asia
This information is for the 2012/13 session.
Teacher responsible: Dr Jürgen Haacke CLM 7.09
Availability: BSc International Relations and BSc International Relations and History. Not available as an outside option. Available to General Course students.
Teaching: Ten two-hour classes in the Michaelmas Term, one two-hour class in week one of the Summer Term.
Formative coursework: Students will write two essays with a maximum length of 2,000 words and present on class topics.
Course content: The main focus of this class-based half-course on the contemporary international relations of East Asia is the management of China’s rise. The course begins by exploring China’s re-emergence as a major regional power, in part by discussing the economic, political and military dimensions of Chinese power, as well as the major aspects of its declaratory and substantive foreign and security policy. It also examines from different theoretical and political perspectives the implications that China’s rise has been posing for East Asia. As regards the management of China’s growing capabilities and influence, the course explores what political and security strategies vis-à-vis China have in turn been adopted by the key states that are either resident in or have a significant presence in the wider East Asia, such as the United States, Japan, Russia and India. The course explores the ways in which the management of China’s rise has impacted on two key conflicts: the cross-Strait conflict and the conflict on the Korean peninsula, and the nature of the management of China’s rise by states from continental and maritime Southeast Asia. It also examines how regional arrangements and institutional frameworks for dialogue and cooperation led by lesser regional states have served the management of China’s rise. Concepts and theories from International Relations will be drawn upon as appropriate.
Assessment: One two-hour exam (100%) in the Summer Term.

IR312 Half Unit
Not available in 2012/13
Genocide
This information is for the 2012/13 session.
Teacher responsible: Dr Jens Meierhenrich CLM 6.07
Availability: This is an optional course for BSc International Relations and BSc International Relations with History. This course is also available to General Course students and as an outside option.
Teaching: Ten one-hour lectures and ten one-hour classes in the Lent Term.
Formative coursework: Students are required to research and write two essays (1,500 words each). In order to ensure a broad acquisition of knowledge, students should diversify the subject matter of their essays. In addressing a given essay topic, students must seek to integrate theory and history and bring empirical evidence to bear on the research question they have chosen. In constructing their answers, students may examine a number of cases, drawing comparisons among them, or may focus on a single case. Essays must be fully - and carefully - referenced using one of the major conventions consistently. Submissions are due in Weeks 4 and Week 8 and must be made in hard copy. Feedback is to be sought from class teachers, who are responsible for marking essays.
Course content: This lecture course provides an introduction to the study of genocide. The course’s disciplinary ambit ranges from anthropology to economics, from history to law, and from political science to sociology. Against the background of diverse disciplinary approaches, it explores major theoretical and empirical aspects of the role(s) of genocidal campaigns in international politics, inter alia, their origins, development, and termination; the manner of their perpetration, progression, and diffusion; their impact on the maintenance of international peace and security; their consequences for the reconstruction and development of states and the building of nations; and their adjudication in domestic and international courts and tribunals. Empirical cases to be discussed include Australia, Cambodia, China, the Democratic Republic of Congo, East Timor, Nazi Germany, Guatemala, Iraq, Northern Ireland, the Ottoman Empire, Rwanda, Uganda, the Soviet Union, Sudan, and the former Yugoslavia, among others. The course is designed to equip students with the analytic tools necessary for making sense of the evolution of the international system from the nineteenth century to the present - and for critically assessing the promise and limits of responding to collective violence.
Assessment: Two-hour exam (100%) in the Summer Term.

IR314 Half Unit
Southeast Asia: Intra-regional Politics and Security
This information is for the 2012/13 session.
Teacher responsible: Dr Jürgen Haacke CLM 7.09
Availability: BSc International Relations and BSc International Relations and History. Not available as an outside option. It is available to General Course students.
Pre-requisites: None, though students would benefit from first taking IR313 (Managing China’s Rise in East Asia).
Teaching: Ten two-hour classes in the Lent Term, one two-hour class in week two of the Summer Term.
Formative coursework: Students will write two essays with a maximum length of 2,000 words and present on class topics.
Course content: This class-based half unit course examines key aspects of the contemporary international relations of Southeast Asia, with the primary focus being on the intramural relations of the member states of the Association of Southeast Asian Nations (ASEAN). In order to contextualise these intramural relations, the course first explores the different domestic political contexts in which Southeast Asian decision-makers operate, the historical backdrop to the region’s major intrastate and interstate conflicts and disputes, the key security issues and challenges affecting the region and individual states, as well as the wider geopolitical context.
The course also, secondly, engages in a comparative analysis of the foreign and security policies of the five original member states of ASEAN that will, for instance, take account of the influence of geographical factors, the relevance of ethnic politics and nationalism, political change, leadership ambitions, and the main economic and security interests pursued by governments. Finally, the course explores how the respective domestic backdrop and foreign policy outlook of Southeast Asian states have shaped the nature, effectiveness and limits of ASEAN as a vehicle for intramural political-security cooperation. In this context, the course assesses the grouping’s efforts to establish an ASEAN political-security community. The course will conclude by comparing the role played respectively by the ASEAN states and extra-regional powers in managing regional security and order. Concepts and theories drawn from International Relations, and especially Foreign Policy Analysis, will be applied as appropriate.

Assessment: One two-hour exam (100%) in the Summer Term.

IR315
The Middle East and International Relations Theory

This information is for the 2012/13 session.
Teacher responsible: Dr K. Dalacoura, CLM 4.11
Availability: Optional for students on the BSc International Relations and the BSc International Relations and History. Available as an outside option to General Course students.
Pre-requisites: IR200 or equivalent.
Teaching: 20 lectures commencing in week 1 of MT and 18 classes, commencing in week 3 of MT. Two revision classes will be held in weeks 1 and 2 of ST.
Course content: The course applies the theories and conceptual tools of the discipline of International Relations to the study of the Middle East region. It uses the empirical material offered by the history, politics, political economy and international politics of the region to explore these concepts and theories. More specifically, it concentrates on the areas of foreign policy analysis, international political economy, gender, the study of international norms and conflict and peace studies. It explores the applicability of various International Relations theories (for example, realism and neo-realism; neo-liberalism; constructivism; English School; Critical Theory and post-modernism) to the study of the region.

Formative coursework: Four essays of 1,500 words each.
Assessment: One 3-hour examination (100%).

IR316 Half Unit Not available in 2012/13
United Nations

This information is for the 2012/13 session.
Teacher responsible: Dr J Meierhenrich, CLM 6.07
Availability: Optional for students on the BSc International Relations and the BSc International Relations and History. Available to General Course students and as an outside option.
Teaching: 10x1hr lectures and 10x1hr classes in the MT. 2x1hr revision classes in the ST.
Formative coursework: Students are required to research and write two essays (1,500 words each). In order to ensure a broad acquisition of knowledge, students should diversify the subject matter of their essays. In addressing a given essay topic, students must seek to integrate theory and history and bring empirical evidence to bear on the research question they have chosen. In constructing their answers, students may examine a number of cases, drawing comparisons among them, or may focus on a single case. Essays must be fully-and carefully-referenced using one of the major conventions consistently. Submissions are due in Weeks 4 and Week 8 and must be made in hard copy. Feedback is to be sought from class teachers, who are responsible for marking essays.

Course content: This lecture course provides an introduction to the politics, law, and practice of the United Nations. The course’s disciplinary ambit ranges from anthropology to economics, from history to law, and from political science to sociology. Against the background of diverse disciplinary approaches, the focus is on the power and pathologies of this most important of international organizations. To this end, the course highlights major theoretical and empirical aspects of the UN’s role(s) in international politics, inter alia, its institutional origins and development; its contribution to the maintenance of international peace and security; the nature and consequences of the UN’s promotion and dissemination of norms; the operation of its agencies, programmes, and subsidiary bodies; and the prospects for institutional reform. Substantive issue areas to be discussed include collective security, peacekeeping, international territorial administration, R2P, human rights, development, refugees, and international courts and tribunals. Aside from providing introductions to the UN’s principal organs, the course elucidates the UN system by exploring international bodies ranging from the UNHCR to UNDP, from the Human Rights Council to UNESCO, and from the International Criminal Tribunals for the former Yugoslavia (ICTY) and Rwanda (ICTR) to the UN’s many international commissions of inquiry.

Cronin, Bruce, and Ian Hurst, eds., The UN Security Council and the Politics of International Authority (London: Routledge, 2008).
Weiss, Thomas G., What’s Wrong With the United Nations (And Assessment: One 2hr examination (100%).

IR398
Dissertation
This information is for the 2012/13 session.
Teacher responsible: Dr J Kent, CLM 4.05
Availability: Optional in year three for BSc International Relations students only.
Course content: Candidates are required to submit a dissertation of 9-10,000 words, excluding bibliography, but including notes and any appendices and tables, by the beginning of May of their final year. The subject of the dissertation can be anything within the syllabus of the undergraduate degree in International Relations at the School. Candidates are required to submit the title of their dissertation for approval by the Course Co-ordinator before the last day of the Michaelmas Term of their third year. They are also required, by the same deadline after the last Michaelmas term class to submit to the Course Co-ordinator a brief plan and structure of how their proposed study will be carried out, including a select bibliography, of no more than 500 words.
Assessment: Examiners of the dissertation look for a variety of skills and qualities such as: conceptual precision, skill in analysis and organisation of material, clarity of exposition, and capacity for logical reasoning. Examiners also attach weight to accuracy in English spelling, grammar, and punctuation. The dissertation must consist of not more than 10,000 words (including footnotes or endnotes, tables and appendices but excluding bibliography, contents page and, where relevant, a list of acronyms). A penalty will be applied if students exceed the word limit by more than 100 words. For each incremental 200 words, or part thereof, over 10,100 words, 1 mark will be deducted. Dissertations in excess of 10,700 words will not be accepted.

IS143
Information Technology and Society
This information is for the 2012/13 session.
Teachers responsible: Dr Susan Scott, NAB 3.12 and Dr Ela Klecun, NAB3.37
Availability: Optional for BSc Actuarial Science and BSc Business Mathematics and Statistics. Available to General Course students and as an outside option.
Pre-requisites: There are no pre-requisites. However, students must be familiar with MS Office software.
Course content: The course explores concepts and themes concerning the relationships between technology and society, with a particular emphasis on computer-based information systems. These include: Governments’ use of information technology, the evolution of the Internet, the challenges posed to governments by data flowing freely across borders and their implications for individual privacy and national security, identity assurance, IT in developing countries, IT and Gender, communications security and surveillance. Students are exposed to the fundamentals of web design and the course includes a web development assignment.
Teaching: 30 lectures, IS143 A 20 classes in the MT and LT.
Assessment: The course is examined on projects and exercises completed during the year worth 40% and a two-hour formal examination in the ST that counts for 60% of the final mark.

IS340
Information Systems in Business
This information is for the 2012/13 session.
Teachers responsible: Dr Ela Klecun, NAB 3.37 and Dr Tony Cornford, NAB3.29
Availability: Optional for BSc Business Mathematics and Statistics, BSc Human Resource Management and Employment Relations, and BSc Management Sciences. Available to General Course students and as an outside option with the permission of the course teacher.
Pre-requisites: Students are expected to have knowledge of information systems to a level equivalent to IS143 Information Technology and Society.
Course content: The course considers the integration of information and communication technology (ICT) into organisations and their working practices, from strategic intentions through design and implementation to use and the intended and unintended effects. Topics covered include: establishing requirements for information systems; the systems development process and methodologies; strategic perspectives on information systems; organizational change and information systems; e-business models; strategic information infrastructures; information systems evaluation; project management. This is not a technical hands-on course; rather it involves the study of a body of literature on the management and use of ICT by organizations. Drawing on information systems and management literature, the course provides an opportunity for students to examine case studies of successes and failures and to explore ‘real-world’ issues of information systems management. Most of the theory presented in the course is dealt with in the Michaelmas Term beginning with a brief review of the history of information systems and the origins of the subject. In the Lent term this theory is drawn upon as students present in seminars based on selected readings.
Teaching: 10 two hour lecture in MT, 4 two hour lectures in LT, 5 two hour seminars in LT and 15 one hour classes in MT and LT.
Assessment: The course is examined on an individual project in MT (20%), on a group project in LT (20%), which includes seminars and a report, and a three-hour formal examination in the ST that counts for 60% of the final mark.

LL104
Law of Obligations
This information is for the 2012/13 session.
Teacher responsible: Dr Charlie Webb, NAB 6.26
Availability: This is a compulsory course for Intermediate LLB students and BA Anthropology and Law first year students. It is also available to General Course students and as an outside option.
Course content: Introduction to the law of contract, including formation of contracts, express and implied terms, misrepresentation, exclusion clauses, remedies for breach of contract. Introduction to the principles of the law of restitution. Introduction to the law of torts: negligence and other specific torts, causation, defences, remedies for torts.
Teaching: The course is taught by means of two lectures (LL104) per week and one class (LL104.A) per week. The lectures will be given by a number of different teachers. The basic work is done through the classes, and the lectures are designed to introduce the topics on the syllabus.

Formative coursework: Each student will be expected to produce four pieces of written work in the course of the year. This will be set, marked and returned by each class teacher.

Indicative reading: A general reading list will be issued at the commencement of each term. Students should follow the advice of their class teachers as to the textbooks to be read.

Assessment: Three-hour formal examination in the ST, which requires candidates to answer questions in contract and tort. There is a resit examination in this paper in September.

---

LL105  Half Unit
Property I
This information is for the 2012/13 session.
Teacher responsible: Professor Tim Murphy, NAB 7.22
Availability: This is a compulsory course for Intermediate LLB students and 2nd year BA Anthropology and Law. It is also available to General Course students and as an outside option.
Course content: The aim is to introduce students to the role of property concepts in legal and social thought. Particular attention is paid to the context, development and function of property forms in contemporary legal systems.

The course encompasses a broad range of established and emergent property forms, ranging from questions of copyright and share ownership to aspects of real property. Extensive use will be made of historical and other general commentaries on the question of property.

Teaching: Two lectures a week (LL105) and one-hour class (LL105.A).

Assessment: A two-hour formal examination in the ST on which the entire assessment for the course is based.

---

LL106  Public Law
This information is for the 2012/13 session.
Teachers responsible: Dr Thomas Poole, NAB 7.19
Availability: This is a compulsory course for Intermediate LLB and BA Anthropology and Law students. It is also available to General Course students and as an outside option.

Course content: The course covers: the conceptual framework of public law; central government and the executive; parliament; multilayered government (the European Union, devolution and local government); judicial review; and civil liberties and human rights.

Teaching: Lectures (LL106); MT, LT and ST two lectures and one class a week (LL106.A).

Assessment: Three-hour written examination in the ST.

---

LL108  Criminal Law
This information is for the 2012/13 session.
Teacher responsible: Professor Mike Redmayne, NAB 6.13
Availability: The course is compulsory for Intermediate LLB students and BA Anthropology and Law 2nd year students. It is also available to General Course students and as an outside option.

Course content: The course examines the ‘general part’ of criminal law and selected areas of the special part of criminal law in the context of theories of the aims and functions of criminalisation.

Teaching: Teaching is by 40 hours of lectures (LL108) and 22 classes. Detailed reading lists are provided and students are expected to be fully prepared beforehand in order to be able to participate in class.

Formative coursework: This will be set by the teacher in charge of the class. A minimum of two pieces of written work will be required, usually one essay and one problem.

Indicative reading: A detailed reading list will be distributed at the start of the course (for the current list, see the public folders). A number of criminal law textbooks are available, and students will be expected to read the relevant parts of the most recent editions of one of these, eg Nicola Lacey, Oliver Quick & Celia Wells, Reconstructing Criminal Law; Andrew Ashworth, Principles of Criminal Law; M. Allen, Introduction to Criminal Law. They will also be expected to read all cases and materials marked as primary on the detailed reading lists provided.

Assessment: Three-hour written examination in the ST.

---

LL109  Half Unit
Introduction to the Legal System
This information is for the 2012/13 session.
Teacher responsible: Professor Linda Mulcahy, NAB 7.15
Availability: Compulsory for first year LLB students and BA Anthropology and Law students. It is also available to General Course students and as an outside option.

Course content: The course is designed as a foundation course to familiarize law students with the basic characteristics and functioning of legal systems.

The course will include:
1. What is law and what are legal systems?
2. Where does law come from?
3. Towards Diversity? The judiciary and legal profession
4. The theory and practice of adjudication
5. The theory and practice of alternatives to court based adjudication
6. Reading Law: Statutory interpretation
7. Reading Law: Common law and judicial precedent
8. Reading Law: The Civil law tradition
9. The challenge of legal pluralism

Teaching: Two lectures per week and one class per week MT.

Formative coursework: One essay.

Indicative reading: This is a Moodle course, with the course materials, lecture outlines, class reading and suggestions for further reading set out through links to relevant sites. The main background book for the course is Carl F Stychin and Linda Mulcahy (eds), Legal Methods and Systems: Text and Materials, 4th ed (2010) Thomson (Sweet and Maxwell).

Assessment: A two-hour essay-based written examination in the ST, in which students must answer two questions.

---

LL201  Administrative Law
This information is for the 2012/13 session.
Teacher responsible: Dr Thomas Poole, NAB 7.19 and Prof Linda Mulcahy, NAB 7.15

Availability: This course is optional for 2nd or 3rd year LLB students and BA Anthropology and Law. The course is available as an outside option where regulations permit and is especially appropriate for students of government and politics. Also available to General Course students.

Course content: The course examines the law relating to public administration and, in particular, the possibilities, limitations and
At least one piece of written work will be required in each of MT and LT.

Assessment: Three-hour written examination, plus 15 minute reading period. Unmarked statutory materials may be taken into the examination.

---

LL204 Advanced Torts

This information is for the 2012/13 session.

Teacher responsible: Helen Reece; Emmanuel Voyiakis; Charlie Webb.

Availability: This is an optional course for LLB and BA Anthropology and Law. Available as an outside option. Not available to General Course students.

Pre-requisites: Students must first have completed LL104 Law of Obligations.

Course content: The course examines a range of Torts, building on knowledge about the tort of negligence gained in the Law of Obligations course, but dealing also with several other discrete areas of the subject, as well as introducing theoretical perspectives on tort law.

(A) Duties of care; public authorities; pure economic loss; psychiatric injury; wrongful birth and life. (B) Interference with the person; assault; battery; the Wilkinson v Dowonton tort; harassment. (C) Defences: illegality (D) Causation: loss of chance; endangerment. (E) Theoretical perspectives: what is tort?; introduction to theories of tort; tort and private law; conceptions of responsibility and luck. (F) Strict liability regimes: vicarious liability; Rylands v Fletcher; defective products; theoretical perspectives on strict liability.

Teaching: There will be one 1-hour lecture/seminar a week. Classes will be run along with the lectures.

Formative coursework: At least two pieces of written work will be required.

Assessment: A three-hour (plus 15 minutes additional reading time) written examination in the ST.
LL207
Civil Liberties and Human Rights

This information is for the 2012/13 session.

Teachers responsible: Dr Kai Møller, Professor Conor Gearty, Dr Peter Ramsay.

Availability: This is an optional course for 2nd and 3rd year LLB students and BA Anthropology and Law students. It is only available to students who have studied the first year Public Law course (LL106), or by permission of the course convener, if a course equivalent to LL106 has been studied.

Course content: The course offers an introduction to the Human Rights Act and the European Convention on Human Rights, with an emphasis on underlying theoretical and conceptual issues. The history of human rights protection in the UK; theoretical aspects of human rights; the Human Rights Act 1998; human rights and parliamentary sovereignty; human rights and standards of review; human rights and the common law; precedent and human rights law. The rights to life and freedom from torture; freedom of expression; freedom of association and ‘militant democracy’; freedom of religion; the right to respect for private and family life; equality and non-discrimination. Terrorism, security and states of emergency; ‘social learning’. Anomalous zones.

Teaching: One two-hour seminar per week.

Formative coursework: Students are expected to submit two essays during the year.

Indicative reading: For European Convention law there exists no textbook which deals with the issues in adequate depth, but interested students may want to take a look at Harris, O’Boyle and Warbrick, Law of the European Convention on Human Rights 2nd edn (OUP, 2009) for an overview. For the second term, C. Gearty’s book Principles of Human Rights Adjudication (2004) is a good starting point for further analysis but now rather dated. See the same author’s Civil Liberties (OUP, 2007) and A Kavanagh, Constitutional Review under the UK Human Rights Act (CUP, 2009). In both terms, in-depth engagement with the primary materials and active participation in the seminars is essential for successful completion of the course.

Assessment: One three hour unseen examination in the Summer Term (100%) with nine questions from which three must be attempted.

LL209
Commercial Law

This information is for the 2012/13 session.

Teacher responsible: Vivien Prais, NAB 6.02

Availability: Optional for BSc Accounting and Finance, BSc Business Mathematics and Statistics, BSc Economics, BSc Human Resource Management and Employment Relations, BSc Management, BSc Management Sciences and the Diploma in Accounting and Finance. Available to General Course students and as an outside option.

Course content: An introduction to the fundamental principles of contract law, company law and the law of corporate insolvency.

Teaching: Lectures: weekly MT, LT.

Classes: weekly MT, LT, ST.

Formative coursework: Students will be expected to complete two essays during the year, and to prepare outline arguments for weekly classes.

Indicative reading: Core texts: E McKendrick, Contract Law; Dignam and Lowry, Company Law; Keay and Walton, Insolvency Law: Corporate and Personal. Supplementary texts: Collins, The Law of Contract; Davies, Gover and Davies’ Principles of Modern Company Law. Further reading will be recommended at the start of each segment of the course.

Assessment: One formal three-hour examination in the ST, comprising 11 questions of which four must be answered.
Formative coursework: Students will be required to produce two formative essays during the year.
Assessment: A formal three-hour examination in the ST.

LL212 Conflict of Laws

This information is for the 2012/13 session.
Teacher responsible: Mr Jacco Bomhoff, NAB 6.29
Availability: This course is optional for 2nd and 3rd year LLB students and for BA Anthropology and Law. Students are advised, where possible, to take this course as a 3rd year rather than a 2nd year option. Not available as an outside option. Available to General Course students
Pre-requisites: A good knowledge of law is required.
Course content: Conflict of laws - also known as private international law - is the area of law concerned with cases in which the facts present one or more international element. The field's central technical questions are (1) jurisdiction (will an English court or a foreign court hear a case?), (2) choice of law (should the court apply its own law or that of a foreign country?), (3) the recognition and enforcement of foreign judgements. During the course, these three questions will frame reflection on a range of topics, including commercial/practical issues (how can companies structure their cross-border transactions), but also questions of a more political nature (to what extent should States be able to regulate matters beyond their own borders?) or with a strong social/cultural dimension (how should foreign cultural understandings be accommodated in domestic law?). Because of the growing role of the European Union in this area, the interaction between English and European approaches to conflict of laws issues will be an important running theme throughout the course.
(1) jurisdiction in international commercial litigation under the traditional English rules and in European law, (2) recognition and enforcement of foreign judgements under European rules and at common law, (3) complex litigation, (4) choice of law in contract and tort, (5) public policy, mandatory rules and exclusion of foreign law, (6) comparative aspects and theoretical foundations of the conflict of laws.
Teaching: 22 weekly two-hour seminars (LL212).
Formative coursework: Two essays.
Indicative reading: In addition to the Course Reader provided on Moodle, the following texts may serve as sources of reference throughout the course: Jonathan Hill & Adeline Chong, International Commercial Disputes (4th ed, 2010); Trevor Hartley, International Commercial Litigation (2009); Peter North & James Fawcett, Cheshire & North's Private International Law (114th ed, summer 2008); Adrian Briggs, The Conflict of Laws (2008).
Assessment: Three-hour written examination paper in ST.

LL221 Family Law

This information is for the 2012/13 session.
Teachers responsible: Helen Reece and Julie McCandless
Availability: Available to LLB and BA Anthropology and Law students. It is also available to General Course students and as an outside option.
Course content: The course is concerned with the regulation of personal relationships and the public and private consequences for individuals of this regulation. The course examines the legal constitution of families, the problems people encounter in their personal relationships and the legal responses to those problems.
We are as concerned with what actually happens in practice and the policy behind it as with the law as stated in the books.
Term 1: Adult Relations:
1. Introduction: (a) intervention in the family; (b) discrimination against families, in the context of human rights legislation.
2. Marriage and Civil Partnerships: (a) the distinction; (b) same-sex marriage proposals; (c) nullity.
3. Divorce and Dissolution
5. Financial provision: (a) conceptions of equality; (b) the legal framework for discretion (c) pre-nuptial agreements.
Term 2: Child Law:
1. Introductory concepts: (a) legal parenthood (b) children's welfare; (c) the welfare checklist; (d) principle of non-intervention; (e) parental responsibility: meaning and allocation.
2. Children and families: (a) legal framework; (b) regulation after relationship breakdown
Teaching: The course is taught through lectures and classes.
Formative coursework: Students are set essays, which do not count for assessment purposes, in the first and second terms.
Indicative reading: Students are provided with a detailed syllabus and reading list for class topics. Basic reading for each topic will be drawn from a number of sources including text books, cases and articles.
In case students wish to purchase any books the following are suggested:
Assessment: Three-hour examination in which students answer four questions. Approved statutory materials may be taken into the examination in accordance with School Regulations.

LL232 Law and Institutions of the European Union

This information is for the 2012/13 session.
Teachers responsible: Professor D Chalmers. Also taught by Dr Jo Murkens, Dr V Heyvaert, Dr J Bomhoff and Dr M Wilkinson
Availability: This course is optional for 2nd or 3rd year LLB students, BA Anthropology and Law and BSc Management. It is also available to General Course students and as an outside option.
Teaching: Two lectures and one class per week.
Formative coursework: This depends upon each class teacher, but a minimum of two essays, or equivalent work, per term required.
Indicative reading: The core text for this course is Chalmers et al., EU Law (2nd edn, CUP 2010). An alternative textbook that is useful to consult is Craig & De Burca, EU Law 5th edn, 2011); other useful sources include Kaczorowska EU Law (2nd edn, 2010); Weiler, The Constitution of Europe (1999); Hix, What's Wrong with
LL233
Law of Evidence
This information is for the 2012/13 session.
Teacher responsible: Professor Mike Redmayne, NAB 6.13
Availability: This course is optional for LLB Part I and II and BA Anthropology and Law. It is also available to General Course students and as an outside option.
Course content: This course explores aspects of the law of criminal evidence. Evidence law governs how cases are proved in court, in particular by laying down rules on what evidence the parties can use and by providing guidance to courts on the conclusions that can be drawn from evidence. The course does not attempt to cover every aspect of criminal evidence, but concentrates on selected issues in depth, with an emphasis on conceptual and policy issues. Course outline: (i) reasoning: probability, drawing inferences, burden and standard of proof; (ii) fairness: improperly obtained evidence, privilege against self-incrimination, entrapment; (iii) pre-trial processes: confessions and eyewitness evidence; (iv) hearsay and confrontation; (v) bad character and sexual history; (vi) expert evidence: fingerprints, DNA.
Teaching: 20 weekly two-hour seminars (LL233), Sessional.
Formative coursework: Students will be expected to produce two essays during the year.
Indicative reading: To gain an understanding of the modern law of evidence, students may find it useful to consult an up to date textbook at the beginning of the academic year. In addition, Dr Igor Stramignoni will set the required reading list in the MT and LT. There are usually 10 questions, of which four are to be answered, and at least one question must be answered from each of two sections, which represent Lent and Michaelmas term work respectively.
Assessment: A three-hour examination in the ST.

LL241
Introduction to Civil Law
This information is for the 2012/13 session.
Teacher responsible: Dr Igor Stramignoni, NAB 7.17
Availability: The course is available as an option to all LLB students and BA Anthropology and Law students. It is also available to General Course students and as an outside option.
Teaching: One two-hour seminar weekly.
Formative coursework: Students will be asked to write one essay each Term and/or to make oral presentations on select topics covered by the syllabus.
Indicative reading: Dr Igor Stramignoni will set the required textbook at the beginning of the academic year. In addition, students will be asked to read widely from specialized journals and from other books available in the main London libraries.
Assessment: A two-hour examination in English.

LL242
International Protection of Human Rights
This information is for the 2012/13 session.
Teacher responsible: Dr Chaloka Beyani
Availability: This is an optional course for LLB Parts I and II, BA Anthropology and Law, and BSc International Relations students. Available to General Course students. Not available as an outside option. Numbers of those admitted will be restricted.
Pre-requisites: Students need to have already taken and done well in a course in Public International Law or in Civil Liberties Law.
Course content: Comprehensive study of the expanding international law of human rights and protection mechanisms, both at a universal and regional level. The course is divided in two parts. The first part deals with conceptual issues, namely: definitions of human rights, including theories of human rights and universality and relativism; the system of international protection of human rights; the role of non-discrimination, human rights as absolute or qualified rights; minorities and indigenous groups; the prohibition of genocide; human rights and national security; human rights and humanitarian law; social and cultural rights; and globalization and human rights. The second part is devoted to a study of specific rights, drawing largely upon the case law of the European Convention, the American Convention and the African Charter as well as the UN Covenants. Among the rights examined through the case law are the right to life; fair trial; prohibition of torture, inhuman and degrading treatment; privacy and family life; and the fundamental freedoms.
Teaching: This course is taught by two-hour weekly seminar, 10 in MT, nine in LT, plus reading week; supplemented by writing requirements and consultation on these.
Indicative reading: A detailed reading list is provided.
Assessment: A three hour formal examination in the ST, based on the syllabus in the MT and LT. There are usually 10 questions, of which four are to be answered. The paper comprises both essay and problem questions.

LL250
Law and The Environment
This information is for the 2012/13 session.
Teachers responsible: Dr Veerle Heyvaert, NAB 7.06
Availability: This course is optional for Parts I and II of LLB, as well as BA Anthropology and Law and BSc Environment and Development students. Other undergraduate students with a keen interest in the environment are welcome. Available to General Course students.
Course content: The aim of this course is to assess from an interdisciplinary perspective the role of UK law in the environmental field. The course also examines the strong influence of international and European law on the UK legal framework for environmental protection.
I. General features of environmental law in the UK:
The introductory sessions review theoretical and philosophical influences on the development of environmental principles and practices, and discuss the origins and development of environmental law in the UK. Further sessions focus on the concept of risk and precaution in environmental law, and analyse the domestic institutional framework.
II. Controlling space
This section reviews legal strategies for environmental protection through management of the built environment, parks and nature. It covers planning law, environmental impact assessment, and nature conservation law.

III. Controlling climate change
Studies international law and politics of climate change, the UK approach to climate change mitigation and adaptation, and discusses incentive-based regulation as a response to the climate change challenge.

IV. Controlling enterprise
Section IV offers seminars on both process- and product-oriented regulation of enterprise. It also covers waste regulation, and investigates dynamics between international trade and regional environmental protection.

V. Remedyng environmental harm
The final section examines the role of both case law and regulation in the remediation of environmental harm, paying attention to clean-up of contaminated land, common law and human rights based approaches to compensation, and legal responses to international environmental disasters.

Teaching: 20 seminars (LL250) MT and LT, and a revision session in ST.

Formative coursework: One essay (or equivalent written task) in MT and one in LT.

Assessment: Formal three-hour examination in ST, covering the contents of the entire course.

---

LL253

The Law of Corporate Insolvency

This information is for the 2012/13 session.

Teacher responsible: Professor Vanessa Finch, NAB 6.26

Availability: This course is optional for Parts I and II LLB. It is not available for General Course students as an outside option.

Course content: The course examines the law and procedures affecting insolvent and financially distressed companies and those concerned with them (for example, creditors, directors and employees). It also assesses the justifications and principles underlying a corporate insolvency regime.

1. Role and Objectives of Corporate Insolvency Procedures
2. Issues concerning the insolvency of Corporate Groups
3. The Role of Insolvency Practitioners and Turnaround Professionals
4. Corporate Borrowing
5. Corporate Rescue: Informal Rescue and Reconstruction; Formal Rescue Procedures including Administration and Pre-Packs
6. Liquidation; Pari Passu Distribution; Secured Creditors; Security Devices for Consumer Creditors and Commercial Suppliers
7. Repercussions of Corporate Insolvency on Directors and Employees
8. The European and International Dimensions

Teaching: 22 weekly two-hour seminars (LL253).

Formative coursework: Students will be expected to prepare for participation in weekly seminar discussion. A minimum of two essays will be required.

Assessment: A formal three-hour examination in the ST based on the full syllabus. Unmarked, unannotated versions of the relevant legislation may be taken into the examination.

---

LL251

Intellectual Property Law

This information is for the 2012/13 session.

Teacher responsible: Dr Dev Gangjee, NAB 6.20

Availability: This course is optional for Parts I and II LLB. It is also available to students on BA Anthropology and Law and to General Course students. Not available as an outside option.

Course content: An introduction to the law relating to copyright, registered trademarks and patents. These legal regimes will be considered against the backdrop of an analysis of intellectual property law’s history and theoretical foundations, its increasing importance in underpinning the ‘knowledge economy’, and the role of intellectual property law in the context of international intellectual property law.

Teaching: Two lectures per week; classes fortnightly.

Formative coursework: Students will be expected to submit two pieces of written work during the year.

Indicative reading: The recommended text will be Lionel Bently & Brad Sherman, Intellectual Property Law (3rd edn) (Oxford University Press 2008), and students will also be required to purchase one of the available edited collections of statutes. The full reading list will be issued at the beginning of the year.

Assessment: The course will be assessed by way of a three-hour examination in the ST (plus an additional 15 minutes reading time).

---

LL257

Labour Law

This information is for the 2012/13 session.

Teacher responsible: Professor Hugh Collins

Availability: LLB, BA Anthropology and Law. Not available as an outside option. Available to General Course students.

Teaching: One 2 hour lecture a week plus one 1 hour class a week.

Indicative reading: Reading lists are supplied for each week’s seminar and links are supplied on Moodle for most readings. As an introduction to each topic and the course as a whole, it is helpful to read H. Collins, Employment Law 2nd edn. Students should read the latest edition of a text book; the leading texts are S. Deakin & G. Morris Labour Law; H Collins, K Ewing & A McColgan, Labour Law: Text and Materials; Smith and Wood, Industrial Law. Students will also need to refer to a current collection of statutes, such as Blackstone’s Statutes on Employment Law.

Assessment: A three-hour written examination in the ST. Candidates are permitted to take into the examination an unmarked copy of a collection of statutes.

---

LL259

Legal and Social Change Since 1750

This information is for the 2012/13 session.

Teacher responsible: Professor WT Murphy
LL275 Property II
This information is for the 2012/13 session.
Teacher responsible: Professor Neil Duxbury, NAB 6.10
Availability: This is an optional course for LLB Part I and II students, and compulsory for BA Anthropology and Law 2nd or 3rd year students requiring exemption from the Law Society's Part I exam. It is also available as an outside option and to General Course students.
Pre-requisites: Students must have completed Property I (LL105)
Course content: Property II examines principles of Land Law and the Law of Trusts. Land Law is taught in the first term and Trusts in the second term.
The Land Law component of Property II is designed to introduce students to the fundamental principles of the law of real property (i.e. land). The course examines the general principles governing the ownership and occupation of land, including concepts of estates and interests, legal and equitable ownership (trusts of land, including co-ownership and modes of transfer) and title registration. It also considers the law governing specific third party interests - licences, proprietary estoppel, easements, covenants and mortgages.
The Trusts component of the course focuses on general principles of trusts law and examines the circumstances in which trusts arise, the obligations of trustees, and the remedies available to beneficiaries when these obligations are breached. It also considers the nature and classification of trusts, including the applications and classifications of resulting and constructive trusts, and how the law of trusts relates to and impacts on the law of contract, wrongs and unjust enrichment.
Teaching: Teaching arrangements for both the Land Law and Trusts components of Property II are two hours of lectures and a one-hour class each week.
Formative coursework: Two essays per term.
Indicative reading: Advice on reading, including textbook recommendations, will be provided and the beginning of the first and second terms. An essay which students might valuable read before the commencement of the course is Peter Birks, ‘Before We Begin: Five Keys to Land Law’, in Land Law: Themes and Perspectives, ed. S. Bright & J. Dewar (OUP, 1998), 457-86.
Assessment: Property II is assessed by a three-hour examination. Students are required to answer questions on both the Land Law and Trusts components of Property II.

LL278 Public International Law
This information is for the 2012/13 session.
Teachers responsible: Professor Christine Chinkin, Professor Susan Marks, Dr Stephen Humphreys, Mr Chris Thomas Availability: An optional course available in the second and third years of the LLB, BA Anthropology and Law, BSc Environmental Policy, BSc Environmental Policy with Economics, BSc International Relations and BSc International Relations and History. Also available to second and third year students as an outside option where regulations permit.
Course content: This course provides an introduction to the concepts, principles, institutions and debates that define public international law today. We begin with an overview of the international legal system, considering how international law is made, how it relates to national legal systems, and what scope exists for pursuing those who violate it. In this connection we examine the work of the International Court of Justice, the International Criminal Court and the various ad hoc international criminal tribunals, along with judgments of national courts invoking international law. We then take up a range of topical issues of global concern, studying the ways in which they affect and are affected by public international law. The issues to be discussed include: war, trade and investment, and the protection of human rights. We also investigate aspects of the history of international law, its role in relation to the establishment and retreat of European empires, and its contemporary significance and prospects. Overall, our aim is to lay the basis for an informed assessment of the contribution and limits of international law as a force in world affairs.

Teaching: Two one-hour lectures and one one-hour class each week.

Formative coursework: Students are expected to participate actively in weekly classes and to write a number of assignments during the year, as set by their class teachers.

Assessment: A written examination of 3 hours plus 15 minutes reading time taken in the ST.

LL284 Half Unit Sentencing and Treatment of Offenders

This information is for the 2012/13 session.

Teacher responsible: Professor Jill Peay, NAB 6.11

Availability: Optional for LLB Part I or II and BA Anthropology and Law students. It is also available to General Course students and as an outside option.

Course content: Criminal justice is a topic of considerable political debate and change. The syllabus is liable, therefore, to alter year by year. The course examines the aims and justifications of punishment, how courts carry out their sentencing function, and considers areas for sentencing reform. The content includes community and custodial punishment; sentencing theory and practice; sentencing of dangerous, persistent and mentally disordered offenders; containment and treatment of offenders; reform.

Teaching: 10 two-hour seminars in the MT and one two-hour seminar in the ST. Teaching is by a combination of lectures, formal student presentations and group discussion.

Formative coursework: Submission of written work is expected.

Indicative reading: A list will be supplied at the beginning of the term together with key questions to be addressed in class. The recommended text for the course is A. Ashworth (2010) Sentencing and Criminal Justice. (5th edition) Cambridge University Press.

Assessment: One two-hour examination in the ST.

LL293 Taxation

This information is for the 2012/13 session.

Teacher responsible: Dr Ian Roxan, NAB7.25, Eduardo Baistrocchi, NAB 7.33

Availability: This is an optional course for LLB second and third year and BA Anthropology and Law. Available to General Course students and as an outside option.

Course content: The aim of the course is to examine the UK tax system against a background of tax law principles and to study selected policy problems as they arise during the course of this examination.

Topics typically include: General principles of taxation, objectives of tax system, types of taxation, structure and administration; role of HM Revenue and Customs in relation to direct taxes. Application and interpretation of tax legislation by the UK courts; tax evasion and tax avoidance. The individual’s tax position. Tax and families. Taxation of employment income. Taxation of business income, including corporation tax. Capital gains tax. Taxation of capital including annual wealth tax and taxes on the transfer of wealth.

Teaching: Two-hour weekly seminars (LL293) plus occasional additional classes as necessary.

Formative coursework: Will form an integral part of the course although it will not be assessed for degree mark purposes.

Indicative reading: Detailed reading lists will be distributed during the course via Moodle.

Assessment: A three-hour written examination. ‘Legislation’ listed above may be taken into the examination, with non-verbal markings only.

LL295 Media Law

This information is for the 2012/13 session.

Teacher responsible: Dr Andrew Scott, NAB 6.25

Availability: LLB and BA Anthropology and Law. Also available to General Course students and as an outside option.

Course content: The course examines the legal and administrative regulation of the press and broadcast media. It focuses on four areas: the control of newsgathering practices, regulating content to protect private interests (such as those in privacy and reputation), regulating content in the public interest, and the regulation of media industry structure. The course centres on law and regulation in the UK, as influenced by European law.

The course is introduced with an overview of two overarching areas: first, the media landscape and the main social, technological and regulatory influences shaping its development, and secondly, the protection of freedom of expression and freedom of the press in national and international law. It then proceeds to review potential restrictions on these values that are aimed at promoting or preserving specific private and/or public interests. The key private interests included are those in reputation, privacy, confidentiality, and intellectual property. The key public interests included are those in preservation of the integrity of the judicial process, the fairness of political debate, the protection from offensive content, and the protection of consumers. The third part of the course focuses on the regulation of journalists’ newsgathering practices, and covers such themes as harassment, surreptitious methods (the ‘Dark Arts’), cheque-book journalism, protection of sources, and access to state-held information. The course concludes with consideration of the structural and economic regulation of the media, with topics including the role and regulation of public service broadcasting, media ownership rules, and the application of competition laws in the media sector.

Teaching: A weekly two-hour lecture and a one-hour class in the Michaelmas and Lent Terms. Two revision sessions will be held in the Summer Term.

Formative coursework: Two formative assignments in each of the Michaelmas and Lent Terms.

Assessment: Three hour unseen examination in the Summer Term (100%).
LL298  Half Unit
Essay on an approved Legal Topic
This information is for the 2012/13 session.
Notes: The regulations for the LLB degree provide that where either a Second or Third Year student is taking the equivalent of three-and-a-half subjects she/he may make up the final half-subject by writing an essay on a legal topic approved by the Law Department. Any student thinking of doing the approved legal topic essay should discuss the matter with his/her tutor. The selection of an appropriate topic would be for the student in consultation with his or her tutor or, if the tutor is not to be the supervisor for the essay, with the supervisor. Once they have settled on a topic it must be approved by the Chair of the Part I and Part II LLB Board by 31 October of the year in question. The supervisor of the essay must be a permanent or ex-permanent member of staff. There is no rule that the topic cannot be from an area covered by a subject being taken (or having been taken) as an ordinary examination subject. But in that case the supervisor and the Chair of the Examiners will need to consider to what extent the subject is different from what would be done in the other course. Obviously, it is not possible to do an essay on a subject that simply repeats material covered elsewhere.

The essay should be type-written and should be accompanied by a bibliography. Footnotes can be placed at the end of the text or at the bottom of the page to which they relate (the latter is preferable). The essay should be 6,000-8,000 words in length (excluding footnotes and bibliography).

The supervisor will be available to provide some guidance but basically it is intended that the student should do his/her own research. The essay should be handed in not later than the first day of the ST.

LL299  Full Unit Essay Option
This information is for the 2012/13 session.
Notes: A Second or Third Year student may write a full unit essay on a legal topic approved by the Law Department. Any student thinking of doing the approved legal topic full unit essay should discuss the matter with his/her tutor. (It should be noted that it is not possible to submit a full unit essay, LL299 and half unit essay, LL298 in the same year.)

The essay should be type-written and should be accompanied by a bibliography. Footnotes can be placed at the end of the text or at the bottom of the page to which they relate (the latter is preferable). The essay should be 12,000-15,000 words in length (excluding footnotes and bibliography).

The conditions attached to the full unit essay are broadly the same as those that currently apply to the half unit essay option, LL298. It is necessary for a student to have the approval of both a member of staff who is willing to supervise the essay and the Chair of the LLB Part I and II Examiners for the proposed essay by 31 October of the year in question. The supervisor of the essay must be a permanent or ex-permanent member of staff. It may be possible to use the essay option to do some work in a subject which is not being offered as a taught course in the year in question. Alternatively, students may be able to use it to do some more detailed work on a topic of particular interest to them, providing that this does not overlap with any course that they are taking to an unacceptable extent.

It should be stressed that no member of staff is under an obligation to agree to supervise any proposed essay. However where a member of staff agrees to act as supervisor, students can expect to see their supervisor to discuss their work on a regular basis in each of the first two terms, with at least three meetings in each term.

The essay should be handed in not later than the first day of the ST.

LL300  Competition Law
This information is for the 2012/13 session.
Teacher responsible: Dr Pablo Ibanez Colomo
Availability: Available to final year LLB and BA Anthropology and Law students. It is also available to General Course students and as an outside option. A knowledge of EC law is desirable but not essential.
Course content: Competition law plays a major (and growing) role in the life of companies. In liberalised sectors, where entry and exit is free (that is, in virtually all sectors of the economy), these rules constrain the behaviour of market players to ensure that consumers benefit from the competitive process in the form of lower prices, better product quality and increased innovation.

Following an introduction in which competition law is put in its economic and political context, the course covers the main substantive and procedural aspects of the discipline, and more precisely the rules applying to: (i) anticompetitive agreements (such as price-fixing cartels and distribution agreements); (ii) abusive practices by dominant firms and (iii) mergers and acquisitions. In each of these areas, the course examines the systems in place in the EU and the UK. References to other regimes, and in particular to US law, will be made where relevant.

Teaching: Lectures: one two-hour lecture every week.
Classes: One-hour classes every fortnight.
Assessment: One three-hour examination in the ST (100%).

LL305  Jurisprudence
This information is for the 2012/13 session.
Teacher responsible: Dr Emmanuel Melissaris, NAB 5.15
Availability: This course is compulsory for LLB students and optional for BA Anthropology and Law. Available as an outside option and to General Course students.
Course content: The aims of the course are: To introduce students to thinking philosophically about the law. To familiarise students with the main methodological, ontological, and normative questions concerning the law and its legitimacy. To provide students with knowledge of some of the most influential legal and political philosophies and their theses on law. To encourage and enable students to think about doctrinal legal questions from a philosophical perspective. To help students develop legal reasoning skills by training them in constructing abstract, philosophical arguments.

Some of the themes that the course covers: natural law; conventionalist and epistemic legal positivism; the rule of law; principles and coherence in legal reasoning; law and authority; some central accounts of the legitimacy of the modern state and its law (Hobbes; Kant; Rawls); Marxist approaches to law; law and economics; Arendt’s political philosophy and its implications for law.

Teaching: Students should attend two lectures and one class each week.
Formative coursework: Students will be expected to write one essay each term.
Assessment: A three-hour unseen written examination will be held in the ST. The examination paper will be divided into first (section A) and second (section B) term questions. Students will be required to answer three questions from a wide choice of questions, but at least one question from each section.

LN100
Russian Language and Society 3 (Advanced)
This information is for the 2012/13 session.
Teacher responsible: Dr Olga Sobolev, CMK. C614
Availability: For all undergraduate students as an outside option (the timetable is held extremely flexible to accommodate students from all departments). This course is capped at 12 students.
Pre-requisites: An A-level pass or foreign equivalent is required. For undergraduates who have either successfully completed the intermediate course (LN102) or can show other evidence of the necessary degree of proficiency. Students can take this course in any year of their studies. Please contact the teacher responsible before registering for this course.
Course content: Advanced study of Russian language within the framework of Russian politics, economics, culture and society. Including: (a) Speaking: individual and group oral presentations; (b) Writing: summary translation and short essay; (c) Reading: topical texts; (d) Listening: TV, video and audio tapes; and (e) Transferable skills.
Teaching: Five hours per week, which will feature: (a) interactive lectures; (b) oral classes; (c) workshops; (d) tutorials; and (e) guided study using Language Showroom, IT and web-based materials.
Formative coursework: Weekly exercises.
Assessment: (a) Three-hour examination (60%); (b) Oral presentation (20%); (c) Portfolio of language work (20%).

LN102
Russian Language and Society 2 (Intermediate)
This information is for the 2012/13 session.
Teacher responsible: Dr Olga Sobolev, CMK. C614
Availability: For all undergraduate students as an outside option (the timetable is held extremely flexible to accommodate students from all departments). This course is capped at 12 students.
Pre-requisites: A good pass at GCSE-level or foreign equivalent is required.
Course content: A bridge from intermediate to advanced studies of Russian language within the framework of Russian politics, economics, culture and society. Including: (a) Speaking: individual and group oral presentations; (b) Writing: summary translation and guided short essay; (c) Reading and responding based on topical texts; (d) Listening: TV, video and audio tapes; and (e) Transferable skills.
Teaching: Five hours per week, which will feature: (a) interactive topic work; (b) oral classes; (c) grammar seminars; (d) tutorials; and (e) guided study using Language Showroom, IT and web-based materials. Students should note that the timetable will be held extremely flexible to accommodate students from all departments. Please contact the teacher responsible if you would like to follow this language course.
Formative coursework: Weekly exercises.
Assessment: (a) Three-hour examination (60%); (b) Oral presentation (20%); (c) Portfolio of language work (20%).

LN101
Russian Language and Society 1 (Beginner)
This information is for the 2012/13 session.
Teacher responsible: Dr Olga Sobolev, CMK. C614
Availability: For all undergraduate students as an outside option. Available to General Course students. This course is capped at 12 students.
Pre-requisites: This is an ab-initio course, and in order to register, no prior knowledge of the target language is required.
Teaching: Six hours per week, (144hrs in total) which will feature: (a) interactive topic work and stimulating activities; (b) oral classes; (c) grammar seminars; (d) Chinese character classes (e) tutorials; and (f) guided study using online language exchange programmes, language laboratory, IT and web-based materials including a virtual learning environment supported by Moodle.
Course content: Beginners to intermediate study of Russian language with reference to Russian culture and society. Including: (a) Speaking: individual and group oral presentations and role plays; (b) Grammar and vocabulary work; (c) Writing: guided short essays; (d) Reading: responding based on topical texts; (e) Listening: video and audio tapes; and (f) Transferable skills.
Teaching: Five hours per week, which will feature: (a) interactive topic work; (b) oral classes; (c) grammar classes; (d) tutorials; and (e) guided study using Language Showroom, IT and web-based materials. Students should note that the timetable will be held extremely flexible to accommodate students from all departments. Please contact the teacher responsible if you would like to follow this language course.
Formative coursework: Weekly exercises.
Assessment: (a) Three-hour examination (60%); (b) Oral presentation (20%); (c) Portfolio of language work (20%).

LN104
Mandarin Language and Society 1 (Beginner)
This information is for the 2012/13 session.
Teacher responsible: Dr Catherine Hua Xiang, CMK.CS16, Email: h.xiang@lse.ac.uk
Availability: Optional, open to all Undergraduate students and as an outside option. Available to General Course students. This course is capped at 12 students.
Pre-requisites: This is an ab-initio course, and in order to register, no prior knowledge of the target language is required.
Teaching: Six hours per week, (144hrs in total) which will feature: (a) interactive topic work and stimulating activities; (b) oral classes; (c) grammar seminars; (d) Chinese character classes (e) tutorials; and (f) guided study using online language exchange programmes, language laboratory, IT and web-based materials including a virtual learning environment supported by Moodle.
Course content: Beginners to intermediate study of Mandarin with reference to Chinese culture and society, including: (a) Speaking: individual and group oral presentations and role play; (b) Grammar and vocabulary work; (c) Writing: guided short essays in both Pinyin and Chinese characters; (d) Reading: recognising up to 750 Chinese characters and responding based on topical texts; (e) Listening: video and audio materials; and (f) Transferable skills.
Formative coursework: The students will be required to complete weekly exercises. This includes grammar activities, writing Chinese characters and online communicative materials.
Assessment: (a) Three-hour examination (60%); (b) Oral presentation (20%); (c) Portfolio of language work (20%).
LN110
German Language and Society 3 (Advanced)
This information is for the 2012/13 session.
Teacher responsible: Dr Peter Skrandies, CMK. C616, Email: p.j.skrandies@lse.ac.uk
Availability: For all undergraduate students as an outside option. (The timetable is held extremely flexible to accommodate students from all departments.) This course is capped at 16 students.
Pre-requisites: An A-level (advanced language) is required. Students can take this course in any year of their studies. Please contact the teacher responsible before registering for this course.
Course content: Advanced study of the German language, within the framework of politics, economics, culture and society including: (a) Speaking: individual and group oral presentations and debates; (b) Writing: summary and short essays; (c) Reading: topical texts; (d) Listening: TV, video and audio tapes; and (e) Transferable skills.
Teaching: Four hours per week, which will feature: (a) Interactive Topic work; (b) Oral practice; (c) Workshops; (d) Tutorials; and (e) Guided study using the Language Showroom, IT and Web-based material. Students should note that the timetable will be held extremely flexible to accommodate students from all departments. Please contact the teacher responsible of you would like to follow this language course.
Formative coursework: Weekly language exercises.
Assessment: (a) Three-hour examination (60%); (b) Oral presentation (20%); and (c) Dossier of language work (20%).

LN120
Spanish Language and Society 3 (Advanced)
This information is for the 2012/13 session.
Teacher responsible: Ms Mercedes Coca, CMK. C513
Availability: For all undergraduate students as an outside option. This course is capped at 32 students.
Pre-requisites: An A-level (advanced language) pass or foreign equivalent is required. For undergraduates who have either successfully completed the intermediate course (LN122) or can show other evidence of the necessary degree of proficiency. Students can take this course in any year of their studies. Please contact the teacher responsible before registering for this course.
Course content: Advanced study of the Spanish language within the framework of politics, economics, culture and society. Including (a) Speaking: individual and group oral presentations and debates; (b) Writing: summary writing and short essays; (c) Reading: topical texts; (d) Listening: TV, films and digital media; and (e) Transferable skills.
Teaching: Four hours per week, which will feature: (a) Interactive Lectures; (b) Oral practice; (c) Workshops; (d) Tutorials; and (e) Guided study using Language Showroom, IT and Web-based material.
Formative coursework: Weekly language exercises.
Indicative reading: USO de la gramática española: avanzado, Francisca Castro, editorial Edelsa (más clave con respuestas); E Galeano, Las Venas Abiertas de América Latina, 1988; H Graham & J Labanyi (Eds), Spanish Cultural Studies, OUP 1995; J Hooper, Los Nuevos Españoles, 1996; El Norte, Arrow Film Distributors Ltd, VHS Tape - April 29, 1996; Carlos Fuentes, El Espeto Enterrado, Taurus Bolsillo, 1998. Students will be advised to buy any relevant materials at the beginning of the course.

LN121
Spanish Language and Society 1 (Beginner)
This information is for the 2012/13 session.
Teachers responsible: Ms Lourdes Hernández-Martín, CMK. C807 Mr Rafael Peñas-Cruz, CMK. C806
Availability: For all undergraduate students as an outside option. No previous knowledge of the language is required. Students can take this course in any year of their studies. Please contact the teacher responsible before registering for this course. This course is capped at 24 students.
Course content: Beginners to intermediate study of the Spanish Language within the framework of politics, economics, society and culture. Including (a) Speaking: individual and group oral presentations and debates; (b) Grammar and vocabulary work; (c) Writing: guided short essays; (d) Reading responding based on topical texts; (e) Listening: TV, films and digital media; and (f) Transferable skills.
Teaching: Six hours per week, which will feature: (a) interactive topic work; (b) oral practice; (c) grammar classes; (d) tutorials; and (e) guided study using Language Showroom, IT and web-based materials.
Formative coursework: Weekly exercises.
Indicative reading: Students will be advised to buy any relevant materials at the beginning of the course.
Assessment: (a) Three-hour examination (60%); (b) Oral presentation (20%); (c) Dossier of language work (20%).

LN122
Spanish Language and Society 2 (Intermediate)
This information is for the 2012/13 session.
Teacher responsible: Ms Lourdes Hernández-Martín, CMK. C807
Availability: For all undergraduate students as an outside option. This course is capped at 12 students.
Pre-requisites: A good pass at GCSE+ / AS Level or its equivalent is required. For undergraduates who have either successfully completed the beginner course (LN121) or can show other evidence of the necessary degree of proficiency. Students can take this course in any year of their studies. Please contact the teacher responsible before registering for this course.
Course content: A bridge from intermediate to advanced study of the Spanish language within the framework of politics, economics, culture and society. Including (a) Speaking: individual and group oral presentations and debates; (b) Writing: summary writing and short guided compositions; (c) Reading: topical texts; (d) Listening: TV, films and digital media; and (e) Transferable skills.
Teaching: Five hours per week, which will feature: (a) Interactive Topic work; (b) Oral Classes; (c) Workshops; (d) Tutorials; and (e) Guided study using the Language Showroom, IT and Web-based material.
Formative coursework: Weekly language exercises.
Indicative reading: USO de la gramática española: intermedio, Francisca Castro, editorial Edelsa (más clave con respuestas). Students will be advised to buy any relevant materials at the beginning of the course.
Assessment: (a) Three-hour examination (60%); (b) Oral presentation (20%); and (c) Dossier of language work (20%).

LN130
French Language and Society 3 (Advanced)
This information is for the 2012/13 session.
Teacher responsible: Mr Christophe Millart, CMK. C803, Email: c.millart@lse.ac.uk
Availability: For all undergraduate students as an outside option. This course is capped at 32 students.
Pre-requisites: An A-level (Advanced level) pass or foreign equivalent is required. For undergraduates who have either successfully completed the intermediate course (LN132) or can show other evidence of the necessary degree of proficiency. Students can take this course in any year of their studies. Please contact the teacher responsible before registering for this course.

Course content: Advanced study of the French language within the framework of history, politics, economics and society including:
(a) Speaking: individual and group oral presentations; (b) Writing: summary and short essay; (c) Reading: topical texts; (d) Listening: TV, video and audio tapes; and (e) Transferable skills.

Teaching: Four hours per week, which will feature: (a) Interactive Lectures; (b) Oral Classes; (c) Workshops; (d) Tutorials; and (e) Guided study using Language Showroom, IT and web-based material including a virtual learning environment supported by Moodle.

Formative coursework: Weekly language exercises.

Indicative reading: Students are encouraged to make full use of the resources of French books in the Library as well as reference books. Students are also strongly advised to use the French language resources available on the World Wide Web. The following works are recommended: Fadela Amara, Ni Putes Ni Soumises (2004); G Thomas, Francothèque, A resource for French studies, 2002; Serge Bernstein et Pierre Milza, Histoire de la France au XXème siècle, (1991); Michel Herrera, Qui répète l’histoire? (2003).

Assessment: (a) Three-hour examination (60%); (b) Oral presentation (20%); and (c) Portfolio of language work (20%).

LN131 French Language and Society 1 (Beginner)

This information is for the 2012/13 session.

Teacher responsible: Mr Christophe Millart, CMK. C803, Email: c.millart@lse.ac.uk

Availability: For all undergraduate students as an outside option. No previous knowledge of the language required. Students can take this course in any year of their studies. Please contact the teacher responsible before registering for this course. This course is capped at 24 students.

Course content: Beginner to intermediate study of the French language within the framework of politics, economics and society including:
(a) Speaking: individual and group oral presentations; (b) Writing: summary and guided short essay; (c) Reading and responding based on topical texts; (d) Listening: TV, video and audio tapes; and (e) Transferable skills.

Teaching: Six hours per week, which will feature: (a) interactive topic work; (b) oral classes; (c) grammar seminars; (d) tutorials; and (e) guided study using language laboratory, IT and web-based materials including a virtual learning environment supported by Moodle.

Formative coursework: Weekly exercises.

Assessment: Dossier of language work (20% of the final mark), Oral presentation (20% of the final mark); three-hour examination (60% of the final mark).

LN132 French Language and Society 2 (Intermediate)

This information is for the 2012/13 session.

Teacher responsible: Mr Christophe Millart, CMK. C803, Email: c.millart@lse.ac.uk

Availability: For all undergraduate students as an outside option. Please make sure to contact the Teacher responsible above for an interview to discuss course requirements and level BEFORE registering for this course. This course is capped at 24 students.

Pre-requisites: A good pass at GCSE-level or foreign equivalent is required. For undergraduates who have either successfully completed the beginners course (LN131) or can show other evidence of the necessary degree of proficiency. Students can take this course in any year of their studies. Please contact the teacher responsible before registering for this course.

Course content: A bridge from intermediate to advanced studies of French language in politics, economics and society including:
(a) Speaking: individual and group oral presentations; (b) Writing: summary and guided short essay; (c) Reading and responding based on topical texts; (d) Listening: TV, video and audio tapes; and (e) Transferable skills.

Teaching: Five hours per week, which will feature: (a) interactive topic work; (b) oral classes; (c) grammar seminars; (d) tutorials; and (e) guided study using language laboratory, IT and web-based materials including a virtual learning environment supported by Moodle.

Formative coursework: Weekly exercises.

Indicative reading: Students are encouraged to make full use of the resources of French books in the Library as well as reference books. Students are also strongly advised to use the French language resources available on the World Wide Web. The following works are recommended: Fadela Amara, Ni Putes Ni Soumises (2004); G Thomas, Francothèque, A resource for French studies, 2002; Serge Bernstein et Pierre Milza, Histoire de la France au XXème siècle, (1991); Michel Herrera, Qui répète l’histoire? (2003).

Assessment: (a) Three-hour examination (60%); (b) Oral presentation (20%); and (c) Portfolio of language work (20%).

LN140 Mandarin Language and Society 3 (Advanced)

This information is for the 2012/13 session.

Teacher responsible: Dr Catherine Hua Xiang, CMK.CS16, Email: h.xiang@lse.ac.uk

Availability: Optional course, open to all Undergraduate students and as an outside option. Available to General Course students. This course is capped at 16 students.

Pre-requisites: An A-level (Advanced level) pass or foreign equivalent is required. For undergraduates who have either successfully completed the intermediate course or can show other evidence of the necessary degree of proficiency. Teaching: Four hours per week (96hrs in total), which will feature: (a) interactive topic work and stimulating activities; (b) oral classes; (c) workshops; (d) reading classes (e) tutorials; and (f) guided study using online language exchange programme, language laboratory, IT and web-based materials including a virtual learning environment supported by Moodle.

Formative coursework: The students will be required to complete weekly exercises. This includes grammar activities, writing essays, in class presentation and online communicative materials.

Course content: Advanced study of Mandarin within the framework of politics, economics, culture and society, including: (a) Speaking: individual and group oral presentations and debates; (b) Grammar and vocabulary work; (c) Writing: summary writing and short essay (d) Reading: recognising up to 2,500 Chinese characters and responding based on topical texts; (e) Listening: TV, video and audio materials; and (f) Transferable skills.
LN142
Mandarin Language and Society 2
(Intermediate)
This information is for the 2012/13 session.
Teacher responsible: Dr Catherine Hua Xiang, CMK.C516, Email: h.xiang@lse.ac.uk
Availability: Optional, open to all UG and as an outside option.
Pre-requisites: This is an intermediate course, and in order to register, completion of Language and Society 1 or GCSE equivalent is required.
Course content: Intermediate to Advanced study of Mandarin with reference to Chinese culture and society, including:
(a) Speaking: individual and group oral presentations and role play; (b) Grammar and vocabulary work; (c) Writing: guided short essays in Chinese characters; (d) Reading: recognising up to 1500 Chinese characters and responding based on topical texts; (e) Listening: video and audio materials; and (f) Transferable skills.
Teaching: Five hours per week, (120hrs in total) which will feature:
(a) interactive topic work and stimulating activities; (b) oral classes; (c) grammar seminars; (d) Chinese character classes (e) tutorials; and (f) guided study using online language exchange programmes, language laboratory, IT and web-based materials including a virtual learning environment supported by Moodle.
Formative coursework: The students will be required to complete weekly exercises. This includes grammar activities, writing Chinese characters and online communicative materials.
Assessment: (a) Three-hour examination (60%); (b) Oral presentation (20%); (c) Portfolio of language work (20%).

LN210
German Language and Society 4 (Proficiency)
This information is for the 2012/13 session.
Teacher responsible: Dr Peter Skrandies, CMK. C616, Email: p.j.skrandies@lse.ac.uk
Availability: For all undergraduate students as an outside option. This course is capped at 16 students.
Pre-requisites: For undergraduates who have either successfully completed the advanced course (LN110) or can show other evidence of the necessary degree of proficiency.
Course content: A bridge to further advanced study of the German language within the framework of politics, economics, culture and society, including: (a) Speaking: individual and group oral presentations and debates; (b) Writing: summary and short guided compositions; (c) Reading: basic topical texts; (d) Listening: TV, video and audio files; and (e) Transferable skills.
Teaching: Three hours per week, which will feature: (a) Interactive Topic work; (b) Oral practice; (c) Workshops; (d) Tutorials; and (e) Guided study using the Language Showroom, using IT and Web-based material. Students should note that the timetable will be held extremely flexible to accommodate students from all departments. Please contact the teacher responsible if you would like to follow this language course.
Formative coursework: Weekly language exercises.
Assessment: (a) Three-hour examination (60%); (b) Oral presentation (20%); and (c) Dossier of language work (20%).

LN220
Spanish Language and Society 4 (Proficiency)
This information is for the 2012/13 session.
Teacher responsible: Ms Mercedes Coca, CMK. C513
Availability: For undergraduates as an outside option. This course is capped at 16 students.
Pre-requisites: For undergraduates who have either successfully completed the advanced course (LN120) or can show other evidence of the necessary degree of proficiency. Students can take this course in any year of their studies. Please contact the teacher responsible before registering for this course.
Course content: Further advanced study of the Spanish language within the framework of politics, economics, culture and society. Including: (a) Speaking: individual and group oral presentations; (b) Writing: summary translation and short essay; (c) Reading: topical texts; (d) Listening: TV, video and audio tapes; and (e) Transferable skills.
Teaching: Three-hours per week, which will feature: (a) interactive lectures; (b) oral classes; (c) workshops; (d) tutorials; and (e) guided study using Language Showroom, IT and web-based materials. Students should note that the timetable will be held extremely flexible to accommodate students from all departments. Please contact the teacher responsible if you would like to follow this language course.
Formative coursework: Weekly exercises.
Assessment: (a) Three-hour examination (60%); (b) Oral presentation (20%); and (c) Dossier of language work (20%).
Teaching: Three hours per week, which will feature: (a) Lectures; (b) Oral practice; (c) Workshops; (d) Tutorials; and (e) Guided study using Language Showroom, IT and Web-based material.

Formative coursework: Weekly language exercises.

Assessment: (a) Three-hour examination (60%); (b) Oral presentation (20%); and (c) Dossier of language work (20%).

LN230

French Language and Society 4 (Proficiency)

This information is for the 2012/13 session.

Teacher responsible: Mr Christophe Millart, CMK. C803, Email: c.millart@lse.ac.uk

Availability: For all undergraduate students as an outside option. This course is capped at 32 students.

Pre-requisites: For undergraduates who have either successfully completed the advanced course (LN130) or can show other evidence of the necessary degree of proficiency, Students can take this course in any year of their studies. Please contact the teacher responsible before registering for this course.

Course content: Further advanced study of the French language within the framework of politics, economics culture and society including:

a) Speaking: individual and group oral presentations;

b) Writing: summary and short essay;

c) Reading: topical texts;

d) Listening: TV, video and audio tapes;

Teaching: Three hours per week, which will feature: (a) Lectures;

(b) Oral Classes;

(c) Workshops;

(d) Tutorials; and

(e) Guided study using Language Showroom, IT and web-based material including a virtual learning environment supported by Moodle.

Formative coursework: Weekly language exercises.

Indicative reading: Students are encouraged to make full use of the resources of French books in the Library as well as reference books. Students are also strongly advised to use the French language resources available on the World Wide Web. The following works are recommended: Jean-Marie Harribey, La démence sénile du capital, Fragments d’économie critique (2004); Jean-Pierre Warnier, La mondialisation de la culture (1999); Laurent Wirth, L’exception française 19e -20e siècles (2000); Michel Herrera, Qui répète l’histoire? (2003).

Assessment: (a) Three-hour examination (60%); (b) Oral presentation (20%); and (c) Dossier of language work (20%).

LN240

Mandarin Language and Society 4 (Proficiency)

This information is for the 2012/13 session.

Teacher responsible: Dr Catherine Hua Xiang, CMK.C516, Email: h.xiang@lse.ac.uk

Availability: Optional, open to all UG and as an outside option.

Pre-requisites: This is an Advanced Proficiency course, and in order to register, completion of Language and Society 3 or equivalent is required.

Course content: Advanced to Proficiency study of Mandarin with reference to Chinese culture and society, including: (a) Speaking: individual and group oral presentations and role play; (b) Grammar and vocabulary work in specific fields; (c) Writing: guided essay in Chinese characters; (d) Reading: recognising up to 3,500 Chinese characters and responding based on authentic texts; (e) Listening: authentic video and audio materials; and (f) Transferable skills.

Teaching: Three hours per week, (72hrs in total) which will feature: (a) interactive topic work and stimulating activities; (b) oral classes; (c) workshops or projects; (d) reading and writing classes (e) tutorials; and (f) guided study using online language exchange programmes, language laboratory, IT and web-based materials including a virtual learning environment supported by Moodle.

Formative coursework: The students will be required to complete weekly exercises. This includes newspaper reading, research projects and online communicative materials.

Assessment: (a) Three-hour examination (60%); (b) Oral presentation (20%); (c) Portfolio of language work (20%).

LN250

English Literature and Society

This information is for the 2012/13 session.

Teacher responsible: Dr Angus Wrenn, CMK. C614

Availability: For all undergraduate students as an outside option. Students can take this course in any year of their studies. This course is capped at 32 students.

Pre-requisites: An A-level pass or equivalent is recommended but not required (especially for General Course students).

Course content: (a) Study of 20th century British literature (prose, poetry and drama) in its socio-political context; Study of individual authors (in weekly lectures) - these form the basis of the examination assessment (b) Study of major cultural themes running through the century e.g. Literature of War; Imperialism; Feminism; Modernism; Postmodernism; Political writing - these form the basis of the student's extended coursework essay. (c) Several trips to theatre productions during the year; (d) Extensive use of archive recordings of authors, and video; (e) Students encouraged to draw upon background in their main discipline, and to read widely.

Teaching: Two hours per week, featuring: (a) Lectures on a range of authors and themes; (b) Classes including students’ presentations; (c) Revision Workshops; (d) Tutorials.

Formative coursework: Two essays per year; presentations.

Assessment: Three-hour written examination (75%); coursework essay (25%).

LN251

Comparative Literature and Society

This information is for the 2012/13 session.

Teacher responsible: Dr Angus Wrenn, CMK. C614

Availability: For all undergraduate students as an outside option. Students can take this course in any year of their studies. This course will be capped at 24 students.

Pre-requisites: Although an A-level pass or equivalent in Literature is useful, it is not an absolute requirement (especially for General Course Students).

Course content: Comparative literature of the twentieth century leading up to and including the Cold War. (a) Study of major authors (prose, poetry and drama, in English translation where relevant) on both sides of the Iron Curtain with a focus on the recurrent cultural themes: Fabianism; Utopia/Dystopia; Socialist Realism/Art with a Social Function; Cold War (b) Use of video-recording related to the texts (c) Several related trips to galleries and theatre productions during the year; (d) Students encouraged to draw upon background in their main discipline, and to read widely.

Teaching: Two hours per week, featuring (a) Lectures on a range of authors and themes; (b) classes including students’ presentations; (c) revision workshops; (d) tutorials.

Formative coursework: Two essays per year; presentations

Indicative reading: H. G. Wells The Time Machine; Aldous Huxley Brave New World; Shaw Back to Methuselah; E. Zamiatyn We; George Orwell Animal Farm; W. H. Auden The Night Mail; Vladimir Mayakovskiy At the Top of My Voice; Alexander Solzhenitsyn A Day in the Life of Ivan Denisovich; Andrei Makine A Life’s Music; Milan Kundera The Unbearable Lightness of Being; Ian Fleming From Russia with Love; Tom Stoppard Professional Foul; Bruce Chatwin Utz.

Assessment: Three-hour written examination (75%); coursework essay (25%)

LN252 Contemporary Literature and Global Society

This information is for the 2012/13 session.

Teacher responsible: Dr Angus Wrenn, CMK. C614

Availability: For all undergraduate students as an outside option. Students can take this course in any year of their studies. This course will be capped at 24 students.

Pre-requisites: Although an A-level pass or equivalent in Literature is useful, it is not an absolute requirement (especially for General Course students).

Course content: (a) Study of contemporary (chiefly post 1990) world literature in the context of modern globalised society, covering prose, poetry and drama; (b) Focus on: cultural imperialism, decline of national frameworks; authors with global identity, ‘commodification’ of literature; individualism in modern liberal democracies and social fragmentation in the post-totalitarian context; (c) study of individual authors, in English translation where relevant. (d) several related trips to galleries and theatre productions during the year; (e) extensive use of archive recordings of authors, and video; (f) students are encouraged to draw upon their background in their main discipline, and to read widely.

Teaching: Two hours per week, featuring (a) lectures on a range of authors and themes; (b) classes including students’ presentations; (c) revision workshops; and (d) tutorials.

Formative coursework: Two essays per year and presentations

Indicative reading: Benjamin Zephaniah Propa Propaganda; George Szirtes Collected Poems; Douglas Coupland, Generation X; Viktor Pelevin, Babylon; Tom Stoppard, Rock-n-Roll; Vaclav Havel Leaving, Monica Ali, Brick Lane; Mohsin Hamid, The Reluctant Fundamentalist; Joseph Conrad, Heart of Darkness; Vladimir Nabokov, Lolita, Milan Kundera, Ignorance; Zadie Smith, White Teeth

Assessment: Three hour written examination (75%) and coursework project (25%).

LN253 European Literature and Society

This information is for the 2012/13 session.

Teacher responsible: Dr Angus Wrenn, C614

Availability: For all undergraduate students as an outside option. Students can take this course in any year of their studies. This course is capped at 24 students.

Pre-requisites: Although an A-level pass or equivalent in Literature is useful, it is not an absolute requirement (especially for General Course students).

Course content: (a) Literary treatment of the major philosophical trends of the twentieth century, including the aesthetics of Schopenhauer and Nietzsche, the analytical school of Russell, Berlin, the existentialism of Sartre, the paradox of the absurd of Camus, French and East European Phenomenology. (b) Related trips to galleries and theatre productions during the year; (c) Use of archive recordings of authors, and video; (d) Students encouraged to draw upon background in their main discipline, and to read widely.

Teaching: Two hours per week: one lecture and one class.

Formative coursework: Two essays per year, presentations

Indicative reading: Dostoevsky The Grand Inquisitor; St- Exupery The Little Prince; Solzhenitsyn One Day in the Life of Ivan Denisovich; Camus L’Etranger; Kundera Unbearable Lightness of Being; Paul Celan; Stoppard Dogg’s Hamlet Cahoot’s Macbeth

Assessment: Three-hour written examination (75%); coursework project (25%).

LN270 Society and Language: Linguistics for Social Scientists

This information is for the 2012/13 session.

Teacher responsible: Dr Peter Skrandies, CMK. C616, Email: p.j.skrandies@lse.ac.uk

Availability: For all undergraduate students as an outside option. Students can take this course in any year of their studies. This course will be capped at 15 students.

Course content: The course will introduce students to key (socio) linguistic concepts (semantic and pragmatic meaning, discourse, register, genre, dialect, idiolect, sociolect) employed in the analysis of language use as a social process. Students will explore the reciprocal relationship between language and specific social contexts and structures (class, gender, ethnicity), and study the role that language plays in the creation, maintenance and change of social relations and institutions. Important themes are changing attitudes to language and the prestige afforded to particular languages and language varieties. The use of language for academic purposes will be analysed, as will be situations of language contact, multilingualism and the role of translation in intercultural and international communication. The implications and consequences for less widely used languages of the emergence of English (and other widely spoken languages) as global lingua francas will be outlined and discussed.

Teaching: Two hours per week, featuring: (a) Lectures on a range of concepts and themes; (b) classes including students’ presentations; (c) revision workshops; (d) tutorials.

Formative coursework: Short essays, linguistic analyses, presentations.

Assessment: (a) Three-hour examination (75%); (b) coursework project (25%).

LN320 Not available in 2012/13 Spanish Language and Society 5 (Mastery)

This information is for the 2012/13 session.

Teacher responsible: Mr Rafael Peñas Cruz, CMK. C806

Availability: For all undergraduate students as an outside option. This course is capped at 12 students.

Pre-requisites: For undergraduates who have either successfully completed the programme (LN220) or can show other evidence of the necessary degree of proficiency which will be close to native speaker competence. Students can take this course in any year of their studies. Please contact the teacher responsible before registering for this course.

Course content: Further advanced study of the Spanish language within the framework of politics, economics, culture and society. Including: (a) Speaking: individual and group oral presentations and debates; (b) Writing: summary writing and short essays; (c) Reading: topical texts; (d) Listening: TV, films and digital media; and (e) Transferable skills.

Teaching: Two hours per week, which will feature: (a) Lectures; (b) Oral practice; (c) Workshops; (d) Tutorials; and (e) Guided study Assessment: (a) Three-hour examination (60%); (b) Oral presentation (20%); and (c) Portfolio of language work (20%).

LSE100
The LSE Course: Understanding the causes of things
This information is for the 2012/13 session.
Teacher responsible: Director of LSE100: Dr J Leape. The LSE100 lectures are given by lecturers from a range of departments.
Availability: Compulsory course on all undergraduate programmes: students complete term one in Lent Term of their first year and term two in Michaelmas Term of their second year. The course is not available to General Course students or to second-year direct-entry students.
Course content: The course introduces students to the fundamental elements of thinking like a social scientist. Running through all of the social sciences are questions of evidence, explanation and theory. LSE100 uses current issues of public concern and intellectual debate to explore these questions from the perspective of different disciplines. No important issue can be fully understood through a single lens. The goal of the course is to enable students to complement the intellectual grounding in their discipline with a broad understanding of different ways of thinking. In six three-week modules the course will examine ‘big’ questions, such as:

Who caused the financial crisis?

Is population growth a threat or an opportunity?

Who should own ideas?

Why are great events so difficult to predict?

How should we manage climate change?

Does culture matter?

Indicative reading: Students are encouraged to make full use of the resources of language gateway at LSE and online magazine subscription. There will be guided authentic materials from newspaper, web and journals.
Assessment: (a) Three-hour examination (60%); (b) Oral presentation (20%); (c) Portfolio of language work (20%).
presentation project and a two-hour examination. Students receive an overall mark for the course of Distinction, Merit, Credit or Fail.

MA100 Mathematical Methods
This information is for the 2012/13 session.
Teachers responsible: Michele Harvey COL 4.14, Professor Jan van den Heuvel COL 3.07
Availability: This course is available to students on the following programmes: BSc Actuarial Science, BSc Accounting and Finance, BSc Business Mathematics and Statistics, BSc Econometrics and Mathematical Economics, BSc Mathematics with Economics, BSc Economics, MSc Economics (Two Year Programme), BSc Economic History with Economics, BSc Economics and Economic History, BSc Economics with Economic History, BSc Environmental Policy with Economics, BSc Geography with Economics, BSc Mathematics and Economics and BSc Philosophy and Economics. Available to General Course students and as an outside option. This course cannot be taken with MA107 Quantitative Methods (Mathematics), MA110 Basic Quantitative Methods and MA207 Further Quantitative Methods
Pre-requisites: This course assumes knowledge of the elementary techniques of mathematics including calculus, as evidenced for example by a good grade in A Level Mathematics.
Course content: This is an introductory level course for those who wish to use mathematics seriously in social science, or in any other context. A range of basic mathematical concepts and methods in calculus of one and several variables and in linear algebra are covered and some applications illustrated. It is an essential pre-requisite for any mathematically orientated economics options and for many further mathematics courses.
Teaching: The lecture course MA100 is two hours each week (one hour of linear algebra and one hour of calculus) in the MT, LT and early ST (44 lectures in all). In addition weekly classes MA100.A are given (MA100.B for BSc Mathematics and/With Economics, MA100.C for BSc Actuarial Science and MA100.D for BSc BMS only).
Formative coursework: Students will be expected to complete exercises assigned weekly in the lectures. Written answers to specified exercises are submitted to the appropriate class teacher for evaluation. Success in this paper depends on dealing with this written work as it is assigned, in a regular and systematic manner.
Assessment: The course assessment is based exclusively on a three-hour formal examination in the ST.

MA107 Half Unit
Quantitative Methods (Mathematics)
This information is for the 2012/13 session.
Teacher responsible: Dr James Ward COL 4.14
Availability: This course is available to students on the following programmes: BSc Accounting and Finance, BSc Environmental Policy, BSc Geography with Economics, BSc Environmental Policy with Economics, BSc Government and Economics, BSc Human Resource Management and Employment Relations, BSc Management, BSc Management Sciences, BSc Philosophy and Economics, BSc Social Policy and Economics and the Diploma in Accounting and Finance. Available to General Course students and as an outside option. This course cannot be taken with MA100, Mathematical Methods’ or MA110 Basic Quantitative Methods.
Pre-requisites: This is a basic course in Mathematics for students who have at least at an AS-level in Mathematics, or equivalent, and are able to use basic calculus (some revision of this basic material is given in the lectures). It is also appropriate for students with A-level in Mathematics. Students with A-level Mathematics who are confident of their mathematical skills may also consider the full unit MA100.
Course content: The aim of this course is to develop the basic mathematical tools necessary for further study in economics and related disciplines. To this end we focus on: techniques of calculus (differentiation, partial differentiation, optimisation and integration), methods of linear algebra (use of matrices), and the solution of difference and differential equations. The ideas are taught systematically, with emphasis on their application to economic problems. Examples are used throughout the course for motivation and illustration.
Help Sessions MA107.B: 10 in MT.
Revision lectures will be arranged in the ST.

Formative coursework: Written answers to set problems will be expected on a weekly basis.

Indicative reading: The course follows M Anthony & N L Biggs, Mathematics for Economics and Finance: Methods and Modelling, CUP, 1996. A useful background text which is the basis of a follow-on course is A Ostaszewski, Mathematics for Economics: Models and Methods, Blackwell, 1993. There are many other books with titles like Mathematics for Economists but none of them are close enough for use in this course. Further information will be provided in the lectures.

Assessment: A two-hour examination in the ST.

MA110 Basic Quantitative Methods

This information is for the 2012/13 session.

Teachers responsible: Dr James Ward, COL 4.14 and Dr Ioannis Kouletis.

Availability: This course is for BSc Government and Economics and BSc Accounting and Finance. The course is designed for students with a reasonable understanding of GCSE-level Mathematics (or equivalent). Available to General Course students and as an outside option. This course cannot be taken with MA100, Mathematical Methods or MA107 Quantitative Methods (Mathematics).

Pre-requisites: The course is not available for students with A-level Mathematics (or equivalent). Students with a basic understanding of calculus e.g. AS-level Mathematics (or equivalent) are normally expected to take MA107 Quantitative Methods (Mathematics).

Course content: The course is designed to provide students with the elementary mathematical tools that are needed to study Economics. Students will be introduced to basic mathematical concepts and manipulations. Examples of applying these techniques to a variety of economical and management problems are given throughout the course.

Content - Part A: Arithmetic operations, powers and roots; basic algebra; introduction to linear programming; logarithms and exponential growth; sets, functions and graphs; differentiation of functions of one variable; marginal cost and marginal revenue; optimisation of functions of one variable; difference equations; equilibrium and stability in dynamical models.

Content - Part B: Introduction to integration; consumer and producer surplus; matrix algebra; systems of linear equations; functions of several variables; partial differentiation; optimisation and the Lagrange multiplier method.

Teaching: Lectures MA110: 20 in MT and 20 in LT. Classes MA110.A: 10 in MT and 10 in LT.

Help sessions MA110.B: 10 in MT and 10 in LT.

Revision lectures will be arranged in ST.

Formative coursework: Written answers to set problems will be expected on a weekly basis.

Assessment: Three-hour written examination in the ST.

MA203 Half Unit

Real Analysis

This information is for the 2012/13 session.

Teacher responsible: Dr Konrad Swanepoel, COL 3.09.

Availability: The course is compulsory for BSc Mathematics and Economics and BSc Mathematics with Economics. It is optional on BSc Econometrics and Mathematical Economics, BSc Business, Mathematics and Statistics. Also available as an outside option. Available to General Course students with permission.

Pre-requisites: Introduction to Abstract Mathematics (MA103), or some equivalent giving experience with formal proofs.

Course content: This is a course in real analysis for those who have already met the basic concepts. The emphasis is on functions, sequences and series in real n-dimensional space, and the more general concept of a metric space.

We study the formal mathematical theory of: series of real numbers; series and sequences in n-dimensional real space Rn, limits, continuity and derivatives of functions mapping between Rm and Rn, uniform convergence of continuous functions, closed and open sets, and compactness. These topics are set in a more general context by introducing metric spaces.

Teaching: 20 lectures (MA203) MT accompanied by weekly classes (MA203.A) MT. Revision lectures in ST.

Formative coursework: Written answers to set problems will be expected on a weekly basis.

Indicative reading: Lecture notes will be provided. The following may prove useful: Robert G Bartle & Donald R Sherbert, Introduction to Real Analysis; K G Binmore, Mathematical Analysis: a straightforward approach; Victor Bryant, Yet Another Introduction to Analysis; W A Sutherland, Introduction to Metric and Topological Spaces.

Assessment: A two-hour formal examination in the ST.

MA207 Half Unit

Further Quantitative Methods (Mathematics)

This information is for the 2012/13 session.

Teacher responsible: Dr Michele Harvey, COL 4.14.

Availability: This course is intended primarily for students of BSc Management, BSc Management Sciences and BSc Accounting and Finance. Also available as an outside option. Available to General Course students with permission. This course cannot be taken with MA100 Mathematical Methods.

Pre-requisites: Students should have previously taken Quantitative Methods (Mathematics) (MA107). It is not available to students who have taken Mathematical Methods (MA100), or equivalent, nor higher level methods courses.

Course content: This is a second course in quantitative methods, following on directly from Quantitative Methods (Mathematics) (MA107). This course will contain further algebra and calculus. As with the course MA107, the emphasis will be on applications in economics and finance.

Teaching: 20 Lectures (MA207) and 10 classes (MA207.A) in the LT.

Revision lectures in the ST.

Formative coursework: Written answers to set problems will be expected on a weekly basis.

Assessment: One two-hour paper in the ST.

MA208 Half Unit

Optimisation Theory

This information is for the 2012/13 session.

Teacher responsible: Dr Luitgard Veraart COL 4.11.

Availability: The course is intended for students on BSc Mathematics and Economics, BSc Mathematics with Economics and BSc Business Mathematics and Statistics. Students on other degrees may take this course provided that they satisfy the pre-requisites.

Pre-requisites: Mathematical Methods (MA100) and Introduction to Abstract Mathematics (MA103) are pre-requisites. Real Analysis (MA203) is desirable, and students who have not done MA203 should contact Dr. Luitgard Veraart.

Course content: The course describes various techniques of optimisation, gives a mathematical presentation of the relevant theory, and shows how they can be applied.

Teaching: 20 lectures (MA208) and 10 classes (MA208.A) in the LT. Revision lectures will be arranged in the ST.

Formative coursework: Written answers to set problems will be expected on a weekly basis.

Indicative reading: Information on important and required texts will be provided at the beginning of the course. Good sources of literature are R K Sundaram, A First Course in Optimisation Theory; N L Biggs, Discrete Mathematics (2nd edition). Additional notes will be handed out throughout the course.

Assessment: A two-hour written examination in the ST.

---

MA209 Half Unit

Differential Equations

This information is for the 2012/13 session.

Teacher responsible: Dr Ioannis Kouletsis.

Availability: The course is intended for students on BSc Mathematics and Economics, BSc Mathematics with Economics and BSc Business Mathematics and Statistics. Also available as an outside option. Available to General Course students with permission.

Pre-requisites: Mathematical Methods (MA100) and Introduction to Abstract Mathematics (MA103) are pre-requisites. Real Analysis (MA203) and/or Further Mathematical Methods (Calculus) (MA200) are highly desirable, and students who have done neither MA203 nor MA200 should contact the lecturer.

Course content: The course concentrates on the theory and qualitative analysis of (ordinary) differential equations, although some solution techniques will be considered as well. Special attention will be paid to geometric concepts and the role of differential equations in the theory of dynamical systems. Specific topics covered are: First examples; illustrations of use of the computer package Maple. Existence and uniqueness of solutions. Autonomous 1-dimensional systems. Linear equations and systems: phase portraits; classification of systems in the plane; higher dimensional systems and higher order equations. Nonlinear systems in the plane: local and global behaviour; linearisation and stability at fixed points; Lyapunov functions. General nonlinear systems: attracting sets and attractors; conservative systems and integrals.

Teaching: 20 lectures (MA209) and 10 classes (MA209.A) in the LT. Revision lectures will be arranged in the ST.

Formative coursework: Written answers to set problems will be expected on a weekly basis.

Indicative reading: Full notes will be handed out throughout the course. A good additional text book is D K Arrowsmith, Differential Equations, Stability and Chaos in Dynamic Economics. Other books closely related to R Grimshaw, Nonlinear Dynamical Systems and Chaos in Dynamic Economics.

Assessment: A two-hour written examination in the ST.

---

MA210 Half Unit

Discrete Mathematics

This information is for the 2012/13 session.

Teacher responsible: Dr Jozef Skokan, COL 3.04

Availability: BSc Mathematics and Economics and BSc Mathematics with Economics. Also available as an outside option. Available to General Course students with permission.

Pre-requisites: MA103 Introduction to Abstract Mathematics, or an equivalent course giving a background in rigorous mathematics.

Course content: A second-level course covering some of the main concepts and techniques of discrete mathematics together with its applications. Topics covered: Counting: selections, inclusion-exclusion, partitions and permutations, generating functions, recurrence relations. Graph Theory: basic concepts (graph, adjacency matrix, etc), walks and cycles, trees and forests, colourings. Optional topics include coding theory, designs, and algorithms and their efficiency.

Teaching: 20 hours of lectures and 10 hours of classes in the Lent Term.

Formative coursework: Weekly exercises are set and marked.

Indicative reading: Pj Cameron, Combinatorics (CUP 1994); NL Biggs, Discrete Mathematics (OUP 2004)

Assessment: A two-hour examination in the ST (100%).

---

MA211 Half Unit

Algebra and Number Theory

This information is for the 2012/13 session.

Teacher responsible: Professor Martin Anthony, COL 3.13

Availability: BSc Mathematics and Economics, BSc Business Mathematics and Statistics, BSc Mathematics with Economics. Available as an outside option. Available to General Course students with permission.

Pre-requisites: MA100 Mathematical Methods and MA103 Introduction to Abstract Mathematics.

Course content: The aim of this course is to continue (from MA103) the study of abstract algebraic structures. There are two main strands in the course. First, we develop further the theory of groups, using permutation groups as a key example. We investigate the important concepts of normal subgroups and quotient groups. Secondly, we introduce rings, and study factorisation in rings, where we also look at some connections with number theory. Groups: Review of basic group theory; permutations and permutation groups; homomorphisms; conjugation, normal subgroups and quotient groups; the first isomorphism theorem for groups. Rings: basic properties of rings and examples (including polynomial rings, matrix rings, and number rings); subrings, ideals and ring homomorphisms; divisibility in integral domains; greatest common divisors; Euclidean rings and unique factorisation; applications to number theory; principal ideal domains.

Teaching: 20 hours of lectures and 10 hours of classes in the MT. Revision lecture in ST.

Formative coursework: Weekly exercises will be set and marked.

Assessment: Unseen two hour examination in the ST (100%).

---

MA212 Half Unit

Further Mathematical Methods

This information is for the 2012/13 session.

Teachers responsible: Professor Adam Olszewski COL 4.06 and Professor Graham Brightwell COL 3.03

Availability: This course is available to students on the following programmes: BSc Accounting and Finance, BSc Actuarial Science, BSc Business Mathematics and Statistics, BSc Econometrics and Mathematical Economics, MSc Econometrics and Mathematical Economics (Two Year Programme), BSc Economics, MSc Economics (Two Year Programme), BSc Statistics with Finance, BSc Mathematics and Economics and BSc Mathematics with Economics. Available as an outside option. Available to General Course students with permission.

Teaching: 40 lectures (MA212) accompanied by weekly classes (MA212.A). Revision lectures in ST. The first term will be devoted to calculus, the second to linear algebra.
MA300  Half Unit
Game Theory

This information is for the 2012/13 session.

Teachers responsible: Professor Bernhard von Stengel, COL 4.12 and Dr Ron Peretz.

Availability: Optional for BSc Accounting and Finance, BSc Business Mathematics and Statistics, BSc Econometrics and Mathematical Economics, BSc Economics, BSc Mathematics with Economics and BSc Mathematics and Economics. Available as an outside option. Available to General Course students with permission.

Pre-requisites: Basic knowledge of matrices as covered in Mathematical Methods (MA100) or Quantitative Methods (MA107). Some knowledge of probability.

Teaching: 20 lectures in MT accompanied by weekly classes.

Assessment: A three-hour examination in the ST.

MA301  Half Unit
Game Theory I

This information is for the 2012/13 session.

Teacher responsible: Professor Bernhard von Stengel COL 4.12.

Availability: Optional for BSc Accounting and Finance, BSc Business Mathematics and Statistics, BSc Management Sciences, BSc Mathematics with Economics and BSc Mathematics and Economics. Available as an outside option. Available to General Course students with permission.

Pre-requisites: Basic knowledge of matrices as covered in Mathematical Methods (MA100) or Quantitative Methods (MA107). Some knowledge of probability.

Teaching: 20 lectures in MT accompanied by weekly classes.

Assessment: A three-hour examination in the ST.
MA310 Half Unit
Mathematics of Finance and Valuation
This information is for the 2012/13 session.
Teacher responsible: Professor Mihail Zervos, COL 4.02
Availability: The course is an option for 3rd year students on BSc Mathematics and Economics. BSc Mathematics with Economics and BSc Business Mathematics and Statistics. Also available as an outside option. Available to General Course students with permission.
Course content: Main mathematical ideas in the modelling of asset price evolution and the valuation of contingent claims (e.g., calls, puts); discrete methods will dominate. Introductory treatment of the Black-Scholes continuous-time model.
This course introduces a range of mathematical concepts and techniques of modern finance. It considers discrete and continuous time models for the price dynamics of actively traded assets. It develops the basic principles of risk-neutral valuation of contingent claims, such as call and put options. The course contains some elements of stochastic analysis such as Brownian motion, stochastic integration, stochastic change of variable formula, change of probability measures. These analytic tools are used for the pricing of contingent claims in stochastic models of financial markets. Specific topics studied include: one-period and multi-period binomial tree models; the Black and Scholes model; self-financing replicating portfolios; martingales and conditional expectation; Itô calculus; risk-neutral valuation of call and put options in the absence of arbitrage; the Black and Scholes formula; option deltas, gammas, vegas, and other sensitivities.
Teaching: 20 lectures (MA310) and 10 classes (MA310.A), in LT. Revision lectures will be arranged in the ST.
Formative coursework: Written answers to set problems will be expected on a regular basis.
Indicative reading: A full set of lecture notes will be provided. D. G. Luenberger, Optimization by Vector Space Methods, Wiley, 1969.
Assessment: A two-hour formal examination paper in the ST.

MA313 Half Unit
Probability for Finance
This information is for the 2012/13 session.
Teacher responsible: Professor Graham Brightwell COL 3.03
Availability: The course is intended for 3rd year students on BSc Mathematics and Economics, BSc Mathematics with Economics and BSc Business Mathematics and Statistics. Available as an outside option. Available to General Course students with permission.
Pre-requisites: Introduction to Abstract Mathematics (MA103) or equivalent, together with Mathematical Methods (MA100) and Elementary Statistical Theory (ST102). Attendance at more advanced courses, eg, Real Analysis (MA203), Further Mathematical Methods (Calcus) (MA200) and/or Probability, Distribution Theory and Inference (ST202) would be highly desirable.
Course content: The purposes of this course are (i) to explain the formal basis of abstract probability theory, and the justification for basic results in the theory, and (ii) to explore those aspects of the theory most used in advanced analytical models in economics and finance.
Teaching: 20 lectures and 10 classes in the MT and revision lectures in the ST.
Formative coursework: Exercises will be set and marked on a weekly basis.
Assessment: A two-hour formal examination in the ST.

MA314 Half Unit
Algorithms in Java
This information is for the 2012/13 session.
Teacher responsible: Dr Konrad Swanepoel, COL 3.09
Availability: The course is intended for 3rd year students on BSc Mathematics and Economics, BSc Mathematics with Economics and BSc Business Mathematics and Statistics. Available as an outside option. Available to General Course students with permission.
Pre-requisites: Familiarity with abstract concepts, advisable course Introduction to Abstract Mathematics (MA103). Willingness to cope with technical details of computer programming.
Teaching: 20 lectures (MA314), 10 classes (MA314.A) in MT. Revision lectures will be arranged in the ST.
Formative coursework: Weekly exercises are set and marked. Some are programming exercises in the programming language Java on school computers.
Assessment: A two-hour written examination in the ST (80%). An individual programming project (20%) due in the MT.
MA315 Half Unit
Algebra and its Applications
This information is for the 2012/13 session.
Teacher responsible: Professor Martin Anthony, COL 3.13
Availability: The course is intended for 3rd year students on BSc Mathematics and Economics, BSc Mathematics with Economics or BSc Business Mathematics and Statistics degrees. Available as an outside option. Available to General Course students with permission.
Pre-requisites: Students must have passed MA103 Introduction to Abstract Mathematics and, ideally, have taken MA211 Algebra and Number Theory. Students who have not taken MA211 may still take the course with the lecturer’s permission. (A small amount of additional reading on their part will be required.)
Course content: The aim of the course is to continue the study of abstract algebraic structures and show how these structures can be used to solve concrete problems. There are three strands: Group actions; Rings, polynomials and fields; Applications, including coding and cryptography.
Group actions; revision of permutation groups; orbits and stabilizers, the orbit-stabilizer theorem; applications to counting problems. Rings, polynomials and fields: revision of rings; quotient rings; polynomial rings and the Euclidean algorithm for polynomials; irreducible polynomials and factorisation of polynomials. fields; fields as quotients of polynomial rings; construction and properties of finite fields: Applications: Designs and orthogonal latin square ; Error-correcting codes, including linear codes, cyclic codes and perfect codes; cryptography.
Teaching: 20 lectures (MA 315) and 10 classes (MA 315.A) in LT, plus revision session in the ST.
Formative coursework: Sets of exercises will be distributed regularly, and students’ solutions will be collected, marked, and discussed in the classes.
Assessment: A two-hour formal examination in the ST.

MA316 Half Unit
Graph Theory
This information is for the 2012/13 session.
Teachers responsible: Dr Julia Böttcher, COL 4.03 and Dr Tugkan Batu, COL 4.04.
Availability: BSc Mathematics and Economics and BSc Mathematics with Economics. Available as an outside option. Available to General Course students with permission of the course tutor.
Course content: This course examines the basic concepts and techniques of graph theory. The topics to be covered are: fundamental concepts, flows, connectivity and matchings, colourings, extremal problems. Optional topics include Ramsey theory, matroids, spectral graph theory, or random graphs.
Teaching: 20 hours of lectures and 10 hours of classes in the Lent Term.
Formative coursework: Weekly exercises will be set and marked.
Assessment: One two-hour examination in the Summer Term (100%).

MA317 Half Unit
Complex Analysis
This information is for the 2012/13 session.
Teacher responsible: Dr Amol Sasane COL 3.12
Availability: BSc Mathematics and Economics, BSc Mathematics with Economics, and BSc Business Mathematics and Statistics. Available as an outside option. Available to General Course students with permission.
Pre-requisites: Solid grounding in mathematics, especially analysis, in particular MA203 Real Analysis
Course content: The course will cover the fundamental concepts and methods in complex analysis. The basic object of study in the course will be a complex differentiable function in a region, and the far-reaching consequences of the notion complex differentiability will be dealt with in the course. The specific topics that will be covered are: the geometry of complex numbers, complex differentiation, Cauchy-Riemann equations, Cauchy’s integral theorem, Cauchy’s integral formula, Taylor series. We continue by covering: Liouville’s Theorem, Maximum Modulus Theorem, Rouche’s Theorem. We also give a brief introduction to Laurent Series and use of the Residue Theorem. The core results will be illustrated with computational examples and applications.
Teaching: 20 lectures and 10 classes in Michaelmas Term; Revision lectures in Summer Term.
Assessment: Two hour unseen exam in the Summer Term (100%).

MA318 Half Unit
History of Mathematics in Finance and Economics
This information is for the 2012/13 session.
Teacher responsible: Dr Robert Simon, COL 4.07
Availability: This is an optional course for BSc Mathematics with Economics, BSc Mathematics and Economics. This course is available to General Course students and as an outside option for other degree programs, where regulations permit. For the first year the course will be capped.
Teaching: There will be weekly lectures and classes in the Lent Term. There will also be revision sessions in the Summer Term.
Course content: This course surveys the development of mathematics from the beginning of history with an emphasis on its applications to finance and economics. Major themes are the development of arithmetic and geometry, the use of algebraic symbolism, the creation of the calculus, geometry, probability, and game theory. In order to give the course a distinctive flavour, we will illustrate these themes with examples taken from the social sciences, broadly interpreted. For example, the algorithms of arithmetic will be illustrated by their applications in finance, rather than astronomy.
Formative coursework: Students are expected to solve exercises on a weekly basis and occasionally present these solutions in class. Students must also submit one essay of 1000-1200 words.
Indicative reading: The recommended text for the core of this course is J. Fauvel and J. Gray, The History of Mathematics: A Reader (Macmillan 1987). Also there will be a full course pack of excerpts from various authors.
Assessment: There will be a two hour written examination in the ST (70%) and a long essay of about 1,350 - 1,650 words (30%), due at the start of the ST.
MG100  Half Unit
Leadership and communication in teams
This information is for the 2012/13 session.
Teacher responsible: Dr Cecile Emery and Dr Shoshana Dobrow.
Availability: Compulsory for students on the BSc Management. Not available to other students.
Course content: This course introduces students to the practical challenges of management in a diverse team setting. The course aims to strengthen students' leadership and communication skills by providing students with hands-on experience managing a group project and completing group assignments throughout the term. Topics include: introduction to the group project, team processes, facilitation skills, project management, conflict and negotiation, giving and receiving feedback, leadership theories, leadership styles, persuasive communication, presentation skills.
Teaching: 10 x 1 hour lectures and 9 x 1.5 hour classes. The teaching is highly participative and includes weekly lectures and interactive classes. Students will work in teams throughout the term, completing team assignments and a group project. The success of the course depends on student commitment and willingness to participate fully in classes and on their teams. The course is taught in MT.
Formative coursework: Students are required to submit one 1000-word written assignment.
Assessment: Two 1000-word written assignments to be submitted in MT (50%) and a 3000-word essay based on the group project to be submitted in LT (50%).

MG101  Half Unit
Core Business Disciplines I: Finance and Operations Management
This information is for the 2012/13 session.
Teachers responsible: Alec Morton, Elisabetta Bertero.
Availability: BSc Management. Only available as an outside option with the permission of the BSc Management Programme Director. Not available to General Course students.
Course content: This course is the first part of two integrated core courses in management. The aim is to provide students with an understanding of the drivers of organisational performance and with an introduction to finance. Organisational performance will include process flow analysis, inventory management, assembly line balancing, project management; quality management and scheduling. The Finance part will include an introduction to the financial decisions of firms, in particular capital budgeting, the financial decisions of households; elements of international finance; the role of the financial system in the economy and the flow of funds; causes and consequences of the recent financial crises.
Teaching: Ten hours of lectures and nine hours of classes in the Michaelmas Term; ten hours of lectures and ten hours of classes in the Lent Term; one 1.5-hour revision class in Summer Term.
Formative coursework: One formative essay of 2000 words will be set in the Michaelmas Term for the Operations Management part and coursework exercises will be set in the Lent Term for the Finance part.
Assessment: A 3,000 word group project in Summer Term (30%) and a two-hour exam in Summer Term (70%).

MG102  Half Unit
Organisational Behaviour
This information is for the 2012/13 session.
Teacher responsible: Dr Connson Locke and Dr Shoshana Dobrow.
Availability: Compulsory for students on the BSc Management. Not available to General Course students or as an outside option.
Course content: This course introduces students to social science theories and research related to understanding employee attitudes and behaviour. Each week focuses on a different topic investigating individual, group, and organisational issues. Weekly topics include: introduction to organisational behaviour, personality, motivation, perception and decision making, satisfaction and affect, justice, diversity, creativity, power and influence, culture and change.
Teaching: 10 x 1.5 hour lectures and 9 x 1 hour classes in the MT. 1 x 1.5 hour review lecture and 1 x 1 hour review class in the ST. The teaching is highly participative and includes weekly lectures and classes.
Formative coursework: Students are required to submit one 2000-word essay.
Assessment: A 2000-word essay to be submitted in LT (40%) and a two-hour formal examination in ST (60%).

MN200  Management: Theory and Evidence
This information is for the 2012/13 session.
Teachers responsible: Mr Nilesh Dattani (Part 1) and Professor Diane Reyniers (Part 2)
Availability: This course is compulsory for BSc Management 2nd year students. It is also an option to BSc Economics, BSc Accounting and Finance and BSc Business Mathematics and Statistics students who must ask permission from the teacher responsible. Students on other degrees also need permission of the teacher responsible to take the course.
Pre-requisites: EC102 or equivalent, MA107 and ST107 or equivalent. Students should consider MN201 and MN203 co-requisites.
Course content: Part 1 (MT) will focus on the evolution of thinking about the activity of management, an examination of firms as reservoirs of resources and capabilities, and analysis of the conception and implementation of firms’ strategy. It examines theories of firm evolution, organisational governance, strategy formulation and strategy implementation, and decision-making in organisational context. Topics may vary but examples are Managerial Thinking, Firm Evolution, Decision-making, Organisational Dynamics, Corporate Structure, Strategy Formulation, and Strategy Implementation.
Part 2 (LT) addresses various topics regarding firms, their performance and aspects of internal organisation such as organisational culture. In contrast to the Strategy course which largely focuses on interaction between firms, this course emphasises interaction within firms. The intellectual backbone of the course is applied and empirical economics and finance but wherever appropriate contributions from the psychology, sociology and management literature will be discussed. We will mainly deal with issues which are amenable to rigorous empirical investigation.
The main objective of the course is to enable students to comprehend and critically assess the literature on selected management topics, to evaluate statements in terms of evidence and to detect false reasoning or logic. Topics may vary but examples are Entrepreneurship, Racial discrimination, Negotiation, Experiments on Incentives, Placebo effects of price, Dangers of performance related pay, Corporate Culture.
Teaching: Lectures: (MN200) 10 MT and 10 LT. Classes (MN200) 22: MT (10) LT (10) ST (2).
Formative coursework: Students are expected to produce two pieces of written work per term.
Indicative reading: A reading list will be available to students taking the course.
Assessment: A formal three-hour examination in the Summer Term.
MN201 Economics for Management
This information is for the 2012/13 session.
Teacher responsible: Dr Vikram Pathania & Dr Kristof Madarasz
Availability: This course is compulsory for 2nd year BSc Management students. It is an option on BSc Business Mathematics and Statistics, BSc Human Resource Management and Employment Relations and BSc Management Sciences.
Pre-requisites: EC102 Economics (B) or equivalent is a pre-requisite. This course cannot be combined with Microeconomic Principles I (EC201) or Microeconomic Principles II (EC202).
Course content: The objective of the course is to provide students with insights from economic theory which are relevant to applications in managerial decision making. The emphasis is on applying microeconomic ideas to solve problems. Topics covered include consumer theory, production, applications to the labour market, market structure, monopoly, oligopoly, product differentiation, pricing, game theory, decision analysis, bargaining, auctions, and asymmetric information.
Teaching: Lectures (MN201): two hours x 10 MT and LT, two hours x 2 ST. Classes (MN201.A): one hour x 8 MT: one hour x 10 LT: one hour x 2 ST.
Formative coursework: Students are expected to prepare answers to set problems on a weekly basis. Some of this work will be assessed. Assiduous preparation for the weekly tutorials is essential to achieve a good exam performance.
Indicative reading: No textbook covers the whole course but Hal R Varian, Intermediate Microeconomics (1990) is a good reference book for the course. In addition students are advised to use T C Bergstrom & H R Varian, Workouts in Intermediate Microeconomics (1990), and P Milgrom & J Roberts, Economics, Organisation and Management (1992) and J Tirole, The Theory of Industrial Organisation (1990) will also be referred to.
Assessment: A three-hour written final exam counting for 100%.

MN203 Social Science Research Methods for Management
This information is for the 2012/13 session.
Teacher responsible: Dr Jordi Blanes I Vidal
Availability: Core course for second year BSc Management students. Other students may be permitted to take this course at the lecturer’s discretion.
Course content: Simple and Multiple Regression; Hypothesis Testing; Mechanics and Limitations of OLS; Causality; Natural, Field and Laboratory Experiments.
The main aim of this course is to provide a thorough understanding of the quantitative techniques which guide evidence-based managerial decision-making. It seeks to develop a framework in which students can examine whether the predictions of managerial, social or economic theory are supported by empirical evidence. Particular emphasis is made on (a) illustrating the many ways in which evidence is abused in the academic or managerial debate, and (b) trying to establish causality in the relationship between variables. The approach is both formal, as the course makes extensive use of econometric theorems and techniques, and solidly grounded in intuition, as it provides numerous examples of tests of real-life relations. Many of these examples will be illustrated using the STATA software package, and the students will be expected to learn the basics of data manipulation and regression running. A solid base of introductory statistics and probability (equivalent to that provided by ST107) and introductory algebra and calculus (equivalent to that provided by MA107) will be expected.
Teaching: 20 one-hour lectures in the MT and LT and 20 one-hour classes in the MT, LT and ST.
Formative coursework: 14 sets of exercises and 6 case studies. Each term one set of exercises will be used to provide feedback to students.
Assessment: One three-hour examination in the ST worth 100%.

MN302 International Marketing: A Strategic Approach
This information is for the 2012/13 session.
Teacher responsible: Professor Amitav Chakravarti/Dr. Vishal Talwar/Jill Nurse
Availability: This course is compulsory for all BSc Management 3rd year students. It is optional for BSc Management Sciences. All non-Management students must be in their final year of study.
Pre-requisites: BSc Management students must have already taken MN200.
Course content: This course is a rigorous examination of the key analytical frameworks, technical tools, and concepts that are essential in building an effective marketing strategy. Participants are introduced to the subject at both strategic and operational levels. This course combines LSE’s premier standing in the social sciences with cutting-edge management practices. By using a wide range of quantitative as well as qualitative methods, interactive lectures, videos, hands-on exercises, and case studies, we will share key analytical frameworks and tools that are essential to a good marketing strategy. The aim is to develop a widely applicable analytical tool-kit that relies on: (a) anticipating decisions that managers frequently face, (b) bringing to bear a wide range of fundamental, often competing social science theories to inform these decisions, (c) knowledge about empirical generalizations, and (d) knowledge about moderating conditions. Through the use of case studies, participants will develop their applied skills. In the LT, attention is paid to application and students are required to use the marketing knowledge gained in MT to solve real world marketing problems by delivering a rigorous and analytical marketing project.
Teaching: Lectures: 17 lectures. Twenty one-hour classes in MT, LT and ST beginning in second week of MT.
o Philip Kotler and Gary Armstrong (2001), Principles of Marketing (9th edition), Prentice Hall
o Philip Kotler and Kevin Keller (2011), Marketing Management (14th edition), Pearson PrenticeHall
Further references will be provided during the course.
Assessment: 1. One report (40%). This will be written by a group for which all members will normally receive the same mark.
2. One formal three-hour examination (60%).

MN303 Half Unit International Context of Management
This information is for the 2012/13 session.
Teacher responsible: Mr Nilesh Dattani
Availability: This is a compulsory course for BSc Management third year students and is only available to these students.
Course content: The course aims to apply social science theory to the analysis of the conduct and management of transnational activities; to critically appraise concepts such as globalisation, regionalisation, national competitiveness, transnationality of firms, etc. in the context of international management structures and processes; to delineate the international political, economic, social and legal structures and environments within which the activity of management takes place. The topics to be covered will include: the nature of the contemporary global political economy; the globalisation of business, finance and trade in goods and services; Global competition; the transnational corporation in the global economy; the tension between globalisation and regionalisation; the international trading order; the international monetary regime; the impact of culture on global business; the changing position of the state in the global economy; the new diplomacy of states and firms.

Teaching: 10 lectures and 10 classes in the MT.

Assessment: Two-hour examination in the ST.

MN304 Half Unit
Strategy

This information is for the 2012/13 session.

Teacher responsible: Professor Ignacio Palacios-Huerta
Availability: The course is compulsory for the BSc Management third year.

Pre-requisites: Knowledge of MN201 or a comparable Microeconomics course is advisable.

Course content: This course is concerned with strategic thinking. It studies situations in which two or more decision-makers (individuals, firms, political parties, countries etc) interact in a strategic manner. Understand strategy situations involving conflict and/or cooperation has proved useful in many areas of economics, business, political science, law and social psychology. Practical applications in these areas range from the competition of firms in markets and technological races to auctions, voting behaviour, cultural norms, and others. The purpose of this course is threefold. First, introduce relevant tools of game theory in a way that we can learn to capture the key elements of different strategic interactions and determine the most likely outcome in each case. Second, study in depth various real-life applications. Third, the course will cover recent developments in behavioural game theory, including insights into intertemporal choices and strategies, decision-making under risk and uncertainty, and experiments in strategic interaction. The course is an interaction of game theory, economics and strategic management. Roughly, the following topics will be covered: fundamental concepts from game theory, simultaneous and sequential strategies, mixed strategies, unpredictability, randomization, commitment, credibility, threats and promises, and strategies under risk and uncertainty. They will all be viewed from a perspective and a framework for understanding business strategy.

Teaching: There will be 10 two-hour lectures and eight one-hour classes in the LT.

Indicative reading: I will distribute my own lecture notes during the course. There is no required book. However, there are four optional recommended books. The first two optional recommended books are Thinking Strategically: Competitive Edge in Business, Politics and Everyday Life (WW Norton, 1993) by Avinash Dixit and Barry Nalebuff, and The Art of Strategy (WW Norton, 2008) also by the same authors. Both are bestsellers that can be read with real pleasure and which provide formidable insights into most of the aspects and topics studied in the course.

The last two recommendations are textbooks. The first one is Games of Strategy (WW Norton, International edition, 2010) by Avinash Dixit, David Reiley, and Susan Skeath. This a delightful skeleton key to game theory and strategy, and covers about two thirds of the material in the course. The second is An Introduction to Game Theory (Oxford, 2003) by Martin J. Osborne. Although no material will be directly drawn from this book, it is probably the best book in terms of mathematical rigor, thoroughness and structure. In addition, different readings from the economic and business press as well as articles from academic journals will be distributed throughout the course as a complement to the lecture notes.

Assessment: Two-hour examination in the ST.

MN307 Half Unit
Aspects of Marketing Management

This information is for the 2012/13 session.

Teacher responsible: Professor Amitav Chakravarti
Availability: This course is for non BSc Management Students. It is optional for BSc Business Mathematics and Statistics, BSc Human Resource Management and Employment Relations and BSc Management Sciences. It is available to General Course and students in other degrees as an outside option with approval from the instructor. The course can be taken in conjunction with ST307 Aspects of Market Research Course content: The course covers the main theories in MN302. No project is part of this course.

This course is a rigorous examination of the key analytical frameworks, technical tools, and concepts that are essential in building an effective marketing strategy. Participants are introduced to the subject at both strategic and operational levels. This course combines LSE's premier standing in the social sciences with cutting-edge management practices. By using a wide range of quantitative as well as qualitative methods, interactive lectures, videos, hands-on exercises, and case studies, we will share key analytical frameworks and tools that are essential to a good marketing strategy. The aim is to develop a widely applicable analytical tool-kit that relies on: (a) anticipating decisions that managers frequently face, (b) bringing to bear a wide range of fundamental, often competing social science theories to inform these decisions, (c) knowledge about empirical generalizations, and (d) knowledge about moderating conditions. Case studies will be used to help develop students' application skills.

Teaching: Lectures: 12 lectures (MN302) in MT and ST.

Classes: 11 one-hour classes (MN307.A).

o Philip Kotler and Gary Armstrong (2001), Principles of Marketing (5th edition), Prentice Hall
o Philip Kotler and Kevin Keller (2011), Marketing Management (14th edition), Pearson Prentice-Hall

London: Palgrave Macmillan

Further references will be provided during the course.

Assessment: One formal two-hour examination in the ST (70%) One piece of coursework in MT (30%)

OR202 Operational Research Methods

This information is for the 2012/13 session.

Teacher responsible: TBA
Availability: Compulsory for students on the BSc Management Sciences. Optional for BSc Accounting and Finance, BSc Business Mathematics and Statistics, BSc Econometrics and Mathematical Economics, BSc Economics and BSc Management. Also available to General Course students and as an outside option.

Pre-requisites: Mathematics, Statistics and Probability Theory to the level of the courses Quantitative Methods and Introduction to Statistics for Accounting and Finance is required. In particular, students should have covered elementary distribution theory and the Poisson Process, and have an elementary knowledge of linear algebra. Students must be prepared to use computer packages when required. A further course OR301 Model Building in Operational Research which extends the Mathematical Programming component and covers Simulation in some detail may be taken after or in conjunction with this course.

Course content: An introduction to all the main theoretical techniques of Operational Research.

OR202.1 Operational Research Techniques. Some methodological aspects of operational research, and some of the main OR techniques, including: Critical Path Analysis, Production, Scheduling, Markov Chains, Queuing Theory, Replacement, Simulation, Stock Control, Dynamic Programming, Decision Theory, Simulation of Games. OR202.2 Mathematical Programming. Linear programming: from the most basic introduction to sufficient conditions for optimality; duality; sensitivity of the solution; discovery of the solution to small problems by graphical methods, and proof of optimality by testing the sufficient conditions; solution to larger problems by using a computer package. The transportation programme: properties of solution, connection with graph theory, an algorithm for hand computation. Full lecture notes are provided.

Teaching: Lectures: OR202.1 22 in MT, LT and ST; OR202.2 10 MT and 3 revision sessions in LT/ST.

Classes: OR202.1A 2 in MT, LT and ST. OR202.2A 12 MT and LT. 5 x 2 hours optional computer help in LT.

Formative coursework: Written answers to set problems will be expected on a regular basis.

Assessment: A three hour written examination with 15 minutes reading time: Students must answer five questions.

OR301 Model Building in Operational Research

This information is for the 2012/13 session.

Teacher responsible: Dr Laszlo Vegh, NAB3.05

Availability: Compulsory for third year BSc Management Sciences students in the 2011-12 session. Optional for BSc Business Mathematics and Statistics, BSc Econometrics and Mathematical Economics, BSc Economics and BSc Management. Also available to General Course students and as an outside option.

Pre-requisites: Students must also complete OR202 Operational Research Methods. (For third year students who have not taken OR Methods in their second year, OR Methods may be a co-requisite, taken in the same year).

Course content: The concepts, techniques and practical aspects of the development and analysis of simulation models and of mathematical programming models for management decision support. A critical assessment of the use of Operational Research models in a range of applications paying attention to the power and limitations of a mathematical model when applied to the complexities and uncertainties of practical decision making.

There are three lecture courses.

OR301.1 Mathematical Programming Models in Operational Research. The course extends the mathematical programming models taught in OR202.2 by introducing more complex models, including integer programming. The course focuses particularly on the computer implementation of mathematical programming models using specialist software.

OR301.2 Operational Research in Practice. Students are required to present critical reviews of two published papers and then to write reports on them, the second of which is assessed.

OR307 Simulation Modelling and Analysis (see separate course guide for OR307)

Teaching: OR301.1 10 lectures MT, OR301.1A nine classes MT and in groups; and Decision Analytic tools for structuring and analysing decisions involving multiple stakeholders and conflicting objectives (multi-criteria evaluation and resource allocation problems) as well as uncertainty (decision trees, influence diagrams, risk analysis and Bayesian belief networks).

The course uses illustrations of real-world Decision Analysis applications in organisations, and employs several case-studies (supported by specialised decision software) to build students' skills in decision modelling and analysis. Teaching: Lectures: 10 x 2hrs MT; 10 x 2hrs LT; and 1 x 2hrs ST Classes: 9 x 1hr MT; 10 x 1 hr LT, 1 x 1hr ST

---

OR307
Half Unit
Simulation Modelling and Analysis

This information is for the 2012/13 session.
Teacher responsible: Dr G Montibeller, NAB 3.16
Availability: For students on the BSc Management Sciences and BSc Business Mathematics and Statistics. Also available to other BSc degrees where regulations permit and to General Course students.
Pre-requisites: Elementary statistical concepts and experience of standard computer software is assumed.
Course content: The aim of the course is to introduce students to the concepts, techniques and applied aspects of the development and analysis of simulation models. The course will cover two main approaches for modelling problems bound by uncertainty (stochastic behaviour): Monte-Carlo Simulation (static problems) and Discrete Event Simulation (dynamic problems). Topics covered will include: types of uncertainty; types of simulation modelling; sampling methods; the simulation process; structuring problems for simulation; running simulation models; analysing simulation outputs; risk analysis using simulated models; testing and validating simulation models; applications of simulation.

Teaching: 10 Lectures (LT) and 10 Classes (LT).

Formative coursework: Three individual or small-group assignments will be required during the course.

Assessment: An individual management report (maximum 2000 words) describing the modelling and results from a simulation study of a realistic decision problem. The problem will be defined by the end of the LT, the project should be completed by the beginning of the ST.

---

PH101
Logic

This information is for the 2012/13 session.
Teacher responsible: Professor John Worrall
Availability: Compulsory for BSc Politics and Philosophy, BSc Philosophy and Economics and BSc Philosophy, Logic and Scientific Method. Also available as an outside option and to General Course students.
Pre-requisites: None. Logic is formal but presupposes no particular background reading or training.
Course content: We reason or make deductions all the time - both in intellectual disciplines and in everyday life. For example, a scientist will test a particular theory by reasoning that if that theory were true then some other claim, one that can be checked observationally or experimentally, would have to be true as well - that is, by showing that some observationally testable claim is deducible from the theory. Mathematics is of course concerned with proofs and proofs are deductive inferences. Finally, philosophy is centrally concerned with arguments or deductions. To take one example, many have argued that the presence of evil in the world is incompatible with the existence of an all-powerful, all-knowing, all-merciful god as proposed in, for example, Judaeo-Christian theology. That is, they have claimed that if you assumed that there is such a god, then it would follow, or you could infer that, there would be no evil in the world. But since there is evil, it follows that there can be no such god. More mundanely, we reason, or make inferences, all the time - though we don't always think of it that way.

Deductive Logic is the study of such inferences - it therefore has an enormously broad scope. Different disciplines have different ways of garnering information in the first place (the way that we arrive at a scientific theory is different from the way that we arrive at an axion in mathematics or a thesis in philosophy), but the way that we reason from that information is the same no matter what the discipline. The main task of logic is to give an explicit characterisation of those inferences that are correct, or as we shall say, valid (and hence differentiate them from those that are invalid). Logic tells you exactly when some conclusion really does follow from some premises and when it does not.

The course begins with a simple system called propositional or truth-functional logic, which despite its simplicity captures a great range of important arguments. The system of predicate logic that we study next is, however, still more powerful and provides the logical basis not only for ordinary inferences but also for inferences in the sciences.

Teaching: Lectures PH 101 x 30 (MT, LT). Classes PH101.A x 20 (MT, LT). (Some extra lectures may be arranged to ensure that the lectures and classes remain coordinated.)

Formative coursework: Formative coursework will take the form of a number of computer based quizzes and a number of regular exercises. Both of these will be set on the basis of the material covered in lectures. In the case of the computer based quizzes, students are required to complete them before a specific deadline; these will be discussed in class. In the case of the regular exercises, students are required to complete these and to be ready to present and discuss answers in the associated class; some of these will be formatively assessed by the class teachers. Successful completion of both the quizzes and the regular exercises is regarded as a prerequisite for admission to the examination for this course.

Indicative reading: Detailed course notes are provided and are intended to be sufficient reading for the course. However for those who like to have a book the one whose treatment is closest to that adopted in the lectures is P.Suppes Introduction to Logic (Van Nostrand).

Assessment: A three-hour written examination in the ST.

---

PH103
Reason, Knowledge and Values: An Introduction to Philosophy

This information is for the 2012/13 session.
Teacher responsible: Dr Andrew Khoury
Availability: Compulsory on BSc Philosophy and Economics, BSc Philosophy, Logic and Scientific Method and BSc Politics and Philosophy. Optional on BSc International Relations and BSc Social Policy. Also available as an outside option and to General Course students.

Course content: In his Letter to Menoeceus, Epicurus (341-271 BC)
PH201
Philosophy of Science
This information is for the 2012/13 session.
Teacher responsible: Dr Miklos Redei
Availability: BSc Philosophy and Economics, BSc Philosophy, Logic and Scientific Method, BSc Politics and Philosophy and also available as an outside option and to General Course students.
Teaching: Lectures PH201 x 20 (MT, LT), alongside PH405 Masters students; classes PH201.A x 20 (MT, LT).
Formative coursework: Students will be expected to write two essays per term and to give class presentations.
Indicative reading: A detailed reading list forms part of the course booklet that will be available at the beginning of the year.
Assessment: A three-hour written examination in the Summer term.

PH203
Philosophy of the Social Sciences
This information is for the 2012/13 session.
Teacher responsible: Dr J McKenzie Alexander, LAK. T501b
Availability: BSc Philosophy and Economics, BSc Environmental Policy, BSc Environmental Policy with Economics, BSc Politics and Philosophy, BSc International Relations and BSc Philosophy, Logic and Scientific Method. Available to General Course students and as an outside option.
Pre-requisites: No formal pre-requisites, but PH103 or equivalent is recommended.
Course content: Philosophical issues concerning the nature of social scientific theory and its applications. Topics to be covered will include some or all of the following: the explanation and interpretation of action; naturalist and hermeneutic social theory; the nature of social facts; reductionism and methodological individualism; functional and structural explanations; rationality and relativism; the role of values in social science; social norms; the construction of social reality; methods of evolutionary explanation in the social sciences; philosophical and methodological critiques of evolutionary psychology. In addition, philosophical problems of particular social sciences such as sociological anthropology, sociology, and economics will also be addressed.
Teaching: Lectures PH203 x 20 (MT, LT), alongside PH405 Masters students; classes PH203.A x 20 (MT, LT).
Formative coursework: Students will be expected to write two essays per term and to give class presentations.
Indicative reading: A detailed reading list may be found on the Moodle page for the course. Useful preliminary background readings include: The Philosophy of Social Science Reader Francesco Guara and Daniel Steel (eds); Daniel Little, Varieties of Social Explanation; Alex Rosenberg, Philosophy of Social Science; Martin Hollis, The Philosophy of Social Science; Brian Skyrms, Evolution of the Social Contract. A useful anthology is Readings in the Philosophy of Social Science, edited by Michael Martin and Lee McIntyre.
Assessment: A three-hour written examination in the ST (100%).
PH213
Scientific Revolutions: Philosophical & Historical Issues

This information is for the 2012/13 session.
Teacher responsible: Professor John Worrall
Availability: Optional for BSc Philosophy, Logic and Scientific Method, BSc Politics and Philosophy, BSc Politics and Philosophy and BSc Philosophy and Economics. No prior systematic knowledge of physical and biological science is presupposed. Also available to General Course students and as an outside option.

Course content: Lectures PH213 x 20 (MT, LT), alongside PH404 Masters students; Classes PH213 A x 20 (MT, LT).
The course examines a number of fundamental issues in philosophy of science, as they arise from instances of important theory-changes (so-called ‘scientific revolutions’) in the history of science. It is therefore by no means a ‘straight’ course in history of science: it looks at historical episodes to test and/or illustrate philosophical theses about science and its development.

1. The Copernican revolution: the switch from the Ptolemaic geocentric view of the world to the Copernican heliocentric one was probably the greatest revolution in human thought ever: What justified the switch? Was Ptolemaic theory definitively refuted by the data? Was Copernican theory simpler? Was the Church’s view of Copernican theory should only be thought of as an instrument for calculating astronomical data purely theologically motivated or does it have some scientific rationale? What role was played in the eventual acceptance of the Copernican view by predictive success? Do we need to invoke social or other non-intellectual factors to explain why this ‘revolution’ occurred?

2. Galileo: Galileo and the telescope: are all observations ‘theory-laden’ and does this mean that there is a subjective element to all theory-choices? Galileo and the argument for his law of free fall: can theories be ‘deduced from the phenomena’?

3. The Newtonian revolution: What was the relationship between Newton’s theory and Kepler’s and Galileo’s laws? What does this tell us about theory-change in general?

4. 5. The Darwinian Revolution: This revolution certainly ranks alongside the Copernican one in terms of its impact on man’s view of herself. But debates about the scientific credentials of Darwin’s theory began immediately on the publication of Darwin’s work and continue to this day. Is Darwinian theory unfalsifiable (or even just one big tautology)? Can ‘scientific’ creationists explain everything that Darwin can?; What objections were raised by Darwin’s critics to particular aspects of Darwinian theory? Were these valid objections and, in so far as they were, have they now been resolved?

Teaching: Lectures PH213 x 20 (MT, LT), alongside PH404 Masters students; Classes PH213 A x 20 (MT, LT).

Formative coursework: Students will be expected to write at least two essays per term and to give class papers.

Recommended reading: The central text for the first part of the course is T S Kuhn, The Copernican Revolution, Harvard University Press; the central text for part 5 is Philip Kitcher: Abusing Science: the case against Creationism. MIT Press.

There will be lecture slides on each topic including (i) a list of essential reading and suggestions for further reading and (ii) ‘study questions’ to guide your thought. Aside from the above reading for the section of the course on the Copernican revolution, reading for particular topics will be in the form of articles and selections from books. These will be made available through a combination of handouts, course pack and the Offprint Collection.

Assessment: A three-hour written examination in the ST.

PH214
Morbidity and Values

This information is for the 2012/13 session.
Teacher responsible: Dr Andrew Khoury
Availability: BSc Philosophy and Economics, BSc Philosophy, Logic and Scientific Method, BSc Politics and Philosophy. Available to General Course students and as an outside option.

Course content: This course covers central topics in moral and political philosophy. We will read seminal texts by some of the greatest writers of the western tradition in moral and political philosophy: Aristotle, Immanuel Kant, and John Stuart Mill. We’ll also discuss leading contemporary authors, including John Rawls, Robert Nozick, G.A. Cohen, Bernard Williams, and Thomas Nagel. Through the study of major philosophers, this course provides students with the tools to think and write clearly and independently about moral and political problems.

Teaching: Lectures PH214 x 20 (MT, LT), alongside PH416 Masters students; Classes PH214 A x 20 (MT, LT).

Formative coursework: Students will be required to participate in class discussions and to write two essays per term.

Iris Marion Young, Justice and the Politics of Difference. Princeton University Press.

A detailed reading list will be made available at the beginning of the year. Before the start of the term, you might consider reading some introductory texts to gain some understanding of the central concerns in moral and political philosophy. For moral philosophy, Bernard Williams’ Morality: an Introduction to Ethics and Alex Voorhoeve’s Conversations on Ethics are good places to start. Jonathan Wolff’s An Introduction to Political Philosophy is a good introductory text for political philosophy, as is Will Kymlicka’s Contemporary Political Philosophy (2nd ed).

Assessment: A three-hour written examination in the ST.

PH217
Set Theory and Further Logic

This information is for the 2012/13 session.
Teacher responsible: Miklos Redei
Availability: BSc Philosophy and Economics, BSc Philosophy, Logic and Scientific Method, BSc Politics and Philosophy and Philosophy. The course is also available as an outside option where programme regulations permit, and is available to General Course students.
Pre-requisites: PH101 or equivalent.

Course content: The aim of the course is to make students of philosophy familiar with the elements of naive and axiomatic set theory, classical mathematical logic and propositional modal logic. From set theory, two types of facts and results are covered: (i) the ones needed to understand the basic notions, constructions and the mode of thinking in mathematical logic (ii) the ones that have philosophical-conceptual significance in themselves (elementary theory of ordinals and cardinals, transfinite induction, Axiom of Choice and its equivalents, Continuum Hypothesis, Russell paradox).

Formal languages, syntactic-semantic, theorem-metatheorem, soundness and completeness and some model theory are the main topics covered from classical first-order logic, together with an outline of Peano arithmetic, decidability and Gödel’s incompleteness theorems. The idea of possible world semantics and the semantic characterization of the basic types of modal propositional logics are covered from modal logic. In both set theory and logic, emphasis is on the conceptual-structural elements rather than on technical-computational details. Not all theorems are proven and not all proofs are complete.

Teaching: 30 hours of lectures and 20 hours of classes across the Michaelmas and Lent Terms.

Formative coursework: Students are required to write one essay each term on a topic from a list and are supposed to hand in solutions for two sets of problems.

Assessment: Three hour written examination (100%) in the Summer Term.

PH218
Philosophy of the Biological and Cognitive Sciences

This information is for the 2012/13 session.

Teacher responsible: Dr Kristina Musholt

Availability: The course is primarily intended for BSc Philosophy, Logic and Scientific Method, BSc Philosophy and Economics and BSc Politics and Philosophy students. It is available to General Course students and as an outside option to students from other departments.

Course content: An introduction to some of the key issues in the philosophy of the biological and cognitive sciences. Topics to be discussed include: the ‘modern synthesis’, fitness, the units of selection problem, the nature of species, adaptation and adaptationism, phylogenetic inference, macroevolution, ecology, the idea of the mind as a computer and the language of thought, social cognition, emotions and their role in thinking, innateness and cognitive development, the modularity of mind, evolutionary psychology, connectionism, and embodied approaches to cognition.

Teaching: Lectures PH218 x 20 (MT, LT), alongside PH411 Masters students; Seminars PH218.A x 20 (MT, LT).

Formative coursework: Students are expected to write at least two essays per term, give class presentations, and participate actively in class discussion.

Indicative reading: K Sterelny & P Griffiths, Sex and Death; E Sober, The Philosophy of Biology; R Dawkins, The Extended Phenotype; S Okasha, Evolution and the Levels of Selection; E Sober (ed), Conceptual Issues in Evolutionary Biology; P Harvey & M Pagel, The Comparative Method in Evolutionary Biology; A Clark, Mindware: An Introduction to the Philosophy of Cognitive Science; J Fodor, The mind doesn’t work that way; P Thagard, Mind: Introduction to Cognitive Science (Second Edition); P Thagard, D Gabbay, J Woods (eds), Philosophy of Psychology and Cognitive Science; J Barkow, L Cosmides, J Tooby (eds), The Adapted Mind. Additional reading suggestions, particularly of articles, will be made in the lectures and the seminars.

Assessment: A three-hour exam in the ST (100%).

PH220
Evidence and Scientific Method

This information is for the 2012/13 session.

Teacher responsible: Dr Katie Steele

Availability: BSc Philosophy, Logic and Scientific Method, BSc Politics and Philosophy and BSc Philosophy and Economics. It is available as an outside option and to General Course students.

Course content: Policy decisions should be responsive to our best evidence. But what does that mean? How should we negotiate conflicting evidence? Can some evidence be disregarded due to cultural and political biases? What should we do when there is little evidence available about the issues at hand? The course is divided into three main topics. The first topic concerns the strength and the quality of the available evidence. This is a central issue in the ‘evidence-based’ policy-and-medicine movement. Are randomized controlled trials really the gold standard? Can evidence be statistically significant without being scientifically or practically significant, and vice versa? The second topic concerns the relationship between scientific and policy aims. To what extent should individual rights be compromised to enable scientific research? What issues arise when scientists interpret and measure ethically-loaded concepts like poverty or biodiversity? How should broader social-political values influence priority-setting in public science? The final topic concerns the role of the scientist as policy advisor. What is the ‘Precautionary Principle’ and how is it used in policy decision-making? What does it mean to say that there is a scientific consensus? Does expert knowledge of scientists constitute a threat to democratic processes?

Case studies employed throughout the course are drawn from various areas of science in policy-making, including climate, conservation, international development, poverty, education, medicine, and health.

Teaching: Twenty one-hour lectures (MT and LT), alongside PH423 Masters students, and 20 one-hour classes (MT and LT).

Formative coursework: Students will be expected to write two essays per term and to give class presentations.

Assessment: A three-hour written examination in the ST.

PH221
Problems of Analytic Philosophy

This information is for the 2012/13 session.

Teacher responsible: Professor Christian List

Availability: Optional for BSc Philosophy and Economics, BSc Econometrics and Mathematical Economics, BSc Philosophy, Logic and Scientific Method, BSc Politics and Philosophy, and BSc Economics. This course is available as an outside option and to General Course students.

Pre-requisites: PH103 Reason, Knowledge and Values

Course content: Short description: Some central topics in metaphysics, the philosophy of mind, the philosophy of action, and the philosophy of logic and language. Topics may vary by year. More detailed description: The aim of the course is to give an overview of some central themes in analytic philosophy. The first term charts, broadly speaking, the rise of logical positivism and considers its problems, including its ramifications in contemporary philosophy. The second term focuses on contemporary metaphysics and the philosophy of mind, organized around the question of how to make sense of the emergence of human (and animal) minds and agency against the background of a physical world. In both terms, the emphasis will be on developing a sharp understanding of the central concepts, arguments, and the logical relationships between different ideas rather than providing an encyclopedic historical or exegetical coverage.

Teaching: Twenty one-hour lectures alongside PH501 Masters students (MT and LT) and twenty one-hour classes (MT and LT).

Formative coursework: Students will be expected to write two essays per term and to give class presentations.

Indicative reading: Readings include some of the following: B.
PH222 Philosophy and Public Policy
This information is for the 2012/13 session.
Teacher responsible: Dr Joe Mazor
Availability: BSc. Philosophy and Economics; BSc. Philosophy, Logic, and Scientific Method; BSc. Politics and Philosophy. Available as an outside option to all second or third year UG students, and to General Course students, but there is a cap of 45 students.
Pre-requisites: None. Taking the course after or in conjunction with PH214 Morality and Values, or GV262 Political Concepts will enable the student to get more out of the course. But the course can be taken independently.
Course content: The course offers critical reflection on the design and evaluation of public policies from the perspective of moral and political philosophy. To this end, we study a range of theories and concepts that are used in policy evaluation. We often discuss and evaluate them by focusing on specific policy proposals. The course addresses questions such as:
Teaching: 1 hour weekly lecture, alongside PH415 Masters students; 1 hour class teaching.
Formative coursework: Two 1,500 word essays in the first term; Two 1,500 word essays in the second term.
Assessment: One two-hour exam in the ST (100%).

PH299 Essay on an approved subject in Philosophy
This information is for the 2012/13 session.
Teacher responsible: Dr Marie Milofsky
Availability: BSc Philosophy, Logic and Scientific Method, BSc Philosophy and Economics. This course is not available as an outside option or to General Course students.
Course content: The essay may be on any topic falling within the scope of the philosophy courses for Philosophy.
Assessment: Essays must be submitted by 5pm May 29th. They should be 5,000-7,000 words, and should be typewritten.

PS102 Social Psychology
This information is for the 2012/13 session.
Teachers responsible: Dr Bradley Franks, S307 and Dr Chris Tennant, c/o S302.
Availability: Optional for BSc Sociology, BSc Social Policy, BSc Actuarial Science, BSc Business Mathematics and Statistics and BSc Human Resource Management and Employment Relations. Also available to General Course students and as an outside option. Other students may take the course with the agreement of their Department and the course convenor.
Course content: Theories and concepts such as: self and identity; attitudes; communication, influence and persuasion; groups, organisations and crowds; social cognition, e.g. how our expectations influence our perception of the social world, and how our culture and social world influences those expectations. Applications such as: exploring the meaning of public opinion polls; immigration; the social and psychological sources of prejudice; rioting; economic behaviour; crime and eyewitness testimony; media influence; leadership and motivation; the commons dilemma.
Teaching: Lectures, 21 weekly, MT, LT, ST (one only); classes 20 weekly, MT (9), LT (10), ST (one only).
Course requirement: Attendance at all classes and submission of all set coursework is required.
Formative coursework: Students are expected either (a) to write
5 assignments, 2 of 750 words each and 3 of 1500 words each, OR (b) to write 4 assignments AND take part in TWO research projects as participants AND write a 500 word report of the experience and the issues it raises for the nature and quality of data collection in social psychology. These will be assessed by the class teachers. Students are also expected to give class presentations.

Assessment: A formal three-hour examination in ST. The exam will consist of 4 short answer questions and 2 essay questions.

PS203  Not available in 2012/13

Societal Psychology: Theory and Applications

This information is for the 2012/13 session.

Teacher responsible: Dr Andy Wells, STC. S305

Availability: Optional for BSc Sociology. Also available to General Course students and as an outside option.

Course content: This course discusses major areas of application of social psychology to real-world issues. Emphasis is put on the complexities of translating theory into practice and on the theoretical developments which are prompted by research on topical social issues. A recurrent theme is the reciprocal interaction between theory and practice in relation to social issues of theoretical interest and practical importance. The interplay of theory and practice will be examined in relation to selected topics which illustrate the application of social psychology in real world settings, such as: crime and anti-social behaviour; mass media; gender and sexuality; evolution and social relationships; identity and community; prejudice and racism; language and communication; religion and cultural beliefs.

Teaching: 20 weekly lectures and 20 weekly classes.

Formative coursework: Students are expected to write four essays during the Session, which will be assessed by the class teachers, and to give class presentations. These will not count towards the final examination result.

Assessment: A formal three-hour examination in ST: three questions from a choice of 10.

SA100

Foundations of Social Policy

This information is for the 2012/13 session.

Teacher responsible: Professor E Munro, OLD 2.46

Availability: Compulsory for BSc Social Policy and Criminology, BSc Social Policy, BSc Social Policy and Economics, BSc Social Policy and Sociology, BSc Social Policy with Government. Available to General Course students and as an outside option.

Course content: The course examines the nature of social provision in different policy fields and for different groups of people. This work is contextualised by reference to different kinds of welfare systems in developed countries, the changing role of the state and other providers of welfare, and changes in ideas and key concepts. The course considers how social problems are defined and policies formulated with reference to the fields of poverty, health, education, housing and income maintenance; discusses key concepts (for example, citizenship) and the position of different social classes, generations, ethnicities, and men and women; explores the changing boundaries between the roles of the state, the market, the family and the voluntary sector in the mixed economy of welfare; and considers the economic, social and political factors that are important to an understanding of policy formation and policy change.

Teaching: Lectures: 20 x SA100. Classes: 22 x SA100, MT, LT, ST.

Formative coursework: Students are expected to submit two pieces of written work per term, and to read for and prepare contributions to class discussion each week.

Assessment: A three-hour written examination in the ST.

SA101

Sociology and Social Policy

This information is for the 2012/13 session.

Teacher responsible: Professor T Newburn, OLD 2.27

Availability: Compulsory for BSc Social Policy and Sociology. Optional for BSc Social Policy, BSc Social Policy and Economics, BSc Social Policy with Government and BSc Social Policy and Criminology. Available to General Course students and as an outside option.

Course content: This course introduces students to sociological ideas and thinking and seeks to link these to some key illustrative areas of social policy. The course takes as its organising theme in the first term the idea of ‘social order’ and explores this through such concepts such as social hierarchy and stratification, social integration and interaction, social control, urbanisation and risk. In turn, these are then explored in greater empirical detail in the second term through social policy concerns such as: health inequality; education and social class; unemployment, poverty and deprivation; surveillance and social control; and globalisation and development.

Teaching: Lectures: 20 x SA101. Classes: 20 x SA101.A, LT, MT.

Formative coursework: One essay per term is required.

Assessment: A three-hour written examination in the ST.

SA103

Population, Economy and Society

This information is for the 2012/13 session.

Teacher responsible: Dr J Puradireja, OLD M2.22-MT

DR T Leone OLD 2.56-LT/ST
SA105
Crime and Society
This information is for the 2012/13 session.
Teacher responsible: Dr Coretta Phillips, OLD M2.27
Availability: This is a compulsory 1st Year course for BSc Social Policy and Criminology, optional for BSc Social Policy, BSc Social Policy and Economics, BSc Social Policy and Sociology, BSc Social Policy with Government, and Bachelor's degrees in social policy and for other BSc degrees where regulations permit. General Course students are welcome.
Course content: The course introduces students to the study of crime and its control in contemporary society. It begins by considering different conceptualisations of crime, and its measurement, before critically examining the multiple ways in which crime patterns are understood by the public, politicians, the media, and criminologists. These understandings are used to explore particular crime types such as white collar crime and violent crime. Next the course explores the impact of major social divisions - such as gender, age, ethnicity, class and community - on the social distribution of crime and considers how these patterns influence political responses to controlling crime. Lastly, the course selects key controversies in controlling crime, focusing on criminal justice agencies such as the police and considering practices such as crime prevention and punishment.
Teaching: 19 x one- hour lectures, and 20 x one- hour classes and at least two revision sessions in Summer Term.
Formative coursework: Two non-assessed essays will be required. Students will be expected to do the reading associated with the classes.
Assessment: A three-hour written examination in the ST (100%).

SA201
Research Methods for Social Policy
This information is for the 2012/13 session.
Teacher responsible: Dr M Shiner, OLD 2.49 and Professor E. Munro, OLD 2.46.
Availability: Compulsory for BSc Social Policy, BSc Social Policy and Economics, BSc Social Policy and Sociology, BSc Social Policy with Government and BSc Social Policy and Criminology. Available to General Course students and as an outside option.
Weeks 7, 8, 9, 10 (MT); and 1, 2, 3, 4, 5 (LT).
Five additional classes during the last 5 weeks of the LT covering the individual project. Professor E. Munro.
Lectures: 11 x SA201.2. Fortnightly Classes: 11 x SA201.2.
Weeks 1, 2, 3, 4, 5 (MT); 6, 7, 8, 9, 10 (LT); and two revision classes (ST).
Formative coursework: For the Research Methods class, students work in small groups on a research project of their choice and then write individual essays on an aspect of this exercise of 2,000-3,000

SA104
Social Economics and Policy
This information is for the 2012/13 session.
Teachers responsible: Professor D Piachaud, OLD 2.30
Availability: Compulsory for BSc Social Policy. Optional for BSc Social Policy and Economics, BSc Social Policy with Government, BSc Social Policy and Criminology and BSc Social Policy and Sociology. Also available to General Course students and as an outside option.
Course content: This course has two parts. The first part uses economic principles to help students to understand the characteristics of different social policy areas and how the markets and the government may fail. The second part tries to analyse the causes and possible solutions to poverty and inequality. The key subjects include: the nature of economic problems; basic economic theories; economics of healthcare, social care, housing, education and environment; market and government failures; private insurance and social insurance; quasi-markets; technology and productivity change; the distribution of income; Concepts of poverty and inequality; the determination of wages; technology and productivity change; the distribution of income; the nature of poverty and inequality; Concepts of poverty and inequality; the determination of wages; the role of trade unions; minimum wage legislation; low pay and poverty; unemployment and government economic management; education and human capital theory; policies of income redistribution.
Formative coursework: Essays, problem sets and presentations will be required.
Assessment: A three-hour written examination in the ST.
words. Participation in group work in class, and in preparation for classes, is essential.

For the Data Analysis class, students will use a computer to analyse data, and will be expected to produce summaries and interpretations of their results. Students are also expected to submit an essay based on a past exam and question at the beginning of the Lent term. Completion of a project report is a condition of examination entry.

Assessment: A project report (25%). The project topic will be given out early in the LT, and the project report must be handed in to the Undergraduate Administrator in the last week of the LT. A three-hour written examination in the ST (75%).

---

SA204 Education Policy

This information is for the 2012/13 session.

Teacher responsible: Professor A West, OLD 1.16

Availability: This is an optional course for BSc Social Policy, BSc Social Policy and Economics, BSc Social Policy and Sociology, BSc Social Policy with Government and BSc Social Policy and Criminology. Not available to General Course students or as an outside option.

Course content: This course provides an introduction to the main issues in educational policy. It draws on interdisciplinary research literature and focuses on contemporary Britain although there is a comparative component. The course aims to show how major concepts in social policy can be applied to the study of education, for example, inequality (in terms of class, ethnicity and gender), social justice (special educational needs) and redistribution of resources.

The course focuses on broad issues of educational policy, from the end of the 19th century onwards, including the 1944 Education Act, recent education reforms in early years, schools and higher education. It also explores specific issues that have implications for equality of opportunity, equity and social justice in the area of education: social class, ethnicity ‘race’ and gender, special educational needs/disability, early years education, adult learning and financing education.

Teaching: 10x2 hour seminars in MT. 10x1.5 hour seminars in LT and 2x1.5 hour seminars in ST.

Formative coursework: Two essays per term.

Assessment: A three-hour written examination in the ST.

---

SA217 Psychology of Crime and Criminal Justice

This information is for the 2012/13 session.

Teachers responsible: Dr M Shiner (OLD 2.49)

Availability: This is a recommended course for BSc Social Policy and Criminology and an optional course for BSc Social Policy, BSc Social Policy and Economics, BSc Social Policy and Sociology and BSc Social Policy with Government. Available to General Course students and as an outside option.

Course content: The course examines the contribution that psychology has made to our understanding of crime and criminal justice processes. It explores what psychological theory and research have to tell us about the causes of crime and the ways in which we respond to such behaviour. Particular attention is paid to the development of individual criminality and criminal careers; drug and alcohol related crime; varieties of criminal behaviour including violence, sexual crime and stalking; mental disorder and crime; victims and victimisation; fear of crime and public attitudes towards punishment; offender profiling and criminal investigation; eye witness testimony and legal decision making; rehabilitation and imprisonment.

Teaching: Lectures x 20; Classes x 24, MT and LT, plus one revision class, ST.

Formative coursework: One essay per term (MT and LT) will be required. Students will be expected to present class papers.

Assessment: A three-hour written examination in the ST.

---

SA221 Poverty, Social Exclusion and Social Change

This information is for the 2012/13 session.

Teacher responsible: Professor H Dean, OLD 2.30

Availability: This is an optional course for BSc Social Policy, BSc Social Policy and Economics, BSc Social Policy and Sociology, BSc Social Policy with Government, BSc Social Policy and Criminology and BSc Environment and Development. Available to General Course students and as an outside option.

Course content: The course will examine the definition, measurement and causes of poverty and social exclusion in general and analyse selected aspects drawn from the following: social and demographic change, gender and racial inequality, homelessness and housing deprivation, unemployment, worklessness, social security and poverty, area deprivation, educational inequality, crime and social exclusion.

Teaching: Lectures: 20 x SA221. Classes: 24 x SA221 A, MT, LT, ST.
Formative coursework: A minimum of two written essays will be required from students and each student will be asked to make a short presentation for discussion in class at least once each term.

Assessment: An essay of 1,500 words (25%) to be handed to the Undergraduate Administrator in the first week of the ST, and a three-hour written examination in ST (75%).

SA222 Principles of Social Policy
This information is for the 2012/13 session.
Teacher responsible: Dr S Mangen, OLD 2.62
Availability: Compulsory for BSc Social Policy, BSc Social Policy and Economics, BSc Social Policy and Criminology, BSc Social Policy and Sociology and BSc Social Policy with Government. Available to General Course students and as an outside option.

Course content: The course is divided into three parts. The first deals with various approaches to theorising about the state in terms of what each implies for its role in interventions in the area of collective social welfare and the social values on which these are based. Particular attention is played to the interplay between preferences for interventions by the state, the individual and family and the market.. The second part deals with issues involved in translating these values and policies into practice - the implementation of social policy. Concepts like need, entitlement, solidarity, merit and redistribution are addressed. The final part examines evidence of the economic and social impact of policies in selected welfare areas.

Teaching: 20 lectures; 18 classes; two student-led workshops MT, LT. One revision session. Students will be required to give individual and group presentations in class.

Formative coursework: Each student will be required to submit an essay to the class teacher at the end of the MT and LT.

Assessment: A three-hour written examination in the ST.

SA302 Assessing Social Progress
This information is for the 2012/13 session.
Teacher responsible: Professor Stephen P. Jenkins
Availability: Optional for students on the following programmes: BSc Social Policy; BSc Social Policy and Criminology; BSc Social Policy and Economics; BSc Social Policy and Sociology; BSc Social Policy with Government; BSc Economics; BSc Government; BSc Sociology. Available to General Course students and as an outside option.

Pre-requisites: Demonstrated familiarity with research methods to at least the level of SA201 (Research Methods for Social Policy) or equivalent.

Teaching: 10x1 hour lectures and classes in the MT; 10x1 hour lectures and classes in the LT. 3x1 hour revision sessions in the ST.

Course content: The course aims to facilitate student understanding of key issues in assessing social progress. ‘Assessing’ is shorthand for developing a critical understanding of the relevant concepts and their policy relevance, practical issues associated with data collection and monitoring, and the policy implications of different findings. ‘Social progress’ is shorthand for ‘are we getting better off’? There are many potential benchmarks that could be used for answering this question: comparisons with the past, with other countries, or with some absolute standards (e.g. meeting some basic needs). And at the personal level, one might compare one’s self relative to other people within your ‘society’.

There are multiple domains that are relevant to: ranging from conventional developmental measures such as income to life satisfaction and happiness, employment, health, housing and education. Much information about ‘social progress’ already incorporated in official statistics (from national and international agencies), and in more specialist academic analysis. But other interpretations of what social progress exist and are not routinely incorporated in existing monitoring exercises, and some say they should be. The course aims to reflect this diversity - to critically analyse both existing approaches and others that have been proposed. The course starts with relatively conventional approaches to assessment including macroeconomic indicators such as GDP and cross-national comparisons, income and work (lectures 1-8), and then considers newer approaches and related measures (lectures 9-14). The final third of the course (lectures 15-20) considers progress in several specific life domains. For each of the topics considered, the course addresses a specific question relating to social progress. In providing answers to the question, the course considers, from a critical perspective, relevant analytical approaches, data sources and empirical findings, and also discusses policy implications.

Assessment:
Three-hour written examination in the ST.

SA250 Demographic Description and Analysis
This information is for the 2012/13 session.
Teacher responsible: Dr A Gjonça, OLD M2.25
Availability: An optional course for students on BSc Social Policy, BSc Social Policy and Economics, BSc Social Policy and Sociology, BSc Economics, BSc Management Sciences, BSc Actuarial Science, BSc Environmental Policy, BSc Social Policy with Government and BSc Social Policy and Criminology. Available to General Course students and as an outside option. Assumptions no previous knowledge of the subject. The course is neither mathematical or statistical and students with non-mathematical backgrounds should not be at a disadvantage.

Course content: This course provides an introduction to the techniques of demographic analysis and the interpretation of demographic data. The main style of presentation is to introduce and discuss techniques of analysis and then examine examples of their use to illustrate demographic concepts and trends. Topics covered include sources of information about demographic data; period and cohort methods of description and analysis; the construction of life tables; measurement of fertility, mortality, nuptiality and migration; the determinants of age structure and the intrinsic growth rate; use of survey data; the interpretation of demographic statistics; population dynamics and population projection.

Formative coursework: A number of practical exercises involving either computations or the interpretation of data will be set during the course and discussed in classes. In addition, a number of brief essays will be required from each student.

Indicative reading: A general reading list is circulated at the start of the course. In each lecture attention is drawn to the relevant readings. The following, however, are useful introductions: A Hindle, Demographic Methods; S H Preston, et al, Demography: Measuring and Modelling Population Processes; R Pressat, The Dictionary of Demography, edited by C Wilson.

Assessment: A three-hour written examination in the ST.
SA309
Crime Control: Ideas and Controversies
This information is for the 2012/13 session.
 Teacher responsible: Dr Michael Shiner, OLD 2.49
Availibility: This is a core course for BSc Social Policy and Criminology and an optional course for other Bachelor's degrees in Social Policy. Available to General Course students and as an outside option.
Course content: The purpose of the course is to provide students with an understanding of, and critical perspective on, key debates in contemporary crime control policy. The course examines the emergent features of current responses to problems of crime and social order, focusing in particular on issues such as: policing and security; crime prevention and surveillance; youth, crime and crime control; drugs policy; and punishment. Attention is given to both historical and comparative perspectives, together with analyses of developments in current government policy.
Teaching: Lectures: 19 x SA309. Classes: 19 x SA309.A, MT and LT, and one revision class (ST).
Formative coursework: One essay per term (MT and LT) will be required. Students will be expected to present class papers.
Indicative reading: The two primary texts for the course are:
M Maguire, R Morgan and R Reiner, The Oxford Handbook of Criminology, 4th ed, 2007; and, T Newburn, Criminology, 2007. In addition, students might wish to consult: D Garland, The Culture of Control: Crime and Social Order in Contemporary Society, 2001;
T Newburn, Handbook of Policing, 2008; N Tilley, Handbook of Crime Prevention and Community Safety, 2005; D Gilling, Crime Reduction and Community Safety: Labour and the Politics of Local Crime Control, 2008; RJ MacCoun and P Reuter, Drug War Heresies:
Learning from Other Vices, Times and Places; R Hughes, R Lart and P Higate, Drugs: Policy and Politics, 2006; J Muncie, Youth
Assessment: A three-hour written examination in the ST.

SA313
European Social Policy
This information is for the 2012/13 session.
 Teacher responsible: Dr S Mangen, OLD 2.62
Availability: Optional for BSc Environmental Policy, BSc
Environmental Policy with Economics, BSc International Relations,
BSc Social Policy, BSc Social Policy and Sociology, BSc Social Policy and Economics, BSc Social Policy with Government and BSc Social Policy and Criminology. Please note that second year students considering taking this course are encouraged to discuss their application with the course teacher before formally selecting it. Available to General Course students and to fourth year BA European Studies students at King’s College. Also available as an outside option.
Course content: A cross-national analysis of the development of European welfare states in their political, social and economic contexts. The first part of the course traces the emergence and subsequent evolution of collective social provisions from the last quarter of the nineteenth-century. After reviewing contemporary welfare state formations among the member states, attention turns to the growing social policy competences at EU level. In the second part, lectures and classes focus on current processes of national and EU policy-making and implementation in the context of contemporary issues in social policy; demographic trends and the planning of welfare; the fiscal crisis and the funding of social security; health care; social exclusion; women and the welfare state;
regenerating EU labour markets; urban problems.
Teaching: Lectures: 20 weekly lectures (SA213) in MT and LT.
Classes 21 x SA213.A, MT, LT, ST.
Indicative reading: No one book covers the whole course. A detailed graduated reading list will be available at the beginning of the session.
Some introductory texts are: L Hantrais, Social Policy in the EU,
Macmillan (3rd edn); M Kleinman, A European Welfare State?
EU Social Policy in Context, Palgrave; A Cochrane & J Clarke,
Comparing Welfare States, Sage; Esping-Andersen, The Three Worlds of Welfare Capitalism, Polity, Chapters 1-3.
Assessment: A three-hour written examination in the Summer Term (100%).

SA320
Comparative and International Social Policy
This information is for the 2012/13 session.
 Teacher responsible: Dr Timo Fleckenstein, OLD 1.17
Availability: This is a compulsory 3rd year course for BSc Social Policy, BSc Social Policy and Economics, BSc Social Policy and Sociology, BSc Social Policy with Government, BSc Social Policy and Criminology and is available to students on other degrees who have completed Foundations of Social Policy (SA100) and Principles of Social Policy (SA222). This course is not available to General Course students.
Course content: The course introduces the comparative method in social policy research as well as the main analytical approaches to understanding social policy developments. It provides an overview of social policies in different areas of the world and enables students to identify global pressures on national policy environments.
The course also examines the impact of key international and supranational institutions on social policy-making. It investigates the welfare and work nexus from a comparative perspective.
Teaching: 20 x lectures, 20 classes and two revision sessions.
Formative coursework: Students are expected to submit one piece of non-assessed written work and are expected to read for and prepare contributions to class discussion each week.
Indicative reading: K Armingeon & G Bonoli (Eds), The Politics of Post-Industrial Welfare States (2006); F Castles, The Future of the Welfare State (2004); J Clasen, Reforming European Welfare States
(2004); B Deacon, Global Social Policy and Governance (2007); I
Gough & G Wood (Eds), Insecurity and Welfare Regimes in Asia, Africa and Latin America (2004); L Hantrais, Social Policy in the European Union (2007); J Lewis, Work-Family Balance, Gender and Assessment: A three-hour written examination in the ST (100%).

SA349
A Long Essay on an Approved Topic
This information is for the 2012/13 session.
 Teacher responsible: Departmental Tutor, Department of Social
SO100
Key Concepts in Sociology: An Introduction to Sociological Theory

This information is for the 2012/13 session.

Teachers responsible: Dr Nigel Dodd, STC, S266; Dr Ayça Cubukcu-TWZ, 11.01C

Availability: Compulsory for BSc Sociology. Optional for BSc Actuarial Science, BSc Environmental Policy, BSc Human Resource Management and Employment Relations, BSc International Relations, BSc Social Policy and Sociology and the Diploma in Sociology. Available as an outside option and to General Course students.

Course content: The course aims to introduce students to sociological theory by examining the work and ideas of key thinkers in social thought. For each thinker, the course will provide an overview of their contribution to the discipline of sociology, examine in detail one or more of their important texts. and also apply their analysis to a contemporary social issue.

Teaching: 20 lectures and 23 discussion classes.

Formative coursework: Four 2,000 word formative essays (two in MT, two in LT), for feedback from class teachers.

Indicative reading: A detailed reading list will be available at the first lecture, but for general preparatory reading, students might wish to consult the following:

- D. Lee & H. Newby, The Problem of Sociology.
- Z. Bauman, Thinking Sociologically.
- S. Bruce, Sociology: A Very Short Introduction.

Assessment: A three-hour unseen examination in the ST.

SO110
Key Issues in Contemporary Societies: An Introduction to Contemporary Sociology

This information is for the 2012/13 session.

Teacher responsible: Dr Carrie Friese, STC, S207

Availability: Compulsory for BSc Sociology. Optional for BSc Social Policy, BSc Social Policy and Sociology and the Diploma in Sociology. Available as an outside option and to General Course students.

Course content: The course provides an introduction to different substantive areas of work in contemporary sociology. Students will gain an understanding of leading-edge research within the discipline worldwide. The sociological problems covered in the course can vary from year to year. They normally include:

- Class, power and inequality
- Race, ethnicity and multi-culturalism
- Nation states, war and conflict
- Money, markets and work
- Identity, cosmopolitanism, nationalism and religion
- Gender, sexuality and the body
- Crime, punishment and deviance

Teaching: 20 Lectures held weekly in MT and LT; 22 classes held weekly in MT, LT & ST.

Formative coursework: Two formative essays in MT, one formative essay in LT.

Assessment: Two copies of one assessed essay (2,500-3,000 words) to be handed in to the Sociology Administration Office, S219a, by 4.30pm on the first Tuesday of ST (30% of the total mark) and a third copy to be uploaded to Moodle; and a three-hour unseen examination (70% of the total mark).

SO201
Sociological Analysis

This information is for the 2012/13 session.

Teachers responsible: Dr Don Slater, STC, S218a

Availability: Compulsory for BSc Sociology and BSc Social Policy and Sociology. Optional for the Diploma in Sociology. Also available as an outside option and to General Course students.

Course content: This course engages key sociological issues through the critical reading of empirical research studies. The course explores the connections between theoretical arguments and the practice of social enquiry and analysis. Indicative topics include:

- Culture, religion, bodies, risk, migration, nature, rights.
- Blocks of lectures will focus on three different research texts within each theme.

Teaching: Lectures: SO201 20 lectures, weekly in MT and LT.

Classes: 20 classes, weekly in MT and LT.

Indicative reading: Selected reading. There is no set textbook for this course - each week's teaching is based on the critical reading of key texts.

Formative coursework: Two coursework submissions each term are a course requirement.

Assessment: Two hard copies of each of two 3,500 word assessed essays to be handed in to the Sociology Administration Office,
SO203 Political Sociology

This information is for the 2012/13 session.

Teachers responsible: Dr Robin Archer, STC. S283 and Dr Manali Desai, STC. S282

Availability: Optional course for BSc Sociology, BSc Accounting and Finance, BSc Social Policy and Sociology, Diploma in Sociology and for interested BSc students in Government and other departments. Also available to General Course students.

Course content: Political Sociology concerns the way in which political and social factors interact to produce the societies in which we live. This course aims to discuss some central empirical and theoretical questions in the field. The course begins by examining classic debates about the relationship between the development of the state and democracy on the one hand, and the rise of capitalism and liberalism on the other. We will then examine the impact that social cleavages like class, religion, race and gender have on parties, elections and other political institutions in a number of different countries. We will also examine the strength and political impact of both labour movements and other important social movements. And we will enquire into how similar countries can develop very different social and economic policies. In addition we will examine some large scale historical changes like revolutions, democratisation, the impact of colonialism, and globalisation. Throughout the course we will also consider some of the major theoretical approaches that are used in the study of political sociology.

Teaching: Lectures: 24 one-hour MT, LT, ST.

Classes: 22 one-hour MT, LT, ST

Formative coursework: At least one class presentation and a termly paper in both MT and LT.

Assessment: A three-hour formal examination in ST (70% of the total mark) and an assessed essay, 2,500 words, (30% of the total mark) to be handed in to the Sociology Administration Office, Room S219a, no later than 4.30pm on the first Thursday of ST.

SO208 Gender and Society

This information is for the 2012/13 session.

Teacher responsible: Dr Suki Ali, STC. S216

Availability: Optional course for BSc Sociology, BSc Human Resource Management and Employment Relations, BSc Social Policy and Sociology and the Diploma in Sociology.

Course content: The course will explore the meaning of gender in contemporary society. It will consider gender relations of power and the articulation of gender with other kinds of social difference such as ‘race’, class and sexuality. A variety of theoretical perspectives will be applied to a number of substantive issues of contemporary concern.

Indicative topics are: gender and sexuality; the body; families; employment; violence; nation and citizenship; reproductive technologies; globalisation; sex work; representation; body modification.

Teaching: The course will consist of 20 lectures (SO208) and 23 classes (SO208.A).

Formative coursework: Students will be expected to prepare one essay per term and at least one class paper per term which will be written up and handed to the class teacher.

A more detailed reading list will be provided at the beginning of the course.

Assessment: A three-hour unseen examination in the ST (100%).

SO210 Crime, Deviance and Control

This information is for the 2012/13 session.

Teacher responsible: Dr Janet Foster STC.S206

Availability: Optional course for BSc Sociology, BSc Social Policy and Sociology and the Diploma in Sociology. Also available to General Course students as an outside option.

Pre-requisites: Students should have completed introductory courses in sociological theory and social structure.

Course content: This course encourages students to think about and debate some of the major issues in Criminology. We explore the social construction of crime and deviance; the different sources of information about them; key factors that shape patterns, perspectives and experiences of crime and deviance, including social class, gender, ethnicity and the media; and different Criminological theories that have been used to explain crime and deviance. We also explore elements of social control including policing and prisons.

Teaching: This course will consist of 20 lectures (S210) during MT and LT and 23 one hour classes (S210A) during MT, LT and ST.

Formative coursework: One formative essay in both the MT and LT.

Assessment: A three-hour unseen examination in the ST (70%) and a 1,500-2,000 word essay (30%). The essay must be submitted to the Sociology administration office, Room S219a, no later than 4.30pm, on Tuesday week 2 of ST.

SO211 Sociology of Health and Medicine

This information is for the 2012/13 session.

Teachers responsible: Dr Carrie Friese, STC. S207

Availability: Optional Course for BSc Sociology, BSc Social Policy and Sociology and the Diploma in Sociology. Also available to General Course students and as an outside option.

Course content: The course provides an introduction to the sociology of health and illness. It focuses on the social, economic, political, ethical and subjective aspects of health and healing. Key thematic areas of inquiry include: medicine as a social institution; the social, political and cultural parameters that shape illness experiences; health inequalities within the UK and globally; and the political economies of health care. Indicative topics explored within these thematic areas include: chronic illness, mental health, HIV/AIDS, disability, reproductive technologies, pharmaceuticals and clinical trials. The course aims to develop an understanding of key issues in medicine and society that are empirically grounded and theoretically engaged, thereby introducing students to social bases of health and illness. To achieve this, the course combines traditional learning with additional exercises, including conducting an interview with a health professional and visiting the Wellcome Museum.

Teaching: This course will consist of weekly lectures during MT and LT and weekly classes during MT and LT. One revision session will be held during the ST.

Formative coursework: Students will be expected to produce four essays of 1,000-1,500 words due in Weeks 5, 10, 15 and 20.

Assessment: A three-hour unseen examination (70% of the total mark) from which three questions are to be answered; and an assessed essay of 2,500-3,000 words, two hard copies to be handed in to the Sociology Administration Office, Room S219a, before 4.30 pm on the first Wednesday of the Summer Term (30% of the total mark); a third copy uploaded to Moodle.

SO212 Work, Management and Globalisation

This information is for the 2012/13 session.

Teacher responsible: Dr Patrick McGovern, STC, S276

Availability: Optional for BSc Accounting and Finance, BSc Human Resource Management and Employment Relations, BSc Management, BSc Social Policy and Sociology, BSc Sociology and the Diploma in Sociology.

Course content: Coverage of contemporary sociological perspectives on the employment relationship, labour market divisions, change at work, globalization and labour. Work: The employment contract; theoretical perspectives on the employment relationship; control and consent at work; scientific management and McDonaldization; labour market divisions; women in the labour market; discrimination at work; the changing employment relationship; work-life conflict; self-managing teams; management gurus; globalization, transnational corporations and labour; immigrant workers.

Teaching: There will be 20 lectures (SO212) given by Dr P McGovern (convener) and a guest lecturer (Professor Judy Wajcman).

Formative coursework: One essay and one class paper per term.

Indicative reading: There is no recommended textbook. Books of a general nature that cover substantial parts of the syllabus are: K Grint, The Sociology of Work (3rd edn); M Noon & P Blyton The Realities of Work (3rd edn); C Tilly & C Tilly, Work under Capitalism; P Dicken Global Shift (4th edn). A more comprehensive bibliography will be available to students taking this course.

Assessment: A three-hour formal examination in the ST (70%) and an assessed essay (30%) of 2,500-3,000 words. Two hard copies must be submitted to the Sociology Administration Office, Room S219a, no later than 4.30pm on Tuesday, week 2 of ST, a third copy must be uploaded to Moodle.

SO221 Researching London: An Introduction to Social Research Methods

This information is for the 2012/13 session.

Teacher responsible: Professor Mike Savage STC 210

Availability: Compulsory course for BSc Sociology and Diploma in Sociology. Also available to General Course students and as an outside option.

Course content: This course will provide students with a systematic introduction to the practical conduct of social research through exemplars and practical exercises involving research on some aspect of London’s social life. By the end of the course students will:

- Have a grounding in the different methods used by social scientists to analyse social relations in London, and an awareness of the strengths and weaknesses of their different methods
- Have experience in practical research strategies including the design of questionnaires, conducting structured and semi-structured interviews, ethnographic observation, documentary and web based sources.
- Be able to analyse different kinds of data, using quantitative methods, grounded theory, visual and historical analysis.
- Be able to relate different research repertoires to methodological strategies in sociology, including reliability, validity and measurement.
- Understand the ethical issues involved in social research.
- Be able to develop a research proposal which will inform their dissertation design.

Teaching: The course will be taught in a two hour block over two terms (20 weeks in total). These workshops will each consist of interactive sessions of all students, with break-out sessions where students are divided into three different groups, and each supported by a TA.

Formative coursework: There are three compulsory assignments.

Indicative reading: A good introductory textbook is Angela Dale and Jennifer Mason, Understanding Social Research: thinking creatively about method (2011); see also A Bryman, Social Research Methods (4th edn 2012). Other useful textbooks are R H Hoyle, M J Harris & C M Judd, Research Methods in Social Relations (7th edn 2002); D A de Vaus, Surveys in Social Research (5th edn 2001) and Assessment: A 3000 word research proposal (60%) to be submitted on the first Thursday of the Summer Term. The remaining 40% is awarded for two 1500 word summative essays. The first being due the first Thursday of LT, the second to be submitted by Thursday of week 8 of the LT. Two hard copies of each piece of coursework are to be handed in to the Department of Sociology’s Administration Office, S219A, no later than 1630 on the due date, with a further copy being posted to Moodle.

SO224 The Sociology of Race and Ethnicity

This information is for the 2012/13 session.

Teacher responsible: Dr Koushik Banerjea

Availability: Optional Course for BSc Sociology for 2nd and 3rd years and the Diploma in Sociology. Also available to General Course Students and as an outside option.

Course content: The course provides an introduction to theoretical, historical and contemporary debates around race, racism and ethnicity. It firstly explores the main theoretical perspectives which have been used to analyse racial and ethnic relations, in a historical and contemporary framework. It then examines the historical, social and political context of racial relations in contemporary societies, focusing primarily on Britain, although it also draws on comparative examples. Topics include: Race relations and social theory; race and ethnicity in historical perspective; race and class; race and gender; race and the nation-state; multiculturalism; diaspora and hybridity; whiteness; mixed race; racism and the legacy of Empire; race and immigration; race relations and public policy; race, racism and riots; community cohesion; Muslim identities; asylum and new migrations; the Far Right and the white working class.
Teaching: 20 Lectures held weekly in MT and LT; 22 classes held weekly in MT, LT and ST.

Formative coursework: A 2,000 word formative essay in MT and LT.

Indicative reading: L Back & J Solomos (Eds), Theories of Race and Racism (2nd Edition, Routledge 2009); M Bulmer & J Solomos (Eds), Racism (OUP 1999); M Banton, Racial Theories (CUP 1998); J Solomos & L Back, Racism and Society (Macmillan 1996); R Miles, Racism after Race Relations (Routledge 1993); J Bulmer & J Solomos (Eds), Racial and Ethnic Studies Today (Routledge 1999); H Mirza (Ed), Black British Feminism (Routledge 1997); K Owusu (Ed), Black British Cultural Studies (Routledge 1999); D T Goldberg, Racist Culture (Blackwell 1993); P Gilroy, There Ain’t No Black in the Union Jack (Hutchinson 1987); J Donald & A Rattansi (Eds), Race, Culture and Difference (Sage, 1992); J Solomos, Race and Racism in Britain (3rd edn), (Palgrave, 2003); P Hill Collins, Black Feminist Thought (Routledge 1991); CCS, The Empire Strikes Back (Hutchinson 1982); B Hesse (Ed), UnSettled Multiculturalisms (Zed 2000); A Sharma, J Hutnyck & A Sharma (Eds), DisOrienting Rhythms (Zed 1996); D T Goldberg (Ed), Multiculturalism: A Critical Reader (Blackwell 1994); D McGhee, The End of Intolerant Britain? (Open University Press 2005); D. McGhee, The End of Multiculturalism? (Open University Press 2008); N Finney & L Simpson, Sleepwalking to Segregation? (Policy Press 2009); P.H. Collins & J. Solomos (eds) Sage Handbook of Race and Ethnic Studies (Sage 2010)

Assessment: An assessed book or article review (2,000 words), two copies to be handed in to the Sociology Administration Office, S219a, no later than 4.30pm on the first Friday of week 2, LT (30%) with a third copy posted onto Moodle; a three-hour examination (70%) in the LT.

SO302

Sociological Project

This information is for the 2012/13 session.

Teacher responsible: Dr Juan Pablo Pardo-Guerra, STC. S265

Availability: Compulsory for BSc Sociology. Not available as an outside option or to General Course students.

Course content: The project is to be in the form of an essay on a sociological topic to be approved by the Department of Sociology. The purpose is to allow the student to study in depth an interest of his or her own choosing. Many approaches are possible in the work for the essay, but there are three main variants: original fieldwork, secondary analysis, and literature review.

Selection of topic: The topic must be within the general field of sociology and should fall within the range of competence of a member of the staff, normally a member of the Sociology Department. However, it need not be chosen from those areas of sociology which are at present taught within the Department. The topic should not overlap too closely with the content of other units that the student is taking. Students may follow up a theme suggested to them by their coursework, but the topic must allow the material and arguments to be developed in greater depth than is possible in the lectures and seminars for the course.

Assessment: The course includes two formative and two summative assessments. The first formative assessment is a 2,000 word research project due by 4.30pm on the 5th Friday of MT. The project should specify 1) a research question, 2) a brief theoretical literature review, 3) a brief introduction to the empirical case, 4) a research design, 5) a project schedule. The research project is linked to an assessed 15 minute presentation that will take place in weeks 6-10 of MT. The presentation is 10% of the final mark. Students are also required to submit a formative progress assessment of no more than 1,500 words on the second week of LT. The progress assessment must report on fieldwork conducted to date and identify possible challenges in the future. Finally, students are required to submit a sociological project of not more than 10,000 words in length; it may include tables and diagrams as appropriate. Two hard copies, typescript, must be submitted to the Sociology Administration Office, Room S219a, by 4.30pm on the second Friday of ST, with a third copy posted to Moodle. Accidental loss of data or text on a computer will not be accepted as a reason for non-submission. The sociological project represents 70% of the final mark.

SO307

Human Rights, Social Suffering and Justice

This information is for the 2012/13 session.

Availability: This is an optional course for BSc Sociology, BSc Social Policy and Sociology, and the Diploma in Sociology. This course is also available to General Course students and as an outside option.

Teaching: Twenty lectures and twenty classes over the Michaelmas and Lent Terms. A two-hour revision class in the Summer Term.

Formative coursework: Two formative essays are required of 1,500 words in length. One to be submitted in the MT and the other in the LT.

Course content: The course as a whole introduces students to philosophical and theoretical approaches to human rights in addition to engaging them with a specific set of empirical problems in the field. The first term engages students with a range of controversies surrounding the nature, justification and practice of human rights. Some of the debates that will be covered over the course of the term include: the proper function of human rights; the appropriate concept of human rights; the relevant holders of human rights; how and whether human rights can be justified; the tension between human rights and democracy; the problem of rights conflicts; the relativist challenge to human rights; the Marxist critique of human rights; and the charge that human rights are a form of ‘hegemonic power’. The second term moves into a more empirical engagement with human rights as a set of practices and responses to social suffering. It covers human rights and social movements in the post-45 era; explaining mass violations of human rights (the case of genocide); perpetrators, atrocity and obedience to authority; collective trauma and social suffering; bearing witness to suffering (media representations, human rights reporting); and doing justice (international criminal tribunals and truth commissions).

J. Jones, Rights, (Basingstoke: Palgrave, 1994).

N. Stammers, Human Rights and Social Movements (London: Pluto, 2009)

Assessment: A 3,000 word essay (30%), two copies to be handed in to the Sociology Administration Office, S219a, no later than 4.30pm on the first Wednesday of the ST with a third copy posted onto Moodle; a three-hour examination (70%) in the LT.

SO308

Personal Life, Intimacy and the Family

This information is for the 2012/13 session.

Teacher responsible: Dr Ursula Henz STC. S279

Availability: Optional for BSc Sociology. Also available to students on other degree programmes as an outside option, and to General Course students.

Course content: The course provides an overview over the area of family sociology, drawing predominantly on literature about Britain and other Western societies. The course focuses on recent and ongoing transformations of families, family relationships and...

---

ST102 Elementary Statistical Theory
This information is for the 2012/13 session.
Teachers responsible: Dr James Abdey, COL 7.09
Availability: Compulsory for BSc Actuarial Science, BSc Business Mathematics and Statistics, BSc Econometrics and Mathematical Economics, BSc Economics, BSc Economics and Economic History, BSc Economics with Economic History, BSc Mathematics with Economics, BSc Geography with Economics and BSc Mathematics and Economics. Optional for BSc Accounting and Finance, BSc Management and BSc Philosophy and Economics. Available to General Course students and as an outside option. This course cannot be taken with ST102 Elementary Statistical Theory, ST107 Quantitative Methods (Statistics) or ST108 Probability and Statistics for the Social Sciences.
Course content: An introduction to statistical methods and statistical reasoning, with particular reference to application in the social sciences. No prior knowledge of statistics is assumed. The place of statistics in the social sciences. Descriptive statistics: levels of measurement. The summarization and presentation of data using graphic methods. The normal distribution. Basic ideas of sampling and statistical inference. Sampling from finite populations. The sampling distributions of proportions and means estimation and hypothesis testing. Testing goodness of fit. The measurement of association and correlation and simple tests of significance. Simple linear regression. Two-sample tests for means.
Pre-requisites: A-level Mathematics or equivalent. No previous knowledge of statistics is assumed.
Course content: The course provides a precise and accurate treatment of introductory probability theory, statistical ideas, methods and techniques. Students will also be exposed to the MINITAB statistical package. Descriptive statistics including some exploratory data analysis. Probability: axiomatic probability, conditional probability, Bayes’ Theorem, independence, combinatorial methods. Random variables: discrete and continuous random variables, expectation and variance, joint and conditional distributions, the moment generating function. Important distributions of statistics, including the Binomial, Poisson, Uniform and Normal distributions. Sampling distributions of statistics and the Central Limit Theorem. Concepts of statistical inference; Point estimation: method of moments estimation, least squares estimation and maximum likelihood estimation; Interval estimation; Testing statistical hypotheses: one-sample tests and two-sample tests; Inference for correlation coefficients and variances; Rank-based nonparametric tests and goodness-of-fit tests; Contingency tables; Linear regression analysis: model estimation, hypothesis testing, and prediction; Regression and ANOVA with Minitab.
Teaching: Lectures ST102: 20 MT, 20 LT, 4 ST.
Example Workshops: 9 MT, 10 LT, 4 ST.
Classes ST102 A: 8 MT, 10 LT, 3 ST.
Help Sessions: 8 MT, 10 LT.
Formative coursework: Students will be given weekly exercises on which they are to work and then are handed in to class teachers for marking and advice. The exercise material will form the basis of the workshops and classes.
Assessment: Three-hour written examination in the ST.

---

ST103 Statistical Methods for Social Research
This information is for the 2012/13 session.
Teachers responsible: Dr Ilya Sheynzon, COL 7.10
Availability: Compulsory for BSc Sociology students. Optional for BSc Human Resource Management and Employment Relations and the Diploma in Sociology. Also available to General Course students and as an outside option. This course cannot be taken with ST102 Elementary Statistical Theory, ST107 Quantitative Methods (Statistics) or ST108 Probability and Statistics for the Social Sciences.
Course content: An introduction to statistical methods and statistical reasoning, with particular reference to application in the social sciences. No prior knowledge of statistics is assumed. The place of statistics in the social sciences. Descriptive statistics: levels of measurement. The summarization and presentation of data using graphic methods. The normal distribution. Basic ideas of sampling and statistical inference. Sampling from finite populations. The sampling distributions of proportions and means estimation and hypothesis testing. Testing goodness of fit. The measurement of association and correlation and simple tests of significance. Simple linear regression. Two-sample tests for means.
Teaching: Lectures ST103: 10 MT, 20 LT, 4 ST.
Classes ST103 A: 9 MT, 10 LT and 5 ST.
Formative coursework: Written answers to set exercises are expected weekly. The exercise marks form part of the course assessment.
Indicative reading: Each week a set of notes covering the lecture topics for that week will be distributed. These notes will provide a framework for further reading, and will indicate where further material on the topics may be found.
Assessment: Weekly homework exercises (30%); three-hour open-book examination in the ST (70%). To pass the course, homework exercises must be completed and a pass mark is required for both the homework exercises and the examination.

---

ST107 Half Unit
Quantitative Methods (Statistics)
This information is for the 2012/13 session.
Teacher responsible: Dr James Abdey, COL 7.09
Availability: BSc Accounting and Finance, BSc Environmental Policy, BSc Government and Economics, BSc Geography with Economics, BSc Environmental Policy with Economics, BSc Human Resource Management and Employment Relations, BSc Management, BSc Management Sciences, BSc Philosophy and Economics and BSc Social Policy and Economics. Accessible to students who have performed well at a slightly lower level and are proficient in basic calculus. Available to General Course students and as an outside option. This course cannot be taken with ST102 Elementary Statistical Theory or ST103 Statistical Methods for Social Research.
Pre-requisites: A-level Mathematics or equivalent.
Course content: The elementary statistical tools necessary for further study in management and economics with an emphasis on the applicability of the methods to management and economic problems. An introduction to statistical concepts. Centre and spread of a distribution. Probability, conditional probability, The Binomial, Poisson and Normal distributions. Covariance and linear combinations of random variables. Random sampling, sampling distributions. Efficiency, biased and unbiased estimators. Confidence intervals for means and proportions, and difference in means and proportions, the Student’s ‘t’ distribution. Hypothesis tests, power and p-value. Correlation and Regression. Fitting a line, least squares estimation. Sampling variability of the estimates. Confidence intervals and tests. Predicting response variable, p-value.

Teaching: Lectures ST107: 20 LT, 3 ST.

Classes ST107.A: nine LT, one ST weekly.

Formative coursework: Weekly example sheets will be set and students are expected to submit solutions to the class teacher each week.

Indicative reading: All course materials made available via Moodle, including notes to accompany the lectures, but this can be supplemented with additional background reading. Recommended supplementary text is: Newbold, P., W.L. Carlson and B.M. Thorne Statistics for Business and Economics. (London: Prentice-Hall, 2009) seventh edition.

Assessment: Two-hour written examination in the ST.

---

ST108 Probability and Statistics for the Social Sciences

This information is for the 2012/13 session.

Teacher responsible: Dr Nicholas Cron

Pre-requisites: No background in statistics is required. The course itself will provide the necessary foundation in probability and distribution theory.

Availability: This course is for first year BSc Accounting and Finance students without a strong background in Mathematics, e.g. without A-level or equivalent mathematical background. Available to General Course students and as an outside option. This course cannot be taken with ST102 Elementary Statistical Theory, ST107 Quantitative Methods (Statistics) or ST103 Statistical Methods for Social Research.

Course content: A basic foundation in elementary statistical methods, theory and statistical reasoning. Probability, random variable theory and distributions. Normal distribution, sampling concepts and sampling distributions. Estimation significances tests and confidence intervals, one and two-sample methods. Linear regression, correlation. Test for proportions, simple contingency tables. Basic decision theory.

Teaching: Lectures: MT 14, LT 20, ST 3. LT lectures will be shared with ST103. Classes: MT 8, LT 10, ST 3.

Formative coursework: Written answers to set exercises expected weekly.

Assessment: Coursework assessment (30%); three-hour open-book examination ST (70%).

---

ST201 Half Unit

Statistical Models and Data Analysis

This information is for the 2012/13 session.

Teachers responsible: Dr Sara Geneletti, COL 7.04

Availability: Primarily for BSc Management and BSc Accounting and Finance students, also available to students who have studied statistics and mathematics to the level of MA107/ST107 Quantitative Methods. Available to General Course students and as an outside option. Not to be taken in conjunction with ST203 Statistics for Management Sciences (Full unit).

Teaching: Linked to Moodle. Lectures ST203.1: 20 LT. Project Briefing Sessions: two LT. Computer Workshops ST203.1: eight LT

Formative coursework: One assessed project.

Assessment: Two-hour formal written examination in the ST (80%). Course work (20%).

---

ST202 Probability, Distribution Theory and Inference

This information is for the 2012/13 session.

Teachers responsible: Dr Matteo Barigozzi, COL.7.11 and Dr Kostas Kalogeropoulos, COL.6.10

Availability: BSc Actuarial Science, BSc Accounting and Finance, BSc Business Mathematics and Statistics, BSc Econometrics and Mathematical Economics, BSc Mathematics with Economics, BSc Econometrics and Mathematical Economics and MSc Econometrics and Mathematical Economics (Two Year Programme). Available to General Course students and as an outside option.

Pre-requisites: MA100 Mathematical Methods and ST102 Elementary Statistical Theory. Students who have not taken these courses should contact Dr Kalogeropoulos.

Teaching: Lectures: 20 MT, 20 LT.

Seminars: 9 MT, 10 LT, 1 ST

Formative coursework: Four term-time tests will measure students progress.

Indicative reading: G C Casella & R L Berger, Statistical Inference (primary reading); R Bartoszyki ski & M Niewiadomskau-Bugaj, Probability and Statistical Inference (stresses comprehension of concepts rather than mathematics, complimentary reading only); J Jacob & P Potters, Probability Essentials (for further reading, a more advanced text on probability, using measure theoretic concepts and tools, still very accessible).

Assessment: Three-hour written examination in the ST.
ST203 Statistics for Management Sciences
This information is for the 2012/13 session.

Teacher responsible: Dr Sara Geneletti, COL 7.04, and Professor Chris Skinner, COL 7.13

Availability: Primarily for BSc Management Sciences and BSc Accounting and Finance. Available to General Course students and as an outside option. Not to be taken with: ST201 Statistical Models and Data Analysis, or ST205 Sample Surveys and Experiments.

Pre-requisites: Mathematics and statistics to the level of MA107/ST107 Quantitative Methods.

Course content: A second course in statistics encompassing a wide range of practical issues from the design of surveys and data collection to building models and making inferences. Computer packages used throughout.

There are two lecture courses.

Teaching: Lectures ST203.1: 20 LT. Linked to Moodle Project briefing Session: two LT.
Computer Workshops ST203.1: eight LT.
Lectures ST203.2: 18 MT.
Classes ST203.2: nine MT.
Workshop (two-hour) ST203.2: one MT.

Formative coursework: Two or more assessed projects.

Assessment: Three-hour written examination in the ST (80%), course work (20%).

ST211 Half Unit Applied Regression
This information is for the 2012/13 session.

Teacher responsible: Dr Sara Geneletti, COL 7.04

Availability: BSc Business Mathematics and Statistics and BSc Actuarial Science. Available to General Course students and as an outside option.

Course content: Tabulation, Graphical representation, Regression, Detection of outliers, Model diagnostics, Analysis of Variance.

Teaching: 10 hours of classes and 20 hours of lectures/computer lab sessions.

Formative coursework: Weekly moodle quizzes.

Assessment: Two hour unseen examination in the Summer Term (50%) and project (50%).

ST205 Half Unit Sample Surveys and Experiments
This information is for the 2012/13 session.

Teacher responsible: Professor Chris Skinner, COL 7.13

Availability: Optionally for BSc Management Sciences and BSc Accounting and Finance. Available to General Course students and as an outside option. Not to be taken with: ST201 Statistical Models and Data Analysis, or ST205 Sample Surveys and Experiments.

Pre-requisites: Mathematics and statistics to the level of MA107/ST107 Quantitative Methods.

Course content: A second course in statistics encompassing a wide range of practical issues from the design of surveys and data collection to building models and making inferences. Computer packages used throughout.

There are two lecture courses.

Teaching: Lectures ST205.1: 20 LT. Linked to Moodle Project briefing Session: two LT.
Computer Workshops ST205.1: eight LT.
Lectures ST205.2: 20 MT.
Classes ST205.2: nine MT.
Workshop (two-hour) ST205.2: one MT.

Formative coursework: Two or more assessed projects.

Assessment: Two-hour written examination in the ST (80%), course work (20%).

ST226 Half Unit Actuarial Investigations: Financial
This information is for the 2012/13 session.

Teacher responsible: Dr Angelos Dassios, COL 6.14

Availability: BSc Actuarial Science, BSc Business Mathematics and Statistics, BSc Management Sciences. Available to General Course students and as an outside option.

Pre-requisites: MA100 Mathematical Methods; ST102 Elementary Statistical Theory.

Course content: The application of compound interest techniques to financial transactions. Describing how to use a generalised cash-flow model to describe financial transactions such as a zero coupon bond, a fixed interest security, an index-linked security, cash on deposit, an equity, an interest only loan, a repayment loan, an annuity certain and others. The time value of money using the concepts of compound interest and discounting. Accumulation of payments and present value of future payments. Expressing interest rates or discount rates in terms of different time periods. Real and money interest rates.

The calculation of the present value and the accumulated value of a stream of equal or unequal payments using specified rates of interest and the net present value at a real (possibly variable) rate of interest, assuming a constant rate of inflation. Compound interest rate functions; definitions and use. Equations of value with certain and uncertain payments and receipts; conditions for existence of solution. Describe how a loan may be repaid by regular instalments of interest and capital; flat rates and annual effective rates. Calculation of a schedule of repayments under a loan and identification of the interest and capital components of annuity payments where the annuity is used to repay a loan for the case where annuity payments are made once per effective time period or p times per effective time period and identify the capital outstanding at any time. Discounted cash flow techniques and their use in investment project appraisal; internal rate of return, discounted payback period, money-weighted rate of return, time-weighted rate of return, linked internal rate of return. The investment and risk characteristics of fixed-interest Government borrowings, fixed-interest borrowing by other bodies, shares and other equity-type finance derivatives. The analysis of compound interest rate problems; the present value of payments from a fixed interest security where the coupon rate is constant and the security is redeemed in one installment, upper and lower bounds for the present value of a fixed interest security that is redeemable on a single date within a given range at the option of the borrower, the running yield and the redemption yield from a fixed interest security, the present value or yield from an ordinary share and a property, given simple (but not necessarily constant) assumptions about the growth of dividends and rents, the solution of the equation of value for the real rate of interest implied by the equation in the presence of specified inflationary growth, the present value or real yield from an index-linked bond, the price of (or yield from) a fixed interest security where the investor is subject to deduction of income tax on coupon payments and redemption payments are subject to the deduction of capital gains tax.

Teaching: Lectures ST226: 20 MT. Seminars: 10 MT.

Formative coursework: Compulsory written answers to one set of problems.

Indicative reading: R Norberg, Basic Life Insurance Mathematics; J J McCutcheon & W J Scott, An Introduction to the Mathematics of Finance, Heinemann; Institute of Actuaries, Formuale and Tables for Actuarial Examinations. Core reading notes obtainable from the Institute of Actuaries.

Assessment: Three-hour written examination in the ST.

---

ST202 Half Unit

Survival Models

This information is for the 2012/13 session.

Teacher responsible: Dr Costas Kardaras

Availability: Primarily for students on the following programmes:
BSc Actuarial Science, BSc Business Mathematics and Statistics. Also available to General Course students and as an outside option.

Pre-requisites: Pre-requisites: MA100 Mathematical Methods,
ST102 Elementary Statistical Theory.

Course content: An introduction to stochastic processes with emphasis on life history analysis and actuarial applications.
Principles of modelling; model selection, calibration, and testing;
Stochastic processes and their classification into different types by time space, state space, and distributional properties; construction of stochastic processes from finite-dimensional distributions, processes with independent increments, Poisson processes and renewal processes and their applications in general insurance and risk theory, Markov processes, Markov chains and their applications in life insurance and general insurance, extensions to more general intensity-driven processes, counting processes, semi-Markov processes, stationary distributions. Determining transition probabilities and other conditional probabilities and expected values; integral expressions, Kolmogorov differential equations, numerical solutions, simulation techniques. Survival models - the random life length approach and the Markov chain approach; survival function, conditional survival function, mortality intensity, some commonly used mortality laws. Statistical inference for life history data; Maximum likelihood estimation for parametric models, non-parametric methods (Kaplan-Meier and Nelson-Aalen), regression models for intensities including the semi-parametric Cox model and partial likelihood estimation; Various forms of censoring; The technique of occurrence-exposure rates and analytic graduation; Impact of the censoring scheme on the distribution of the estimators; Confidence regions and hypothesis testing.

Teaching: Lectures: 20 LT. Seminars: 10 LT.

Formative coursework: Compulsory written answers to two sets of problems.

Indicative reading: S Ross, Stochastic Processes; R Norberg, Risk and Stochastics in Life Insurance; The Institute of Actuaries, Core reading Subject CT4. For full details of the syllabus of CT4, see

Assessment: Three-hour written examination in the ST.

---

ST300 Half Unit

Regression and Generalised Linear Models

This information is for the 2012/13 session.

Teacher responsible: Dr Clifford Lam, COL.6.09

Availability: Primarily for students on the following programmes:
BSc Actuarial Science, BSc Business Mathematics and Statistics and BSc Mathematics with Economics. Also available to General
Course students and as an outside option.

Pre-requisites: Pre-requisites: ST102 Elementary Statistical Theory and ST202 Probability, Distribution Theory and Inference.

Course content: A solid coverage of the most important parts of the theory and application of regression models, generalised linear models and the analysis of variance.

Analysis of variance models; factors, interactions, confounding.
Multiple regression and regression diagnostics. Generalised linear models; the exponential family, the linear predictor, link functions, analysis of deviance, parameter estimation, deviance residuals.
Model choice, fitting and validation. The use of a statistics package will be an integral part of the course. The computer workshops revise the theory and show how it can be applied to real datasets.

Teaching: Lectures ST300: 10 MT, 10 LT.

Computer Workshops and Theory Classes ST300:A: 10 MT, 10 LT.

Formative coursework: One assessed project.

Indicative reading: D C Montgomery, E A Peck & G G Vining, Introduction to Linear Regression Analysis; D C Montgomery,
Design and Analysis of Experiments; A J Dobson, An Introduction to Generalised Linear Models; P McCullagh & J A Nelder, Generalized
Linear Models; A C Atkinson, Plots, Transformations and Regression;
A C Atkinson & M Riani, Robust Diagnostic Regression Analysis;
JJ Faraway, Linear Models with R; JJ Faraway, Extending the linear Model with R. Related items from the Institute of Actuaries, Core reading Subject CT6. For full details of the syllabus of CT6, see

Assessment: Two-hour written examination in the ST (85%);
Assessed project (15%).

---

ST302 Half Unit

Stochastic Processes

This information is for the 2012/13 session.

Teacher responsible: Dr Umut Cetin, COL.6.08

Availability: Primarily for students on the following programmes:
BSc Actuarial Science, BSc Business Mathematics with Economics and BSc
Business Mathematics and Statistics. Also available to General
Course students and as an outside option.

Pre-requisites: ST202 Probability, Distribution Theory and Inference.

Course content: A second course in stochastic processes and applications to insurance.

Markov chains (discrete and continuous time), processes with jumps; Brownian motion and diffusions; Martingales; stochastic calculus; applications in insurance and finance. Content: Stochastic processes in discrete and continuous time; Markov chains: Markov property, Chapman-Kolmogorov equation, classification of states, stationary distribution, examples of infinite state space; filtrations and conditional expectation; discrete time martingales: martingale property, basic examples, exponential martingales, stopping theorem, applications to random walks; Poisson processes: counting processes, definition as counting process with independent and stationary increments, compensated Poisson process as martingale, distribution of number of events in a given time interval as well as inter-event times, compound Poisson process, application to ruin problem for the classical risk process via Gerber's martingale approach; Markov processes: Kolmogorov equations, solution of those in simple cases, stochastic semigroups, birth and death chains, health/sickness models, stationary distribution; Brownian motion: definition and basic properties, martingales related to Brownian motion, reflection principle, Itô-integral, Itô's formula with simple applications, linear stochastic differential equations for geometric Brownian motion and the Ornstein-Uhlenbeck process, first approach to change of measure techniques, application to Black-Scholes model.

The items in the course content that also appear in the content of ST227 are covered here at greater depth. However, ST227 is not a pre-requisite for this course.

Teaching: Lectures: 20 MT.

Seminars: 10 MT.

Formative coursework: Compulsory written answers to two sets of problems.

Indicative reading: R Durrett, Essentials of Stochastic Processes; T Mikosch, Elementary Stochastic Calculus with Finance in View; Institute of Actuaries core reading notes.

Assessment: Three-hour written examination in the ST.

---

ST304 Half Unit

Time Series and Forecasting

This information is for the 2012/13 session.

Teacher responsible: Professor Piotr Fryzlewicz, COL.6.01

Availability: Primarily for students on the following programmes: BSc Actuarial Science, BSc Mathematics with Economics and BSc Business Mathematics and Statistics. Also available to General Course students and as an outside option.

Pre-requisites: A good level of 2nd year statistics and probability.

Course content: The course introduces the student to the statistical analysis of time series data and simple models.

What time series analysis can be useful for; autocorrelation; stationarity, basic time series models; AR, MA, ARMA; trend removal and seasonal adjustment; invertibility; spectral analysis; estimation; forecasting; introduction to financial time series and the ARCH model.

Teaching: Lectures: 20 LT; Seminars: 10 LT.

Formative coursework: Written answers to set problems will be expected on a weekly basis.

Assessment: Two-hour written examination in the ST.

---

ST305 Actuarial Mathematics: Life

This information is for the 2012/13 session.

Teacher responsible: Dr Angelos Dassios, COL 6.14

Availability: Primarily for students on the following programmes: BSc Actuarial Science, BSc Business Mathematics and Statistics. Also available to General Course students and as an outside option.

Pre-requisites: ST202 Probability, Distribution Theory and Inference, ST227 Survival Models.

Course content: An introduction to the theory and techniques of life insurance and pensions.

Standard single life insurance products; endowments, annuities, and assurances. Extensions to multi-state policies and general benefits and premiums; two lives and more general multi-life functions including the joint life status and last survivor status, the multiple decrements model (competing risks), and the disability model, level and variable payments including increasing and decreasing assurances and annuities. Discrete and continuous time payments. Aggregate and select intensities. Actuarial notation for life contingencies and expected present values of standard products. Principles and techniques for determining premiums and reserves. The principle of equivalence. Thiele's differential equation and its generalizations. Variances and higher order moments of present values. Numerical methods. Woolhouse's formula relating present values in continuous and discrete time. Relationships between payments of annuity type and payments of assurance type. Notions of prospective and retrospective reserves and relationships between them. Administration expenses, gross premiums and gross reserves. With-profit contracts, surplus and dividends, various forms of bonus (cash bonus, terminal bonus, added benefits), interest rate guarantees, unit-linked insurance, defined benefits, defined contributions, salary-related benefits.

Indicative reading: Notes are given out in the lectures. The Institute of Actuaries, Core reading Subject CT6.
For full details of the syllabus of CT4, see: http://stats.lse.ac.uk/angelos/guides/2004_CT6.pdf.
Assessment: Three-hour examination in the ST.

ST307 Half Unit
Aspects of Market Research
This information is for the 2012/13 session.
Teacher responsible: Dr James Abdey, COL 7.09
Availability: Primarily for students on the following programmes: BSc Management Sciences; BSc Management, BSc Business Mathematics and Statistics and BSc Accounting and Finance. Also available to General Course students and as an outside option.
Not to be taken in conjunction with ST327 Market Research: An Integrated Approach.
Pre-requisites: Pre-requisites: probability and statistics to the level of ST107 Quantitative Methods.
Course content: The main ideas and applications of market research techniques. Problem formulation and research designs for market and opinion research. Random sampling and statistical inference. Quota sampling. Survey stages and sources of error. Data collection methods. Attitude measurement. Market models, advertising and public opinion research. The analysis of market research data.
Teaching: 18 hours of lectures in the MT plus 9 hours of classes in the LT.
Formative coursework: Students are given weekly exercises to work on for discussion in class. Students are expected to give short group presentations in their class
Assessment: Two-hour examination in the ST.

ST308 Half Unit
Bayesian Inference
This information is for the 2012/13 session.
Teacher responsible: Dr Kostas Kalogeropoulos, COL 6.10
Availability: Optional on BSc Business Mathematics and Statistics, BSc Actuarial Science, BSc Accounting and Finance and BSc Mathematics with Economics. Available to General Course students and as an outside option.
Pre-requisites: MA100 and ST102. ST202 is also recommended. Students should be prepared to use computer packages when required. Available as an outside option where regulations permit and with permission of the teacher responsible.
Course content: Statistical decision theory: risk, decision rules, loss and utility functions, Bayesian expected loss, Frequentist risk. Bayesian Analysis: Bayes theorem, prior, posterior and predictive distributions, conjugate models (Normal-Normal, Poisson-Gamma, Beta-Binomial), Bayesian point estimation, credible intervals and hypothesis testing, Bayes factors and model selection. Comparison with Frequentist approaches.
Teaching: 20 hours of lectures and 10 hours of classes in the LT. Two hours of lectures in the ST.
Initial classes will be theoretical. They will be converted to computer workshops including preparation for the project towards the end of the course.
Formative coursework: Optional problem sets and computer exercises.
Assessment: A project (20%) and two-hour exam in the ST (80%).

ST327 Market Research: An Integrated Approach
This information is for the 2012/13 session.
Teachers responsible: Dr James Abdey, COL 7.09, Mr Karsten Shaw
Availability: Optional for students on the following programmes: BSc Business Mathematics and Statistics and BSc Management Sciences. Also available to General Course students and as an outside option.
Pre-requisites: Probability and statistics to the level of ST203 Statistics for Management Sciences or MN203 Social Science Research Methods for Management or MG202 Analytical Methods for Management. Not to be taken with ST307 Aspects of Market Research Course content: Main ideas and techniques used in marketing and opinion research. Statistical methods applied to market research data.
ST327.1 Research Methods: Problem formulation and research designs for market and opinion research. Sample theory and methods. Survey stages and sources of error. Data collection methods. Attitude measurement. Market models, advertising and public opinion research. The analysis of market research data using statistical methods of multivariate analysis, including cluster, discriminant and factor analysis.
ST327.2 Case Studies: Students use the information and techniques gained from ST327.1 to carry out a co-operative Market Research Case Study. Individual write up of the Case Study forms part of the assessment.
Teaching: 20 hours lectures in the MT. 4 hours of lectures in the LT. 9 classes in the MT and 1 in the LT.
Formative coursework: ST327.1: exercises and presentations. ST327.2: assessed presentation and case study project.
Assessment: ST327.1: two-hour written examination in the ST (60%); ST327.2 course work (40%).

ST330 Stochastic and Actuarial Methods in Finance
This information is for the 2012/13 session.
Teacher responsible: Dr Andrew Jack, COL 6.02
Availability: Primarily for students on the BSc in Actuarial Science but also available to General Course students and as an outside option.
Pre-requisites: Pre-requisites: ST202 Probability, Distribution Theory and Inference; ST302 Stochastic Processes should be taken in conjunction with this course.
Course content: Applications of stochastic processes and actuarial models in finance.
Teaching: Lectures ST330: 20 MT, 20 LT. Seminars ST330.A: 10 MT, 10 LT.
Formative coursework: Written answers to set problems will be expected on a weekly basis.
Indicative reading: N H Bingham & R Kiesel, Risk Neutral Valuation; A Cerny, Mathematical Techniques in Finance: Tools for Incomplete Markets; J Hull, Options, Futures & Other Derivatives; R Jarrow & S Turnbull, Derivative Securities; D Luenberger, Investment Science; Institute of Actuaries core reading notes, Subject CT8.

Assessment: Three-hour written examination in the ST.
Diploma Programme Regulations
Diploma in Accounting and Finance
Students must take four courses as shown.

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Paper</th>
<th>Course number and title</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>1</td>
<td>FM212 Principles of Finance*</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>2</td>
<td>AC211 Managerial Accounting or AC330 Financial Accounting Analysis and Valuation or AC464 Management Accounting and Financial Accounting: Decisions, Control, Reporting and Disclosure</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>3 &amp; 4</td>
<td>Courses to the value of two full units from the following: AC211 Managerial Accounting or AC330 Financial Accounting Analysis and Valuation (if not already selected under paper 2 above), or AC310 Management Accounting, Financial Management and Organisational Control AC340 Auditing, Governance and Risk Management AC470 Accounting in the Global Economy (H) EC201 Microeconomic Principles I EC202 Microeconomic Principles II EC210 Macroeconomic Principles EC313 Industrial Economics EC220 Introduction to Econometrics MA107 Quantitative Methods (Mathematics) and ST107 Quantitative Methods (Statistics) LL209 Commercial Law ID200 Organisational Theory and Behaviour EH240 British Business and Economic Performance since 1945: Britain in International Context Any other course with the approval of the Programme Director §</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

Notes § means by special permission only.
* by special permission of the Course Leaders, students may substitute FM300 Corporate Finance Investments and Financial Markets or FM320 Quantitative Finance.

This programme is externally accredited by the ACCA. Further information is available on the Department of Accounting website www.lse.ac.uk/collections/accounting/.

Diploma in Sociology
Students must take four courses as shown. Those who wish to proceed to the MSc in Sociology will be expected to pass the Diploma at a standard satisfactory to the Department.

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Paper</th>
<th>Course number and title</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>1</td>
<td>SO221 Researching London: An Introduction to Social Research Methods</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>2</td>
<td>Either SO201 Sociological Analysis or SO100 Key Concepts in Sociology: An Introduction to Sociological Theory</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>3 &amp; 4</td>
<td>Two of the following: SO110 Key Issues in Contemporary Societies: An Introduction to Contemporary Sociology SO203 Political Sociology SO208 Gender and Society SO210 Crime, Deviance and Control SO211 Sociology of Health and Medicine SO212 Work, Management and Globalisation SO224 The Sociology of Race and Ethnicity (n/a 12/13) SO307 Human Rights, Social Suffering and Justice (n/a 12/13) ST103 Statistical Methods for Social Research</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

Diploma in Health Economics, Policy and Management (modular)
Students take four compulsory half unit courses and options to the value of one unit.

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Paper Year 1</th>
<th>Course number and title</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>1</td>
<td>SA4G1 Financing Health Care (modular) (H)</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>2</td>
<td>SA4G2 Health Economics (modular) (H)</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>3</td>
<td>SA4E1 Health Administration and Management (modular) (H)</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>4</td>
<td>SA4E2 Resource Allocation and Cost-effectiveness Analysis (modular) (H)</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

Year 2

| 5-6 | Optional courses to the value of one full unit: SA4F2 Principles of Evidence-Based Medicine and Clinical Trials (modular) (H) SA4G3 Pharmaceutical Economics and Policy (modular) (H) SA4G4 Statistical Methods in Health Care Economic |
Taught Masters
Programme Regulations
Key to Taught Master’s Regulations
(H) means a half-unit course
(C) means this course is capped
(n/a 12/13) means not available in the 2012/13 academic year
(M) means Michaelmas Term
(L) means Lent Term
(S) means Summer Term

MA Area Studies
Academic or full-year programme depending on courses selected (either three courses and a dissertation or four courses).
Candidates offering a dissertation will not be permitted to proceed to its submission unless they have satisfied the examiners in the written papers, which are usually taken in May/June. The dissertation is submitted in September.
Lecture/seminar lists and Course Guides for these degrees will mainly be found in the information on Masters degrees in the departments concerned.
The School cooperates in the teaching for certain branches of the MA Area Studies degree offered by the University of London.

MSc Accounting and Finance
Academic-year programme but may be a full year depending on courses selected. Students must take courses to the value of four units as shown.

Paper  Course number and title
1  FM430  Corporate Finance and Asset Markets or FM429  Asset Markets A (H) and FM431M Corporate Finance A (H) or FM431L Corporate Finance A (H) or another approved paper*
2  AC420  Financial Reporting in Capital Markets, or AC410
Management Accounting, Strategy and Organisational
Control or both AC411 Accounting, Strategy and Control
(H) and AC414 Financial Reporting, Capital Markets and Business Combinations (H)
Students should select remaining papers to the value of two full units:
3 & 4  AC410  Management Accounting, Strategy and Organisational Control (if not taken under paper 2-cannot be taken with AC411) AC411  Accounting, Strategy and Control (H) (if not taken under paper 2 - cannot be taken with AC410)
AC412  Accountability, Organisations and Risk Management (H)
AC414  Financial Reporting, Capital Markets and Business Combinations (H) (if not taken under paper 2 - cannot be taken with AC420) AC420  Financial Reporting in Capital Markets (if not taken under paper 2 - cannot be taken with AC414)
AC444  Valuation and Security Analysis (H)
AC470  Accounting in the Global Economy (H)
FM402  Financial Risk Analysis (H)
FM404  Forecasting Financial Time Series (H)
FM413  Fixed Income Markets (H)
FM421  Applied Corporate Finance (H)
FM440  Corporate Finance Theory (H) (n/a 12/13)
FM441  Derivatives (H)
FM442  Quantitative Methods for Finance and Risk Analysis (H)
FM445  Portfolio Management (H)
FM447  Global Financial System (H)
FM472  International Finance (H)
GY462  Real Estate Finance (H)
ID420  Leadership in Organisations: Theory and Practice
(H)
LL4B9  Corporate and Financial Crime
LL4K2  Law of International Economic and Financial Sanctions (H)
Any other course *
Students can also take a dissertation in either accounting or finance (students cannot take two dissertations):
AC499  Dissertation
FM499  Dissertation

Notes
Students may elect to have their degree specialisation indicated on their degree certificate. Students who take both AC470 and FM472 as Paper 3 may choose to have MSc Accounting and Finance: International Accounting and Finance on their certificate. Students who take AC410 or AC420 as Paper 3 may choose to have MSc
Accounting and Finance: Accounting and Financial Management on their certificate. Students taking finance courses to the equivalent of two full units as Papers 3 and 4 may choose to have MSc Accounting and Finance:
Finance on their certificate.
* means by special permission only.
 Students taking this course can apply for a place on FM457 MATLAB for MSc Students, a non-assessed computer course.
MA400 is a pre requisite for this course.

This programme is externally accredited by the ACCA. Further information is available on the Department of Accounting website www.lse.ac.uk/collections/accounting/prospectiveStudents/postgraduate/programme/MScAccountingAndFinance.htm.

MSc Accounting, Organisations and Institutions
Academic-year programme. Students take courses to the value of four units. There is also a pre-sessional course held in the week before MT: AC425 MSc Accounting, Organisations and Institutions:
Pre-sessional course.

Paper  Course number and title
1  AC424  Accounting, Organisations and Institutions
2  AC464  Management Accounting and Financial Accounting: Decisions, Control, Reporting and Disclosure*
3 & 4  Courses to the value of two units:
AC410  Management Accounting, Strategy and Organisational Control #
AC411  Accounting, Strategy and Control (H) +
AC414  Financial Reporting, Capital Markets and Business
Combinations (H)
AC420  Financial Reporting in Capital Markets
AC444  Valuation and Security Analysis (H)
AC470  Accounting in the Global Economy (H)
DV413  Environmental Problems and Development
Interventions (H)
DV415  Institutions and the Global Environment (H)
EH463  The Long-Run Analysis of Firms and Industries (H)
(n/a 12/13)
EH464  The Historical Context of Business (H)
EH483  The Development and Integration of the World
Economy in the 19th and 20th Centuries
EH487  International Economic Institutions since World
War I (H)
ID440  Corporate Social Responsibility and International Labour Standards (H)
LL435  Corporate Governance
LL484  Regulation of Financial Markets
LL4K2  Law of International Economic and Financial
Sanctions (H)
SO425  Regulation, Risk and Economic Life
SO430  Economic Sociology
SO469  Risk and Governance: A Sociological Approach
(H)
Any course with the approval of the Programme Director
Notes
* Students with a substantive and verifiable background in accounting must do either AC410# or AC420 as Paper 2 or a combination of AC411+ and AC414
Cannot be taken with AC411
+ Cannot be taken with AC410
 cannot be taken with AC414

MSc Anthropology and Development
Full-year programme. Students must take two compulsory courses, a dissertation and optional courses to the value of one unit. Written papers will be taken in the summer term and the dissertation must be submitted in September.

Paper | Course number and title
--- | ---
1 | AN404 Anthropology: Theory and Ethnography
2 | DV400 Development: History, Theory and Policy
3 | One full unit from the following:
   - AN402 The Anthropology of Religion
   - AN405 The Anthropology of Kinship, Sex and Gender
   - AN419 The Anthropology of Christianity (H) (n/a 12/13)
   - AN420 The Anthropology of South-East Asia (H) (n/a 12/13)
   - AN421 The Anthropology of Industrialisation and Industrial Life (H) (n/a 12/13)
   - AN424 The Anthropology of Melanesia (H) (n/a 12/13)
   - AN429 The Anthropology of Southern Africa (H) (n/a 12/13)
   - AN436 The Anthropology of Development (H)
   - AN437 Anthropology of Learning and Cognition
   - AN439 Anthropology and Human Rights (H)
   - AN444 Investigating the Philippines: New Approaches and Ethnographic Contexts (H) (n/a 12/13)
   - AN447 China in Comparative Perspective
   - AN451 Anthropology of Politics (H)
   - AN456 Anthropology of Economy (1): Production and Exchange (H)
   - AN457 Anthropology of Economy: Development (2): Transformation and Globalisation (H)
   - AN458 Children and Youth in Contemporary Ethnography (H) (n/a 12/13)
   - AN459 Anthropology and Media (H) (n/a 12/13)
   - AN461 Anthropological Approaches to Questions of Being (H) (n/a 12/13)
   - AN462 The Anthropology of Post-Soviet Eurasia (H) (n/a 12/13)
   - AN463 The Anthropology of Borders and Boundaries (H) (n/a 12/13)
   - AN464 Ethnography of a Selected Region (H) (n/a 12/13)
   - AN465 The Anthropology of South Asia (H)
   - AN468 The Anthropology of Schooling (H) (n/a 12/13)
   - AN469 The Anthropology of Amazonia (H)
   - DV407 Poverty (H)
   - DV409 Economic Development Policy
   - DV413 Environmental Problems and Development Interventions (H)
   - DV415 Global Environmental Governance (H)
   - DV418 African Development (H)
   - DV420 Complex Emergencies (H)
   - DV425 Managing Globalization (H) (n/a 12/13)
   - DV427 Public Management of Development (H) (n/a 12/13)
   - DV428 Managing Humanitarianism (H)
   - DV429 Global Civil Society (H)
   - DV442 Key Issues in Development Studies (H)
   - GY467 Development, Diaspora and Migration (H)
   - Any other courses offered by Anthropology or Development Studies, as approved
3 | AN499 Dissertation

MSc Anthropology and Development Management
Full-year programme. Students must take two compulsory courses, a dissertation and optional courses to the value of one unit. Written papers will be taken in the summer term and the dissertation must be submitted in September.

Paper | Course number and title
--- | ---
1 | AN404 Anthropology: Theory and Ethnography
2 | DV431 Development Management
3 | One full unit from the following:
   - AN402 The Anthropology of Religion
   - AN405 The Anthropology of Kinship, Sex and Gender
   - AN419 The Anthropology of Christianity (H) (n/a 12/13)
   - AN420 The Anthropology of South-East Asia (H) (n/a 12/13)
   - AN421 The Anthropology of Industrialisation and Industrial Life (H) (n/a 12/13)
   - AN424 The Anthropology of Melanesia (H) (n/a 12/13)
   - AN429 The Anthropology of Southern Africa (H) (n/a 12/13)
   - AN436 The Anthropology of Development (H)
   - AN437 Anthropology of Learning and Cognition
   - AN439 Anthropology and Human Rights (H)
   - AN444 Investigating the Philippines: New Approaches and Ethnographic Contexts (H) (n/a 12/13)
   - AN447 China in Comparative Perspective
   - AN451 Anthropology of Politics (H)
   - AN456 Anthropology of Economy (1): Production and Exchange (H)
   - AN457 Anthropology of Economy: Development (2): Transformation and Globalisation (H)
   - AN458 Children and Youth in Contemporary Ethnography (H) (n/a 12/13)
   - AN459 Anthropology and Media (H) (n/a 12/13)
   - AN461 Anthropological Approaches to Questions of Being (H) (n/a 12/13)
   - AN462 The Anthropology of Post-Soviet Eurasia (H) (n/a 12/13)
   - AN463 The Anthropology of Borders and Boundaries (H) (n/a 12/13)
   - AN464 Ethnography of a Selected Region (H) (n/a 12/13)
   - AN465 The Anthropology of South Asia (H)
   - AN468 The Anthropology of Schooling (H) (n/a 12/13)
   - AN469 The Anthropology of Amazonia (H)
   - DV407 Poverty (H)
   - DV409 Economic Development Policy
   - DV413 Environmental Problems and Development Interventions (H)
   - DV415 Global Environmental Governance (H)
   - DV418 African Development (H)
   - DV420 Complex Emergencies (H)
   - DV425 Managing Globalization (H) (n/a 12/13)
   - DV427 Public Management of Development (H) (n/a 12/13)
   - DV428 Managing Humanitarianism (H)
   - DV429 Global Civil Society (H)
   - DV442 Key Issues in Development Studies (H)
   - GY467 Development, Diaspora and Migration (H)
   - Any other courses offered by Anthropology or Development Studies, as approved
4 | AN499 Dissertation

MSc Applicable Mathematics
Full-year programme. Students must take courses to the value of four full units.

Paper | Course number and title
--- | ---
1 | MA407 Algorithms and Computation (H)
2, 3 & 4 | Three from:
   - MA401 Computational Learning Theory and Neural
<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Courses to the value of two half-units from:</th>
<th></th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>FM402 Financial Risk Analysis (H)</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>FM441 Derivatives (H)</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>FM442 Quantitative Methods for Finance and Risk Analysis (H)</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>FM492 Principles for Finance</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>EC484 Econometric Analysis</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>EC487 Advanced Microeconomics</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>GV4A3 Social Choice Theory and Democracy (H)</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>OR401 Techniques of Operational Research (H)</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>OR406 Mathematical Programming: Theory and Algorithms (H)</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>OR408 Combinatorial Optimisation (H)</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>OR409 Auctions and Game Theory (H) (n/a 12/13)</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>OR426 Modelling in Applied Statistics and Simulation (H)</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>OR428 Model Building in Mathematical Programming (H)</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>ST409 Stochastic Processes (H)</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>ST418 Non-Linear Dynamics and the Analysis of Real Time Series (H)</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>ST422 Time Series (H)</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

Another half unit from the list 3&4 above, or any other paper with the approval of the Programme Director and the teacher responsible for the course.

7 MA498 Dissertation in Mathematics

Notes
* This option will not be available to those who have already studied MA300 and MA301, or who have studied this subject as part of an undergraduate degree.
 Students taking this course can apply for a place on FM457 MATLAB for MSc Students, a non-assessed computer course.
 This option will not be available to those who have already studied FM212, or who have done a course in Finance as part of an undergraduate degree.

MSc China in Comparative Perspective

Full-year programme. Students must take one compulsory course, select optional courses to the value of two units, and write a dissertation, as shown below. Attendance at tutorials and the seminar is compulsory.

Students intending to use this degree to convert to a discipline in which they hope to qualify to do a research degree, should choose all their options (papers 2 and 3) in that discipline. At least one option should be a general introduction to that discipline (e.g. paper 2 courses) and others can be found on the departmental website the student is interested in.

Otherwise students select courses from paper 3 (these courses expect students from this MSc) or they can choose other options not listed below. In either case, the student must email the teacher responsible for the course, backing up their request to join it.

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Paper</th>
<th>Course number and title</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>1</td>
<td>AN447 China in Comparative Perspective</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>2</td>
<td>Courses to the value of one unit from the following:</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

| AN404 Anthropology: Theory and Ethnography |
| GV427 Democracy in East and South Asia (H) and |
| GV467 Introduction to Comparative Politics (H) |
| EH482 Pre-Modern Paths of Growth: East and West Compared, 1000–1800 |

(Students who do not wish to advance their first degree in one of the disciplines above may take a full unit course from paper 3)

3 Courses to the value of one unit from the following:

| AN402 The Anthropology of Religion |
| AN405 The Anthropology of Kinship, Sex and Gender |
| AN421 The Anthropology of Industrialization and Industrial Life (H) (n/a 12/13) |
| AN436 The Anthropology of Development (H) |
| AN439 Anthropology and Human Rights (H) |
| AN451 Anthropology of Politics (H) |
| AN456 Anthropology of Economy (1): Production and Exchange (H) |
| AN457 Anthropology of Economy (2): Development, Transformation and Globalisation (H) |
| AN459 Anthropology and Media (H) (n/a 12/13) |
| AN462 The Anthropology of Post-Soviet Eurasia (H) (n/a 12/13) |
| AN468 The Anthropology of Schooling (H) (n/a 12/13) |
| DV432 China in Developmental Perspectives (H) |
| EH446 Economic Development in East and Southeast Asia |
| EU443 European Models of Capitalism (H) |
| GV432 Government and Politics in China (H) |
| GV4D3 Local Power in an Era of Globalization, Democratization and Decentralization (H) |
| GV439 Cities and Social Change in East Asia (H) |
| GY480 Remaking China: Geographical aspects of Development and Disparity (H) |
| HY461 East Asia in the Age of Imperialism, 1839-1945* |

A full-unit from MSc International Relations (papers 2 & 3), subject to availability and the approval of the relevant course convenor. The following courses would be particularly appropriate:

| IR411 Foreign Policy Analysis III |
| IR418 International Politics: Asia and the Pacific |
| IR462 Introduction to International Political Theory (H) |
| IR463 The International Political Theory of Humanitarian Intervention (H) (n/a 12/13) |
| IR464 The Politics of International Law 1 (H) |

A full-unit in Social Policy chosen from the following, subject to availability and the approval of the relevant course convenor:

| SA4B8 Social Policy: Goals and Issues (H) |
| SA4CB Globalization and Social Policy (H) |
| SA4C9 Social Policy - Organization and Innovation (H) |
| SA4D2 Health and Population in Developing and Transitional Societies (H) |
| SA4AH Non-Governmental Organisations, Social Policy and Development |
| SA4L1 The Governance of Welfare: The Nation State and the European Union (H) |
| SA4L2 Contemporary Issues in European Social Policy (H) |

Other Anthropology courses (to the value of one full unit) may be taken, subject to the approval of the Programme Director.

4 AN498 Dissertation- MSc China in Comparative Perspective

Students also take non-assessed AN446 Tutorials for MSc China in Comparative Perspective

Notes
* means subject to space

MSc City Design and Social Science

Full-year programme which can also be taken part-time over three years. Students must take the City Design: Research Studio course, two compulsory half-unit courses, an independent project, and one unit of optional courses.

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Course number and title</th>
<th>Paper</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>1 SO448 City Design: Research Studio</td>
<td>Stream 1: Latin America</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>2 SO451 Cities by Design (H)</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>3 SO465 City-making: the Politics of Urban Form (H)</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>4 Courses to the value of one full unit from the following:</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>GY409 Globalisation and Regional Development (H)</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>GY410 Economics of Local and Regional Development (H)</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>GY430 Contemporary Urbanism (n/a 12/13)</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>GY431 Cities, People and Poverty in the South (H)</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>GY432 Urban Ethnography (H)</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>GY438 Cities and Social Change in East Asia (H)</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>GY439 Cities, Politics and Citizenship (H)</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>GY446 Planning for Sustainable Cities (H)</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>GY447 The Economics of Regional and Urban Planning (H)</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>GY448 Social and Political Aspects of Regional and Urban Planning (H)</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>GY455 Economic Appraisal and Valuation (H)</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>GY479 The Urban Revolution (H) (n/a 12/13)</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>SA429 Social Exclusion, Inequality and the ‘Underclass’ Debate (H)</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>SA4G3 International Housing and Human Settlements (H)</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>SA4G4 Housing, Neighbourhoods and Communities (H)</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>SA4G5 Urban Environment (H) (n/a 12/13)</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>SO473 Crime, Control and the City (H)</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>SO449 Independent Project</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

Any other course in the Department of Sociology, or other departments §, by agreement with the course tutor

Notes § means by special permission only.

MSc Comparative Politics

Full-year programme. Students must take papers to the value of four full units as shown. All students are required to write a 10,000-word dissertation. Note that some of the courses must be taken together. Part-time students may take up to four courses in their first year. All students must choose one of the following streams: Latin America, Democracy, Nationalism and Ethnicity, Conflict Studies, Politics and Markets or Asia, and take a minimum of one full unit from within that stream.

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Course number and title</th>
<th>Paper</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>GV4G7 Introduction to Comparative Politics (H) (M)</td>
<td>Stream 1: Latin America</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>GV4G9 Dissertation</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>GV443 The State and Political Institutions in Latin America (H) (M)</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>GV444 Democracy and Development in Latin America (H) (L)</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Courses to the value of 1.5 units from the approved paper option list</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>GV467 Introduction to Comparative Politics (H) (M)</td>
<td>Stream 2: Democracy</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>GV4G9 Dissertation</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>GV4E1 Comparative Democratization in a Global Age (H) (M)</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>At least one half-unit from the following:</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>GV427 Democracy in East and South Asia (H) (M)</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>GV442 Globalisation and Democracy (H)</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>GV444 Democracy and Development in Latin America (H) (L)</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>GV449 Democratization and its Discontents in Southeast Asia (H) (M)</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Courses to the value of 1.5 units from the approved paper option list</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>GV467 Introduction to Comparative Politics (H) (M)</td>
<td>Stream 3: Nationalism and Ethnic Politics</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>GV4G9 Dissertation</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

3 GV479 Nationalism
4 Either one full-unit or two half full-units drawn from the following list as well as any other optional units listed as Comparative Politics courses:

- EU457 Ethnopolitical Diversity and International Society (H)
- GV4C7 Warfare and National Identity (H) (M)
- GV4C9 Democratization and its Discontents in Southeast Asia (H) (M)
- GV4G6 Nationalism and Global Politics (H) (M)
- HY411 European Integration in the Twentieth Century

5 One half-unit from the approved paper option list. Where appropriate, with the agreement of the MSc Programme Director and the course tutor, a student may take courses to the value of one full unit from elsewhere in the School.

Stream 4: Conflict Studies

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Course number and title</th>
<th>Paper</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>GV4G4 Comparative Conflict Analysis (H) (M)</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>GV4G9 Dissertation</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

3, 4, 5, 6 & 7 Courses to the value of 2.5 units from the following:

Recommended courses: access is not guaranteed.

Access is subject to approval of the course proprietors

- GI413 Gender and Militarisation (H)
- GV4A8 Nationalist Conflict, Political Violence and Terrorism (H) (M)
- GV4B8 The Politics of Civil Wars (H) (L)
- GV4C2 Globalisation, Conflict and Post-Totalitarianism (H) (L)
- GV4C9 Democratization and its Discontents in Southeast Asia (H) (M)
- GV465 War, Peace and the Politics of National Self Determination (H) (L)
- GV467 Introduction to Comparative Politics (H) (M)
- GV479 Nationalism
- GV4D3 Local Power in an Era of Globalization, Democratization and Decentralization (H) (L)
- GV4E3 Democratisation, Conflict and State-Building (H) (n/a 12/13)
- GV4E8 Conflict and Institutional Design in Divided Societies (H) (L)
- IR422 Conflict and Peace Studies
- IR4G6 Genocide (H) (n/a 12/13)
- LL4A8 International Law and the Use of Force (H)
- SO464 Ethnic and Religious Violence in Post-Colonial Societies (H)
- Or a course(s) to the value of one full unit from the approved paper option list.

Stream 5: Politics and Markets

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Course number and title</th>
<th>Paper</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>GV4G7 Introduction to Comparative Politics (H) (M)</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>GV4G9 Dissertation</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>GV441 States and Markets (H) (M)</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>At least one of:</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>GV4D4 The Politics of Inequality and Redistribution (H) (L)</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>GV4E2 Capitalism and Democracy (H) (L)</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Courses to the value of 1.5 units from the approved paper option list</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

Approved Paper Option List (for all Comparative Politics streams) Any option listed above that has not already been taken

- AN436 The Anthropology of Development (H)
- AN451 Anthropology of Politics (H)
- EU462 Partisanship in Europe (H)
- GV427 Democracy in East and South Asia (H) (L)
- GV432 Government and Politics in China (H) (M)
- GV436 National and Ethnic Conflict Regulation (H) (M)
- GV439 Government and Politics in Eastern Europe (H)
- GV465 War, Peace and the Politics of National Self Determination (H) (L)
- GV4A5 International Migration and Immigration Management (H)

- Access is subject to approval of the course proprietors
- GV4A8 Nationalist Conflict, Political Violence and Terrorism (H) (M)
- GV4B8 The Politics of Civil Wars (H) (L)
- GV4C2 Globalisation, Conflict and Post-Totalitarianism (H) (L)
- GV4C9 Democratization and its Discontents in Southeast Asia (H) (M)
- GV465 War, Peace and the Politics of National Self Determination (H) (L)
- GV467 Introduction to Comparative Politics (H) (M)
- GV479 Nationalism
- GV4D3 Local Power in an Era of Globalization, Democratization and Decentralization (H) (L)
- GV4E3 Democratisation, Conflict and State-Building (H) (n/a 12/13)
- GV4E8 Conflict and Institutional Design in Divided Societies (H) (L)
- IR422 Conflict and Peace Studies
- IR4G6 Genocide (H) (n/a 12/13)
- LL4A8 International Law and the Use of Force (H)
- SO464 Ethnic and Religious Violence in Post-Colonial Societies (H)
- Or a course(s) to the value of one full unit from the approved paper option list.

Stream 6: Politics and Markets

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Course number and title</th>
<th>Paper</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>GV4G7 Introduction to Comparative Politics (H) (M)</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>GV4G9 Dissertation</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>GV441 States and Markets (H) (M)</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>At least one of:</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>GV4D4 The Politics of Inequality and Redistribution (H) (L)</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>GV4E2 Capitalism and Democracy (H) (L)</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Courses to the value of 1.5 units from the approved paper option list</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

Recommended Paper Option List (for all Comparative Politics streams) Any option listed above that has not already been taken

- AN436 The Anthropology of Development (H)
- AN451 Anthropology of Politics (H)
- EU462 Partisanship in Europe (H)
- GV427 Democracy in East and South Asia (H) (L)
- GV432 Government and Politics in China (H) (M)
- GV436 National and Ethnic Conflict Regulation (H) (M)
- GV439 Government and Politics in Eastern Europe (H)
- GV465 War, Peace and the Politics of National Self Determination (H) (L)
- GV4A5 International Migration and Immigration Management (H)
MSc Comparative Politics (Research)
Full-year programme. Students must take courses to the value of four full units as shown. All students are required to write a 10,000-word dissertation. Note that some of the courses must be taken together.

Paper Course number and title
1 MV4M1 Foundations of Social Research 1 or MV4M2 Foundations of Social Research 2
2 GV4G6 Introduction to Comparative Politics (H)
3 GV499 Dissertation
4, 5, 6 Courses to the value of 1.5 units from MSc Comparative Politics (see Comparative Politics)

Notes * Students registered for a stream will have automatic right of entry to courses listed as compulsory. Other students will have access subject to space. However, some options may be closed to students, if, in the opinion of the course convenor, they lack the appropriate methodological background.
means by special permission of the Conflict Studies stream convenor only.

MSc Criminal Justice Policy
Full-year programme. Students must take one compulsory course, non-assessed course SA4C1, optional courses to the value of two full units and a dissertation as shown.

Paper Course number and title
1 SA403 Criminal Justice Policy
2 & 3 Choose to the value of two full units from the following courses:
   LL465 Law and Social Theory
   LL458 Mental Health Law
   LL478 Policing and Police Powers
   LL445 International Criminal Law
   LL489 Corporate and Financial Crime
   LL4G7 Mental Health Law: The Civil Context (H) + LL4K2 Law of International Economic and Financial Sanctions (H)
   LL4K7 Mental Health Law: The Criminal Context (H) + LL4Z8 Theories of Criminal Law and Criminal Justice (H) (n/a 12/13)
   SA429 Social Exclusion, Inequality and the ‘Underclass’ debate (H)
   SA488 Social Policy: Goals and Issues (H)
   SA4C9 Social Policy: Organization and Innovation (H)
   SA4G8 The Third Sector (H)
   SO424 Approaches to Human Rights
   SO473 Crime, Control and the City (H)
   A course from another programme *

4 SA465 Dissertation (to be handed in by 1 September)
SA4C1 Long Essay and the Research Process (not assessed)

Notes * May only be taken with the permission of your tutor, the MSc Programme Director and the Course Tutor
 In addition to SA465, students are permitted to be assessed by dissertation (where available) for one further full unit course.
+ This course cannot be taken with LL458

MSc Culture and Society
Full-year programme. Students take a compulsory course, optional courses to the value of two full units plus the dissertation as shown.

Paper Course number and title
1 SO434 Cultural Theory and Cultural Forms
2 & 3 Optional courses to the value of two full units selected from the following:
   GI402 Gender, Knowledge and Research Practice (H)
   GI405 Globalising Sexualities (H)
   GI408 Cultural Constructions of the Body (H) (n/a 12/13)
   GI410 Screening the Present: contemporary cinema and cultural critique (H)
   GY430 Contemporary Urbanism (n/a 12/13)
   GY439 Cities, Politics and Citizenship (H)
   GY479 The Urban Revolution (H) (n/a 12/13)
   MC402 The Audience in Media and Communications (H)
   MC408 Theories and Concepts in Media and Communications I (Media and Power) (H)
   MC418 Theories and Concepts in Media and Communications II (Processes of communication in modern life) (H)
   MC420 Identity, Transnationalism and the Media (H)
   MC423 Global Media Industries (H)
   MV427 Non-Traditional Data: New Dimensions in Qualitative Research (H)
   PS410 Social Representations (H)
   PS411 Current Communication Research (H)
   PS437 Representations, Institutions and Communities (H) (n/a 12/13)
   PS439 Science, Technology and Resistance (H) (n/a 12/13)
   PS451 Cognition and Culture (H)
   SO425 Regulation, Risk and Economic Life
   SO426 Classic Social Thought (H)
   SO444 Qualitative Methods for Cultural Research (H)
   SO445 New Media, Development and Globalisation (H)
   SO447 Topics in Race, Ethnicity and Postcolonial-Studies (n/a 12/13)
   SO461 Racial Formations of Modernity (H) (n/a 12/13)
   SO463 Contemporary Social Thought
   SO466 Race and Biopolitics (H) (n/a 12/13)
   SO468 Race, Ethnicity and Migration in Britain (post-1945) (H) (n/a 12/13)
   SO469 Risk and Governance: A Sociological Approach (H)
   SO471 Technology, Power and Culture (H)
   SO472 Biomedicine and Bioscience in Culture and Society (H)
   Or any other MSc level course offered in the School, subject to the consent of the candidate’s teachers.

4 SO499 Dissertation

MSc Development Management
Full-year programme. Students must take courses to the value of three full units and a dissertation as shown.

Paper Course number and title
1 DV431 Development Management
2  DV442 Key Issues in Development Studies (H)
3  Courses to the value of 1.5 units from the following:
   AC464 Management Accounting and Financial Accounting: Decisions, Control, Reporting and Disclosure
   AC470 Accounting in the Global Economy (H)
   AC490 Management Accounting, Decisions and Control (H)
   AC491 Financial Accounting, Reporting and Disclosure (H)
   DV407 Poverty (H)
   DV409 Economic Development Policy (with permission from the course lecturer)
   DV411 Population and Development: An Analytical Approach (H)
   DV413 Environmental Problems and Development Interventions (H)
   DV415 Global Environmental Governance (H)
   DV418 African Development (H)
   DV420 Complex Emergencies (H)
   DV421 Emerging Health Threats and Development (H)
   DV423 Global Political Economy of Development, I (H)
   DV424 International Institutions and Late Development (H)
   DV425 Managing Globalization (H) (n/a 12/13)
   DV427 Public Management of Development (H) (n/a 12/13)
   DV428 Managing Humanitarianism (H)
   DV429 Global Civil Society (H)
   DV432 China in Developmental Perspectives (H)
   DV433 The Informal Economy and Non-State Governance (H)
   DV434 Human Security (H)
   DV437 Nationalism, Democracy and Development in Contemporary India (H) (n/a 12/13)
   DV475 Information and Communication Technologies and Socio-Economic Development
   GV407 Globalisation, Gender and Development
   GV411 Gender, Postcolonialism, Development: Critical Perspectives and New Directions (H)
   GV418 Feminist Economics and Policy: An Introduction (H)
   GV423 Environment and Development: Geographical Perspectives (H)
   GV425 Managing Globalization (H) (n/a 12/13)
   GV432 Urban Ethnography (H)
   GV445 Urban Theory, Policy and Practice in the Global South
   GV447 The Economics of Regional and Urban Planning (H)
   GV464 Race and Space (H)
   GV467 Development, Diaspora and Migration (H)
   GV468 Environment and Development: Sustainability, Technology and Business (H)
   GV469 Environment and Development: Resources, Institutions and the Global South (H)
   GV480 Remaking China: Geographical Aspects of Development and Disparity (H)
   ID430 Organisational Behaviour (H)
   ID431 Organisational Change (H)
   MG402 Public Management: A Strategic Approach (H)
   MG436 Business Model Innovation at the 'Base of the Pyramid' (H)
   MG439 Business Model Innovation at the 'Base of the Pyramid' (full unit)
   SA485 Planning for Population and Development (H)
   SA492 Reproductive Health Programmes: Design, Implementation and Evaluation (H)
   SA4C2 Basic Education for Social Development (H)
   SA4F1 Migration: Population Trends and Policies (H)
   SA4H7 Urbanisation and Social Policy in the Global South (H)
   SA4H9 Non-Governmental Organisations, Social Policy and Development (H)
   Another course with the approval of supervisor/course tutor

4  DV410 Research Design and Dissertation in Development Studies and Development Management, including
   DV410.1 Social Research Methods in Developing Countries

MSc Development Studies (Research)

Paper  Course number and title
1  DV400  Development: History, Theory and Policy
2  DV410  Research Design and Dissertation in Development Studies, including
   DV410.1 Social Research Methods in Developing Countries
3  DV442  Key Issues in Development Studies (H)
4  Courses to the value of one full unit taught in the Methodology Institute
5  Courses to the value of one half unit from the options listed under paper 4 on MSc Development Studies Promotion to the second year (i.e. admission onto the doctoral programme at the Department of International Development) is subject to the following conditions:
   An overall average mark of 65 in MSc Development Studies (Research), to include at least a mark of 65 for DV410.
   Availability of appropriate supervision
   A research proposal that is evaluated as coherent by the Doctoral Programme Committee.

MSc Development Studies

Full-year programme. Students must take courses to the value of three full units and a dissertation as shown.

Paper  Course number and title
1  DV400  Development: History, Theory and Policy
2  DV410  Research Design and Dissertation in Development Studies, including
   DV410.1 Social Research Methods in Developing Countries
3  DV442  Key Issues in Development Studies (H)
4  Courses to the value of 1.5 units from the following:
   (note: the International Relations (IR) Department permits non-IR students to take only one option from those prefixed "IR". Access is not guaranteed for any option)
   AN451 Anthropology of Politics (H)
   AN456 Anthropology of Economy (1): Production and Exchange (H)
   AN457 Anthropology of Economy (2): Development, Transformation and Globalisation (H)
   DV407 Poverty (H)
   DV409 Economic Development Policy (with permission from the course lecturer)
   DV411 Population and Development: An Analytical Approach (H)
   DV413 Environmental Problems and Development
MSc Diplomacy and International Strategy
Full-year programme. Students take 2.5 units of compulsory courses and a 1.5 unit dissertation.

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Paper</th>
<th>Course number and title</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>Paper</td>
<td>Course number and title</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>1</td>
<td>IR442 Diplomacy and Challenges</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>2</td>
<td>IR443 Strategy in a Changing World</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>3</td>
<td>IR444 Strategy in Action (H)</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>4</td>
<td>IR496 Dissertation: MSc Diplomacy and International Strategy (1.5 units)</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

MSc Econometrics and Mathematical Economics (Research)
Students admitted to the MSc Econometrics and Mathematical Economics (Research) have a conditional offer of progression to the MRes/PhD Economics.
For programme details, see MSc Econometrics and Mathematical Economics.

MSc Econometrics and Mathematical Economics
Academic-year programme. Students must take courses to the value of four full units as shown. Students are also required to attend the September Course EC400.

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Paper</th>
<th>Course number and title</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>1</td>
<td>EC484 Econometric Analysis</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>2</td>
<td>EC487 Advanced Microeconomics, or EC441 Microeconomics for MRes Students†</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>3 &amp; 4</td>
<td>Two papers selected from the following:</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>3 &amp; 4</td>
<td>EC442 Macroeconomics for MRes Students†</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>3 &amp; 4</td>
<td>EC475 Quantitative Economics</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>3 &amp; 4</td>
<td>EC476 Contracts and Organisations</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>3 &amp; 4</td>
<td>EC485 Topics in Advanced Econometrics</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>3 &amp; 4</td>
<td>Approved Statistics and/or Mathematics courses to the total value of one unit:</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>ST409</td>
<td>Stochastic Processes (H)</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>ST411</td>
<td>Generalized Linear Modelling and Survival Analysis (H)</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>ST418</td>
<td>Non-linear Dynamics and the Analysis of Real Time Series (H)</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>ST421</td>
<td>Developments in Statistical Methods (H)</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>ST422</td>
<td>Time Series (H)</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Other courses in Statistics or Mathematics may be selected with the approval of the Programme Director</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>
MSc Econometrics and Mathematical Economics (two-year Programme)

Students without a strong background in both economics and mathematics are required to take the MSc programme over two years, starting with attendance on the September Course EC400. The first year of the programme is governed by the ‘Regulations for Diplomas’; students who successfully complete the examinations at the end of the first year will be awarded a Diploma in Econometrics and Mathematical Economics. In order to progress to the second year, which is governed by the ‘Regulations for Taught Masters Degrees’, students must gain marks of 60% or higher in each examinable course at the end of their first year. The Sub-Board of Examiners may, at its discretion, consider for progression candidates who fall marginally short of this requirement. However, students gaining the Diploma in a re-sit attempt are not eligible for progression onto the MSc, nor are students entitled to re-sit first year examinations already passed in order to achieve the progression standard.

Paper  Course number and title
Year 1
1  EC309  Econometric Theory
2  EC411  Microeconomics † or EC202  Microeconomic Principles II
3  One course from the following list:
   MA212  Further Mathematical Methods
   ST202  Probability, Distribution Theory and Inference
   EC319  Economic Theory and its Applications*

Year 2  Students must take courses to the value of four full units as shown.

Paper  Course number and title
1  EC484  Econometric Analysis
2  EC487  Advanced Microeconomics or EC441  Microeconomics for MRes Students †
3 & 4  Two papers selected from the following:
   EC442  Macroeconomics for MRes Students †
   EC475  Quantitative Economics
   EC476  Contracts and Organisations
   EC485  Topics in Advanced Econometrics
   Approved Statistics and/or Mathematics courses to the total value of one unit:
   ST409  Stochastic Processes (H)
   ST411  Generalized Linear Modelling and Survival Analysis (H)
   ST418  Non-linear Dynamics and the Analysis of Real Time Series (H)
   ST421  Developments in Statistical Methods (H)
   ST422  Time Series (H)
   Other courses in Statistics or Mathematics may be selected with the approval of the Programme Director.
   A course from the Paper 4 list of options of the MSc in Economics with the approval of the Programme Director.

Notes  † Students must obtain the permission of the relevant course proprietor.
   * Only available if EC411 is chosen as Paper 2.
    Not available if EC441 is chosen as Paper 2.

MSc Economic History (Research)

Full-year, five unit programme. Students must take two compulsory half-unit courses, optional courses to the value of two units and a dissertation (which counts as two units) as shown.

Paper  Course number and title
1a  EH401  Historical Analysis of Economic Change (H)
1b  One of the following:
   EH402  Research Design and Quantitative Methods in Economic History (H)
   EH426  Quantitative Topics in Economic History I: Cross-section and Panel Data (H)
   EH427  Quantitative Topics in Economic History II: Time Series and Economic Dynamics (H)
2  Courses to the value of one unit from the following:
   EH422  Topics in Quantitative Economic History
   EH428  History of Economics: Making Political Economy into a Social Science (H)
   EH429  History of Economics: Ideas, Policy and Performativity (H)
   EH446  Economic Development of East and Southeast Asia
   EH476  The Economic History of War
   EH483  The Development and Integration of the World Economy in the 19th and 20th Centuries
3  Either another paper from 2 above OR two half-units from below:
   EH404  India and the World Economy (H) (n/a 12/13)
   EH408  International Migration, 1500-2000: from slavery to asylum (H) (n/a 12/13)
   EH412  Research Topics in Economic History (H) (n/a 12/13)
   EH413  African Economic Development in Historical Perspective (H)
   EH419  Research Topics in Economic History B (H) (n/a 12/13)
   EH423  Japan and Korea as Developing Economics (H) (n/a 12/13)
   EH424  The British Economy in Global Perspective, 1000-2000 (H)
   EH426  Quantitative Topics in Economic History I: Cross-section and Panel Data (H)
   EH427  Quantitative Topics in Economic History II: Time Series and Economic Dynamics (H)
   EH447  Great Depressions in Economic History (H) (n/a 12/13)
   EH451  Latin American Development: political economy of growth (H)
   EH452  Latin American Development and Economic History (H)
   EH463  The Long-Run Analysis of Firms and Industries (H) (n/a 12/13) and EH464  The Historical Context of Business (H)
   EH466  Labour and Work in Preindustrial Europe (H) (n/a 12/13)
   EH467  Epidemics: epidemic disease in history, 1348-2000 (H)
   EH476  The Economic History of War
   EH486  Shipping and Sea Power in Asian Waters, c1600-1860 (H) (n/a 12/13)
   EH487  International Economic Institutions since World War I (H)
   EU438  Turkey: Political Economy and European Integration (H)
   EU461  Economic History of Southeastern Europe and the Middle East, 1820-1970 (H) (n/a 12/13)
   Dissertation which is assessed as:
   EH496  Research Dissertation A: Contextualisation, Theory and Research Design and
   * Please note that EH413 is a pre-requisite of this course
    These courses cannot be combined with EH422
MSc Economic History

Full-year programme. Students must take compulsory courses to the value of 1.5 units, and either optional courses to the value of two units and a half-unit dissertation, or optional courses to the value of 1.5 units and a full-unit dissertation.

Paper  Course number and title
1  EH401 Historical Analysis of Economic Change (H)
   EH476 The Economic History of War
   EH482 Pre-modern Paths of Growth: East and West compared, c1000-1800 or EH483 The Development and Integration of the World Economy in the 19th and 20th centuries

Either
EH498 Dissertation: MSc Economic History (H) and courses to the value of two full units from the following:
EH499 Dissertation: MSc Economic History and courses to the value of 1.5 units from the following:
EH402 Research Design and Quantitative Methods in Economic History (H)
EH404 India and the World Economy (H) (n/a 12/13)
EH408 International Migration, 1500-2000: from slavery to asylum (H) (n/a 12/13)
EH412 Research Topics in Economic History A (H) (n/a 12/13)
EH413 African Economic Development in Historical Perspective (H)
EH419 Research Topics in Economic History B (H) (n/a 12/13)
EH422 Topics in Quantitative Economic History
EH423 Japan and Korea as Developing Economies (H) (n/a 12/13)
EH424 The British Economy in Global Perspective, 1000-2000 (H)
EH426 Quantitative Topics in Economic History I: Cross-section and Panel Data (H)
EH427 Quantitative Topics in Economic History II: Time Series and Economic Dynamics (H)
EH428 History of Economics: Making Political Economy into a Social Science (H)
EH429 History of Economics: Ideas, Policy and Performativity (H)
EH446 Economic Development of East and Southeast Asia
EH447 Great Depression in Economic History (H) (n/a 12/13)
EH451 Latin American Development: political economy of growth (H)
EH452 Latin American Development and Economic History (H)
EH463 The Long-Run Analysis of Firms and Industries (H) (n/a 12/13)
EH464 The Historical Context of Business (H)
EH466 Labour and Work in Preindustrial Europe (H) (n/a 12/13)
EH467 Epidemics: epidemic disease in history, 1348-2000 (H)
EH476 The Economic History of War
EH482 Pre-modern Paths of Growth: East and West compared, c1000-1800 (if not taken under paper 2)
EH483 The Development and Integration of the World Economy in the 19th and 20th Centuries (if not taken under paper 2)
EH486 Shipping and Sea Power in Asian Waters, c1600-1860 (H) (n/a 12/13)
EH487 International Economic Institutions since World War I (H)
EU438 Turkey: Political Economy and European Integration (H)
EU461 Economic History of Southeastern Europe and the Middle East, 1820-1970 (H) (n/a 12/13)

* Please note that EH413 is a pre-requisite of this course
 These courses cannot be combined with EH422

MSc Economics (Research)

Students admitted to the MSc Economics (Research) have a conditional offer of progression to the MRes/PhD Economics. For programme details, see MSc Economics.

MSc Economics

Academic-year programme. Students must take three compulsory courses, one optional course and a dissertation linked to the optional course as shown. Students are also required to attend EC400 Introductory Course in Mathematics and Statistics.

Paper  Course number and title
1  EC413 Macroeconomics
2  EC411 Microeconomics or EC487 Advanced Microeconomics †
3  EC402 Econometrics
4  One of the following courses (including a 6000-word dissertation to be submitted by the beginning of the summer term)
   EC421 International Economics
   EC423 Labour Economics
   EC424 Monetary Economics
   EC426 Public Economics
   EC427 Economics of Industry
   EC428 Development and Growth
   EC453 Political Economy (n/a 12/13)
   EC476 Contracts and Organisations
   FM4E1 Economics Finance Option 1
   FM4E2 Economics Finance Option 2
   FM4E3 Economics Finance Option 3
   FM4E4 Economics Finance Option 4

Any other course in Economics approved by the candidate's teachers. Such approval will only be given in exceptional circumstances.

Notes  † Students must obtain the permission of the course proprietor.
MSc Economics and Philosophy

Full-year programme. Students take courses to the value of four units and a dissertation.

Paper  Course number and title
1 & 2  Two of the following:
    EC411  Microeconomics
    EC413  Macroeconomics
    EC402  Econometrics

3 & 4  Courses to the value of two full units from the following:
    EH428  History of Economics: Making Political Economy into a Social Science (H)
    EH429  History of Economics: Ideas, Policy and Performativity (H)
    PH400  Philosophy of Science
    PH404  Scientific Revolutions: Philosophical and Historical Issues

PH405  Philosophy of the Social Sciences
PH411  Philosophy of Biological and Cognitive Sciences
PH413  Philosophy of Economics
PH415  Philosophy and Public Policy
PH416  Philosophy, Morals and Politics
PH419  Set Theory and Further Logic
PH423  Evidence, Objectivity and Policy
PH425  Business and Organisational Ethics (H)
PH456  Rationality and Choice

PH499  Dissertation

Notes  Students must also take PH418 Dissertation Seminar - Economics and Philosophy (non-assessed)

MSc Economics (Two Year Programme)

Students without a strong background in economics are required to take the MSc programme over two years. The first year of the programme is governed by the ‘Regulations for Diplomas’, students who successfully complete the examinations at the end of the first year will be awarded a Diploma in Economics. In order to progress to the second year, which is governed by the ‘Regulations for Taught Masters Degrees’, students must gain marks of 60% or higher in each examinable course at the end of their first year. The Sub-Board of Examiners may, at its discretion, consider for progression candidates who fall marginally short of this requirement. However, students gaining the Diploma in a re-sit attempt are not eligible for progression onto the MSc, nor are students entitled to re-sit first year examinations already passed in order to achieve the progression standard.

Year 1

Paper  Course number and title
1  EC201  Microeconomic Principles I or EC202  Microeconomic Principles II
2  EC210  Macroeconomic Principles
3  MA100  Mathematical Methods or MA212  Further Mathematical Methods
4  EC220  Introduction to Econometrics or EC221  Principles of Econometrics

Notes  Candidates may be allowed to substitute one other course for one of the above papers with the permission of the Course Tutor.

Year 2

Students must take three compulsory courses, one optional course and a dissertation linked to the optional course as shown. Students are also required to attend EC400 Introductory Course in Mathematics and Statistics.

Paper  Course number and title
1  EC413  Macroeconomics
2  EC411  Microeconomics or EC487  Advanced Microeconomics
3  EC402  Econometrics

4  One of the following courses (including a 6000-word dissertation to be submitted by the beginning of the summer term):
    EC421  International Economics
    EC423  Labour Economics
    EC424  Monetary Economics
    EC426  Public Economics
    EC427  Economics of Industry
    EC428  Development and Growth
    EC453  Political Economy (n/a 12/13)
    EC476  Contracts and Organisations
    FME1  Economics Finance Option 1
    FME2  Economics Finance Option 2
    FME3  Economics Finance Option 3
    FME4  Economics Finance Option 4

Any other course in Economics approved by the candidate’s teachers

Notes  † Students must obtain the permission of the relevant course proprietor.

MSc Empires, Colonialism and Globalisation

Full year programme. Students must take courses to the value of four full units, comprising one compulsory paper, a dissertation and optional course as shown.

Paper  Course number and title
1  HY423  Empire, Colonialism and Globalization

2&3  Either two courses from list A, alternatively one course from list A and one course or two half-unit courses from list B.

List A

HY424  The Napoleonic Empire: The Making of Modern Europe?
HY429  Anglo-American Relations from World War to Cold War
HY432  From Cold Warriors to Peacemakers: the End of the Cold War Era, 1979-1999 (n/a 12/13)
HY434  The Rise and Fall of Communism in Europe 1917-1990
HY436  Race, Violence and Colonial Rule in Africa
HY439  War Cultures, 1890-1945
HY440  The Emergence of Modern Iran: State, Society and Diplomacy
HY441  Nusantara: State and Rebellion in the Indonesian Archipelago from the Colonial Period to Reformasi
HY461  East Asia in the Age of Imperialism, 1839-1945
HY463  The Origins of the Cold War, 1917-1962
HY464  Crises and Detente in the Cold War, 1962-1975
HY467  Media and politics, 1890-c.1970/80 (UK, Germany and the US) (n/a 12/13)
HY468  Nazi Germany and WW II - Causes and course, 1933-1945
HY469  Maps, History and Power: The Spaces and Cultures of the Past

List B

DV400  Development: History, Theory, Policy
EH404  India and the World Economy (H) (n/a 12/13)
EH408  International Migration, 1500-2000: from slavery to asylum* (H) (n/a 12/13)
EH413  African Economic Development in Historical Perspective (H)*
EH446  Economic Development of East and Southeast Asia
EH451  Latin American Development: political economy of growth (H)*
EH452  Latin American Development and Economic History (H)
EH467  Epidemics: Epidemic Disease in History, 1348-2000 (H)*
EH482  Pre-Modern Paths of Growth: East and West Compared, 1000-1800*
MSc Environmental Economics and Climate Change
Full-year programme. Students must take three compulsory courses, one full unit of options, and a dissertation as shown.

Paper | Course number and title
--- | ---
1 | GY426 Environmental and Resource Economics
2 | GY427 Climate Change: Science, Economics and Policy (H)
3 | GY428 Applied Quantitative Methods (H)
4 | Courses to the value of one full unit from*:
   - DV409 Economic Development Policy
   - EC411 Microeconomics
   - EC426 Public Economics
   - EC428 Development and Growth
   - EC453 Political Economy (n/a 12/13)
   - EC476 Contracts and Organisations
   - GV4F6 The Philosophy and Politics of Environmental Change
   - GY409 Globalisation and Regional Development (H)
   - GY410 Economics of Local and Regional Development (H)
   - GY420 Environmental Regulation: Implementing Policy
   - GY446 Planning for Sustainable Cities (H)
   - GY455 Economic Appraisal and Valuation (H)
   - GY464 Race and Space (H)
   - GY467 Development, Diaspora and Migration (H)
   - GY468 Environment and Development: Sustainability, Technology and Business (H)

Notes
* means subject to space.

MSc Environmental Policy and Regulation
Full-year programme. Students must take two compulsory courses, a dissertation, and either 1 or 1.5 units of optional courses.

Paper | Course number and title
--- | ---
1 | GY420 Environmental Regulation: Implementing Policy
2 | GY423 Environment and Development or
   - GY468 Environmental and Development: Sustainability, Technology and Business (H)
3 | Courses to the value of 1.5 units if taking GY468, or 1 unit if taking GY423 (under paper 2 above):
   - GY427 Climate Change: Science, Economics and Policy (H)
   - GY446 Planning for Sustainable Cities (H)
   - GY455 Economic Appraisal and Valuation (H)
   - DV415 Global Environmental Governance (H)
   - EU421 Policy-Making in the European Union (H)
   - IR407 International Political Economy of the Environment
   - LL4D6 International and European Environmental Law
   - SO425 Regulation, Risk and Economic Life
   - SO452 Urban Environment (H) (n/a 12/13)
   - SO469 Risk and Governance: A Sociological Approach (H)
4 | GY499 Dissertation

MSc Environment and Development
Full-year programme. Students must take courses to the value of four full units.

Paper | Course number and title
--- | ---
1 | GY423 Environment and Development
2 | One full unit or two half units offered by the Development Studies Institute (Not DV431)
3 | One full unit or two half units offered by the Department of Geography and Environment from the following:
   - GY409 Gender, Globalisation and Development: An Introduction (H)
   - GY403 Contemporary Debates in Human Geography (H)
   - GY407 Globalization, Regional Development and Policy
   - GY409 Globalization and Regional Development (H)
   - GY413 Regional Development and Policy (H)
   - GY420 Environmental Regulation: Implementing Policy
   - GY421 Gender and Development: Geographical Perspectives (H)
   - GY427 Climate Change: Science, Economics and Policy (H)
   - GY430 Contemporary Urbanism (n/a 12/13)
   - GY431 Cities, People and Poverty in the South (H)
   - GY432 Urban Ethnography (H)
   - GY438 Cities and Social Change in East Asia (H)
   - GY439 Cities, Politics and Citizenship (H)
   - GY445 Urban Theory, Policy and Practice in the Global South
   - GY455 Economic Appraisal and Valuation (H)
   - GY464 Race and Space (H)
   - GY465 Concepts in Environmental Regulation (H)
   - GY467 Development, Diaspora and Migration (H)
   - GY475 Issues in Environmental Governance (H)
   - GY479 The Urban Revolution (H) (n/a 12/13)
   - GY480 Remaking China: Geographical Aspects of Development and Disparity (H)
   - LL4A6 Climate Change and International Law (H)
4 | GY499 Dissertation or one full or two half units from any courses listed under 3 or offered by the Development Studies Institute

MSc European Studies (Research)

Paper | Course number and title
--- | ---
First year:
1 | Courses to the value of one full unit from the European Institute MSc degrees:
   - EU424 The Idea of Europe (H)
EU435 History and Theory of European Integration (H)
EU447 Democracy, Ideology and the European State (H)
EU452 Political Economy of Europe
SA47 The Economics of European Social Policy (H) (n/a 12/13)
EU457 Ethnic Diversity and International Society (H)
GV450 European Politics: Comparative Analysis (H)

2
MY451 Introduction to Quantitative Analysis (H)*

3
EU554 Research Methods and Design in European Studies

4
EU499 Dissertation

5
One full-unit from either the MSc European Political Economy or MSc Politics and Government in the European Union or MSc European Studies: Ideas and Identities under the specialist options or from one of the options not already taken under paper 1

Promotion to the second year (i.e. admission into the doctoral programme at the European Institute) is subject to the following conditions:

- Merit grade in the MSc Research (normally defined as an overall average of 65% or above, and 65% or above in the dissertation)
- Pass grade for MY451
- Availability of appropriate supervision
- A research proposal that is evaluated as coherent by the Doctoral Programme Committee

Notes
* assessed on a pass/fail basis

---

MSc European Studies: Ideas and Identities

Students must take courses to the value of three units and a dissertation as shown. Additionally, all students must take EU410 Interdisciplinary Research Methods and Design and EU450 European Union: Contemporary Issues, in preparation for the dissertation.

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Paper</th>
<th>Course number and title</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>1</td>
<td>EU424 The Idea of Europe (H)</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>OR</td>
<td>EU447 Democracy, Ideology and the European State (H)</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>2</td>
<td>Courses to the value of one unit from the following:</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td>A course not taken under paper 1</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>3</td>
<td>European Politics, Philosophy and Economics</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td>EU426 The West: Identity and Interests (H) (n/a 12/13)</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td>EU430 Europeanization: The Comparative Politics of Domestic Change (H)</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td>EU432 The Philosophy of Europe (H)</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td>EU437 Europe Beyond Modernity (H)</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td>EU439 Political and Fiscal Integration and Disintegration in EU Member States (H) (n/a 12/13)</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td>EU443 European Models of Capitalism (H)</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td>EU462 Partisanship in Europe (H)</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td>HY411 European Integration in the Twentieth Century</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td>Citizenship and Diversity</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td>EU457 Ethnic Diversity and International Society (H)</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td>EU460 European Society and Politics beyond the Nation State (H)</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td>EU463 European Human Rights Law (H)</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td>The European Union</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td>EU420 European Union Law and Government (H)</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td>EU421 Policy-Making in the European Union (H)</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td>EU464 Migration and Mobility: EU Law and Politics (H)</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td>EU466 Citizen Representaion and Democracy in the European Union (H)</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>3</td>
<td>Courses to the value of one unit from the following:</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td>A course not taken under paper 2 or a relevant course from another programme</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

MSc Finance and Economics (Research)

Academic-year (10 month) programme. Students must apply for entry into the programme at the start of October. Entry will be dependant upon the EC400 results and acceptance onto EC487 by the Department of Economics. Students must take courses as shown. They must submit a 6,000 word dissertation in one of the optional half unit courses and take a two-hour examination in the other course. Students are required to attend the pre-sessional course FM458 Probability and Stochastic Calculus. The dissertation must be submitted by the last week of June.

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Paper</th>
<th>Course number and title</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>1</td>
<td>FM436 Financial Economics</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>2</td>
<td>FM437 Financial Econometrics</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>3</td>
<td>EC487 Advanced Microeconomics</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>4</td>
<td>Two half-unit courses selected from the following:</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td>FM402 Financial Risk Analysis (H) (Dissertation code FM4T0)</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td>FM404 Forecasting Financial Time Series (H) (Dissertation code FM4T1)</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td>FM413 Fixed Income Markets (H) (Dissertation code FM4U1)</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td>FM421 Applied Corporate Finance (H) (Dissertation code FM4T2)</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td>FM431L Corporate Finance A (H)</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td>FM440 Corporate Finance Theory (H) (Dissertation code FM4T3) (n/a 12/13)</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td>FM442 Quantitative Methods for Finance and Risk Analysis (H) (Dissertation code FM4U2)</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td>FM445 Portfolio Management (H) (Dissertation code FM4T5)</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td>FM447 Global Financial System (H) (Dissertation code FM4T7)</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td>FM472 International Finance (H) (Dissertation code FM4T8)</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>
FM472 International Finance (H) (Dissertation code FM4T9)

Notes  * students must obtain the approval of the EC487 course leader to take this course.

Students will be required to attend teaching for the course which they chose to write their dissertation on.

MSc Finance and Economics

Academic-year (10 month) programme. Students must take three compulsory courses and optional courses to the value of one full unit. They must submit a dissertation in one of the optional courses and take a two-hour examination in the other. Students are also required to attend EC400 Introductory Course in Mathematics and Statistics and FM458 Probability and Stochastic Calculus. The dissertation must be submitted in the third week of June.

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Paper</th>
<th>Course number and title</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>1</td>
<td>EC411 Microeconomics</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>
| 2     | FM436 Financial Economics| *
| 3     | FM437 Financial Econometrics |
| 4     | Courses to the value of one full unit selected from the following (one to be examined by dissertation and one by examination):
|       | FM402 Financial Risk Analysis (H) (Dissertation code FM4T0) |
|       | FM404 Forecasting Financial Time Series (H) (Dissertation code FM4T1) |
|       | FM413 Fixed Income Markets (H) (Dissertation code FM4U1) |
|       | FM421 Applied Corporate Finance (H) (Dissertation code FM4T2) |
|       | FM431M Corporate Finance A (H) or |
|       | FM431L Corporate Finance A (H) |
|       | FM440 Corporate Finance Theory (H) (Dissertation code FM4T3) (n/a 12/13) |
|       | FM442 Quantitative Methods for Finance and Risk Analysis (H) (Dissertation code FM4U2) |
|       | FM445 Portfolio Management (H) (Dissertation code FM4T5) |
|       | FM447 Global Financial System (H) (Dissertation code FM4T7) |
|       | FM472 International Finance (H) (Dissertation code FM4T9) |

Notes:  * With the approval of the Programme Director, students who have already completed the equivalent of EC411 in their prior studies may be permitted to take EC413 Microeconomics.

 Students taking this course can apply for a place on FM457 MATLAB for MSc Students, a non-assessed computer course.

MSc Finance and Private Equity

Academic-year (10 month) programme. Students must take three compulsory courses (FM410 Private Equity includes a dissertation) and optional courses to the value of 1.5 units. Admitted students are required to attend the Quantitative Methods September course. The dissertation must be submitted by the third week of June.

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Paper</th>
<th>Course number and title</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>1</td>
<td>FM422 Corporate Finance</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>2</td>
<td>FM423 Asset Markets</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>3</td>
<td>FM410 Private Equity (H)</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>
| 4     | Three of the following half unit courses (students must select at least two courses from the list of dedicated options marked *):
|       | FM404 Forecasting Financial Time Series (H) + |
|       | FM405 Fixed Income Securities and Credit Markets (H)* |
|       | FM406 Topics in Portfolio Management (H)* |
|       | FM407 Applied Financial Valuation (H)* |

MSc Finance (full-time)

Academic-year (10 month) programme. Students must take two compulsory courses and optional courses to the value of two full units as shown. They must submit a dissertation in one of the optional half unit courses and take an examination in the other three half unit courses. Admitted students are required to attend the Quantitative Methods September course. The dissertation must be submitted by the third week of June.

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Paper</th>
<th>Course number and title</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>1</td>
<td>FM422 Corporate Finance</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>2</td>
<td>FM423 Asset Markets</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>
| 3 & 4 | Students should select 4 half unit courses to the value of 2 full units. Students must select at least three courses from the dedicated list of options marked *:
|       | FM405 Fixed Income Securities and Credit Markets (H) (Dissertation code FM4U5)* |
|       | FM406 Topics in Portfolio Management (H) (Dissertation code FM4T6)* |
|       | FM407 Applied Financial Valuation (H) (Dissertation code FM4U7)* |
|       | FM408 Financial Engineering (H) (Dissertation code FM4T8)* |
|       | FM409 Risk Management for Financial Institutions (H) (Dissertation code FM4U9)* |
|       | FM414 Cases in Corporate Finance (H) (Dissertation code FM4T4)* |
|       | FM440 Corporate Finance Theory (H) (Dissertation code FM4T3) (n/a 12/13) |
|       | FM472 International Finance (H) (Dissertation code FM4T9) |

In exceptional circumstances it may be possible to take an unlisted optional course with the approval of the Programme Director.

Notes  Students are required to write a 6,000 word dissertation (replacing the exam) in one of the half unit courses. Students will be required to attend teaching for the course which they choose to write their dissertation on.

MSc Finance (part-time)

Academic year programme lasting 21 months part-time (evenings). Students must take two full unit compulsory courses in the first year and four of the half-unit options available in the second year. They must submit a dissertation in one of the optional half-unit courses and take an examination in the other three half-unit courses.

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Paper</th>
<th>Course number and title</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>1</td>
<td>FM422 Corporate Finance</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>2</td>
<td>FM423 Asset Markets</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>
| 3 & 4 | Students should select 4 half unit courses to the value of 2 full units. Students must select at least three courses from the dedicated list of options marked *:
|       | FM405 Fixed Income Securities and Credit Markets (H) (Dissertation code FM4U5)* |
MSc Financial Mathematics

Academic year programme (10 months). Students must take five compulsory half-unit courses and optional courses to the value of one-and-a-half units as shown.

September Introductory Course relating to MA415 and MA417

Paper Course number and title
1 MA415 Mathematics of the Black and Scholes Theory (H)
2 MA416 The Foundations of Interest Rate and Credit Risk Theory
3 ST409 Stochastic Processes (H)
4 FM413 Fixed Income Markets (H)
5 MA417 Computational Methods in Finance (H)
6 One of the following:
   MA402 Game Theory I (H)
   MA411 Probability and Measure (H)
   MA414 Stochastic Analysis (H)
   MA418 Preferences, Optimal Portfolio Choice, and Equilibrium (H)
   MA420 Quantifying Risk Modelling and Alternative Markets (H) (r/a 12/13)

   ST439 Stochastics for Derivatives Modelling (H)
   ST440 Recent Developments in Finance and Insurance (H)
   ST441 Introduction to Markov Processes and Their Applications (H)
   ST442 Introduction to Quantitative Analysis (H)

7 & 8 The equivalent of one unit from the following:

   FM402 Financial Risk Analysis (H)
   FM404 Forecasting Financial Time Series (H)
   FM441 Derivatives (H)
   FM442 Quantitative Methods for Finance and Risk Analysis (H)
   FM445 Portfolio Management (H)
   FM472 International Finance (H)
   FM492 Principles of Finance
   ST422 Time Series (H)
   ST437 Life Insurance (H)
   ST438 Non-Life Insurance (H)

In exceptional cases it may be possible to take an unlisted optional course with the approval of the Programme Director.

Notes

You will be required to write a 6,000 word dissertation (replacing the exam) in one of your half unit courses. You are expected to attend the course teaching on the half-unit that you chose to write your dissertation on. FM404, FM440, FM447 and FM472 are taught during the daytime only. To take these courses students must be able to attend teaching during the day.

MSc Gender (Research)

Full-year programme. Students take two units of compulsory courses, options to the value of one unit and a dissertation as shown.

Paper Course number and title
1 GI400 Gender Theories in the Modern World: An Interdisciplinary Approach
2 GI402 Gender, Knowledge and Research Practice (H)
3 MY451 Introduction to Quantitative Analysis (H) or MY452 Applied Regression Analysis (H)
4 Options to the value of one full unit from the following*:
   GI403 Gender and Media Representation (H)
   GI405 Globalising Sexualities (H)
   GI406 Feminist Political Theory (H)
   GI407 Globalisation, Gender and Development
   GI408 Cultural Constructions of the Body (H) (r/a 12/13)
   GI409 Gender, Globalisation and Development: An Introduction (H)
   GI410 Screening the Present: Contemporary Cinema and Cultural Critique (H)
   GI411 Gender, Post-colonialism, Development: Critical Perspectives and New Directions (H)
   GI413 Gender and Militarisation (H)
   GI417 Gender, Population and Policy (H)
   GI418 Feminist Economics and Policy: An Introduction (H)
   MY400 Fundamentals of Social Science Research Design (H)
   MY421 Qualitative Research Methods (H)
   MY426 Doing Ethnography (H)
   MY427 Qualitative Research With Non-Traditional Data (H)
   MY429 Special Topics in Qualitative Research Methods: Qualitative Text Analysis (H)
   MY452 Applied Regression Analysis (H) (if not already taken under paper 3)
5 GI499 Dissertation

Notes

* Options must be from the Gender Institute or Methodology Institute.

MSc Gender, Policy and Inequalities

Full-year programme. Students must take courses to the value of three full units and a dissertation as shown below.

Paper Course number and title
1 GI414 Gender and Social Policy: Theory and Practice (H) and one of the following
   GI415 Gender and European Welfare States (H)
   GY421 Gender and Development: Geographical Perspectives (H)
2 GI400 Gender Theories in the Modern World: An Interdisciplinary Approach
3 Courses to the value of one full unit from the list below:
   GI402 Gender, Knowledge and Research Practice (H)
   GI403 Gender and Media Representation (H)
   GI405 Globalising Sexualities (H)
   GI406 Feminist Political Theory (H)
   GI407 Globalisation, Gender and Development
   GI408 Cultural Constructions of the Body (H) (r/a 12/13)
   GI409 Gender, Globalisation and Development: An Introduction (H)
   GI411 Gender, Post-colonialism, Development: Critical Perspectives and New Directions (H)
   GI413 Gender and Militarisation (H)
   GI415 Gender and European Welfare States (H)
MSc Gender

Full-year programme. Students must take two compulsory courses and options to the value of one-and-a-half units and a dissertation as shown.

Paper Course number and title

1. GI400 Gender Theories in the Modern World: An Interdisciplinary Approach
2. GI407 Globalisation, Gender and Development
3. Options to the value of 1 unit chosen from the following:
   - DV429 Global Civil Society (H)
   - GI402 Gender, Knowledge and Research Practice (H)
   - GI405 Globalising Sexualities (H)
   - GI406 Feminist Political Theory (H)
   - GI408 Cultural Constructions of the Body (H) (n/a 12/13)
   - GI410 Screening the Present: contemporary cinema and cultural critique (H)

4. GI499 Dissertation

MSc Gender, Development and Globalisation

Full-year programme. Students must take the following courses to the value of four full units

Paper Course number and title

1. GI400 Gender Theories in the Modern World: An Interdisciplinary Approach
2. GI417 Gender and Militarisation (H)
3. GI416 Gender and Transition Societies: Politics, Policies and Patterns (H) (n/a 12/13)
4. GI417 Gender, Population and Policy (H)
5. GI418 Feminist Economics and Policy: An Introduction (H)
6. GI419 Gender, Post-colonialism, Development: Critical Perspectives and New Directions (H)
7. GI413 Gender and Militarisation (H)
8. GI416 Gender and Transition Societies: Politics, Policies and Patterns (H) (n/a 12/13)
9. GI417 Gender, Population and Policy (H)
10. GI418 Feminist Economics and Policy: An Introduction (H)

Notes

* Students can take courses to a maximum of one full unit from outside the Gender Institute.

MSc Gender, Media and Culture

Full-year programme. Students must take courses to the value of three full units and a dissertation as shown below.

Paper Course number and title

1. GI408 Cultural Constructions of the Body (H) (n/a 12/13)
2. GI407 Globalisation, Gender and Development
3. GI410 Screening the Present: contemporary cinema and cultural critique (H)

4. GI499 Dissertation

MSc Gender, Media and Culture

Full-year programme. Students must take courses to the value of three full units and a dissertation as shown below.

Paper Course number and title

1. GI408 Cultural Constructions of the Body (H) (n/a 12/13)
2. GI407 Globalisation, Gender and Development
3. GI410 Screening the Present: contemporary cinema and cultural critique (H)

4. GI499 Dissertation
MSc Global History

Full-year programme. Students must take compulsory courses to the value of 2.5 units, and either optional courses to the value of one unit and a half-unit dissertation, or optional courses to the value of 0.5 units and a full unit dissertation.

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Paper</th>
<th>Course number and title</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>1</td>
<td>EH481 Economic Change in Global History: Approaches and Analysis</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>2</td>
<td>EH482 Pre-modern Paths of Growth: East and West compared, c1000-1800</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>3</td>
<td>EH483 The Development and Integration of the World Economy in the 19th and 20th centuries</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>4</td>
<td>EH479 Dissertation: Global History (H) and courses to the value of one full unit from the following (if not already taken under paper 2)</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Or</td>
<td>EH480 Dissertation: MSc Global History and courses to the value of 0.5 units from the following (if not already taken under paper 2):</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td>EH402 Research Design and Quantitative Methods in Economic History (H)</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td>EH404 India and the World Economy (H) (n/a 12/13)</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td>EH408 International Migration, 1500-2000: from slavery to asylum (H) (n/a 12/13)</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td>EH412 Research Topics in Economic History A (H) (n/a 12/13)</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td>EH413 African Economic Development in Historical Perspective (H)</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td>EH419 Research Topics in Economic History B (H) (n/a 12/13)</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td>EH422 Topics in Quantitative Economic History</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td>EH423 Japan and Korea as Developing Economics (H) (n/a 12/13)</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td>EH424 The British Economy in Global Perspective, 1000-2000 (H)</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td>EH426 Quantitative Topics in Economic History I: Cross-section and Panel Data (H)</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td>EH427 Quantitative Topics in Economic History II: Time Series and Economic Dynamics (H)</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td>EH428 History of Economics: Making Political Economy into a Social Science (H)</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td>EH429 History of Economics: Ideas, Policy and Performativity (H)</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td>EH446 Economic Development of East and Southeast Asia</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td>EH447 Great Depressions in Economic History (H) (n/a 12/13)</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td>EH448 Latin American Development: political economy of growth (H)</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td>EH449 Latin American Development and Economic History (H)</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td>EH453 The Long-Run Analysis of Firms and Industries (H) (n/a 12/13)</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td>EH454 The Economic History of War</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td>EH482 Pre-modern Paths of Growth: East and West compared, c1000-1800</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td>EH483 The Development and Integration of the World Economy in the 19th and 20th centuries</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td>EH486 Shipping and Sea Power in Asian Waters, c1600-1860 (H) (n/a 12/13)</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td>EH487 International Economic Institutions since World War I (H)</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td>EU438 Turkey: Political Economy and European Integration (H)</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td>EU461 Economic History of Southeastern Europe and the Middle East, 1820-1970 (H) (n/a 12/13)</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

* Please note that EH413 is a pre-requisite of this course

 These courses cannot be combined with EH422

MSc Global Management

A 17 month programme. Students take eight compulsory half unit courses (four units in total) and two non-assessed courses in Leadership (MG454) and Methods (MG444).

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Paper</th>
<th>Course number and title</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>Year 1</td>
<td>MG440 Managerial Economics (modular) (H)</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td>MG441 Foundations of Management (modular) (H)</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td>FM475 Financial Management (modular) (H)</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td>MG443 Organisational Behaviour (modular) (H)</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Year 2</td>
<td>MG445 Marketing Strategy (modular) (H)</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td>MG446 Strategy, Organisation and Innovation (modular) (H)</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td>MG447 Foreign Direct Investment and Emerging Markets (modular) (H)</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td>MG498 Dissertation: MSc GMIM (H)</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

MSc Global Politics

The MSc includes a core course, From Empire to Globalisation (paper 1) which all students must take. It draws on specialist knowledge from across the LSE’s Politics staff to offer a comprehensive introduction to the changing structure of the global order, and the contemporary challenges of global politics. The rest of the MSc allows considerable choice of options whilst seeking to blend a global focus with more detailed thematic or regional knowledge. Students can also choose the Global Civil Society stream, in which case they must take a second core course, Global Civil Society, and additional options as detailed below. All students must write a 10,000 word dissertation.

PLEASE NOTE: Due to staff sabbaticals and research leave, the School cannot guarantee that all the courses listed below will be available.

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Paper</th>
<th>Course number and title</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td>MSc Global Politics</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>1</td>
<td>GV4A4 From Empire to Globalisation</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>2</td>
<td>GV499 Dissertation*</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

3 & 4 Courses to the value of two full units selected from the option list below

Global Civil Society stream

1. GV4A4 From Empire to Globalisation
2. DV429 Global Civil Society (H)
3. GV499 Dissertation
4. Courses to the value of 1.5 units selected from the option list below

Options (access to the following courses is not necessarily guaranteed and may require the permission of the course coordinator: please consult the individual course guides for further information on availability)

- DV413 Environmental Problems and Development Interventions (H) (M)
- DV415 Global Environmental Governance (H) (M)
- DV418 African Development (H) (L)
- DV420 Complex Emergencies (H) (M)
- DV421 Emerging Health Threats and Development (H) (L)
- DV423 Global Political Economy of Development, I (H) (M)
- DV424 International Institutions and Late Development (H) (L)
- DV425 Managing Globalization (H) (n/a 12/13)
- DV428 Managing Humanitarianism (H)
- DV429 Global Civil Society (H)
- DV434 Human Security (H) (L)
- DV437 Nationalism, Democracy and Development in Contemporary India (H) (M) (n/a 12/13)
- EH446 Economic Development of East and Southeast Asia
- EH483 The Development and Integration of the World Economy in the 19th and 20th Centuries
- EU431 European Integration from a Global Perspective (H)
- EU443 European Models of Capitalism (H) (M)
- EU457 Ethnic Diversity and International Society (H)
- EU460 European Society and Politics beyond the Nation State (H)
- EU462 Partisanship in Europe (H)
- GI407 Globalisation, Gender and Development
- GI409 Gender, Globalisation and Development: An Introduction (H)
- GV427 Democracy in East and South Asia (H) (L)
- GV432 Government and Politics in China (H) (M)
- GV436 National and Ethnic Conflict Regulation (H) (M) (n/a 12/13)
- GV441 States and Markets (H) (M)
- GV442 Globalisation and Democracy (H) (M)
- GV443 The State and Political Institutions in Latin America (H) (M)
- GV444 Democracy and Development in Latin America (H) (L)
- GV465 War, Peace and the Politics of National Self-Determination (H) (M)
- GV479 Nationalism
- GV4A5 International Migration and Immigration Management (H) (M)
- GV4C2 Globalisation, Conflict and Post-Totalitarianism (H) (L)
- GV4C9 Democratization and its Discontents in Southeast Asia (H) (M)
- GV4D3 Local Power in an Era of Globalization, Democratization and Decentralization (H) (L)
- GV4D4 The Politics of Inequality and Redistribution (H)
- GV4E1 Comparative Democratization in a Global Age (H)
- GV4EB Conflict and Institutional Design in Divided Societies (H)
- GV4F2 Popular Politics in the Middle East (H)
- GV4F8 Institutions in the Global Economy (H)
- GV4GS The History and Politics of the Modern Middle East (H)
- GV4G6 Nationalism and Global Politics (H)
- GV4H6 Globalisation, Gender and Development: An Introduction (H)
- GV4I9 Corporate Social Responsibility and Globalisation (H)
- GV4J9 Democracy in East and South Asia (H) (L)
- GV4K9 Globalisation, Gender and Development
- GV4L9 Gender, Globalisation and Development: An Introduction (H)
- GV4M9 The State and Political Institutions in Latin America (H) (M)
- GV4N9 Democracy and Development in Latin America (H) (L)
- GV4O9 War, Peace and the Politics of National Self-Determination (H) (M)
- GV4P9 Nationalism
- GV4Q9 International Migration and Immigration Management (H) (M)
- GV4R9 Globalisation, Conflict and Post-Totalitarianism (H) (L)
- GV4S9 Democratization and its Discontents in Southeast Asia (H) (M)
- GV4T9 Local Power in an Era of Globalization, Democratization and Decentralization (H) (L)
- GV4U9 The Politics of Inequality and Redistribution (H)
- GV4V9 Comparative Democratization in a Global Age (H)
- GV4W9 Conflict and Institutional Design in Divided Societies (H)
- GV4X9 Popular Politics in the Middle East (H)
- GV4Y9 Institutions in the Global Economy (H)
- GV4Z9 The History and Politics of the Modern Middle East (H)
- GV4AA Nationalism and Global Politics (H)

Notes

Students must pass this course in order to pass the degree
Implementation and Evaluation (H)
SA4B5 International Planning and Children's Rights (H)
SA4C2 Basic Education for Social Development (H)
SA4C8 Globalization and Social Policy (H)
SA4D2 Health and Population in Developing and Transitional Societies (H)
SA4D6 Health Systems and Policies in Developing Countries (H)
SO457 Political Reconciliation (H) (n/a 12/13)
4
PS497 Dissertation

Notes
In cases where there are no timetabling clashes, a student will be permitted to do other half unit options in the School, subject to permission from the Programme Director and the agreement of the teacher responsible for the relevant option.

MSc Health Policy, Planning and Financing
Full-year programme taught jointly with the London School of Hygiene and Tropical Medicine. Students must take courses to the value of four units as shown below, and undertake a 10,000 word dissertation. It is highly recommended that students select courses which spread the workload over the course of the year. The dissertation will be completed during the summer.

Paper Course number and title
1 SA407 Financing Health Care (H)
2 (LSHTM) 1107 Health Services (H)
3 Obligation for all students to take one additional course (half unit) at LSE from the following:
   SA408 Health Economics (H)
   SA427 Pharmaceutical Economics and Policy (H)
   SA447 Foundations of Health Policy (H)
4 Obligation for all students to take one additional course (half unit) at LSHTM from the following:
   (LSHTM) 1117 Health Policy, Process and Power (H)
   (LSHTM) 2001 Basic Epidemiology (H)
   (LSHTM) 1123 Issues in Public Health (H)
5-8 Any combination of the following to the value of two full units:
   Health Economics
   SA4C3 Statistical Methods in Health Care Economic Evaluation (H)
   SA4C4 Cost-effectiveness Analysis in Health Care (H)
   SA4D3 Valuing Health (H)
   SA4E9 Advanced Health Economics (H)
   (LSHTM) 1501 Economic Evaluation (H)
   (LSHTM) 1504 Economic Analysis for Health Policy (H)
Health Policy and Management
SA4D4 Measuring Health System Performance (H)
SA4D6 Health Systems and Policies in Developing Countries (H)
SA4F8 Behavioural Public Policy (H)
(LSHTM) 1304 Health Impact and Decision Analysis (H)
(LSHTM) 1606 Analytical Models for Decision Making (H)
(LSHTM) 1403 Organisational Management (H)
(LSHTM) 1402 Conflict and Health (H)
(LSHTM) 1456 Primary Health Care Revisited: Concepts, Tools and Experiences in Low and Middle Income Countries (H)

Epidemiology and Health Trends
(LSHTM) 1503 Globalisation and Health (H)
Students can take a half-unit LSE course not listed above or a half-unit LSHTM Module (Terms 1-3), subject to availability and approval by the Programme Directors.
9 SA4G9 Dissertation for MSc Health Policy, Planning and Financing

MSc Health, Population and Society
Full-year programme. Students must take courses to the value of three full units and a dissertation

Paper Course number and title
1 SA4D1 Health and Population in Contemporary Developed Societies (H)
   SA4D2 Health and Population in Developing and Transitional Societies (H)
2 One of the following half unit courses:
   DV411 Population and Development: An Analytic Approach (H)
   DV421 Emerging Health Threats and Development (H)
   GI417 Gender, Population and Society (H)
   SA4B1 Population Analysis: Methods and Models (H)
   SA485 Planning for Population and Development (H)
   SA492 Reproductive Health Programmes: Design, Implementation and Evaluation (H)
   SA493 Demography of the Developing World (H)
   SA4D6 Health Systems and Policies in Developing Countries (H)
3 Courses to the value of one-and-a-half units from the following:
   Any course not taken in 2
   IS415 eHealth: Policy, Strategy and Systems (H)
   SA407 Financing Health Care (H)
   SA408 Health Economics (H)
   SA427 Pharmaceutical Economics and Policy (H)
   SA429 Social Exclusion, Inequality and the 'Underclass' Debate (H)
   SA447 Foundations of Health Policy (H)
   SA488 Social Policy: Goals and Issues (H)
   SA4C3 Statistical Methods in Health Care Economic Evaluation (H)
   SA4C4 Cost-effectiveness Analysis in Health Care (H)
   SA4C9 Social Policy: Organisation and Innovation (H)
   SA4D3 Valuing Health (H)
   SA4D4 Measuring Health System Performance (H)
   SA4F1 Migration: Population Trends and Policies (H)
   SA4F3 US Health Policies (H)
   SA4F8 Behavioural Public Policy (H)
   A related course from another programme
4 SA4B3 Dissertation on a topic approved by the supervisor, to be handed in by 1 September

MSc Health Economics, Policy and Management (modular)
For first year students in the 2012/13 session
Students take four compulsory half unit courses, options to the value of two units, and a dissertation.

Paper Course number and title
Year 1
1 SA4G1 Financing Health Care (modular) (H)
2 SA4G2 Health Economics (modular) (H)
3 SA4E1 Health Administration and Management (modular) (H)
4 SA4E2 Resource Allocation and Cost-effectiveness Analysis (modular) (H)
Year 2
5 SA4E3 Dissertation in Health Economics, Policy and Management (H)
   Students take optional courses to the value of two full units as follows:
6 December of Year 2:
   Students select one of the following courses:
   SA4G3 Pharmaceutical Economics and Policy (modular) (H)
   SA4G6 Measuring Health System Performance (modular) (H)
   Students select one of the following courses:
SA4F2 Principles of Evidence-Based Medicine and Clinical Trials (modular) (H)
SA4G5 Valuing Health and Welfare (modular) (H)

June of Year 2:
Students select one of the following courses:
- SA4K9 Advanced Health Economics (modular) (H)
- SA4G7 Health Systems and Policies in Developing Countries (modular) (H) (n/a 12/13)
- SA4K7 Health Care Negotiations (modular) (H)
- SA4K8 Health Care Quality Management (modular) (H)
- SA4K9 Advanced Health Economics (modular) (H)
- IS416 eHealth: Policy, Strategy and Systems (modular) (H)
- SA4G4 Statistical Methods in Health Care Economic Evaluation (modular) (H)

MSc Health Economics, Policy and Management (modular)

For second year students in the 2012/13 session

Students take four compulsory half unit courses, options to the value of two units, and a dissertation.

Paper | Course number and title
---|---
Year 1
1 | SA4G1 Financing Health Care (modular) (H)
2 | SA4G2 Health Economics (modular) (H)
3 | SA4E1 Health Administration and Management (modular) (H)
4 | SA4E2 Resource Allocation and Cost-effectiveness Analysis (modular) (H)
Year 2
5 | SA4E3 Dissertation in Health Economics, Policy and Management (H)
6 | Optional courses to the value of two full units:
   - SA4F2 Principles of Evidence-Based Medicine and Clinical Trials (modular) (H)
   - SA4G3 Pharmaceutical Economics and Policy (modular) (H)
   - SA4G4 Statistical Methods in Health Care Economic Evaluation (modular) (H)
   - SA4G5 Valuing Health and Welfare (modular) (H)
   - SA4G6 Measuring Health System Performance (modular) (H)
   - SA4G7 Health Systems and Policies in Developing Countries (modular) (H) (n/a 12/13)
   - SA4K7 Health Care Negotiations (modular) (H)
   - SA4K8 Health Care Quality Management (modular) (H)
   - SA4K9 Advanced Health Economics (modular) (H)
   - IS416 eHealth: Policy, Strategy and Systems (modular) (H)

MSc Human Geography and Urban Studies (Research)

Full-year programme. Students are required to be examined in elements from the three parts of the programme as specified below to the value of four units. Precise examination arrangements are listed under each course guide.

Paper | Course number and title
---|---
Part I - Research Core
1 | GY403 Contemporary Debates in Human Geography Seminar (H)
2 | Advanced Research Methods course to the value of one unit chosen from:
   - MY400 Fundamentals of Social Science Research Design (H)
   - MY421 Qualitative Research Methods (H)
   - MY426 Doing Ethnography (H)
   - MY427 Qualitative Research With Non-Traditional Data (H)
   - MY429 Special Topics in Qualitative Research Methods (H)
Part II - Substantive Specialism
3 | Courses to the value of 1.5 units from the following:
   - GI407 Globalisation, Gender and Development
   - GI409 Gender, Globalisation and Development: An Introduction (H)
   - GY409 Globalisation and Regional Development (H)
   - GY415 Local Capacity and Economic Development Policy (H)
   - GY421 Gender and Development: Geographical Perspectives (H)
   - GY431 Cities, People and Poverty in the South (H)
   - GY432 Urban Ethnography (H)
   - GY438 Cities and Social Change in East-Asia (H)
   - GY441 Nusantara: State and Rebellion in the Indonesian Archipelago from the Colonial Period to Reformasi (H)
   - GY461 East Asia in the Age of Imperialism, 1839-1945
   - GY463 The Origins of the Cold War, 1917-1962
   - GY464 Crises and Detente in the Cold War, 1962-1979 (n/a 12/13)
   - GY465 The International History of the Balkans since 1939: State Projects, Wars, and Social Conflict (n/a 12/13)
   - GY467 Media and politics, 1890-c.1970/80 (UK, Germany and the US) (n/a 12/13)
   - GY468 Nazi Germany and WWII - Causes and course, 1933-1945
   - GY469 Maps, History and Power: The Spaces and Cultures of the Past (H)
   - EH451 Latin American Development: political economy of growth (H)
   - EH452 Latin American Development and Economic History (H)
   - EU426 The West: Identity and Interests (H) (n/a 12/13)
   - or: A HY course from another MSc programme run by the Department of International History (subject to approval by the programme director)
   - or a related course from another department (outside option) (subject to approval by the programme director)
   - HY499 Dissertation
MSc Human Rights

Full-year course. Students are required to take one compulsory course, optional courses to the value of two units, and write a dissertation as shown.

Part I

1. SO424 Approaches to Human Rights
   Optional Courses to the value of two full units from the following (registration for these options depends on availability, regulations and the conditions of the outside department. Some further restrictions apply to Law Department options that are part of the LLM degree)
   - Access is not guaranteed for any option.

2 & 3. AN436 Anthropology of Development (H)
   AN439 Anthropology and Human Rights (H)
   AN451 Anthropology of Politics (H)
   AN456 Anthropology of Economy (1): Production and Exchange (H)
   AN457 Anthropology of Economy (2): Development, Transformation and Globalisation (H)
   DV411 Population and Development: An Analytical Approach (H)
   DV418 African Development (H)
   DV420 Complex Emergencies (H)
   DV428 Managing Humanitarianism (H)
   DV429 Global Civil Society (H)
   EU457 Ethnic Diversity and International Society (H)
   GI407 Globalisation, Gender and Development
   GI409 Gender, Globalisation and Development: An Introduction (H)
   GI413 Gender and Militarisation (H)
   GV408 Contemporary Disputes about Justice (H)
   GV436 National and Ethnic Conflict Regulation (H) (n/a 12/13)
   GV442 Globalisation and Democracy (H)
   GV443 The State and Political Institutions in Latin America (H)
   GV465 War, Peace and the Politics of National Self-Determination (H)
   GV487 The Liberal Idea of Freedom (H)
   GV4C2 Globalisation, Conflict and Post-Totalitarianism (H)
   GV4D7 Dilemmas of Equality (H) (n/a 12/13)
   IR422 Conflict and Peace Studies +
   IR462 Introduction to International Political Theory (H)
   IR463 The International Political Theory of Humanitarian Intervention (H)
   IR464 The Politics of International Law (H)
   IR465 The International Politics of Culture and Religion
   IR466 Genocide (H) (n/a 12/13)

Part II

4. GY499 Dissertation

Notes

* subject to space
+ with the permission of the course proprietor

MSc International Migration and Public Policy

Students must take courses to the value of three units and a dissertation as shown. Additionally, if their timetable allows, students are recommended to take EU410 in preparation for the dissertation.

Part I

1. GV4A5 International Migration and Immigration Management (H)
   SO468 International Migration and Migrant Integration (H)
   Courses to the value of one full unit from the following:
   - DV428 Managing Humanitarianism (H)
   - EH408 International Migration, 1500-2000: from slavery to asylum (H) (n/a 12/13)
   - EU448 Minorities and Migration in Europe (H) (n/a 12/13)
   - EU458 Identity, Community and the 'Problem of Minorities' (H)
   - EU464 Migration and Mobility in the European Union (H)
   - GV467 Development, Diaspora and Migration (H)
   - LL460 International Law and the Protection of Refugees, Displaced Persons and Migrants
   - SA4F1 Migration: Population Trends and Policies (H)
   - SA4H9 Non-Governmental Organisations, Social Policy and Development (H)
   - SO447 Topics of Race, Ethnicity and Postcolonial-Studies (n/a 12/13)
   - SO457 Political Reconciliation (H) (n/a 12/13)
   - SO461 Racial Formations of Modernity (H) (n/a 12/13)
   - SO466 Race and Biopolitics (H) (n/a 12/13)
   - SO467 Race, Ethnicity and Migration in Britain (post-1945) (H) (n/a 12/13)
   - SO472 Biomedicine and Bioscience in Culture and Society (H)

2. SO499 Dissertation

Notes

+ with the permission of the course proprietor
GV442 Globalisation and Democracy (H)
GV498 Multiculturalism, Nationalism and Citizenship (H)
GV4F4 The Politics of Policy Advice (H)
GY403 Contemporary Debates in Human Geography (H)
GY464 Race and Space (H)
HY436 Race, Violence and Colonial Rule in Africa
IR463 The International Political Theory of Humanitarian Intervention (H)
LL409 Introduction to the Legal System (H) (n/a 12/13)
LL453 International Human Rights
LL454 Human Rights of Women (n/a 12/13)
LL469 UK Human Rights Law (H)
MY451 Introduction to Quantitative Analysis (H)
MY452 Applied Regression Analysis (H)
SA488 Ethnicity, Race and Social Policy (H)
SA4L1 The Governance of Welfare: The Nation State and the European Union (H)
SA4L2 Contemporary Issues in European Social Policy (H)
SO424 Approaches to Human Rights
SO447 Topics in Race, Ethnicity and Postcolonial-Studies
(n/a 12/13)
SO461 Racial Formations of Modernity (H) (n/a 12/13)
Another course from Paper 2
Another course with the approval of the student’s academic adviser and programme convenor

4 GV499 Dissertation

MSc International Development and Humanitarian Emergencies

Full-year programme. Students take courses to the value of three full units and a dissertation as shown.

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Paper</th>
<th>Course number and title</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>1</td>
<td>DV442 Key Issues in Development Studies (H)</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>2</td>
<td>DV443 Humanitarian Consultancy Project (NB: this course incorporates DV428 Managing Humanitarianism (H))</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>
| 3     | Courses to the value of 1.5 units from the following: DV420 Complex Emergencies (H) (students are encouraged to take this course) DV407 Poverty (H) DV409 Economic Development Policy DV411 Population and Development: An Analytical Approach (H) DV413 Environmental Problems and Development Interventions (H) DV415 Global Environmental Governance (H) DV418 African Development (H) DV421 Emerging Health Threats and Development (H) DV423 Global Political Economy of Development, I (H) DV424 International Institutions and Late Development (H) DV425 Managing Globalization (H) (n/a 12/13) DV427 Public Management of Development (H) (n/a 12/13) DV429 Global Civil Society (H) DV432 China in Developmental Perspective (H) DV433 The Informal Economy and Non-State Governance (H) DV434 Human Security (H) DV437 Nationalism, Democracy and Development in Contemporary India (H) (n/a 12/13) DV475 Information and Communication Technologies and Socio-Economic Development DV483 Aspects of Information and Communication Technologies and Socio-Economic Development (H) ANA436 The Anthropology of Development (H) IR422 Conflict and Peace Studies (with permission) GV4C2 Globalisation, Conflict and Post-Totalitarianism (H) SAA4G6 Rural Development and Social Studies (with permission) (H) (n/a 12/13) Other relevant courses with permission of degree programme and course managers. 4 DV410 Research Design and Dissertation in Development Studies and Development Management, including: DV410.1 Social Research Methods in Developing Countries

MSc International Employment Relations and Human Resource Management

Full-year programme. Students must take two compulsory courses, optional courses to the value of two units and a dissertation as shown.

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Paper</th>
<th>Course number and title</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>1</td>
<td>ID432 International Employment Relations (H) and ID438 Globalisation and Human Resource Management (H)</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>
| 2 & 3 | Courses to the value of 2 units from the following: Human Resource Management and Organisational Behaviour ID410 Management of Human Resources: Strategies and Policy (H) ID420 Leadership in Organisations: Theory and Practice (H) ID423 The Dark Side of the Organisation (H) ID430 Organisational Behaviour (H) ID431 Organisational Change (H) ID433 Negotiation Analysis (H) ID434 Managing Diversity in Organisations (H) (n/a 12/13) International and Comparative Management ID411 International and Comparative Human Resource Management (H) (n/a 12/13) ID419 Cross Cultural Management (H) MG421 The Future of the Multinational Firm (H) MG423 Leading Entrepreneurial Organisations in Global Markets (H) (n/a 12/13) MN425 Business in the Global Environment (H) The Social, Legal and Political Context of Employment Relations and HRM DV425 Managing Globalization (H) EU443 European Models of Capitalism (H) EU425 Interest Representation and Economic Policy-Making in Europe (H) EU446 Patterns of Economic Integration in Europe: Institutions and Politics of EMU (H) GI418 Feminist Economics and Policy: An Introduction (H) GV4A5 International Migration and Immigration Management (H) ID421 Human Resource Management and Employment Regulation (H) (n/a 12/13) ID440 Corporate Social Responsibility and International Labour Standards (H) LL4H8 Employment Law (H) LL4H9 Human Rights in the Workplace (H) SO438 Sociology of Employment I: Social Relations at Work (H) SO439 Sociology of Employment II: Contemporary Management and Globalisation (H) A course from another programme, with permission of the teacher responsible and programme director 4 ID499 Dissertation (Students are advised to attend the Project Lectures as part of ID499)
MSc International Health Policy (Health Economics)

Full-year programme. Students must take courses to the value of five full units, including a full unit dissertation as shown.

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Paper</th>
<th>Course number and title</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>1</td>
<td>SA407 Financing Health Care (H)</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>2</td>
<td>SA408 Health Economics (H)</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>
| 3     | Two of the following:
| 4     | Courses to the value of two full units from the following:
| 5     | SA4A6 Dissertation: MSc International Health Policy and MSc International Health Policy (Health Economics) |

MSc International Management

Full-year programme. Students must take four half unit courses at LSE, courses to the value of one full unit at a school/university abroad, and a 10,000 word dissertation as shown.

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Paper</th>
<th>Course number and title</th>
</tr>
</thead>
</table>
| 1     | One of:
| 2     | MN429 The World Trading System (H) |
| 3     | Courses to the value of 1.5 units from:
| 4     | MN429 The World Trading System (H) (if not already taken under paper 1)
| 5     | MN424 Term Abroad. Courses to the value of one unit to be taken at one of the IMEX partner schools
| 6     | MN499 Dissertation |

MSc International Health Policy

Full-year programme. Students must take courses to the value of five full units, including a full unit dissertation, as shown.

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Paper</th>
<th>Course number and title</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>1</td>
<td>SA407 Financing Health Care (H)</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>2</td>
<td>SA408 Health Economics (H)</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>
| 3     | At least two of the following three courses:
| 4     | Courses to the value of two full units from the following:
| 5     | SA4A6 Dissertation: MSc International Health Policy and MSc International Health Policy (Health Economics) |

MSc International Political Economy (Research)

Full-year programme. Students must take three compulsory courses and a dissertation as shown. All students on this programme are required to take a test at the beginning of October.

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Paper</th>
<th>Course number and title</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>1</td>
<td>IR450 International Political Economy</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>2</td>
<td>IR460 Comparative Political Economy</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>3</td>
<td>MY4M1 Foundations of Social Research 1 or MY4M2 Foundations of Social Research 2</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>4</td>
<td>IR499 Dissertation</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

MSc International Political Economy

Full-year programme. Students must take one compulsory course, optional courses to the value of two full units and a dissertation as shown. All students on this programme are required to take a test at the beginning of October.

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Paper</th>
<th>Course number and title</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>1</td>
<td>IR450 International Political Economy</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>
| 2 & 3 | Courses to the value of two full units from:
| 4     | IR451 Politics of Money in the World Economy |
MSc International Relations (Research)

Full-year programme. Students must take two compulsory courses, optional courses to the value of two full units and a dissertation. All students on this programme are required to take a test at the beginning of October.

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Paper</th>
<th>Course number and title</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>1</td>
<td>IR436 Theories of International Relations</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>2</td>
<td>MY4M1 Foundations of Social Research 1 or MY4M2 Foundations of Social Research 2</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>3</td>
<td>One of the following:</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td>DV415 Global Environmental Governance (H)</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td>EU426 The West: Identity and Interests (H) (n/a 12/13)</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td>EU431 European Integration from a Global Perspective (H)</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td>EU435 History and Theory of European Integration (H)</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td>EU437 Europe Beyond Modernity (H)</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td>EU438 Turkey: Political Economy and European Integration (H)</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td>GI413 Gender and Militarisation (H)</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td>GV479 Nationalism</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td>IR407 International Political Economy of the Environment</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td>IR411 Foreign Policy Analysis III</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td>IR412 International Institutions</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td>IR415 Strategic Aspects of International Relations</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td>IR416 The EU in the World</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td>IR418 International Politics: Asia and the Pacific</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td>IR419 The International Relations of the Middle East</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td>IR422 Conflict and Peace Studies</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td>IR431 European Union Policy-Making in a Global Context (H)</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td>IR433 The International Politics of EU Enlargement (H)</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td>IR434 European Defence and Security (H)</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td>IR437 Postcolonial Perspectives in International Relations (H)</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td>IR438 Theory of International Society: English School Texts (H)</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td>IR445 Chinese Foreign and Security Policy (n/a 12/13)</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td>IR446 Chinese Foreign and Security Policy (H)</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td>IR461 Islam in International Relations: From Al-Andalus to Afghanistan</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td>IR462 Introduction to International Political Theory (H)</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td>IR463 The International Political Theory of Humanitarian Intervention (H)</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td>IR464 The Politics of International Law (H) (n/a 12/13)</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td>IR465 The International Politics of Culture and Religion</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td>IR466 Genocide (H) (n/a 12/13)</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td>IR481 Europe, the US and Arab-Israeli Relations (H) (n/a 12/13)</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td>IR482 Russia and Eurasia: Foreign and Security Policies</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td>LL4A6 Climate Change and International Law (H)</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>4</td>
<td>Notes § means by special permission only</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

MSc International Relations Theory

Full year programme. Students will take three papers to the value of three full-unit and write a 10,000 word dissertation. All students on this programme are required to take a test at the beginning of October.

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Paper</th>
<th>Course number and title</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>1</td>
<td>IR436 Theories of International Relations</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>2</td>
<td>A course/courses to the value of one full-unit from the following:</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td>IR415 Strategic Aspects of International Relations</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td>IR422 Conflict and Peace Studies</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td>IR437 Postcolonial Perspectives in International Relations (H)</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td>IR438 Theory of International Society: English School Texts (H)</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td>IR462 Introduction to International Political Theory (H)</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td>IR463 The International Political Theory of Humanitarian Intervention (H)</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td>IR464 The Politics of International Law (H)</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>4</td>
<td>Notes § means by special permission only</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>
MSc Law, Anthropology and Society

Paper Course number and title

1 LL4E8 Law in Society: A Joint Course in Law and Anthropology

2 & 3 Courses to the value of two full units selected from the following:

- AN402 The Anthropology of Religion
- AN404 Anthropology: Theory and Ethnography
- AN405 The Anthropology of Kinship, Sex and Gender
- AN421 The Anthropology of Industrialisation and Industrial Life (H) (n/a 12/13)
- AN439 Anthropology of Human Rights (H)
- AN451 Anthropology of Politics (H)
- AN456 Anthropology of Economy (1): Production and Exchange (H)
- AN457 Anthropology of Economy (2): Development, Transformation and Globalisation (H)
- AN458 Children and Youth in Contemporary Ethnography (H) (n/a 12/13)
- AN464 Anthropology of a Selected Region (H) (n/a 12/13)
- AN468 The Anthropology of Schooling (H) (n/a 12/13)
- LL400 Jurisprudence and Legal Theory
- LL402 Alternative Dispute Resolution
- LL416 Regulating New Medical Technologies (n/a/12/13)
- LL465 Law and Social Theory
- LL474 Modern Legal History
- LL481 Taxation of Corporate Transactions
- LL494 Value Added Tax
- LL495 Corporate and Financial Crime
- LL4C1 Innovation, Technology and Patent Law
- LL4D1 Trademark Law
- LL4D2 Consumer Protection Law
- LL4D3 Property and Contract Law
- LL4D4 Constitutional Law
- LL4D5 Employment Law (H)
- LL4D7 Law of Mergers, Acquisitions and Restructurings in Europe and the United States
- LL4D8 Law in the Workplace (H)
- LL4F2 Human Rights in the Workplace (H)
- LL4F3 Commercial Law (H)
- LL4F4 Contract Law (H)
- LL4F5 Intellectual Property Law
- LL4F6 Intellectual Property in the Workplace (H)
- LL4F7 Intellectual Property and Information (H)
- LL4F8 Intellectual Property and Information (H)
- LL4F9 Intellectual Property and Information (H)
- LL4G1 Commercial Law (H)
- LL4G2 Commercial Law (H)
- LL4G3 Commercial Law (H)
- LL4G4 Commercial Law (H)
- LL4G5 Commercial Law (H)
- LL4G6 Commercial Law (H)
- LL4G7 Commercial Law (H)
- LL4G8 Commercial Law (H)
- LL4G9 Commercial Law (H)
- LL4H1 International Human Rights (H)
- LL4H2 International Human Rights (H)
- LL4H3 International Human Rights (H)
- LL4H4 International Human Rights (H)
- LL4H5 International Human Rights (H)
- LL4H6 International Human Rights (H)
- LL4H7 International Human Rights (H)
- LL4H8 International Human Rights (H)
- LL4H9 International Human Rights (H)
- LL4I1 International Human Rights (H)
- LL4I2 International Human Rights (H)
- LL4I3 International Human Rights (H)
- LL4I4 International Human Rights (H)
- LL4I5 International Human Rights (H)
- LL4I6 International Human Rights (H)
- LL4I7 International Human Rights (H)
- LL4I8 International Human Rights (H)
- LL4I9 International Human Rights (H)
- LL4I10 International Human Rights (H)
- LL4I11 International Human Rights (H)
- LL4I12 International Human Rights (H)
- LL4I13 International Human Rights (H)
- LL4I14 International Human Rights (H)
- LL4I15 International Human Rights (H)
- LL4I16 International Human Rights (H)
- LL4I17 International Human Rights (H)
- LL4I18 International Human Rights (H)
- LL4I19 International Human Rights (H)
- LL4I20 International Human Rights (H)
- LL4I21 International Human Rights (H)
- LL4I22 International Human Rights (H)
- LL4I23 International Human Rights (H)
- LL4I24 International Human Rights (H)
- LL4I25 International Human Rights (H)
- LL4I26 International Human Rights (H)
- LL4I27 International Human Rights (H)
- LL4I28 International Human Rights (H)
- LL4I29 International Human Rights (H)
- LL4I30 International Human Rights (H)
- LL4I31 International Human Rights (H)
- LL4I32 International Human Rights (H)
- LL4I33 International Human Rights (H)
- LL4I34 International Human Rights (H)
- LL4I35 International Human Rights (H)
- LL4I36 International Human Rights (H)
- LL4I37 International Human Rights (H)
- LL4I38 International Human Rights (H)
- LL4I39 International Human Rights (H)
- LL4I40 International Human Rights (H)
- LL4I41 International Human Rights (H)
- LL4I42 International Human Rights (H)
- LL4I43 International Human Rights (H)
- LL4I44 International Human Rights (H)
- LL4I45 International Human Rights (H)
- LL4I46 International Human Rights (H)
- LL4I47 International Human Rights (H)
- LL4I48 International Human Rights (H)
- LL4I49 International Human Rights (H)
- LL4I50 International Human Rights (H)
- LL4I51 International Human Rights (H)
- LL4I52 International Human Rights (H)
- LL4I53 International Human Rights (H)
- LL4I54 International Human Rights (H)
- LL4I55 International Human Rights (H)
- LL4I56 International Human Rights (H)
- LL4I57 International Human Rights (H)
- LL4I58 International Human Rights (H)
- LL4I59 International Human Rights (H)
- LL4I60 International Human Rights (H)
- LL4I61 International Human Rights (H)
- LL4I62 International Human Rights (H)
- LL4I63 International Human Rights (H)
- LL4I64 International Human Rights (H)
- LL4I65 International Human Rights (H)
- LL4I66 International Human Rights (H)
- LL4I67 International Human Rights (H)
- LL4I68 International Human Rights (H)
- LL4I69 International Human Rights (H)
- LL4I70 International Human Rights (H)
- LL4I71 International Human Rights (H)
- LL4I72 International Human Rights (H)
- LL4I73 International Human Rights (H)
- LL4I74 International Human Rights (H)
- LL4I75 International Human Rights (H)
- LL4I76 International Human Rights (H)
- LL4I77 International Human Rights (H)
- LL4I78 International Human Rights (H)
- LL4I79 International Human Rights (H)
- LL4I80 International Human Rights (H)
- LL4I81 International Human Rights (H)
- LL4I82 International Human Rights (H)
- LL4I83 International Human Rights (H)
- LL4I84 International Human Rights (H)
- LL4I85 International Human Rights (H)
- LL4I86 International Human Rights (H)
- LL4I87 International Human Rights (H)
- LL4I88 International Human Rights (H)
- LL4I89 International Human Rights (H)
- LL4I90 International Human Rights (H)
- LL4I91 International Human Rights (H)
- LL4I92 International Human Rights (H)
- LL4I93 International Human Rights (H)
- LL4I94 International Human Rights (H)
- LL4I95 International Human Rights (H)
- LL4I96 International Human Rights (H)
- LL4I97 International Human Rights (H)
- LL4I98 International Human Rights (H)
- LL4I99 International Human Rights (H)
- LL4I100 International Human Rights (H)
- LL4I101 International Human Rights (H)
- LL4I102 International Human Rights (H)
- LL4I103 International Human Rights (H)
- LL4I104 International Human Rights (H)
- LL4I105 International Human Rights (H)
- LL4I106 International Human Rights (H)
- LL4I107 International Human Rights (H)
- LL4I108 International Human Rights (H)
- LL4I109 International Human Rights (H)
- LL4I110 International Human Rights (H)
- LL4I111 International Human Rights (H)
- LL4I112 International Human Rights (H)
- LL4I113 International Human Rights (H)
- LL4I114 International Human Rights (H)
- LL4I115 International Human Rights (H)
- LL4I116 International Human Rights (H)
- LL4I117 International Human Rights (H)
- LL4I118 International Human Rights (H)
- LL4I119 International Human Rights (H)
- LL4I120 International Human Rights (H)
- LL4I121 International Human Rights (H)
- LL4I122 International Human Rights (H)
- LL4I123 International Human Rights (H)
- LL4I124 International Human Rights (H)
- LL4I125 International Human Rights (H)
- LL4I126 International Human Rights (H)
- LL4I127 International Human Rights (H)
- LL4I128 International Human Rights (H)
- LL4I129 International Human Rights (H)
- LL4I130 International Human Rights (H)
- LL4I131 International Human Rights (H)
- LL4I132 International Human Rights (H)
- LL4I133 International Human Rights (H)
- LL4I134 International Human Rights (H)
- LL4I135 International Human Rights (H)
- LL4I136 International Human Rights (H)
- LL4I137 International Human Rights (H)
- LL4I138 International Human Rights (H)
- LL4I139 International Human Rights (H)
- LL4I140 International Human Rights (H)
- LL4I141 International Human Rights (H)
- LL4I142 International Human Rights (H)
- LL4I143 International Human Rights (H)
- LL4I144 International Human Rights (H)
- LL4I145 International Human Rights (H)
- LL4I146 International Human Rights (H)
- LL4I147 International Human Rights (H)
- LL4I148 International Human Rights (H)
- LL4I149 International Human Rights (H)
- LL4I150 International Human Rights (H)
- LL4I151 International Human Rights (H)
- LL4I152 International Human Rights (H)
- LL4I153 International Human Rights (H)
- LL4I154 International Human Rights (H)
- LL4I155 International Human Rights (H)
- LL4I156 International Human Rights (H)
- LL4I157 International Human Rights (H)
- LL4I158 International Human Rights (H)
- LL4I159 International Human Rights (H)
- LL4I160 International Human Rights (H)
- LL4I161 International Human Rights (H)
- LL4I162 International Human Rights (H)
- LL4I163 International Human Rights (H)
- LL4I164 International Human Rights (H)
LLM

The general regulations for MA and MSc Degrees and the Code of Practice for Taught Masters Programmes on the online Calendar apply to the LLM programme except in the event of inconsistency when these regulations for the LLM take priority.

In order to obtain the degree, students must complete courses (see Course list below) to the value of four full units, which may comprise a combination of full and/or half courses. Students can complete the requirements either in one full-year programme, or as a part-time student in two years, or by extended part-time study within a maximum of six years.

Courses should be chosen from the list below. Subject to availability and with the permission of the Programme Director of the LLM, one complementary course from other Master’s courses at the School may be selected to replace one from the list below. Exceptionally, and subject to the same conditions, two complementary courses can be selected to replace two courses from the list below.

All students are required to write a dissertation, an elective essay, or an extended essay (each as described in the LLM Handbook) as the assessment for one of their courses. To meet this requirement students may select a full unit course for which the nominated assessment is a full unit dissertation or select a half or full unit course for which the nominated assessment is in whole (half unit course) or in part (full unit course) an extended essay. Alternatively students may elect to substitute a dissertation (full unit course) or an elective essay (half unit course) for the nominated assessment for one of their LLM courses. In all cases, the requirements of the LLM Handbook apply.

Part-time students must satisfy the same requirements as those applicable to full-time students. Part-time students must take courses to the value of two units in their first year and courses to the value of two units in their second year.

Extended part-time students must satisfy the same requirements as those applicable to full-time students. Students must take courses to the value of one unit in the first year and obtain a certificate on successful completion. Students who achieve certificates for successful completion of four units within a period of six years will satisfy the requirements for the degree.

Examination

Students will be examined in courses to the total value of four full units.

For full unit courses assessed wholly by dissertation, the dissertation must be submitted by the August deadline and must not exceed 15,000 words. The dissertation must provide evidence of original work or a capacity for critical analysis.

For courses examined in whole (half unit course) or in part (full unit course) by an extended essay or in whole (half unit course) by an elective essay, the essay must not exceed 8,000 words and must be submitted by the August deadline. The essay must provide evidence of original work or a capacity for critical analysis.

For courses examined by another form of summative essay(s), the essay(s) must be submitted by the deadline specified in the regulations for the particular course.

Students who submit a dissertation or an assessed essay as part of the LLM examination will be required, at the time of submission, to sign a statement on plagiarism.

An oral examination may be held if the examiners so determine.

For courses assessed by written examination, the examination will normally be held in May or June. Questions may be set on recent legislation and current proposals for law reform within the scope of the syllabus. No materials may be brought into the examination room except in accordance with the regulations for the particular course.

Degree certificate

Students who successfully complete the LLM examination may elect to have one of the following titles attached to their degree certificate if, in the opinion of the Programme Director of the LLM, the title reflects the course of study followed by the student. The possible titles are listed below with the courses attached to those areas listed with them. If you do not elect to have one of the titles below attached to your LLM your degree certificate will state LLM.

Courses

Banking Law and Financial Regulation

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Course Code</th>
<th>Course Title</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>LL425</td>
<td>European Monetary and Financial Services Law</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>LL437</td>
<td>Law of Corporate Finance (Dissertation code LL4Q8)</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>LL446</td>
<td>Regulation: Legal and Political Aspects (Dissertation code LL4R6)</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>LL484</td>
<td>Regulation of Financial Markets (Dissertation code LL4V3)</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>LL4AS</td>
<td>Investment Funds Law in Europe (H) (Extended essay code LL4U2)</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>LL439</td>
<td>Corporate and Financial Crime (Dissertation code LL4W3)</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>LL4C9</td>
<td>Project Finance and Public Private Partnerships (H) (Extended essay code LL4Y5)</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>LL4D5</td>
<td>Legal Risk in the Financial Markets (H) (Extended essay code LL4X5)</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>LL4F1</td>
<td>Secured Financing in Commercial Transactions (H) (Dissertation code LL4Q4)</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>LL4F2</td>
<td>The Law and Practice of International Finance (H) (Dissertation code LL4U5)</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>LL4G8</td>
<td>Law of Corporate Finance A (H) (Extended essay code LL4S8)</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>LL4G9</td>
<td>European Monetary and Banking Law (H) (Extended essay code LL4S9)</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>LL4H4</td>
<td>Financial Law (Extended essay code LL4X4) (H)</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>LL4K2</td>
<td>Law of International Economic and Financial Sanctions (H) (Extended essay code LL4I2)</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>LL4K3</td>
<td>Secured Credit in English, Comparative and International Law (Dissertation code LL4I3) (n/a 12/13)</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>LL4K8</td>
<td>Law of Corporate Finance B (H) (Extended essay code LL4I4) (n/a 12/13)</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>LL4K9</td>
<td>European Capital Markets Law (H) (Extended essay code LL4I9)</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>LL4L2</td>
<td>Banking Law (H) (Extended essay code LL4ZJ)</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

Corporate and/or Commercial Law

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Course Code</th>
<th>Course Title</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>LL402</td>
<td>Alternative Dispute Resolution (Dissertation code LL4N2)</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>LL403</td>
<td>Copyright and Related Rights (Dissertation code LL4N3)</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>LL425</td>
<td>European Monetary and Financial Services Law</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>LL437</td>
<td>Law of Corporate Finance (Dissertation code LL4Q8)</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>LL439</td>
<td>International and Comparative Commercial Arbitration (Dissertation code LL4Q5)</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>LL435</td>
<td>Corporate Governance (Dissertation code LL4Q7)</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>LL437</td>
<td>Law of Corporate Finance (Dissertation code LL4Q8)</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>LL439</td>
<td>Insolvency Law: Principles and Policy (Dissertation code LL4R1)</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>LL446</td>
<td>Regulation: Legal and Political Aspects (Dissertation code LL4R6)</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>LL491</td>
<td>Taxation of Corporate Transactions (Dissertation code LL4V4)</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>LL489</td>
<td>Corporate and Financial Crime (Dissertation code LL4W3)</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>LL4C5</td>
<td>Fundamentals of International Commercial Arbitration (H) (Extended essay code LL4Y1)</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>LL4C6</td>
<td>Advanced Issues of International Commercial Arbitration (H) (Extended essay code LL4Y2)</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>LL4C9</td>
<td>Project Finance and Public Private Partnerships (H) (Extended essay code LL4Y5)</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>LL4D5</td>
<td>Legal Risk in the Financial Markets (H) (Extended essay code LL4X5)</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>LL4D7</td>
<td>Law of Mergers, Acquisitions and Restructurings in Europe and the United States (Dissertation code LL4X7)</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>LL4E5</td>
<td>International Sale of Goods (Dissertation code LL4M5) (n/a 12/13)</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>LL4E7</td>
<td>Investment Treaty Law (H) (Dissertation code LL4M7)</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>LL4F1</td>
<td>Secured Financing in Commercial Transactions (H) (Dissertation code LL4Q4)</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>LL4F2</td>
<td>The Law and Practice of International Finance (H) (Extended essay code LL4U5)</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>
LL4F3 Mergers, Acquisitions and Restructuring in Europe (H) (Extended essay code LL4M8)
LL4F4 Takeover Regulation in the UK and the US (H) (Extended essay code LL4M9)
LL4G6 International Commodity Sales Law (H) (Extended essay code LL4S6)
LL4G8 Law of Corporate Finance A (H) (Extended essay code LL4S8)
LL4G9 European Monetary and Banking Law (H) (Extended essay code LL4S9) (n/a 12/13)
LL4H4 Financial Law (Extended essay code LL4X4) (H)
LL4K2 Law of International Economic and Financial Sanctions (H) (Extended essay code LL4I2)
LL4K3 Secured Credit in English, Comparative and International Law (Dissertation code LL4I3) (n/a 12/13)
LL4K5 International Commercial Contracts: General Principles (H) (Extended essay code LL4JS)
LL4K6 International Uniform Sales Law (H) (Extended essay code LL4J6) (n/a 12/13)
LL4K8 Law of Corporate Finance B (H) (Extended essay code LL4J8) (n/a 12/13)
LL4K9 European Capital Markets Law (H) (Extended essay code LL4J9)
LL4S2 E-Commerce Law (H) (n/a 12/13)
LL4Z1 Business Taxation (H) (Dissertation code LL4ZA)
LL4Z5 EU State Aid Law (H) (Extended essay code LL4ZE)

Corporate and Securities Law

LL425 European Monetary and Financial Services Law (Dissertation code LL4Q1) (n/a 12/13)
LL437 Law of Corporate Finance (Dissertation code LL4Q8) (n/a 12/13)
LL4B4 Regulation of Financial Markets (Dissertation code LL4V3)
LL4A5 Investment Funds Law in Europe (H) (Extended essay code LL4U2)
LL4B9 Corporate and Financial Crime (Dissertation code LL4W3)
LL4C9 Project Finance and Public Private Partnerships (H)
(Extended essay code LL4Y5)
LL4D5 Legal Risk in the Financial Markets (H) (Extended essay code LL4X5)
LL4D7 Law of Mergers, Acquisitions and Restructurings in Europe and the United States (Dissertation code LL4X7)
LL4F2 The Law and Practice of International Finance (H) (Extended essay code LL4U5)
LL4F3 Mergers, Acquisitions and Restructuring in Europe (H) (Extended essay code LL4U8)
LL4F4 Takeover Regulation in the UK and the US (H) (Extended essay code LL4M9)
LL4G8 Law of Corporate Finance A (H) (Extended essay code LL4S8)
LL4G9 European Monetary and Banking Law (H) (Extended essay code LL4S9) (n/a 12/13)
LL4H4 Financial Law (Extended essay code LL4X4) (H)
LL4K2 Law of International Economic and Financial Sanctions (H) (Extended essay code LL4I2)
LL4K3 Secured Credit in English, Comparative and International Law (Dissertation code LL4I3) (n/a 12/13)
LL4K8 Law of Corporate Finance B (H) (Extended essay code LL4J8) (n/a 12/13)
LL4K9 European Capital Markets Law (H) (Extended essay code LL4J9)

Criminology and Criminal Justice

LL445 International Criminal Law (Dissertation code LL4R5)
LL446 Regulation: Legal and Political Aspects (Dissertation code LL4R6)
LL458 Mental Health Law (Dissertation code LL4T5)
LL478 Policing and Police Powers (Dissertation code LL4V1)
LL499 Corporate and Financial Crime (Dissertation code LL4W3)
LL4K2 Law of International Economic and Financial Sanctions (H) (Extended essay code LL4S7)
LL4K7 Mental Health Law: The Criminal Context (H) (Extended essay code LL4J2)
LL4Z8 Theories of Criminal Law and Criminal Justice (H) (Extended essay code LL4ZH) (n/a 12/13)
SA403 Criminal Justice Policy

European Law

EU420 European Union Law and Government (H)
EU436 Law and Governance of the Single European Market
EU418 European Administrative Law (Dissertation code LL4P5) (n/a 12/13)
EU425 European Monetary and Financial Services Law (Dissertation code LL4Q1) (n/a 12/13)
EU430 Competition Law (Dissertation code LL4Q3)
EU42B Advanced Issues of European Union Law (Dissertation code LL4V9)
EU4D6 International and European Environmental Law (Dissertation code LL4X6)
EU4D7 Law of Mergers, Acquisitions and Restructurings in Europe and the United States (Dissertation code LL4X7)
LL4F3 Mergers, Acquisitions and Restructuring in Europe (H) (Extended essay code LL4M8)
LL4G9 European Monetary and Banking Law (H) (Extended essay code LL4S9)
LL4H8 Employment Law (H) (Extended essay code LL4H5)
LL4H9 Human Rights in the Workplace (H)
LL4K9 European Capital Markets Law (H) (Extended essay code LL4J9)
LL4Z4 Value Added Tax in the European Context (H) (Dissertation code LL4ZD)
LL4Z5 EU State Aid Law (H) (Extended essay code LL4ZE)

Human Rights Law

LL400 Jurisprudence and Legal Theory (Dissertation code LL4N1)
LL409 Human Rights in the Developing World (Dissertation code LL4N7) (n/a 12/13)
LL416 Regulating New Medical Technologies (Dissertation only) (n/a 12/13)
LL444 Constitutional Theory (Dissertation code LL4R4) (n/a 12/13)
LL445 International Criminal Law (Dissertation code LL4R5)
LL452 The International Law of Armed Conflict and the Use of Force (Dissertation code LL4T1)
LL453 International Human Rights (Dissertation code LL4T2)
LL454 Human Rights of Women (Dissertation code LL4T3) (n/a 12/13)
LL460 International Law and the Protection of Refugees, Displaced Persons and Migrants (Dissertation code LL4T7)
LL465 Law and Social Theory (Dissertation code LL4U3)
LL468 European Human Rights Law (H) (Extended essay code LL4U6)
LL469 UK Human Rights Law (H) (Extended essay code LL4U7)
LL475 Terrorism and the Rule of Law (H) (Extended essay code LL4U9)
LL4A6 Climate Change and International Law (H) (Extended essay code LL4A7)
LL4A8 International Law and the Use of Force (H) (Extended essay code LL4A3)
LL4A9 Law in War (H) (Extended essay code LL4A4)
LL4B2 Advanced Issues of European Union Law (Dissertation code LL4V9)
LL4B6 European and UK Human Rights Law (Dissertation code LL4V8)
LL4C2 World Poverty and Human Rights (H) (Extended essay code LL4W9)
LL4F7 Comparative Constitutional Law (Dissertation code LL4Y8)
LL4H1 Constitutional Theory (H)
LL4H9 Human Rights in the Workplace (H)
LL4K4 The International Law of Self-Determination (H)
LL4L4 Law and the Holocaust (H)
LL4L6 Theory of Human Rights Law (H) (Extended essay code L4S3) LL4S4) Digital Rights, Privacy and Security (H) (Extended essay code LL4S5)
L426) Comparative Constitutional Law: Institutions (H) (Extended essay code LL4Z5)
L427) Comparative Constitutional Law: Rights (H) (Extended essay code LL4Z6)
SO424) Approaches to Human Rights

Information Technology, Media and Communications Law
L403) Copyright and Related Rights (Dissertation code LL4N3)
L406) Introduction to Regulation (H) (Extended essay code LL4N5)
L407) Media and Communications Regulation (H)
L446) Regulation: Legal and Political Aspects (Dissertation code LL4R6)
L41) Innovation, Technology and Patent Law (Dissertation code LL4W2)
L4H2) Media Law: Regulating Publication (H)
L4H3) Media Law: Regulating News-gathering (H)
L451) Cyberlaw (H)
L452) E-Commerce Law (H) (n/a 12/13)
L454) Digital Rights, Privacy and Security (H) (Extended essay code LL4S5)
L455) Piracy, Content and Ownership in the Information Society (H) (Extended essay code LL4S6) (n/a 12/13)

Intellectual Property Law
L403) Copyright and Related Rights (Dissertation code LL4N3)
L406) Introduction to Regulation (H) (Extended essay code LL4N5)
L407) Media and Communications Regulation (H)
L446) Regulation: Legal and Political Aspects (Dissertation code LL4R6)
L41) Innovation, Technology and Patent Law (Dissertation code LL4W2)
L4C8) Current Issues in Intellectual and Cultural Property Law (Dissertation code LL4Y4)
L4D1) Trademark Law (Dissertation code LL4W5)
L4D3) Cultural Property and Heritage Law (Dissertation code LL4W4)
L4H2) Media Law: Regulating Publication (H)
L4H3) Media Law: Regulating News-gathering (H)
L451) Cyberlaw (H)
L455) Piracy, Content and Ownership in the Information Society (H) (Extended essay code LL4S5) (n/a 12/13)

International Business Law
L402) Alternative Dispute Resolution (Dissertation code LL4N2)
L425) European Monetary and Financial Services Law (Dissertation code LL4Q1) (n/a 12/13)
L430) Competition Law (Dissertation code LL4Q3)
L433) International and Comparative Commercial Arbitration (Dissertation code LL4Q5) (n/a 12/13)
L442) International Business Transactions I: Litigation (Dissertation code LL4R2)
L443) International Business Transactions II: Substantive Law (Dissertation code LL4R3)
L447) International Economic Law (Dissertation code LL4R7) (n/a 12/13)
L455) International Tax Systems (Dissertation code LL4T4)
L484) Regulation of Financial Markets (Dissertation code LL4V3)
L481) International Economic Law (H) (Dissertation code LL4X2)
L489) Corporate and Financial Crime (Dissertation code LL4W3)
L4C5) Fundamentals of International Commercial Arbitration (H) (Extended essay code LL4Y1)
L4C6) Advanced Issues of International Commercial Arbitration (H) (Extended essay code LL4Y2)
L4C9) Project Finance and Public Private Partnerships (H) (Extended essay code LL4Y5) L4D5) Legal Risk in the Financial Markets (H) (Extended essay code LL4X5)

Labour Law
L432) Varieties of Employment Relations (H)
L469) Human Rights Law: The Human Rights Act (H) (Extended essay code LL4U7)
L486) European and UK Human Rights Law (Dissertation code LL4Y8)
L4H8) Employment Law (H) (Extended essay code LL4H5)
L4H9) Human Rights in the Workplace (H)

Legal Theory
L400) Jurisprudence and Legal Theory (Dissertation code LL4N1)
L402) Alternative Dispute Resolution (Dissertation code LL4N2)
L416) Regulating New Medical Technologies (Dissertation only) (n/a 12/13)
L423) Rethinking International Law (Dissertation code LL4P9)
L444) Constitutional Theory (Dissertation code LL4R4) (n/a 12/13)
L446) Regulation: Legal and Political Aspects (Dissertation code LL4W6)
L465) Law and Social Theory (Dissertation code LL4U3)
L468) European Human Rights Law (H) (Extended essay code LL4U6)
L474) Modern Legal History
L475) Terrorism and the Rule of Law (H) (Extended essay code LL4U9)
L4A6) Climate Change and International Law (H) (Extended essay code LL4A7)
L4B2) Advanced Issues of European Union Law (Dissertation code LL4V9) L4E8) Law in Society: a Joint Course in Law and Anthropology
L47) Comparative Constitutional Law (Dissertation code LL4Y8)
L4H1) Constitutional Theory (H)
L4L) Law and the Holocaust (H)
L45) Socio-legal Theory and Practice (H)
L46) Theory of Human Rights Law (H) (Extended essay code LL4U5) (n/a 12/13)
L4L1) Cyberlaw (H)
L426) Comparative Constitutional Law: Institutions (H) (Extended essay code LL4Z5)
L4Z7) Comparative Constitutional Law: Rights (H) (Extended essay code LL4Z6)
L4Z8) Theories of Criminal Law and Criminal Justice (H)
Public International Law

LL409 Human Rights in the Developing World (Dissertation code LL4N7) (n/a 12/13)
LL423 Rethinking International Law (Dissertation code LL4P9)
LL445 International Criminal Law (Dissertation code LL4R5)
LL447 International Economic Law (Dissertation code LL4R7) (n/a 12/13)
LL452 The International Law of Armed Conflict and the Use of Force (Dissertation code LL4T1)
LL453 International Human Rights (Dissertation code LL4T2)
LL454 Human Rights of Women (Dissertation code LL4T3) (n/a 12/13)
LL460 International Law and the Protection of Refugees, Displaced Persons and Migrants (Dissertation code LL4T7)
LL475 Terrorism and the Rule of Law (H) (Extended essay code LL4U9)
LL4A6 Climate Change and International Law (H) (Extended essay code LL4A7)
LL4A8 International Law and the Use of Force (H) (Extended essay code LL4A3)
LL4A9 Law in War (H) (Extended essay code LL4A4)
LL4B1 International Economic Law (H) (Dissertation code LL4X2)
LL4C2 World Poverty and Human Rights (H) (Extended essay code LL4W9)
LL4D6 International and European Environmental Law (Dissertation code LL4X6)
LL4E6 International Dispute Resolution: Courts and Tribunals (H) (Dissertation code LL4M6)
LL4E7 Investment Treaty Law (H) (Dissertation code LL4M7)
LL4F5 International Dispute Resolution (Dissertation code LL4Y6) (n/a 12/13)
LL4F6 International Dispute Resolution: Non-Adjudicatory Processes (H) (Dissertation code LL4Y7) (n/a 12/13)
LL4K2 Law of International Economic and Financial Sanctions (H) (Extended essay code LL4I2)
LL4K4 The International Law of Self-Determination (H)

Public Law

EU420 European Union Law and Government (H)
LL400 Jurisprudence and Legal Theory (Dissertation code LL4N1)
LL406 Introduction to Regulation (H) (Extended essay code LL4N5)
LL418 European Administrative Law (Dissertation code LL4P5) (n/a 12/13)
LL444 Constitutional Theory (Dissertation code LL4R4) (n/a 12/13)
LL446 Regulation: Legal and Political Aspects (Dissertation code LL4R6)
LL453 International Human Rights (Dissertation code LL4T2)
LL458 Mental Health Law (Dissertation code LL4T5)
LL468 European Human Rights Law (H) (Extended essay code LL4U6)
LL469 UK Human Rights Law (H) (Extended essay code LL4U7)
LL475 Terrorism and the Rule of Law (H) (Extended essay code LL4U9)
LL478 Policing and Police Powers (Dissertation code LL4V9)
LL482 Advanced Issues of European Union Law (Dissertation code LL4V9)
LL4D6 International and European Environmental Law (Dissertation code LL4X6)
LL4F7 Comparative Constitutional Law (Dissertation code LL4Y8)
LL4G7 Mental Health Law: The Civil Context (H) (Extended essay code LL457)
LL4H1 Constitutional Theory (H)
LL4H2 Media Law: Regulating Publication (H)
LL4H3 Media Law: Regulating Newspublishing (H)
LL4K7 Mental Health Law: The Criminal Context (H) (Extended essay code LL4T7)
LL4Z2 Principles of Taxation (H) (Dissertation code LL4ZB)
LL4Z6 Comparative Constitutional Law: Institutions (H) (Extended essay code LL4ZF)

Taxation

EC426 Public Economics
LL455 International Tax Systems (Dissertation code LL4T4)
LL479 Issues in Taxation
LL491 Taxation of Corporate Transactions (Dissertation code LL4V4)
LL494 Value Added Tax (Dissertation code LL4V7)
LL4Z1 Business Taxation (H) (Dissertation code LL4ZA)
LL4Z2 Principles of Taxation (H) (Dissertation code LL4ZB)
LL4Z3 Consumption Taxes (H) (Dissertation code LL4ZC)
LL4Z4 Value Added Tax in the European Context (H) (Dissertation code LL4ZD)

Further options

LL490 Self-standing Full Unit Dissertation, if permitted *
LL497 LLM half unit Self-standing Elective Essay, if permitted (H)*
LL4A1 LLM Subject Area Specialist Research Seminars ‡
LL4A2 LLM Dissertation Seminars §
LL4L9 LLM Full Unit Dissertation (attached to a half unit course) (n/a 12/13)

Notes *

The opportunity to write a self-standing full unit dissertation or self-standing half unit elective essay is subject to the availability of a supervisor and the permission of the Programme Director of the LLM.

† Not assessed; part of LSE’s extra curricular intellectual development.

§ Not assessed; designed to develop relevant skills.

This programme, its constituent courses and lectures qualify as Continuing Professional Development (CPD) and are accredited by the Law Society and Bar Council.

Further information is available from the Department of Law www.lse.ac.uk/collections/law/programmes/lm/lm-prospective-b.htm.

MSc Local Economic Development

Full-year programme. Students must take courses to the value of three full units as shown and a dissertation.

Paper Course number and title

1  FY404 Topics in Local Economic Development (H)
2  FY407 Globalisation, Regional Development and Policy or FY408 Local Economic Development and Policy
3  Courses to the value of 1.5 units from the following list: Students will normally choose a further course from those listed under paper 2 (above) or any of the related half-unit courses (FY409 or FY413 - half units of FY407, FY410 or FY415 - half units of FY408).

Students are not permitted to combine FY409 and FY413 and they are not permitted to combine FY410 and FY415.

EU434 The Political Economy of Southeast Europe (H)
EU439 Political and Fiscal Integration and Disintegration in EU Member States (H) (n/a 12/13)
GI418 Feminist Economics and Policy: An Introduction (H)
FY420 Environmental Regulation: Implementing Policy
FY428 Applied Quantitative Methods (H)
FY431 Cities, People and Poverty in the South (H)
FY438 Cities and Social Change in East Asia (H)
FY445 Urban Theory, Policy and Practice in the Global South
FY447 The Economics of Regional and Urban Planning (H)
FY460 Techniques of Spatial Economic Analysis (H)
FY465 Concepts in Environmental Regulation (H)
Management programme regulations.

sessional: Quantitative Methods and Mathematics, as per the MSc

All students are required to attend MG4A1 MSc Management pre-

MG489 Professional Development Programme and Business Project.

Cross Cultural Management (ID419L); a dissertation; and the course units at a partner CEMS Institution (MG410); CEMS compulsory

Students take courses to the value of 8.5 units which includes: two completion of the CEMS MIM requirements.

Masters in Management (MIM) degree, subject to successful

A two-year programme. Students are also awarded the CEMS

MSc Management (CEMS MIM)

A two-year programme. Students are also awarded the CEMS Masters in Management (MIM) degree, subject to successful completion of the CEMS MIM requirements.

Students take courses to the value of 8.5 units which includes: two units at a partner CEMS Institution (MG410); CEMS compulsory Cross Cultural Management (ID419L); a dissertation; and the course MG489 Professional Development Programme and Business Project. All students are required to attend MG4A1 MSc Management pre-

Sessional: Quantitative Methods and Mathematics, as per the MSc Management programme regulations.

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Paper</th>
<th>Course number and title</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>1</td>
<td>MG431 Managerial Economics (H)</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>1</td>
<td>MG461 Quantitative Analysis in Management (H)*</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>2</td>
<td>MG434 Organisational Behaviour (H)</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>2</td>
<td>MG462 Qualitative Analysis in Management (H)</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>3</td>
<td>MG433 Foundations of Management</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>4</td>
<td>Students take courses up to the value of one full unit from the list below</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>5</td>
<td>DV423 Global Political Economy and Development I (H)</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>5</td>
<td>DV424 International Institutions and Late Development (H)</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>6</td>
<td>EU435 History and Theory of European Integration (H)</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>6</td>
<td>EU455 Concepts in Political Economy (H)</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>6</td>
<td>GI407 Globalisation, Gender and Development</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>6</td>
<td>IR450 International Political Economy (H)</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>7</td>
<td>MC408 Theories and Concepts in Media and Communication I (Key concepts and interdisciplinary approaches) (H)</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>7</td>
<td>MC418 Theories and Concepts in Media and Communications II (Processes of communication in modern life) (H)</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>7</td>
<td>Alternatively students can take a second year optional course with permission from the course proprietor.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>7</td>
<td>Or FM473 Finance I (H) with permission of the course proprietor ++</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>7</td>
<td>Or another MSc-level course which is offered in the School, subject to approval of the course proprietor.</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

Notes:

*Students who have already taken statistics at university level covering these topics, can choose a half unit course from the following:

OR401 Techniques of Operational Research (H)

MY452 Applied Regression Analysis (H)

MY455 Multivariate Analysis and Measurement (H)

Or another appropriate quantitative course from elsewhere in the School, subject to the course proprietor and programme director’s approval.

It is not compulsory for students to take a full unit of optional courses under paper 4 in the first year. Instead, students can elect to take an additional full or half unit of optional courses from papers 6, 7 and 8 in year two.

Year 2+

5

MG420 Strategy, Organisation and Innovation (H)

MG420 Dissertation (H)

6

Courses to the value of one full unit from the following:

AC464 Management Accounting and Financial Accounting: Decisions, Control, Reporting and Disclosure

AC490 Financial Reporting and Management: Management Accounting, Strategy and Control (H)

AC491 Financial Reporting and Management: Financial Reporting (H)

---

RM421 Applied Corporate Finance (H)

RM473 Finance I (H) (if not already taken in year one)

ID410 Management of Human Resources: Strategies and Policies (H)

ID420 Leadership in Organisations: Theory and Practice (H)

ID423 The Dark Side of the Organisation (H)

IS471 Innovating Organisational Information Technology (H)

IS472 Global Strategy, Management and Information Systems (H)

MG402 Public Management: A Strategic Approach (H)

MG413 Entrepreneurial Strategy (H) (n/a 12/13)

MG418 Open Innovation (H)

MG421 The Future of the Multinational Firm (H)

MG422 Thinking Strategically (H)

MG423 Leading Entrepreneurial Organisations in Global Markets (H) (n/a 12/13)

MG425 Global Business Management (H)

MG436 Firms, Markets and Crises (H) (n/a 12/13)

MG437 Business Model Innovation at the ‘Base of the Pyramid’ (H)

MG438 Business Model Innovation at the ‘Base of the Pyramid’ (full unit)

MG450 Social Network Analysis and Strategies (H)

MG452 Behavioural Economics for Management (H)

MG482 Innovation and Technology Management (H)

MN413 International Marketing: A Strategic Approach (H)

MN432 Personnel Economics (H)

OR405 Advanced Behavioural Decision Making (H)

OR436 Operations Management (H)

PH425 Business and Organisational Ethics (H)

7

Courses to the value of one unit from the following or any course under paper 4 not already taken:

AC411 Accounting, Strategy and Control (H)

AC412 Accountability, Organisations and Risk Management (H)

AC414 Financial Reporting, Capital Markets and Business Combinations (H)

FM474 Finance II ++ (H)

ID411 International and Comparative Human Resource Management (H) (n/a 12/13)

ID433 Negotiation Analysis (H)

MG453 Managing Digital Business (H)

MN404 Incentives and Governance in Organisations (H)

MN426 Design and Management of Organisations (H)

MN430 Strategy for the Information Economy (H)

OR401 Techniques of Operational Research (H)

OR431 Systems Dynamics Modelling (H)

OR434 Principles of Decision Sciences (H)

8

Course(s) to the value of one unit to be taken from any course listed under paper 4 if not taken previously, or from the following:

EU443 European Models of Capitalism (H)

EU446 Patterns of Economic Integration in Europe (H)

EU455 Concepts in Political Economy (H)

EU449 Emerging Markets, Political Transition and Economic Development in Central and Eastern Europe (H)

GV442 Globalisation and Democracy (H) ‡

ID432 International Employment Relations (H)

IR407 International Political Economy of the Environment (H)

IR429 Economic Diplomacy (H)

IR451 Politics of Money in the World Economy (H) ‡

IR460 Comparative Political Economy (H)

9

MG410 Term Abroad. Courses to the value of two units to be taken at one of the partner CEMS Institutions

10

ID419L Cross Cultural Management (H)

MG489 Professional Development Programme and Business Project (H)

Notes:

+ Students who have not taken paper 4, or have taken a half unit under paper 4 in their first year will also need to take either a further full unit of courses or a half unit course from papers 4, 6, 7 and/or 8 in their second year. ++ Finance I is a pre-requisite to Finance II, taken under paper 7.

SUPPLEMENTARY CRITERIA FOR PROGRESSION FROM THE FIRST TO THE SECOND YEAR OF MSC MANAGEMENT

To be eligible to proceed into the second year, candidates must attain at least a Pass grade in the five compulsory courses (MG431, MG433, MG434, MG461 and MG462). If a candidate fails one core course up to the value of 0.5 units, they will not be permitted to progress unless the fail can be compensated by a mark of Merit standard in another of the core courses to the same value. If a candidate fails more than one of these compulsory courses they will not be allowed to progress to year two. If candidates fail any of their optional courses taken in year one, they will be allowed to progress to year two provided they have no Bad Fail marks. A student shall normally be entitled to re-sit any failed courses only (on one occasion) and at the next normal opportunity. The School may consider an application for repeat tuition in any failed courses from a student. Results obtained at re-sit shall bear their normal value.

Please note that under regulation 6.2 of the classification scheme, if a candidate has met the requirements for the award of a degree having re-sat failed courses, s/he can only be recommended for the award of a Pass degree unless, in the judgement of the examiners, the initial failure(s) was at least in part a direct result of medical and/or extenuating circumstances.

See also the programme regulations for MSc Management

MSc Management

A two-year programme. Students take courses to the value of 8.5 units.

The second year includes a dissertation and students complete the course MG489 Professional Development Programme and Business Project.

All students are required to attend MG4A1 MSc Management pre-service: Quantitative Methods and Mathematics.

Paper 1 Course number and title

Year 1

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Year 1</th>
<th>Course number and title</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>1</td>
<td>MG431 Managerial Economics (H)</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>2</td>
<td>MG461 Quantitative Analysis in Management (H) *</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>3</td>
<td>MG434 Organisational Behaviour (H)</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>4</td>
<td>MG462 Qualitative Analysis in Management (H)</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>5</td>
<td>MG433 Foundations of Management</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>6</td>
<td>Students take courses up to the value of one full unit from the list below </td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>7</td>
<td>DV423 Global Political Economy and Development I (H)</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>8</td>
<td>DV424 International Institutions and Late Development (H)</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>9</td>
<td>EU435 History and Theory of European Integration (H)</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>10</td>
<td>EU455 Concepts in Political Economy (H)</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>11</td>
<td>GI407 Globalisation, Gender and Development</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>12</td>
<td>IR450 International Political Economy (H)</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>13</td>
<td>MC408 Theories and Concepts in Media and Communication I (Key concepts and interdisciplinary approaches) (H)</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>14</td>
<td>MC418 Theories and Concepts in Media and Communications II (Processes of communication in modern life) (H)</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

Alternatively students can take a second year optional course with permission from the course proprietor. Or FM473 Finance I (H) with permission of the course proprietor ++

Or another MSc-level course which is offered in the School, subject to approval of the course proprietor.

* Students who have already taken statistics at university level covering these topics, can choose a half unit course from the following:

OR401 Techniques of Operational Research (H) |
MY452 Applied Regression Analysis (H) |
MY455 Multivariate Analysis and Measurement (H) |

Or another appropriate quantitative course from elsewhere in the School, subject to the course proprietor and programme director’s approval.

++ It is not compulsory for students to take a full unit of optional courses under paper 4 in the first year. Instead, students can elect to take an additional full or half unit of optional courses from papers 6, 7 and 8 in year two.

Year 2-

5 MG430 Strategy, Organisation and Innovation (H) |
MG420 Dissertation (H) |

6 Courses to the value of one full unit from the following:

AC464 Management Accounting and Financial Accounting: Decisions, Control, Reporting and Disclosure |
AC490 Financial Reporting and Management: Management Accounting, Strategy and Control (H) |
AC491 Financial Reporting and Management: Financial Reporting (H) |
FM421 Applied Corporate Finance (H) |
FM473 Finance I (H) (if not already taken in year one) |
ID410 Management of Human Resources: Strategies and Policies (H) |
ID420 Leadership in Organisations: Theory and Practice (H) |
ID423 The Dark Side of the Organisation (H) |
IS471 Innovating Organisational Information Technology (H) |
IS472 Global Strategy, Management and Information Systems (H) |
MG402 Public Management: A Strategic Approach (H) |
MG413 Entrepreneurial Strategy (H) (n/a 12/13) |
MG418 Open Innovation (H) |
MG421 The Future of the Multinational Firm (H) |
MG422 Thinking Strategically (H) |
MG423 Leading Entrepreneurial Organisations in Global Markets (H) (n/a12/13) |
MG425 Global Business Management (H) |
MG436 Firms, Markets and Crises (H) (n/a 12/13) |
MG437 Business Model Innovation at the ‘Base of the Pyramid’ (H) |
MG438 Business Model Innovation at the 'Base of the Pyramid' (full unit) |
MG450 Social Network Analysis and Strategies (H) |
MG452 Behavioural Economics for Management (H) |
MG482 Innovation and Technology Management (H) |
MN413 International Marketing: A Strategic Approach (H) |
MN432 Personnel Economics (H) |
OR405 Advanced Behavioural Decision Making (H) |
OR436 Operations Management (H) |
PH425 Business and Organisational Ethics (H) |

7 Courses to the value of one unit from the following or any course under paper 4 not already taken:

AC411 Accounting, Strategy and Control (H) |
AC412 Accountability, Organisations and Risk Management (H) |
AC414 Financial Reporting, Capital Markets and Business Combinations (H) |
FM474 Finance II ++ (H) |
ID411 International and Comparative Human Resource Management (H) (n/a 12/13) |
ID433 Negotiation Analysis (H) |
MG453 Managing Digital Business (H) |
MN404 Incentives and Governance in Organisations (H) |
MN426 Design and Management of Organisations (H) |
MN430 Strategy for the Information Economy (H) |
OR401 Techniques of Operational Research (H) |
OR431 Systems Dynamics Modelling (H) |
OR434 Principles of Decision Sciences (H) |

8 Course(s) to the value of one unit to be taken from any course listed under paper 4 if not taken previously, or from the following:

- EU443 European Models of Capitalism (H)
- EU446 Patterns of Economic Integration in Europe (H)
- EU455 Concepts in Political Economy (H)
- EU449 Emerging Markets, Political Transition and Economic Development in Central and Eastern Europe (H)
- GV442 Globalisation and Democracy (H) *
- ID432 International Employment Relations (H)
- IR407 International Political Economy of the Environment (H)
- IR429 Economic Diplomacy (H)
- IR451 Politics of Money in the World Economy (H) *
- IR460 Comparative Political Economy (H)

9 MG489 Professional Development Programme and Business Project (H)

Notes + Students who have not taken paper 4 or have taken a half unit under paper 4 in their first year, will also need to take either a further full unit of courses or a half unit course from papers 4, 6, 7 and 8 in their second year.
++ Finance I is a pre-requisite to Finance II.
* Access is by permission of the course proprietor.

SUPPLEMENTARY CRITERIA FOR PROGRESSION FROM THE FIRST TO THE SECOND YEAR OF MSC MANAGEMENT To be eligible to proceed into the second year, candidates must attain at least a Pass grade in the five compulsory courses (MG431, MG433, MG434, MG461 and MG462). If a candidate fails one core course up to the value of 0.5 units, they will not be permitted to progress unless the fail can be compensated by a mark of Merit standard in another of the core courses to the same unit value. If a candidate fails more than one of these compulsory courses they will not be allowed to progress to year two. If candidates fail any of their optional courses taken in year one, they will be allowed to progress to year two provided they have no Bad Fail marks. A student shall normally be entitled to re-sit any failed courses only (on one occasion) and at the next normal opportunity. The School may consider an application for repeat tuition in any failed courses from a student. Results obtained at re-sit shall bear their normal value. Please note that under regulation 6.2 of the classification scheme, if a candidate has met the requirements for the award of a degree having re-sat failed courses, s/he can only be recommended for the award of a Pass degree unless, in the judgement of the examiners, the initial failure(s) was at least in part a direct result of medical and/or extenuating circumstances. See the programme regulations for MSc Management (CEMS MIM) stream.

MSc Management and Human Resources

Full-year programme. Students take three compulsory courses, a dissertation, and select courses from their chosen Pathway to the value of 1.5 units. Students wishing to satisfy the educational requirements of the Chartered Institute of Personnel and Development (CIPD) take an additional practice-orientated course (ID493).

Paper Course number and title
1 ID439 Foundations of Business and Management for Human Resources (H)
2 ID410 Management of Human Resources: Strategies and Policy (H)
3 ID430 Organisational Behaviour (H)
4 Student select one of the following Pathways:
Pathway A ID438 Globalisation and Human Resource Management (H) and Courses to the value of 1 full unit from the options list below
Pathway B ID441 Contemporary issues in HR Management (H)
ID437 Reward System: Key Models and Practices (H) and Courses to the value of 0.5 units from the options list below
Pathway C Courses to the value of 1.5 units from the options list below.

Options list
- ID411 International and Comparative Human Resource Management (H) (n/a 12/13)
- ID419 Cross Cultural Management (H)
- ID420 Leadership in Organisations: Theory and Practice (H)
- ID421 Human Resource Management and Employment Regulation (H) (n/a 12/13)
- ID423 The Dark Side of the Organisation (H)
- ID431 Organisational Change (H)
- ID432 International Employment Relations (H)
- ID433 Negotiation Analysis (H)
- ID434 Managing Diversity in Organisations (H) (n/a 12/13)
- ID435 Organisational Theory (H)
- ID437 Reward System: Key Models and Practices (H)
- ID438 Globalisation and Human Resource Management (H)*
- ID440 Corporate Social Responsibility and International Labour Standards (H)
- ID441 Contemporary Issues in HR Management (H)*
- LL4H8 Employment Law (H)
- LL4H9 Human Rights in the Workplace (H)
- MG423 Leading Entrepreneurial Organisations in Global Markets (H) (n/a 12/13)
- MN432 Personnel Economics (H)
Or a MSc-level course which is offered in the School, subject to approval of the Programme Director.

5 ID499 Dissertation (Students must attend the Project Lectures as part of ID499)
6 ID493 Human Resource Policy and Practice
Notes * If not already taken
This programme is externally accredited by the CIPD.
Further information is available from the Employment Relations and Organisational Behaviour Group wwwlse.ac.uk/collections/EROB/.

MSc Management and Regulation of Risk

Full-year programme. Student must take courses to the value of four full units (of which one paper includes a dissertation) as shown below.

Paper Course number and title
1 FM403 Management and Regulation of Risk (includes dissertation)
2 Papers to the value of one full unit from the following list of quantitative courses:
  - AC444 Valuation and Security Analysis (H)
  - AC470 Accounting in the Global Economy (H)
  - FM402 Financial Risk Analysis (H)
  - FM404 Forecasting Financial Time Series (H)*
  - FM413 Fixed Income Markets (H)
  - FM421 Applied Corporate Finance (H)
  - FM429 Asset Markets A (H)
  - FM430 Corporate Finance and Asset Markets
  - FM431M Corporate Finance A (H) or FM431L Corporate Finance A (H)
  - FM442 Quantitative Methods for Finance and Risk Analysis (H)*
  - FM445 Portfolio Management (H)
  - FM472 International Finance (H)
  - GF462 Real Estate Finance (H)
  - OR434 Principle of Decision Sciences (H)
  - ST409 Stochastic Processes (H)
3 Papers to the value of one full unit from the following list of qualitative courses:
AC412 Accountability, Organisations and Risk Management (H)
GY420 Environmental Regulation: Implementing Policy (H)
GY455 Economic Appraisal and Valuation (H)
GY465 Concepts in Environmental Regulation (H)
GY475 Issues in Environmental Governance (H)
LL435 Corporate Governance (H)
LL437 Law of Corporate Finance (n/a 12/13)
LL484 Regulation of Financial Markets
LL489 Corporate and Financial Crime
MN429 The World Trading System (H)
MN430 Strategy for the Information Economy (H)
PH425 Business and Organisational Ethics (H)
SO425 Regulation, Risk and Economic Life
SO469 Risk and Governance: A Sociological Approach (H)

One half-unit from the following list:
MN434 Empirical Research Strategy for Managerial
MN432 Personnel Economics (H)
MN430 Strategy for the Information Economy (H)
MN428 Evolutionary Psychology and Management (H)
MN425 Business in the Global Environment (H)
MN419 Systems Thinking and Strategic Modelling (H)
MG457 MATLAB for MSc Students, a non-assessed computer course.

Notes
* Students taking this course can apply for a place on FM457 MATLAB for MSc Students, a non-assessed computer course.

---

MSc Management and Strategy

Full-year programme. Students must take the four compulsory half unit courses and additional optional courses to the value of three half units and a dissertation as shown. Any courses taken from outside the MES Group which are not listed below must be consistent with the MSc Management and Strategy programme.

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Paper</th>
<th>Course number and title</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>1</td>
<td>Four half-unit compulsory papers:</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td>MN404 Incentives and Governance in Organizations (H)</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td>MN415 The Analysis of Strategy A (H)</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td>MN416 The Analysis of Strategy B (H)</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td>MN426 Design and Management of Organisations (H)</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td>Two half-unit from the following list:</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td>AC490 Management Accounting, Decisions and Control (H)</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td>FM431M Corporate Finance A (H) or FM431L Corporate Finance A (H)</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td>GV483 Public Management Theory and Doctrine (H)</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td>ID433 Negotiation Analysis (H)</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td>MG402 Public Management: A Strategic Approach (H)</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td>MG413 Entrepreneurial Strategy (H) (n/a 12/13)</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td>MG423 Leading Entrepreneurial Organisations in Global Markets (H) (n/a 12/13)</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td>MG452 Behavioural Economics for Management (H)</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td>MN413 International Marketing: A Strategic Approach (H)</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td>MN419 Systems Thinking and Strategic Modelling (H)</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td>MN425 Business in the Global Environment (H)</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td>MN428 Evolutionary Psychology and Management (H)</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td>MN429 The World Trading System (H)</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td>MN430 Strategy for the Information Economy (H)</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td>MN432 Personnel Economics (H)</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td>MN433 Case Study in Management and Strategy (H)</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td>MN434 Empirical Research Strategy for Managerial Economics (H)</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

| 3     | One half-unit from the following list: |
|       | AC444 Valuation and Security Analysis (H) |
|       | AC470 Accounting in the Global Economy (H) |
|       | AC491 Financial Accounting, Reporting and Disclosures (H) |
|       | FM421 Applied Corporate Finance (H) |
|       | FM429 Asset Markets A (H) |
|       | Or any other half unit course or half unit not already taken under paper 2 |

| 4     | MN497 Dissertation: MSc Management and Strategy (H) |

---

MSc Management, Information Systems and Innovation

Full-year programme which is available on a part-time basis. Students must take three half unit compulsory courses, three half unit optional courses and a dissertation as shown. All students must choose one of the two streams in the Lent Term and take a minimum of one full unit from within that stream. The remaining half unit may be taken from another stream or a course from the Management and LSE options offered. Students are also required to attend an unassessed skills course (IS490).

Part-time students are required to take taught courses in the Michaelmas and Lent Terms of their two years and the work load will be split equally across both years (three half units per year). The dissertation will be completed in the Summer Term of the second year.

Stream 1: Management of Information Systems and Global Sourcing

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Paper</th>
<th>Course number and title</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>1</td>
<td>IS470 Innovation and Information Systems: Concepts and Perspectives (H)</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>2</td>
<td>IS471 Innovating Organisational Information Technology (H)</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>3</td>
<td>IS472 Global Strategy, Management and Information Systems (H)</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>4</td>
<td>Courses to the value of one full unit from the following:</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td>IS415 eHealth: Policy, Strategy and Systems (H)</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td>IS417 Global Sourcing and Management of Business and IT Services (H) (n/a 12/13)</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td>IS484 Managing Information Risk and Security in Business (H)</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td>IS485 Management and Economics of E-Business (H)</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>5</td>
<td>Courses to the value of 0.5 units from Stream 2 or the options list (below)</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>6</td>
<td>IS499 Dissertation: MSc MISI</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

Stream 2: The Internet and Information Services

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Paper</th>
<th>Course number and title</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>1</td>
<td>IS470 Innovation and Information Systems: Concepts and Perspectives (H)</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>2</td>
<td>IS471 Innovating Organisational Information Technology (H)</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>3</td>
<td>IS472 Global Strategy, Management and Information Systems (H)</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>4</td>
<td>Courses to the value of 0.5 full units from Stream 1, or the Management and LSE options list (below):</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td>IS418 Convergence and Information Management (H)</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td>IS479 Information Systems for the Public Sector (H)</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td>IS480 Information Technology and Service Innovation (H)</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td>IS489 Data Governance: Privacy, Openness and Transparency (H)</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>5</td>
<td>Courses to the value of 0.5 units from Stream 2 or the options list (below)</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>6</td>
<td>IS499 Dissertation: MSc MISI</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

Options list

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Paper</th>
<th>Course number and title</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>AC490</td>
<td>Management Accounting, Decisions and Control (H)</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>DV483</td>
<td>Aspects of Information and Communication Technologies and Socio-Economic Development (H)</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>FM473</td>
<td>Finance I (H)</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>ID431</td>
<td>Organisational Change (H)</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>ID433</td>
<td>Negotiation Analysis (H)</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>IS419</td>
<td>Qualitative Research in Management Studies (H) (n/a 12/13)</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>IS581</td>
<td>Interpretations of Information (H) (n/a 12/13)</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>MG402</td>
<td>Public Management: A Strategic Approach (H)</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>MG419</td>
<td>Public Management - Strategy, Innovation and Delivery</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>MG422</td>
<td>Thinking Strategically (H)</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>MG423</td>
<td>Leading Entrepreneurial Organisations in Global Markets (H) (n/a 12/13)</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>MG482</td>
<td>Innovation and Technology Management (H)</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>OR401</td>
<td>Techniques of Operational Research (H)</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>OR436</td>
<td>Operations Management (H)</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>
A course from another programme with permission of the Programme Director*.

Notes * means by special permission only.

MSc Management, Organisations and Governance

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Paper</th>
<th>Course number and title</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>1</td>
<td>MG426 Organisations in the Economy and Society</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>2</td>
<td>MG427 Innovation in Organisations (H)</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>3</td>
<td>MG428 Enterprise Development (H)</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>4</td>
<td>Courses to the value of 1.5 units from the following: AC410 Management Accounting, Strategy and Organisational Control (may not be taken in conjunction with AC411) AC411 Accounting, Strategy and Control (H) (may not be taken in conjunction with AC410) AC412 Accountability, Organisations and Risk Management (H) AC490 Management Accounting, Decisions and Control (H)</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>5</td>
<td>A course from any other MSc programme §</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

Notes: Any other course listed in 5 & 7 Two of the following half-unit courses: OR499 Dissertation: MSc Management Science

Disciplinary streams

Operational Research
- OR401 Techniques of Operational Research (H)
- OR428 Model Building in Mathematical Programming (H)
- OR429 Model Building in Operational Research (H)
- One of the following half-unit courses: OR405 Advanced Behavioural Decision Making (H)
- OR406 Mathematical Programming: Theory and Algorithms (H)
- OR408 Combinatorial Optimisation (H)
- OR409 Auctions and Game Theory (H) (n/a 12/13)
- OR414 Advanced Topics in Operational Research (H) (n/a 12/13)
- OR431 System Dynamics Modelling (H)
- MN419 Systems Thinking and Strategic Modelling (H)
- OR432 Operational Research and Decision Sciences in Practice (H)
- OR433 Principles of Decision Sciences (H)
- OR435 Advanced Decision Sciences (H)
- OR437 Solving Unsolvable Problems: NP-completeness and how to cope with it (H) (n/a 12/13)

Decision Sciences
- OR434 Principles of Decision Sciences (H)
- OR435 Advanced Decision Sciences (H)
- One of the following half-unit courses: OR405 Advanced Behavioural Decision Making (H)
- OR406 Mathematical Programming: Theory and Algorithms (H)
- OR408 Combinatorial Optimisation (H)
- OR409 Auctions and Game Theory (H) (n/a 12/13)
- OR414 Advanced Topics in Operational Research (H) (n/a 12/13)
- OR431 System Dynamics Modelling (H)
- MN419 Systems Thinking and Strategic Modelling (H)
- OR432 Operational Research and Decision Sciences in Practice (H)
- OR437 Solving Unsolvable Problems: NP-completeness and how to cope with it (H) (n/a 12/13)

Notes: 4 Examined entirely by means of essays and project

MSc Management Science

Full-year programme with two disciplinary streams. Students are required to take compulsory and optional courses to the value of four full units as shown. All courses are half-units except OR440 and OR499.

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Paper</th>
<th>Course number and title</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>1</td>
<td>OR426 Computer Modelling: Applied Statistics and Simulation (H)</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>2</td>
<td>OR440 Applied Management Science (project) ± or OR499 Dissertation: MSc Management Science</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

Notes: Any other course listed in 5 & 7 Two of the following half-unit courses: AC491 Financial Accounting, Reporting and Disclosure (H) ID430 Organisational Behaviour (H) ID431 Organisational Change (H) IS471 Innovating Organisational Information Technology (H) MA419 Search Games (H) (n/a 12/13) MG423 Leading Entrepreneurial Organisations in Global Markets (H) (n/a 12/13) MG425 Global Business Management (H) OR436 Operations Management (H) ST422 Time Series (H) Any course listed in 5 above A course from any other MSc programme §
MSc Media and Communications (Media and Communication Governance)

Full-year programme. Students must take courses to the value of three full units and a dissertation as shown below.

1. MC408 Theories and Concepts in Media and Communication I (Key concepts and interdisciplinary approaches) (H)
2. MC4M1 Methods of Research in Media & Communications (including Qualitative & Quantitative Analysis) (H)
3. MC424 Media and Communication Governance (H)
4. Courses to the value of one full unit from the following:
   - EU421 Policy-Making in the European Union (H)
   - IS418 Convergence and Information Management (H)
   - IS470 Innovation and Information Systems: Concepts and Perspectives (H)
   - IS581 Interpretations of Information (H) (n/a 12/13)
   - LL407 Media and Communications Regulation (H)
   - LL4H2 Media Law: Regulating Publications (H)
   - LL4H3 Media Law: Regulating Newspurchasing (H)
   - LL4S1 Cyberlaw (H)
   - MC403 Contemporary Issues in Media and Communications Policy (H)
   - MC405 Current Issues in Media and Communications: Policies for ICTs, Society and Development (H)
5. One of the following half unit courses:
   - IS418 Convergence and Information Services (H)
   - IS581 Interpretations of Information (H) (n/a 12/13)
   - MC401 Mediated Resistance and Citizens (H)
   - MC402 The Audience in Media and Communications (H)
   - MC404 Political Communication (H)
   - MC405 Current Issues in Media and Communications (H)
   - MC407 International Media and The Global South (H)
   - MC413 Information, Communication and Knowledge Systems (H)
   - MC418 Theories and Concepts in Media and Communications II (Processes of communication in modern life)
   - MC421 Critical Approaches to Media, Communication and Development (H)
   - MC423 Global Media Industries (H)
   - MC425 Interpersonal Mediated Communication (H)
   - MC426 Film Theory and World Cinema (H)
   - MC427 Digital Media Futures (H)
   - PS415 The Social Psychology of Economic Life (H) (n/a 12/13)
   - Any other half unit paper which is offered in the School at master's level, subject to the consent of the student's teachers
6. MC499 Dissertation (10,000-12,000 words)*

*Passing this course is a requirement for passing the programme
† Students can take up to one full unit of courses outside the Media and Communications Department (non MC-prefixed courses)
‡ If not taken under Paper 4

Notes

MSc Media and Communications (Research)

Full year programme. Students must take courses to the value of three full units and a dissertation as shown below.

Paper  Course number and title
1. MC408 Theories and Concepts in Media and Communication I (Key concepts and interdisciplinary approaches) (H)
   MC418 Theories and Concepts in Media and Communications II (Processes of communication in modern life) (H)
2. MC4M1 Methods of Research in Media & Communications (including Qualitative & Quantitative Analysis) (H)
3. Courses to the value of one and a half units from the following #:
   - GI403 Gender and Media Representation (H)
   - GI408 Cultural Constructions of the Body (H) (n/a 12/13)
   - GI410 Screening the Present: contemporary cinema and cultural critique (H)
   - IS418 Convergence and Information Management (H)
   - IS470 Innovation and Information Systems: Concepts and Perspectives (H)
   - IS581 Interpretations of Information (H) (n/a 12/13)
   - LL407 Media and Communications Regulation (H)
   - LL4H2 Media Law: Regulating Publication (H)
   - LL4H3 Media Law: Regulating Newspurchasing (H)
   - MC401 Mediated Resistance and Citizens (H)
   - MC402 The Audience in Media and Communications (H)
   - MC403 Contemporary Issues in Media and Communications Policy (H)
   - MC405 Current Issues in Media and Communications: Policies for ICTs, Society and Development (H)
   - MC407 International Media and The Global South (H)
   - MC409 Media, Technology and Everyday Life (H)
   - MC413 Information, Communication and Knowledge Systems (H)
   - MC416 Representation in the Age of Globalisation (H)
   - MC420 Identity, Transnationalism and the Media (H)
   - MC421 Critical Approaches to Media, Communication and Development (H)
   - MC422 Critical Studies in Media and Journalism (H)
   - MC423 Global Media Industries (H)
   - MC424 Media and Communication Governance (H)
   - MC425 Interpersonal Mediated Communication (H)
   - MC426 Film Theory and World Cinema (H)
   - MC427 Digital Media Futures (H)
   - MY427 Qualitative Research With Non-Traditional Data (H)
   - PS415 The Social Psychology of Economic Life (H) (n/a 12/13)
   - PS429 The Social Psychology of Communication
   - PS439 Science, Technology and Resistance (H) (n/a 12/13)
   - PS447 Psychoanalysis and Communication (H)
   - SO433 Cultural Theory (H)
   - SO471 Technology, Power and Culture (H)
   - Any other MSc level course which is offered in the School, subject to the consent of the candidate's programme director.
4. MC499 Dissertation (10,000-12,000 words)*
Full-year programme. Students must take courses to the value of three full units and a dissertation as shown below.

Courses to the value of one unit from the following:
- GI403 Gender and Media Representation (H)
- GI408 Cultural Constructions of the Body (H) (n/a 12/13)
- GI410 Screening the Present: contemporary cinema and cultural critique (H)
- IS418 Convergence and Information Management (H)
- IS470 Innovation and Information Systems: Concepts and Perspectives (H)
- IS581 Interpretations of Information (H) (n/a 12/13)
- LL407 Media and Communications Regulation (H)
- LL4H2 Media Law: Regulating Publication (H)
- LL4H3 Media Law: Regulating News Gathering (H)
- MC401 Mediated Resistance and Citizens (H)
- MC402 The Audience in Media and Communications (H)
- MC403 Contemporary Issues in Media and Communications Policy (H)
- MC405 Current Issues in Media and Communications: Policies for ICTs, Society and Development (H)
- MC406 International Media and The Global South (H)
- MC409 Media, Technology and Everyday Life (H)
- MC410 Information, Communication and Knowledge Systems (H)
- MC416 Representation in the Age of Globalisation (H)
- MC420 Identity, Transnationalism and the Media (H)
- MC421 Critical Approaches to Media, Communication and Development (H)
- MC422 Critical Studies in Media and Journalism (H)
- MC423 Global Media Industries (H)
- MC424 Media and Communication Governance (H)
- MC425 Interpersonal Mediated Communication (H)
- MC426 Film Theory and World Cinema (H)
- MY427 Qualitative Research With Non-Traditional Data (H)
- PS415 The Social Psychology of Economic Life (H) (n/a 12/13)
- PS429 The Social Psychology of Communication
- PS439 Science, Technology and Resistance (H) (n/a 12/13)
- PS447 Psychoanalysis and Communication (H)
- SO433 Cultural Theory (H)
- SO471 Technology, Power and Culture (H)
- Any other MSc level course which is offered in the School, subject to the consent of the candidate's programme director.

Notes
- *Passing this course is a requirement for passing the programme.
- Students can take up to one full unit of courses outside the Media and Communications Department (non MC-prefixed courses)

MSc Organisational and Social Psychology

Full-year programme. Students must take two compulsory courses, optional courses to the value of 1 unit and a dissertation as shown.

Paper Course number and title
1. PS404 Organisational Social Psychology
2. One of the following courses (depending on the student's level of knowledge and experience with methods):
   - PS4A1 Methods for Social Psychology Research: Fundamental Qualitative and Fundamental Quantitative methods
   - PS4A2 Methods for Social Psychology Research: Advanced Qualitative and Fundamental Quantitative methods
   - PS4A3 Methods for Social Psychology Research: Advanced Quantitative and Fundamental Qualitative methods
   - PS4A4 Methods for Social Psychology Research: Advanced Qualitative and Advanced Quantitative methods
3. Courses to the value of 1 unit from the following:
   - GI403 Gender and Media Representation (H)
   - GI408 Cultural Constructions of the Body (H)
   - PS410 Social Representations (H)
   - PS411 Current Communication Research (H)
   - PS415 The Social Psychology of Economic Life (H) (n/a 12/13)
   - PS418 Social Psychology of Health Communication (H)
   - PS421 Issues in Social Psychology: Evolutionary Social

MSc Media, Communication and Development

Full year programme. Students must take courses to the value of three full units and a dissertation as shown below.

Paper Course number and title
1. MC421 Critical Approaches to Media, Communication and Development (H)
2. MC408 Theories and Concepts in Media and Communications I (Key concepts and interdisciplinary approaches) (H)
3. MC4M1 Methods of Research in Media & Communications (including Qualitative & Quantitative Analysis) (H)
4. Three half-unit courses from the following:
   - MC401 Mediated Resistance and Citizens (H)
   - MC402 The Audience in Media and Communications (H)
   - MC405 Current Issues in Media and Communications: Policies for ICTs, Society and Development (H)

Notes
- *Passing this course is a requirement for passing the programme.
- Students can take up to one full unit of courses outside the Media and Communications Department (non MC-prefixed courses)
Psychology (H) (n/a 12/13)
PS428 Knowledge Processes in Organisations (H)
PS437 Representations, Institutions and Communities (H) (n/a 12/13)
PS438 Corporate Communications (H)
PS439 Science, Technology and Resistance (H) (n/a 12/13)
PS445 Organisational and Social Decision Making (H)
PS446 Issues in Organisational and Social Psychology: Organisational Life (H)
PS447 Psychoanalysis and Communication (H)
PS451 Cognition and Culture (H)
PS456 Consumer Psychology (H)
PS458 Creativity and Innovation (H)
PS460 Inter-cultural Relations and Racism (H)
PS462 Theory and Practice of Organisational Development (H)

Courses to the value of one half unit from another programme can be taken (subject to the approval of the candidate's Programme Director)

5 PS497 Dissertation*

Notes
* Failures in this courses cannot be condoned. A bad fail is defined as a mark less than 29%.

MSc Organisational Behaviour
Full-year programme. Students must take four compulsory half unit courses, a dissertation, and options to the value of one unit as shown.

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Paper</th>
<th>Course number and title</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>1</td>
<td>ID435 Organisational Theory (H)</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>2</td>
<td>ID436 Advanced and Emerging Topics in Organisational Behaviour (H)</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>3</td>
<td>ID430 Organisational Behaviour (H)</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>4</td>
<td>ID431 Organisational Change (H)</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>5</td>
<td>Courses to the value of one full unit from:</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td>ID419 Cross Cultural Management (H)</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td>ID420 Leadership in Organisations: Theory and Practice (H)</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td>ID423 The Dark Side of the Organisation (H)</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td>ID434 Managing Diversity in Organisations (H) (n/a 12/13)</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td>ID437 Reward System: Key Models and Practices (H)</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td>MG423 Leading Entrepreneurial Organisations in Global Markets (H) (n/a 12/13)</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td>MG450 Social Network Analysis and Strategies (H)</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td>PS428 Knowledge Processes in Organisations (H)</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td>PS445 Organizational and Social Decision Making (H)</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td>PS462 Theory and Practice of Organisational Development (H)</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td>Students wishing to pursue the EROB PhD should take the following Methodology Institute courses:</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td>MY452 Applied Regression Analysis (H)</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td>MY455 Multivariate Analysis and Measurement (H)</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>6</td>
<td>ID496 Dissertation: Organisational Behaviour</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

All MPA students attend the pre-sessional course EC408 (unless exempted) and complete papers 1 to 8 below according to their chosen stream.

Year 1 MPA Public and Economic Policy
1. EC440 Micro and Macro Economics (for Public Policy)
2. EC455 Quantitative Approaches and Policy Analysis
3. GV478 Political Science and Public Policy
4. One unit from the approved MPA options list

Year 2
5. EC406 Economic Policy Analysis
6. GV4D5 Organisations, Power and Leadership (H)
8. Plus one of the following:
   EC4V8 MPA Policy Paper (H) and one unit of option courses or GV4B4 MPA Dissertation and one half-unit option course or
   1.5 units from the approved MPA options list

Year 1 MPA Public Policy and Management
1. EC440 Micro and Macro Economics (for Public Policy)
2. EC455 Quantitative Approaches and Policy Analysis
3. GV478 Political Science and Public Policy
4. MG419 Public Management - Strategy, Innovation and Delivery or GV4E4 Public Budgeting and Financial Management

Year 2
5. GV4D5 Organisations, Power and Leadership (H)
7. GV4E4 Public Budgeting and Financial Management (2012/13 second years only)
8. Plus one of the following:
   GV4V8 MPA Policy Paper (H) and one unit of option courses or GV4B4 MPA Dissertation and one half-unit option course or
   1.5 units from the approved MPA options list

Year 1 MPA International Development
1. EC440 Micro and Macro Economics (for Public Policy)
2. EC455 Quantitative Approaches and Policy Analysis
3. GV478 Political Science and Public Policy
4. DV441 Development Policy and Management

Year 2
5. GV4D5 Organisations, Power and Leadership (H)
7. EC454 Development Economics
8. Plus one of the following:
   DV4V8 MPA Policy Paper (H) and one unit of option courses or DV4B4 MPA Dissertation* and one half-unit option course or
   1.5 units from the approved MPA options list

Notes
* Dissertations should normally be submitted within the broad area of Development.

Year 1 MPA European Public and Economic Policy
1. EC440 Micro and Macro Economics (for Public Policy)
2. EC455 Quantitative Approaches and Policy Analysis
3. GV478 Political Science and Public Policy
4. EU452 Political Economy of Europe

Year 2
5. GV4D5 Organisations, Power and Leadership (H)

Notes
* Dissertations should normally be submitted within the broad area of European Public Policy.

 Options taken must include at least 1 unit chosen from the broad range of Europe-related units included in the approved MPA options list.

 Notes

* Dissertations should normally be submitted within the broad area of Social Policy.

 Options taken must include at least 1 unit chosen from a broad range of Social Policy related units included in the approved MPA options list.

See the MPA Programme criteria for progression www.lse.ac.uk/resources/calendar/academicRegulations/TaughtMastersDegreesMPA.htm

MPA Options List

Students may also seek approval from their Programme Supervisor and the Course Convenor to enrol on other MSc options.

Not all courses may be offered each year and are subject to cancellation, substitution and timetabling constraints.

Welfare State Policies

SAA29 Social Exclusion, Inequality and the ‘Underclass’ Debate (H)

SAA41 Social Policy Research

GI414 Gender and Social Policy: Theory and Practice (H)

GI415 Gender and European Welfare States (H) +

SA489 Education Policy, Reform and Financing (H)

SA4F7 The Economics of European Social Policy (H) + (n/a 12/13)

SA4M1 Politics of Social Policy: Welfare and Work in Comparative Perspective (H)

SA4X6 Welfare Analysis and Measurement

Urban Policy

GY430 Contemporary Urbanism (n/a 12/13)

GY439 Cities, Politics and Citizenship (H)

GY454 Urban Policy and Planning (H)

GY457 Applied Urban and Regional Economics

GY479 The Urban Revolution (H) (n/a 12/13)

GY480 Remaking China: Geographical Aspects of Development and Disparity (H)

Environmental Policy

DV413 Environmental Problems and Development Interventions (H)

DV415 Global Environmental Governance (H)

GV4F6 The Philosophy and Politics of Environmental Change

GY420 Environmental Regulation: Implementing Policy +

GY427 Climate Change: Science, Economics and Policy (H)

GY465 Concepts in Environmental Regulation (H)

GY475 Issues in Environmental Governance (H)

International Policy

GV4A5 International Migration and Immigration Management (H) +

IR412 International Institutions

IR429 Economic Diplomacy

IR451 Politics of Money in the World Economy*

IR457 The Political Economy of International Trade

IR460 Comparative Political Economy

MN425 Business in the Global Environment (H)

Development Policy

AN436 The Anthropology of Development (H)

AN456 Anthropology of Economy (1): Production and Exchange (H)

AN457 Anthropology of Economy (2): Development, Transformation and Globalisation (H)

DV409 Economic Development Policy ##

DV411 Population and Development: An Analytical Approach (H) ##

DV413 Environmental Problems and Development Interventions (H) ##

DV415 Global Environmental Governance (H) ##

DV418 African Development (H) ##

DV420 Complex Emergencies (H) ##

DV421 Emerging Health Threats and Development (H) ##

DV423 Global Political Economy of Development, I (H) ##

DV424 International Institutions and Late Development (H) ##

DV425 Managing Globalization (H) ## (n/a 12/13)

DV427 Public Management of Development ## (n/a 12/13)

DV430 Contemporary India (H) ## (n/a 12/13)

DV432 China in Developmental Perspectives (H) ##

DV437 Nationalism, Democracy and Development in Contemporary India (H) ## (n/a 12/13)

DV441 Development Policy and Management ##

EC428 Development and Growth
European Union (H)
Central and Eastern Europe Transition and Reform
EU447  Democracy, Ideology and the European State (H)

Regional courses
EU423  Greece and the European Union (H) (n/a 12/13)
EU429  Economic and Social Policy in Mediterranean Europe (H) (n/a 12/13)
EU434  The Political Economy of Southeast Europe (H)
EU438  Turkey: Political Economy and European Integration (H)
EU440  Greece and South-East Europe: Government, Economy and Foreign Policy (H)

Management of Organisations
AC412  Accountability, Organisations and Risk Management (H)
AC470  Accounting in the Global Economy (H)
AC490  Management Accounting, Decisions and Control (H)
AC491  Financial Accounting, Reporting and Disclosure (H)

Notes
* With permission of the course teacher.
 Because of the extremely demanding standard of LSE Economics, these options are available only to students with very good first degrees in Economics and with the permission of the Economics Department. Any student wishing to take these courses must be admitted to the September course in Mathematics, Statistics, Economics (EC400) or Econometrics at the beginning of their first or second year and pass the course examinations (50%).
Students taking more than 1 Economics option must take one of EC402, EC411 or EC413.

 Courses have prerequisites or pre-screening assessment.

Not available to MPA Public Policy and Management students
For MPA International Development students or with the permission of the course teacher.
Not available to MPA International Development and Economic Development in Central and Eastern Europe (H)
MSc Philosophy and Public Policy
Full-year programme. Students must take two compulsory courses, one unit of optional courses, one compulsory seminar and a dissertation as shown.

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Paper</th>
<th>Course number and title</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>1</td>
<td>PH415 Philosophy and Public Policy</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>2</td>
<td>PH416 Philosophy, Morals and Politics or PH423 Evidence, Objectivity and Policy</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>3</td>
<td>One of the following: PH400 Philosophy of Science PH405 Philosophy of the Social Sciences PH413 Philosophy of Economics PH416 Philosophy, Morals and Politics (if not already taken) PH423 Evidence, Objectivity and Policy (if not already taken) PH456 Rationality and Choice</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>4</td>
<td>PH499 Dissertation</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

Students must also take PH421 Dissertation Seminar - Philosophy and Public Policy (non-assessed)

* Plus an approved half-unit course from outside the Department of Philosophy, Logic and Scientific Method

MSc Philosophy of Science
Full-year programme. Students must take three courses and a dissertation as shown.

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Paper</th>
<th>Course number and title</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>1</td>
<td>PH400 Philosophy of Science or PH423 Evidence Objectivity and Policy</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>2 &amp; 3</td>
<td>Courses to the value of two units from the following: PH400 Philosophy of Science PH404 Scientific Revolutions: Philosophical and Historical Issues * Either PH405 Philosophy of the Social Sciences or PH413 Philosophy of Economics</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td>PH409 Philosophical Foundations of Physics PH411 Philosophy of Biological and Cognitive Sciences PH419 Set Theory and Further Logic PH423 Evidence Objectivity and Policy PH456 Rationality and Choice</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>4</td>
<td>PH499 Dissertation History of Science</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

Students must also take PH445 Philosophical Research and Writing Seminar - Philosophy of Science (non-assessed)

* Plus an approved half-unit course from outside the Department of Philosophy, Logic and Scientific Method

MSc Philosophy of the Social Sciences
Full-year programme. Students take optional courses to the value of 3 units, a compulsory seminar and a dissertation as shown.

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Paper</th>
<th>Course number and title</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>1, 2 &amp; 3</td>
<td>Courses to the value of three units from the following: EH428 History of Economics: Making Political Economy into a Social Science (H) EH429 History of Economics: Ideas, Policy and Performativity (H) PH400 Philosophy of Science PH404 Scientific Revolutions: Philosophical and Historical Issues PH405 Philosophy of the Social Sciences</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>4</td>
<td>PH411 Philosophy of Biological and Cognitive Sciences PH413 Philosophy of Economics PH416 Philosophy, Morals and Politics PH419 Set Theory and Further Logic PH423 Evidence Objectivity and Policy PH456 Rationality and Choice PH425 Business and Organisational Ethics (H)</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

* Plus an approved paper from outside the Department of Philosophy, Logic and Scientific Method

MSc Political Economy of Europe
[Formerly MSc European Political Economy]
Full-year programme. Students must take one compulsory course, optional courses to the value of two units (at least one unit of courses listed under 2) and a dissertation as shown. Additionally, all students must take EU410 Interdisciplinary Research Methods and Design and EU450 European Union: Contemporary Issues, in preparation for the dissertation. Students without some background in economics are strongly encouraged to take EU409 Basic Economic Concepts for European Political Economy as an additional course to support their studies.

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Paper</th>
<th>Course number and title</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>1</td>
<td>EU452 Political Economy of Europe</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>2</td>
<td>Two of the following half unit courses:</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

Political Economy in Action:

- EU425 Interest Representation and Economic Policy-Making in Europe (H)
- EU439 Political and Fiscal Integration and Disintegration in EU Member States (H) (n/a 12/13)
- EU443 European Models of Capitalism (H)
- EU446 Patterns of Economic Integration in Europe: Institutions and Politics of EMU (H)
- EU449 Emerging Markets, Political Transition and Economic Development in Central and Eastern Europe (H)
- EU453 The Political Economy of European Welfare States (H)
- EU455 Concepts in Political Economy (H)

3 Courses to the value of one full unit from the following: |

Institutions, Politics and Policies of the EU:

- EU420 European Union Law and Government (H)
- EU421 Policy-Making in the European Union (H)
- EU429 Economic and Social Policy in Mediterranean Europe (H) (n/a 12/13)
- EU430 Europeanization: The Comparative Politics of Domestic Change (H)
- EU436 Law and Governance of the Single European Market
- EU464 Migration and Mobility: EU Law and Politics (H)
- EU466 Citizen Representation and Democracy in the European Union (H)
- SA4F7 The Economics of European Social Policy (H) (n/a 12/13)
- SA4M1 Politics of Social Policy: Welfare and Work in Comparative Perspective (H)

European Identity and Ideas:

- EU424 The Idea of Europe (H)
- EU426 The West: Identity and Interests (H) (n/a 12/13)
- EU432 The Philosophy of Europe (H)
- EU437 Europe Beyond Modernity (H)
- EU447 Democracy, Ideology and the European State (H)
- GV4A5 International Migration and Immigration Management (H)
Regional courses:
EU423 Greece and the European Union (H) (n/a 12/13)
EU434 The Political Economy of Southeast Europe (H)
EU438 Turkey: Political Economy and European Integration (H)
EU440 Greece and South-East Europe: Government, Economy and Foreign Policy (H)
EU461 Economic History of Southeastern Europe and the Middle East, 1820-1970 (H) (n/a 12/13)

Courses from 2B above not already taken
*A half unit from another MSc programme
EU499 Dissertation

Notes
*A half unit from another MSc programme (only to be taken with the permission of the teacher responsible and the Programme Director. Admission will depend on the student having the necessary background and on the availability of space).

MSc Political Economy of Late Development
Full year programme. Students must take courses to the value of four full units, including the half-unit dissertation.

Paper Course number and title
1 EH414 Theories, Paths and Patterns of Late Development (H)
2 DV400 Development: History, Theory and Policy
3 & 4 Courses to the value of two full units, to consist of one full DV unit and one full EH unit:
   DV407 Poverty (H)
   DV409 Economic Development Policy
   DV411 Population and Development: An Analytical Approach (H)
   DV418 African Development (H)
   DV423 Global Political Economy of Development I (H)
   DV424 International Institutions and Late Development (H)
   DV428 Managing Humanitarianism (H)
   DV437 Nationalism, Democracy and Development in Contemporary India (H) (n/a 12/13)
   DV442 Key Issues in Development Studies (H)
   EH404 India and the World Economy, 1750-1950 (H) (n/a 12/13)
   EH408 International Migration, 1500-2000: from slavery to asylum (H) (n/a 12/13)
   EH412 Research Topics in Economic History A (H) (n/a 12/13)
   EH413 African Economic Development in Historical Perspective (H)
   EH419 Research Topics in Economic History B (H) (n/a 12/13)
   EH423 Japan and Korea as Developing Economies (H) (n/a 12/13)
   EH424 The British Economy in Global Perspective, 1000-2000 (H)
   EH446 Economic Development in East and Southeast Asia
   EH451 Latin American Development: political economy of growth (H)
   EH452 Latin American Development and Economic History (H)
   EH466 Labour and Work in Preindustrial Europe (H) (n/a 12/13)
   EH467 Epidemics: epidemic disease in history, 1348-2000 (H)
   EH486 Shipping and Sea Power in Asian Waters c1600-1860 (H) (n/a 12/13)
   EH487 International Economic Institutions since World War I (H)
   EH491 Dissertation in the Political Economy of Late Development (H) (10,000 words on a topic that must relate to EH414)

Notes
* courses with restricted access, which require the approval of the course convenor.
MSc Political Sociology
Full-year programme. Students must take three courses and a dissertation as shown.

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Paper</th>
<th>Course number and title</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>1</td>
<td>SO407 Politics and Society</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>2</td>
<td>One full unit or two half units from the following: EU425 Interest Representation and Economic Policy-Making in Europe (H) EU460 European Society and Politics beyond the Nation State (H) GV479 Nationalism MC408 Theories and Concepts in Media and Communications I (Key concepts and interdisciplinary approaches) (H) MC418 Theories and Concepts in Media and Communications II (Processes of communication in modern life) (H) SAA41 Politics of Social Policy: Welfare and Work in Comparative Perspective (H) SO401 Social Research Methods SO420 Globalisation: Economy, Politics and Power (H) (n/a 12/13) SO424 Approaches to Human Rights SO425 Regulation, Risk and Economic Life SO426 Classical Social Thought (H) SO427 Modern Social Thought (H) SO430 Economic Sociology (H) SO447 Topics in Race, Ethnicity and Postcolonial-Studies (n/a 12/13) SO457 Political Reconciliation (H) (n/a 12/13) SO458 Gender and Societies (H) SO461 Racial Formations of Modernity (H) (n/a 12/13) SO463 Contemporary Social Thought SO464 Ethnic and Religious Violence in Post-Colonial Societies (H) SO466 Race and Biopolitics (H) (n/a 12/13) SO467 Race, Ethnicity and Migration in Britain (post-1945) (H) (n/a 12/13) SO468 International Migration and Migrant Integration (H) SO469 Risk and Governance: A Sociological Approach (H) SO470 The Sociology of Markets (H) SO471 Technology, Power and Culture (H)</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

3 One full unit or two half units either from the list under paper 2 above, or from any of the MSc courses offered in any department or institute at the LSE, so long as they are relevant to the study of political sociology, and subject to the approval of both Programme Director and course teacher.

4 SO499 Dissertation

MSc Political Theory (Research)
Full-year programme. Students must take the full-unit course MY4M1 or MY4M2 Foundations of Social Research, GV4G3 Foundations of Political Theory, GV499 Dissertation and two half-unit courses from those listed as papers 1-5 for MSc Political Theory (see MSc Political Theory).

MSc Political Theory
Full-year programme. Students must take 2 course units, a compulsory course (1 unit) and dissertation (1 unit) as shown. Part-time students may take up to four half unit courses in their first year.

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Paper</th>
<th>Course number and title</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>1, 2, 3</td>
<td>Courses to the value of 2 units but no more than</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

4 & 5 1.5 units in any one term:
GI406 Feminist Political Theory (H) GV408 Contemporary Disputes about Justice (H) GV476 Twentieth-Century European Liberal Thought (H) GV498 Multiculturalism, Nationalism and Citizenship (H) GV4A3 Social Choice Theory and Democracy (H) GV4B6 Kant’s Political Philosophy (H) (n/a 12/13) GV4B7 The Liberal Idea of Freedom (H) GV4D7 Dilemmas of Equality (H) (n/a 12/13) GV4F5 Advanced Political Thinkers (H) GV4F6 The Philosophy and Politics of Environmental Change GV4G7 Marx and Marxism (H) Students can take courses to the value of one full unit from the following: IR462 Introduction to International Political Theory (H) IR463 The International Political Theory of Humanitarian Intervention (H) IR464 The Politics of International Law (H) PH416 Philosophy, Morals and Politics A half-unit course from the Government or another department §

5 Options to the value of one unit:
Media and Communications:
MC401 Mediated Resistance and Citizens (H) MC402 The Audience in Media and Communications (H) MC403 Contemporary Issues in Media and Communications Regulation (H) MC407 International Media and The Global South (H) MC413 Information, Communication and Knowledge Systems (H) MC418 Theories and Concepts in Media and Communications II (Processes of communication in modern life) (H) MC419 Modern Campaigning Politics (H) MC422 Critical Studies in Media and Journalism (H) MC423 Global Media Industries (H) MC424 Media and Communication Governance (H) MC425 Interpersonal Mediated Communication (H) MC426 Film Theory and World Cinema (H) Government:
GV427 Democracy in East and South-East Asia (H) GV479 Nationalism * GV4A2 Citizens’ Political Behaviour in Europe: Elections, Public Opinion and Identity (H) * Any other MSc-level course which is offered in the School, subject to the consent of the candidate’s programme convenor

6 Notes
§ means by special permission only.
Passing this course is a requirement for passing the programme.

MSc Politics and Communication
Full year programme. Students must take courses to the value of three full units and a dissertation as shown below.

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Paper</th>
<th>Course number and title</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>1</td>
<td>MC404 Political Communication (H)</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>2</td>
<td>MC408 Theories and Concepts in Media and Communications I (Key concepts and interdisciplinary approaches) (H)</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>3</td>
<td>MC417 Democracy and the Media (H)</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>4</td>
<td>MC4M1 Methods of Research in Media &amp; Communications (including Qualitative &amp; Quantitative Analysis) (H)</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

5 Options to the value of one unit:
Media and Communications:
MC401 Mediated Resistance and Citizens (H) MC402 The Audience in Media and Communications (H) MC403 Contemporary Issues in Media and Communications Regulation (H) MC407 International Media and The Global South (H) MC413 Information, Communication and Knowledge Systems (H) MC418 Theories and Concepts in Media and Communications II (Processes of communication in modern life) (H) MC419 Modern Campaigning Politics (H) MC422 Critical Studies in Media and Journalism (H) MC423 Global Media Industries (H) MC424 Media and Communication Governance (H) MC425 Interpersonal Mediated Communication (H) MC426 Film Theory and World Cinema (H) Government:
GV427 Democracy in East and South-East Asia (H) GV479 Nationalism * GV4A2 Citizens’ Political Behaviour in Europe: Elections, Public Opinion and Identity (H) * Any other MSc-level course which is offered in the School, subject to the consent of the candidate’s programme convenor

6 Notes
 Subject to overall numbers
Passing this course is a requirement for passing the programme
MSc Politics and Government in the European Union

Students must take courses to the value of three units and a dissertation as shown. Additionally, all students must take EU465 Research Methods and Design in EU Politics, and if their timetable allows, EU450 European Union: Contemporary Issues, in preparation for the dissertation.

Paper Course number and title

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Part I: Foundation</th>
<th></th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>1</td>
<td>EU435 History and Theory of European Integration (H) (M)</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

Part II: Specialisation

Stream 1 - European Union Government and Policy

2 EU421 Policy-Making in the European Union (H) (L) (cannot be taken with IR431)

3 Any courses to the value of 2 units from the following:

- EU420 European Union Law and Government (H) (M)
- EU423 Greece and the European Union (H) (M) (n/a 12/13)
- EU424 The Idea of Europe (H) (M)
- EU425 Interest Representation and Economic Policy-Making in Europe (H) (M)
- EU426 The West: Identity and Interests (H) (L) (n/a 12/13)
- EU429 Economic and Social Policy in Mediterranean Europe (H) (M) (n/a 12/13)
- EU430 Europeanisation: The Comparative Politics of Domestic Change (H) (M)
- EU431 European Integration from a Global Perspective (H) (L)
- EU432 The Philosophy of Europe (H) (L)
- EU434 The Political Economy of Southeast Europe (H) (M)
- EU436 Law and Governance of the Single European Market
- EU437 Europe Beyond Modernity (H) (L)
- EU438 Turkey: Political Economy and European Integration (H) (L)
- EU439 Political and Fiscal Integration and Disintegration in EU Member States (H) (L) (n/a 12/13)
- EU440 Greece and South-East Europe: Government, Economy and Foreign Policy (H) (L)
- EU446 Patterns of Economic Integration in Europe: Institutions and Politics of EMU (H) (L)
- EU449 Emerging Markets, Political Transition and Economic Development in Central and Eastern Europe (H) (L) †
- EU453 The Political Economy of European Welfare States (H) (L) †
- EU460 European Society and Politics beyond the Nation State (H) (L)
- EU462 Partisanship in Europe (H) (L)
- EU463 European Human Rights Law (H) (L)
- EU464 Migration and Mobility: EU Law and Politics (H) (L)
- EU466 Citizen Representation and Democracy in the European Union (H)
- EU467 Network Regulation (H) (L) †
- EU469 The Second Europe (H) (L)
- EU470 Politics of Economic Policy (H) (M)
- EU471 Legislative Politics: European Parliament (H) (L)
- EU472 The Politics of Inequality and Redistribution (H) (M)
- EU478 Conflict and Institutional Design in Divided Societies (H) (L)
- HY411 European Integration in the Twentieth Century

Stream 2 - The International Relations of Europe

3 Any courses to the value of 1.5 units from the following:

- A half unit from Stream 1- European Union Government and Policy
- EU424 The Idea of Europe (H) (M)
- EU425 Interest Representation and Economic Policy-Making in Europe (H) (M)
- EU426 The West: Identity and Interests (H) (L) (n/a 12/13)
- EU431 European Integration from a Global Perspective (H) (L)
- EU432 The Philosophy of Europe (H) (M)
- EU433 The Political Economy of Southeast Europe (H) (L)
- EU434 The Political Economy of Southeast Europe (H) (L)
- EU435 History and Theory of European Integration (H) (L)
- EU436 Law and Governance of the Single European Market
- EU437 Europe Beyond Modernity (H) (L)
- EU438 Turkey: Political Economy and European Integration (H) (L)
- EU440 Greece and South-East Europe: Government, Economy and Foreign Policy (H) (L)
- EU446 Patterns of Economic Integration in Europe: Institutions and Politics of EMU (H) (L)
- EU449 Emerging Markets, Political Transition and Economic Development in Central and Eastern Europe (H) (L) †
- EU453 The Political Economy of European Welfare States (H) (L) †
- EU460 European Society and Politics beyond the Nation State (H) (L)
- EU462 Partisanship in Europe (H) (L)
- EU463 European Human Rights Law (H) (L)
- EU464 Migration and Mobility: EU Law and Politics (H) (L)
- EU466 Citizen Representation and Democracy in the European Union (H)
- EU467 Network Regulation (H) (L) †
- EU469 The Second Europe (H) (L)
- EU470 Politics of Economic Policy (H) (M)
- EU471 Legislative Politics: European Parliament (H) (L)
- EU472 The Politics of Inequality and Redistribution (H) (M)
- EU478 Conflict and Institutional Design in Divided Societies (H) (L)
- HY411 European Integration in the Twentieth Century

Part III: Dissertation

4 EU498 Dissertation

Notes † Students who wish to take this course must seek approval from the convenor of the course.

MSc Population and Development

Full-year programme. Students must take courses to the value of three full units, non-assessed course SAAC1 and a dissertation as shown.

Paper Course number and title

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>1</th>
<th>DV400 Development: History, Theory and Policy</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>2</td>
<td>Two half-units from: DV411 Population and Development: An Analytic Approach (H)</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>SA481</td>
<td>Population Analysis: Methods and Models (H)</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>
Paper Course number and title

| 3 | SA493 | Demography of the Developing World (H) |
|  | Two half-units or one full unit from: |
|  | Any courses not taken from 2 above |
|  | DV407 | Poverty (H) |
|  | DV413 | Environmental Problems and Development Interventions (H) |
|  | DV420 | Complex Emergencies (H) |
|  | DV421 | Emerging Health Threats and Development (H) |
|  | DV442 | Key Issues in Development Studies (H) |
|  | GI414 | Gender and Social Policy: Theory and Practice (H) |
|  | GY421 | Gender and Development: Geographical Perspectives (H) |
|  | GY431 | Cities, People and Poverty in the South (H) |
|  | PS418 | The Social Psychology of Health Communication (H) |
|  | SA4H7 | Urbanisation and Social Policy in the Global South (H) |
|  | SA485 | Planning for Population and Development (H) |
|  | SA492 | Reproductive Health Programmes: Design, Implementation and Evaluation (H) |
|  | SA4D2 | Health and Population in Developing and Transitional Societies (H) |
|  | SA4D6 | Health Systems and Policies in Developing Countries (H) |
|  | SA4F1 | Migration: Population Trends and Policies (H) |
|  | SA4C1 | Long Essay and the Research Process (not assessed) |
|  | SA499 | Dissertation on Population and Development, to be handed in by 1 September |

Notes * By special permission only.

---

MSc Public Management and Governance

Full year programme. Students must take courses to the value of four full units, including the half-unit dissertation.

Paper Course number and title

| 1 | MG414 | Public Management and Governance |
| 2 | MG415 | Policy Analysis, Evaluation and Implementation |
| 3, 4 & 5 | Courses to the value of 1.5 units from the following: |
|  | AC412 | Accountability, Organisations and Risk Management (H) |
|  | AC464 | Management Accounting and Financial Accounting: Decisions, Control, Reporting and Disclosure |
|  | AC490 | Management Accounting, Decision and Control (H) |
|  | AC491 | Financial Accounting, Reporting and Disclosure (H) |
|  | DV427 | Public Management of Development (H) (n/a 12/13) |
|  | EU421 | Policy-Making in the European Union (H) |
|  | GV4E4 | Public Budgeting and Financial Management |
|  | ID430 | Organisational Behaviour (H) |
|  | ID431 | Organisational Change (H) |
|  | ID433 | Negotiation Analysis (H) |
|  | IS479 | Information Systems for the Public Sector (H) |
|  | IS489 | Data Governance: Privacy, Openness and Transparency (H) |
|  | LL406 | Introduction to Regulation (H) |
|  | LL418 | European Administrative Law (n/a 12/13) |
|  | LL478 | Policing and Police Powers |
|  | MG402 | Public Management: A Strategic Approach (H) |
|  | MG423 | Leading Entrepreneurial Organisations in Global Markets (n/a 12/13) |
|  | MG425 | Global Business Management (H) |
|  | MG437 | Business Model Innovation at the 'Base of the Pyramid' (H) |
|  | MG438 | Business Model Innovation at the 'Base of the Pyramid' (full unit) |
|  | MG450 | Social Network Analysis and Strategies (H) |

MG453 Managing Digital Business (H)

MG482 Aspects of Innovation and Technology Management (H)

OR405 Advanced Behavioural Decision Making (H) (n/a 12/13)

OR431 System Dynamics Modelling (H)

PH425 Business and Organisational Ethics (H)

PS445 Organizational and Social Decision Making (H)

SA4A7 Foundations of Health Policy (H)

SA4B8 Social Policy: Goals and Issues (H)

SA4E9 Education Policy, Reform and Financing (H)

SA4C9 Social Policy: Organization and Innovation (H)

SA4F7 The Economics of European Social Policy (H) (n/a 12/13)

SA4F8 Behavioural Public Policy (H)

SO425 Regulation, Risk, and Economic Life

SO469 Risk and Governance: A Sociological Approach (H)

* By special permission only.

---

MSc Public Policy and Administration (Research)

Full year programme. Students should refer to the Public Policy and Administration regulations and follow these, with the following two changes: MY4M1 or MY4M2 replace MY4S1/MY4S2. Students take one half unit from the list under paper 3.

---

MSc Public Policy and Administration

Full year programme. Students must take courses to the value of 2.5 units and a skills course and dissertation as shown. Part-time students may take courses up to the value of two full course units in their first year. Candidates may, subject to the approval of their supervisor, substitute for up to two of the written papers listed under 3 below, any paper which is offered in the MSc, LLM or MA which involves at least 20 weeks of an integrated teaching programme and which counts as one quarter (or one full unit) of the complete MSc programme in which it is offered.

By choosing particular combinations of core courses, students can choose to have the title of a specialised stream added to the title of their degree:

MSc Public Policy and Administration (Comparative); or

MSc Public Policy and Administration (Public Management).

Paper Course number and title

| 1 | GV4E9 | Approaches and Issues in Public Policy and Administration |
| 2 | Either | GV477 Comparative Public Policy Change (H) |
|  | or | GV483 Public Management Theory and Doctrine (H) |
|  | or | GV4F4 The Politics of Policy Advice (H) |
| 3 | Courses to the value of one unit from the following: | Public Management: |
|  | AC412 | Accountability, Organisations and Risk Management (H) |
|  | DV413 | Environmental Problems and Development Interventions (H) |
|  | DV415 | Global Environmental Governance (H) |
|  | DV427 | Public Management of Development (H) (n/a 12/13) |
|  | GV483 | Public Management Theory and Doctrine (H) |
|  | GV4A2 | Citizens’ Political Behaviour in Europe: Elections and Public Opinion and Identities (H) |
|  | GV4E4 | Public Budgeting and Financial Management |
|  | LL406 | Introduction to Regulation (H) |
|  | MG402 | Public Management: A Strategic Approach (H) |
MSc Real Estate Economics and Finance

Full-year programme. Students must take four compulsory papers and one optional half-unit course and a dissertation as shown.

Paper  Course number and title
1  GY458  Real Property Market Practice (H)
2  GY457  Applied Urban and Regional Economics
3  GY462  Real Estate Finance (H)
4  FM429  Asset Markets A (H) or FM473  Finance I (H)
5  A relevant half-unit course where offered §
6  GY499  Dissertation

Notes § means by special permission only. FM430 can be chosen instead of Paper 4 and 5

This programme is externally accredited by the RICS and the IPF. Further information is available on the Geography and Environment Department www.lse.ac.uk/collections/geographyAndEnvironment/ website (see Quick Links to Real Estate Economics and Finance).

MSc Regional and Urban Planning Studies

Full-year programme. Students must take courses to the value of three full units and a dissertation. Additionally all students are required to take GY450 Planning Practice and Research.

Paper  Course number and title
1  GY447  The Economics of Regional and Urban Planning (H)
2  GY448  Social and Political Aspects of Regional and Urban Planning (H)
3  GY454  Urban Policy and Planning (H)
4  Courses to the value of one and a half units: GI409  Gender, Globalisation and Development: An Introduction (H)
GY403  Contemporary Debates in Human Geography (H)
GY407  Globalization, Regional Development and Policy
GY409  Globalisation and Regional Development (H)
GY410  Economics of Local and Regional Development (H)
GY413  Regional Development and Policy (H)
GY415  Local Capacity and Economic Development Policy (H)
GY421  Gender and Development: Geographical Perspectives (H)
GY430  Contemporary Urbanism (n/a 12/13)
GY431  Cities, People and Poverty in the South (H)
GY432  Urban Ethnography (H)
GY438  Cities and Social Change in East Asia (H)
GY439  Cities, Politics and Citizenship (H)
GY446  Planning for Sustainable Cities (H)
GY455  Economic Appraisal and Valuation (H)
GY460  Techniques of Spatial Economic Analysis
GY462  Real Estate Finance (H)
GY464  Race and Space (H)
MSc Regulation (Research)

Full-year programme. Students must take courses to the value of three full units and a dissertation as shown.

Paper
Course number and title

1
GV488 Law and Politics of Regulation

2 & 3  Courses to the value of one full unit from the following:

Environmental Regulation

DV413 Environmental Problems and Development Interventions (H)

DV415 Global Environmental Governance (H)

GY420 Environmental Regulation: Implementing Policy

GY465 Concepts in Environmental Regulation (H)

GY475 Issues in Environmental Governance (H)

IR407 International Political Economy of the Environment *

LL4D6 International and European Environmental Law

PS439 Science, Technology and Resistance (H) (n/a 12/13)

Financial and Commercial Regulation

AC490 Management Accounting, Decisions and Control (H) or

FM492 Principles of Finance

LL425 European Monetary and Financial Services Law (n/a 12/13)

LL484 Regulation of Financial Markets

LL489 Corporate and Financial Crime

LL499 European Monetary and Banking Law (H) (n/a 12/13)

LL4K2 Law of International Economic and Financial Sanctions (H)

LL4K9 European Capital Markets Law (H)

SO425 Regulation, Risk and Economic Life

Social Regulation

AN451 Anthropology of Politics or

AN456 Anthropology of Economy: production and exchange (H) or

AN457 Anthropology of Economy (2): Transformation and Globalisation (H) or

GY421 Gender and Development: Geographical Perspectives (H)

LL478 Policing and Police Powers

LL4E8 Law in Society: A Joint Course in Law and Anthropology *

SA403 Criminal Justice Policy

SA4L1 The Governance of Welfare: The Nation State and the European Union (H)

SA4L2 Contemporary Issues in European Social Policy (H)

Utilities Regulation

GV403 Network Regulation (H)

LL407 Media and Communications Regulation (H)

LL430 Competition Law

LL451 Cyberlaw (H)

LL454 Digital Rights, Privacy and Security (H)

LL4Z5 EU State Aid Law (H)

Government and Law

EU436 Law and Governance of the Single European Market

GV477 Comparative Public Policy Change (H)

GV481 Political Science and Political Economy (H)

GV482 Political Science and Political Economy: Advanced Topics (H)

GV483 Public Management Theory and Doctrine (H)

LL400 Jurisprudence and Legal Theory

LL465 Law and Social Theory

LL474 Modern Legal History

LL489 Corporate and Financial Crime

SA4F8 Behavioural Public Policy (H)

SO469 Risk and Governance: A Sociological Approach (H)

5
LL499 Dissertation: MSc Regulation

Notes

§ means by special permission only.

This programme is externally accredited by the RICS. Further information is available on the Geography and Environment Department website (see Quick Links to Regional and Urban Planning Studies).

---

MSc Regulation

Full-year programme. Students must take courses to the value of three full units and a dissertation as shown.

Paper
Course number and title

1
GV488 Law and Politics of Regulation

2 & 3  Courses to the value of two full units from the following:

Environmental Regulation

DV413 Environmental Problems and Development Interventions (H)

DV415 Global Environmental Governance (H)

GY420 Environmental Regulation: Implementing Policy

GY465 Concepts in Environmental Regulation (H)

GY475 Issues in Environmental Governance (H)

IR407 International Political Economy of the Environment *

LL4D6 International and European Environmental Law

PS439 Science, Technology and Resistance (H) (n/a 12/13)

Financial and Commercial Regulation

AC490 Management Accounting, Decisions and Control (H) or

FM492 Principles of Finance

LL425 European Monetary and Financial Services Law (n/a 12/13)

LL484 Regulation of Financial Markets

LL489 Corporate and Financial Crime

LL499 European Monetary and Banking Law (H) (n/a 12/13)

LL4K2 Law of International Economic and Financial Sanctions (H)

LL4K9 European Capital Markets Law (H) +

SO425 Regulation, Risk and Economic Life

SO469 Risk and Governance: A Sociological Approach (H)

Social Regulation

AC490 Management Accounting, Decisions and Control (H) or

FM492 Principles of Finance

LL425 European Monetary and Financial Services Law (n/a 12/13)

LL484 Regulation of Financial Markets

LL489 Corporate and Financial Crime

LL499 European Monetary and Banking Law (H) + (n/a 12/13)

Financial and Commercial Regulation

AC490 Management Accounting, Decisions and Control (H) or

FM492 Principles of Finance

LL425 European Monetary and Financial Services Law (n/a 12/13)

LL484 Regulation of Financial Markets

LL489 Corporate and Financial Crime

LL499 European Monetary and Banking Law (H) +

SO425 Regulation, Risk and Economic Life

SO469 Risk and Governance: A Sociological Approach (H)

Social Regulation
AN451 Anthropology of Politics or
AN456 Anthropology of Economy (1): production and exchange (H) or AN457 Anthropology of Economy (2): Development, Transformation and Globalisation (H) or LL4E8 Law in Society: A Joint Course in Law and Anthropology *
GY421 Gender and Development: Geographical Perspectives (H)
LL478 Policing and Police Powers
SA403 Criminal Justice Policy
SA4L1 The Governance of Welfare: The Nation State and the European Union (H)
SA4L2 Contemporary Issues in European Social Policy (H)

Utilities Regulation
GV403 Network Regulation (H)
LL407 Media and Communications Regulation (H)
LL430 Competition Law
LL451 Cyberlaw (H)
LL454 Digital Rights, Privacy and Security (H)
LL425 EU State Aid Law (H)

Government and Law
EU436 Law and Governance of the Single European Market
GV477 Comparative Public Policy Change (H)
GV481 Political Science and Political Economy (H)
GV482 Political Science and Political Economy: Advanced Topics (H)
GV483 Public Management Theory and Doctrine (H)
LL400 Jurisprudence and Legal Theory
LL465 Law and Social Theory
LL474 Modern Legal History
LL489 Corporate and Financial Crime
SA448 Behavioural Public Policy (H)
SO469 Risk and Governance: A Sociological Approach (H)
A course from another programme §

Notes
Students who take courses to the value of two full units from one of the categories shown in bold above, or one course and a dissertation which in the opinion of the School falls within the same category, may choose to have the title of their subject category included on the degree certificate. No more than one category may appear on the degree certificate.
§ means by special permission only.
* means subject to agreement by the course teacher.
+ This course cannot be taken with LL425

MSc Risk and Finance
Full-year programme. Student must take courses to the value of four full units (of which one paper includes a dissertation) as shown below.

Paper Course number and title
1 FM403 Management and Regulation of Risk (includes dissertation)
2 Papers to the value of one half-unit from the following list of Finance courses:
   FM429 Asset Markets A (H) (if not taken under paper 2)
   FM430 Corporate Finance and Asset Markets
   FM431M Corporate Finance A (H) or FM431L Corporate Finance A (H) (if not taken under paper 2)
   FM442 Quantitative Methods for Finance and Risk Analysis (H)*
   FM445 Portfolio Management (H)
   FM472 International Finance (H)
   FM473 Finance I (H) (if not taken under paper 2)
   FY462 Real Estate Finance (H)
   OR434 Principle of Decision Sciences (H)
   ST409 Stochastic Processes (H)

3 Papers to the value of one full unit from the following list of qualitative courses:
   AC412 Accountability, Organisations and Risk Management (H)
   FY420 Environmental Regulation: Implementing Policy
   FY455 Economic Appraisal and Valuation (H)
   FY465 Concepts in Environmental Regulation (H)
   FY475 Issues in Environmental Governance (H)
   LL435 Corporate Governance
   LL437 Law of Corporate Finance (n/a 12/13)
   LL484 Regulation of Financial Markets
   LL489 Corporate and Financial Crime
   MN429 The World Trading System (H)
   MN430 Strategy for the Information Economy (H)
   PH425 Business and Organisational Ethics (H)
   SO425 Regulation, Risk and Economic Life
   SO469 Risk and Governance: A Sociological Approach (H)

4 Papers to the value of one half unit from those not selected in 3 or 4 above, or any other paper with the approval of the Programme Director.

Notes
* Students taking this course can apply for a place on FM457 MATLAB for MSc Students, a non-assessed computer course.

MSc Risk and Stochastics
Students take six compulsory half unit courses and one unit of optional courses.

Paper Course number and title
1 ST409 Stochastic Processes (H)
2 ST437 Life Insurance (H)
3 ST438 Non-life Insurance (H)
4 ST439 Stochastics for Derivatives Modelling (H)
5 ST440 Recent Developments and Finance and Insurance (H)
6 ST441 Introduction to Markov Processes and Their Applications (H)
7 & 8 Two of the following:
   FM441 Derivatives (H)
   FM442 Quantitative Methods for Finance and Risk Analysis (H)*
   MA409 Continuous Time-Optimisation (H)
   MA411 Probability and Measure (H)
   MA415 The Mathematics of the Black and Scholes Theory (H)
   MA416 The Foundations of Interest Rate and Credit Risk Theory (H)
   MA420 Quantifying Risk Modelling and Alternative Markets (H) (n/a 12/13)
   ST422 Time Series (H)
   ST435 Advanced Probability Theory (H)
   ST436 Financial Statistics (H)
   ST441 Introduction to Markov Processes and Their Applications (H)

Notes
* Students taking this course can apply for a place on FM457 MATLAB for MSc Students, a non-assessed computer course.
MSc Social and Cultural Psychology

Full-year programme. Students are required to take two compulsory courses, optional courses to the value of 1 unit and a dissertation as shown.

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Paper</th>
<th>Course number and title</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>1</td>
<td>PS400 Contemporary Social and Cultural Psychology</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>
| 2     | One of the following courses (depending on the student's level of knowledge and experience with methods):
| | PS4A1 Methods for Social Psychology Research:
| | Fundamental Qualitative and Fundamental Quantitative Methods
| | PS4A2 Methods for Social Psychology Research:
| | Advanced Qualitative and Fundamental Quantitative Methods
| | PS4A3 Methods for Social Psychology Research:
| | Advanced Qualitative and Fundamental Quantitative Methods
| | PS4A4 Methods for Social Psychology Research:
| | Advanced Qualitative and Advanced Quantitative Methods |
| 3     | Courses to the value of 1 unit from the following:
| | GI405 Globalising Sexualities (H)
| | GI408 Cultural Constructions of the Body (H) (n/a 12/13)
| | PS410 Social Representations (H)
| | PS411 Current Communication Research (H)
| | PS415 The Social Psychology of Economic Life (H) (n/a 12/13)
| | PS418 Social Psychology of Health Communication (H)
| | PS421 Issues in Social Psychology: Evolutionary Social Psychology (H) (n/a 12/13)
| | PS428 Knowledge Processes in Organisations (H)
| | PS437 Representations, Institutions and Communities (H) (n/a 12/13)
| | PS438 Corporate Communications (H)
| | PS439 Science, Technology and Resistance (H) (n/a 12/13)
| | PS445 Organisational and Social Decision Making (H)
| | PS446 Issues in Organisational and Social Psychology: Organisational Life (H)
| | PS447 Psychoanalysis and Communication (H)
| | PS451 Cognition and Culture (H)
| | PS456 Consumer Psychology (H)
| | PS458 Creativity and Innovation (H)
| | PS460 Inter-cultural Relations and Racism (H)
| | PS462 Theory and Practice of Organisational Development (H)
| | A course from another programme (subject to the approval of the Candidate's Programme Director)
| | PS497 Dissertation* |
| 4     | Notes
| | *Failures in this course cannot be condoned. A bad fail is defined as a mark less than 29%.
| | Students taking this programme are eligible to become members of the British Psychological Society. www.bps.org.uk/ |

MSc Social Anthropology (Learning and Cognition)

Full-year programme. Students take two compulsory courses, options to the value of one unit and a dissertation as shown.

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Paper</th>
<th>Course number and title</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>1</td>
<td>AN437 Anthropology of Learning and Cognition</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>2</td>
<td>AN404 Anthropology: Theory and Ethnography</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>3</td>
<td>Any full unit, or any two half unit Anthropology courses.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>4</td>
<td>AN499 Dissertation</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

MSc Social Anthropology (Research)

Full-year programme. Students must take the following five courses and attend the weekly AN500 Seminar on Anthropological Research.

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Paper</th>
<th>Course number and title</th>
</tr>
</thead>
</table>
| 1     | AN455 Statistics and Causal Analysis for Social Anthropologists (H) or MY452 Applied Regression Analysis (only in the case of students who already have a background in statistics)
| | AN449 Ethnography in Relation to Other Research Methods (H) |
| 3     | AN441 Anthropological Fieldwork Methods |
| 4     | AN442 Supervised Reading Course and Fieldwork Preparation |
MSc Social Anthropology
Full-year programme. Students must take courses to the value of three full units and a dissertation as shown.

Paper Course number and title
1 AN404 Anthropology: Theory and Ethnography
2 One or two of the following to the value of one full unit:
   AN402 The Anthropology of Religion
   AN405 The Anthropology of Kinship, Sex and Gender
   AN451 Anthropology of Politics (H)
   AN456 Anthropology of Economy (1): Production and Exchange (H)
3 AN457 Anthropology of Economy (2): Development, Transformation and Globalisation (H)

One or two of the following to the value of one full unit:

A paper from 2 above not already taken
AN419 The Anthropology of Christianity (H) (n/a 12/13)
AN420 The Anthropology of South-East Asia (H) (n/a 12/13)
AN421 The Anthropology of Industrialisation and Industrial Life (H) (n/a 12/13)
AN424 The Anthropology of Melanesia (H) (n/a 12/13)
AN429 The Anthropology of Southern Africa (H) (n/a 12/13)
AN436 The Anthropology of Development (H)
AN437 Anthropology of Learning and Cognition
AN439 Anthropology and Human Rights (H)
AN444 Investigating the Philippines- New Approaches and Ethnographic Contexts (H) (n/a 12/13)
AN447 China in Comparative Perspective
AN458 Children and Youth in Contemporary Ethnography (H) (n/a 12/13)
AN459 Anthropology and Media (H) (n/a 12/13)
AN461 Anthropological Approaches to Questions of Being (H) (n/a 12/13)
AN462 The Anthropology of Post-Soviet Eurasia (H) (n/a 12/13)
AN463 The Anthropology of Borders and Boundaries (H) (n/a 12/13)
AN464 Ethnography of a Selected Region (H) (n/a 12/13)
AN467 The Anthropology of South Asia (H)
AN468 The Anthropology of Schooling (H) (n/a 12/13)
AN469 The Anthropology of Amazonia (H)

4 AN499 Dissertation

MSc Social Policy (European and Comparative Social Policy)
[Formerly MSc European Social Policy]
Full-year programme. Students must take compulsory courses to the value of one unit, optional courses to the value of two units, the non-assessed course SA4C1 and a dissertation as shown.

Paper Course number and title
1 SA4L1 The Governance of Welfare: The Nation State and the European Union (H)
2 SA488 Social Policy: Goals and Issues (H)
3 European Contextual options Two half units from:
   EU420 European Union Law and Government (H) *
   EU421 Policy-Making in the European Union (H)
   EU439 Political and Fiscal Integration and Disintegration in EU Member States (H) (n/a 12/13)
   EU453 The Political Economy of European Welfare States (H)
   IR431 European Union Policy-Making in a Global Context (H)
   SA4F7 The Economics of European Social Policy (H) (n/a 12/13)

3 Courses to the value of one full unit from the following:
   GI414 Gender and Social Policy: Theory and Practice (H)
   GI415 Gender and European Welfare States (H)
   GY454 Urban Policy and Planning

4 Social Policy Options
Courses to the value of one full unit:
   GI414 Gender and Social Policy: Theory and Practice (H)
   GI415 Gender and European Welfare States (H)
   SA403 Criminal Justice Policy
   SA407 Financing Health Care (H)
   SA409 Social Security Policies (H)
   SA429 Social Exclusion, Inequality and the ‘Underclass’ Debate (H)
   SA451 Social Policy Research
   SA4B8 Ethnicity, Race and Social Policy (H)
   SA4B9 Education Policy, Reform and Financing (H)
   SA4C6 International Housing and Human Settlements (H)
   SA4C8 Globalization and Social Policy (H)
   SA4C9 Social Policy: Organisation and Innovation (H)
   SA4D4 Measuring Health System Performance (H)
   SA4D5 Social Rights and Human Welfare (H)
   SA4F8 Behavioural Public Policy (H)
   SA4F9 Housing, Neighbourhoods and Communities (H)
   SA4G8 The Third Sector (H)
   SA4H4 Urbanisation and Social Policy in the Global South

Or another appropriate course(s) with approval of the Programme Director.

Notes * May only be taken with the permission of the Course Tutor and the MSc Programme Director.

MSc Social Policy (Research)
Full-year programme. Students take two compulsory courses, one unit of options and a dissertation.

Paper Course number and title
1 SA451 Social Policy Research
2 MY4M1 Foundations of Social Research 1 or MY4M2 Foundations of Social Research 2

3 Courses to the value of one full unit from the following:
   GI414 Gender and Social Policy: Theory and Practice (H)
   GI415 Gender and European Welfare States (H)
   MY426 Doing Ethnography (H)
   SA403 Criminal Justice Policy
   SA408 Health Economics (H)
   SA409 Social Security Policies (H)
   SA427 Pharmaceutical Economics and Policy (H)
   SA429 Social Exclusion, Inequality and the ‘Underclass’ Debate (H)
   SA447 Foundations of Health Policy (H)
   SA485 Planning for Population and Development (H)
   SA488 Social Policy: Goals and Issues (H)
   SA493 Demography of the Developing World (H)
   SA488 Ethnicity, Race and Social Policy (H)
   SA489 Education Policy, Reform and Financing (H)
   SA4C2 Basic Education and Social Development (H)
   SA4C6 International Housing and Human Settlements (H)
   SA4C9 Social Policy - Organization and Innovation (H)
   SA4D5 Social Rights and Human Welfare (H)
   SA4E6 Rural Development and Social Policy (H) (n/a 12/13)

4 SA4F7 The Economics of European Policy (H) (n/a 12/13)
SA4F8 Behavioural Public Policy (H)
SA4F9 Housing, Neighbourhoods and Communities (H)
SA4G8 The Third Sector (H)
SA4H4 Urbanisation and Social Policy in the Global South
MSc Social Policy (Social Policy and Planning)
(formerly MSc Social Policy and Planning)
Full-year programme. Students must take: two half unit compulsory courses, attend the non-assessed course SA4C1, optional courses to the value of two full units and a dissertation.

Paper
Course number and title

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Compulsory courses</th>
<th>Optional courses</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>1 SA488 Social Policy: Goals and Issues (H)</td>
<td>Choose to the value of two full units from the following courses:</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>2 &amp; 3 SA4C9 Social Policy: Organisation and Innovation (H)</td>
<td>GI414 Gender and Social Policy: Theory and Practice (H)</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td>GI415 Gender and European Welfare States (H)</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td>GY454 Urban Policy and Planning (H)</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td>SA403 Criminal Justice Policy</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td>SA407 Financing Health Care (H)</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td>SA409 Social Security Policies (H)</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td>SA429 Social Exclusion, Inequalities and the ‘Underclass’ Debate (H)</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td>SA451 Social Policy Research</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td>SA488 Ethnicity, Race and Social Policy (H)</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td>SA489 Education Policy, Reform and Financing (H)</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td>SA4C6 International Housing and Human Settlements (H)</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td>SA4C8 Globalization and Social Policy (H)</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td>SA4D4 Measuring Health System Performance (H)</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td>SA4D5 Social Rights and Human Welfare (H)</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td>SA4F7 The Economics of European Policy (H) (n/a 12/13)</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td>SA4F8 Behavioural Public Policy (H)</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td>SA4F9 Housing, Neighbourhoods and Communities (H)</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td>SA4G8 The Third Sector (H)</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td>SA4L1 The Governance of Welfare: The Nation State and the European Union (H)</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td>SA4L2 Contemporary Issues in European Social Policy (H)</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td>SA4L4 Behaviour, Happiness and Public Policy</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td>SA4M1 Politics of Social Policy: Welfare and Work in Comparative Perspective (H)</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td>Or a full or half unit course from another MSc programme*</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>4 SA471 Dissertation: Social Policy and Planning (10,000 words) to be handed in by 1 September</td>
<td>Notes * May only be taken with the permission of your tutor, the MSc Programme Director and the Course Tutor.</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

Notes
A course from another programme, with the permission of your tutor, the MSc Programme Director and the Course Tutor.

MSc Social Policy and Development
(formerly MSc NGOs and Development)
Full-year programme. Students must take two compulsory courses, optional courses to the value of two full units, non-assessed course SA4C1 and a dissertation as shown.

Paper
Course number and title

1 SA418 Social Policy and Development: Core Concepts (H)
2 SA419 Social Policy and Development (H)
3 Courses from the value of two full units from the following:
   SA4H7 Urbanization and Social Planning (H)
   SA4H9 Non-Governmental Organisations, Social Policy and Development (H)
   SA4H7 Urbanization and Social Planning (H)
   SA4H9 Non-Governmental Organisations, Social Policy and Development (H)
   SA4H7 Urbanization and Social Planning (H)
   SA4H9 Non-Governmental Organisations, Social Policy and Development (H)
   SA4C1 Long Essay and the Research Process
4 SA471 Dissertation: Social Policy and Planning

Notes
A course from the MSc Programme Director and the Course Tutor.

MSc Social Policy and Development: Non-Governmental Organisations
(formerly MSc NGOs and Development)
Full-year programme. Students must take two compulsory courses, optional courses to the value of two full units, non-assessed course SA4C1 and a dissertation as shown.

Paper
Course number and title

1 SA418 Social Policy and Development: Core Concepts (H)
2 SA419 Social Policy and Development (H)
3 Courses from the value of two full units from the following:
   DV407 Poverty (H)
   DV420 Complex Emergencies (H)
   GI407 Globalisation, Gender and Development
   GI418 Feminist Economics and Policy: An Introduction (H)
   GY438 Cities and Social Change in East Asia (H)
   GY467 Development, Diaspora and Migration (H)
   GY479 The Urban Revolution (H) (n/a 12/13)
   GY480 Remaking China: Geographical aspects of Disparity and Development (H)
   Any course within the Department of Social Policy
   A course from another programme (with permission).
   Students are also encouraged to audit MY400 Fundamentals of Social Science Research Design (not assessed).
4 SA4C1 Long Essay and the Research Process (not assessed)
5 SA472 Dissertation- Social Policy and Development, to be handed in by 1 September

Notes
Students outside the degree programme who opt to take either SA418 or SA419 will be required to take part in a three day residential workshop on applied social planning at Cumberland Lodge in Windsor Great Park, during the Lent term. The cost of this three day workshop is £200.
SA4D2 Health and Population in Developing and Transitional Societies (H)
SA4D5 Social Rights and Human Welfare (H)
SA4E6 Rural Development and Social Policy (H) (n/a 12/13)
SA4F7 The Economics of European Policy (H) (n/a 12/13)
SA4F8 Behavioural Public Policy (H)
SA4H7 Urbanisation and Social Policy in the Global South (H)
SA4J9 States, Social Policy and Development
Another course from within the Social Policy Department.
A course from another programme (with permission).
Students are also encouraged to audit MY400 Fundamentals of Social Science Research Design (not assessed).

1. SA4C1 Long Essay and the Research Process (not assessed) option only possible within the constraints of the timetable
2. SA4J0 Dissertation - Social Policy and Development: Non-Governmental Organisations, to be handed in by 1 September

Notes
Students outside the degree programme who opt to take either SA4J8 or SA4J9 will be required to take part in a three day residential workshop on applied social planning at Cumberland Lodge in Windsor Great Park, during the Lent term. The cost of this three day workshop is £200.

MSc Social Research Methods
Full-year programme.
Part 1: Social Research Methods. Students must take courses to the value of three full units and a dissertation as shown.
Part 2: Disciplinary streams. Students must take courses to the value of one full unit in one of the ten streams as shown.
Part 1 Social Research Methods
Paper Course number and title
1. Two of the following:
   MY451 Introduction to Quantitative Analysis (H)
   MY452 Applied Regression Analysis (H)
   MY455 Multivariate Analysis and Measurement (H) or courses in Statistics to the value of one full unit §
2. MY400 Fundamentals of Social Science Research Design (H) and MY421 Qualitative Social Research: Interview, Text and Image (H)
3. MY499 Dissertation (August)

Notes § means by special permission only.
Part 2 Disciplinary Streams
Sociology
Courses to the value of one full unit from the following:
MY426 Doing Ethnicity (H)
MY427 Qualitative Research With Non-Traditional Data (H)
SO407 Politics and Society
SO438 Sociology of Employment I: Social Relations at Work (H)
SO439 Sociology of Employment II: Contemporary Management and Globalisation (H)
SO458 Gender and Societies (H)
Courses to the value of one unit from the Methodology options list (below)
Social Psychology
Courses to the value of one full unit from the following:
MC402 The Audience in Media and Communications (H)
MY427 Qualitative Research With Non-Traditional Data (H)
PS404 Organisational Social Psychology
PS411 Current Communication Research (H)
PS415 The Social Psychology of Economic Life (H) (n/a 12/13)

PS418 Social Psychology of Health Communication (H)
PS421 Issues in Social Psychology: Evolutionary and Social Psychology (H) (n/a 12/13)
PS437 Representations, Institutions and Communities (H) (n/a 12/13)
PS439 Science, Technology and Resistance (H) (n/a 12/13)
PS443 Modern Social Psychology (H)
PS445 Organisational and Social Decision Making (H)
PS447 Psychoanalysis and Communication (H)
Courses to the value of one unit from the Methodology options list (below)

Philosophy
Courses to the value of one full unit from the following:
PH400 Philosophy of Science
PH405 Philosophy of the Social Sciences
PH413 Philosophy of Economics
Courses to the value of one unit from the Methodology options list (below)

Social Policy
SA451 Social Policy Research
Courses to the value of one unit from the Methodology options list (below)

Statistics
Any approved Graduate level courses in Statistics to the value of one unit, for example:
MY459 Special Topics in Quantitative Analysis: Advanced Regression Modelling (H)
MY456 Survey Methodology (H)
MY457 Causal Inference for Observational and Experimental Studies (H)
ST416 Multilevel and Longitudinal Modelling (H)
ST425 Statistical Inference: Principles, Methods and Computation
Courses to the value of one unit from the Methodology options list (below)

Decision and Policy Sciences
Any half unit in MSc Decision Sciences, subject to timetabling constraints, and as approved by the course tutor.
Courses to the value of one unit from the Methodology options list (below)

Government
Any Graduate level course(s) in Government, subject to timetabling constraints, and as approved by the course tutor, to the value of one full unit.
Courses to the value of one unit from the Methodology options list (below)

Development Studies
Any Graduate level course(s) in Development Studies, subject to timetabling constraints, and as approved by the course tutor, to the value of one full unit.
Courses to the value of one unit from the Methodology options list (below)

Management
Any Graduate level course(s) in Management, subject to timetabling constraints, and as approved by the course tutor, to the value of one full unit.
Courses to the value of one unit from the Methodology options list (below)

Population
One compulsory half unit:
SA481 Population Analysis: Methods and Models (H)
One half unit from the following:
DV411 Population and Development: an Analytical Approach (H)
GI415 Gender and European Welfare States (H)
GI417 Gender, Population and Policy (H)
SA485 Planning for Population and Development (H)
SA492 Reproductive Health Programmes: Design, Implementation and Evaluation (H)
SA493 Demography of the Developing World (H)
MSc Sociology (Contemporary Social Thought)
Full-year programme. Students must take courses to the value of three units and write a dissertation as shown.

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Course number and title</th>
<th>1</th>
<th>2 &amp; 3</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>SO463 Contemporary Social Thought</td>
<td>SO426 Classical Social Thought (H)</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>SO427 Modern Social Thought (H)</td>
<td>SO433 Cultural Theory (H)</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>SO439 Sociology of Employment II: Contemporary Management and Globalisation (H)</td>
<td>SO471 Technology, Power and Culture (H)</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Other options from the Department of Sociology and approved outside options.</td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>4</td>
<td>SO499 Dissertation</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

MSc Sociology (Economic Sociology)
Full-year programme. Students must take courses to the value of three units and write a dissertation as shown.

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Course number and title</th>
<th>1</th>
<th>2 &amp; 3</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>SO430 Economic Sociology (H)</td>
<td>SO426 Classical Social Thought (H)</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>SO427 Modern Social Thought (H)</td>
<td>SO433 Cultural Theory (H)</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>SO439 Sociology of Employment II: Contemporary Management and Globalisation (H)</td>
<td>SO471 Technology, Power and Culture (H)</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Other options from the Department of Sociology and approved outside options.</td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>4</td>
<td>SO499 Dissertation</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

MSc Sociology (Research)
This is a full-year programme (one year full-time, two years part-time). Students will be required to take three courses to the value of three full units and a dissertation as shown.

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Course number and title</th>
<th>1</th>
<th>2</th>
<th>3</th>
<th>4</th>
<th>5</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>SO401 Social Research Methods</td>
<td>SO451 Introduction to Quantitative Analysis (H)</td>
<td>SO452 Applied Regression Analysis (H)</td>
<td>Sociology option(s) to the value of one unit</td>
<td>SO499 Dissertation</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

MSc Statistics (Financial Statistics) (Research)
Academic-year programme. Students take three compulsory courses (two units), a dissertation, and optional courses to the value of one unit.

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Course number and title</th>
<th>1</th>
<th>2</th>
<th>3</th>
<th>4</th>
<th>5</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>ST425 Statistical Inference: Principles, Methods and Computation</td>
<td>ST436 Financial Statistics (H)</td>
<td>ST422 Time Series (H)</td>
<td>ST499 Dissertation</td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Courses to the value of one unit from the following:</td>
<td>ST405 Multivariate Methods (H)</td>
<td>ST409 Stochastic Processes (H)</td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>ST411 Generalised Linear Modelling and Survival Analysis (H)</td>
<td>ST416 Multilevel and Longitudinal Modelling (H)</td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>ST418 Non-linear Dynamics and the Analysis of Real Time Series (H)</td>
<td>ST421 Statistical Inference: Principles, Methods and Computation</td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>ST435 Advanced Probability Theory (H)</td>
<td>ST437 Life Insurance (H)</td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>ST438 Non-Life Insurance (H)</td>
<td>ST439 Stochastics for Derivatives Modelling (H)</td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>
MSc Statistics (Financial Statistics)
Academic-year programme. Students take three compulsory courses (two units) and options to the value of two units.

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Paper</th>
<th>Course number and title</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>1</td>
<td>ST425 Statistical Inference: Principles, Methods and Computation</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>2</td>
<td>ST436 Financial Statistics (H)</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>3</td>
<td>ST422 Time Series (H)</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>4</td>
<td>Courses to the value of two full units from the following*: ST405 Multivariate Methods (H) ST409 Stochastic Processes (H) ST411 Generalised Linear Modelling and Survival Analysis (H) ST416 Multilevel and Longitudinal Modelling (H) ST418 Non-linear Dynamics and the Analysis of Real Time Series (H) ST421 Developments in Statistical Methods (H) ST422 Time Series (H) ST435 Advanced Probability Theory (H) EC484 Econometric Analysis MY400 Fundamentals of Social Science Research Design (H) MY456 Survey Methodology (H) MY457 Causal Inference for Observational and Experimental Studies (H) MY459 Special Topics in Quantitative Analysis: Advanced Regression Modelling (H) OR406 Mathematical Programming: Theory and Algorithms (H) Other non-ST course(s) (to the value of one unit, with permission)</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

This programme is externally accredited by the RSS. Further information is available on the Department of Statistics website www.lse.ac.uk/collections/statistics.

Notes: *Students cannot take more than one full unit of non-ST or non-MY prefixed courses.

MSc Statistics (Research)
Full-year programme. Students must take courses to the value of three full units and a dissertation.

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Paper</th>
<th>Course number and title</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>1</td>
<td>ST425 Statistical Inference: Principles, Methods and Computation</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>2</td>
<td>ST499 Dissertation</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>3 and 4</td>
<td>Courses to the value of two full units from the following: ST405 Multivariate Methods (H) ST409 Stochastic Processes (H) ST411 Generalised Linear Modelling and Survival Analysis (H) ST416 Multilevel and Longitudinal Modelling (H) ST418 Non-linear Dynamics and the Analysis of Real Time Series (H) ST421 Developments in Statistical Methods (H) ST422 Time Series (H) ST435 Advanced Probability Theory (H) EC484 Econometric Analysis MY400 Fundamentals of Social Science Research Design (H) MY456 Survey Methodology (H) MY457 Causal Inference for Observational and Experimental Studies (H) MY459 Special Topics in Quantitative Analysis: Advanced Regression Modelling (H) OR406 Mathematical Programming: Theory and Algorithms (H) SA481 Population Analysis: Methods and Models (H) Other non-ST course(s) (to the value of one unit, with permission)</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

This programme is externally accredited by the RSS. Further information is available on the Department of Statistics website www.lse.ac.uk/collections/statistics.
MSc Theory and History of International Relations

Full-year programme. Students must take courses to the value of four units, including a dissertation as shown.

Paper Course number and title

1. One course from the following list:
   - HY400 Crisis Decision-Making in War and Peace, 1914-2003
   - HY422 Presidents, Public Opinion and Foreign Policy: From Roosevelt to Reagan, 1933-1989
   - HY429 Anglo-American Relations from World War to Cold War
   - HY435 Political Islam: From Ibn Taymiyya to Osama bin Laden
   - HY436 Race, Violence and Colonial Rule in Africa

2. Courses to the value of one unit:
   - IR411 Foreign Policy Analysis
   - IR412 International Institutions
   - IR415 Strategic Aspects of International Relations
   - IR416 The EU in the World
   - IR418 International Politics: Asia and the Pacific
   - IR419 International Relations of the Middle East
   - IR422 Conflict and Peace Studies
   - IR429 Economic Diplomacy
   - IR431 European Policy-making in a Global Context (H)
   - IR432 Introduction to International Political Theory (H)
   - IR433 The International Political Theory of Humanitarian Intervention (H)
   - IR434 The Politics of International Law (H) (n/a 12/13)
   - IR435 Genocide (H) (n/a 12/13)
   - IR481 Europe, the US and Arab-Israeli Relations (H) (n/a 12/13)
   - IR482 Russia and Eurasia: Foreign and Security Policies

3. One course from the following list:
   - HY411 European Integration in the Twentieth Century
   - HY426 The European Enlightenment, c 1680-1799
   - HY432 From Cold Warriors to Peacemakers: the End of the Cold War Era, 1979-1999 (n/a 12/13)
   - HY434 The Rise and Fall of Communism in Europe 1917-1990
   - HY438 Western Intellectuals and the Challenge of Totalitarianism
   - HY439 War Cultures, 1890-1945
   - HY440 The Emergence of Modern Iran: State, Society and Diplomacy
   - HY441 Nusantara: State and Rebellion in the Indonesian Archipelago from the Colonial Period to Reformism
   - HY461 East Asia in the Age of Imperialism, 1839-1945
   - HY462 The Origins of the Cold War, 1917-1962
   - HY463 Crises and Detente in the Cold War, 1962-1975 (n/a 12/13)
   - HY465 The International History of the Balkans since 1939: State Projects, Wars, and Social Conflict (n/a 12/13)
   - HY467 Media and politics, 1890-c. 1970/80 (UK, Germany and the US) (n/a 12/13)
   - HY468 Nazi Germany and WW II - Causes and Course, 1933-1945
   - HY469 Maps, History and Power: The Spaces and Cultures of the Past
   - EH451 Latin American Development: political economy of growth (H)
   - EH452 Latin American Development and Economic History (H)

   EU426 The West: Identity and Interests (H) (n/a 12/13)
   - GV479 Nationalism
   - A further course from the paper 2 selection list
   - A further course from the paper 1 selection list (subject to approval by the programme director)

4. HY499 Dissertation

Notes

* Capped course with priority for International Development students so admission not guaranteed.

In exceptional cases it may be possible to make alternative choices for papers 2 & 3 with the approval of the Programme Director.
Taught Masters Partnership Programme Regulations
LSE-Columbia University Double MA Degree in International and World History

Twenty-two month programme. Students take the first year at Columbia University, and the second year at the LSE as follows:

Optional courses to the value of three full units, a dissertation and a language course as shown:

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Paper</th>
<th>Course number and title</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>1</td>
<td>HY458 LSE-Columbia University Double Degree Dissertation</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

Courses to the value of three full units from the following:

International History
- HY400 Crisis Decision-Making in War and Peace, 1914-2003
- HY411 European Integration in the Twentieth Century
- HY422 Presidents, Public Opinion, and Foreign Policy: From Roosevelt to Reagan, 1933-1989
- HY423 Empire, Colonialism and Globalisation
- HY424 The Napoleonic Empire: The Making of Modern Europe?
- HY426 The European Enlightenment, c.1680-1799
- HY429 Anglo-American Relations from World War to Cold War, 1939-91
- HY432 From Cold Warriors to Peacemakers: The End of the Cold War Era, 1979-1999 (n/a 12/13)
- HY434 The Rise and Fall of Communism in Europe, 1917-1990
- HY435 Political Islam: From Mohamed Abduh to Osama bin Laden
- HY436 Race, Violence and Colonial Rule in Africa
- HY438 Western Intellectuals and the Challenge of Totalitarianism
- HY439 War Cultures, 1890-1945
- HY440 The Emergence of Modern Iran: State, Society and Diplomacy
- HY461 East Asia in the Age of Imperialism, 1839-1945
- HY463 The Origins of the Cold War, 1917-1962
- HY464 Crises and Détente in the Cold War, 1962-1979 (n/a 12/13)
- HY465 The International History of the Balkans since 1939: State Projects, Wars, and Social Conflict (n/a 12/13)
- HY467 Media and politics, 1890-c.1970/80 (UK, Germany and the US) (n/a 12/13)
- HY468 Nazi Germany and WWII - Causes and Course, 1933-1945
- HY469 Maps, History and Power: The Spaces and Cultures of the Past
- EH404 India and the World Economy (H) (n/a 12/13)
- EH408 International Migration, 1500-2000: from Slavery to Asylum (H) (n/a 12/13)
- EH413 African Economic Development in Historical Perspective (H)
- EH428 History of Economics: Making Political Economy into a Social Science (H)
- EH429 History of Economics: Ideas, Policy and Performativity (H)
- EH451 Latin American Development: political economy of growth (H)
- EH452 Latin American Development and Economic History (H)
- EH466 Labour and Work in Preindustrial Europe (H) (n/a 12/13)
- EH467 Epidemics: epidemic disease in history, 1348-2000 (H)
- EH486 Shipping and Sea Power in Asian Waters, c1600-1860 (H) (n/a 12/13)

Regarding Economic History (EH) courses only: it may be possible to take further options among EH courses with the agreement of the course teacher responsible and the Academic Coordinator of the Double Degree. One of the above may be replaced by a further course from other LSE departments (subject to agreement with tutor and teacher responsible for the course).

5 Compulsory Language Requirement Students can fulfil the language requirement of the dual Master’s degree in three different ways:

1) By taking two years of language training while at Columbia and the London School of Economics.
2) By taking, and passing, two translation exams. (Both translation exams must be taken at Columbia. See sample translation exams on the CU History Department website).
3) By taking, and passing, one translation exam and studying a language for one year, either at Columbia or at the LSE Language Centre.

LSE-Sciences Po Double Degree in Urban Policy

Students take the first year at Sciences Po and the second year at LSE. At LSE students will follow the programme regulations for either the MSc Local Economic Development; or MSc Regional and Urban Planning Studies; or MSc Urbanisation and Development as follows:

MSc Local Economic Development

Full-year programme. Students must take courses to the value of three full units as shown and a dissertation.

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Paper</th>
<th>Course number and title</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>1</td>
<td>GY404 Topics in Local Economic Development (H)</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>2</td>
<td>GY407 Globalisation, Regional Development and Policy (H) or GY408 Local Economic Development and Policy (H)</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>3</td>
<td>GY409-415 half units of GY407, GY410 or GY415 - half units of GY408)</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

Students are not permitted to combine GY409 and GY413 and they are not permitted to combine GY410 and GY415.

EUP34 The Political Economy of Southeast Europe (H)

EUP39 Political and Fiscal Integration and Disintegration in EU Member States (H) (n/a 12/13)

G4118 Feminist Economics and Policy: An Introduction (H)

GY420 Environmental Regulation: Implementing Policy (H)

GY428 Applied Quantitative Methods (H)

GY431 Cities, People and Poverty in the South (H)

GY438 Cities and Social Change in East Asia (H)

GY445 Urban Theory, Policy and Practice in the Global South (H)

GY447 The Economics of Regional and Urban Planning (H)

GY460 Techniques of Spatial Economic Analysis (H)

GY465 Concepts in Environmental Regulation (H)

GY475 Issues in Environmental Governance (H)

GY480 Remaking China: Geographical aspects of Development and Disparity (H)

MY452 Applied Regression Analysis (H)

A relevant course from another programme...
MSc Regional and Urban Planning Studies

Full-year programme. Students must take courses to the value of three full units and a dissertation. Additionally all students are required to take GY450 Planning Practice and Research.

1. Paper
   Course number and title
   - GY447 The Economics of Regional and Urban Planning (H)
   - GY448 Social and Political Aspects of Regional and Urban Planning (H)
   - GY454 Urban Policy and Planning (H)

2. Courses to the value of one and a half units:
   - GI409 Gender, Globalisation and Development: An Introduction (H)
   - GY430 Contemporary Urbanism (n/a 12/13)
   - GY431 Cities, People and Poverty in the South (H)
   - GY432 Urban Ethnography (H)
   - GY438 Cities and Social Change in East Asia (H)
   - GY439 Cities, Politics and Citizenship (H)
   - GY446 Planning for Sustainable Cities (H)
   - GY455 Economic Appraisal and Valuation (H)
   - GY460 Techniques of Spatial Economic Analysis
   - GY462 Real Estate Finance (H)
   - GY464 Race and Space (H)
   - GY465 Concepts in Environmental Regulation (H)
   - GY467 Development, Diaspora and Migration (H)
   - GY479 The Urban Revolution (H) (n/a 12/13)
   - GY480 Remaking China: Geographical aspects of Development and Disparity (H)
   - GY480 Remaking China: Geographical aspects of Development and Disparity (H)
   - GY481 City-making: the Politics of Urban Form (H)
   - GY483 Environment and Development: Resources, Institutions and the Global South (H)

3. Optional courses to the value of two full units:
   - GY499 Dissertation on an approved topic

4. Notes
   * Capped course with priority for International Development students so admission not guaranteed.
   In exceptional cases it may be possible to make alternative choices for papers 2 & 3 with the approval of the Programme Director.

MSc Urbanisation and Development

Full-year programme. Students must take courses to the value of four full units.

1. Paper
   Course number and title
   - GY445 Urban Theory, Policy and Practice in the Global South
   - GY470 Poverty (H)*
   - DV411 Population and Development: An Analytical Approach (H)
   - DV417 Development: History, Theory and Policy
   - DV420 Complex Emergencies (H)
   - DV421 HIV/AIDS and Other Emerging Health Threats (H)
   - DV433 The Informal Economy and Non-State Governance (H)

2. Courses to the value of one unit from the following:
   - GI413 Gender and Militarisation (H)
   - GY479 Nationalism
   - IR411 Foreign Policy Analysis III
   - IR412 International Institutions
   - IR415 Strategic Aspects of International Relations
   - IR416 The EU in the World
   - IR421 Controversy and Peace Studies

3. Additional courses:
   - GI409 Gender, Globalisation and Development: An Introduction (H)
   - GY430 Contemporary Urbanism (n/a 12/13)
   - GY431 Cities, People and Poverty in the South (H)
   - GY432 Urban Ethnography (H)
   - GY438 Cities and Social Change in East Asia (H)
   - GY439 Cities, Politics and Citizenship (H)
   - GY446 Planning for Sustainable Cities (H)
   - GY455 Economic Appraisal and Valuation (H)
   - GY459 Environment and Development: Resources, Institutions and the Global South (H)
   - GY479 The Urban Revolution (H)
   - GY480 Remaking China: Geographical aspects of Development and Disparity (H)

Notes

§ means by special permission only.
This programme is externally accredited by the RICS.
Further information is available on the Geography and Environment Department’s website (see Quick Links to Regional and Urban Planning Studies).

LSE-Sciences Po Double Degree in Affaires Internationales and either International Relations or International Political Economy

Year 1 at Sciences Po

Joint IR seminar with the whole group (28 hours)
Political Issues or World Politics (56 hours)
Social Science (including Economics) (56 hours)
Specialisation (140 hours)
Compulsory French/English language class (28 hours)
Second foreign language for all students (28 hours)

Year 2 at LSE Students will enrol in either the MSc International Relations or the MSc International Political Economy as follows:

MSc International Relations

Full-year programme. Students must take one compulsory course, optional courses to the value of two full units and a dissertation.
All students on this programme are required to take a test at the beginning of October.

1. Paper
   Course number and title
   - IR410 International Politics
   - DV413 Environmental Problems and Development Interventions (H)
   - DV415 Global Environmental Governance (H)
   - EU426 The West: Identity and Interests (H) (n/a 12/13)
   - EU431 European Integration from a Global Perspective (H)
   - EU435 History and Theory of European Integration (H)
   - EU437 Europe Beyond Modernity (H)
   - EU438 Turkey: Political Economy and European Integration (H)
   - GI413 Gender and Militarisation (H)
   - GY479 Nationalism
   - IR411 Foreign Policy Analysis III
   - IR411 International Institutions
   - IR415 Strategic Aspects of International Relations
   - IR416 The EU in the World
   - IR421 Controversy and Peace Studies

2. Courses to the value of two full units:
   - DV413 Environmental Problems and Development Interventions (H)
   - DV415 Global Environmental Governance (H)
   - EU426 The West: Identity and Interests (H) (n/a 12/13)
   - EU431 European Integration from a Global Perspective (H)
   - EU435 History and Theory of European Integration (H)
   - EU437 Europe Beyond Modernity (H)
   - EU438 Turkey: Political Economy and European Integration (H)
   - GI413 Gender and Militarisation (H)
   - GY479 Nationalism
   - IR411 Foreign Policy Analysis III
   - IR411 International Institutions
   - IR415 Strategic Aspects of International Relations
   - IR416 The EU in the World
   - IR421 Controversy and Peace Studies

3. Additional courses:
   - GI409 Gender, Globalisation and Development: An Introduction (H)
   - GY430 Contemporary Urbanism (n/a 12/13)
   - GY431 Cities, People and Poverty in the South (H)
   - GY432 Urban Ethnography (H)
   - GY438 Cities and Social Change in East Asia (H)
   - GY439 Cities, Politics and Citizenship (H)
   - GY446 Planning for Sustainable Cities (H)
   - GY455 Economic Appraisal and Valuation (H)
   - GY459 Environment and Development: Resources, Institutions and the Global South (H)
   - GY479 The Urban Revolution (H)
   - GY480 Remaking China: Geographical aspects of Development and Disparity (H)

Notes

§ means by special permission only.
This programme is externally accredited by the RICS.
Further information is available on the Geography and Environment Department’s website (see Quick Links to Regional and Urban Planning Studies).
IR431 European Union Policy Making in a Global Context (H)
IR433 The International Politics of EU Enlargement (H)
IR434 European Defence and Security (H)
IR437 Postcolonial Perspectives in International Relations (H)
IR438 Theory of International Society: English School Texts (H)
IR445 Chinese Foreign and Security Policy (n/a 12/13)
IR446 Chinese Foreign and Security Policy (H)
IR461 Islam in International Relations: From Al-Andalus to Afghanistan
IR462 Introduction to International Political Theory (H)
IR463 The International Political Theory of Humanitarian Intervention (H)
IR464 The Politics of International Law (H)
IR465 The International Politics of Culture and Religion
IR466 Genocide (H) (n/a 12/13)
IR481 Europe, the US and Arab-Israeli Relations (H) (n/a 12/13)
IR482 Russia and Eurasia: Foreign and Security Policies
LL4A6 Climate Change and International Law (H)
A course from another programme § *
4 IR499 Dissertation
Notes § means by special permission only
* means IR students can only take one DOID and one Government Department option.

MSc International Political Economy
Full-year programme. Students must take one compulsory course, optional courses to the value of two full units and a dissertation as shown. All students on this programme are required to take a test at the beginning of October.

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Paper</th>
<th>Course number and title</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>1</td>
<td>IR450 International Political Economy</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>2 &amp; 3</td>
<td>Courses to the value of two half units from:</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td>EU438 Turkey: Political Economy and European Integration (H)</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td>IR407 International Political Economy of the Environment</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td>IR429 Economic Diplomacy</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td>IR445 Chinese Foreign and Security Policy (n/a 12/13)</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td>IR446 Chinese Foreign and Security Policy (H)</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td>IR451 Politics of Money in the World Economy</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td>IR457 The Political Economy of International Trade</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td>IR460 Comparative Political Economy</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>4</td>
<td>IR499 Dissertation</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

Notes § means by special permission only.

LSE-Sciences Po Double Degree in European Studies

Year 1 at Sciences Po
Students study a Diploma at Sciences Po

Year 2 at LSE
Students will enrol on either the MSc Political Economy of Europe, or MSc European Studies: Ideas and Identities or MSc Politics and Government in the European Union as follows.

MSc Political Economy of Europe
Full-year programme. Students must take one compulsory course, optional courses to the value of two units (at least one unit of courses listed under 2) and a dissertation as shown. Additionally, all students must take EU410 Interdisciplinary Research Methods and Design and EU450 European Union: Contemporary Issues, in preparation for the dissertation. Students without some background in economics are strongly encouraged to take EU409 Basic Economic Concepts for European Political Economy as an additional course to support their studies.

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Paper</th>
<th>Course number and title</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>1</td>
<td>EU424 The Idea of Europe (H)</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>2</td>
<td>Two of the following half unit courses:</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td>Political Economy in action</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td>EU425 Interest Representation and Economic Policy-Making in Europe (H)</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td>EU443 European Models of Capitalism (H)</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td>EU446 Patterns of Economic Integration in Europe: Institutions and Politics of EMU (H)</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td>EU449 Emerging Markets, Political Transition and Economic Development in Central and Eastern Europe (H)</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td>EU453 The Political Economy of European Welfare States (H)</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td>EU455 Concepts in Political Economy (H)</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td>SA4F7 The Economics of European Social Policy (H) (n/a 12/13)</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

3 Courses to the value of one full unit from the following:

Institutions, Politics and Policies of the EU:
EU420 European Union Law and Government (H)
EU421 Policy-Making in the European Union (H)
EU429 Economic and Social Policy in Mediterranean Europe (H) (n/a 12/13)
EU430 Europeanization: The Comparative Politics of Domestic Change (H)
EU436 Law and Governance of the Single European Market
EU439 Political and Fiscal Integration and Disintegration in EU Member States (H) (n/a 12/13)
EU464 Migration and Mobility: EU Law and Politics (H)
EU466 Citizen Representation and Democracy in the European Union (H)
SA4M1 Politics of Social Policy: Welfare and Work in Comparative Perspective (H)

European Identity and Ideas:
EU424 The Idea of Europe (H)
EU426 The West: Identity and Interests (H) (n/a 12/13)
EU432 The Philosophy of Europe (H)
EU437 Europe Beyond Modernity (H)
EU447 Democracy, Ideology and the European State (H)
GV4A5 International Migration and Immigration Management (H)

Regional courses:
EU423 Greece and the European Union (H) (n/a 12/13)
EU434 The Political Economy of Southeast Europe (H)
EU438 Turkey: Political Economy and European Integration (H)
EU440 Greece and South-East Europe: Government, Economy and Foreign Policy (H)
EU461 Economic History of Southeastern Europe and the Middle East, 1820-1970 (H) (n/a 12/13)
Courses from 28 above not already taken
*A half unit from another MSc programme
4 EU499 Dissertation
Notes *A half unit from another MSc programme (only to be taken with the permission of the teacher responsible and the Programme Director. Admission will depend on the student having the necessary background and on the availability of space).

MSc European Studies: Ideas and Identities
Students must take courses to the value of three units and a dissertation as shown. Additionally, all students must take EU410 Interdisciplinary Research Methods and Design and EU450 European Union: Contemporary Issues, in preparation for the dissertation.

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Paper</th>
<th>Course number and title</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>1</td>
<td>EU424 The Idea of Europe (H)</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>2</td>
<td>EU447 Democracy, Ideology and the European State (H)</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td>or</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td>EU458 Identity, Community and the ‘Problem of Minorities’ (H)</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

Courses to the value of one unit from the following:
European Politics, Philosophy and Economics

- EU426 The West: Identity and Interests (n/a 12/13) (H)
- EU430 Europeanization: The Comparative Politics of Domestic Change (H)
- EU432 The Philosophy of Europe (H)
- EU437 Europe Beyond Modernity (H)
- EU439 Political and Fiscal Integration and Disintegration in EU Member States (H) (n/a 12/13)
- EU443 European Models of Capitalism (H)
- EU462 Partisanship in Europe (H)
- HY411 European Integration in the Twentieth Century

Citizenship and Diversity

- GV439 Government and Politics in Eastern Europe (H)
- GV498 Multiculturalism, Nationalism and Citizenship (H)
- GV4A2 Citizens’ Political Behaviour in Europe: Elections Public Opinion and Identities (H)
- GV4A5 International Migration and Immigration Management (H)

The European Union

- EU420 European Union Law and Government (H)
- EU421 Policy-Making in the European Union (H)
- EU464 Migration and Mobility: EU Law and Politics (H)

Courses to the value of one unit from the following:

- A course not taken under paper 2 or a relevant course from another programme

Citizenship and Diversity

- GV439 Government and Politics in Eastern Europe (H)
- GV498 Multiculturalism, Nationalism and Citizenship (H)
- GV4A2 Citizens’ Political Behaviour in Europe: Elections Public Opinion and Identities (H)
- GV4A5 International Migration and Immigration Management (H)

The European Union

- EU425 Interest Representation and Economic Policy-Making in Europe (H)
- SA4F7 The Economics of European Social Policy (H) (n/a 12/13)
- EU466 Citizen Representation and Democracy in the European Union (H)

Area Studies

- EU423 Greece and the European Union (H) (n/a 12/13)
- EU429 Economic and Social Policy in Mediterranean Europe (H) (n/a 12/13)
- EU434 The Political Economy of Southeast Europe (H)
- EU438 Turkey: Political Economy and European Integration (H)
- EU440 Greece and South-East Europe: Government, Economy and Foreign Policy (H)
- EU446 Patterns of Economic Integration in Europe: Institutions and Politics of EMU (H) (L)
- EU449 Emerging Markets, Political Transition and Economic Development in Central and Eastern Europe (H) (L) †
- EU453 The Political Economy of European Welfare States (H) (L) †
- EU460 European Society and Politics beyond the Nation State (H) (L)
- EU462 Partisanship in Europe (H) (L)
- EU463 European Human Rights Law (H) (L)
- EU464 Migration and Mobility: EU Law and Politics (H) (L)
- EU466 Citizen Representation and Democracy in the European Union (H)
- GV403 Network Regulation (H) (L)
- GV439 Government and Politics in Eastern Europe (H) (L)
- GV454 Parties, Elections and Governments (H) (L)
- GV4A2 Citizens’ Political Behaviour in Europe: Elections, Public Opinion, and Identities (H) (L)
- GV4A5 International Migration and Immigration Management (H) (L)
- GV4B9 The Second Europe (H) (L)

European History and Philosophy

- GV476 Twentieth-Century European Liberal Thought (H)
- GV486 Kant's Political Philosophy (H) (n/a 12/13)
- HY426 The European Enlightenment, 1680-1799
- PH404 Scientific Revolutions: Philosophical and Historical Issues
- PH405 Philosophy of the Social Sciences
- PH413 Philosophy of Economics

A course from a relevant programme

MSc Politics and Government in the European Union

Students must take courses to the value of three units and a dissertation as shown. Additionally, if their timetable allows, students are recommended to take EU410 and EU450 in preparation for the dissertation.

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Paper</th>
<th>Course number and title</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>1</td>
<td>EU435 History and Theory of European Integration (H) (M)</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td>Part II: Specialisation</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td>Stream 1 - European Union Government and Policy</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>2</td>
<td>EU421 Policy-Making in the European Union (H) (L) (cannot be taken with IR431)</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>3</td>
<td>Any courses to the value of 1.5 units from the following:</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td>EU420 European Union Law and Government (H) (M)</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td>EU423 Greece and the European Union (H) (M) (n/a 12/13)</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td>EU424 The Idea of Europe (H) (M)</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td>EU425 Interest Representation and Economic Policy-Making in Europe (H) (M)</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td>EU426 The West: Identity and Interests (H) (L) (n/a 12/13)</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td>EU429 Economic and Social Policy in Mediterranean Europe (H) (M) (n/a 12/13)</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td>EU430 Europeanisation: The Comparative Politics of Domestic Change (H) (M)</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td>EU431 European Integration from a Global Perspective (H) (L)</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td>EU432 The Philosophy of Europe (H) (M)</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td>EU434 The Political Economy of Southeast Europe (H) (M)</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td>EU436 Law and Governance of the Single European Market</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td>EU437 Europe Beyond Modernity (H) (L)</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td>EU438 Turkey: Political Economy and European Integration (H) (L)</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td>EU439 Political and Fiscal Integration and Disintegration in EU Member States (H) (L) (n/a 12/13)</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td>EU440 Greece and South-East Europe: Government, Economy and Foreign Policy (H) (L)</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td>EU446 Patterns of Economic Integration in Europe: Institutions and Politics of EMU (H) (L)</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td>EU449 Emerging Markets, Political Transition and Economic Development in Central and Eastern Europe (H) (L) †</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td>EU453 The Political Economy of European Welfare States (H) (L) †</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td>EU460 European Society and Politics beyond the Nation State (H) (L)</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td>EU462 Partisanship in Europe (H) (L)</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td>EU463 European Human Rights Law (H) (L)</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td>EU464 Migration and Mobility: EU Law and Politics (H) (L)</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td>EU466 Citizen Representation and Democracy in the European Union (H)</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td>GV403 Network Regulation (H) (L) †</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td>GV439 Government and Politics in Eastern Europe (H) (L) †</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td>GV454 Parties, Elections and Governments (H) (L) †</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td>GV4A2 Citizens’ Political Behaviour in Europe: Elections, Public Opinion, and Identities (H) (L) †</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td>GV4A5 International Migration and Immigration Management (H) (L)</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td>GV4B9 The Second Europe (H) (L)</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td>GV4C5 Politics of Economic Policy (H) (M)</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td>GV4C6 Legislative Politics: European Parliament (H) (L)</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td>GV4D4 The Politics of Inequality and Redistribution (H) (M)</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td>GV4E8 Conflict and Institutional Design in Divided Societies (H) (L)</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td>HY411 European Integration in the Twentieth Century</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td>LL4Z5 EU State Aid Law (H) (L)</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td>MY451 Introduction to Quantitative Analysis (H) (M)</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td>MY452 Applied Regression Analysis (H) (M or L)</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td>SA4F7 The Economics of European Social Policy (H) (n/a 12/13)</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td>SA4M1 Politics of Social Policy: Welfare and Work in Comparative Perspective (H) (L)</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td>SA4M1 Politics of Social Policy: Welfare and Work in Comparative Perspective (H) (L)</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td>Stream 2 - The International Relations of Europe</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>2</td>
<td>IR416 The EU in the World</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>3</td>
<td>Any courses to the value of 1.5 units from the following:</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>
A half unit from Stream 1 - European Union Government and Policy
EU424 The Idea of Europe (H) (M)
EU425 Interest Representation and Economic Policy-Making in Europe (H) (M)
EU426 The West: Identity and Interests (H) (L) (n/a 12/13)
EU431 European Integration from a Global Perspective (H) (L)
EU432 The Philosophy of Europe (H) (L)
EU434 The Political Economy of Southeast Europe (H) (M)
EU437 Europe Beyond Modernity (H) (L)
EU438 Turkey: Political Economy and European Integration (H) (L)
EU440 Greece and South-East Europe: Government, Economy and Foreign Policy (H) (L)
EU457 Ethnic Diversity and International Society (H) (L)
EU458 Identity, Community and the 'Problem of Minorities' (H) (L)
EU463 European Human Rights Law (H) (L)
EU464 Migration and Mobility: EU Law and Politics (H) (L)
GV479 Nationalism
GV4A5 International Migration and Immigration Management (H) (M)
HY411 European Integration in the Twentieth Century
IR411 Foreign Policy Analysis III
IR412 International Institutions
IR431 EU Policy-Making in a Global Context (H) (L) (cannot be taken with EU421)
IR433 The International Politics of EU Enlargement (H) (M)
IR434 European Defence and Security (H) (L)
IR482 Russia and Eurasia: Foreign and Security Policies
MY451 Introduction to Quantitative Analysis (H) (M)
MY452 Applied Regression Analysis (H) (M or L)

Part III: Dissertation

Notes

‡ With permission of the course teacher.

LSE-PKU Double Degree in MSc International Affairs
Two-year programme. Students take the first year at Peking University, and the second year at LSE as follows:

Paper Course number and title
1 HY400 Crisis Decision-Making in War and Peace, 1914-2003

Notes Students who wish to take this course must seek approval from the convenor of the course.

LSE-PKU Double Degree in Public Administration and Government
Two-year programme. Students take the first year at Peking University, and the second year at LSE as follows:

Paper Course number and title
1 GV4E9 Approaches and Issues in Public Policy and Administration
GV477 Comparative Public Policy Change (H) and
GV483 Public Management Theory and Doctrine (H)

Notes With permission of the course teacher.
MA Global Studies: A European Perspective

Two-year programme. Students attend LSE for either their first or second year and also attend, for a year, one of the following participating institutions: Leipzig, Roskilde, Vienna, or Wroclaw. Students follow the MSc Global History programme at the LSE:

MSc Global History

Full-year programme. Students must take compulsory courses to the value of 2.5 units, a dissertation and optional courses. Students taking year one of the programme at LSE will need to complete EH479 (6,000 word dissertation) and take one unit of options; students taking year two at LSE will complete EH480 (10,000 word dissertation) and 0.5 units of options.

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Paper</th>
<th>Course number and title</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>1</td>
<td>EH481 Economic Change in Global History: Approaches and Analysis (H)</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>2&amp;3</td>
<td>Two of the following:</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td>EH482 Pre-modern Paths of Growth: East and West compared, c1000-1800</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td>EH483 The Development and Integration of the World Economy in the 19th and 20th centuries</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td>HY423 Empire, Colonialism and Globalization</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>4</td>
<td>Either</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td>EH479 Dissertation: Global History (H) and courses to the value of one full unit from the following (if not already taken under paper 2):</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td>Or</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td>EH480 Dissertation: MSc Global History and courses to the value of 0.5 units from the following (if not already taken under paper 2):</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td>EH402 Research Design and Quantitative Methods in Economic History (H)</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td>EH404 India and the World Economy (H) (n/a 12/13)</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td>EH408 International Migration, 1500-2000: from slavery to asylum (H) (n/a 12/13)</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td>EH412 Research Topics in Economic History A (H) (n/a 12/13)</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td>EH413 African Economic Development in Historical Perspective (H)</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td>EH419 Research Topics in Economic History B (H) (n/a 12/13)</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td>EH422 Topics in Quantitative Economic History</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td>EH423 Japan and Korea as Developing Economics (H) (n/a 12/13)</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td>EH424 The British Economy in Global Perspective, 1000-2000 (H)</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td>EH426 Quantitative Topics in Economic History I: Cross-section and Panel Data (H)</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td>EH427 Quantitative Topics in Economic History II: Time Series and Economic Dynamics (H)</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

MSc Global Media and Communications (with Fudan or USC)

Full-time programme taken over two calendar years. Students must take courses at LSE as shown below and follow either the programme at Fudan or USC in year two.

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Paper</th>
<th>Course number and title</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>1</td>
<td>MC408 Theories and Concepts in Media and Communications I (Key concepts and interdisciplinary approaches) (H)</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>2</td>
<td>MC411 Media and Globalisation (H)</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>3</td>
<td>One of the following courses:</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td>MC416 Representation in the Age of Globalisation (H)</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td>MC420 Identity, Transnationalism and the Media (H)</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td>MC423 Global Media Industries (H)</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>4</td>
<td>MC4M1 Methods of Research in Media &amp; Communications (including Qualitative &amp; Quantitative Analysis) (H)</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>5</td>
<td>Courses to the value of one unit from the following:</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td>AN459 Anthropology and Media (H) (n/a 12/13)</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td>GI405 Globalising Sexualities (H)</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td>GV4C2 Globalisation, Conflict and Post-Totalitarianism (H)</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td>GV498 Multiculturalism, Nationalism and Citizenship (H)</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td>GV442 Globalisation and Democracy * (H)</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td>GY407 Globalization, Regional Development and Policy</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td>GY430 Contemporary Urbanism (n/a 12/13)</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td>GY439 Cities, Politics and Citizenship (H)</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td>GY479 The Urban Revolution (H) (n/a 12/13)</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td>IS418 Convergence and Information Management (H)</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td>LL4S1 Cyberlaw (H)</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td>MC402 The Audience in Media and Communications (H)</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td>MC403 Contemporary Issues in Media and Economic History (H)</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

* Please note that EH441 is a pre-requisite of this course

 These courses cannot be combined with EH422
Communications Policy (H)
MC404 Political Communication (H)
MC407 International Media and The Global South (H)
MC409 Media, Technology and Everyday Life (H)
MC413 Information, Communication and Knowledge Systems (H)
MC416 Representation in the Age of Globalisation (H) +
MC418 Theories and Concepts in Media and Communications II (Processes of communication in modern life) (H)
MC420 Identity, Transnationalism and the Media (H) +
MC422 Critical Studies in Media and Journalism (H)
MC423 Global Media Industries (H) +
MC424 Media and Communication Governance (H)
MC425 Interpersonal Mediated Communication (H)
MC426 Film Theory and World Cinema (H)
PS437 Representations, Institutions and Communities (H) (n/a 12/13)
SO420 Globalisation: Economy, Politics and Power (H) (n/a 12/13)
SO433 Cultural Theory (H)
Any other MSc-level course which is offered in the School, subject to the consent of the candidate's programme director.

6
MC499 Dissertation (10,000-12,000 words)

Year 2 at Fudan

7
Core and optional courses in Chinese language, culture and media, including:
Chinese Language and Culture - (Chinese Civilization-Oriented)
Covering China - China's Print Journalism
CMC and New Media
Speciality Chinese: Media and Communication in China
Chinese Politics
Theories and Practices of China Journalism (Part I and Part II)
Chinese Broadcasting: An overview of the Industry and Programming
Studies on Chinese Documentaries
Research on China's Economy

Year 2 at USC. Students take a total of 24 USC units.

COMM 598 Global Communication Research Practicum (4 USC units)
20 USC units (normally total of 5 courses; all Communication courses 4 units each):
500 Managing Communication (4, Sp/Sm)
501 Communication Management Pro-Seminar (4, Fa/Sp)
502 Strategic Corporate Communication (4, Sp)
504x Seminar in Interpersonal Communication (4, Fa, even years)
505 Communication in Work Settings (4, Fa)
506 Images and Image Management (4, Sp)
507 Information Management (4, Fa)
508x Power, Politics and Conflict in Communication (4, 2 years, Sp)
509x Seminar in Classical Rhetorical Theory (4, Fa)
510 Communication, Values, Attitudes, and Behavior (4, Fa/Sp)
511x Seminar in Contemporary Rhetorical Theory (4, Sp)
512x Seminar in Rhetorical Criticism (4, Fa)
513x Seminar in Neoclassical Rhetorical Theory (4, 2 years, Sm)
514x Seminar: Social Movements as Rhetorical Form (4, 2 years, Sp)
515x Seminar in Postmodern Rhetorical Theory (4, 2 years, Fa)
516x Seminar: Feminist Theory and Communication (4, 2 years, Sp)
517x Seminar in Rhetorical Theory and Culture (4, Sp)
518x American Public Address (4, Sp, odd years)
519x Seminar: Cultural Studies in Communication (4, 2 years, Fa)
520 Social Roles of Communication Media (4, Fa/Sp)
521x Seminar in Argumentation (4, 2 years, Sp)
522x Seminar in Kenneth Burke's Dramatic Theory (4)
524x Seminar in Small Group Process (4, Sp, even years)
528 Web Designs for Organizations (4, Fa/Sp)
530 Social Dynamics of Communication Technologies (4, Sp/Sm)
531 Communication and the International Economy (4, Fa)
532 Development of American Media Industry (4, Fa)
533 Emerging Communication Technologies (4, Fa/Sp)
534 The Culture of New Technologies (4, Fa/Sp)
535 Virtual Groups and Organizations (4, Fa/Sp)
540 Uses of Communication Research (4, Fa/Sp)
541 Integrated Communication Strategies (4, Sp)
542 Business Strategies of Communication and Entertainment Firms (4, Sp)
543 Managing Communication in the Entertainment Industry (4, Fa)
544 The Arts and New Media (4, Fa)
545 Communication and Global Competition (4, Sp)
546 Seminar in Diffusion Theory and Research (4, 2 years, Sp)
547 Distribution of Recordings: Media, Retail and Online Channels (4, Sp)
548 Issues in Children's Media (4, Sp)
553 Political Economy of Global Telecommunications and Information (4, Sp)
557 Communication Policy in the Global Marketplace (4, Fa)
558 The International Entertainment Marketplace (4, Fa)
559 Globalization, Communication and Society (4, Fa)
560 Communications Policy (4, Fa/Sm)
562x Cognitive Approaches to Communication (4, 2 years, Fa)
565 Communication Law and Broadcasting (4, Fa/Sp)
566 Communication Law and New Technologies (4, Sp)
567 Internet Policy, Practice and Regulation (4, Fa/Sp)
570 Economics of the Communication Industries (4, Fa)
571 Communications Technologies (4, Fa/Sp)
572 Telephone, Data, and Video Telecommunication Systems (4, Sp)
573 Evaluating Communication Needs (4, Sp)
574 Tele-Media: A Strategic and Critical Analysis (4, Fa/Sp)
575 Advocacy and Social Change in Entertainment and the Media (4, Fa)
576 Communication Strategies for Conflict Management (4, Sm)
580 Media and Politics (4, Fa/Sp)
581 Media in Social Services: Design and Evaluation of Campaigns (4, Fa)
582 International Communication: National Development (4, Sm)
583 Global Entertainment Education Programs (4, Sp)
584 Seminar: Interpreting Popular Culture (4, Fa)
585x Organizational Communication (4, 2 years, Sp)
587 Audience Analysis (4, Fa)
605 Advanced Macro Theories of Communication I (4, 2 years, Sp)
610 Studies in Rhetorical Theory (4, max 8, Fa/Sp/Sm)
618 Mass Media Effects (4, Fa)
620 Studies in Communication Theory (2-4, max 8, Fa/Sp)
625 Theory Construction in Communication (4, Sm)
629 Global Culture (4, Fa)
630 Communication Technology and Social Change (4, Sp)
631x Minds and Media (4, Sp)
635 Economics of Information (4, Sp)
636 Interpretive and Cultural Approaches in Organizational Communication (4, 2 years, Fa)
637 Current Readings in Organizational Communication (4, 2 years, Sp)
638 Global, International and Intercultural Communication in Organizations (4, 2 years, Fa)
640 Communication and Organizational Change (4, Fa)
645 Communication Networks (4, 2 years, Sp)
646 Negotiating Boundaries in Environmental Research (2)
647x Seminar on the Network Society (4, Fa)
599 Special Topics (various special one-time course offerings)

In addition to coursework offered at the Annenberg School of Communication, students may take up to a maximum of 4 units of graduate-level coursework from other schools or departments at the University of Southern California towards their remaining 20 unit requirement, subject to the consent of the candidate's USC adviser.

Notes
* Courses are subject to availability and the permission of the course lecturer.
 Passing this course is a requirement for passing the programme.
+ Only available to students if they did not take it under Paper 2
(Fa) means Fall semester
(Sp) means Spring semester
(Sm) means Summer semester
Taught Masters Course Guides
AC410
Management Accounting, Strategy and Organisational Control
This information is for the 2012/13 session.
Teacher responsible: Professor Wim A. Van der Stede, OLD 2.18, and others.
Availability: This course is intended for students on MSc Accounting and Finance, MSc Accounting, Organisations and Institutions, MSc Law and Accounting and MSc Management, Organisations and Governance. Other students may be admitted only with the agreement, in writing, of the MSc (Accounting) Course Tutor, if they have sufficient academic background knowledge and if places permit. This course cannot be taken in conjunction with AC411 Accounting, Strategy and Control.
Course content: This course provides an advanced overview of current developments in the thought and practice of management accounting, strategy, and organisational control. The course consists of two modules.
Organisational and strategic aspects of management accounting and control systems. This module focuses on the organisational and strategic aspects of management accounting and, in particular, the design of planning and performance measurement systems. It provides an insight into current theoretical and practical developments in management control. Management control is an essential function of management to ensure that the organisation's objectives and strategies are carried out effectively; good management control increases the probability of organisational success. This module focuses on the use of results controls, that is, those that involve measurement and evaluation of financial and non-financial performance. The module explores the key decisions that must be made in using results controls, such as choices of performance measures, performance standards and targets, and performance-based incentives. Limitations of traditional financial performance measures are discussed, such as their tendency to make managers excessively short-term oriented, which leads into related issues of corporate governance. An economics, information systems and context-specific perspective on management accounting and control systems
Continuing on the organisational control theme from Module 1, the first part of this module focuses primarily on inter-organisational controls and the difficulties involved in organisational control of fluid, inter-organisational settings and configurations, such as joint-ventures and various types of alliances, often involving global alliance partners. The second part of this module then shifts to, and focuses on, the design of costing systems, one of the important tasks of the management accountant. For managers using information from such costing systems in their decision making, it is important to understand the mechanisms by which these data are collected. This module discusses what it is exactly that costing systems try to approximate, which methods are available, what can go wrong in the costing of products and services, and how we can most effectively and efficiently improve the costing approaches. As such, there is an emphasis on cost information for decisions and strategic cost analysis. Further detailed choice of subjects will be determined by those lecturing on the course.
Teaching: 21 two-hour lectures (AC410) and 18 one-hour classes (AC410.A).
Formative coursework: A variety of types of assignments are given for class discussion including exercises and case studies. Many classes examine complex cases with advance case preparation and in-class participation being an absolute requisite. Two pieces of written work, or equivalent, per term are assessed, but the grades will not count towards the overall course assessment.
Indicative reading: Detailed reading lists will be given out at the start of each part of the course. Illustrative references include: K Merchant and W Van der Stede, Management Control Systems: Performance Measurement, Evaluation, and Incentives (Prentice Hall, 2012).
Assessment: A three-hour written examination in the ST.

AC411    Half Unit
Accounting, Strategy and Control
This information is for the 2012/13 session.
Teacher responsible: Professor Wim A. Van der Stede, OLD 2.18.
Availability: This course is intended for students on MSc Accounting and Finance, MSc Accounting, Organisations and Institutions, MSc Law and Accounting, MSc Management, Organisations and Governance. Other students may be admitted only with the agreement, in writing, of the MSc (Accounting) Course Tutor, if they have sufficient academic background knowledge. This course cannot be taken in conjunction with AC410 Management Accounting, Strategy and Organisational Control.
Course content: This course provides an advanced overview of current theoretical and practical developments in the area of organisational control, which is an essential function of management to ensure that the organisation's objectives and strategies are carried out effectively. Good management control increases the probability of organisational success. The course focuses on the use of results controls; that is, those that involve measurement and evaluation of financial and non-financial performance. As such, the course explores the key decisions that must be made in using results controls, such as choices of performance measures, performance standards and targets, and performance-based incentives. Limitations of traditional financial performance measures are discussed, such as their tendency to make managers excessively short-term oriented, which leads into related issues of corporate governance. Although further detailed choice of subjects will be determined by the lecturer on the course, the course will cover the following topics:
Teaching: Ten two-hour lectures (AC411) and nine one-hour classes (AC411.A) in Michaelmas Term. One revision lecture in Summer Term.
Formative coursework: A variety of types of assignments are given for class discussion including exercises and case studies. Two pieces of written work, or equivalent, are assessed, but the grades will not count towards the overall course assessment.
Assessment: A one-and-a-half hour written examination in the ST.

AC412    Half Unit
Accountability, Organisations and Risk Management
This information is for the 2012/13 session.
Teachers responsible: Dr Martin Girardeau, OLD 5.02 and others
Availability: This course is intended for students on MSc Accounting and Finance, MSc Law and Accounting, MSc Management, Organisations and Governance, MSc Risk and Finance, MSc Management and Regulation of Risk, MSc Management, MSc Public Policy and Administration, MSc Public Management and Governance and MPA Public and Economic Policy/MPA Public Policy and Management/MPA International Development/MPA European Public and Economic Policy/MPA Public and Social Policy. Other students may be admitted only with the agreement, in writing, of the MSc (Accounting) Course Tutor.
Course content: This is an advanced course focusing on the organisational and institutional settings within which risk is managed. The first five lectures deal with key issues in organisational responses to risk and uncertainty, including the impact of disasters and accidents and the growing formalisation and standardization of risk management practice. The second five lectures will deal with specific topics where values of accountability and governance intersect with organizational risk management practices. The overall purpose of the course is to provide students with a critical appreciation of the management of risk as an organisational and social process. The course is necessarily cross-disciplinary, drawing on scholarship within accounting, organisational sociology and regulation studies.

Teaching:
- Twenty hours of lectures (LT) and ten hours of classes (LT).

Formative coursework:
- Two pieces of written work will be assessed during the term but the grades will not count towards the overall course assessment.

Indicative reading:

Assessment:
- Two-hour written examination in the ST (100%).

---

AC414
Half Unit
Financial Reporting, Capital Markets and Business Combinations
This information is for the 2012/13 session.
Teacher responsible: Vasiliki Athanasakou, OLD 2.20 and Ane Tamayo, OLD 5.05
Availability: MSc Accounting and Finance, MSc Accounting, Organisations and Institutions, MSc Management and MSc Management (CEMS MIM). Other students may be admitted only with the agreement, in writing, of the MSc (Accounting) Course Tutor if they have sufficient academic background knowledge. This course cannot be taken in conjunction with AC420 Financial Reporting in Capital Markets.

Pre-requisites: Knowledge of financial accounting at undergraduate level is presumed.

Course content: A number of financial reporting issues and topics are covered. It is likely that they include but are not restricted to the following: accounting for value creation with special emphasis on cash flows and revenues, business combinations, corporate disclosure, capital markets efficiency, and corporate governance. Most topics are covered from an International Financial Reporting Standards (IFRS) and/or United States Generally Accepted Accounting Principles (US GAAP) perspective.

Teaching:
- Eighteen hours of lectures (1 hour x 9 weeks) and ten hours of seminars (1 hour x 9 weeks) in the MT.

Formative coursework:
- The formative assessment consists of two pieces of course work that students will hand in. This will be a combination of essay discussion type questions and some numerical calculations. The questions will be based on the following: accounting for value creation with special emphasis on cash flows and revenues, business combinations, corporate disclosure, capital markets efficiency, and corporate governance. The questions will be set in the MT and will be evaluated by the Course Tutor.

Indicative reading:
- Indicative reading: Relevant books covering specific parts of the course are: Accounting as the Measurement of Economic Income and Value (including applications to current accounting controversies); accounting for business combinations; accounting for value creation with special emphasis on cash flows and revenues, business combinations, corporate disclosure, and corporate governance. Most topics are covered from an International Financial Reporting Standards and/or United States Generally Accepted Accounting Principles perspective. The course also covers a number of theoretical perspectives such as deductive approaches, based on the notion of financial accounting as the measurement of economic income and value (including applications to current accounting controversies); economic approaches, regarding corporate financial reporting as an information system, including signalling and disclosure, and studying the demand for and supply of accounting information in a market setting and its stock market impact; and regulatory approaches, examining the nature of and case for and against the regulation of corporate financial reporting. Illustrations are provided on how these theories are used in standard setting and in valuation. Detailed choice of subjects will be determined by those lecturing on the course and may vary to some extent from year to year. Knowledge of basic accounting is assumed.

Teaching:
- Twenty lectures of two hours each, sessional (AC420), and 20 classes (AC420A) of one hour.

Formative coursework:
- The formators set exercises, essays or case studies for class discussion each week. Many of these involve reading key papers and other writings in the financial accounting literature and illustrating their effects numerically. Four pieces of work, based on these assignments, are collected for formative assessment.

Indicative reading:
- Indicative reading: Detailed reading lists are handed out at the start of the course, and will be largely based on papers in academic journals. Relevant books covering specific parts of the course are:

Assessment: A three-hour plus 15 minutes reading time written examination in the ST.

AC424
Accounting, Organisations and Institutions

This information is for the 2012/13 session.

Teacher responsible: Dr Matt Hall (OLD 2.11), and others

Availability: This is the core compulsory course for students taking the MSc in Accounting, Organisations and Institutions and is not available to others except in special circumstances and with the written permission of the Course Director.

Pre-requisites: There are no specific pre-requisites and the course does not require a background in accounting. Pre-sessional training in the form of various intensive sessions prior to the start of term will be offered for those who need a brief ‘technical’ preparation for the Programme.

Course content: The object of the course is to provide students with an advanced understanding of the changing role and position of accounting practices in organisations, both public and private, and societies more generally. Students will be exposed to advanced thinking about how accounting practices are much more than a collection of routine techniques but are shaped by their institutional contexts, have behavioural consequences and can represent different values. We will focus on how efforts to design internal and external accounting practices are both a function of specific economic and political interests, but are also shaped by social and political aspirations. The role of accountants and other agents will be addressed.

The course will emphasise the inter-relations between technical, organizational and institutional issues. While some technical accounting knowledge will be helpful, it is not essential and each lecture will provide the necessary technical foundations.

Indicative topics, listed along the lines of “Foundations” and “Risk Management, Accountability, and Corporate Governance” include: Foundations-Reporting, Calculation and Disclosure; Transnational Regulation and Standardization; Accounting and the Notion of “Entity”; Audit and Assurance: The Audit Society; Organisational Boundaries, Structure and Control; Accountability, Incentives and Performance; Accounting for Sustainability; Organisational Failure. Risk Management, Accountability and Corporate Governance-Disasters, Accidents and Errors; Organisations and the Management of Uncertainty; The Risk Management Process; Mapping and Communicating Risk in Organisations; Organisations, Security and Resilience; Corporate Governance: Board Functioning, Gatekeepers, Executive Compensation, Regulation.

Teaching: Twenty-two 2-hour lectures, nineteen 1-hour seminars

Formative coursework: Students will be required to produce two pieces of written work per term. This may take the form of either an essay, or the analysis of a case, and may also include in-class presentation and team-based work. This work will be assessed, but the grades will not count towards the overall course assessment.

Assessment: Two-hour unseen examination (50%), plus a long essay of 6,000 words due in early Summer Term (50%) (date to be confirmed).

AC425
MSc Accounting, Organisations and Institutions: Pre-sessional course

This information is for the 2012/13 session.

Teachers responsible: Professor Michael Power, G309, and Dr Matthew Hall, OLD 2.11

Availability: The course would normally be available to MSc Accounting, Organisations and Institutions students only. The purpose of the two pre-sessions is to acquaint students without any prior, or little, background in accounting to two core areas within accounting: Financial Accounting and Management Accounting. Students with some prior background in accounting may find the sessions to be useful as a “refresher”.

Course content: Session 1: Introduction to Financial Accounting and Auditing

Session 2: Introduction to Management Accounting

Teaching: The two sessions are held over two days before the start of MT.

Assessment: There is no assessment.

AC444
Half Unit

Valuation and Security Analysis

This information is for the 2012/13 session.

Teachers responsible: Dr P Frantz, OLD 3.07 and Dr E Beccalli

Availability: This course is intended for students on the MSc Accounting and Finance, MSc Accounting, Organisations and Institutions, MSc Law and Accounting, MSc Management and Strategy, MSc Management and Regulation of Risk and MSc Risk and Finance. Other students may be admitted to the course if they have a reasonable knowledge of financial accounting or finance acquired at undergraduate or equivalent level, and only with the agreement, in writing, of the MSc (Accounting) Course Tutor.

Course content: The aim of this course is to introduce students to security analysis and valuation from both theoretical and empirical perspectives. Student are furthermore provided with an opportunity to apply their skills by valuing, in small groups, from the point of view of a “sell-side analyst”, a firm’s equity of their choice using a combination of fundamental and technical analysis. Student are Furthermore provided with an opportunity to apply their skills by valuing, in small groups, from the point of view of a “sell-side analyst”, a firm’s equity of their choice using a combination of fundamental and technical analysis.

The course comes in three parts. The first part, financial analysis, focuses on past and present performance evaluation, which is used by financial analysts to generate expectations about future performance (prospective analysis). The second part, security valuation, focuses on the determination of intrinsic security prices, which, in efficient markets, reflect prospective performance. The third part, returns to fundamental and technical analysis, provides empirical evidence on returns to trading strategies based on either financial analysis or past stock returns.

Teaching: Teaching arrangements consist of lectures (20 hours) and classes (9 hours), and presentations of corporate valuation projects by students in the last week of the term (LT).

AC464  Management Accounting and Financial Accounting: Decisions, Control, Reporting and Disclosure

This information is for the 2012/13 session.

Teachers responsible: Professor Al Bhimani, OLD 3.08 and Dr Lisa Goh, OLD 2.13.

Availability: Compulsory on MSc Law and Accounting and MSc Accounting, Organisations and Institutions, and the Diploma in Accounting and Finance. Optional on MSc Development Management, MSc Public Management and Governance and MSc Management. The course is also intended for MSc students who have not previously studied accounting subjects to a significant extent, but only with the agreement, in writing, of the MSc Programme Director. Students who have previously studied Accounting are asked to seek advice before selecting this course.

Note: this course is the equivalent of taking the two half-unit courses AC490 Management Accounting, Decisions and Control and AC491 Financial Accounting, Reporting and Disclosure. Students wishing to take both AC490 and AC491 would be required to take AC464 instead. Students cannot take AC464 in conjunction with either AC490 or AC491.

Pre-requisites: The course is intended for MSc students who have not previously studied accounting to a significant extent.

Course content: This course provides students with an introduction to both management and financial accounting. The financial accounting component highlights aspects of reporting that are important to users of financial information. This includes frameworks of accounting regulation, the balance sheet, income statement and the cash flow statement, as well as an introduction to financial statement analysis. The management accounting component explores issues of accounting information and cost management, managerial decision making and performance measurement. It discusses also the interface between management accounting and technology, corporate strategy, e-business and marketing.

Teaching: 20 hours of lectures and 8 hours of seminars in the MT. 20 hours of lectures and 9 hours of seminars in the LT. 4 hours of lectures in the ST.

Formative coursework: Students are expected to produce several pieces of written work, including accounting exercises, analyses of case studies, and essays. At least four pieces of written work will be collected for feedback during the course. Students are also required to participate actively in a variety of discussions and debates as part of the class activities.

Assessment: One three-hour (plus 15 minutes reading time) examination in the ST (100%).

AC470  Half Unit Accounting in the Global Economy

This information is for the 2012/13 session.

Teachers responsible: Dr Andrea Mennicken, OLD 3.12 and Dr Kazbi Soonawalla, OLD 2.16

Availability: The course is intended for students on the MSc Accounting, Organisations and Institutions, MSc Law and Accounting, MSc Accounting and Finance, MSc International Political Economy, MSc Development Management, MSc Management and Regulation of Risk, MSc Risk and Finance, MSc Management and Strategy, MPA Public and Economic Policy/MPA Public Policy and Management/MBA International Development/ MPA European Public and Economic Policy/MPA Public and Social Policy, and Diploma in Accounting and Finance. Other students may be admitted with the permission of the teacher responsible.

Pre-requisites: There are no specific pre-requisites and the course does not require a background in accounting.

Course content: This course examines the fast changing practices and institutions of accounting in the global economy, with a particular emphasis on the roles of accounting in global financial governance. International accounting and auditing standards have been advocated as a way of enhancing global financial stability, so as to stimulate the flow of cross-national investment, expand the scope for market-oriented development, and integrate local enterprises into global financial markets. This course critically examines dynamics of international standard-setting and consequences for financial statement users, business entities and wider local and global stakeholders.

Topics include: Political, institutional and technical influences in changing national and international financial reporting frameworks. The political economy of accounting standard-setting. The work of the International Accounting Standards Board (IASB), the European Union, national accounting bodies, and their political and economic environments. The effects of national financial reporting requirements and International Financial Reporting Standards (IFRS) on business entities and economic development, particularly developing and emerging economies. The enforcement of financial reporting requirements through auditors, securities regulators, the World Bank and others. Specific technical challenges (for example, mergers and acquisitions, foreign currency transactions, derivatives and other financial instruments, fair value accounting and intangible assets).

The course explores issues from different theoretical perspectives through comparative empirical analysis.

Teaching: 18 hours of lectures in the first term (MT), and a two-hour revision lecture in the ST. Classes: at least eight hours. It is intended to run a small number of lectures with invited speakers who are centrally involved at a senior level in the setting, enforcement and convergence of international financial reporting regulations. Further details will be provided at the start of the session.

Formative coursework: Students are required to write an assessed essay of 3,500-4,000 words, to be submitted after the Christmas break. This written work forms 40% of the assessment. Individual feedback will be given on essay outlines. Further readings, exercises and case studies are set for class discussion each week.

Assessment: A 3,500-4,000 word essay (40%), submitted after the Christmas break, and a one-and-half-hour written examination in the Summer Term (60%).
AC471  Half Unit Accounting in the Global Economy (MSc International Management)
This information is for the 2012/13 session.
Teachers responsible: Dr Andrea Mennicken, OLD 3.12 and Dr Kazbi Soonawalla, OLD 2.16
Availability: This course is only available to students on the MSc International Management (CEMS students). There are no specific pre-requisites and the course does not require a background in accounting.
Course content: This course examines the fast changing practices and institutions of accounting in the global economy, with a particular emphasis on the roles of accounting in global financial governance. International accounting and auditing standards have been advocated as a way of enhancing global financial stability, so as to stimulate the flow of cross-national investment, expand the scope for market-oriented development, and integrate local enterprises into global financial markets. This course critically examines dynamics of international standard-setting and consequences for financial statement users, business entities and wider local and global stakeholders.
Topics include:
- Political, institutional and technical influences in changing national and international financial reporting frameworks. The political economy of accounting standard-setting. The work of the International Accounting Standards Board (IASB), the European Union, national accounting bodies, and their political and economic environments.
- The effects of national financial reporting requirements and International Financial Reporting Standards (IFRS) on business entities and economic development, particularly developing and emerging economies. The enforcement of financial reporting requirements through auditors, securities regulators, the World Bank and others.
- Specific technical challenges (for example, mergers and acquisitions, foreign currency transactions, derivatives and other financial instruments, fair value accounting and intangible assets).
- The course explores issues from different theoretical perspectives through comparative empirical analysis
Teaching: 18 hours of lectures in the first term (MT), and a two-hour revision lecture in the ST. Classes: at least eight hours. It is intended to run a small number of lectures with invited speakers who are centrally involved at a senior level in the setting, enforcement and convergence of international financial reporting regulations. Further details will be provided at the start of the session.
Formative coursework: Students are required to write a 7,500-8,000 word assessed long essay, to be submitted after the Christmas break. This written work forms 100% of the assessment.
Indicative reading:
Assessment: A 7,500-8,000 word long essay (100%), submitted after the Christmas break.

AC490  Half Unit Management Accounting, Decisions and Control
This information is for the 2012/13 session.
Teacher responsible: Professor A. Bhimani, OLD 3.08
Availability: This course is intended for students on MSc Law and Accounting, MSc Development Management, MSc Management and Strategy, MSc Management, Information Systems and Innovation, MSc Management, MSc Economics and Management, MSc Regulation, MSc Regulation (Research), MSc Public Management and Governance, MPA Public and Economic Policy/MPA Public Policy and Management/MPA International Development/MPA European Public and Economic Policy/MPA Public and Social Policy and the Diploma in Accounting and Finance. Also intended for MSc students who have not previously studied accounting subjects to a significant extent, but only with the agreement, in writing, of the MSc Programme Director. Students who have previously studied Accounting are asked to seek advice before selecting this course.
Note: this course also forms the second half of the full-unit course AC464 Management Accounting and Financial Accounting: Decisions, Control, Reporting and Disclosure. Students wishing to take both the half-unit courses AC490 and AC491 would be required to take AC464 instead. Students cannot take AC490 in conjunction with either AC464 or AC490.
Course content: Enterprises must today tackle markets that are affected by the “flattening” effects of globalisation and the extensive advances in internet-based technologies. They must seek success in the face of intense competition including the ever more sophisticated corporate strategies of their competitors. At the same time, the interface between business decisions and management accounting is regarded as becoming more complex and a more significant determinant of high corporate performance. This course provides students with an introduction to issues of accounting information and cost management, managerial decision making and performance measurement. It discusses also the interface between management accounting and technology, corporate strategy, e-business and marketing.
The course will cover:
- established managerial accounting concepts such as cost-volume-profit relationships, overhead cost allocations, activity based costing, the balanced scorecard, target cost management and quality costing;
- flexible organisational technologies encompassing just-in-time systems, enterprise resource planning, computer integrated system and collaborative manufacturing;
- operational, marketing and corporate strategy issues including cost management, e-business and internet-based business models;
- organisational arrangements such as functional and multidivisional firms as well as strategic alliances, joint ventures and virtual enterprises;
- comparative international management accounting systems;
- accounting controls and organisational designs including responsibility centres, financial performance measurements, variance analysis, and incentives;
- strategic accounting tools and practices.
The course will provide participants with:
- an understanding of strategic, market and technological links to management accounting and control practices;
- the ability to apply cutting edge management accounting techniques within competitive business environments;
- a knowledge of interrelationships between behavioural, organisational and cultural issues and management accounting systems.
Teaching: 10 sessions of two hours and nine classes of one hour in LT. A two-hour revision session is held in ST.
Formative coursework: Students are expected to produce several pieces of written work, including accounting exercises, analyses of case studies, and essays. At least two pieces of written work will be collected for feedback during the course. Students are also required to participate actively in a variety of discussions and debates as part of the class activities.
AC491 Half Unit
Financial Accounting, Reporting and Disclosure
This information is for the 2012/13 session.
Teacher responsible: Dr Lisa Goh, OLD 2.13
Availability: This course is intended for students on MSc Management and Strategy, MSc Management, MSc Development Management, MSc Management Science (Operational Research), MSc Law and Accounting, MPA Public and Economic Policy/MPA Public Policy and Management/MPA International Development/MPA European Public and Economic Policy/MPA Public and Social Policy, MSc Management and the Diploma in Accounting and Finance.
This unit is also intended for MSc students who are not specialising in Accounting who have not previously studied these subjects to a significant extent but only with the agreement, in writing, of the MSc (Accounting) Course Tutor. Students who have previously studied Accounting are asked to seek advice before selecting this course.
Note: this course also forms the first half of the full-unit course AC464 Management Accounting and Financial Accounting: Decisions, Control, Reporting and Disclosure. Lessons wishing to take both the half-unit courses AC490 and AC491 would be required to take AC464 instead. Students cannot take AC491 in conjunction with either AC464 or AC490.
Course content: This course provides students with an introduction to financial accounting, and highlights aspects of reporting that are important to users of financial information. The course covers the preparation of key financial statements and the frameworks of accounting regulation. The course will also cover accounting issues related to depreciation, goodwill, and intangible assets, equity, debt, and consolidation. Students will be introduced to financial statement analysis and research on the use of accounting information in financial markets.
Teaching: 10 weekly lectures of two hours each in MT and one two-hour lecture in ST. Classes: eight one-hour classes MT.
Formative coursework: Students are expected to produce several pieces of written work, including accounting exercises and essays.
Indicative reading: A detailed reading list will be made available at the start of the course. Illustrative texts: J Kothari, E Barone, Financial Accounting: an International Approach (Prentice Hall, 2006).
Assessment: A two-hour unseen examination in the ST (100%).
Students answer four questions (one compulsory question; two from four questions; and one out of two essay questions).

AC499 Dissertation
This information is for the 2012/13 session.
Teacher responsible: Dr Kazbi Soonawalla (OLD 2.16), Programme Director of the MSc Accounting and Finance.
Availability: This course is intended for students on the MSc Accounting and Finance programme, who elect to take this as an option in paper 3 or 4. Permission to select the long essay option must be obtained from the Programme Director by the end of the third week of MT. Students wishing to select this option must first identify and secure agreement from a member of staff who is willing to provide supervision for the dissertation. Approval for this option will not be granted if such an agreement is not obtained from an academic staff member.
Course content: The dissertation may focus on analysing the relevant literature and other source material on a particular topic and writing a critical survey or commentary, indicating clearly the main problems and their nature, or investigating and reporting on a selected problem, either by some small-scale empirical research, or by using information derived from secondary sources. The dissertation must identify relevant issues, sustain reasoned argument, and draw supportable conclusions. It must be arranged in an organised manner and include a full bibliography.
Teaching: There is no teaching associated with the dissertation, but students who select this option are encouraged to attend the dissertation workshop sessions organised by the Teaching and Learning Centre.
Assessment: Two typewritten copies of the dissertation must be submitted to the MSc Programme Manager, due by 31 May. The dissertation should be double-spaced, on A4 paper, with a maximum word limit of 10,000 words, not including Appendices. Mark penalties will apply if you exceed the word limit.

AN402 The Anthropology of Religion
This information is for the 2012/13 session.
Teachers responsible: Dr Michael W. Scott, OLD 6.16 (MT) and Dr George St.Clair (LT)
Availability: For MSc Social Anthropology, MSc Anthropology and Development, MSc Anthropology and Development Management, MSc Law, Anthropology and Society, MSc China in Comparative Perspective.
Course content: This course covers selected topics in the anthropology of religion, focusing upon relevant theoretical debates.
The Michaelmas term of this course will explore topics such as shamanism, cargo cults, initiation, witchcraft and sorcery, cosmology, and human-nonhuman relations, primarily with reference to ongoing transformations of the indigenous traditions of Melanesia, Africa, Amazonia, Australia, and the circumpolar north. Recurring themes will be: transformations in the definition of ‘religion’ in relation to ‘science’; the nature of rationality; and the extent to which anthropology itself can be either - or both - a religious and a scientific quest to experience the wonder of unknown otherness.
The Lent term engages directly with basic questions - about the anthropology of religion itself, and about religion in the contemporary world. Religious practice and institutions continue to endure, and they are interpreted as positive ways for people to find and express themselves, or as pessimistic signs of their powerlessness against larger global forces. Part I of the term will focus on ritual, including a survey of influential work emphasising the value of ritual studies followed by a contemporary critical look at the inherited concept of ritual. Part II will look at how anthropology has approached ‘world religion’ and changes brought about by modernity. Themes include the nature and implications of religious conversion, secularism, charisma and language. Contemporary ethnography will be approached keeping in mind themes developed in Part I.
Teaching: Lectures AN402 weekly MT, LT; Seminars AN402.A weekly MT, LT.
AN405
The Anthropology of Kinship, Sex and Gender
This information is for the 2012/13 session.

Teachers responsible: Dr Tom Boylston, room TBC, Dr Charlotte Bruckermann, room TBC and Professor Rita Astuti, OLD 6.11
Availability: For MSc Social Anthropology, MSc Anthropology and Development, MSc Anthropology and Development Management, MSc Law, Anthropology and Society, MSc China in Comparative Perspective and MSc Gender.

Course content: An examination of the cultural frameworks and social aspects of kinship systems, gender roles, personhood and human sexuality, analysed through ethnographic examples from diverse cultures; an analysis of theoretical debates concerning core concepts such as ‘kinship’, ‘marriage’, ‘gender’, ‘sex’ and ‘person’ and a critical discussion of ‘nature’ and ‘culture’.

The course charts the history of anthropological debates on kinship and gender, and the critique of the notion of ‘kinship’ in the light of symbolic approaches, gender theory and culturally variant theories of sexuality and procreation.

Teaching: Lectures: AN405 weekly MT, LT, Seminars AN405.A weekly MT, LT.

Assessment: There is a three-hour examination in the ST.

AN419
The Anthropology of Christianity
This information is for the 2012/13 session.

Teacher responsible: Dr Fenella Cannell, A610
Availability: For MSc Social Anthropology and MSc Anthropology and Development, MSc Anthropology and Development Management.

Course content: The ethnography of the local Christianities in the light of differing cultural and social situations including colonial conditions. The relationship between Christianity and the discipline of anthropology.

The course examines a number of anthropological and historical studies of local forms of Christianity, including local forms of Catholicism, contemporary and historical Protestantisms including American Fundamentalist Protestantism and ‘heretical’ and other unorthodox Christianities. The course asks why anthropologists have shied away from analysing Christianity long after studies of other world religions, such as Islam, Hinduism and Buddhism, have become widely established. It looks at the relationship between Christianity and the history of anthropological thought, and locates the place of Christianity in the writings of Mauss, Durkheim, Foucault and others, in order to defamiliarise the religion which Europeans and Americans especially often take for granted. Issues examined may include the nature and experience of belief, the problems of writing about religion, Christianity and the state, the nature of religious confession, Christianity and women’s religious and social experience (from Medieval women mystics to women priests), inquisitions and heretical beliefs, priests and alternative forms of mediation with divine power, miraculous saints, incorrupt bodies and ‘non-eaters’ and changing ideas about death, Heaven and Hell. Particular attention is paid to the nature of conversion, the history of missionaries and to Christianity in colonial and post-colonial situations in a variety of contexts such as Madagascar, South America, South East Asia and South Africa, and to issues of resistance and the re-appropriation of Christian doctrines by local populations.

Formative coursework: Students are expected to prepare discussion material for presentation in the seminars.

Teaching: Lectures AN419 weekly LT, Seminars AN419.A weekly LT.

Detailed reading lists are provided at the beginning of the course.

Assessment: There is a two-hour examination in the ST.
AN420 Half Unit Not available in 2012/13
The Anthropology of South-East Asia
This information is for the 2012/13 session.
Teacher responsible: Dr Catherine Allerton, OLD 6.08
Availability: For MSc Social Anthropology, MSc Anthropology and Development and MSc Anthropology and Development Management.
Course content: This course will introduce students to selected topics in the anthropology of Southeast Asia through the lens of the region's material cultures. What are some of the distinctive aspects of material culture in Southeast Asia? How does a comparative study of material culture help illuminate such key regional themes as: colonialism and post-colonialism, gender and personhood, ‘custom’ and ‘religion’, power and the foreign, unity and difference? Since this is a huge and varied region, the course will focus on the Austronesian-speaking island world of Indonesia, Malaysia and the Philippines, with some material from Thailand. The first lectures of the course will focus on some broad regional themes from the ethnography and history of island Southeast Asia. We will look at similarities of ecology and cultural patterns throughout the region, especially the contrast between highland and lowland societies. We will also consider comparative perspectives on notions of identity, power, gender and the construction of person in hierarchical and egalitarian systems of Southeast Asia. We will then move to look at some key aspects of material culture, examining their significance amongst different societies and considering some of the ways in which both state and religious authorities have responded at different times to their perceived ‘threat’. Topics will include: Houses and architecture Landscape Textiles and weaving Clothing Food and Sacrifice Heiroomus The materiality of modernity Tourism, postmodernity and theme-parks
Teaching: Lectures AN420 weekly MT, Seminars AN421.A weekly MT.
Formative coursework: Students are expected to prepare discussion material for presentation in the seminars.
Indicative reading: V.T. King and W.D. Wilder, The Modern Anthropology of South-East Asia: An introduction; J.M. Atkinson and S. Errington, Power and Difference; Roxann Waterson, The Living House; Henk Schulte Nordholt, Outward appearances; Janet Hoskins, Biographical Objects; Penny van Esterik, Materializing Thailand; Webb Keane, Signs of Recognition; Jill Forshay, Between the Folds; John Pemberton, On the Subject of ‘Java’; Janet Castron, The Heart of the Hearth; Patricia Speyer, Border Fetishisms. Detailed reading lists are provided at the beginning of the course.
Assessment: There is a two-hour examination in the ST.

AN424 Half Unit Not available in 2012/13
Anthropology of Melanesia
This information is for the 2012/13 session.
Teacher responsible: Dr Michael W Scott, A616
Availability: For MSc Social Anthropology, MSc Anthropology and Development Management and MSc Anthropology and Development.
Course content: This course provides an introduction to the culture area in the Southwest Pacific Ocean known as Melanesia through an examination of classic and contemporary ethnography of Papua New Guinea, Solomon Islands, Vanuatu, New Caledonia and Fiji. In the 1880s a hereditary Fijian priest named Dugamoi claimed to have acquired supernatural powers through initiatory out-of-body experiences and prophesied the imminent transformation of the Fijian social order: soon the European colonial rulers would become subject to Fijians and Fijian chiefs would serve the commoners. The wealth of Europeans - cloth, tinned goods, and other manufactured items - would all flow spontaneously and prodigiously to Fiji. In 1919 the ‘Vailala Madness’ inspired the followers of Evara on the south coast of what is now Papua New Guinea with expectations that the spirits of their ancestors were about to arrive in a huge steamer bearing abundant supplies of flour, rice, tobacco, and knives and transferring control of trade in these goods from whites to blacks. In the 1940s, Tsek instructed the people of the island of Espiritu Santo (in present-day Vanuatu) to prepare for the advent of cargo-laden Americans by killing their livestock, burning their villages, going naked, and living in communal antinomian anticipation of a new world order. Collectively labelled ‘cargo cults’, such religious and political movements have, since the middle of the twentieth century, become iconic for many of the geographic and cultural area known as Melanesia. By tracking the classic ethnographic construction, late twentieth-century critique, and recent reassessment of this category, the course offers a thematically-centred survey of key themes in the anthropology of Melanesia. Questions and topics considered include: what is ‘Melanesia’? Is ‘Melanesia’ still a useful concept? The place of Melanesia in the history of anthropological theory; cosmologies, mythologies and religious practices; spatiality and emplacement; leadership and community formation; knowledge and secrecy; exchange; gender, race, personhood, and sociality; colonial histories; custom politics; indigenous Christianities; decolonization, nationalism and ethnogenesis; and Melanesian modernities.

Teaching: Lectures AN424 weekly MT, Seminars AN424 weekly MT.
Formative coursework: Students are expected to prepare discussion material for presentation in seminars.
Assessment: There is a two-hour examination in the ST.

---

AN436 Half Unit
The Anthropology of Development
This information is for the 2012/13 session.
Teacher responsible: TBC
Availability: For MSc Social Anthropology, MSc Anthropology and Development, MSc Anthropology and Development Management, MSc China in Comparative Perspective, MSc International Development and Humanitarian Emergencies, MSc Health, Community and Development, MSc Comparative Politics, MPA Public and Economic Policy/MPA Public Policy and Management/ MPA International Development/MPA European Public and Economic Policy/MPA Public and Social Policy and MSc Human Rights.
Course content: This course considers a range of contributions made by anthropologists to the analysis of development. It assesses the reconciliability of two divergent perspectives: development anthropology, with its corpus of writings by practitioners working on practical projects, and the ‘anthropology of development’, comprising a series of critiques of development theory and practice by anthropologists. It examines the historical background, showing how development and its discourses were made in the wake of the colonial encounter, and exploring the role played by anthropologists in this process. Critiques of both state-planned and market-driven development are considered and weighed against the ethnographic evidence, and anthropological studies of development organisations, institutions and ‘the aid industry’ considered. The anthropology of planning and policy, actor-centred perspectives on development; NGOs and participatory approaches; microcredit and gender; and migration and displacement are among the topics explored. Regional ethnographies used include those from various parts of Southern and West Africa, China, Latin America, South and South-East Asia.
Teaching: Lectures AN436 weekly MT, Seminars AN436.A weekly MT.
Formative coursework: Students are expected to prepare discussion material for presentation in the seminars.
Detailed reading lists are provided at the beginning of the course.
Assessment: There is a two-hour examination in the ST.

---

AN437
Anthropology of Learning and Cognition
This information is for the 2012/13 session.
Teachers responsible: Professor Rita Astuti, OLD 6.11, Professor Charles Stafford, OLD 6.02.
Availability: This course is compulsory for MSc Social Anthropology (Learning and Cognition), and is optional for MSc Anthropology and Development, MSc Anthropology and Development Management and MSc Social Anthropology.
Course content: The course will focus on the relationship between mechanisms of cultural transmission, both informal and institutional, and what anthropologists have called ‘culture’ and ‘society’. We shall look at the way universal human capabilities develop and are used during different stages of life to create unique cultural understandings. We shall then examine how these understandings enable us to interact in specific ways with others. Topics covered include schemas, memory, ‘theory of mind’, informal and formal education, emotions, expertise, and the nature of different types of beliefs. We shall consider how themes of this kind - elaborated in cognitive anthropology and in cognitive science more generally - lead to a reconsideration of classic anthropological concerns, including kinship, religion, politics and economics.

Teaching: Lectures (20 in all) weekly MT, LT, Seminars (20 in all) weekly MT, LT.

Indicative reading: B Shore, Culture in Mind; M Cole, Cultural Psychology; R D’Andrade, The Development of Cognitive Anthropology; D Holland & N Quinn, Cultural Models in Language and Thought; E Hutchins, Cognition in the Wild; J Lave, Cognition in Practice; M Bloch, How We Think They Think; D Sperber, Explaining Culture; P Boyer, Religion explained; R Astuti, G Solomon & S Carey, Constraints on Conceptual Development; M Tomassello The Cultural Origins of Human Cognition.

Assessment: There is a three-hour examination in the ST.

AN439 Half Unit Anthropology and Human Rights
This information is for the 2012/13 session.
Teacher responsible: Dr Matthew Engelske, OLD 6.10
Availability: For MSc Social Anthropology, MSc Anthropology and Development, MSc Anthropology and Development Management, MSc China in Comparative Perspective, MSc Human Rights, MSc Race, Ethnicity and Post-Colonial Studies, MSc International Migration and Public Policy and other degree programmes as permitted by the regulations.

Course content: The tension between respect for “local cultures” and “universal rights” is a pressing concern within human rights activism. For well over a decade, anthropologists have been increasingly involved in these discussions, working to situate their understandings of cultural relativism within a broader framework of social justice. This course explores the contributions of anthropology to the theoretical and practical concerns of human rights work. The term begins by reading a number of key human rights documents and theoretical texts. These readings are followed by selections in anthropology on the concepts of relativism and culture. Students will then be asked to relate their understandings of human rights to the historical and cultural dimensions of a particular case, addressing such questions as the nature of humanity, historical conceptions of the individual, colonialism and imperialism, the limits of relativism, and the relationship between human rights in theory and in practice. Case studies may include: gay rights in southern Africa; genocide in Rwanda; state violence in Guatemala.

Teaching: Lectures weekly LT, seminars weekly LT.

Formative coursework: Students are expected to prepare discussion material for seminars.

Assessment: There is a two-hour examination in the ST.

AN441 Anthropological Fieldwork Methods
This information is for the 2012/13 session.
Teacher responsible: Dr Michael W. Scott OLD 6.16
Availability: For MSc Social Anthropology (Research) and MPhil Social Anthropology students preparing their detailed research proposal prior to embarking on fieldwork and other forms of empirical research.

Course content: The course aims to give you a thorough understanding of what is involved in carrying out ethnographic fieldwork, and what kinds of knowledge it can and cannot generate. It focuses both on the classic fieldwork methods used by anthropologists in the first half of the 20th century, and on more recent methodological developments and techniques that correspond to transformations in the nature of the social. It examines the realities of turning research ideas into realistic plans, in the context of your chosen area of fieldwork.

The first half of the course deals with general ethnographic methods. These include participant observation; field notes and the organization of data; visual methods; ethics and anthropological ‘codes of ethics’; interviews; written ethnography, ethnographic knowledge, and problems of representation; critical approaches to existing ethnographic texts; place, multi-sited ethnography, the local and the global; research into family, kinship and the genealogical method; archives and how to use documentary material; fieldwork methodology and the research proposal. In the second half of the course, students present drafts of their projects and think through associated methodological and ethical issues.

Teaching: 20 two-hour seminars in the MT and LT.

Formative coursework: Students are required to write and present a paper in the LT.

Assessment: Students’ progress is monitored throughout the course by the teachers responsible. The work undertaken for this course is expected to feed directly into the preparation of your Research Proposal (AN443): The formal examination of the Proposal constitutes the assessment of the course.

AN442 Supervised Reading Course and Fieldwork Preparation
This information is for the 2012/13 session.
Teachers responsible: Members of staff of the Anthropology Department (students’ supervisors)
Availability: For MSc Social Anthropology (Research), and MPhil Social Anthropology.

Course content: The programme of supervised reading aims to give students a detailed knowledge of the regional ethnographic literature relevant to their proposed research project, as well as providing them with a firm grounding in the theoretical literature relevant to their research objectives. The programme also aims to aid students in the practical organization of their field research (eg organizing language training, obtaining research permits and academic affiliation) through their supervisors’ personal guidance. The programme of supervised reading will be specific to each student. It will be agreed with his/her supervisors at the beginning of the academic year and it will be closely reviewed during the course of the academic year.

Teaching: Students should expect to meet with at least one of their supervisors at 2-3 weekly intervals during term time, and to submit essays relevant to the preparation of their Research Proposal (AN443).

Formative coursework: Students will be required to write essays for their supervisors throughout the academic year.

Assessment: Students’ progress will be monitored by their supervisors through verbal discussion of the submitted written work. The work they undertake for this course is expected to feed directly into the preparation of the Research Proposal (AN443) and will be formally examined through it.

AN443 Research Proposal
This information is for the 2012/13 session.
Teachers responsible: Members of staff of the Anthropology Department
Availability: For MSc Social Anthropology (Research) and MPhil Social Anthropology.
Course content: All students must prepare a formal Research Proposal of 8,000-10,000 words (excluding references) for submission to the Department on or before the deadline in September. The proposal is written under the guidance of their supervisors (as set out in AN442), and will normally draw on material studied as part of the Anthropological Fieldwork Methods seminar (AN441). It will be expected to demonstrate knowledge of the regional ethnography, and theoretical and methodological literatures, relevant to the proposed research.

Assessment: The Research Proposal forms the basis for the assessment of this unit.

AN444 Half Unit  Not available in 2012/13
Investigating the Philippines: New Approaches and Ethnographic Contexts
This information is for the 2012/13 session.
Teacher responsible: Dr Fenella Cannell, OLD 6.07
Availability: This is an optional course for MSc Social Anthropology, MSc Anthropology and Development Management and MSc Anthropology and Development students. The course is also available to MPhil Anthropology students where recommended by their supervisors, normally as part of the pre-fieldwork preparation year. This course may be taken as an outside option by master’s students from other departments, as the regulations permit. It may also be taken by MPhil students from other departments as the regulations permit and with the agreement of the lecturer.
Pre-requisites: Graduates taking this course will normally have taken or be taking a foundational course in anthropology. However, topics may be of interest to those in several disciplines. Exemptions may therefore be sought from the lecturer, e.g. for students external to the department, who wish to explore what anthropology can bring to bear on their own fields.

Course content: This course offers the chance to look at the ethnography of one country in more detail than is usual for regional courses. It considers topics taken from the ethnography of the lowland and highland Philippines, with a focus on exciting new high quality writing, drawing on the recent renaissance in Philippine Studies. The course will balance works by expert non-Filipino ethnographers with the new writing of ‘native ethnographies’ by Filipino scholars resident both in the Philippines themselves and in the US.

The course will be framed within the colonial, religious and social history of the archipelago, and will consider both new interpretations of Philippine history, and topics on contemporary social issues, as well as using classic works on the Philippines.

Teaching each week will normally be organised around the reading of one outstanding ethnography, allowing students to look closely at particular cases. Topics in any year are likely to be drawn from the following list (although obviously only ten topics can be offered in one year): Migration, ‘mail-order’ brides, and the Philippine diaspora; New religious movements: Philippine colonialism and the processes of conversion: Healing, spirit possession, midwifery and local medicine: The contemporary Catholic Church; Violence in the Philippines; Ecology, landscape and environmental politics: Kinship and its transformations; Gender, Philippine queer theory and Philippine transvestitism; Ritual, drama and local performance traditions: Philippine architecture and material culture: Philippine cinema: Colonial politics, tribal politics and issues of self-representation: Magic, sorcery and “antisomo”; Tourism, symbolic economies and the impact of international capitalism.

Teaching: One-hour lectures weekly, one-hour seminars weekly.

Formative coursework: Students may be required to prepare discussion material for seminars.

Indicative reading: Detailed reading lists are provided at the beginning of the course, these are a selection: Michell R, Rosaldo, Knowledge and Passion; Vicente Rafael, Contracting Colonialism; Fenella Cannell, Power and Intimacy in the Christian Philippines; Sally Ann Neas, Where Asia Smiles; Heather L Claussen, Unconventional Sisterhood; M F Manalansan, yes > Global Divas: Filipino Gay Men in the Diaspora; Vicente Rafael, White Love and Other Events in Filipino History; Nicole Constable, Maid to order in Hong Kong; Albert Alejo, Generating Energies in Mount Apo.

Assessment: Two-hour examination in ST (100%) for MSc students. MPhil/PhD students may be asked to complete an essay on a topic from the course, as advised by their supervisors.

AN446 Tutorials for MSc China in Comparative Perspective
This information is for the 2012/13 session.
Teacher responsible: Dr Hans Steinmuller, OLD 6.07, and Stuart Thompson
Availability: Compulsory for students on MSc China in Comparative Perspective.
Course content: Essay planning, collaborative writing and tutorial discussion of student essays.

Formative coursework: Four essays on topics from AN447 China in Comparative Perspective.

Indicative reading: See the reading list for AN447 China in Comparative Perspective. An extended reading list will be issued in the first lecture.

Assessment: This course is not assessed.

AN447 China in Comparative Perspective
This information is for the 2012/13 session.
Teacher responsible: Dr Hans Steinmuller, OLD 6.07, Dr Stephan Feuchtwang, OLD 6.12 and Mr James Johnston.
Availability: Compulsory for students on MSc China in Comparative Perspective and is optional for MSc Anthropology and Development, MSc Anthropology and Development Management, MSc Social Anthropology. This course is also available as an outside option where regulations permit and with the permission of the course teacher, places are limited and priority is given to MSc China in Comparative Perspective students.
Course content: The main object of the course is to help students develop ways of putting the politics, economy and social life of China into a framework in which they can compare and juxtapose it with other major examples. Students will bring whatever theoretical approaches they have already learned and are continuing to learn in the disciplines they bring to the course. They will be expected to demonstrate and explain how they are using them as well as to listen to other approaches and disciplinary perspectives. The topics for each week are as follows:

Formative coursework: Those who have registered for this course (but not those who take this as a unit in another degree) will attend tutorials in groups of three to five every two weeks, starting in week 2. For these tutorials, students will write four essays, two in Michaelmas Term and two in Lent Term. These essays will not be assessed for the degree.

Teaching: 10 one-hour lectures in MT and LT, 10 one-hour seminars in MT and LT.

Assessment: A three-hour examination in ST.

AN449 Ethnography in relation to other Research Methods

This information is for the 2012/13 session.

Teacher responsible: Professor Rita Astuti, OLD 6.11 and Professor Charles Stafford, OLD 6.02

Availability: Compulsory for MSc Social Anthropology (Research) and MPhil/PhD in Anthropology. Also available to research students from other departments with approval of instructors.

Course content: This course considers research practices across a range of social and natural sciences in order to explore methodological issues which are specifically relevant to ethnography. In particular, it focuses on the relationship between evidence and the kinds of inferences and conclusions which are drawn by researchers in different fields. In each section of the course, case-studies taken from different disciplines will be considered in relation to the research practices of ethnographers. The disciplines covered may include: cognitive science & developmental psychology; philosophy; medical science and epidemiology; historical, sociological, economic, economics.

Teaching: 10 two-hour seminars in MT.

Formative coursework: Weekly presentations in seminars from weeks 2-4, for which indicative grades will be given.

Assessment: Students make three presentations in seminars (each presentation is worth 20% - 60% in total); an essay of 2,500 words (40%).

AN451 Half Unit Anthropology of Politics

This information is for the 2012/13 session.

Teacher responsible: Dr Mathijs Pelkmans, OLD 6.13.

Availability: MSc Social Anthropology, MSc Anthropology and Development, MSc Anthropology and Development Management, MSc Anthropology of Learning and Cognition, MSc Law, Anthropology and Society, MSc China in Comparative Perspective, MSc Development Studies, MSc Human Rights, MSc Regulation and Regulation (Research), MSc Comparative Politics and MPA Public and Economic Policy/ MPA Public Policy and Management.

Pre-requisites: A background in the social sciences, preferably in anthropology.

Course content: This course focuses on the notion of power and its cross-cultural application. Using Marxist, Weberian, and Foucauldian approaches it explores how power travels through different socio-cultural contexts, paying attention to issues such as domination and resistance, patron-client relations, the mafia, revolution and violence. A recurring theme throughout the course concerns the state. How should the state be studied anthropologically? Processes of state formation and disintegration, nationalism in its various guises, and state-society relations will be reviewed in order to understand how European, post-colonial, and post-socialist societies are governed.

Teaching: Lectures weekly MT, Seminars weekly MT.

Formative coursework: Students will do presentations during seminars for which they will receive formative feedback. They will also have an opportunity to write tutorial essays on topics from the course which will be formatively assessed.

Assessment: There is a two-hour examination (100%) in the ST.
AN455 Half Unit
Statistics and Causal Analysis for Social Anthropologists
This information is for the 2012/13 session.
Teacher responsible: Radu Umbres.
Availability: MPhil/PhD Social Anthropology; MSc Social Anthropology (Research)
Course content: This course aims to provide anthropology students with proficiency in using and interpreting quantitative data with readily available software. It is for those new to quantitative analysis, and designed to complement ethnographic methods of analysis. The following areas are addressed: descriptive statistics; hypothesis testing; exploratory statistical data analysis; statistical inference and measures of association.
The objectives are to equip students to understand some basic principles of statistical analysis and sampling methods, to apply them appropriately in their own research, to read critically anthropological texts in which these methods are applied or referred to. Particular attention will be paid to the connections between statistical analysis and causal explanation, and the complementary use of quantitative and qualitative methods. Specific statistical tests will be taught, but most emphasis will be placed on understanding the reasoning behind them.
Practical work will be based on a range of anthropological data sets with different substantive and technical features, and will include discussion of possible applications to students’ own research plans, including the practicalities of data gathering, and hands-on training in the use of Excel and SPSS.
Week 1: January 10 - Designing field studies and sampling schemes.
Week 2: January 17 - Designing questionnaires.
Week 3: January 24 - Processing data; creating spreadsheets, tables and graphs, descriptive statistics.
Week 4: January 31 - Probabilities and hypothesis testing.
Week 5: February 7 - Correlation and regression.
Week 6: February 14 - Reading week, no class.
Week 7: February 21 - Multiple regression.
Week 8: February 28 - Univariate measures of group difference, Mann-Whitney U-test, Kruskal-Wallis.
Week 9: March 7 - Contingency tables and odds ratios.
Week 10: March 14 - Logistic regression.
Week 11: March 21 - Final Exam.
Teaching: Introductory session MT. Weekly lectures LT, weekly seminars LT. Note that teaching takes place within UCL term times, which may be slightly different from LSE’s.
Assessment: There will be a practical assignment given each week, which will be due by the next class meeting. Practical assignments (50%) can be worked on during the practical session, and TA assistance will be available during this practical. Answers to each practical will be made available on the Moodle page after each submission deadline (no late submissions accepted). There will be a final examination (50%) during the last class meeting in the form of a series of practical exercises done and submitted in class.
Availability: MSc Social Anthropology, MSc Anthropology and Development, MSc Anthropology and Development Management, MSc Anthropology of Learning and Cognition, and MSc Law, Anthropology and Society, MSc China in Comparative Perspective, MSc Development Studies, MSc Human Rights, MPA Public and Economic Policy/MPA Public Policy and Management/MPA International Development/MPA European Public and Economic Policy/MPA Public and Social Policy, MSc Regulation and MSc Regulation (Research).
Pre-requisites: A background in the social sciences, preferably in anthropology.
Course content: The anthropological analysis of economic institutions cross-culturally; analysis of the relationship between production and exchange, gifts and commodities, and politics and the economy in a variety of settings.
Indicative list of topics: key concepts and theoretical debates in economic anthropology, the social organization of production and exchange, economic aspects of kinship and gender relations; work and alienation; money as an agent of social change; distinctions between gifts and commodities.
Teaching: Lectures weekly MT, seminars weekly MT.
Formative coursework: Students will do presentations during seminars for which they will receive formative feedback. They will also have an opportunity to write tutorial essays on topics from the course which will be formatively assessed.
Assessment: There is a two-hour examination (100%) in the ST.

AN457 Half Unit
Anthropology of Economy (2): Development, Transformation and Globalisation
This information is for the 2012/13 session.
Teacher responsible: Dr Laura Bear OLD 6.09
Availability: MSc Social Anthropology, MSc Anthropology and Development, MSc Anthropology and Development Management, MSc Social Anthropology (Learning and Cognition), and MSc Law, Anthropology and Society, MSc China in Comparative Perspective, MSc Development Studies, MSc Human Rights, MPA Public and Economic Policy/MPA Public Policy and Management, MPA International Development/MPA European Public and Economic Policy/MPA Public and Social Policy, MSc Regulation and MSc Regulation (Research).
Pre-requisites: A background in the social sciences, preferably anthropology.
Course content: The course addresses, in particular, topics in the anthropology of globalization. It undertakes analysis of the transformation of economic institutions as a result of their incorporation into a wider capitalist market (and of state policies and development initiatives). These themes are examined in relation to relevant theoretical debates and with reference to selected ethnography.
The social and political impact of post-Fordism, flexible work regimes and the knowledge economy; the causes and consequences of transnationalism; local responses to the transition from peasant to proletarian; new social movements among peasant communities; the ‘new consumer’ and consumer citizenship; critiques of concepts of the informal economy and social capital from the perspective of post-socialist societies; capitalist and state interventions in the environment and local reactions to them; commoditization of bodies in biological citizenship; the spaces of neo-liberal cities.
Teaching: Lectures weekly LT, Seminars weekly LT.
Formative coursework: Students will do presentations during seminars for which they will receive formative feedback. They will also have an opportunity to write tutorial essays on topics from the course which will be formatively assessed.

AN456 Half Unit
Anthropology of Economy (1): Production and Exchange
This information is for the 2012/13 session.
Teacher responsible: Dr Jason Hickel
Availability: MSc Social Anthropology, MSc Anthropology and Development, MSc Anthropology and Development Management, MSc Anthropology of Learning and Cognition, and MSc Law, Anthropology and Society, MSc China in Comparative Perspective, MSc Development Studies, MSc Human Rights, MPA Public and Economic Policy/MPA Public Policy and Management, MPA International Development/MPA European Public and Economic Policy/MPA Public and Social Policy, MSc Regulation and MSc Regulation (Research).
Pre-requisites: A background in the social sciences, preferably anthropology.
Course content: The anthropological analysis of economic institutions cross-culturally; analysis of the relationship between production and exchange, gifts and commodities, and politics and the economy in a variety of settings.
Indicative list of topics: key concepts and theoretical debates in economic anthropology, the social organization of production and exchange, economic aspects of kinship and gender relations; work and alienation; money as an agent of social change; distinctions between gifts and commodities.
Teaching: Lectures weekly MT, seminars weekly MT.
Formative coursework: Students will do presentations during seminars for which they will receive formative feedback. They will also have an opportunity to write tutorial essays on topics from the course which will be formatively assessed.
AN458 Half Unit  Not available in 2012/13
Children and Youth in Contemporary Ethnography

This information is for the 2012/13 session.
Teacher responsible: Dr Catherine Allerton, OLD 6.08
Availability: Optional for students on MSc Social Anthropology, MSc Anthropology and Development, MSc Anthropology and Development Management, MSc Law, Anthropology and Society.
The course is also available as an outside option and to General Course students where regulations permit and with the permission of the course tutor.
Course content: For much of its history, and with some notable exceptions, anthropology has paid little serious attention to children. However, recent years have seen a growing interest in both ‘childhood’ as a historical and social construction, and in children’s engagement with their own social worlds. This course aims to introduce students to emerging ethnographic work on children and youth, in order to explore both its theoretical and methodological challenges. Ethnographic studies will cover a wide range of societies and regions, including anthropological work on children and childhood in the West.
The course will begin with an investigation of children’s place in anthropology, including early anthropological work on ‘Culture and Personality’ and ‘child socialisation’. The course will then move to consider a variety of topics that have been the focus of recent ethnographic study. These may include: children’s play, childhood identities and kinship, education and schooling, youth cultures and globalization, children’s work, street children and children’s competencies in contexts of crisis, including war. The course shall also consider the challenge that children pose to anthropological methodologies and shall investigate some of the ways in which fieldwork has been conducted with children.
Teaching: 10 x 1 hour lectures, 10 x 1 hour seminars, up to 4 hours of film screenings in LT, 1 hour revision session in ST.
Formative coursework: In addition to preparing discussion material for seminars, students will normally write one tutorial essay for the course. Students will be supplied with a mock exam paper.
Indicative reading:
Assessment: One two-hour examination in ST.

AN459 Half Unit  Not available in 2012/13
Anthropology and Media

This information is for the 2012/13 session.
Teacher responsible: Dr Matthew Engelske, A609
Availability: MSc Social Anthropology, MSc China in Comparative Perspective, MSc Anthropology and Development, MSc Anthropology and Development Management and MSc Global Media and Communications (with Fudan and USC). The course is also available as an outside option where regulations permit and with permission of the course tutor.
Course content: This course introduces students to anthropological analyses of media, including books and other printed texts, photography, radio, television, film, and the internet. Although ‘the anthropology of media’ is often understood to be a relatively new subfield, there has been a long-standing interest in media technologies within the discipline. There is also an important manner, from an anthropological point of view, in which ‘media technologies’ have to be understood not only as these cultural artefacts (radio, film) but also the more elementary senses they express (hearing, sight, etc). We therefore investigate media both as a broad conceptual category and as specific technologies of communication.
The course begins with a historical overview of anthropologists’ investigations of media technologies, broadly construed. We then move on to consider ethnographic case studies of media in context. Examples may include: photography in India, radio in Zambia, television and cassette circulation in Egypt, mobile phones in Jamaica, book groups in England, and ‘indigenous video’ in Brazil and Australia. Throughout the course the case studies are framed in relation to some of the key theoretical debates that have shaped media studies in anthropology and related disciplines since the 1930s. Some attention is also given to the methodological problems involved in studying media, especially the extent to which it challenges the possibility of conducting fieldwork by participant observation.
Teaching: Lectures AN459 weekly LT, Seminars AN459 A weekly LT, Revision session ST.
Formative coursework: Anthropology students taking this course will have an opportunity to submit a tutorial essay for this course to their personal tutors. For non-Anthropology students taking this course, a formative essay will be submitted to the course teacher.
Indicative reading: Domestication of the Savage Mind (J Goody), Imagined Communities, (B Anderson), ‘The Work of Art in the Age of Mechanical Reproduction’ (W Benjamin), Media Worlds (F Ginsburg, L Abu-Lughod, and B Larkin, eds), Understanding Media (M McLuhan), Understanding Media (D Boyer), ‘Anthropology and the Mass Media’ (D Spittelik), ‘Anthropology and its contributions to studies of Mass Media’ (S Dickey), Media Rituals (N Couldry), A Voice: And Nothing More (M Dolar), The Presence of the Word (W Ong)
Assessment: One two-hour examination in the ST.

AN461 Half Unit  Not available in 2012/13
Anthropological Approaches to Questions of Being

This information is for the 2012/13 session.
Teacher responsible: Dr Michael W. Scott
Availability: MSc Social Anthropology, MSc Anthropology and Development Management and MSc Anthropology and Development. The course is also available as an outside option and to General Course students where regulations permit and with the permission of the teacher responsible.
Course content: In titles of books and articles and in descriptions of conferences and seminars, anthropologists are using the word ‘ontology’ with increasing frequency, but what do they mean by it? Historically, ontology is a branch of Western thought devoted to the study of the nature of being (Greek ontos) and how the various categories of being said to exist in the universe are related to one another. Building on, but broadening the scope of this
Western tradition, the anthropology of ontology is a growing area of research that seeks to document ethnographically and model theoretically the often radically different ontologies - sets of assumptions about the number and nature of fundamental categories in the world - that inform social practice in diverse historical, geographic, cultural, and sub-cultural contexts. Several recent publications have called for a 'turn to ontology', or the development of a new field of 'ontological anthropology'. But there is, as yet, no unified approach to this topic. Working in different geographical regions and drawing on different intellectual antecedents, anthropologists have developed different analytical vocabularies that are now in need of comparison and mutual interpretation. This course provides an orientation to the different approaches within this emergent field. Through ethnographic readings from Aboriginal Australia, Amazonia, Central Asia, China, Melanesia, Native Alaska, and Polynesia, as well as the anthropology of Christianity and the history of science, the course takes a comparative approach to the exploration of different ontologies and their relationship to practice, cultural change, ethics, and social conflict. Questions and topics covered include:

The relationship between ontology and cosmology
Where and how - beyond myth and ritual - are ontologies available to ethnographic observation?
Theories of animism versus Western nature/culture dualism
Amazonian perspectivism
Relationship to place and the environment as indices of ontology
The ontological status of 'things'
Dreams, illness, and curing as indices of different modalities of being
Conflicting ontological assumptions in intercultural contexts
Cognitivist experimental methods for the study of intuitive ontology
Scientific ontologies
Race and gender as categories of being
ET culture and UFOlogy as sites of ontological anxiety

What ontological assumptions have informed anthropology?

Teaching: 10 hours of lectures and 10 hours of seminars in the MT. 1 revision session in the ST.

Formative coursework: Anthropology students taking this course will have an opportunity to submit a tutorial essay for this course to their personal tutors. For non-Anthropology students taking this course, a formative essay may be submitted to the course teacher.

Assessment: One 2-hour examination in the ST (100%).
may make cultural differences more salient in everyday social and symbolic practice. Moreover, because of the tenuous relations between border dwellers and the state, border studies highlight blind spots in our understandings of concepts as society, identity, culture, ethnicity, and nation. As such, the study of borders links up with central anthropological questions. Whether dealing with ideas about purity, dynamics of inclusion and exclusion, or the (partly artificial) separation of modern society into “spheres,” boundaries are being drawn, enlivened, and contested.

Teaching: Ten hours of lectures and ten hours of seminars in LT. One hour of seminars in the ST.

Formative coursework: Anthropology students taking this course will be encouraged to submit a tutorial essay for this course to their personal tutors. For non-Anthropology students taking this course, a formative essay may be submitted to the course teacher.

Assessment: One two-hour examination in the Summer Term.

AN464 Half Unit Not available in 2012/13
Ethnography of a Selected Region
This information is for the 2012/13 session.

Teachers responsible: TBA.

Availability: MSc Social Anthropology, MSc Anthropology and Development, MSc Anthropology and Development Management, MSc Law, Anthropology and Society. The course is also available as an outside option with permission.

Course content: The course will aim to address issues of citizenship, inequality, political participation and democratic governance in rural and urban India. The course will cover both classic and current literature and weekly sessions will be organised thematically. We will start by looking at India's place in the world as a democracy and emerging economy and the many paradoxes that the country throws up - alongside some of the highest rates of economic growth, India also has one of the lowest performances on development indicators; despite 40% adult illiteracy, India has among the highest voter turnout rates in the world; despite local institutions having the least power compared to state level or the central government, ordinary people feel most invested in local elections; India remains largely rural yet India will hold the largest urban population in the world in less than ten years... and so on. In order to understand these paradoxes, it is essential that issues of caste and class be examined in some detail, through the anthropological literature produced on these topics over the past 60 years or so. The changing caste dynamics will be examined through everyday practices of discrimination, violence and endogamy as well as institutional innovations of affirmative action for jobs and education. Class relations have also dramatically changed with land reforms in rural India as well as a substantial middle class has emerged in urban India. Economic reforms introduced since the 1990s have altered modes of retail and consumption in both urban and rural India creating new inequalities and entrenching old ones. In the political arena, these changing practices and dynamics have led to a democratic upsurge from below, leading to a greater participation in the electoral process by members of the lower castes and classes of India.

All these issues and more will be addressed in this course through the rich corpus of anthropological literature on the subject alongside examples from India's vibrant media and popular culture.

Teaching: 10 hours of lectures and 10 hours of seminars in MT as well as film screenings (to be scheduled at the start of term). One revision session in ST.

Formative coursework: Anthropology students taking this course will have an opportunity to submit a tutorial essay for this course to their academic advisers. For non-Anthropology students taking this course, a formative essay may be submitted to one of the course teachers.

Indicative reading: Please do at least TWO of the following background reading before the start of the course and certainly by the end of the second week of the course.

Sunil Khilnani The Idea of India
Ramachandra Guha India After Gandhi
Katherine Boo Behind The Beautiful Forevers
Amartya Sen The Argumentative Indian
Fiction: Vikram Seth A Suitable Boy
Rohington Mistry A Fine Balance
Assessment: One two-hour exam in the ST (100%).

AN468 Half Unit Not available in 2012/13
The Anthropology of Schooling
This information is for the 2012/13 session.

Teachers responsible: Stuart Thompson.

Availability: MSc Social Anthropology, MSc Anthropology and Development, MSc Anthropology and Development Management, MSc China in Comparative Perspective, MSc Law, Anthropology and Society. Also available as an outside option with permission.

Pre-requisites: Students taking this course should have completed an introductory course in social anthropology, or in some other social science, unless granted exemption by the teacher.

Teacher responsible: Dr. Mukulika Banerjee

Availability: MSc Anthropology and Development, MSc Anthropology and Development Management and MSc Social Anthropology. The course is also available as an outside option where programme regulations permit.

Course content: This course will aim to address issues of citizenship, inequality, political participation and democratic governance in rural and urban India. The course will cover both classic and current literature and weekly sessions will be organised thematically. We will start by looking at India's place in the world as a democracy and emerging economy and the many paradoxes that the country throws up - alongside some of the highest rates of economic growth, India also has one of the lowest performances on development indicators; despite 40% adult illiteracy, India has among the highest voter turnout rates in the world; despite local institutions having the least power compared to state level or the central government, ordinary people feel most invested in local elections; India remains largely rural yet India will hold the largest urban population in the world in less than ten years... and so on. In order to understand these paradoxes, it is essential that issues of caste and class be examined in some detail, through the anthropological literature produced on these topics over the past 60 years or so. The changing caste dynamics will be examined through everyday practices of discrimination, violence and endogamy as well as institutional innovations of affirmative action for jobs and education. Class relations have also dramatically changed with land reforms in rural India as well as a substantial middle class has emerged in urban India. Economic reforms introduced since the 1990s have altered modes of retail and consumption in both urban and rural India creating new inequalities and entrenching old ones. In the political arena, these changing practices and dynamics have led to a democratic upsurge from below, leading to a greater participation in the electoral process by members of the lower castes and classes of India.

All these issues and more will be addressed in this course through the rich corpus of anthropological literature on the subject alongside examples from India's vibrant media and popular culture.

Teaching: 10 hours of lectures and 10 hours of seminars in MT as well as film screenings (to be scheduled at the start of term). One revision session in ST.

Formative coursework: Anthropology students taking this course will have an opportunity to submit a tutorial essay for this course to their academic advisers. For non-Anthropology students taking this course, a formative essay may be submitted to one of the course teachers.

Indicative reading: Please do at least TWO of the following background reading before the start of the course and certainly by the end of the second week of the course.

Sunil Khilnani The Idea of India
Ramachandra Guha India After Gandhi
Katherine Boo Behind The Beautiful Forevers
Amartya Sen The Argumentative Indian
Fiction: Vikram Seth A Suitable Boy
Rohington Mistry A Fine Balance
Assessment: One two-hour exam in the ST (100%).

AN467 Half Unit
The Anthropology of South Asia
This information is for the 2012/13 session.
Course content: This course looks at ethno-graphical and cross-cultural approaches to schooling, language and literacy, and critically examines key theoretical approaches from an anthropological perspective. We will begin by reflecting on students’ own conceptions of education, situating these in terms of contemporary paradigms and debates. Next we will examine the efficacy of ‘reproduction’ and ‘resistance’ theories of education, and the spread of schooling as a crucial parameter of globalization. Attention will then be paid to schooling and attendant questions of identity, and the cultural production of the educated person. This is followed by a critical examination of bilingual education, racism in education, debates over ‘literacy’ or ‘literacies’, and, relatedly, a critical examination of the language(s) of schooling and a radical re-deployment of Hirsch’s notion of ‘cultural literacy’. The course concludes with looking at higher education initially by attention to Bourdieu’s Homo Academicus, and assessing how ‘cultural capital’ and the so-called ‘audit culture’ impacts on conditions of knowledge and involvement in university education.

Teaching: 10 one-hour lectures and 10 one-hour seminars in LT.

Formative coursework: Anthropology students doing this course will submit an essay to their academic advisors. Non-anthropology students will choose a topic in consultation with the course teacher, and submit a formative essay.

Deborah Reed-Danahay 1996 Education and Identity in Rural France: the Politics of Schooling Cambridge: Cambridge University Press;
Glen Peterson 1998 The Power of Words: Literacy and Revolution in South China, 1949-95 Vancouver: University of British Columbia Press;
Shirley Brice Heath and Brian V. Street 2008 Ethnography: Approaches to Language and Literacy Research New York: Teachers College Press;

Assessment: One two-hour examination in the Summer Term (100%).

AN498 Dissertation - MSc China in Comparative Perspective
This information is for the 2012/13 session.
Teacher responsible: Dr Hans Steinmüller, OLD6.07
Availability: Compulsory for students on MSc China in Comparative Perspective.

Course content: Presentations by students on a topic they choose, with their dissertations in mind, using the discipline(s) in which they have been taught. The topic must contain comparative materials and it should have been discussed with and approved by the teacher responsible prior to presentation.

Teaching: Students attend one dissertation workshop at the end of Lent Term. After deciding on a topic during the Lent term, in consultation with their academic advisers (and other members of staff where appropriate), students submit a one-page abstract in the first week of the Summer term. Abscets are circulated and each student attends a one-on-one dissertation tutorial with his/her academic adviser in the ST. During these abstracts will be evaluated and commented upon. Students continue to consult their academic advisers during the Summer term.

Assessment: A 10,000 word dissertation.

AN499 Dissertation
This information is for the 2012/13 session.
Teacher responsible: Dr Mukulika Banerjee, OLD 5.09
Availability: Compulsory for MSc Social Anthropology, MSc Social Anthropology (Learning and Cognition), MSc Anthropology and Development and MSc Anthropology and Development Management.

Course content: The dissertation must demonstrate an adequate knowledge of relevant theoretical literature and ethnographic context. It should attempt to consolidate a theme introduced during the course, developing a sustained research focus on one specific issue in anthropology, using ethnography as appropriate. For the MSc Social Anthropology, the problem should be framed with reference to literature from within the discipline of anthropology (drawn from mainstream journals or ethnographic texts). For the MSc Anthropology and Development and the MSc Anthropology and Development Management, the topic should span the fields of both Social Anthropology and Development Studies - it may cover, but need not be restricted to, the area of overlap, i.e. the anthropology of development as narrowly defined. For the MSc Social Anthropology (Learning and Cognition), the dissertation should draw not only on specifically anthropological literatures and engage with anthropological themes, but also make judicious use of non-anthropological literature from cognitive science, and therefore from related disciplines such as psychology and/or philosophy.

Teaching: After deciding on a topic during the Lent term, in consultation with their tutors (and other members of staff where appropriate), students submit a one-page abstract in the first week of the Summer term. Abstracts are circulated and students attend an AN499 workshop followed by a series of specific workshops for each of the four programmes. During these, abstracts will be evaluated and commented upon. Students continue to consult their tutors during the Summer term.

Assessment: The dissertation must not exceed 10,000 words including text and footnotes (but excluding bibliography and appendices). Three bound copies and an electronic copy, with the 5-digit examination number on the front, must be submitted to the Departmental Office on or before 1st September (or, if this falls on a weekend, the first weekday after September 1st).

---

DV407  Half Unit

Poverty

This information is for the 2012/13 session.

Teacher responsible: Dr Elliott Green, CON. H807

Availability: For students taking MSc Development Studies, MSc Development Management and MSc Anthropology and Development Management. Course also available to MSc International Development and Humanitarian Emergencies, MSc Anthropology and Development, MSc Population and Development, MSc Social Policy and Development, MSc Social Policy and Development: Non-Governmental Organisations, MSc Political Economy of Late Development, MSc Urbanisation and Development and LSE-Sciences Po Double Degree in Urban Policy (MSc Urbanisation and Development stream only) subject to space and permission. This course is capped at 105 students.

Course content: The course is an interdisciplinary analysis of poverty, where the focus is on poverty both as a dependent variable (what causes poverty) and an independent variable (what poverty causes). The course will draw from a variety of disciplines but will pay special attention to the political economy of poverty; however, no prior mathematical or statistical qualification is required. The topics to be covered begin with an examination into the definition and measurement of poverty. We focus as well on the relationship between poverty and inequality, education, gender and human development, with special attention to the relationship between poverty, violence, and democracy. We also examine the origins of modern famines and whether democratization contributes to poverty reduction. We close with further thoughts on poverty reduction and the Millennium Development Goals.

Teaching: The course will be taught during Lent Term and will consist of 10 one and a half-hour lectures and nine seminars/workshops during weeks 2-10, each of one-and-a-half hours.

Assessment: Two-hour unseen examination held in the Summer Term (70%); and one essay (of 2,000 words) to be submitted on the first day of Summer Term (30%).

---

DV409  Economic Development Policy

This information is for the 2012/13 session.

Teachers responsible: Dr D Weinhold, CON. H710 and Dr S
Sequeira, CON. H709.

Availability: This course is for students taking MSc Development Studies; MSc Development Management; MSc Anthropology and Development Management; MSc Anthropology and Development; MSc Environment and Development; MSc Political Science and Political Economy; MSc International Development and Humanitarian Emergencies; MSc Environmental Economics and Climate Change; MPA International Development; MSc Political Economy of Late Development or from other departments who have had undergraduate second level courses in intermediate macro and microeconomics to a level assessed as adequate by the Teachers responsible. Other suitably qualified and interested graduate students may take this course as permitted by the regulations for their degrees and with the permission of the teachers responsible. The instructors reserve the right to limit enrolment in this course. At the instructors’ discretion, enrolment may be denied to any student on the basis of a pre-quiz administered in the first lecture.

Course content: This course focuses on analytically and empirically rigorous analyses of economic policies in developing countries. We review current theoretical debates and consider how the use of empirical evidence can help to inform our analyses. In particular, increasing data availability has meant that the effectiveness of development policies, in terms of improving welfare, reducing poverty and promoting growth, can now be analysed using a variety of quantitative techniques. By looking at how these approaches can be applied to a range of development issues, the course will provide an overview of new thinking on the design of public policy in developing countries. While a strong mathematical or statistical background is not necessary to follow the course, students will be expected to actively learn and engage with regression analysis and other econometric techniques. These skills are developed through the year with mandatory weekly problem sets and occasional in-class quizzes supplementing the lectures and readings. The course consists of one lecture on the interpretation of empirical regression analysis and the role of quantitative methods in policy evaluation, approximately nine lectures focusing on policies related to macroeconomic issues, and about nine lectures on policies relating to microeconomic issues. Topics themselves may vary from year to year but in the past macroeconomic topics discussed have included determinants of growth; human capital accumulation; globalisation and the political economy of trade policy; structural adjustment; transition; economic geography of development; aid; debt relief; corruption; and environment and growth. Microeconomic topics have included health and education, intra-household resource allocation; credit markets; social networks; and behavioural economics applied to the design of development policies. Seminars consist of student-led participatory in-depth analyses of best-practice quantitative empirical research papers which students assess and critique. Seminars will also include introductory sessions to quantitative analysis with statistical packages.

Teaching: The course will be taught during Michaelmas Term and Lent Term and will consist of 20 two-hour lectures and 20 seminars/ classes of one-and-a-half hours each. Please note, unlike many International Development elective courses, DV409 seminars will be taught in the first week.

Assessment: Students will be assessed both by continuing evaluation (30%) and by a three-hour written examination to be held in the Summer Term (70%).

---

DV410.1 Social Research Methods in Developing Countries

This information is for the 2012/13 session.

Teachers responsible: Dr D Weinhold, CON. H710 and other International Development staff.

Availability: For MSc Development Studies, MSc Development Studies (Research), MSc Development Management and MSc International Development and Humanitarian Emergencies students only. Students from other programmes may audit the course, but they may not take it for credit.

Course content: The course consists of ten two-hour lectures introducing students to the basic ingredients of modern social science research, with an emphasis on methods commonly employed in studies of development. In the process we will briefly cover quantitative and qualitative methods of investigation, including basic data collection and analysis, sampling and surveying, ethnographic methods and participant observation. Where appropriate, other aspects of development research such as those relating to gender and ethical issues will be considered.

Teaching: Teaching will consist of ten two-hour lectures in Michaelmas Term.

Assessment: Students will complete an on-line quiz. Students must achieve a pass on the quiz before proceeding with the dissertation, DV410.

---

DV410 Research Design and Dissertation in Development Studies, Development Management and International Development and Humanitarian Emergencies

This information is for the 2012/13 session.

Teachers responsible: All International Development staff.

Availability: Compulsory for MSc Development Studies, MSc Development Studies (Research), MSc Development Management and MSc International Development and Humanitarian Emergencies.

Course content: Students will initially submit a 50-100 word topic summary on the last day of Week 4 of Lent Term. They then go on to write a more detailed research proposal towards the dissertation on a topic within Development Studies/Management/IDHE. This will be conducted under the supervision of a member of the International Development staff, through individual tutorials. The student research proposals will form the basis for discussion in dissertation workshops held during the second week of Summer Term.

The research proposal will identify a key question for investigation, the theoretical and methodological framework to be employed in the work and a justification for why the topic is theoretically and empirically important, with reference to the literature. A tentative outline and preliminary bibliography will be included. Students will present their proposals for debate and discussion in dissertation workshops.

Teaching: Students will attend individual tutorial sessions with either Academic Advisers or other members of staff, as relevant to the topic during Michaelmas Term and Lent Term to identify a research topic and to design research proposals. The proposal must be approved by the assigned Academic Adviser. Dissertation preparation will also be addressed in the context of the DV410.1 lectures. Proposals will be evaluated, commented upon and approved by staff. Students will present their research proposals during dissertation workshops to be held in Week 2 of Summer Term. Attendance at the workshops is compulsory.

Assessment: Students will submit a research proposal of not more than 2,000 words at the start of ST. This will be evaluated, commented upon and must be approved before proceeding to write the dissertation. Students will submit a dissertation of not more than 10,000 words by 4pm on Thursday 23 August.

---

DV411 Half Unit

Population and Development: An Analytical Approach

This information is for the 2012/13 session.

Teacher responsible: Professor Tim Dyson CON. H804

Availability: This course is for students taking MSc Population and Development, MSc Development Studies, MSc Development Management, MSc International Development and Humanitarian Emergencies, MSc Environment and Development, MSc Urbanisation and Development, LSE-Sciences Po Double Degree in Urban Policy (MSc Urbanisation and Development stream only), MSc Health, Population and Society, MSc Human Rights MSc Political Economy of Late Development, MPA International Development and MSc Social Research Methods only. It is also available to all other MSc students where regulations and numbers permit. Please note that in case of over-subscription to this course priority will be given to students undertaking the MSc in Population and Development and students from the Department of International Development and its joint degrees (where their regulations permit).

Course content: Using the demographic transition as its framework, the course examines different analytic approaches to the main interrelationships between population change and socio-economic development. It draws on a variety of theoretical and historical experiences to address and explore these interconnections. It aims to provide balance between theoretical understanding, knowledge of empirical evidence and basic causal processes, and implications for policy.

The course begins by providing an overview of the worlds current demographic situation at both the global and the regional levels. It then addresses Malthusian and anti-Malthusian perspectives on the basic relationships linking population growth and economic growth. These contrasting perspectives are considered in the context of both historical and contemporary experience. The course then proceeds to assess demographic transition theories and their relationships to theories and processes of economic development, urbanisation and socio-structural change. Urban growth, migration, and urbanization receive special attention. The implications of population change for issues of employment, savings and investment are considered, as are issues relating to energy, food production and security, carbon emissions and climate change. Contemporary neo-Malthusian arguments, with their environmental components are also considered, as are issues relating to women’s empowerment, democratization and population aging. Further details will be provided at the start of the session.

Teaching: 10 x one-and-a-half hour lectures and 9 x one-and-a-half hour seminars, Michaelmas Term. 1 x one-and-a-half revision seminar Summer Term.

Formative coursework: Students will be given the opportunity to undertake a ‘mock examination’ essay. This will be graded and accompanied by written feedback within two weeks of its submission.

Assessment: A two-hour written examination in the Summer Term (100%).

---

DV413 Half Unit

Environmental Problems and Development Interventions

This information is for the 2012/13 session.

Teacher responsible: Dr Tim Forsyth, CON. H805

Availability: For students taking MSc Development Studies, MSc Development Management, MSc Anthropology and Development Management, MSc International Development and Humanitarian Emergencies, MSc Global Politics, MSc International Relations, MSc International Relations (Research), MSc Environment and Development, MSc Population and Development, MSc Anthropology and Development, MSc Health, Community and Development, MSc Accounting, Organisations and Institutions, MSc Public Policy and Administration, MPA International Development, MSc Regulation and MSc Regulation (Research) and for those taking other MSc programmes, space permitting, with the approval of the course teacher and their own programme directors. Also available to students taking MSc International Relations or MSc International Political Economy as part of the LSE-Sciences Po Double Degree in Affaires Internationales programme. Please note that in case of over-subscription to this course priority will be given to students from the Department of International Development and its joint degrees (where their regulations permit). This course is capped at 60 students.

Course content: The course objective is to review approaches to environment and development from the viewpoints of social and political theory and their current applications in development studies and environmental policy. The course is structured to analyze the challenges of making well-informed environmental interventions in the face of poverty and vulnerability, and then seeking practical solutions to these dilemmas. First, the course considers the nature of environmental problems within a ‘development’ context, and what this means for environmental science and norms as applied in developing countries. Themes include assessing environmental ‘crises,’ adaptation to population growth and scarcity, gender and environment; and vulnerability to ‘natural’ hazards. The second part of the course considers debates about policy interventions such as common property regime theory; theories of the state and environmental policy. The course is structured to analyze the connections of local development and global environmental policy. This course may be taken or audited with DV415, which focuses on global environmental governance.

Teaching: 10 lectures (each of 1.5-hour duration) and 9 seminars (each of 1.5-hour duration) during Michaelmas Term.

Formative coursework: One 1,500 word essay

Indicative reading: A detailed weekly reading list will be provided at the first course meeting. Students are not advised to buy a single textbook for this course but to read selectively and critically from various sources. The following books might be useful introductions. W M Adams, Green Development, Routledge, 2000; A Agrawal, Environmentality, Duke, 2005; T Forsyth, Critical Political Ecology: the Politics of Environmental Science, Routledge, 2003; M. Hulme, Why We Disagree About Climate Change: Understanding Controversy, Inaction and Opportunity, Cambridge University Press, 2009; E Ostrom (et al), The Drama of the Commons: Understanding...
DV415 Half Unit Global Environmental Governance

This information is for the 2012/13 session.

Teacher responsible: Dr Tim Forsyth, CON. H805

Availability: The course is primarily intended for students taking MSC Development Studies, MSC Development Management, MSC Anthropology and Development Management, MSC Anthropology and Development, MSC International Development and Humanitarian Emergencies, MSC Environmental Policy and Regulation, MSC Environment and Development, MSC International Relations, MSC International Relations (Research), LSE-Sciences Po Double Degree in Affaires Internationales, MSC Global Politics, MSC Public Policy and Administration, MSC Accounting, Organisations and Institutions, MPA International Development, MSc Regulation and MSc Regulation (Research) but, space permitting, is open to all students who wish to take a half-unit in international aspects of global environmental change and politics. Please note that in case of over-subscription to this course priority will be given to students from the Department of International Development and its joint degrees (where their regulations permit). This course is capped at 45 students.

Course content: This course is about global environmental change and political responses at the international, national and sub-national level. The course focuses upon the institutions, policies and policy processes of global environmental governance, with a particular focus on dilemmas facing developing countries and the relationships of developed and developing countries. As in the other half-unit course with which this is associated (DV413), a basic question to be examined is that of how the institutions of the ‘global system’ impose constraints upon, and present opportunities for the promotion of sustainable development at the international, national, and sub-national scales. The course will contain discussions of the meaning of ‘global’ in environmental politics; the politics of environmental regimes; the role of the state, business, and non-governmental organizations in international environmental policy; the Global Environment Facility, World Bank and World Trade Organization. The course especially focuses on problems and policies of climate change; trade; biodiversity, forests and conservation. The course will draw upon some elements of International Relations debates, but will also include more general discussions of global environmental governance within development studies and environmental politics.

Teaching: 10 x 1.5-hour lectures, and 9 seminars (each of 1.5 hour duration) during Michaelmas Term.

Formative coursework: One 1,500 word essay

Assessment: Two-hour examination (80%) and an essay of no more than 2,000 words (20%) due on the first day of Lent Term.

DV418 Half Unit African Development

This information is for the 2012/13 session.

Teacher responsible: Professor Thandika Mkandawire, CON. H802.

Availability: For students taking MSC Development Studies, MSC Development Management, MSC Anthropology and Development Management, MSC International Development and Humanitarian Emergencies, MSC Environment and Development, MSC Anthropology and Development, MSC Urbanisation and Development, MSC International Relations, LSE-Sciences Po Double Degree in Urban Policy (MSC Urbanisation and Development stream only), MSC Global Politics, MPA International Development, MSC Political Economy of Late Development and MSC Human Rights only. Please note that in case of over-subscription to this course priority will be given to students from the Department of International Development and its joint degrees (where their regulations permit).

Course content: The major concern of the course is with the political economy of African development, to examine processes of economic, political, social and cultural change in Sub-Saharan Africa. It provides critical analysis of key development interventions and processes. It seeks to combine general theoretical overviews with country case studies illustrating the variety of experiences and trajectories. It does not aim to provide a comprehensive coverage of development issues or of regions. Course content will vary from year to year, depending on the specialities of staff.

Attention is paid to legacies of the colonial encounter; the constraints and opportunities presented by African countries’ positions in the global economy; the political economy of industrialisation and agrarian transformation, resource mobilisation; trade diversification; institutional reforms and state capacity. Attention will also be paid to social policy with special focus on issues such as social protection, cash transfers, Millennium Development Goals, horizontal inequality and conflict.

Teaching: The course will be taught through 10 lectures and 10 seminars, both lasting one-and-a-half hours in the Lent Term.

Formative coursework: Students will write a 2,000 word essay chosen from class questions and in discussion with the course leader, to be submitted by the beginning of week 6 of Lent Term.

Assessment: Two-hour exam (80%) in the Summer Term and 2,000 word essay (20%).

The essay will be on a different topic to the formative essay and is due on the first day of Summer Term.

---

DV420 Half Unit

Complex Emergencies

This information is for the 2012/13 session.

Teacher responsible: Professor David Keen, CON. H715

Availability: Optional on MSc International Development and Humanitarian Emergencies, MSc Development Management, MSc Anthropology and Development Management, MSc Development Studies, MSc Anthropology and Development, MSc Population and Development, MSc Environment and Development, MSc Urbanisation and Development, LSE-Sciences Po Double Degree in Urban Policy (MSc Urbanisation and Development stream only), MSc Human Rights, MPA International Development, MSc Global Politics, MSc Social Policy and Development; MSc Social Policy and Development: Non-Governmental Organisations and MSc Health, Community and Development only. Please note that in case of over-subscription to this course priority will be given to students from the Department of International Development and its joint degrees (where their regulations permit).

Course content: The course examines the consequences and causes of humanitarian disasters. It looks at the changing nature of civil conflicts, at the famine process, and at the benefits that may arise for some groups from war and famine. It examines some of the roots of violence in civil wars, as well as the information systems that surround and help to shape disasters.

Teaching: The course will be taught in Michaelmas Term and will consist of 10 lectures of one-and-a-half hours and nine seminars of one-and-a-half hours.

Formative coursework: Students will have the opportunity to receive feedback on formative work, in the form of a practice assessed essay.

Indicative reading: A detailed weekly reading list will be provided at the first course meeting. A useful text, which is designed in one-and-a-half seminar each week during LT.

Teaching:

There will be a one-and-a-half hour lecture and a one-and-a-half hour seminar each week during LT.

Formative coursework: Students are expected to prepare at least one class presentation and submit one essay.

Indicative reading: A detailed weekly reading list will be provided at the first lecture. The readings for this course are from journals and select book chapters in the fields of public health and epidemiology, public policy, demography, and anthropology among others. Readings will also include case studies of disease control efforts in various countries and reports, papers and articles published by international organizations, think-tanks, and a variety of other sources.

Assessment: A 2,000 word essay due on the first day of ST (20%) and a two-hour written examination in ST (80%).

---

DV421 Half Unit

Emerging Health Threats and Development

This information is for the 2012/13 session.

Teacher responsible: Dr Jani Puradirejda

Availability: For students taking MSc Development Management, MSc Development Studies, MSc International Development and Humanitarian Emergencies, MPA International Development, MSc Urbanisation and Development, MSc Global Politics, MSc Health Population and Society, MSc Health, Community and Development and MSc Population and Development. Also available to all other MSc students, space permitting, with the approval of the course teacher and their own programme directors.

Please note that in case of over-subscription to this course priority will be given to students from the Department of International Development and its joint degrees (where their regulations permit). This course is capped at 60 students.

Course content: The course is concerned with inter-relationships between emerging challenges to human health in the developing world and their socio-economic and political context. Both the causes of emerging health threats and their consequences are examined. The approach of the course is to discuss specific (re-) emerging health threats, and to critically assess their determinants and impacts, and policies and interventions to address their spread. A wide range of topics is covered, including the relationship between health, population and development; the demographic and epidemiological transitions; biological, behavioural, socio-economic, and environmental influences on health outcomes, especially the role of demographic change, conflict, famine, and climate change; the causes and consequences of the “Big Three”: HIV/AIDS, Tuberculosis, and Malaria; Neglected Tropical Diseases (NTDs); water and sanitation; and, non-communicable diseases; and, local and international health intervention efforts and policies.

Teaching: There will be a one-and-a-half hour lecture and a one-and-a-half hour seminar each week during LT.

Formative coursework: Students are expected to prepare at least one class presentation and submit one essay.

Indicative reading: A detailed weekly reading list will be provided at the first lecture. The readings for this course are from journals and select book chapters in the fields of public health and epidemiology, public policy, demography, and anthropology among others. Readings will also include case studies of disease control efforts in various countries and reports, papers and articles published by international organizations, think-tanks, and a variety of other sources.

Assessment: A 2,000 word essay due on the first day of ST (20%) and a two-hour written examination in ST (80%).

---

DV423 Half Unit

Global Political Economy of Development, I

This information is for the 2012/13 session.

Teacher responsible: Professor R Wade, CON. H707

Availability: For MSc Development Studies, MSc Development Management, MSc International Development and Humanitarian Emergencies, MSc Global Politics, MPA International Development, MSc Environment and Development, MSc Political Economy of Late Development, MSc Media, Communication and Development, MSc Management and MSc International Political Economy only. Please note that in case of over-subscription to this course priority will be given to students from the Department of International Development and its joint degrees (where their regulations permit). The instructors reserve the right to limit enrolment on the course. At the instructors’ discretion, enrolment may be denied to any student on the basis of a pre-quiz administered in the first seminar. The course is capped at 75 students.

Course content: The course examines the political economy of ‘North-South’ relations, focusing on how changes in international organizations and the international policy framework affect developing countries’ economic trajectories and national-level strategies for interaction with the global economy. It covers the performance of the world economy as a whole; international systems of production, trade, and finance; the rules or regimes which govern interaction between economies, states and firms (regimes such as Bretton Woods, and the Post Bretton Woods dollar standard); and several international organizations (such as the World Bank and IMF). Along the way it analyses the major financial/economic crises of 1997-99 and 2007–continuing. In contrast to much writing in International Political Economy, it looks at these things from the perspective of the low and middle-income countries (in the spirit of the Swahili proverb, “Until lions have their own historians tales of hunting will glorify the hunters”), and does not take for granted that the G7 states provide a generally benign environment for development in the rest of the world.

Teaching: Ten lectures and nine seminars in Michaelmas Term.

Formative coursework: Students have the option of writing one essay of 2,000 words.

Assessment: A three-hour unseen examination in the Summer Term (100%).

---

DV425 Half Unit Not available in 2012/13 Managing Globalization

This information is for the 2012/13 session.

Teacher responsible: Dr Lloyd Gruber (Room CON. H708)

Availability: MSc Development Management, MSc Development Studies, MSc International Development and Humanitarian Emergencies, MSc Anthropology and Development, MSc International Employment Relations and Human Resource Management, MPA International Development and MSc Global Politics. Space permitting, other MSc students may also be able to enrol, but only with the approval of the course teacher and their own programme directors.

Course content: This course examines what (if anything) policymakers in developing countries can do to manage the continuing expansion of global trade, the multinationalization of production, and the seemingly inexorable rise in cross-border flows of financial capital. Do these forces have a life of their own? And if not - if governments are still, to some extent, in the driver’s seat - what pro- or anti-globalization strategies have they employed domestically and in their external relations? Are developing countries in a position to address the economic dislocations and social tensions that globalization creates, or is a globalization backlash inevitable?

For much of the post-WWII period, the United States and European Union have been in a position, by virtue of their relative size and power, to set the global economic agenda. The course begins by asking why policymakers in these countries have pursued the particular trade, foreign investment, and foreign aid policies they have. To what extent have the choices of the “North” been dictated by societal forces (e.g., the mobilization of interest groups), international pressures (e.g., the end of the Cold War, the threat of terrorism), and/or the structure of U.S. and EU political institutions (e.g., separation of powers, the tension between domestic and supranational authority)? The course then looks at how developing countries have responded - with varying degrees of success - to globalization’s challenges and opportunities. After examining domestic strategies (e.g., industrial policy), the course turns to international strategies, focusing on the formation of North-South... trade arrangements and the bolstering of recent efforts by the South to reduce the North’s bargaining advantage in the WTO. The last part of the course explores the future of this North-South asymmetry, concentrating on the volatility of international financial markets, the impact of trade on domestic inequality, and the uncertain relationship between globalization, democracy, and the environment.

Teaching: Ten lectures and nine seminars held in LT. Revision session in ST.

Formative coursework: A 2,000-word essay will be assigned at the beginning of the third week of the course. Students will have one week to write their essays, which will be based solely on the course materials covered to that point. Feedback will be provided within two weeks of each essay’s submission.

Assessment: Two-hour examination in the ST (80%) and a 2000 word essay (20%).

---

DV427   Half Unit   Not available in 2012/13

Public Management of Development

This information is for the 2012/13 session.

Teacher responsible: Dr Nilima Gulrajani (Room CON. H316)

Availability: MSc Development Management, MSc Development Studies, MSc International Development and Humanitarian Emergencies, MSc Public Policy and Administration, MSc Anthropology and Development, MSc Anthropology and Development Management, MSc Public Management and Governance and the LSE-PKU Double Degree in Public Administration and Government. Other MSc students can take this course, subject to programme regulations and with permission of the lecturer.

Course content: This course applies public management and organizational theory to understand dynamics in the international development industry. Analysis will concentrate within three levels, namely the domestic bureaucratic contexts within developing countries, the organizational actors working in the name of development and policy-level dynamics within the foreign aid sector. Topics covered include: Performance measurement and results-based management; Aid efficiency and effectiveness; Governance and corruption in developing countries; Accountability and regulation in aid; Professionals in aid; Organizational cultures and incentives in development bureaucracies; Social enterprises in development. Critical understanding will be fostered of the strategies advocated to organize and improve the efficiency, effectiveness, accountability, performance and quality of collaborations within and across each of these levels. By exploring the conceptual, empirical and practical foundations of these strategies, students will be well equipped to assess the organization of development assistance.

Teaching: Ten lectures and ten seminars.

Formative coursework: Students can write one unassessed 2,000 word essay or submit a mock exam.

Assessment: Two-hour examination (100%) in the ST.
MSc Development Management, MSc Development Studies, MSc International Development and Humanitarian Emergencies, MSc Human Rights, MSc Gender, Development and Globalisation, MSc Health, Community and Development, general MSc Global Politics and, depending on the available space, open to students from other departments in the School.

Course content: Civil society has come to be considered as an essential component in contemporary global politics, taken either as a normative concept linked to the idea of democracy or as a descriptive concept referring to the activism of NGOs, social movements, and global advocacy networks. This course provides students with the conceptual and empirical background that allows them to critically engage with the complex debate over global civil society and to assess the potential and the challenges of civil society activism in the context of our increasingly globalising world. The course engages with both, the normative as well as the empirical side of the issue.

Against the backdrop of the increasing complexity of the political challenges that are linked to global integration, we will explore the history of the concept of civil society and discuss the hopes, tasks and potentials that are currently ascribed to it. The course covers the characteristics, repertoires and impacts of key global civil society actors, such as NGOs, social movements, nationalist groups, religious movements and global advocacy networks. It explores the role of media in contemporary global activism, critically discusses issues such as political consumerism and internet activism, and debates the dichotomy of idealism and professionalisation in contemporary politics. Two of the conceptual foci, which will guide our debates, are the issue of the increasing privatization of global politics and the complex set of problems surrounding global civil society and democracy. Hence, key concepts such as public-private-partnerships, representation, legitimacy, accountability, and transparency will be critically discussed.

Our readings cover key texts on globalisation, global politics & development, NGOs, social movements and advocacy networks. Teaching: The course is taught in Lent Term and will consist of 10 lectures and 9 classes which will be student-led.

Formative coursework: One non-assessed essay (not more than 1,200 words) due on the first day of Summer Term. The assessed essay can be an extension of the non-assessed one. A two-hour essay (40%) due on the first day of Summer Term. The assessed essay can be an extension of the non-assessed one. A two-hour unseen examination in Summer Term (60%).

DV431

Development Management

This information is for the 2012/13 session.

Teachers responsible: Dr Jean-Paul Faguet CON. H806, Dr Mayling Birney CON. H810, Dr E A Brett CON. H812, and Dr Mahvish Shami CON.H817.

Availability: The core course for MSc Development Management and MSc Anthropology and Development Management students only. Optional for students on MSc Political Science and Political Economy.

Course content: Why are some countries rich and others poor? Why are some governed well and others badly? This course employs a political economy approach to examine the causes of development and non-development. It focuses on the different kinds of authority, incentives and accountability mechanisms that govern the relationships between managers and recipients in the institutions and organisations that people use to meet their political, economic and social needs. It reviews ongoing debates about the best ways of designing state agencies, private firms and NGOs in order to enable students to make practical judgements about institutional reform programmes by showing how centralised bureaucracies, markets, participatory and solidarity agencies operate to provide essential services. It explores deep theories about the emergence of the state, and the different social, political and economic actors that work within it and vie to control it. And it examines how these forces interact to drive processes of change in different kinds of society, and especially in ‘Late Developing Societies’ that are attempting to make transitions to modernity by reviewing the literature that explain problems of state, economic and social failure and reconstruction in poor countries.

The course is divided into four parts: (1) Analytical assumptions, (2) Governance, (3) Private and civic provision, (4) Economic and political transformation. On completing the course students should be able to: (i) use theory to solve practical development problems; (ii) identify and assess relevant case study material to inform the practice of development management; and (iii) critically appraise their own practical experience as workers in development organisations or consumers of their services. The course reviews literature dealing with the principles governing the institutions and organisations through which policies, programmes and projects are implemented. It examines the variety of functions they must perform; the structures they can assume; the incentive systems which motivate them and how they relate to differing political, economic and social conditions. It considers recent literature which re-evaluates the way these problems are understood, looking in particular at recent developments in economics, public sector management, social policy and organisational ethnography. It focuses on the role of hierarchy, competition and participation in providing different kinds of services in different situations and contexts. It provides an analytical basis for making judgements about institutional reform programmes by showing how different kinds of institutions and organisations, centralised bureaucracies, markets, participatory and solidarity agencies operate to provide services in practice.

Teaching: There will be an introductory 4 hour workshop on Wednesday afternoon of week 1, 18 two-hour lectures and 18 one-and-a-half hour seminars over the Michaelmas & Lent Terms. There are also three evening sessions specifically on essay writing, consultancy projects and a policy debate. Students are expected to attend all three sessions. Lectures will focus on the theoretical debates driving current policy practice in the development community, where seminars will relate these to practical problems of implementation, drawing on case studies, class exercises, and the personal experience of participants. Seminars will discuss topics covered in the lecture, and will be conducted on the basis either of a student presentation or a class exercise. Students will also take part in and be assessed on the Development Management Project, a live consultancy exercise for real development agencies in consultation with International Development staff. Workshops will be organised to assist student groups to formulate their proposals and negotiate their projects with their commissioning agencies.

Formative coursework: In the Michaelmas Term students are expected to produce one 2,000 word essay on a topic agreed with an individual tutor.

Assessment: Project Report (40%) due at the beginning of Summer Term and a three-hour unseen examination (60%) in Summer Term.

---

DV432 Half Unit China in Developmental Perspective

This information is for the 2012/13 session.

Teacher responsible: Professor Jude Howell, CON. H811.

Availability: MSc Development Studies, MSc Development Management, MSc International Development and Humanitarian Emergencies, MSc NGOs and Development, MPA International Development, MSc China in Comparative Perspective. Also available as an outside option where regulations permit and with the permission of the course convenor. Please note that in case of over-subscription to this course priority will be given to students from the Department of International Development and its joint degrees (where their regulations permit). Students must attend the first lecture in order to be considered for entry to the course.

Course content: This course looks at China from a comparative developmental perspective, locating the discussion of China within the interdisciplinary field of development studies. It examines China’s developmental trajectory since 1949, explaining the fundamental shift in developmental path from late 1978 onwards. It considers China’s role in the so-called Third World, as a model of innovation, as a voice for developing country concerns and as an important aid donor. It reflects on China’s recent achievements in reducing poverty and places these in a comparative context. The course considers the governance challenges posed by rapid economic reform, the attempts to reform the Party-state and to manage social tensions. It examines the social dimensions of rapid economic reform and the implications for social policies. It looks at the emergence of NGOs and other forms of civil society organising and considers changing state-society relations. Finally it considers China’s role as aid donor and its emergence as a global economic and political power. The course will enable students to obtain an understanding of key developmental issues and discussions about China and to link these discussions to broader debates and theories in development studies.

Teaching: The course is taught in Michaelmas Term and consists of ten 1.5-hour lectures, one introductory seminar session in week 1 and nine 1.5-hour seminars.

Formative coursework: One formative essay of 1,500 words.

Theda Skocpol 1994 Social Revolutions in the Modern World, Cambridge University Press

Assessment: One two-hour exam in the Summer Term (70%) and one 2,500 word essay (30%) due first day of Lent Term.

---

DV433 Half Unit The Informal Economy and Non-State Governance

This information is for the 2012/13 session.

Teacher responsible: Dr. Kate Meagher, CON.711.

Availability: MSc Development Studies, MSc Development Management, MSc International Development and Humanitarian Emergencies, and MSc Urbanisation and Development. Also available to students taking MSc Urbanisation and Development on LSE-Sciences Po Double Degree in Urban Policy. The course is available as an outside option where regulations permit. The course is capped at 60 students.

Please note that in case of over-subscription to this course priority will be given to students from the Department of International Development and its joint degrees (where their regulations permit).

Course content: Contrary to standard development theory, the informal economy has been expanding in the face of liberalization and globalization, and now accounts for between one-half and three quarters of non-agricultural livelihoods in developing regions. The sheer size of the informal economy, and its impact on poverty, social exclusion, governance and entrepreneurial development have brought economic informalisation back onto the agenda of the international development community. This course will explore the impact of economic informalisation on governance and economic development in the global south. It will take a comparative institutional approach to the study of informal economies in a range of regional contexts, including Africa, South and East Asia, and Latin America, highlighting variations in activities, relations with the state, global integration and development outcomes. After an introductory overview of theoretical approaches to informality in the context of liberalizing and globalizing economies, the course will focus on the institutional dynamics and development impact of contemporary informality in a range of empirical contexts.

Key issues to be covered in the course include the impact of the informal economy on economic restructuring, gender and economic empowerment, informality and political voice, informal financial networks, global commodity chains and informal labour, informality and social policy, informal governance processes and the state, and the informalization of service provision. Theoretical perspectives will be combined with empirical evidence and case studies from a range of regional and national contexts.

Teaching: Ten 1.5 hour lectures and ten 1.5 hour seminars in Lent Term. One revision lecture in the Summer Term.

Formative coursework: Formative coursework will involve a 2,000 word essay during the term and at least one presentation.

Indicative reading:

Assessment: One two-hour examination (70%) in Summer Term and one 3,000 word essay (30%) due first day of Summer Term.
DV434 Half Unit Human Security

This information is for the 2012/13 session.

Teachers responsible: Professor Mary Kaldor, and Dr. Iavor Rangelov

Availability: Optional course for MSc Global Politics, MSc Development Management (priority), MSc Development Studies (priority) and MSc International Development and Humanitarian Emergencies (priority). Available to MSc International Migration and Public Policy and other MSc students depending on demand. No more than 5 students, per academic year, can be accepted from programmes other than the listed programmes. Capped at 30 students, first come, first served in order of priority.

Course content: This inter-disciplinary course will introduce students to the concept of human security. Human security refers to the security of individuals and communities as opposed to the security of the state. It combines physical security and material security; freedom from fear and freedom from want. The course will introduce students to the debates about the concept and its relevance in the contemporary era. It will combine political, military, legal and economic approaches to human security implementation. The course will cover topics including: intellectual foundations and debates over the concept of human security; new and old wars; persistent conflict; just war thinking and whether it can be applied to human security; international humanitarian law and human rights law; humanitarian intervention and the Responsibility to Protect; international capabilities for human security; counterinsurgency, stabilisation, and statebuilding; transitional justice.

Teaching: The course will consist of 10 lectures and 10 student-led seminars in Lent Term plus one revision seminar in Summer Term.

Formative coursework: Students will be expected to undertake class essays as well as class presentations. Students will receive feedback on both.

Assign reading will be given for each session.

Assessment: The course will be assessed by a two-hour examination in the Summer Term (100%).

DV437 Half Unit Nationalism, Democracy and Development in Contemporary India

This information is for the 2012/13 session.

Teacher responsible: Professor James Putzel and other International Development staff.

Availability: For MSc Environment and Development, MSc Global Politics, MSc Development Studies, MSc Development Studies (Research), MSc Development Management, MSc International Development and Humanitarian Emergencies, MPA International Development and MSc Political Economy of Late Development also for other students on request to the teachers.

Course content: The course integrates the concepts and perspectives of a range of disciplines to consider: major trends of development and change in modern history and interpretations of them in the social sciences; and the ways in which contemporary economic and social theory affect current thinking about development.

In more detail: concepts of ‘development’ and historical evolution of paradigms of development thinking and policy; role of state and markets in development/underdevelopment; colonial legacies and path dependencies; state resilience and fragility; and the political economy of growth, poverty and freedom.

Teaching: 20 hours of lectures and 15 hours of seminars in Michaelmas Term. There will also be visiting speaker lectures each Friday in Michaelmas Term (10 x 2 hours).

Formative coursework: Students will write at least one essay (1,500-2,000 words) for presentation and evaluation in class.

Assessment: Two-hour examination (70%) and a 3,000 word essay (30%).

DV441 Development Policy and Management

This information is for the 2012/13 session.

Teachers responsible: Dr. Tasha Fairfield CON. 6.02 and Dr. Frank-Borge Wietzke CON. 6.04

Availability: Compulsory for MPA in International Development and optional for MPA in Public and Economic Policy, MPA in Public Policy and Management, MPA in European Public and Economic Policy and MPA in Public and Social Policy. The course is also available as an outside option, where regulations and numbers permit but only with permission of the teacher responsible. Please note that students who are enrolled in another International Development core course, such as DV400 or DV431, are ineligible.

Course content: This course introduces students to current debates, strategies, policy recommendations, and political challenges in international development. The Michaelmas term features lectures from leading LSE experts on key subjects including poverty, climate change, industrial policy, conflict, demography, and the role of institutions, democracy, and geography in shaping development outcomes. The Lent term examines a subset of these topics in greater depth, with particular attention to the issues of democracy, poverty, and inequality. This second half of the course emphasizes politics on the ground in developing countries. Who gets the policies they want, why, when, and how? Throughout, we will pay close attention to actors, interests, institutions, and power. Understanding the politics of policymaking is critical for development specialists and policy practitioners. Policies recommended by technical experts are not always politically feasible, and progress may require implementing second-best solutions. Moreover, approaches that work in one case may not work in another. Drawing on real-world examples from a range of policy domains including economic liberalization, taxation, and decentralization, we will discuss strategies for enacting pro-development reforms that might otherwise be politically infeasible. Upon completing the course, students can expect (1) to have acquired a deeper understanding of the political constraints that may impede pro-development policies; (2) to be able to apply these insights to concrete cases of development policy successes and failures; and (3) to have gained experience putting collective action, institutional, and other political economy theories to use in solving ‘real world’ development problems.
Teaching: Michaelmas Term: 10 one-and-a-half hour lectures (starting Week 1) and two additional two-hour evening lectures; 10 one-and-a-half hour seminars (starting Week 1). Lent Term: 10 two-hour lectures and 10 one-and-a-half hour seminars. Summer Term: one two-hour review session.

Formative coursework: A 750-word policy memo will be assigned in the Michaelmas Term. Students will also participate in a ‘development policy application’ (DPA) project that will serve as practice for the assessed DPA in the Lent term. Advice on writing policy memos and tips for effective DPA presentations will be given in advance; timely feedback will be provided on these formative assignments. A mock examination will be provided at the end of Lent Term; comments will be returned to students early in the Summer Term.

Assessment: One three hour exam (67%) in ST. In addition, all students will be required to take part in a ‘development policy application’ project stretching over Lent Term. A specific - and current - issue of major importance to developing countries will be introduced in the first week of this exercise. Each student will then be asked to prepare a personally-authored 750-word policy memo on the topic (8%). In the second part of the exercise, students will be assigned into small groups and will begin preparing a more detailed 2,000-word policy brief outlining and defending their group’s preferred policy. The exercise will conclude the following week when each group submits its proposal and provides a short presentation of its main points (25%).

DV442 Half Unit

Key Issues in Development Studies

This information is for the 2012/13 session.

Teacher responsible: Dr. Elliot Green, Dr. Rajesh Venugopal and other ID staff.

Availability: Compulsory for students on MSc International Development and Humanitarian Emergencies. Also available to MSc Development Studies, MSc Development Studies (Research) and MSc Development Management. Optional on MSc Anthropology and Development, MSc Anthropology and Development Management, MSc Population and Development, MSc Political Economy of Late Development, MSc Urbanisation and Development and MSc Environment and Development.

Course content: This course provides an overview of the key issues and debates in international development. It features lectures from leading LSE experts on subjects such as climate change, conflict, poverty, the financial crisis, demography, democratisation, health, migration, human rights, and trade.

Teaching: 15 hours of lectures and 15 hours of seminars in the MT. There will also be visiting speaker lectures each Friday in Michaelmas Term (10 x 2 hours).

Formative coursework: Students will give at least one class presentation and write a mock-exam.

Indicative reading: The following are recommended basic readings for the course:

Assessment: One three-hour exam in ST (100%).

DV443 Humanitarian Consultancy Project

This information is for the 2012/13 session.

Teachers responsible: Dr Stuart Gordon (convenor) and Dr Katy Long.

Availability: Compulsory for and limited to students on the MSc International Development and Humanitarian Emergencies. (NB MSc IDHE students do not sign up for DV428 Managing Humanitarianism).

Course content: This unit is a core course for the MSc IDHE. Students work on a consultancy report in Michaelmas Term and attend the taught element of DV428 Managing Humanitarianism in the Lent term. Students will gain practical experience of dealing with current policy issues and best practice in the field of humanitarian assistance or international development by working on a live consultancy team project for a real client.

Students will be allocated to consultancy teams comprising between three and five people. Past project sponsors have included the UK Department of International Development (DFID), the ICRC, MSF, the Disasters and Emergency Committee (DEC), Christian Aid, the UK Stabilisation Unit.

The consultancy project begins in Michaelmas Term with client reports due at the end of Lent Term. The client report and presentation form part of the assessment.

Skills Workshops There will be a series of skills presentations and workshops in Michaelmas Term. At the end of Michaelmas Term there is a progress board for each consultancy group.

Academic Component

The course also includes a significant theoretical/academic component starting in Lent Term. This follows the same format as the DV428 Managing Humanitarianism course, consisting of 10 two-hour lectures, 10 film sessions of two hours and 10 seminars of one-and-a-half hours. For further details on the content, please refer to the course guide for DV428.

Teaching: MT Consultancy Skills Workshops: 4 x 3 hour sessions. The last of these takes place in at the end of Michaelmas Term and in the form of a progress board for each consultancy group.

MT Managing Humanitarianism: (follows DV428): 10 x 2 hr lectures, 10 x 2 hr film sessions, 10 x 1.5 hr seminars. For further details on the content, please refer to the entry for DV428.

Formative coursework: Students will contribute to the Group inception, interim and final reports/presentations and will be given indicative grades for each of these.

Assessment: - 25% group-based project (4-6,000 words) submitted at the end of Lent term
- 25% assessed essays (2,000 words) submitted at the start of Summer Term
- 50% unseen exam (as per the DV428 exam)

Final client presentations are at the end of the Michaelmas Term and are scheduled by the students in consultation with academic staff AND the clients.

Students should be aware that presentations to clients MAY have to take place during the first week of Easter Vacation. They will be informed as soon as possible, but should not make any travel plans until presentation dates are confirmed.

DV475 Information and Communication Technologies and Socio-Economic Development

This information is for the 2012/13 session.

Teacher responsible: Dr S Madon, CON. H813

Availability: This course is an option for the MSc Development Studies, MSc Development Management, MSc International Development and Humanitarian Emergencies and MSc Media, Communication and Development. Other MSc students may follow this course, numbers permitting. Please note that this is a FULL unit course; a Half Unit version is also offered under the course code DV483.

Pre-requisites: There are no pre-requisites other than a basic interest in exploring the relationship between information and communication technologies and socio-economic development.

Course content: This course is about studying the underlying assumptions and practical experience of information & communication technologies (ICTs) for the promotion of socio-economic development. We commence by identifying different perspectives regarding ICTs and different ideologies behind the term ‘Development’ and the way in which we can conceptualise the relationship between the two. The course will then proceed with a number of topic sessions covering a range of themes currently topical in the field of ICTs and Development including global software outsourcing, e-commerce, ICT and education, e-government, telecentres and health informatics.

Teaching: 10 two-hour lectures/seminars and eight classes in the Lent Term.

Formative coursework: Student-led discussion sessions take place during the course based on selected readings. Each of these sessions is normally led by 2 students and feedback is provided on the coverage of concepts and critical understanding demonstrated by the presentation. Students submit and discuss their proposals for the 5,000 word assignment with feedback provided both in class and through individual consultations.

Assessment: A three-hour examination in the Summer Term and an individual essay (up to 5,000 words) on an approved topic due on the first day of Summer Term. Each component accounts for 50% of the final assessment.

DV483 Half Unit
Aspects of Information and Communication Technologies and Socio-Economic Development

This information is for the 2012/13 session.

Teacher responsible: Dr S Madon, CON. H813

Availability: This course is an option for the MSc Development Studies, MSc Development Management, MSc Management, Information Systems and Innovation and MSc Media, Communication and Development. Other MSc students may follow this course, numbers permitting.

Pre-requisites: Students should have a basic understanding of information systems management issues.

Course content: This course is about studying the underlying assumptions and practical experience of information systems management issues.

Teaching: 10 two-hour lectures/seminars in Lent Term.

Formative coursework: Student-led discussion sessions take place during the course based on selected readings. Each of these sessions is normally led by 2 students and feedback is provided on the coverage of concepts and critical understanding demonstrated by the presentation.

Assessment: A three-hour examination in the Summer Term.

DV483
MPA Capstone Project

This information is for the 2012/13 session.

Teachers responsible: Dr Lloyd Gruber plus others.

Availability: This is a compulsory course for all second year MPA students.

Course content: Students will undertake a project group (in teams usually of 3 to 6 people) relating to a public policy problem faced by an external organisation. Typical clients include public sector bodies, companies operating in the public management or public policy sector, international organisations or think tanks and NGOs. The group will have from October to February to work on an issue defined by the client organisation, investigating and developing a workable solution to the problem.

Teaching: All students must attend the opening Capstone introduction session in MT.

Each Capstone group will be allocated a supervisor, who will provide overall guidance on the project’s development and assistance with client liaison. Other members of staff may also advise as required.

Formative coursework: Feedback will be provided on presentations of work-in-progress during MT.

Assessment: The project work is conducted in teams, and the assessment is based on a collective group mark for each component except in exceptional circumstances.

1) A presentation and submission of the project report to the client organisation. The presentation must take place by week 8 of the Lent term, on a date agreed with the client organisation. 20% of the marks are assigned by the client organisation after receipt of the presentation and project report.

2) A group project report of up to 15,000 words to be submitted during the Lent Term. The report is read by academic markers and their assessment accounts for 60% of the final grade. Additionally, each group member must write a personal reflection on their contribution to the group’s work, to be submitted alongside the report. The reflection should be no more than 600 words, and should include specific details of the student’s contributions to the project. The reflections should not be included in the report submitted to the client.

Any appendices to the project report should only consist of technical data and may not contain any substantive analysis.

3) The final 20% of the marks are allocated by the Capstone supervisor on the basis of the group’s performance in terms of (i) scoping and project development (including coping with difficulties) and (ii) group working and self-management as a team.

DV484
MPA Dissertation

This information is for the 2012/13 session.
All other students are examined on statistics, and three mathematics modules (revision mathematics, mathematics for microeconomics and mathematics for macroeconomics).

Students wishing to continue studying Economics MSc-level courses must achieve an overall grade of 50% in EC400 with no one subject exam less than 40%. Students wishing to study MRes-level courses must achieve an overall grade of 70% with no one subject exam less than 60%.

---

EC402 Econometrics

This information is for the 2012/13 session.

Teachers responsible: Dr V Hajivassiliou, STC. S564, Prof M Schankerman, R516, and Professor D Quah, 50L M206.

Availability: The course is for MSc Economics, MSc Economics and Philosophy. Other graduates on MPA Public and Economic Policy/MPA Public Policy and Management/MPA International Development/MPA European Public and Economic Policy/MPA Public and Social Policy may attend with the permission of the MSc Economics programme Director. This will normally only be granted to students who have taken EC400 (Introductory Course in Mathematics and Statistics) held annually in September and achieved the required standard.

Pre-requisites: Students should have completed an undergraduate degree or equivalent in Economics and EC400 (Introductory course in Mathematics and Statistics).

Course content: The course aims to present and illustrate the techniques of empirical investigation in economics.

1. Regression models with fixed regressors (simple and multiple).
2. Regression models with stochastic regressors.
3. Asymptotic Theory and its application to the regression model.
4. The partitioned regression model, multicollinearity, misspecification, omitted and added variables.
5. Heteroskedasticity and Generalised Least Squares.
7. An example of the omitted variable problem. The omission of ability in the determination of the rate of return of schooling.
9. Panel data and static models: fixed and random effect estimators, specification tests, measurement error
10. Panel data and dynamic models: Arellano-Bond estimator, generalised method of moments
11. Regression with Autocorrelated Disturbances
12. Unit Roots and Cointegration
13. Vector Autoregression

Teaching: Lectures EC402: Lectures 20 hours MT and 25 hours LT.

Formative coursework: Exercises are provided each week and are discussed in classes. In order to have any chance of completing the course successfully, these exercises must be attempted. Special test exercises will be set at three points during the year. These will be carefully marked and the results made available.

Assessment: A three-hour written examination in the ST (100%).

---

EC400 Introductory Course in Mathematics and Statistics

This information is for the 2012/13 session.

Teachers responsible: Dr M Bray, STC. S476, Dr Pascal Michaillat, STC S484, Dr Francesco Nava, STC S482.

Availability: This course is for MSc Economics, MSc Econometrics and Mathematical Economics, MSc Economics and Philosophy, MSc Finance and Economics, MSc Management and Economics, MRes/PhD Economics, and for other graduate students taking EC-prefix courses, with the permission of the course tutor.

Course content: The aim of this pre-sessional course is to provide students with the essential mathematical, statistical, economic and econometric background for the core Economics courses of these programmes.

The course starts with mathematics revision sessions and progresses to sections covering mathematics for microeconomics, mathematics for macroeconomics, and probability and statistics.

MSc Finance and Economics students attend lectures on quantitative methods for finance instead of the mathematics for macroeconomics.

MSc Management and Economics students attend lectures on literacy in accounting instead of the mathematics for macroeconomics.

Teaching: Approximately 25 hours lectures and 36 hours classes during September.

Indicative reading: Students will be advised of recommended readings in the Summer.

Assessment: Students will be required to complete a set of self-testing exercises during the course. At the end of the course, students will be examined in mathematics for microeconomics and macroeconomics, and in probability and statistics.

Students on MSc Management and Economics and MSc Finance and Economics are examined on statistics, and two mathematics modules (revision mathematics and mathematics for microeconomics).

DV4V8 Half Unit

MPA Policy Paper

This information is for the 2012/13 session.

Teachers responsible: Professor Patrick Dunleavy, Dr Lloyd Gruber, plus supervisors from MPA departments.

Availability: This is an optional half-unit course for MPA second year students. Students may not take this course and an MPA dissertation.

Teaching: Three x two-hour lectures in the MT.

Formative coursework: A title, abstract, and MPA Policy Paper proposal (of no more than 750 words in total) to be submitted by Week 3 of Michaelmas Term. Students will have these items returned, with comments, within two weeks of submission.

Assessment: One 6,000 word MPA Policy Paper (100%).

---

EC406 Economic Policy Analysis

This information is for the 2012/13 session.

Teachers responsible: Dr Daniel Sturm and Dr Thomas Sampson.

Availability: This course is a compulsory second year course for the MPA Public and Economic Policy and is also available as an option for other MPA students. It is also available as an option to other graduate students that have a suitable background with the permission of the course lecturer. This course is a controlled access course.

Course content:
The aim of this course is to reinforce the ability of students to use statistics and economics to evaluate policy questions. In many ways the course builds on the material covered in Quantitative Approaches and Policy Analysis (EC455) and Micro and Macroeconomics for Public Policy (EC440) and covers similar questions but at greater depth. At the beginning of the first term the course covers the key techniques to evaluate policy in more detail than in EC455. After this review of key regression techniques, the course covers a wide range of current public policy issues. Each lecture typically gives a brief introduction to a policy issue and then considers one or two recent empirical papers on this question in detail and draws out policy implications.

Teaching: 40 hours lectures and 20 hours classes sessional.

Formative coursework: Students will complete additional exercises, which will be marked, as formative assessment.

Indicative reading: There is no single textbook for the course. James H. Stock and Mark W. Watson “Introduction to Econometrics”, remains a very useful reference. A substantially more advanced reference for background reading is Joshua Angrist and Jorn-Steffen Pischke “Mostly Harmless Econometrics”. A full reading list with the readings for each topic will be made available at the beginning of the course.

Assessment: A three-hour written examination in ST.

EC408
Introduction to Quantitative Methods for the MPA Programme

This information is for the 2012/13 session.

Teachers responsible: Thomas Sampson (LRB.R430)

Availability: For MPA students and other MPhil/PhD students with the agreement of the course tutor.

Course content: An introduction to basic mathematical and statistical concepts for use in MPA courses in economics and quantitative approaches. The course covers the following topics:

Statistics:
Discrete and continuous random variables, jointly distributed random variables, the Normal distribution, sampling and the Central Limit Theorem, properties of estimators, introduction to hypothesis testing.

Mathematics:
Linear functions, quadratic, logarithmic and exponential functions, the derivative of a function and rules of differentiation, unconstrained optimization with one variable, functions of several variables and their differentiation, unconstrained optimization with several variables, constrained optimization.

Teaching: The course runs over 8 days, during the two weeks prior to the start of the Michaelmas Term. In total, students will attend ten lectures and six classes during the two weeks of the course.

Indicative reading: Notes covering the course material will be handed out at the beginning of the course. Two widely used introductory statistics books that can be used as background reading for the statistics part are Newbold, Carlson and Thorne Statistics for Business and Economics and Wonnacott and Wonnacott Introductory Statistics for Business and Economics. However, there are also many other introductory statistics textbooks that cover the same material.

Two widely used introductory mathematics books that can be used a background reading for the mathematics part are Ian Jacques Mathematics for Economics and Business and Wisniewski Introductory Mathematical Methods in Economics. Also in this case there are a large number of excellent alternative textbooks that cover the same material. Those who want a more advanced treatment of the same material can use Simon and Blume Mathematics for Economists, but this treatment is more formal than what we require for this course. We do not recommend buying a new textbook for this course, if you already own a textbook that covers similar material.

Assessment: The course will be assessed with a one hour test at the end of week two. The test result does not count towards the MPA final degree, but will be used in advising students on suitable option course choices.

EC411
Microeconomics

This information is for the 2012/13 session.

Teachers responsible: Professor G Levy, STC. S479 and Professor M Pesendorfer, STC. S878

Availability: This course is for MSc Economics, MSc Finance and Economics, MSc Economics and Philosophy, MSc Econometrics and Mathematical Economics (Two Year Programme). Other graduates on MSc Environmental Economics and Climate Change, MPA Public and Economic Policy/MPA Public Policy and Management/MPA International Development/MPA European Public and Economic Policy/MPA Public and Social Policy may attend with the permission of the MSc Economics programme Director. This will normally only be granted to students who have taken EC400 (Introductory Course in Mathematics and Statistics) held annually in September and achieved the required standard.

Pre-requisites: Students should have completed an undergraduate degree or equivalent in Economics and EC400 (Introductory Course in Mathematics and Statistics).

Course content: The aim of the course is to develop the basic tools for analysing problems of resource allocation used by economists working in research, government and business. The course deals with positive and normative problems. It aims to include modern developments without being overly mathematical, and to develop a capacity to apply economic concepts to real-world problems. The first part of the course focuses on classical theories of consumer and producer behaviour and on the theory of competitive equilibrium. We will begin with a careful analysis of the optimisation problems of price-taking consumers and firms. We will then analyse market interaction and the formation of prices in the framework of perfect competition. We will conclude with a basic introduction to decision making under certainty and game theory.

The second part of the course focuses on models of imperfect competition and information economics. We begin with an analysis of models of monopoly, oligopoly, product differentiation, and public goods. Then, we study markets with imperfect and incomplete information including search, adverse selection, auctions, signalling, screening, and moral hazard. Special emphasis will be given to economic applications.

Teaching: Lectures EC411: 20 x two-hours MT and LT. Classes EC411A: 20 Sessional.

Formative coursework: There will be mock examinations at the end of MT and the beginning of ST.

Indicative reading: The course will draw on a variety of texts, the main ones being: H R Varian, Microeconomic Analysis (3rd edn), Norton; J R Green, A Mas-Colell & M D Whinston, Microeconomic Theory, Oxford.

More detailed readings will be given at the beginning of the course and some notes will be provided where textbook coverage is inadequate.

Assessment: A three-hour written examination in the ST.

EC413
Macroeconomics

This information is for the 2012/13 session.

Teachers responsible: Prof Danny Quah, S01.2.05, Prof Wouter Den Haan, STC S877, Dr Keyu Jin, STC S566

This course is for MSc Economics, MSc Finance and Economics, MSc Economics and Philosophy, MSc Econometrics and Mathematical Economics (Two Year Programme). Other graduates on MSc Environmental Economics and Climate Change, MPA Public and Economic Policy/MPA Public Policy and Management/MPA International Development/MPA European Public and Economic Policy/MPA Public and Social Policy may attend with the permission of the MSc Economics programme Director. This will normally only be granted to students who have taken EC400 (Introductory Course in Mathematics and Statistics) held annually in September and achieved the required standard.

Pre-requisites: Students should have completed an undergraduate degree or equivalent in Economics and EC400 (Introductory Course in Mathematics and Statistics).

Course content: The aim of the course is to develop the basic tools for analysing problems of resource allocation used by economists working in research, government and business. The course deals with positive and normative problems. It aims to include modern developments without being overly mathematical, and to develop a capacity to apply economic concepts to real-world problems. The first part of the course focuses on classical theories of consumer and producer behaviour and on the theory of competitive equilibrium. We will begin with a careful analysis of the optimisation problems of price-taking consumers and firms. We will then analyse market interaction and the formation of prices in the framework of perfect competition. We will conclude with a basic introduction to decision making under certainty and game theory.

The second part of the course focuses on models of imperfect competition and information economics. We begin with an analysis of models of monopoly, oligopoly, product differentiation, and public goods. Then, we study markets with imperfect and incomplete information including search, adverse selection, auctions, signalling, screening, and moral hazard. Special emphasis will be given to economic applications.

Teaching: Lectures EC411: 20 x two-hours MT and LT. Classes EC411A: 20 Sessional.

Formative coursework: There will be mock examinations at the end of MT and the beginning of ST.

Indicative reading: The course will draw on a variety of texts, the main ones being: H R Varian, Microeconomic Analysis (3rd edn), Norton; J R Green, A Mas-Colell & M D Whinston, Microeconomic Theory, Oxford.

More detailed readings will be given at the beginning of the course and some notes will be provided where textbook coverage is inadequate.

Assessment: A three-hour written examination in the ST.
EC421
International Economics
This information is for the 2012/13 session.
Teachers responsible: Dr G Benigno, LRB, R426, Dr Swati Dhingra, and Dr Thomas Sampson.
Availability: This course is for MSc Economics, MSc Econometrics and Mathematical Economics. Other graduates on MPA Public and Economic Policy/MPA Public Policy and Management/MPA International Development/MPA European Public and Economic Policy/MPA Public and Social Policy may attend with the permission of the MSc Economics programme Director. This will normally only be granted to students who have taken EC400 (Introductory Course in Mathematics and Statistics) held annually in September and achieved the required standard.
Pre-requisites: Students should have completed an undergraduate degree or equivalent in Economics and EC400 (Introductory Course in Mathematics and Statistics).
Course content: A graduate course in international economics consisting of i) the fundamentals of trade theory and its application to policy and ii) international macroeconomics.
Teaching: Lectures 40 hours sessional, classes 20 sessional.
Assessment: A three-hour written examination in the ST (50%) and a 6,000 word essay due at the beginning of ST (50%).

EC423
Labour Economics
This information is for the 2012/13 session.
Teachers responsible: Dr Aucejo, TBA and Dr Pascal Michaillat, STC S.484
Availability: This course is for MSc Economics, MSc Economics and Mathematical Economics. Other graduates on MPA Public and Economic Policy/MPA Public Policy and Management/MPA International Development/MPA European Public and Economic Policy may attend with the permission of the MSc Economics programme Director. This will normally only be granted to students who have taken EC400 (Introductory Course in Mathematics and Statistics) held annually in September and achieved the required standard.
Pre-requisites: Students should have completed courses in intermediate level microeconomics, macroeconomics, and econometrics and EC400 (Introductory Course in Mathematics and Statistics).
Course content: An advanced course in labour economics issues, including theory, evidence and policy. The aim of the course is to familiarise students with main theoretical and empirical issues in current labour economics, and to provide them with the tools for developing independent research interests. The course has a strong applied focus. For each major topic covered we will derive testable implications, provide insights into the research methodology, discuss the advantages and limitations of existing empirical work, and draw policy conclusions.
Topics include:
Teaching: A weekly two-hour lecture, and a weekly one-hour class, during MT and LT.
Interested students are also welcome to the weekly meetings of the Labour Economics Seminar (Fridays, 11.30-13.00) and of the Labour Economics Workshop (Tuesdays, 12.45-14.00)
Formatte coursework: One written assignment at the end of each term.
Indicative reading: Most of the reading is from journal articles. A detailed reading list is available at http://econ.lse.ac.uk/courses/ec423/
Assessment: A three-hour written examination in the ST (50%) and a 6000-word extended essay due at the beginning of the ST (50%).

EC424
Monetary Economics
This information is for the 2012/13 session.
Teachers responsible: TBA
Availability: This course is for MSc Economics and MSc Econometrics and Mathematical Economics. Other graduates on MPA Public and Economic Policy/MPA Public Policy and Management/MPA International Development/MPA European Public and Economic Policy/MPA Public and Social Policy may attend with the permission of the MSc Economics programme Director. This will normally only be granted to students who have taken EC400 (Introductory Course in Mathematics and Statistics) held annually in
EC426
Public Economics
This information is for the 2012/13 session.
Teachers responsible: Professor F Cowell, LRB. RS20, Professor T Atkinson and Dr H Kleven, LRB. RS18, Dr Johannes Spinnewijn, RS15.
Availability: This course is for MSc Economics and MSc Econometrics and Mathematical Economics. Other graduates on MSc International Health Policy, MSc International Health Policy (Health Economics), MSc Environmental Economics and Climate Change, LLM, MPA Public and Economic Policy/MPA Public Policy and Management/MPA International Development/MPA European Public and Economic Policy/MPA Public and Social Policy may attend with the permission of the MSc Economics programme Director. This will normally only be granted to students who have taken EC400 (Introductory Course in Mathematics and Statistics) held annually in September and achieved the required standard.
Pre-requisites: Students should have completed a course in intermediate microeconomics and EC400 (Introductory Course in Mathematics and Statistics).
Course content: A graduate course in (i) the principles of public economics and (ii) selected topics in public economics.
Selected topics in public economics: such as behavioural responses to taxation; empirical strategies in public economics; poverty, inequality and optimal low-income support; compliance problems; inheritance and wealth taxation; global public finance and fiscal governance; political economics.
Teaching: Lectures: 20 x two-hours MT and LT. Classes: 20 x one-hour MT and LT.
Attention is also drawn to Issues in Taxation Seminar (Dr Leape and Dr Ian Roxan) L900: eight Monthly, Sessional.
Assessment: A three-hour written examination in the MT (50%) and a 6000-word extended essay due at the beginning of the ST (50%).

EC428
Development and Growth
This information is for the 2012/13 session.
Teachers responsible: Professor M Ghatak, LRB. RS30, Professor F Caselli, LRB. R442b and Dr G Pedro i Miquel, LRB. RS21
Availability: This course is for MSc Economics and MSc Econometrics and Mathematical Economics. Other graduates on MSc Environmental Economics and Climate Change, MSc Development Studies, MPA Public and Economic Policy/MPA Public Policy and Management/MPA International Development/MPA European Public and Economic Policy/MPA Public and Social Policy may attend with the permission of the MSc Economics programme Director. This will normally only be granted to students who have taken EC400 (Introductory Course in Mathematics and Statistics) held annually in September and achieved the required standard.
Pre-requisites: Students should have completed courses in intermediate microeconomics, macroeconomics and econometrics and EC400 (Introductory Course in Mathematics and Statistics).
Course content: The course provides an advanced treatment of development economics, including theory, evidence and policy. The aim of the course is to develop students’ research abilities by examining a large number of current theoretical and applied topics drawn from the forefront of development economics research. The course has a strong applied focus. For each major topic covered we want to derive implications from the theory, subject these to econometric testing, comment on the robustness of the results obtained and draw out policy conclusions. The course is divided into three parts.

Teaching: Lectures EC428.1: 18 x two-hours MT and LT. Classes EC428.1A: 10 MT and LT. Attendance at the Seminar EC428.2: 20 MT and LT is expected.

Formative coursework: Occasional written assignments will be expected throughout the MT and LT.

Indicative reading: Most of the reading is from journal articles which appear on reading lists distributed at the start of each part of the course. However, the following references may serve as an introduction to material included in the syllabus. Handbook of Development Economics, Volumes I and II edited by Chenery and Srinivasan, Volume III and IV edited by Behrman and Srinivasan, Amsterdam: North-Holland, 1994; D Ray, Development Economics, Princeton UP, 1998.

Assessment: A three-hour written examination in the ST. Additionally, students taking MSc Economics or MSc Econometrics and Mathematical Economics will be required to submit an extended essay at the beginning of the ST, for such students the written examination and the extended essay will each count for half of the marks.

---

EC440

Micro and Macroeconomics (for Public Policy)

This information is for the 2012/13 session.

Teachers responsible: Dr G Michaels, LRB. R438 and Dr Ethan Illeczti STC 8.879.

Availability: This is a compulsory course for MPA Public and Economic Policy/MPA Public Policy and Management/MPA International Development/MPA European Public and Economic Policy/MPA Public and Social Policy.

Course content: An introductory graduate course providing an economics background suitable for high-level public policy-making. The emphasis is on acquiring sound models and methods suitable for appraising policy-making issues and applicable in a wide variety of contexts. The first term (MT) covers microeconomics and the second term (LT) covers macroeconomics.

MT: Microeconomics

LT: Macroeconomics

Teaching: Lectures EC440: 20 x two hours sessional. Classes EC440.A: 20 hours sessional.

Formative coursework: Students will complete graded problem sets as formative assessment.

Indicative reading: A full reading list will be distributed at the beginning of the course.

Assessment: A three-hour written examination in the summer term.

---

EC441

Microeconomics for MRes Students

This information is for the 2012/13 session.

Teachers responsible: Prof M Piccione, STC.S477 and Prof B Szentjes, STC.S464.

Availability: This course is for the MRes/PHD Economics and PhD Finance. It is also available, subject to regulations and with the permission of the course proprietor, to students on MSc Econometrics and Mathematical Economics.

Pre-requisites: A good undergraduate knowledge of economic theory and calculus is required.

Course content: The aim of the course is to:

i. introduce the basic analytical tools that are necessary to conduct research in any field in economics.

ii. give the students a full understanding of the classic Microeconomic Theory and of the modern developments of Microeconomic Theory

iii. enable students to address a microeconomic problem by structuring it as a mathematical model and enhance the understanding of economic issues though the use of mathematical tools.

Topics include: Consumer theory, producer theory, general equilibrium, welfare, choice under uncertainty, game theory, economics of information, agency theory, contracts, topics in mechanism design.

Teaching: Lectures EC441: 60 hours MT and LT. Classes EC441.A: 30 hours sessional.

Formative coursework: Exercises are set for each class. In addition, there will be a one-and-a-half-hour mock examination at the start of the LT and a three hour mock examination at the start of the ST.

Assessment: A three-hour written examination in the ST.

---

EC442

Macroeconomics for MRes Students

This information is for the 2012/13 session.

Teachers responsible: Prof W den Haan, STC.S877, Dr E Illeczti, STC.S879, Prof P Krusell (Guest Lecturer), and Dr S Tenreyro, STC.S579.

Availability: This course is for the MRes/PHD Economics. It is also available, subject to regulations and with the permission of the course proprietor, to students on MSc Econometrics and Mathematical Economics.

Course content: The course will cover topics in advanced macroeconomics with emphasis on fundamentals and applications to recent theoretical advances:

i. Economic growth: Neoclassical Growth Model, Optimizing...
Behaviour in dynamic models under certainty, Endogenous Technological Change, Imitation and Convergence, Growth and Development Accounting, Appropriate Technology.

ii. Search and Matching: The Matching Model, Efficiency Wages, Growth and Unemployment.

iv. Monetary Economics: models with credit frictions, sticky prices, search.

Teaching: Lectures EC442: 60 hours MT and LT. Classes EC442.A: 30 hours sessional.

Formative coursework: Exercises are set for each class. In addition, there will be a one-and-a-half hour mock examination at the start of the LT and the ST.

Indicative reading: A good general textbook that is mostly below the level of the course is: D Romer, Advanced Macroeconomics, McGraw-Hill Advanced Series in Economics, New York, 1996.

Assessment: A three-hour written examination in the ST (100%).

---

EC443 Econometrics for MRes Students

This information is for the 2012/13 session.

Teachers responsible: Dr V Hajivassiliou, STC.S564, Dr T Komarova, STC.S575 and Dr M Schafgans, STC.S583.

Availability: This course is for the MRes/PhD in Economics.

Pre-requisites: Students should have completed an undergraduate level course in econometrics and statistical theory. Linear algebra and multivariate calculus will be used frequently.

Course content: The first part [Inference, Classical- and Generalized Linear Regression] begins with methods of estimation and optimality, followed by an introduction to asymptotic theory. It proceeds with statistical inference and the trinity of classical testing (Wald, Likelihood Ratio, and Lagrange Multiplier). It then discusses the classical linear regression model and commences the discussion of violations of the classical assumptions by discussing the Generalized Linear Regression Model (heteroskedasticity and autocorrelation).

The second part [Generalized Regression Methods] provides a further discussion of violations of the classical assumptions including measurement error, omitted variables, simultaneity, missing data; non-linear regression models and instrumental variables. It proceeds to the Generalized Method of Moments and efficient estimation methods under conditional moment restrictions. It also covers the topics of quantile regression and bootstrapping.

The third part [Time-series, Panel-data, and Microeconomic Methods] begins with a discussion of Time-Series topics, including single equation theory for non-stationary variables; serially correlated errors with lagged dependent variables; unit roots; simultaneous equations for non-stationary variables; co-integration; and ARCH and GARCH models. It proceeds to Panel data methods such as fixed and random effects estimators and their extensions for applying to dynamic linear and non-linear panel data models. The next major topic presents models with Limited Dependent Variables. The final part [Specialized Econometric Methods] discusses simulation-based inference, nonlinear panel data, and duration models. Finally, it covers the topics of program evaluation, nonparametrics, kernel estimation, and differences in differences.

Teaching: Lectures EC443: 60 hours MT and LT. Classes EC443.A: 30 hours sessional.

Formative coursework: Exercises are set for each class. In addition, there will be a one-and-a-half hour mock examination at the start of the LT and a three-hour mock examination at the start of the ST.

Assessment: A three-hour written examination in the Summer Term.

---

EC450 Urban and transport Economics Seminars

This information is for the 2012/13 session.

Teachers responsible: Dr A Thornley, STC. S420 and Professor C M E Whitehead, STC. S564

Course content: Interdisciplinary seminars addressing issues of current concern and debate within urban development transport and planning. The focus will be on contemporary regional and urban problems and the invited speakers from within the LSE and outside will either be engaged in relevant current research or be practising planners or policy-makers from central or local government, research agencies or consultancy.

Teaching: 15 (one-and-a-half hour) seminars in the MT and LT.

Assessment: There is no Assessment in this course but the Content will contribute towards the course GV454 Urban Policy and Planning and EC436 The Economics of Regional and Urban Planning.

---

EC453 Not available in 2012/13 Political Economy

This information is for the 2012/13 session.

Teachers responsible: Prof A Prat, LRB. R538, Prof G Levy, STC. S479, Prof R Razin, STC. S480 and Prof T Persson

Availability: This course is for MSc Economics and MSc Econometrics and Mathematical Economics. Other graduates on MSc Political Science and Political Economy, MSc Environmental Economics and Climate Change, MPA Public and Economic Policy/MPA Public Policy and Management/MPA International Development/MPA European Public and Economic Policy/MPA Public and Social Policy may attend with the permission of the MSc Economics programme Director. This will normally only be granted to students who have taken EC400 (Introductory Course in Mathematics and Statistics) held annually in September and achieved the required standard.

Pre-requisites: Students should have completed courses in intermediate level microeconomics, macroeconomics and econometrics and EC400 (Introductory Course in Mathematics and Statistics).

Course content: An advanced treatment of Political Economy, covering theory, evidence and current issues. The course material will expand the capacity of students to think about policy relevant issues at the intersection between economics and political science. Politics as information aggregation; politics as a principal agent problem.
Political Economy and Public Finance.
Constitutional rules and policy outcomes; bureaucracy.
Political development.
Media; lobbying.
Campaign finance; political parties.
Direct democracy; turnout in elections.
Ethnic policies; international conflicts.

Teaching: 18 two-hour lectures MT and LT. Ten one-hour classes MT and LT.

Formative coursework: Some work with data sets provided by the instructors. At least one written assignment for handing in.

Indicative reading: Most of the reading is from journal articles; lists will be supplied at the start of each term. Two books supply the basic framework: T Besley, Principle Agents? Selection and Incentives in Politics, Oxford University Press, 2005 and T Persson & G Tabellini, Political Economics: Explaining Political Outcomes, MIT Press, 2000.

Assessment: A three-hour written examination in the ST.

Additionally, students taking MSc Economics or MSc Econometrics and Mathematical Economics will be required to submit an extended essay at the beginning of the ST, for such students, the written examination and the extended essay will each count for half of the marks.

---

EC454 Development Economics
This information is for the 2012/13 session.

Teachers responsible: Professor Robin Burgess, LRB. R524 and Professor Oriana Bandiera LRB.R526

Availability: Compulsory for MPA International Development. Optional for students on MPA Public and Economic Policy, MPA Public Policy and Management, MPA Public and Social Policy and MPA in European Public and Economic Policy. This course is a controlled access course.

Course content: An introductory graduate course providing the necessary development economics skills for high level public policy making. The focus is on acquiring the necessary theoretical and empirical skills to engage in the rigorous analysis of public policies in developing countries. Topics at the forefront of development economics will be covered. These include political economy, trade liberalization, growth, access to finance, technology adoption, education, health, infrastructure, property rights, land reform, gender, environment, mass media and political accountability. The emphasis will be on combining theory and data to evaluate the effectiveness of policies in these different areas.

Teaching: 20 hours of lectures and 10 hours of seminars in MT, and 20 hours of lectures and 10 hours of seminars in LT.

Formative coursework: Students to complete weekly exercises based on course readings with one of these exercises being marked in a given term.

Indicative reading: A reading list will be distributed at the start of the course.

Assessment: One three hour exam (100%)
EC476
Contracts and Organisations
This information is for the 2012/13 session.
Teachers responsible: Professor M Ghatak, LRB. R530, Prof Ronny Razin STC S.480
Availability: This course is for MSc Economics, MSc Econometrics and Mathematical Economics, MSc Environmental Economics and Climate Change, PhD Accounting and for other graduate students with the permission of the course lecturer.
Course content: The aim of the course is to provide a comprehensive introduction to the economics of moral hazard and adverse selection in strategic settings. The first part of the course covers the static theory of moral hazard and incentive contracts (static principal-agent models, moral hazard in teams and multi-task incentive contracts) and the dynamic theory of incentive contracts (efficiency of long-run relationships, short-term versus long-term contracts and renegotiation). The second part of the course discusses empirical methods to estimate the determinants of incentive contracts and the effect of contracts on performance. Empirical evidence on both contract design and the impact of incentives will be analysed. The third part of the course covers static mechanism design and self-selection contracts (revelation principle for Bayesian-Nash and dominant strategy equilibria, static screening contracts) with applications to non-linear pricing, optimal auctions and regulation; the theory of mechanism design with multiple agents (multiple agents screening and common agency), and the theory of dynamic mechanism design (commitment and renegotiation).
Teaching: Lectures EC476: 20 x two-hours MT and LT. Classes 20 x 1 hour MT and LT.
Indicative reading: No one book covers the entire syllabus; a list of references will be provided at the start of the course. The following textbooks provide a treatment of part of the material presented in the course: Jean-Jacques Laffont, The Economics of Uncertainty and Information, MIT Press; D Fudenberg & J Tirole, Game Theory, MIT Press; Jean-Jacques Laffont & Jean Tirole, A Theory of Incentives in Procurement Regulations, MIT Press; Bernard Salanié, The Economics of Contracts: A Primer, MIT Press.
Assessment: A three-hour written examination in the ST. Non-EME students will be assessed as follows: A three-hour written examination in the ST (50%) and a 6000-word extended essay due at the beginning of the ST (50%).

EC484
Econometric Analysis
This information is for the 2012/13 session.
Teacher responsible: Professor J Hidalgo, STC. S578, Dr M Seo, STC. S580
Availability: This course is for MSc Econometrics and Mathematical Economics, MSc Statistics, MSc Statistics (Financial Statistics), MSc Statistics (Financial Statistics) (Research), MSc Applicable Mathematics. Also available to other graduate students with the permission of the course lecturer. Students on MRes/PhD Economics may take the course with the permission of the course lecturer.
Course content: This course gives an advanced treatment of the theory of estimation and inference for econometric models. Part (a) Matrix background; symtotic statistical theory: modes of convergence, asymptotic unbiasedness, stochastic orders of magnitude, central limit theorems, applications to linear regression. Part (b) Non-linear-in variables systems: maximum likelihood and instrumental variables estimates, optimal instrumental variables estimates for static and dynamic models, and models with autocorrelated disturbances. Simultaneous equations systems, identification, estimation, asymptotic behaviour of estimators and hypothesis testing. Wald, generalised likelihood ratio and Lagrange multiplier hypothesis tests, asymptotic null and local behaviour and consistency.
Teaching: Lectures EC484: 60 hours MT and LT. Classes EC484.A 30 hours MT and LT.
Indicative reading: No one book covers the entire syllabus; a list of references will be provided at the start of the course, and lecture notes and relevant articles will be circulated.
Assessment: A three-hour written examination in the ST.

EC485
Topics in Advanced Econometrics
This information is for the 2012/13 session.
Teachers responsible: Prof J Hidalgo, STC. S578, Dr T Komarova, STC. S875, Dr M Seo, STC. S580 and others.
Availability: This course is for MSc Econometrics and Mathematical Economics and for other graduate students with the permission of the course lecturer.
Course content: The aim of the course is to introduce the student to topics at the frontier of econometric research of importance both to a theoretical and empirical level. The course consists of four series of ten lectures on specialised topics in econometrics. These lectures change from year to year. Presently they include: long memory time series; non-parametric and semi-parametric estimation; bootstrap methods in econometrics; non-linear time series; panel data models.
Teaching: Lectures EC485: 40 hours MT and LT.
Indicative reading: No one book covers the entire syllabus; lists of references will be provided and lecture notes circulated.
Assessment: A three-hour written examination in the ST.

EC486
Econometric Methods
This information is for the 2012/13 session.
Teachers responsible: Prof J Van Reenen, LRB. R460, and Mr Pasquale Schiraldi S876
Availability: This course is for MSc Economics and Management students only.
Course content: This course aims to present the theory and practice of empirical research in economics. Beyond the theory, the course will put a substantial amount of effort in having the students work with Stata and other econometric software in analyzing actual data sets, reproducing and criticizing results in previous work and learning the actual practice of econometrics as undertaken by the best applied economists, both in general (in MT) and specifically within the IO field (in the LT). Topics include: (MT) Ordinary Least Squares, hypothesis testing, omitted and added variables, measurement error, the role of controls, and functional form. Panel data, fixed and random effects. Instrumental Variables. An introduction to the analysis of time series. The emphasis of this part is on the identification of causal effects, and applications in microeconomics (Labour Economics, Public Policy, IO, etc) are presented throughout. In LT you will learn the applications of many of these techniques to econometric questions in Industrial Organization, organizational economics and management.
Teaching: 20 hours lectures and 10 seminars each term.
Formative coursework: Students are required to complete answers to problem sets on a week by week basis.
Indicative reading: MT: James H. Stock and Mark W. Watson, Introduction to Econometrics; reading lists of chapters and journal articles will be supplied at the start of each term.
Assessment: A three hour exam in ST
EC487 Advanced Microeconomics
This information is for the 2012/13 session.

Teachers responsible: Professor Balazs Szentes STC S464 and Francesco Squintani.

Availability: This course is for students on MSc Econometrics and Mathematical Economics, MSc Finance and Economics (Research) and MSc Applicable Mathematics. The course is available to students on MSc Economics with the permission of the course teachers. It is also available for students on MSc Finance and Economics and to other graduate students with the permission of the teachers responsible and their MSc course tutor/programme director. Students should have taken EC400 and achieved the required standard.

Course content: The aim of this course is to:
(i) introduce and develop the analytical tools of graduate level Microeconomics with a special emphasis on mathematical models;
(ii) provide the students with a firm grounding in classical Microeconomic Theory as well as its modern development.
Topics include: Consumer theory, producer theory, general equilibrium, welfare, choice under uncertainty, game theory, oligopoly. economics of information, topics in mechanism design, topics in behavioural economics.

Teaching: Lectures: 40 hours MT and LT
Classes: 20 hours

Formative coursework: Problem sets will be discussed in class and one marked assignment will be given in MT and LT. There will also be mock examinations at the end of the MT and at the beginning of ST.

Indicative reading: The main texts are A Rubinstein Lecture Notes in Economic Theory, Princeton University Press and Mas-Colell, Whinston & Green, Microeconomic Theory, OUP. Other sources include: D M Kreps, A Course in Microeconomic Theory, Harvester Wheatsheaf; Fudenberg and Tirole, Game Theory, MIT Press.

Assessment: A three-hour written exam in the ST.

EC483 MPA Capstone Project
This information is for the 2012/13 session.

Teachers responsible: Dr Greg Fischer, LRB. R537 plus others.

Availability: This is a compulsory course for all second year MPA students.

Course content: Students will undertake a group project (in teams usually of 3 to 6 people) relating to a public policy problem faced by an external organisation. Typical clients include public sector bodies, companies operating in the public management or public policy sector, international organisations or think tanks and NGOs. The group will have from October to February to work on an issue defined by the client organisation, investigating and developing a workable solution to the problem.

Teaching: All students must attend the opening capstone introduction session in MT. Each Capstone group will be allocated a supervisor, who will provide overall guidance on the project’s development and assistance with client liaison. Other members of staff may also advise as required.

Formative coursework: Feedback will be provided on presentations of work-in-progress during MT.

Assessment: The project work is conducted in teams, and the assessment is based on a collective group mark for each component except in exceptional circumstances.
1) A presentation and submission of the project report to the client organisation. The presentation must take place by week 8 of the Lent term, on a date agreed with the client organisation. 20% of the marks are assigned by the client organisation after receipt of the presentation and project report.
2) A group project report of up to 15,000 words to be submitted during the Lent Term. The report is read by academic markers and their assessment accounts for 60% of the final grade. Additionally, each group member must write a personal reflection on their contribution to the group's work, to be submitted alongside the report. The reflection should be no more than 600 words, and should include specific details of the student's contributions to the project. The reflections should not be included in the report submitted to the client.
Any appendices to the project report should only consist of technical data and may not contain any substantive analysis.
3) The final 20% of the marks are allocated by the Capstone supervisor on the basis of the group's performance in terms of (i) scope and project development (including coping with difficulties) and (ii) group working and self-management as a team.

EC484 MPA Dissertation
This information is for the 2012/13 session.

Teachers responsible: Dr G Pedro i Miquel, R521, Dr G Fischer (R537) plus others.

Availability: This is an optional course for all MPA students studying at LSE for their second year.

Course content: MPA students must write a dissertation (of no more than 10,000 words) on a topic of their choice to be agreed with their supervisor.

Teaching: Students will be allocated a supervisor, who will provide guidance on this piece of work. MPA Dissertation Workshops will be held to assist in the development of the dissertation.

Assessment: 1) The dissertation title, abstract, contents page and a 5 page synopsis/introduction will count for 10% of the overall dissertation mark. Students may only change their topic thereafter with the agreement of their supervisor. Students will be given feedback on their abstracts.
2) The full dissertation of no more than 10,000 words will account for the remaining 90% of the overall mark.

EC4V8 Half Unit MPA Policy Paper
This information is for the 2012/13 session.

Teachers responsible: Professor Patrick Dunleavy, Dr Lloyd Gruber, plus supervisors from MPA departments

Availability: This is an optional half-unit course for MPA second year students. Students may not take this course and an MPA dissertation.

Course content: MPA students to write an individually-authored MPA Policy Paper on a topic developed in consultation with their MPA supervisor. Each paper analyses a concrete policy problem in a specific setting and proposes an evidence-based solution or course of amelioration. Papers cannot exceed 6,000 words and should be clearly and directly written, suitable for consideration by policymakers.

Teaching: Three x two-hour lectures in the MT.

Formative coursework: A title, abstract, and MPA Policy Paper proposal (of no more than 750 words in total) to be submitted by Week 3 of Michaelmas Term. Students will have these items returned, with comments, within two weeks of submission.
Assessment: One 6,000 word MPA Policy Paper (100%).

EH401 Half Unit
Historical Analysis of Economic Change
This information is for the 2012/13 session.
Teachers responsible: Dr Debijn Ma, CMK. C313 and Dr Patrick Wallis, CMK. C414
Availability: Compulsory course for MSc Economic History and MSc Economic History (Research). Other students may not attend without consent of the first-named course teacher.
Course content: The course provides basic awareness of central themes and key methodological and theoretical issues in economic history; introduces students to important analytic tools used by economic historians, with an emphasis on their practical application in economic history research; and examines major ways in which economic historians collect, analyse and interpret evidence. The training is expected to inform dissertation work.
The course covers two main areas. 1) Theory and Research: this section introduces theoretical approaches to major issues in economic history, and considers the practical application in historical analysis of concepts from economics (primarily) and related disciplines. The specific topics evolve but an illustrative list includes: processes of economic growth; economic development; culture and economic behaviour; the rational-choice institutionalist paradigm; imperfect information and incentive structures; modern macro-economic ideas (especially on money and finance); welfare outcomes. 2) Historical Methodology: this section introduces methodological issues in combining social science frameworks with historical materials. It considers problems of knowledge and explanation in economic history, and introduces quantitative and qualitative approaches to obtaining, analysing and interpreting evidence.
Teaching: MT only: two-hour lecture and one-hour class weekly.
Formative coursework: Students are required to make one class presentation and also to submit one paper on an additional topic during the term.
Assessment: A two-hour unseen written examination in the ST (100%).

EH402 Half Unit
Research Design and Quantitative Methods in Economic History
This information is for the 2012/13 session.
Teachers responsible: Dr. Olivier Accominotti, CMK.C216
Availability: Optional course for MSc Economic History (Research). MSc Economic History and MSc Global History.
Course content: This course is concerned with how economic historians have used quantitative methods and with how researchers design and structure a research project. In terms of quantitative methods the emphasis is on the applied and practical rather than the theoretical and will range from the use of simple summary descriptive statistics to multiple regression, specification problems, hypothesis testing, logit and probit analysis, non-parametric tests, and modern time series analysis, although the content may vary slightly from year to year. The course will also provide students with training in using an econometrics software package. An important component of the course is the deconstruction of historical articles that have used quantitative techniques.
Teaching: MT only. Three hours per week. One-and-a-half hours computing session, one-and-a-half hours classes weekly.
Formative coursework: Students are required to do weekly exercises and to submit one paper during the term.
Assessment: Two-hour examination in the ST.

EH404 Half Unit
Not available in 2012/13
India and the World Economy
This information is for the 2012/13 session.
Teacher responsible: Professor Tirthankar Roy, CMK. C315.
Availability: This is an optional course for students taking MSc Economic History, MSc Economic History (Research), MSc Political Economy of Late Development, MSc Global History, LSE-Columbia University Double Degree in International and World History, MSc Empires, Colonialism, Globalisation and MA Global Studies: A European Perspective. Students taking other master’s degrees may be admitted, space and timetable permitting, and with the approval of their department and the course teacher.
Course content: From the eighteenth century, the South Asia region played an important part in international transactions in goods, people, and money. The world economy, in turn, shaped potentials for economic growth in the region. The aim of the course is to impart an understanding of the global factors that shaped economic change in the South Asia region in the 18th through the early-20th century. It will also deal with the principal ways in which South Asia contributed to economic change in the rest of the world. The political context of globalization, especially imperialism and colonial policies, will be considered. The course will be divided into a set of topics, which together cover a large ground, but a selection from which will be discussed in the class. Lectures and seminars will centre on the readings assigned to each topic.
Topics to be covered: Introductory: India and the world economy in the eighteenth and nineteenth centuries - how each shaped the other; textiles in eighteenth century India: scale - organization - impact on global consumption and innovation - trade and territorial politics; nineteenth century market integration: de-industrialization and the artisans; nineteenth century market integration: Agricultural exports, land rights, and the peasantry - Trade and famines; Government finance in colonial setting: The drain controversy - public debt; overseas migration in the nineteenth century: Who went where, how many, and why - private gains and losses - social effects: slavery and indenture, women, nature of work and skill-formation - labour and non-labour migrants compared, foreign capital and industrialization; balance of payments and the monetary system; overview: Globalization and economic growth.
Teaching: 2-hour meetings weekly, with a flexible combination of lectures and seminars.
Formative coursework: Students will be required to write one paper during the course and to make class presentations.

Taught Masters Course Guides 251

Assessment: A two-hour written examination in the ST.

Indicative reading: A detailed reading list will be provided at the beginning of the course.

Assessment: The method of assessment will be announced at the beginning of the course (either a two hour exam in ST, or a 3,000 word essay).

---

EH408 Half Unit

Not available in 2012/13

International Migration, 1500-2000: from slavery to asylum

This information is for the 2012/13 session.

Teacher responsible: Dr Chris Minns, CMK. C319

Availability: Optional course for students taking MSc Economic History, MSc Economic History (Research), LSE-Columbia University Double Degree in International and World History, MSc Global History, MSc Political Economy of Late Development, MSc International Migration and Public Policy, MSc Empires, Colonialism, Globalisation and MA Global Studies: A European Perspective.

Course content: The course examines major issues in international migration over the last 500 years. The course will consider free and coerced migration in the early modern period, the emergence (and eventual decline) of mass migration in the later 19th century, and the rise of “managed” migration in the post World War II period. The course will examine the economic foundations of indentured servitude and slavery in the early modern period, and the interactions between these two types of labour. The contribution of economic and demographic forces to the rise of mass migration on destination and source labour markets, the determinants of immigrant destination choice, and the interplay between migration and exogenous crises in Europe. In the post World War II environment, the focus will be on the political impact of mass migration on developing economies in the present day. In this part of the course, we will consider how historical episodes of migration can inform the present day.

Teaching: 10 weekly two-hour seminar lectures in Lent Term.

Formative coursework: Two pieces of written work.

Indicative reading:

- D Baines, Emigration from Europe (1991);
- G Borjas, Heaven’s Door: immigration policy and the American economy (1999)*;
- T Boeri, G Hanson, and B McCormick (eds), Immigration policy and the welfare state 2002*);
- T J Hatton and J G Williamson, The age of mass migration (1998);

Assessment: A two-hour written exam in the Summer Term.

EH412 Half Unit

Not available in 2012/13

Research Topics in Economic History A

This information is for the 2012/13 session.

Teachers responsible: tba

Availability: Optional half-unit in MT for MSc Economic History, MSc Economic History (Research), MSc Global History and MA Global Studies: A European Perspective. There is a second Half Unit course offered in the LT, EH414 Research Topics in Economic History B.

Students taking other masters degrees may be admitted, space and timetable permitting, and with the approval of their department and the course teacher.

Course content: The course will reflect current faculty research work, dealing with topical research questions and materials (primary and secondary historical materials). The particular topics available each year will be announced at the start of the academic year.

Teaching: 2-hour meetings weekly in MT, with a flexible combination of lectures and seminars.

Formative coursework: Students will be expected to produce two written papers.

Indicative reading:

Assessment: Two-hour written examination in the ST.

EH413 Half Unit

African Economic Development in Historical Perspective

This information is for the 2012/13 session.

Teacher responsible: Dr. Leith Gardner, CMK.C322

Availability: Optional half-unit course for MSc Economic History, MSc Economic History (Research), MSc Global History, MSc Political Economy of Late Development, MSc Empires, Colonialism, Globalisation, LSE-Columbia University Double Degree in International and World History and MA Global Studies: A European Perspective. Other students require the permission of the course teacher and their own tutor.

Course content: This course examines the history of African economic development from 1500 to the present, with a particular focus on changing opportunities and constraints over time. Lectures are organized chronologically, and address broad themes in African economic history, including: the role of environmental factors and natural resources in shaping long-run economic development in Africa; the origins of slavery in Africa and the economic effects of the Atlantic slave trade; the transition to cash crop production in the nineteenth century; the political economy of colonial rule and the legacies of colonialism; and; debates about the post-independence ‘growth tragedy’. Seminars focus on specific case studies which illustrate the possible mechanisms by which historical events have continued to shape African economic development. Assigned readings will incorporate both primary sources as well as secondary literature.

Teaching: LT only: 2-hour meetings weekly, with a flexible combination of lectures and seminars.

Formative coursework: Students are required to make one class presentation and submit one paper during the term.

Indicative reading:

Assessment: Two-hour written examination in the ST.

EH414 Half Unit

Theories, Paths and Patterns of Late Development

This information is for the 2012/13 session.

Teachers responsible: Dr Debin Ma, CMK. C314 and Dr Patrick Wallis, CMK.C414

Availability: Compulsory half-unit course for MSc Political Economy of Late Development.

Course content: The course provides basic awareness of central themes and key methodological and theoretical issues in economic history; introduces students to important analytic tools used by economic historians, with an emphasis on their practical application in economic history research; and examines major ways in which economic historians collect, analyse and interpret evidence. The training is expected to inform dissertation work.

The course covers two main areas. 1) Theory and Research: this section introduces theoretical approaches to major issues in economic history, and considers the practical application in... historical analysis of concepts from economics (primarily) and related disciplines. The specific topics evolve but an illustrative list includes: processes of economic growth; economic development; culture and economic behaviour; the rational-choice institutionalist paradigm; imperfect information and incentive structures; macro-economic and macro-economic ideas (especially on money and finance); welfare outcomes. 2) Historical Methodology: this section introduces methodological issues in combining social science frameworks with historical materials. It considers problems of knowledge and explanation in economic history, and introduces quantitative and qualitative approaches to obtaining, analysing and interpreting evidence. The classes to follow the lecture will focus on how economic history as a discipline that helps explain the distinct growth trajectories of ‘late-developing’ countries, inform modern approaches to development policy and practice, and current controversies about obstacles to development.

Teaching: Two-hour lecture (that is joint with EH401) and a weekly one hour seminar in MT.

Formative coursework: Students will produce one written paper (3,000 words) and are expected to collaborate in joint presentations.

Assessment: Two-hour written examination in the Summer Term.

---

EH422 Topics in Quantitative Economic History

This information is for the 2012/13 session.

Teachers responsible: tba

Availability: Optional for MSc Economics, MSc Economic History, MSc Economic History (Research), MSc Global History, and MPhil Economic History. Other graduate students may attend by permission, space and timetable permitting. The course is particularly appropriate for those students who are considering following a quantitative economic history PhD thesis in the future.

Pre-requisites: Students enrolled for this course are expected to have completed the equivalent of undergraduate courses in econometrics and intermediate economic theory.

Course content: The course is organised on a topic basis, with subjects chosen to illustrate particular theoretical, quantitative or methodological issues. Such topics could include: long run comparative economic growth; human capital issues in economic history, the macroeconomics of the war years; the political economy of trade; industrial economic history; technological change; quantitative approaches to the evolution of markets; the new economic history of institutional change; analysing historical welfare issues. The aims are to: examine the techniques used by economic historians and to assess their validity and whether they help to further our understanding of the particular historical issue to which they have been applied, and to teach students how to evaluate the relevance of historical hypotheses and the historical applicability of models from economic and other social scientific theory. Students are able to investigate in detail the analysis contained in important journal articles using appropriate computer packages.

Teaching: 20 two-hour lectures/ seminar in the MT and LT; some of this Teaching will take the form of computing workshops.

Formative coursework: Three or four papers or presentations during the session.

Assessment: The final examination mark is made up of two components: an assessed piece of work and a written examination. The format of both components and their weight within the final examination mark is dependent upon which masters programme the student is following. For Economic History students: a 3,000 word essay (30%) plus a three-hour written examination (70%); for Economics students: an extended essay of maximum length 6,000 words (50%) plus a two-hour written examination (50%).

---

EH419 Half Unit Not available in 2012/13

Research Topics in Economic History B

This information is for the 2012/13 session.

Teacher responsible: tba

Availability: Optional half-unit in LT for MSc Economic History, MSc Economic History (Research), MSc Global History, MSc Political Economy of Late Development and MA Global Studies: A European Perspective. There is a Half Unit course offered in the MT, EH412 Research Topics in Economic History A.

Students taking other masters degrees may be admitted, space and timetable permitting, and with the approval of their department and the course teacher.

Course content: The course will reflect current faculty research work, dealing with topical research questions and materials (primary and secondary historical materials). The particular topics available each year will be announced at the start of the academic year.

Teaching: 2-hour meetings weekly in LT, with a flexible combination of lectures and seminars.

Formative coursework: Students will be expected to produce two written papers.

Indicative reading: A detailed reading list will be provided at the beginning of the course.

Assessment: The method of assessment will be announced at the beginning of the course (either a two hour exam in ST, or a 3,000 word essay).

---

EH423 Half Unit Not available in 2012/13

Japan and Korea as Developing Economies

This information is for the 2012/13 session.

Availability: The course is optional on MSc Economic History, MSc Economic History (Research), MSc Global History, MSc Political Economy of Late Development and MA Global Studies: A European Perspective. The course is also available as an outside option where regulations allow and with permission of the course teacher.

Course content: The course will focus on selected issues of economic development that are of importance in contemporary debates and theories, and see how these issues were played out in Japan and Korea from the late 19th century to the latter half of the 20th century. The main themes discussed will be: natural endowments and climatic impact; changes in the agricultural sector; the growth of market production; issues of state policy; economic institutions; colonialism and imperialism; integration into the international economy; income levels and consumption; gender and development; culture and economy.

Teaching: Twenty hours of lectures/seminars in the Michaelmas Term and two hours of revision seminars in the Summer Term.

Formative coursework: Students will be expected to produce two essays of up to 2,000 words during the course.

Indicative reading:
- A.H.Amsden, Asia's Next Giant: South Korea and Late Industrialisation (1989); Yi-Chung, Korea Under Siege, 1876-1945: Capital Formation and Economic Transformation (2006);
- P.G.Francs, Japanese Economic Development (2nd. edition, 1999);
- C.H.Lee & I.Yamazawa (eds.), Economic Development of Japan and Korea (1990);

Assessment: A two-hour exam in the Summer Term (100%).

---

EH426 Half Unit

Quantitative Topics in Economic History I: Cross-section and Panel Data

This information is for the 2012/13 session.

Teacher responsible: tba

Availability: MSc Economic History, MSc Global History, MSc Economic History (Research).

Pre-requisites: Students enrolled for this course are expected to have completed the equivalent of undergraduate courses in econometrics and intermediate economic theory.

Course content: The course will provide an overview of quantitative approaches in economic history using primarily cross-section and panel data. The course examines the use of quantitative techniques through practical exercises and critical discussion of their application in recent literature. Techniques discussed will include multiple regression analysis, limited dependent variables, instrumental variables, and models used for decompositions and the analysis of self-selection, as appropriate. The course is organised on a topic basis, with subjects chosen to illustrate particular theoretical, quantitative or methodological issues.

Teaching: 20 hours of seminars in the MT.

Indicative reading:
- Clark, G (2007), A Farewell to Alms; R Findlay, K O'Rourke (2009), Power and Plenty; N Ferguson (2009), The Ascent of Money; M Obstfeld, A Taylor (2004), Global Capital Markets; C Feinstein, P Temin, G Toniolo (1997), The European Economy Between the Wars; B van Ark & N Crafts (eds), Quantitative Aspects of Postwar European Economic (1996).

Assessment: One two-hour exam in the ST (100%).

---

EH427 Half Unit

Quantitative Topics in Economic History II: Time Series and Economic Dynamics

This information is for the 2012/13 session.

Teacher responsible: tba

Availability: MSc Economic History, MSc Global History, MSc Economic History (Research) students only.

Pre-requisites: Students enrolled for this course are expected to have completed the equivalent of undergraduate courses in econometrics and intermediate economic theory.

Course content: The course will provide an overview of quantitative approaches in economic history using primarily time series and dynamic techniques. The course will examine the use of quantitative techniques through practical exercises and critical discussion of their application in recent literature. Techniques discussed will include analysis of unit roots, vector autoregressions, and the basics of stochastic growth models, as appropriate. The course is organised on a topic basis, with subjects chosen to illustrate particular theoretical, quantitative or methodological issues.

Teaching: 20 hours of seminars in the LT.

Formative coursework: Two presentations during the term; fortnightly quantitative exercises.

Indicative reading:
- Arthur Burns and Wesley Mitchell (1946), Measuring Business Cycles; Nicholas Crafts and Gianni Toniolo, eds. (1996), Economic Growth in Postwar Europe since 1945; Robert J.

Assessment: One two-hour exam in the ST (100%).

EH428  Half Unit
History of Economics: Making Political Economy into a Social Science

This information is for the 2012/13 session.
Teacher responsible: Professor Mary S. Morgan C222
Availability: This course is for MSc Economic History, MSc Economic History (Research), MSc Global History, LSE-Columbia University Double Degree in International and World History, MSc Economics and Philosophy, MA Global Studies: A European Perspective and MSc Philosophy of the Social Sciences. Other graduate students may take this course only with the permission of the course lecturer and if space and timetables permit. Students can take this course independently of EH429.
Course content: The course aim is to understand the ambitions of economics as a policy science with more recent ideas about economics as a science to help analyse, understand and assess these changes in the nature of economics as a science.
Teaching: 20 hours over MT, mainly 2-hour seminars, with an occasional lecture within that time slot. (Those students without previous study in the history of economics may wish also attend the lectures for EC311).
Formative coursework: Students will be expected to produce two pieces of written work (around 2000 words each) during the term.
Indicative reading: The main domain of the course material is explained in “Economics” in T.M.Porter and D.Ross The Cambridge History of Science, Vol 7, The Modern Social Sciences, pp 275-305 (Cambridge University Press). Henry Spiegel’s The Growth of Economic Thought (various editions, Duke University Press) provides a general background text for the history of economics. Full reading lists will be given out at the beginning of the course.
Assessment: A two-hour written examination in the ST (100%).

EH446 Economic Development in East and Southeast Asia

This information is for the 2012/13 session.
Teacher responsible: Dr Kent G Deng, CMK. C213
Availability: For MSc Economic History, MSc Economic History (Research), MSc Political Economy of Late Development, MSc Global History, MSc Development Studies, MSc China in Comparative Perspective, MSc Empires, Colonialism, Globalisation and MA Global Studies: A European Perspective. Students taking MSc Global Politics and other master's degrees may be admitted, space and timetable permitting, and with the approval of their department and the course teacher.
Pre-requisites: There are no pre-requisites: knowledge of Asian history of the relevant period and region would be an advantage.
Course content: The course deals with conditions and paths of economic development in East Asia (excluding Japan) and Southeast Asia in the past centuries. The first part of the course looks at the debate on Asian economic history, endowments available, and institutions technology and economies that evolved independently in Asia to support a large population with reasonable standards of living. The second part of the course examines reasons for the lack of indigenous modern growth in Asia, conditions and timing of miracle growth of the Asian Tigers, ASEAN and Mainland China after World War Two, and impact of such growth of the world economy.
Topics covered include: traditional economic patterns in the region by the 17th century; the impact of the early European maritime traders; the impact of the later Europeans traders backed by industrialisation; attempts and success of the Western colonisation; resistance to the change from the core area in East Asian Mainland. Reforms and modernisation in Asia; Asia and globalisation.
Teaching: 20 seminars of two-hours each in the MT and LT. Written essays are circulated in advance.
Formative coursework: Two essays (3,000 words each) are expected during the course. The first is due at the end of the 9th week (in the MT) and the second, the 17th week (in the LT).
Assessment: A three-hour written examination in the ST.
EH447 Half Unit Not available in 2012/13 Great Depressions in Economic History
This information is for the 2012/13 session.

Teacher responsible: Professor Albrecht Ritschl, CMK. C422
Availability: MSc Economic History, MSc Economic History (Research), MSc Global History and MA Global Studies: A European Perspective
Pre-requisites: Knowledge of economics at the level of second-year undergraduate macroeconomics is recommended.

The aim of this course is to:
(i) introduce students to the history of the Great Depression of the 1930s, with comparisons to other deep recessions in economic history;
(ii) provide students with a basic knowledge of the main theoretical interpretations and their relative merits
(iii) give students a preview of the analytical techniques used in interpreting the historical evidence.

Teaching: 10 x two-hour seminars in MT
Formative coursework: Reading assignments will be discussed in class and one 3,000 word marked assignment will be set in the MT.

Assessment: 2-hour written examination in the ST.

Assessment: Two-hour written examination in the Summer Term (100%).

EH452 Half Unit Latin American Development and Economic History
This information is for the 2012/13 session.

Teacher responsible: Dr Alejandra Irigoin, CMK. C313
Availability: MSc Economic History, MSc Economic History (Research), MSc Global History, MSc Political Economy of Late Development, MSc History of International Relations, MSc Empires, Colonialism and Globalisation, MA Global Studies: A European Perspective, MSc Theory and History of International Relations and LSE-CU Double Degree in International and World History. Available as an outside option where regulations permit and with permission of the course teacher.

Course content: The course will consider some of the major topics of development and economic history of Latin America. The topics to be explored will be the role of geography, the environment and factor endowments, the role of institutions and policies, problems of taxation and representation in the constitutional and political developments in the 19th and 20th century, the history of labour and migrations into and out of Latin America, the protracted character of Latin America's inequality, the macroeconomics of industrialization and the political economic nature of Latin American populist political culture. Using reciprocal comparisons with the US, South East Asia, between LA countries, and over time the course will revisit the current interpretations of Latin American development in the long run and will frame the analysis of particular issues of policy-making of the present into the economic historical context.

Teaching: Weekly two-hour seminars in LT.
Formative coursework: Students are required to write two papers (around 2,000 words each) during the term.
Assessment: 2-hour examination in the Summer Term.

Assessment: Two-hour written examination in the Summer Term (100%).

EH451 Half Unit Latin American Development: political economy of growth
This information is for the 2012/13 session.

Teacher responsible: Professor Colin Lewis, E306
Availability: MSc Economic History, MSc Economic History (Research), MSc Global History, MSc Political Economy of Late Development, MSc History of International Relations, MSc Empires, Colonialism and Globalisation, MA Global Studies: A European Perspective, MSc Theory & History of International Relations and LSE-CU Double Degree in International and World History. Available as an outside option where regulations permit and with permission of the course teacher.

Course content: The course examines the principal phases of growth in Latin America since 1900, exploring economic structures, social outcomes and the political arrangements associated with distinct ‘development projects’. The first part of the course considers debates about endowments, institutions and the role of the state, and principal theories, including early twentieth-century liberalism, structuralism and dependency, neo-liberal ideas associated with the Washington Consensus and distinct radical approaches of the early twenty-first century. The remainder of the course is organised chronologically, focusing on phases of commodity export-led growth, ‘populist’ import-substituting industrialisation, ‘authoritarian modernisation’, democratisation and stabilisation, and responses to current challenges of globalisation and international boom and crisis.

Teaching: One hour lecture and one-hour seminar weekly in the Michaelmas Term.
Formative coursework: Students are required to make one presentation and write one paper (around 3,000 words) during the term.

Assessment: 2-hour written examination in the ST.

EH463 Half Unit Not available in 2012/13 The Long-Run Analysis of Firms and Industries
This information is for the 2012/13 session.

Teacher responsible: Dr Gerben Bakker, CMK. C214
Availability: For MSc Economic History, MSc Economic History (Research), MSc Global History, MA Global Studies: A European Perspective, and MSc Accounting, Organisations and Institutions. Students taking other master's degrees may be admitted, space and timetable permitting, and with the approval of their department and the course teacher.

Course content: This course comparatively explores the history of strategies, business organisations and industries since the nineteenth century. Different approaches to analyse this evolution are discussed, as well as the history of thinking about management and organisational structure and how this affected history itself. Introductory lecture(s) set the scene, discuss key concepts and various economic approaches to analyse the evolution of organisations. Subsequently the course looks at the origins of legal forms of organisation - such as the corporation, the private limited liability company and the cooperative - at the development of organisational structures, at the history of thinking about them, and at evolution of industries.

Teaching: The class meets for two-hours each week, in the Lent Term. Introductory lecture(s) are followed by student-led seminars.

Formative coursework: Students are expected to produce one essay during the term and to sit a short mock examination paper at the end of term.

Assessment: A two-hour written examination in the ST.

---

EH464  Half Unit
The Historical Context of Business
This information is for the 2012/13 session.
Teacher responsible: Dr Tim Leunig, CMK. C321
Availability: For MSc Economic History, MSc Economic History (Research), MSc Global History, and MSc Accounting, Organisations and Institutions. Students taking other master's degrees may be admitted, space and timetable permitting, and with the approval of their department and the course teacher.

Teaching: The course is taught in the autumn term. Students receive 10 hours of lectures, 8 one hour classes, and a two hour revision session. The lectures will consist of two two hour lectures in weeks one and two, and then 6 one hour lectures in weeks three to eight. The eight classes will take place in weeks 3 to 10. The two hour revision session will take place in the middle of the spring term.

Formative coursework: Students are expected to produce one essay during the term and to sit a mock examination paper over the Christmas vacation.

Assessment: A two-hour written exam in the ST.

---

EH466  Half Unit
Labour and Work in Pre-industrial Europe
This information is for the 2012/13 session.
Teacher responsible: Dr Patrick Wallis, CMK. C414
Availability: Optional on MSc Economic History, MSc Economic History (Research), MSc Global History, MSc Political Economy of Late Development, LSE-Columbia University Double Degree in International and World History and MA Global Studies: A European Perspective.

Course content: This course explores the experiences of organisation and work in Europe before industrialisation, and explores some of the initial impact of industrialisation on the organisation and experiences of the labour force. An introductory session introduces the key themes and context. Over the next nine weeks we examine the major subjects in the economic and social history of labour in the early modern period and how they developed up to the early 19th century. Issues covered will include (but not be limited to): how was work organised? How were skills acquired? What kinds of work did women and children do? How did working differ in town and countryside? Did the intensity of work change? What political identity and impact did workers have? The course discusses the range of European experiences, but has a particular focus on developments in Britain, where labour first faced industrialisation.

Teaching: Twenty hours of seminars. One seminar in the ST.

Formative coursework: One essay of 2,500 words, one presentation and short weekly assignments.

Assessment: One two-hour examination in the ST (100%).
Formative coursework: Two written papers of 2,500 words during the course.

Assessment: One two-hour exam in the ST (100%).

EH476 The Economic History of War

This information is for the 2012/13 session.

Teachers responsible: Professor Max-Stephan Schulze, CMK.C420 and Dr Oliver Volckart, CMK.C215

Availability: For MSc Economic History, MSc Economic History (Research), MSc Global History and MA Global Studies: A European Perspective. Students taking other master's degrees may be admitted, space and timetable permitting, and with the approval of their department and the course teachers.

Course content: This course explores the economic history of war(s) from the late Middle Ages to the 20th century within a comparative framework. Key themes examined include: long-term preparation for war - from bullionism to autarchy; state formation and deformation; organising warfare - from Renaissance condottieri to security firms; resource mobilisation - finance, material inputs, human capital; resource allocation - production and consumption; human and economic consequences of war; post-war reconstructions. The historical cases studied include the Hundred Years War, the Thirty Years War, the European wars of the 18th century, the Napoleonic Wars, the American Civil War, the First and Second World Wars.

Teaching: 20 seminars of two-hours each in the MT and LT; one revision session in ST. There will be pre-circulated papers for the seminars.

Formative coursework: Three 2,000 word essays and one class presentation.

R. Chickerling & S. Foerster (eds), Great War, Total War (2000).

S. Foerster & J. Nagler (eds), On the Road to Total War: The American Civil War and the German ars of Unification (1997).

D. Stevenson, With Our Backs to the Wall: Victory and Defeat in 1918 (2011).

Assessment: A three-hour written examination in the ST (100%).

EH479 Half Unit Dissertation: Global History

This information is for the 2012/13 session.

Teacher responsible: Professor Tirthankar Roy, CMK. C315 and Dr Debina Ma, CMK.C314

Availability: MSc Global History. Also available for students on MA Global Studies: A European Perspective.

Course content: The subject of the dissertation should relate broadly to one of the global history taught courses taken by the student. It should be a critical survey of a well-defined problem in the literature. It must demonstrate adequate knowledge of appropriate literature in Global History and an ability to handle problems of evidence and explanation.

Assessment: The dissertation should be no longer than 6,000 words, excluding tables, references and bibliography. Marks will be deducted for late submission or excessive length.

EH480 Dissertation: MSc Global History

This information is for the 2012/13 session.

Teacher responsible: Dr Tirthankar Roy, C315.

Availability: MSc Global History. Also available for students on MA Global Studies: A European Perspective.

Course content: The dissertation should be an empirical study using primary source material to write on a topic in global history. The topic should relate broadly to one of the global history courses taken by the student.

Formative coursework: The student must submit a one page summary and draft work for comment by Week 9 of the Summer Term. Supervisors will not normally provide comments on drafts submitted after that date.

Assessment: The dissertation should be no longer than 10,000 words, excluding tables, references and bibliography. The title must be approved in advance by the student’s supervisor. Marks will be deducted for late submission or excessive length.

EH481 Half Unit Economic Change in Global History: Approaches and Analysis

This information is for the 2012/13 session.

Teachers responsible: Professor Tirthankar Roy, CMK. C315 and Dr Alejandra Ingom CMK.C313

Availability: Compulsory course for MSc Global History. Also available for students on MA Global Studies: A European Perspective. Students taking other master's degrees may be admitted, space and timetable permitting, and with the approval of their department and the course teachers.

Course content: The ‘project’ of global history; comparison and connection; tools for global economic history; ideas from economic history, rational-choice economics and political economy, and from Marxism and ‘world systems’ theory; the industrial revolution as a conjuncture in global history; empires and globalization; meaning and evolution of the ‘world economy’; states and state systems; culture and economic change; the natural environment and global history, the post-modern challenge to metanarrative; strategies for writing global history.

The course will introduce central themes and analytical tools in global history, focussing on the history of material progress and stasis, and considering the comparisons and connections between the histories of different regions of the world.

Teaching: Taught during the MT. Weekly two-hour lectures and one-hour classes.

Formative coursework: Students will be expected to produce two written papers during the course.

Assessment: A two-hour examination in the ST.

EH482
Pre-Modern Paths of Growth: East and West Compared, 1000-1800

This information is for the 2012/13 session.

Teachers responsible: Dr Kent Deng, CMK.C213, Dr Alejandra Irigoin, CMK.C313, Dr Oliver Volckart, CMK.C215 and Dr Patrick Wallis, CMK.C414

Availability: Compulsory course for MSc Global History and MSc Economic History. Optional for Msc China in Comparative Perspective, MSc Empires, Colonialism, Globalisation and MA Global Studies: A European Perspective. Students taking other master's degrees may be admitted, space and timetable permitting, with the approval of their department and the course teachers.

Course content: This course surveys long-term processes of growth and development in pre-modern Europe, China and Japan.

The course raises fundamental questions about the nature of pre-industrial societies and economies. First, it asks if stagnation and poverty were normal conditions in pre-industrial societies and growth an aberration. What kind of growth and development did ‘Malthusian’ societies experience? Second, it addresses debates over European industrialisation. Why was Britain first? Was British success from the late 18th century the result of unique social, institutional, or cultural features? Was it the outcome of a centuries-long, cumulative process of change, that relied as much on inputs from the rest of Europe as much as specifically domestic features? Or was it the result of a ‘fortunate conjuncture’? Third, it makes an in-depth comparison of three major geo-economic regions (Europe, China and Japan) over seven centuries. It discusses recent research that suggests that parts of pre-modern Asia were as developed (in terms of living standards, agricultural productivity, commerce) as the more advanced regions of modern Europe, and asks if there were more than one ‘premodern paths of growth’. In the MT we focus on Europe; during the LT, on China and Japan. The approach throughout is thematic. Themes include: agriculture, population, urbanisation, technology, urban and rural industry, economic effects of legal, political and constitutional structure; political economy and taxation; warfare; trade and market integration, causes and effects of European expansion.

Teaching: 2-hour meetings weekly, with a flexible combination of lectures and seminars in MT and LT.

Formative coursework: All students are expected to write four essays: one by the end of the fifth week of the MT, one by the end of the ninth week of the MT, one by the end of the fifth week of the LT, and one by the end of the ninth week of the LT.

Assessment: A three-hour written examination. of Economic History.

Assessment: One three-hour unseen written examination in the ST (100%).

---

EH486
Half Unit
Not available in 2012/13
Shipping and Sea Power in Asian Waters, c1600-1860

This information is for the 2012/13 session.

Teacher responsible: Dr Kent G Deng, CMK, C213

Availability: Optional course for students taking MSc Global History, MSc Economic History, MSc Economic History (Research), MSc Political Economy of Late Development, LSE-Columbia University Double Degree in International and World History, MSc Empires, Colonialism, Globalisation and MA Global Studies: A European Perspective. Students taking other master's degrees may be admitted, space and timetable permitting, and with the approval of their department and the course teacher.

Course content: This course examines the development of shipping, sea power and maritime-related industries in East and Southeast Asia, c1600-1860.

Teaching: Taught during the LT. 10 weekly one hour lecture followed by one hour seminar in which student papers will be presented and discussed.

Formative coursework: Students will be expected to produce two essays of up to 2,000 words during the course, one due at the end of the 4th week and the other at the end of the 9th week (see below).

Indicative reading:
K N Chaudhuri, The Trading World of Asia and the English East India Company (1978);
Gang Deng, Chinese Maritime Activities and Socioeconomic Development c2100 b.c.17900 a.d. (1997);
Gang Deng, Maritime Sector, Institutions and Sea Power of Premodern China (1999);
Yen-P’ing Hao, The Commercial Revolution in Nineteenth-Century China: The Rise of Sino-Western Mercantile Capitalism (1986);
Yen-P’ing Hao, The Compradore in Nineteenth-Century China: Bridge between East and West (1970);
Levathes, When China Ruled the Seas: The Treasure Fleet of the Dragon Throne, 1405-1433 (1994);
W Schurz, The Manila Galleon (1985: originally 1938);
A So, The South China Silk District: Local Transformation and World-System Theory (1986);
M Tampoe, Maritime Trade between China and the West (1989).

Assessment: A two-hour written examination.

---

EH491
Half Unit
Dissertation in the Political Economy of Late Development

This information is for the 2012/13 session.

Teachers responsible: Professor Colin Lewis, E.306

Availability: Compulsory half-unit course for MSc Political Economy of Late Development

Course content: The dissertation must present the results of an enquiry into a carefully defined problem in the field, whether by a critical survey of existing literature, or by the use of primary evidence. It must demonstrate adequate knowledge of relevant theoretical and empirical literature in Economic History and Development Studies, and an ability to handle problems of evidence and explanation.

Assessment: The dissertation should not exceed 10,000 words, excluding tables, references, and bibliography. The title must be approved in advance by the student's supervisor. The dissertation will not be returned to the student, who should therefore make a copy before submission.

---

EH487
Half Unit
International Economic Institutions since World War I

This information is for the 2012/13 session.

Teacher responsible: Professor Nicholas Crafts, CMK. C522

Availability: Optional course for students taking MSc Global History, MSc Economic History, MSc Economic History (Research), MSc Accounting, Organisations and Institutions, MSc Political Economy of Late Development and MA Global Studies: A European Perspective. Students taking other masters degrees may be admitted, space and timetable permitting, and with the approval of their department and the course teacher.

Course content: The course analyses the evolution since World War II of the roles of international institutions designed to manage world trade and the international monetary system paying particular attention to the IMF, the World Bank, the GATT and WTO. The analysis of the post-war world is set against the background of the trade wars and breakdown of the Gold Standard in the inter-war period prior to the establishment of these institutions. The approach is chronological with attention being given both to efficiency and equity aspects of the institutional arrangements. Inter-war developments are examined in terms of the absence of co-operation and a hegemonic power with an emphasis on the costs of the Great Depression and the results in terms of the reversal of earlier globalization trends. The Bretton Woods era of a new financial and trading architecture is discussed in terms of an evaluation of the success of the new institutions against the background of their initial job descriptions and of the much better world economic performance in the period. The changing rationales for the IMF and the World Bank and challenges to the GATT in the difficult economic environment of the 1970s and 1980s are examined. The debates of the time and implications for the continuation of the post-war return to globalization are both considered. Finally, the questions of the likelihood and Content of further liberalization of trade and capital flows under WTO and IMF auspices are discussed in the context of an Assessment of what is genuinely new about late 20th compared with late 19th century globalization.

Teaching: Taught during the LT. 2-hour meetings weekly, with a flexible combination of lectures and seminars in which student papers will be presented and discussed.

Formative coursework: Students will be expected to produce two written papers during the course.

Assessment: A two-hour written examination.
EH496-7
Dissertation- MSc Economic History (Research)
This information is for the 2012/13 session.
Teacher responsible: Dr. Debin Ma, CMK.C314 and Professor Tirthankar Roy, CMK.C315
Availability: Compulsory for, and exclusive to, MSc Economic History (Research).
Course content: The dissertation must draw upon the research training provided through the core courses for the MSc (Research) and the generic courses taken by the student, and present the results of an original inquiry into a carefully defined problem. Students are expected to show an ability to draw on relevant social scientific concepts, an understanding of the advanced literature in one or more areas of economic history, and of the nature of historical explanation and analysis. Where appropriate, students are also expected to show the ability to use relevant quantitative techniques for data collection and analysis. The dissertation is intended as preparation for a research degree. Students expecting to continue on the MA/PhD programme within the Department may write their MSc dissertation on a different topic from that on which they plan to research at MA/PhD level.
Assessment: The final dissertation is equivalent to two full modules, and will be awarded two separate percentage marks. The first of these marks will be based on the formulation of the dissertation topic, its historical and historiographical context (including critical literature survey), and the student’s research design and discussion of methods and primary resource materials. The second mark will relate to the execution of the project, the quality of analysis of evidence, its creativity and originality, and the overall contribution or achievement of the project. The dissertation should not exceed 15,000 words, excluding tables, references and bibliography. Marks will be deducted for late submission in accordance with the guidelines laid down in the MSc student handbook. Students are expected to show an ability to draw on relevant social scientific concepts, an understanding of the advanced literature in one or more areas of economic history, and of the nature of historical explanation and analysis. Where appropriate, students are also expected to show the ability to use relevant quantitative techniques for data collection and analysis. The dissertation is intended as preparation for a research degree. Students expecting to continue on the MA/PhD programme within the Department may write their MSc dissertation on a different topic from that on which they plan to research at MA/PhD level.
Assessment: The final dissertation is equivalent to two full modules, and will be awarded two separate percentage marks. The first of these marks will be based on the formulation of the dissertation topic, its historical and historiographical context (including critical literature survey), and the student’s research design and discussion of methods and primary resource materials. The second mark will relate to the execution of the project, the quality of analysis of evidence, its creativity and originality, and the overall contribution or achievement of the project. The dissertation should not exceed 15,000 words, excluding tables, references and bibliography. Marks will be deducted for late submission in accordance with the guidelines laid down in the MSc student handbook.

EH498  Half Unit
Dissertation: MSc Economic History (Half Unit)
This information is for the 2012/13 session.
Teacher responsible: Dr. Debin Ma, CMK.C314 and Professor Tirthankar Roy, CMK.C315
Availability: MSc Economic History.
Course content: The subject of the dissertation should relate broadly to one of the economic history taught courses taken by the student. It should be a critical survey of a well-defined problem in the literature. It must demonstrate adequate knowledge of appropriate literature in Economic History and an ability to handle problems of evidence and explanation.
Selection of title: The title must be approved by the student’s supervisor. A provisional title should be agreed by mid-semester.
Formative coursework: Students must submit a one page summary and draft work for comment by Week 9 of the Summer Term. Supervisors will not normally provide comments on drafts submitted after that date.
Assessment: The dissertation should be no longer than 6,000 words, excluding tables, references and bibliography. Marks will be deducted for late submission or excessive length.

EH499
Dissertation : MSc Economic History
This information is for the 2012/13 session.
Teachers responsible: Professor Janet Hunter, CMK. C420
Availability: MSc Economic History.
Course content: The dissertation should be an empirical study using primary source material to write on a topic of economic history. The topic should relate broadly to one of the economic history courses taken.
Assessment: The dissertation should not exceed 10,000 words, excluding tables, references, and bibliography. The title must be approved in advance by the student’s supervisor. Marks will be deducted for late submission. The dissertation will not be returned to the student, who should therefore make a copy before submission.

EU409
Basic Economic Concepts for European Political Economy
This information is for the 2012/13 session.
Teacher responsible: Dr Vassilis Monastiriotis, COW J205
Availability: Compulsory for MSc Political Economy of Europe students with little economic background. Students from other departments are welcome if space permits.
Course content: A five-week intensive course, which assumes no previous knowledge of economics. The aim of the course is to provide students with a background in economic theory sufficient for MSc courses within the European Institute. Students with some knowledge of basic theory are welcome to sit in, but lectures priority is given to ensuring that non-economists reach the required standard.
1. Introduction: economic rationality; scarcity and opportunity cost; markets.
2. Microeconomics: choices of households and firms; perfect and imperfect competition; the role of government.
3. Macroeconomics: full employment and unemployment macroeconomics; national accounts; monetary and fiscal policy; open economy.
Teaching: 5 x 4 hour lectures (weeks 1,2,3,4,5 of MT).
Assessment: There is no examination for this course. A Moodle course provides tailored case studies and material for self-assessment.

EU410
Interdisciplinary Research Methods and Design
This information is for the 2012/13 session.
Teachers responsible: Dr S Glendinning, COW. 1.07, Dr R Hancké, COW 2.09, Dr M Simoni, COW. 1.03 and Dr M Kleine.
Availability: Compulsory for all European Institute masters students: MSc Political Economy of Europe, MSc European Studies: Ideas & Identities, MSc European Studies (Research) and LSE-Sciences Po Double Degree in European Studies.
Course content: This lecture series offers an introduction to research methods and design for all students taking masters degrees in the European Institute. Themes discussed include: methods in the social sciences; methods in the humanities; common problems of research design; advice on writing coursework essays and dissertations; advice on critical reading and interpretation of texts; the logic of case-studies and comparative research.
Teaching: 1 x 2hour session MT (week 2), 4 x 1hour sessions MT (weeks 4, 6, 8, 10) and 5 x 1hour sessions LT (weeks 2, 4, 6, 8, 10).
Assessment: There is no examination for this course.
EU420 Half Unit European Union Law and Government

This information is for the 2012/13 session.

Teacher responsible: Dr Jan Komarek, COW. 1.04

Availability: Optional for MSc Political Economy of Europe, MSc European Studies: Ideas and Identities, MSc Politics and Government in the European Union, LLM, MPA Public and Economic Policy/MPA Public Policy and Management/MPA International Development/MPA Public and Social Policy, MSc Social Policy (European and Comparative Social Policy) and LSE-Sciences Po Double Degree in European Studies.

Pre-requisites: A solid knowledge of the role and functions of EU institutions is required.

Course content: This course offers a theoretically informed study of the central institutions and legal processes of EU government. Central theories of decision-making and legal theories within EU studies are considered. Using material from the current practice of various EU institutions, these theories are immediately applied to analyse the central relationships within the EU government, administration and the EU legal system, so that students come away with an informed view of not just the balance of power, but also of the role of interests and ideas in the political institutions in Brussels (Strasbourg) and the European judicial system.

Teaching: 10 x 1 hour lectures and 10 x 1.5 hour seminars (MT); 1 x 1 hour lecture and 1 1.5 hour seminar (ST).

Formative coursework: Two unassessed essays (2,000 words each).

Assessment: One two-hour written examination in the ST (75%) and a 2,000 word essay (25%).

---

EU421 Half Unit Policy-Making in the European Union

This information is for the 2012/13 session.

Teacher responsible: Dr E Thielemann, CON. 3.14

Availability: Optional for MSc Political Economy of Europe, MSc European Studies: Ideas and Identities, MSc Politics and Government in the European Union, MSc Public Management and Governance, MSc Environmental Policy and Regulation, MPA Public and Economic Policy/MPA Public Policy and Management/MPA International Development/MPA Public and Social Policy, MSc Media and Communications (Media and Communication Governance), MSc Public Policy and Administration, MSc Public Policy and Administration (Research), MSc Social Policy (European and Comparative Social Policy), LSE-Sciences Po Double Degree in European Studies, LSE-PKU Double Degree in Public Administration and Government. Available to students on other MSc programmes subject to agreement by the teacher responsible.

Pre-requisites: A solid knowledge of the role and functions of EU institutions is required.

Course content: This course offers the theoretically informed study of the EU policy-making across a selection of key issue areas. The principal aim of the course is to provide a detailed knowledge of how national and EU institutions interact in European policy making. To achieve this the course is divided into two parts. The first introduces principal theories of policy making along three core policy dimensions: agenda setting, decision making and policy implementation. In the second part the conceptual insights gained will be used to analyse a number of substantive policy areas. These will typically include: the single market, social and environmental policies, cohesion policies, Common Agricultural Policy, Economic and Monetary Union, Justice and Home Affairs and EU foreign policy.

Teaching: 10 x 1 hour lectures and 10 x 1.5 hour seminars (LT); 1 x 1 hour lecture and 1 x 1.5 hour seminar (ST).

Indicative reading: S S Andersen & K A Eliassen (Eds), Making policy in Europe; L Cram, Policy-making in the European Union; A Héritier, Policy-making and diversity in Europe; S Leibfried & P Pierson (Eds), European Social Policy; J J Richardson, European Union: Power and Policy-making; A M Sbragia (Ed), Euro-politics; B Steunenberg & F van Vught (Eds), Political institutions and public policy.

Assessment: One two-hour written examination in ST (100%).

---

EU423 Half Unit Not available in 2012/13 Greece and the European Union

This information is for the 2012/13 session.

Teachers responsible: Professor K Featherstone, COW. J202 and Dr V Monastriotis, COW. J205

Availability: Primarily for students taking MSc Political Economy of Europe, MSc European Studies: Ideas and Identities, MSc Politics and Government in the European Union, MPA Public and Economic Policy/MPA Public Policy and Management/MPA International Development/MPA European Public and Economic Policy/MPA Public and Social Policy and LSE-Sciences Po Double Degree in European Studies, but open to students from other MSc degrees.

Course content: The purpose of this course is to provide students with an analytical understanding of the relations that exist between Greece and the rest of the European Union, drawing on historical perspectives as well as on concepts from political science, international relations, and political economy. Topics include: the idea of Greece in Europe and of Europe in Greece from the 19th century to the present; external intervention in domestic Greek politics; the process of Greece's accession to the European Union; ‘Europeanisation’ and domestic adaptation to membership in politics, the economy and society; the performance of Greece in the EU; current and future domestic challenges.

Teaching: One weekly two-hour seminar.

Assessment: One two-hour written examination in June.

---

EU424 Half Unit The Idea of Europe

This information is for the 2012/13 session.

Teachers responsible: Dr S Glendinning, COW. 1.07

Availability: Core course for MSc European Studies: Ideas and Identities and students following the MSc European Studies: Ideas and Identities on the LSE-Sciences Po Double Degree in European Studies. Optional for MSc European Political Economy, MSc European Studies (Research) and MSc Politics and Government in the European Union.

Course content: Europe has never been indifferent to its own meaning and significance. In this course we explore some key ideas in the developing movement of a distinctively European self-understanding and identity. The course will introduce and critically explore the classic idea of Europe as not just a specific geographical region or regional economic power but as the ‘spiritual leader’ of a global mission, a ‘vanguard’ for human civilisation. Although our studies will focus on themes and texts which have informed a “Eurocentric” perspective we will keep in view that Europe today has reached a point at which it is no longer so comfortable with the idea of the global authority of the ‘European spirit’. Among other topics we examine the origins of Europe in Ancient Greece and Christendom; the idea of the territorial and historical ends of Europe; the distinction between ‘civilisation’ and ‘barbarism’; the emergence of European rationalism; and the development of the idea of universal human rights.

Teaching: 10 x 1hour lectures and 10 x 1.5hour seminars (MT); 1 x 1hour lecture and 1 x 1.5hour seminar (ST).

Formative coursework: Two 2,500 word unassessed essays.

Indicative reading:

Assessment: One two-hour written examination in the ST (100%).

---

EU425 Half Unit

Interest Representation and Economic Policy-Making in Europe

This information is for the 2012/13 session.

Teacher responsible: Dr Marco Simoni, COW. 1.03

Availability: MSc Political Economy of Europe, MSc Politics and Government in the European Union (both streams), MSc European Studies: Ideas and Identities, MSc Political Sociology, MSc International Employment Relations and Human Resource Management, MPA Programme (all streams) and LSE-Sciences Po Double Degree in European Studies. The course is available as an outside option.

This is a capped course (30 students). Students are required to obtain permission from the teaching department to take this course.

Course content: The focus of this course is on the representation of interests in Europe, and their role in Economic policy-making. Students will analyse the main theoretical issues and selected empirical questions on how interests are differently organised across countries and at the EU level, on the interplay between interest representation and electoral politics, and on the policy outcome after interest intermediation. The objective is to understand the dynamics of economic policy-making in comparative perspective, with an emphasis on the globalisation period.

Teaching: 10 x one-hour lectures and 10 x one and a half hour seminars in MT. 1 hour revision lecture in ST.

Formative coursework: One presentation per student and one 1500 word essay.

Indicative reading:

Assessment: One case study (2,500 words) to be submitted at the end of MT (25%); One two-hour written examination in ST (75%).

---

EU426 Half Unit Not available in 2012/13

The West: Identity and Interests

This information is for the 2012/13 session.

Teacher responsible: Maurice Fraser, COW. J110.

Availability: Optional on MSc Politics and Government in the European Union, MSc Political Economy of Europe, MSc European Studies: Ideas and Identities, LSE-Sciences Po Double Degree in European Studies, MSc International Relations, MSc International Relations (Research), MSc History of International Relations, MSc Theory and History of International Relations and MSc Empires, Colonialism and Globalisation. Also available to students taking MSc International Relations as part of the LSE-Sciences Po Double Degree in Affaires Internationales.

This is a capped course (30 students). Students are required to obtain permission from the teaching department to take this course.

Course content: This course is in two halves: the first will explore the idea of The West, culturally and philosophically, the second will explore the architecture, policies and governance of the contemporary transatlantic relationship.

The course will begin by examining The West’s central role as a descriptive and normative concept across intellectual disciplines. It will locate its many definitions in their respective cultural and geographical contexts and will examine the claims for an unique and irreducible content which can account for The West’s enduring significance in changing geopolitical contexts, notably since the end of the Cold War.

The course will consider The West as a foundational idea in the humanities - specifically the emergence of a self-consciousness through the liberal arts and the Western Canon of literature and philosophy; the concept of ‘high culture’; the idea of a university; and the importance of criticism, innovation and self-consciousness. The West’s position within the grand civilizational narratives will be analysed, including those of decline (Spengler, Toynbee, Freud), triumph or resolution (Bel, Fukuyama), conflict (Huntington), and universal mission (liberal interventionism, neo-conservatism, soft power).

The course will describe and critically evaluate the claims of anti-western ideologies such as pan-Islamism, pan-Asianism, ‘Negritude’, Russian eurasianism and Eastern Orthodoxy, along with the political expression which these have taken, including in the Non-Aligned Movement. It will also examine the continuing coherence of The West as a normative community in light of contemporary claims of radical incompatibility of European and American value systems. The second half of the course will assess the coherence of The West as a geopolitical actor in the post-War period, in the context of centripetal forces such as the opposition to communism, the establishment of collective security through the Atlantic Alliance and growing economic interdependence; and centrifugal forces such as strategic or tactical divergences (Suez, Vietnam, Balkans, Iraq), economic tensions (industrial and agricultural subsidies, GMOS, hormones, climate change), and attitudes to international norms and multilateral institutions.

Finally, the course will review the institutional architecture of the transatlantic relationship in light of the contemporary debates about collective security (future of NATO, burden-sharing, co-ordination in the UN); the US-EU institutional framework; commercial dialogue (TADB, EABC); and economic co-ordination (G20, G8, reform of EU427 Not available in 2012/13 European Public and Economic Policy

This information is for the 2012/13 session.

Teachers responsible: Dr. M Simoni, COW. J103.

Availability: MPA European Public and Economic Policy. This is a capped course (15 students). Students are required to obtain permission from the teaching department to take this course.

Course content: This course offers the theoretically informed study of European Public and Economic Policy-Making. It covers concepts and theories on political and economic integration in Europe, as well as key empirical issues. It draws from two broad domains: European politics and governance, and European political economy, which are combined in a full unit course in order to achieve a comprehensive understanding of economic policy and public policy in Europe. As such, it will include classes on the politics and governance of the EU institutions, and the developments in the interaction between national governments and the EU level. This will include insights into the creation and functioning of the EU institutions, their competences, and key policy domains, such as the single market, EMU, justice and home affairs, and others. The politics component of this course is complemented by a thorough examination of key developments of European economic integration, and their interaction with national models of capitalism and welfare state. The course is organised in weekly lectures and seminars. Students will be challenged to combine different theories and approaches in order to tackle issues of particular relevance for the academic and policy debate in contemporary Europe, broadly understood. This will be carried out in class discussions, weekly exercises, essay questions and teamwork on case studies.

Teaching: 20 x 2 hour lecture/seminar sessions (MT and LT); 1 x 2 hour lecture/seminar sessions (ST).

Formative coursework: Three 1,500 word essays (two in MT, one at the end of LT) and one group essay in LT.

Assessment: One three-hour written examination in the ST (100%).

EU429 Half Unit Not available in 2012/13 Economic and Social Policy in Mediterranean Europe

This information is for the 2012/13 session.

Teacher responsible: Dr J Costa-i-Font, COW. J316

Availability: For MSc Political Economy of Europe, MSc European Studies: Ideas and Identities, MSc Politics and Government in the European Union and LSE-Sciences Po Double Degree in European Studies, MSc Political Science and Political Economy, MPA Programme (all streams). Also available as an outside option to students on other Masters programmes.

This is a capped course (15 students). Students are required to obtain permission from the teaching department to take this course.

Course content: This course provides an analysis of institutional, welfare and economic policy reforms and issues in Mediterranean Europe including Italy, Portugal, Spain, and Greece alongside other Mediterranean countries. Drawing on evidence from Mediterranean Europe we explore key questions on the political and economic liberalisation, economic and fiscal stability, fiscal and political federalism, formal informal institutions, cultural and economic performance, economic development structural unemployment and labour market reform, Europeanization and the Euro-Mediterranean partnership, Union for the Mediterranean, trade and economic integration in the Mediterranean, Mediterranean business cycle, Southern model of electoral mobilization, the South European social model, welfare reform in the Mediterranean, multicultural society and migration.

Teaching: 10 x 1 hour lectures and 10 x 1 hour seminars (MT); 2 x revision sessions (ST).

Assessment: One two-hour written examination in the Summer Term.

EU430 Half Unit Europeanization: The Comparative Politics of Domestic Change

This information is for the 2012/13 session.

Teacher responsible: Dr Kyrriakos Moumo

Availability: MSc Political Economy of Europe, MSc European Studies: Ideas and Identities, MSc Politics and Government in the European Union, MPA Public and Economic Policy/MPA Public Policy and Management/MPA International Development/MPA European Public and Economic Policy/MPA Public and Social Policy and LSE-Sciences Po Double Degree in European Studies and other relevant programmes by agreement.

Course content: The course provides students with an understanding of the processes of domestic change in the context of European integration. The patterns of domestic adjustment are examined at the level of institutional settings, political behaviour and policy content. By focusing on responses to the EU in both new and old member states, applicant states and neighbouring states, the perspective complements existing courses on regional integration and the European Union.

The main course themes include: conceptualising Europeanization; Europeanization beyond the EU; Europeanization, Euroscepticism, electoral behaviour and party system dynamics; Europeanization and central executives; Europeanization and national parliaments; national compliance with EU law; Europeanization and identity.

Teaching: 10 x 2 hour seminars (MT); 1 x revision session (ST)

EU431   Half Unit
European Integration from a Global Perspective
This information is for the 2012/13 session.
Teacher responsible: Dr Mareike Kleine
Availability: MSc Politics and Government in the European Union, MSc Global Politics, MSc International Relations and MSc International Relations (Research). Available as an outside option where regulations permit and with permission of the teacher responsible. Also available to students taking MSc International Relations as part of the LSE-Sciences Po Double Degree in Affaires Internationales. This is a capped course (30 students). Students are required to obtain permission from the teaching department to take this course.
Pre-requisites: Advanced knowledge of European institutions and of theories of international cooperation and Comparative Politics.
Course content: Distances on a world scale are shrinking through the emergence and thickening of networks of connection - a process commonly referred to as globalization. The process is far from complete with some regions like Europe being highly integrated and other regions lagging behind. Partial but increasing globalization produces discord and requires effective governance beyond the nation-state, that is, processes and institutions, both formal and informal, that guide and constrain the collective activities of groups. How does governance work? How can we design effective institutions? How do we ensure that these institutions remain legitimate? Is the European Union at the vanguard of globalization and a model that other regions or the world, as a whole, will come to adopt? Can Europe, in turn, learn from alternative forms of governance on the regional or global scale? The course engages recent positive and normative scholarship in European Studies, International Relations, Comparative Politics, and Political Theory on governance in and beyond Europe. Putting European integration in this global and comparative perspective promises to illuminate current public and scholarly debates about the depth, the geographic scale, the legitimacy and the future of European integration. We study these questions by posing four issues: the nature of globalization; institutions and processes; actors and scope; and democracy and distribution. For each of them, European integration will serve as the principal case study to be discussed in light of developments in the rest of the world.
Teaching: 10 x 2-hour seminars (LT); 2 x 2-hour seminars (ST).
Formative coursework: 1) A research proposal (due in week 5) of not more than 1000 words for the long essay. The proposal is worked out in close cooperation with the seminar teacher. 2) Eight short memos (for each substantive class) based on the assigned reading. This memo should not be more than one page of bullet points.
Assessment: 4,000 word research paper to be submitted by the end of the Lent Term (100%).

EU432  Half Unit
The Philosophy of Europe
This information is for the 2012/13 session.
Teacher responsible: Dr Simon Glendinning, COW. J107.
Availability: MSc European Studies: Ideas and Identities, MSc Politics and Government in the European Union, MSc Political Economy of Europe and LSE-Sciences Po Double Degree in European Studies. Available as an outside option where regulations permit and with permission of the teacher responsible.
Course content: In this course we will read and discuss texts that draw the history of Europe into relation with philosophy. In its most classical form the assertion of this relation belongs to an understanding of Europe's history as inseparable from the project of a life predicated on reason. Europe, insofar as its cultural identity is caught up with the Greek ideal of scientific rationality, is not simply the place where philosophy was first elaborated and developed. On the contrary, Europe first arises as a place only in and through the elaboration and development of philosophy. Of course, philosophy is, historically speaking, a European phenomenon - although one which concerns above all the question, in principle open to anyone, of what it is to be a human being as such. Equally, however, Europe itself is a philosophical phenomenon - its identity inseparable from the idea of a project that concerns rational animality as such, and hence humanity as a whole.
The idea that Europe has a world-wide significance in virtue of its relation to philosophical thought is strikingly expressed in Kant's prediction of 'a great political body of the future' that will probably 'legislate' - that is, at least serve as a guiding example - for all humanity. Indeed, the global 'cosmopolitan existence' posited by Kant as the final end of world history is not just a philosopher's idea of humanity's collective political destiny: the very idea of a global human community is essentially philosophical. On this view, the (particular) history of the peoples of 'our continent' has a relation to the (universal) destiny - the liberation or emancipation - of the humanness of rational animality world-wide. This is not because of the hegemonic political and economic ambitions of imperialist Europeans, but the world-wide movement of a cosmopolitan and humanist culture.
Starting with Kant's classic essay on 'Ideas for a Universal History with a Cosmopolitan Purpose' we will turn to the way in which Europe is understood and elaborated within modern European philosophy, and especially within what has become known as the phenomenological tradition.
Phenomenology is a kind of post-Kantian philosophy that is especially critical of the idea, still dominant in Europe, that an intellectually satisfactory conception of ourselves should be given exclusively in terms that belong to a natural-scientific depiction of nature. Writings in phenomenology aim to retrieve a sense of a 'distinctively spiritual' dimension of human existence which is, it is supposed, eclipsed by the natural sciences that arose in Renaissance Europe. The course thus engages with Europe as a culture in transformation, and for some in crisis.
Teaching: 10 x 2-hour seminars (MT); 1 x 2-hour seminar (ST). Each seminar will be based around the discussion of a short essay or text which everyone in the class will be expected to have read. The texts will typically be available either online or as a photocopy.
Formative coursework: One essay of 2,000 words and one seminar presentation.
Indicative reading: Immanuel Kant, "Ideas of Universal History with a Cosmopolitan Purpose", in Political Writings Edmund Husserl, "The Vienna Lecture", in The Crisis of European Sciences and Transcendental Phenomenology
Paul Valéry, "Notes on the Greatness and Decline of Europe", in History and Politics,
Martin Heidegger, "Letter on Humanism", in Basic Writings
Jan Pato ka, "Europe and the European Heritage until the end of the Nineteenth Century", in Heretical Essays in the Philosophy of History
Emmanuel Levinas, Interview in Is It Righteous to Be?
Jacques Derrida, Of the Humanities and the Philosophical Discipline.
EU434  Half Unit
The Political Economy of Southeast Europe
This information is for the 2012/13 session.
Teacher responsible: Dr V Monastiriotis, COW. 2.05
Availability: Optional course for MSc Political Economy of Europe, MSc Politics and Government in the European Union, MSc European Studies: Ideas and Identities, MPA Programme (all streams), MSc Local Economic Development, LSE-Sciences Po Double Degree in Urban Policy and LSE-Sciences Po Double Degree in European Studies programmes. Other masters students may take this course with the permission of the teacher responsible.
Pre-requisites: A basic understanding of economics is desirable but not necessary.
Course content: The course examines the processes of transition, regional cooperation and European association in the SEE region and draws on theories of regionalism, economic integration and transition to assess the extent and prospects of economic integration and development in Southeast Europe. It explores the production structures and capabilities the region; the country disparities in macro-economic performance; developments in trade, migration and investment flows in the region; the design and compatibility of national economic policies and institutions; the coordination of policies at the European and regional levels, and the structural problems of economic transition, integration and convergence. Attention is paid to Greece as the historical EU partner in SE Europe and, more recently, as a source of instability in the region. The course relates the above issues to the question of policy harmonisation and Europeanisation of the region, in relation to the current and future waves of enlargement of the EU.
Teaching: 10 lectures (weekly, MT), 10 seminars (weekly, MT); one revision seminar (ST).
Formative coursework: One 1,500 word essay and a group presentation.
Assessment: One two-hour written examination in June.

EU435  Half Unit
History and Theory of European Integration
This information is for the 2012/13 session.
Teacher responsible: Dr Mareike Kleine
Availability: MSc Politics and Government in the European Union, MSc European Studies (Research), MSc International Relations, MSc International Relations (Research), MSc Management and MSc International Relations Theory. Available to others by approval of the teacher responsible. Also available to students taking MSc International Relations or MSc International Political Economy as part of the LSE-Sciences Po Double Degree in Affaires Internationales and LSE-Sciences Po Double Degree in European Studies programmes.
Course content: This course is an introduction to the causes and nature of European integration. The topic is presented from a historical, social scientific and normative perspective: We critically examine various theories of, and current debates about European integration by studying the process of integration, its effect on EU member states and third actors, and its constitutional character. The course is designed accordingly: The first part of the course analyzes different stages in the integration process, asking why and how member states surrendered more and more power to European institutions. The second part discusses a number of big questions that this transfer of power raises. For example, what are the consequences of the single market and currency on the national economy and welfare state? What are the consequences of the EU’s political and judicial system for national politics? What is the source and nature of the EU’s power in world politics? We conclude by reflecting on the debate about its democratic deficit and the future of European integration. At the end of this course you will have gained an overview of the history of European integration, integration theories and their intellectual history, the political system of the European Union, and current public and scholarly debates about European Union politics.
Teaching: 10 x 1 hour lectures and 10 x 1.5 hour seminars (MT); 1 x 1 hour revision lecture (ST).
Formative coursework: Two 2,000-word essays are set and marked by the seminar teacher.
Assessment: One unseen two-hour written examination in ST (100%).

EU436  Law and Governance of the Single European Market
This information is for the 2012/13 session.
Teacher responsible: Professor D Chalmers, NAB 5.07
Availability: Optional for MSc Politics and Government in the European Union, MSc Political Economy of Europe, MSc Regulation, MSc Regulation (Research), MPA Public and Economic Policy/MPA Public Policy and Management/MPA International Development/MPA European Public and Economic Policy/MPA Public and Social Policy, LLM and LSE-Sciences Po Double Degree in European Studies.
Pre-requisites: Some knowledge of either EU law or EU politics.
Course content: I. The Competencies and Institutions of the Single European Market ‘Old Approach to Harmonisation’; mutual recognition; standardisation; the ‘New Regulatory Agencies’; the Single European Market and Economic Constitutionalism II. The Organisation of European Markets for Products. This section will analyse the governance of a number of product markets. Typically, it will look at EU regulation of food markets, chemicals, the auto industry, the energy market, and pharmaceuticals.
III. The Organisation of European Markets in Finance. This will look at the central dynamics of final integration, notably the FSAP and the Lamfalussy process which preceded the crisis and the central regulatory reforms introduced subsequent to the crisis IV. The Organisation of European Markets in Services. This will consider the governance of markets such as broadcasting, the professions, sport, e-commerce and insurance.
IV. European Regulation of Labour Movements. Regulation of transnational movement of different forms of labour. This will include professionals, posted workers, and repression of “illegal” labour movements.
Teaching: One 2 hour lecture/seminar per week (MT and LT); One revision session (ST).
Formative coursework: Two essays per term (2,000 words each).
Indicative reading: Joerges & Dehousse (eds) Good Governance

Assessment: One three-hour written examination (75%) and one 2,000 word essay (25%).

EU437 Half Unit

Europe Beyond Modernity

This information is for the 2012/13 session.

Teacher responsible: Dr S Glendinning, COW. J107

Availability: MSc European Studies: Ideas and Identities; MSc Political Economy of Europe; MSc Politics and Government in the European Union and MSc International Relations. Also available to students taking MSc International Relations or MSc International Political Economy as part of the LSE-Sciences Po Double Degree in Affaires Internationales and LSE-Sciences Po Double Degree in European Studies programmes.

Course content: This course engages with the deepest roots and fundamental trajectory of the contemporary European life-world as identified by three major thinkers of the nineteenth and twentieth centuries: Nietzsche, Heidegger and Derrida. Taking up and problematising the Levinasian claim that ‘Europe is the Bible and the Greeks’, the course explores the idea that Europe is a cultural and political movement in construction, a movement which might be summarised by Nietzsche’s madman’s pronouncement that God is dead. As Derrida, a leading theorist of this conception puts it, ‘one should, more prudently, say ‘Greek, Christian and beyond’ to conceive the formation of the European heritage. This suggestion not only makes it possible to acknowledge many other important cultural sources in this heritage (Judaic and Islamic at the very least) but also, and above all, directs us towards what, in Nietzsche’s wake, can be identified as “the passage beyond” - the movement in which the European tradition ‘tends of itself to break with itself’. There is no suggestion that the heritage and future of Europe are disconnected in this ‘passage beyond’, and none of the authors explored in this course seek to reject the European heritage or want simply to destroy it. On the contrary, and always in its name, the attempt is made in their writings to effect a renewal of the European life-world which could propel it in a new direction out of (i.e. both ‘from’ and ‘beyond’) its own fundamental sources. The key political themes in this renewal will be explored in relation to Carl Schmitt’s conception of the political and the Greco-Christian conception of the cosmopolitical - two themes that are themselves deeply rooted in the heritage that is the basic focus of the course.

Teaching: 10 x 1 hour lectures and 10 x 1.5 hour seminars (LT); 1 x 1.5 hour revision session (ST)

Formative coursework: Two 1,500 word essays; seminar presentation.

Indicative reading: Friedrich Nietzsche, Beyond Good and Evil; Martin Heidegger, The Question Concerning Technology; Jacques Derrida, Politics of Friendship. Robert Pippin, Modernism as a Philosophical Problem; Jean-François Lyotard, The Postmodern Condition; Richard Rorty, Contingency, Irony and Solidarity; Carl Schmitt, The Concept of the Political; Francis Fukuyama, The End of History and the Last Man

Assessment: One two-hour written examination in the ST (100%).

EU439 Half Unit

Political and Fiscal Integration and Disintegration in EU Member States

This information is for the 2012/13 session.

Teacher responsible: Dr J Costa-i-Font, COW. J316

Availability: This is an optional course on MSc Political Economy of Europe, MSc Politics and Government in the European Union, MSc European Studies: Ideas and Identities, MSc Social Policy (European and Comparative Social Policy), MSc Political Science and Political Economy, MSc Local Economic Development, MPA Programme (all streams), and LSE-Sciences Po Double Degree in European Studies. Also available to students following MSc Local Economic Development on LSE-Sciences Po Double Degree in Urban Policy. This is a capped course (15 students). Students are required to obtain permission from the teaching department to take this course.

Course content: With the expansion of processes of economic integration in the European Union the traditional economic role of the state requires redefinition. Monolithic states progressively become more flexible structures to respond to constituents.
demands. This is especially the case of those policy areas that are highly relevant for European citizens such as language, culture and welfare. This course attempts to use the theory of public choice, fiscal federalism and social economics to describe these phenomena and its detailed effects on the institutional structure of European Union member states and the European Union as a whole. Given the European Union institutional structure is moving towards some form of federalism, the course discusses how theories of political and fiscal federalism can help to understand these phenomena. Furthermore, the constitutional design of the European Union brings up a large set of theoretical questions on the institutional design to be addressed from the perspective of constitutional political economy. The course covers the political economy of both fiscal and political decentralisation process with a European perspective. Particularly, it examines political and fiscal incentives that reflect on inter-jurisdictional competition between different levels of government. Finally, it addresses the effects of economic, social and political heterogeneity in the organisation of European Union member states and well as in the European Union itself. Topics include: Introduction to State and Institutional Design. Political and Fiscal Integration. Formal and Informal Institutions. Constitutional Political Economy of Europe. Economics of Nationalism. Elite Decision Making. Fiscal Federalism and Europe. Leviathan Paradox and Government Size. Competition, Coordination and Cooperation in a Federation. Vertical and Horizontal Competition National Identity and Public Goods. Economic Incentives for State Formation. Incentives in State Design: Conflict and Cooperation. Experiences of Political and Fiscal Decentralisation in Europe. Language, Culture and Welfare Policies in the European Union member states.

Teaching:
- 10x 1 hour lectures and 10x 1.5 hour seminars (LT); 2 x revision sessions (ST).

Formative coursework: Two essays of up to 1,500 words each.

Indicative reading:

Assessment: One two-hour written examination in ST (100%).

---

EU443 Half Unit European Models of Capitalism

This information is for the 2012/13 session.

Teachers responsible: Dr R Hancké, COW 2.09

Availability: For MSc Political Economy of Europe, MSc European Studies: Ideas and Identities, MSc Management, MSc Public Policy and Administration, MSc Public Policy and Administration (Research), MPA Programme (all streams), MSc China in Comparative Perspective, MSc International Employment Relations and Human Resource Management, LSE-PKU Double Degree in Public Administration and Government and LSE-Sciences Po Double Degree in European Studies. Students on MSc Global Politics who wish to take this course must seek approval from the teachers responsible.

Students are required to obtain permission from the teaching department to take this course.

Course content: The course consists of two parts. In the first part we will discuss the basic arguments and methodological considerations of the Varieties of Capitalism literature and conduct a comparative analysis of the core issue areas in the political economy of contemporary capitalism: how capital, labour and product markets are structured. The second part will build on these thematic treatments to discuss the structure of and dynamics of the main Western, Southern and Central European models of capitalism. In week 2 of the summer term, there will be a review lecture and seminars.

Teaching: 2 x 1 hour lecture (week 1, MT); 10 x 2 hour seminars (weeks 1-10 MT).

Indicative reading:

Assessment: One two-hour written examination in ST (100%).

---

EU440 Half Unit Greece and South-East Europe: Government, Economy and Foreign Policy

This information is for the 2012/13 session.

Teacher responsible: Dr S Economides, COW. J207

Availability: Optional course for MSc Political Economy of Europe, MSc European Studies: Ideas and Identities, MSc Politics and Government in the European Union, LSE-Sciences Po Double Degree in European Studies and MPA programme (all streams).

Course content: An examination of Greece and South East Europe from a politics and international relations perspective, with particular emphasis on post-1989 developments. Topics include: Historical Legacies, Disintegration of Yugoslavia; the Western Balkans after Yugoslavia; the EU and the Eastern Balkans; Greece and European Foreign Policy; Greece’s Policy in the Balkans; Turkey and the EU; Cyprus and the EU; EU Enlargement and South-eastern Europe; Regional Co-operation.

Teaching: 10 x 1 hour lectures and 10 x 1.5 hour seminars (LT); 1 x 1.5 hour revision seminar (ST).

Indicative reading:

Assessment: One two-hour written examination in ST (100%).

---

EU446 Half Unit Patterns of Economic Integration in Europe: Institutions and Politics of EMU

This information is for the 2012/13 session.

Teacher responsible: Dr W Schelkle, COW. 1.06

Availability: For MSc Political Economy of Europe, MSc Politics and Government in the European Union, MSc Political Science and Political Economy, MPA Programme (all streams), MSc Management, MSc International Employment Relations and Human Resource Management and LSE-Sciences Po Double Degree in European Studies. Other masters students may take this course with the permission of the teacher responsible.

Pre-requisites: A basic understanding of economic concepts is essential which is why the attendance of EU409 in MT is highly recommended.

Course content: The purpose of this course is to analyse the process of European monetary integration and its implications for the institutions of economic governance in the EU. There will be a strong emphasis on using the experience of the financial and economic crises since 2008 as a source of evidence to assess both the performance of EMU and the theories about monetary integration. We consider briefly the political and economic rationale for the establishment of EMU and then examine in detail how these rationales played themselves out in practice (e.g. problems of free-riding, political exchange, information asymmetries between policymakers etc). Indicative questions addressed in this course include: how and why did the EU develop the EMU project?; did economic theories prepare us for the Euro area crisis of 2010-11?; what are the challenges for member states in adjusting to the discipline of the ‘Euro-zone’?; what issues arise for the EU in managing relations between member states in the Euro-zone and those outside?; how does the Euro affect the ability of member states to adjust to periods of crisis and to external shocks?; is the sovereign debt crisis of 2010 indicative of imbalances within the EU and basic flaws in its institutional design?

Teaching: 10 x 1 hour lectures and 10 x 1.5 hour seminars (LT); 2 x 1.5 hour revision seminars (weeks 1 and 2 of ST)

Formative coursework: One 1,500-word essay and one comparative country study of 2,000-2,500 words.

Assessment: One two-hour examination in ST (100%).

---

EU447 Half Unit

Democracy, Ideology and the European State

This information is for the 2012/13 session.

Teacher responsible: Dr J White, COW. J109

Availability: For MSc European Studies: Ideas and Identities, MSc European Studies (Research), MSc Political Economy of Europe, MPA Programme (all streams) and LSE-Sciences Po Double Degree in European Studies.

Course content: This course investigates various ways in which the State's authority to act - its legitimacy, in brief - has been underpinned in Europe, both ideologically and institutionally, in the modern period. It looks at how the State has been used to give expression to the democratic principle, and the ways this has been undermined or rejected. The module aims to provide students with a deep analytical understanding of the changing role of the State in European society. There will be three parts: A) Theorising the political (including sessions on: the State; collective self-rule and the liberal-democratic compromise; ideology, public opinion and the idea of democracy), B) Democracy in post-War Europe (parties and the structuring of political conflict; the emergence and crisis of the Welfare State; 1968, 1989 and the rediscovery of 'civil society'), and C) Contemporary European trends (ideological convergence and the politics of risk and security, political participation and populism in western and post-Communist Europe; the challenge of transnational integration: 'governance', 'output legitimacy' and the diffusion of State power). The course will conclude with an overview on possible trajectories to come, under the heading 'post-ideological, post-democratic and post-statality? - Europe today and beyond'.

Teaching: 10 x 2 hour lectures/seminars (MT); 1 x 2 hour revision lecture/seminar (ST)

Formative coursework: One 2,500 word unassessed essay

Assessment: One two-hour written examination in ST (100%).
Course content: This ten week programme of guest lectures from top policymakers in the European institutions and the British government, along with analysts and commentators from think tanks, academia, embassies, the media and the private sector, helps ensure that European Institute students are able to assess the significance of the latest European developments.

Teaching: 10 x 1 hour lectures/seminars (MT weeks 6-10, LT weeks 1-5).

Assessment: There is no examination for this course.

EU452
Political Economy of Europe

This information is for the 2012/13 session.

Teacher responsible: Dr W Scheikl, COW. 1.06.

Availability: Compulsory on MSc Political Economy of Europe, LSE-Sciences Po Double Degree in European Studies (MSc Political Economy of Europe) and MPA European Public and Economic Policy. Optional on MSc European Studies (Research).

Course content: This course forms the core course of the MSc European Political Economy. It tries to understand how the relation between state and economy in both Western Europe and Central and Eastern Europe has evolved over the post-war period. Key debates in this regard include the demise of real existing socialism, Keynesianism with an emphasis on fiscal intervention as well as the crisis of monetarism. We also examine how the operation of the EU as a whole, the Single Market and the monetary union in particular, interact with the political economy of European states inside and in the neighbourhood of the Community. The course aims to provide students with both an analytical understanding of and a systematic treatment of empirical issues related to the evolution of the European political economy.

Topics include: State and economy in European countries; Economic theory and policy in Europe; The political economy of European integration; EU membership as a reform in post-communist Europe and in mature Western welfare states; EU enlargement; Monetary union and its crisis; the evolution of the Single Market.

Teaching: 20 x 1 hour lectures and 20 x 1.5 hour seminars (MT and LT);
1 x 1 hour revision lecture and 1 x 1.5 hour revision seminar (ST)

Formative coursework: Two individual essays, one group essay plus a mock examination.

Assessment: A two-hour written examination in June (75%) and a 2,000 word essay (25%).

EU455
Half Unit
Concepts in Political Economy

This information is for the 2012/13 session.

Teacher responsible: Dr M Simoni, COW J103.

Availability: MSc Political Economy of Europe, MSc European Studies (Research), MPA Public and Economic Policy/MPA Public Policy and Management/MPA International Development/MPA European Public and Economic Policy/MPA Public and Social Policy, MSc Management and LSE-Sciences Po Double Degree in European Studies, MPhil in European Studies. Available to others subject to the availability of places, and with the permission of the teacher responsible.

Course content: The aim of the course is to apply concepts of economics and political economy to social policies in European welfare states. The lectures establish the theoretical context, summarise the findings of quantitative comparative case studies and discuss European experience in the context of broader international experience. The seminars will further develop these concepts and apply them to qualitative case studies of welfare state arrangements in member states, considering in particular the role of social policy legislation and coordination at the EU level.

The course will provide students with the conceptual and empirical background to enable them to answer questions such as: What does economic theory and political economy tell us about the design of welfare states? How do social policies in European welfare states reconcile equity and efficiency? What drives or stalls reform dynamics in member states? What are the proper boundaries of EU social policy? Is the EU gradually developing into a social union, through international mobility and the portability of social entitlements?

Teaching: Ten one-hour lectures (MT), ten one and-a-half-hour seminars (MT) and one revision session (ST)

Formative coursework: One formative essay, between 1,500 and 2,000 words.

Indicative reading: W Schelkle, COW. 1.06

Availability: Optional for MSc Political Economy of Europe, MSc European Studies (Research), MPA Public and Economic Policy/MPA Public Policy and Management/MPA International Development/MPA European Public and Economic Policy/MPA Public and Social Policy, MSc Management and LSE-Sciences Po Double Degree in European Studies, MPhil in European Studies. Available to others subject to the availability of places, and with the permission of the teacher responsible.

Course content: This ten week programme of guest lectures from top policymakers in the European institutions and the British government, along with analysts and commentators from think tanks, academia, embassies, the media and the private sector, helps ensure that European Institute students are able to assess the significance of the latest European developments.

Teaching: 10 x 1 hour lectures (MT) and 10 x 1.5 hour seminars (MT);
1 x 1 hour revision lecture and 1 x 1.5 hour revision seminar (ST).

Formative coursework: Two formative essays of 1,500 words each.
of these essays will be the subject of a ten minute presentation in one of the seminars.

Assessment: One two-hour written examination in ST (100%).

---

EU457  Half Unit
Ethnic Diversity and International Society

This information is for the 2012/13 session.

Teacher responsible: Dr J Jackson-Preece, COW. J206

Availability: For MSc European Studies (Research), MSc European Studies: Ideas and Identities, MSc Politics and Government in the European Union, MSc Global Politics, MSc Comparative Politics, MSc Human Rights and LSE-Sciences Po Double Degree in European Studies. Other students may attend subject to numbers, their own degree regulations and at the discretion of the teacher responsible. This is a capped course (20 students). Students are required to obtain permission from the teaching department to take this course.

Course content: This course problems and practices of ethnic diversity in a world of nation-states including self-determination, boundaries, security, democracy, human rights, national minorities, indigenous peoples, humanitarian intervention, and international criminal law. In analysing these issues, particular attention will be paid to the relationship between evolving international norms (as disclosed in treaties, conventions, international organisations and political discourse) and changing state practices.

Teaching:
1 x 2 hour revision lecture/seminar (ST)
2 x 2 hour revision lecture/seminar (ST)

Formative coursework: Essay proposal (500 words) (Due Week 4 MT)
Draft essay (2000 words) (Due Week 10 MT)

A more detailed reading list is available from Dr Jackson-Preece.

Assessment: One 5000 word essay (due Week 5 ST)

---

EU458  Half Unit
Identity, Community and the 'Problem of Minorities’

This information is for the 2012/13 session.

Teacher responsible: Dr J Jackson-Preece, COW. 2.06

Availability: This is a core course option on MSc European Studies: Ideas and Identities and the LSE-Sciences Po Double Degree in MSc European Studies: Ideas and Identities. Students on MSc Politics and Government in the European Union and MSc International Migration and Public Policy can take this course, if space permits. This is a capped course (30 students). Students are required to obtain permission from the teaching department to take this course.

Course content: This course investigates what we might conveniently term the “problem of minorities” in contemporary politics. It will interrogate both the substance of this “problem” and the various public policy responses it has provoked. Key questions to be considered include: Why is the existence of minorities so often regarded as a threat to political community? Does stability really require homogeneity? Or can it be maintained in the presence of different minority groups? Will a minority rights response finally resolve the “problem of minorities”? Is or is a permanent solution likely to remain illusive?

Teaching:
10 x 2 hour lectures/seminars (LT)
1 x 2 hour revision lecture/seminar (ST)

Formative coursework: Students are required to write two essays.

A more detailed reading list is available from Dr Jackson-Preeze.

Assessment: One two-hour written examination in ST (100%)

---

EU460  Half Unit
European Society and Politics Beyond the Nation State

This information is for the 2012/13 session.

Teacher responsible: Dr J White, COW. J109

Availability: MSc European Studies: Ideas and Identities, MSc Politics and Government in the European Union, MSc Political Sociology, MSc Global Politics and LSE-Sciences Po Double Degree in European Studies. The course is also available as an outside option where regulations permit and with the permission of the teacher responsible for the course.

Course content: This course has three main sections. Part A explores how transnational integration weakens the overlap typically assumed of modern polities between socio-cultural identities, economic practices, and state boundaries, and examines the conceptual challenges this raises. Part B looks closely at competing perspectives on what these new conditions mean for the possibility of democracy, and critically examines the main proposals for reconceiving society and its relationship to the political sphere. Perspectives which minimise the social component by focusing on material interests, those which look to cultural allegiances of the kind associated with nationalism, and those which re-imagine the collective in terms of shared values, practices of solidarity and the adversarial pursuit of political projects, are each discussed in depth.

Part C of the course looks at different understandings of how the bonds of collectivity may form and be sustained over time, linking historical perspectives on state formation with contemporary debates on the EU and the emergence of a European society.

Provisional course outline:
A) Reopening the social and the political: Emergence of the Nation-State Ideal; Conceptual Challenges of a Transnational Order; Towards a European Polity?
B) Perspecives on transnational citizenship and the demos: Interest-based conceptions; Culturalist conceptions; Civic conceptions.
C) Transnational collective bonds - their formation and reproduction: In the Minds of Europeans: Observations from public-opinion research; Mobility, Social Encounter and Behavioural Change; Constitutions, communication and the public sphere; Political mobilisation and contention.

Teaching:
10 x 2 hour lectures/seminars (LT) and 1 x 2 hour revision lectures/seminar (ST)

Formative coursework: One 2,500 word unassessed essay.

Assessment: One two-hour examination in ST (100%)

---

EU461  Half Unit
Not available in 2012/13

Economic History of Southeastern Europe and the Middle East, 1820-1970

This information is for the 2012/13 session.

Teacher responsible: Professor Pamuk, COW. J208

Availability: MSc Political Economy of Europe, MSc European Studies: Ideas and Identities, MSc Global History, MSc Economic History, MSc Economic History (Research), LSE-Sciences Po Double Degree in European Studies, MA Global Studies: A European Perspective. The course is also available as an outside option where regulations permit and with the permission of the teacher responsible for the course.

Course content: This course will offer a survey of the leading issues in the economic history of these two regions from the Industrial Revolution until 1970. It will begin with an evaluation of the long-term record of structural change and economic growth in the two regions from an international-comparative perspective. For the nineteenth century, the focus will be on the impact of the Industrial Revolution, the ensuing process of globalization and the responses to them in the two regions. The focus in the interwar era will be on the Great Depression and the local responses. Similarly, the emphasis in the post-World War II era will be on the industrialisation of the two regions. Amongst the themes to be emphasized for each period will be the state economic policies, the nature of the linkages with the world economy, institutional change, sources of growth and accumulation, relations between agriculture and the urban economy including industry and the distribution of income. Social change will be examined in connection with the economic.

Teaching: 10 x 1-hour lectures and 10 x 1.5-hour seminars (MT); 1 x 1-hour lecture (ST).

Formative coursework: A 1,500 word essay is required.

Assessment: One two-hour written examination (75%) and one 1,800 word essay (25%).

---

EU463 Half Unit European Human Rights Law

This information is for the 2012/13 session.

Teacher responsible: Dr Kai Moller, NAB 7.01.

Availability: Optional on MSc Politics and Government in the European Union, MSc European Studies: Ideas and Identities, and MPA Programme (all streams).

This is a capped course (15 students). Students are required to obtain permission from the teaching department to take this course.

Pre-requisites: No prior knowledge of law in general or human rights law in particular is required.

Course content: The European Convention on Human Rights is an international treaty which was drafted shortly after the end of WW II and came into force in 1953. One of its remarkable features is that individuals who think that their human rights have been violated can take their case to the European Court of Human Rights in Strasbourg, which has the final authority on the interpretation of the Convention. In the past half century, the Strasbourg court has developed a comprehensive jurisprudence on human rights and has become one of the most important and most highly respected human rights courts in the world. This course will offer an introduction to the law of the Convention, in particular by studying and critically analysing the case law on certain important rights. In the final sessions we will take a more theoretical perspective and critically examining the case law on certain important rights. In the final sessions we will take a more theoretical perspective and critically analyzing the case law on certain important rights. In the final sessions we will take a more theoretical perspective and critically analysing the case law on certain important rights. In the final sessions we will take a more theoretical perspective and critically examining the case law on certain important rights. In the final sessions we will take a more theoretical perspective and critically examining the case law on certain important rights. In the final sessions we will take a more theoretical perspective and critically examining the case law on certain important rights. In the final sessions we will take a more theoretical perspective and critically examining the case law on certain important rights. In the final sessions we will take a more theoretical perspective and critically examining the case law on certain important rights. In the final sessions we will take a more theoretical perspective and critically examining the case law on certain important rights.

Teaching: 10 x 2-hour lectures/seminars (LT) and 1 x 2-hour revision lecture/seminar (ST).

Formative coursework: One 2,500 word unassessed essay.

Assessment: One two-hour unseen examination in ST (100%).
EU464   Half Unit
Migration and Mobility: EU Law and Politics
This information is for the 2012/13 session.
Teacher responsible: Dr Eiko Thiellermann, CON. H314.
Availability: MSc Politics and Government in the European Union, MSc Political Economy of Europe, LSE Sciences Po Double Degree in European Studies and MSc European Studies: Ideas and Identities. Available as an outside option where regulations permit.
Pre-requisites: A good knowledge of EU institutions and policy-making is required.
Course content: After reviewing the EU policy-making process and the changes of EU governance in the area of Justice, Liberty and Security (JLS) over the past two decades, this course provides an advanced analysis of the origins, evolution and major policy issues within the field of EU justice and home affairs which has been the fastest growing EU policy area since the 1990s. The course will normally analyse the following policy issues: border control, legal migration and free movement, irregular migration, asylum and refugee policy, criminal and security cooperation, judicial cooperation in civil matters, enlargement and migration, burden-sharing and the externalisation of JLS policies. This will be done by focusing on the political and legal basis and implications of these policies, the policy-making process and the identification of the key factors that have influenced the developments in this domain.
Teaching: 10 x 1 hour lectures and 10 x 1.5 hour seminars (LT);
1 x 1 hour lecture (ST).
Formative coursework: An essay of 1,500 words and a project proposal (1 page).
Assessment: One two-hour written examination in the ST (75%) and one 3,000 word essay (25%).

EU465   Research Methods and Design in EU Politics
This information is for the 2012/13 session.
Teacher responsible: Dr Mareike Kleine.
Availability: Compulsory but non-assessed course for students on MSc Politics and Government in the European Union.
Course content: The purpose of this course is to acquaint students with general academic skills, to prepare them for the development of a research design and to introduce a range of research methods.
Teaching: Four one-hour lectures in weeks 1, 3, 5 and 7 of both the MT and LT.
Assessment: The course is not assessed.

EU466   Half Unit
Citizen Representation and Democracy in the European Union
This information is for the 2012/13 session.
Teacher responsible: Professor Sara Hobolt
Availability: MSc Politics and Government in the European Union; MSc European Studies: Ideas and Identities, MSc in Political Economy of Europe, MPA Programmes (all streams) and LSE-Sciences Po Double Degree in European Studies. The course is available as an outside option with permission of the teacher responsible.
Course content: This course offers the theoretically and empirically informed study of citizen representation in the European Union. The principal aim of the course is to develop a better understanding of the functioning of democracy in European Union and provide the analytical tools to evaluate proposals for reform to alleviate the Union’s so-called ‘democratic deficit’. This course will examine both how citizens are represented in the European Union and how the EU shapes democratic politics in the member states. The first part of the course assesses pathways of representation and accountability in the European Union, focusing on representation of citizens’ interests in the Council, Commission and the European Parliament as well other avenues for citizen influence, such as referendums and the Citizens’ Initiative. The second part of the course examines political conflict over European integration at the domestic level, focusing on the role of European integration in national politics and public opinion, including the study of euro scepticism. The final part of the course evaluates different proposals for reform with the aim of strengthening democracy and representation in the EU, and students will have the opportunity to develop their own reform proposal.
Teaching: 10 x 2 hour seminars (MT);
1 x 2 hour seminar (ST).
Formative coursework: One formative essay (1,750 words)
Indicative reading: D Curtin, P Mair and I Papadopoulos (2012) Accountability and European Governance (London: Routledge);
Assessment: One 2,500 word essay (25%) and one two-hour written examination (75%).

EU498   Dissertation
This information is for the 2012/13 session.
Teachers responsible: All teachers of taught courses within the European Institute.
EU499
Dissertation
This information is for the 2012/13 session.

Teachers responsible: All teachers of taught courses within the European Institute.

Course content: MSc European Studies: Ideas and Identities, MSc Political Economy of Europe, MSc European Studies (Research) and the LSE-sciences Po Double Degree in European Studies (MSc Political Economy of Europe and MSc European Studies: Ideas and Identities) students are required to write a 10,000-word dissertation on a topic within the field of their chosen programme. Those seeking further guidance on topic selection should approach their Academic Advisor in the first instance. The dissertation need not be an account of original research and may rely on secondary sources but it should be the product of work done independently by the student. In preparation for the dissertation, students must submit a Dissertation Topic Approval Form and a 2,000-3,000 word essay. Failure to submit either document will result in the student not being able to submit the Dissertation. Following the submission of the Dissertation Topic Approval Form, a student will receive notification in writing from the EI’s General Office as to whether it has been finally approved or not - a student cannot progress to the submission of the dissertation without such approval. Students are strongly advised to attend the EU410 lectures on how to conduct research and write a dissertation. Detailed information on timing, deadlines and presentation can be found in the European Institute Handbook for Master’s Degree Students.

EU4B3
MPA Capstone Project
This information is for the 2012/13 session.

Teachers responsible: Dr Marco Simoni, COW.1.05

Availability: This is a compulsory course for all second Year MPA students.

Course content: Students will undertake a group project (in teams usually of 3 to 6 people) relating to a public policy problem faced by an external organisation. Typical clients include public sector bodies, companies operating in the public management or public policy sector, international organisations or think tanks and NGOs. The group will have from October to February to work on an issue defined by the client organisation, investigating and developing a workable solution to the problem.

Teaching: All students must attend the opening capstone introduction session in MT.

Assessment: The project work is conducted in teams, and the assessment is based on a collective group mark for each component except in exceptional circumstances.

1) A presentation and submission of the project report to the client organisation. The presentation must take place by week 8 of the Lent term, on a date agreed with the client organisation. 20% of the marks are assigned by the client organisation after receipt of the presentation and project report.

2) A group project report of up to 15,000 words to be submitted during the Lent Term. The report is read by academic markers and their assessment accounts for 60% of the final grade.

Additionally, each group member must write a personal reflection on their contribution to the group’s work, to be submitted alongside the report. The reflection should be no more than 600 words, and should include specific details of the student’s contributions to the project. The reflections should not be included in the report submitted to the client.

Any appendices to the project report should only consist of technical data and may not contain any substantive analyses.

3) The final 20% of the marks are allocated by the Capstone supervisor on the basis of the group’s performance in terms of (i) scoping and project development (including coping with difficulties) and (ii) group working and self-management as a team.

EU4B4
MPA Dissertation
This information is for the 2012/13 session.

Teachers responsible: Dr Marco Simoni, COW.1.05 and others.

Availability: This is an optional course for all second year MPA students.

Course content: MPA students must write a dissertation (of no more than 10,000 words) on a topic of their choice to be agreed with their supervisor.

Teaching: Students will be allocated a supervisor, who will provide guidance on this piece of work. MPA Dissertation Workshops will be held to help in the development if the dissertation.

Assessment: 1) The dissertation title, abstract, contents page and a 5 page synopsis/introduction will count for 10% of the overall dissertation mark. Students may only change their topic thereafter with the agreement of their supervisor. Students will be given feedback on their abstracts.

2) The full dissertation of no more than 10,000 words will account for the remaining 90% of the overall mark.

EU4V8 Half Unit
MPA Policy Paper
This information is for the 2012/13 session.

Teachers responsible: Professor Patrick Dunleavy, Dr Lloyd Gruber, plus supervisors from MPA departments

Availability: This is an optional half-unit course for MPA second year students. Students may not take this course and an MPA dissertation.

Course content: MPA students to write an individually-authored MPA Policy Paper on a topic developed in consultation with their MPA supervisor. Each paper analyses a concrete policy problem in a specific setting and proposes an evidence-based solution or course of amelioration. Papers cannot exceed 6,000 words and should be
FM402 Half Unit
Financial Risk Analysis
This information is for the 2012/13 session.
Teacher responsible: Dr Y Nosbusch, OLD 4.25
Availability: Available only to students on the MSc Accounting and Finance, MSc Applicable Mathematics, MSc Econometrics and Mathematical Economics, MSc Economics, MSc Financial Mathematics, MSc Finance and Economics, MSc Finance and Economics (Research), MSc Statistics (Financial Statistics), MSc Statistics (Financial Statistics) (Research), MSc Management and Regulation of Risk and MSc Risk and Finance.
Pre-requisites:
Course content: This course aims to provide an overview of the main theoretical concepts underlying the analysis of financial risk and to show how these concepts can be implemented in practice in a variety of contexts. This course shares some topics with FM442 Quantitative Methods in Finance and Risk Analysis.
The course will include a selection of:
Teaching: Lectures weekly in MT (20 hours). Classes (10 hours).
Assessment: A two-hour written examination in the ST (100%).

FM403 Management and Regulation of Risk
This information is for the 2012/13 session.
Teacher responsible: Professor Ron Anderson, OLD 3.42
Availability: This is the core course for MSc Management and Regulation of Risk and MSc Risk and Finance. The course is not open to other students.
Course content: This course is designed to expose students to the breadth of risk management thinking and approaches across different areas.
Section A. Risk and Regulation: Introduction and Overview: Sets out the problem of risk management and regulation. It formulates a general conceptual framework that can be used in devising solutions to risk either as a management problem or as a regulatory problem, or both.
Section B. Financial Risk Analysis: Examines issues in financial risk including risk and regulation in the insurance markets; tools of financial risk management, including diversification, hedging and capital provisions; risk measurement for financial instruments (market risk, value at risk); credit risk, ratings and credit derivatives; operational and business risk; regulation and systemic risk.
Section C. Financial Market Regulation: Discusses notions of risk in a legal setting and the role and enforcement of legal rules in financial regulation; understanding regulatory strategies and linkages between regulation and risk management; the application of regulatory and risk management tools.
Section D. Organisations and Manufactured Risk: Health and Safety Risk and Regulation: Provides an understanding of: the management of risk to health and human safety; a systems based approach to variety among risk regulation regimes; how and why regulation regimes fail; and issues relating to reform of risk regulation regimes.
Section E: Strategy. Control and Risk in Organisations: Provides a strategic management perspective on risk analysis and management, including an examination of strategic visioning. Also considers: issues of enforced self-regulation as a method of risk management with reference to occupational health and safety regulation; risk management and decision making in organisations; enterprise-wide risk management and auditing.
Section F: Risk Analysis and the Psychology of Risk Bearing: Explores the meaning of risk as perceived by different agents; methods of dealing with risky situations; decision analysis in risky situations; complex risk and its management; problem structuring methods and how they can provide decision support.
Teaching: The course consists of 20 seminars in MT and LT, seven hours of classes in MT and LT plus approximately 12 hours of practitioner seminars.
Formative coursework: A substantial (10,000 word essay) is an integral part of the course and represents 50% of the assessment.
As part of the multi-disciplinary approach taken in the programme, students are actively encouraged to select topics that involve several of the relevant core competencies in an integrated way. Analyses of complex cases are suitable for this. However, conceptual and theoretical works are also welcome.
Assessment: A two-hour unseen examination in June and an essay of not more than 10,000 words on a topic agreed with the course director. Each of these will represent 50% of the final mark for the course.

FM404 Half Unit
Forecasting Financial Time Series
This information is for the 2012/13 session.
Teacher responsible: Dr Christian Julliard, OLD M2.18
Availability: Intended for students on the MSc Finance and Economics, MSc Finance and Economics (Research), MSc Financial Mathematics, MSc Accounting and Finance, MSc Statistics (Financial Statistics), MSc Statistics (Financial Statistics) (Research), MSc Management and Regulation of Risk and MSc Risk and Finance.
Pre-requisites: The first half of FM437 Financial Econometrics, or alternatively FM442 Quantitative Methods for Finance and Risk Analysis, is a required prerequisite. Students who can demonstrate comparable background may be granted an exemption from this requirement.
Course content: This course will examine the techniques involved with forecasting key variables in finance, and how to incorporate model uncertainty into financial forecasts. Students will learn both the theory and the practice of forecasting in finance. The following topics will be covered: introduction to time series analysis; maximum likelihood estimation (MLE) with time series data, and MLE based model selection; Bayesian inference, posterior probabilities, and Bayesian Model Averaging; Markov Chain Monte Carlo methods; present value regressions, vector autoregressions, causality, and cointegration; asset pricing and the Generalized Method of Moments (GMM); frequentist and Bayesian information theoretic alternatives to GMM.
FM405  Half Unit
Fixed Income Securities and Credit Markets

This information is for the 2012/13 session.

Teacher responsible: Dr Christian Julliard, OLD 2.18 (evening teaching), Professor Marcelo Fernandes (daytime teaching)

Availability: MSc Finance (Part-time) and MSc Finance (Full-time), MSc Finance and Private Equity. All teaching is closed to anyone not registered on the MSc Finance Programmes.

Pre-requisites: FM423 Asset Markets and FM422 Corporate Finance

Course content: This course provides a thorough grounding in recent developments in fixed income securities pricing, hedging and portfolio management. By the end of the course, the students will be familiar with a variety of topics, including (i) an analysis of the main products traded in the credit markets, such as Government and corporate bonds, bond options, swaps, caps, floors, swaptions, callable, puttable and convertible bonds, and an analysis of the main credit derivatives such as total-return swaps, spread options and credit default swaps; (ii) the specific tools used in the industry practice to evaluate and hedge these products, which range from no-arbitrage trees and the calibration of yield curve derivatives to the main tools used to monitor and manage credit risk; (iii) the process of securitization, with particular reference to collateralized default obligations and mortgage-based securities.

Teaching: 20 hours of lectures and 10 hours of seminars in the LT (evenings) only.

Formative coursework: Two problem set assignments.

Assessment: A two-hour examination in the ST (80%) and two coursework assignments (20%).

FM406  Half Unit
Topics in Portfolio Management

This information is for the 2012/13 session.

Teacher responsible: Dr Michela Verardo, OLD 4.24.

Availability: MSc Finance (Full-time), MSc Finance (Part-time), MSc Finance and Private Equity students only. All teaching is closed to anyone not registered on the MSc Finance Programmes.

Pre-requisites: FM423 Asset Markets and FM422 Corporate Finance.

Course content: This course aims to cover the main topics in equity portfolio management, with a strong focus on empirical applications. Some of the topics covered in the course include: Portfolio optimization techniques; Multi-factor models and their applications; Trading strategies; International portfolio management and currency hedging; Trading costs; Portfolio performance measurement and attribution; Style analysis; Mutual funds; Hedge funds. The course is based on a number of empirical applications and case studies, so that students can gain a better understanding of implementation issues related to managing an equity portfolio.

Teaching: 20 hours of lectures and 10 hours of classes. MSc Finance (part-time): taught LT (evenings). MSc Finance (full-time): taught LT (daytime).

Formative coursework: Regular coursework will be completed, handed in and marked as part of formative assessment for this course.

Indicative reading: A study pack will include lecture notes and case studies. All relevant articles will be made available during the course. Useful references are Modern portfolio theory and investment analysis, by E. J. Elton, M. J. Gruber, S. J. Brown, and W. N. Goetzmann, Wiley Press; Modern investment management, by Bob Litterman and the Quantitative Resource Group, GSAM, Wiley Press; Investments, by Z. Bodie, A. Kane, and A. Marcus, McGraw-Hill Irwin.

Assessment: 90% written examination, 10% coursework.

FM407  Half Unit
Applied Financial Valuation

This information is for the 2012/13 session.

Teacher responsible: Dr V Cunat, OLD 4.26

Availability: MSc Finance (part-time) and MSc Finance (full-time), MSc Finance and Private Equity students only. All teaching is closed to anyone not registered on these programmes.

Pre-requisites: FM423 Asset Markets and FM422 Corporate Finance.

Course content: This course covers advanced topics in Corporate Finance and Valuation and introduces students to valuation techniques for both securities and projects. The first part of the course introduces students to several valuation techniques applied to firms and projects. The second part of the course focuses on particular deals that involve firm valuation, in particular, mergers, divestitures, partial-divestitures (e.g. equity care outs) and leveraged buyouts. The last part of the course provides with a framework for analysis of the resolution of financial distress and bankruptcy. Each of the topics introduced in this course covers both institutional details and results of relevant academic research. It is furthermore supported by a case study.

Teaching: 20 hours of lectures and 10 hours of classes. MSc Finance (part-time): taught LT (evenings). MSc Finance (full-time): taught LT (daytime).

Formative coursework: Regular classworks will be completed, handed in and marked as part of formative assessment for this course.

Indicative reading: A course pack will be distributed that includes case studies as well as additional readings such as textbook chapters, and practitioner articles.

Assessment: Case studies (30%) and two hour written examination (70%).

FM408  Half Unit
Financial Engineering

This information is for the 2012/13 session.

Teacher responsible: Dr Jean-Pierre Zigrand, OLD 4.22

Availability: MSc Finance (part-time) and MSc Finance (full-time), MSc Finance and Private Equity students only. All teaching is closed to anyone not registered on the MSc Finance Programmes.

Pre-requisites: Students will be expected to show some familiarity with calculus and statistics.

Course content: Provides a thorough grounding in the theory and practice of financial engineering. The emphasis is on the application of derivatives pricing and hedging methodology to equity and volatility derivatives and to structured products. This syllabus lists and describes the topics covered in this course. In a nutshell, the course aims to cover the basics in derivatives theory, and to apply them to a multitude of financial securities and structured products, with a special emphasis on recent products in the equity and volatility derivative worlds. We review selected case studies in order to gain a better understanding of their practical usage. We also implement the models numerically in Excel, VBA or Matlab.

Teaching: 20 hours of lectures and 10 hours of class teaching. MSc Finance (part-time): taught MT (evenings). MSc Finance (full-time): taught LT (daytime).

Formative coursework: Weekly problem sets in classes.

Assessment: A two-hour written examination (80%) and a project (20%).

---

FM409 Half Unit

Risk Management for Financial Institutions

This information is for the 2012/13 session.

Teacher responsible: Dr P Mueller (evening), OLD M2.16 and Dr A Vedolin (daytime), OLD M2.04.

Availability: MSc Finance (part-time) and MSc Finance (full-time), MSc Finance and Private Equity students only. All teaching is closed to anyone not registered on the MSc Finance programmes.

Pre-requisites: FM423 Asset Markets and FM422 Corporate Finance.

Course content: The aim of this course is to give an introduction to the analysis and management of risk within financial institutions. The objective of the course is to develop a conceptual framework for thinking about financial risk and to show how these concepts are implemented in practice in a variety of contexts. First, the course gives an overview of risk management in the context of portfolios of fixed income securities and derivatives. Next, will discuss the implementation and the merits of Value at Risk measures. We will spend some time on endogenous risk and limits to arbitrage. In the context of credit risk we will cover ratings based and structural models, as well as credit risk on portfolios and credit derivatives. A final topic covers regulation and the recent credit crisis.

Throughout, the course spends a significant amount of time on practical applications of the theories that are introduced. Some limitations of current approaches are also discussed.

Teaching: 20 hours of lectures and 10 hours of classes. MSc Finance (part-time): taught MT (evenings). MSc Finance (full-time): taught LT (daytime).

Formative coursework: Problem sets. In addition, students will have the opportunity to present the results of a case study to the class.

Indicative reading: Course readings will vary from year to year depending upon the topics covered. The main reference is: John C. Hull, Risk Management and Financial Institutions, Prentice Hall, 2012, 3rd edition.

Additional useful references are:

Assessment: A two-hour written examination in the ST (90%) and coursework (10%); consisting of one expanded problem set (5%) and one group presentation (5%).

---

FM410 Half Unit

Private Equity

This information is for the 2012/13 session.

Teacher responsible: Dr Ulf Axelson OLD M3.03

Availability: Compulsory for MSc Finance and Private Equity. All teaching is closed to students not registered on the MSc Finance and Private Equity programme.

Course content: Provides a thorough grounding in the theory and recent developments in the field of private equity.

Starting by examining how private equity funds are raised and structured the course will examine how private equity can be used in start-ups, in scaling-up cash flow businesses, and in restructuring firms facing financial distress. It explores the link between private and venture capital on the one hand and public securities markets on the other. The course will examine the process through which private equity investors exit their investments. The course will also give a detailed analysis of the types of finance used in private equity and an evaluation of the short and long-run performance of private equity investments. The course will include an evaluation of the performance of different types of private equity investment and a comparison with other forms of ownership will be undertaken.

This course takes a rigorous theoretical examination of private equity, however also employs some case study teaching and is taught in conjunction with a range of practitioners in the field.

Teaching: 20 hours of lectures, 10 hours of seminars, 6 hours practitioner seminars in LT. Two hours of lectures in the ST.

Formative coursework: Each week there will typically be a formative case study assignments (similar to summative cases). Students will also be given formative feedback on their class participation.

Assessment: One 6,000 word dissertation (60%), four case study assignments (20%) and class participation (20%).

---

FM413 Half Unit

Fixed Income Markets

This information is for the 2012/13 session.

Teacher responsible: Dr Marcelo Fernandes. All enquires during Michaelmas Term should be directed to Dr Andrea Vedolin, OLD M 2.04

Availability: Intended for students on MSc Accounting and Finance, MSc Finance and Economics, MSc Finance and Economics (Research), MSc Risk and Finance, MSc Financial Mathematics, MSc Management and Regulation of Risk, MSc Risk and Stochastics, MSc Statistics (Financial Statistics), and MSc Statistics (Financial Statistics) (Research).

Pre-requisites: Students taking this course are expected to be familiar with the theory of asset evaluation at the level of FM430 Corporate Finance and Asset Markets and the theory and practice of derivative pricing at the level of FM441 Derivatives.

Course content: Provides a thorough grounding in recent developments in fixed income securities pricing, hedging and portfolio management.

This course provides a grounding in recent developments in fixed income security pricing, hedging and portfolio management. By the end of the course, the students will be familiar with a variety of topics, including (i) the institutions, organizations and conduct of the fixed income markets; (ii) the basic techniques to analyze and hedge fixed income products, such as “curve fitting”, “bootstrapping”, duration, convexity, duration-based hedges and asset-liability management; (iii) the analysis of the “destabilizing” effects related to the use of certain derivatives written on fixed income instruments; (iv) the forces, or “factors”, driving the variation in the entire spectrum of interest rates at different maturities; (v) the main evaluation tools, which can be applied to evaluate a wide range of products (trees, no arbitrage trees, calibration and some continuous time models); (vi) the main fixed income products such as government bonds, corporate bonds (convertible, callable, puttable), and their evaluation; (vii) plain vanilla interest derivatives (swaps, caps, floors, swaptions, etc.); (viii) mortgage backed securities and credit risk transfers.

Teaching: Twenty hours of lectures and ten hours of classes (LT).

Formative coursework: Weekly problem sets in classes (10).

Assessment: Two-hour written examination in ST.

---

FM421  Half Unit

Applied Corporate Finance

This information is for the 2012/13 session.

Teacher responsible: Professor S Bhattacharya, OLD M3.10

Availability: This course has limited availability (is capped), and is only available for students on the MSc Accounting and Finance, MSc Finance and Economics, MSc Finance and Economics (Research), MSc Economics and Management, MSc Management and Regulation of Risk, MSc Risk and Finance, MSc Management and MSc Management and Strategy.

Pre-requisites: This is an advanced applied course and a thorough understanding of the major theoretical issues and concepts is required. Students must meet one of the following pre-requisites to take this course:
1. have taken FM431 Corporate Finance A in Michaelmas term.
2. have taken the equivalent of FM212 Principles of Finance in their undergraduate degree
3. have taken a good micro-economics course in their undergraduate degree.

Course content: Provides a thorough grounding in recent developments in applied corporate finance.

The course involves a study of the applied corporate finance literature and case studies. It will examine valuation techniques, capital structure and payout policy, raising capital, going public, financial risk management by firms, corporate governance, takeovers and insolvency.

Teaching: 20 hours of lectures and 10 hours of classes in LT. This course is taught in three separate sections.

Formative coursework: Paper and class based research are required.

Assessment: A two-hour written examination in the ST (70%) and coursework (30%).

---

FM414  Half Unit

Cases in Corporate Finance

This information is for the 2012/13 session.

Teacher responsible: Dr Ulf Axelson, OLD M3.03

Availability: MSc Finance (part-time), MSc Finance (full-time), MSc Finance and Private Equity and MSc Finance and Economics/MSc Finance and Economics (Research) students only. All teaching is closed to anyone not registered on these Programmes.

Pre-requisites: FM423 Asset Markets and FM422 Corporate Finance.

Course content: This is a case course aimed at deepening the understanding of how to apply corporate finance concepts in a wide variety of business situations. In particular, we will try to build on concepts in business strategy, valuation techniques, and capital structure theories covered in previous courses, and see how to apply those tools in a systematic and rigorous way when approaching complicated real-life corporate finance problems. Examples of topics include working capital management, capital structure, risk management, real options, initial public offerings, international corporate finance, and family firms. Students will have to read up on cases before class and be prepared to discuss them interactively in class.

Teaching: 10 x 3-hour lectures taught on an evening in LT.

Formative coursework: 5 formative case study assignments (similar to summative cases)

Indicative reading:
- Background reading: Berk and DeMarzo, “Corporate Finance”
- Around 10 case studies

Assessment: One two-hour exam in the ST (70%), three case studies (20%) and class participation (10%). studied. The factors behind the decision to go public, i.e. to trade securities in a public market, will then be presented. The market for takeovers and mergers will be examined, as will the topical issue of corporate governance.

Teaching: 40 hours of lectures and 20 hours of classes. MSc Finance (part-time) taught MT and LT (evenings). MSc Finance (full-time) taught MT (daytime).

Formative coursework: Regular classworks will be completed, handed in and marked as part of formative assessment for this course.

Indicative reading: The recommended textbooks for this course are Berk and DeMarzo, Corporate Finance 2008 and Higgins, Analysis for Financial Management, 9th Edition. Other recommended readings from relevant journal articles will be included in a study pack.

Assessment: A three-hour examination in the ST (80%), and two in-class assignments (20%).

---

FM429 Half Unit Asset Markets A

This information is for the 2012/13 session.

Teacher responsible: Prof S. Panagreas. OLD M3.10

Availability: Intended for students on the MSc Accounting and Finance, MSc Management and Strategy, MSc Management and Regulation of Risk, MSc Risk and Finance, MSc Statistics (Financial Statistics) and MSc Statistics (Financial Statistics) (Research). Other students may be admitted if they can demonstrate knowledge of finance acquired at undergraduate level. This course cannot be combined with FM430 Corporate Finance and Asset Markets. Available as an outside option where programme regulations permit.

Course content: Aims to equip students with the fundamental concepts and tools underlying the asset markets side of modern finance.

The course covers asset markets and valuation. The valuation of fixed-income securities is covered first, followed by the valuation of stocks, and derivatives such as futures and options. Concepts emphasized include the present-value formula, valuation by arbitrage, portfolio theory, the CAPM, market efficiency, and binomial and Black-Scholes models.

Teaching: Twenty hours of lectures (FM429) in the MT plus 10 classes (FM429.A) in which problem sets, case studies and journal articles will be discussed. Students are expected to make presentations at these classes.

Formative coursework: At least two pieces of classwork will be assessed.

Full details of reading will be specified in the Course Programme and Reading List which will be distributed at the first lecture.

Assessment: A one-and-a-half hour written examination in the ST (100%). (Please note this exam is the Half Unit version of the examination taken on FM430 Corporate Finance and Asset Markets).

---

FM423 Asset Markets

This information is for the 2012/13 session.

Teachers responsible: Professor Dimitri Vayanos, OLD 3.41, Dr Kathy Yuan, OLD M3.05 and Dr Rohit Rahi, OLD 3.43 (Evening) / Professor Mikhail Chernov, OLD M3.08, Dr Konstantinos Zachariadis, OLD M3.02, Dr Kathy Yuan and Dr Peter Kondor (Daytime).

Availability: For MSc Finance (part-time) and MSc Finance (full-time), MSc Finance and Private Equity students only. All teaching is closed to anyone not registered on the MSc Finance programmes.

Pre-requisites: Aimed at people with a good undergraduate degree and good quantitative skills, with some knowledge of economics.

Course content: The aim of the course is to familiarise students with the workings of financial markets, and equip them with the fundamental tools of asset valuation.

The course will focus on the three main asset classes - fixed income, stocks, and derivatives - giving a unified perspective of modern valuation methods. The starting point will be the present value formula. The course will then proceed to fixed-income securities, focusing mainly on government bonds. These will be valued off the term structure of interest rates, using the present value formula. The connection with the principle of no-arbitrage will be emphasized. The course will then move to stocks, starting with portfolio theory and then deriving the relation between risk and return (CAPM). The CAPM will provide a risk-adjusted discount rate that will be used to discount stocks’ cash flows with the present value formula.

Alternative pricing models such as the APT and multi-factor will also be covered, and the models will be applied to issues of asset allocation and portfolio selection. The last topic will be derivatives, especially futures and options. After familiarizing students with the use of derivatives, the course will cover the main valuation methods (binomial model, Black-Scholes) emphasizing again the principle of no-arbitrage.

Teaching: 40 hours of lectures and 20 hours of classes. MSc Finance (part-time): taught MT, LT and ST (evenings). MSc Finance (full-time): taught MT (daytime).

Formative coursework: Regular classworks will be completed, handed in and marked as part of formative assessment for this course.

Indicative reading: The organisation of topics of the course follows closely the treatment in Berk and DeMarzo, Corporate Finance, Pearson International ed., Addison Wesley, and Bodie, Kane, and Marcus, Investments, 8th ed., Irwin. Other recommended readings and case studies will be included in a study pack.

Assessment: A three-hour examination in the ST (80%) and one homework assignment (10%) and one in-class assignment (10%).
in which problem sets, case studies and journal articles will be discussed. Students are expected to make presentations at these classes.

Formative coursework: At least two pieces of work per term will be assessed.

Full details of reading will be specified in the Course Programme and Reading List which will be distributed at the first lecture.

Assessment: A three-hour written examination in the ST. Please note this examination is the full unit version of the exams taken on FM429 Asset Markets A (H) and FM431 Corporate Finance A (H).

---

FM431L Half Unit Corporate Finance A

This information is for the 2012/13 session.

Teacher responsible: Vicente Cunat, OLD 4.26

Availability: Intended for students on the MSc Management and Strategy, MSc Economics and Management, MSc Management and Regulation of Risk, MSc Risk and Finance, MSc Finance and Economics, MSc Accounting and Finance and MSc Finance and Economics (Research). Other students may be admitted if they can demonstrate knowledge of finance acquired at undergraduate level. This course cannot be combined with FM430 Corporate Finance and Asset Markets. Available as an outside option where programme regulations permit.

Course content: The course covers range of topics in corporate finance starting with capital budgeting techniques, in relation to CAPM and other valuation instruments. The course then proceeds identifying the driving forces behind capital structure decisions and choices over debt and equity finance. Special consideration is given to the tax implications of those choices, the possible costs of financial distress, the incentive implications of financial decisions and the signalling impact of those for financial market participants. A final part of the course covers some specific topics in corporate finance: dividend policy, decision to go public, mergers and acquisitions and possibly (time permitting) corporate governance issues.

Teaching: 20 hours of lectures and 10 hours of seminars in the LT.

Formative coursework: At least two pieces of formative work will be assessed over the duration of the course. Students will be set will be set weekly problem set assignments, of which a minimum of two will be submitted and marked as formative assessment.

Indicative reading: J. Berk and P. DeMarzo, Corporate Finance, Pearson International Edition. Full details of reading will be specified in the Course Programme and Reading List which will be distributed at the first lecture.

Assessment: One and a half hour written examination (100%) consisting of three questions, of which students must answer two.

---

FM436 Financial Economics

This information is for the 2012/13 session.

Teachers responsible: Dr J-P Zigrand, OLD 4.22 and Dr I Martin

Availability: Exclusively for MSc Finance and Economics, MSc Finance and Economics (Research) and PhD Finance students.

Pre-requisites: Mathematical background at the level of the September Courses in Mathematics and the course on Probability and Stochastic Calculus (FM458 www.lse.ac.uk/resources/calendart/courseGuides/FM/2013_FM458.htm) is assumed.

Course content: A required graduate course for the MSc Finance and Economics programme, on investors’ behaviour, market equilibrium, and asset pricing.

Will encompass topics in choice under uncertainty, complete and incomplete asset markets, mean-variance portfolio theory, no-arbitrage and equilibrium asset pricing, excess volatility and return predictability, intertemporal asset pricing, Black-Scholes option and other contingent claims pricing models, the term structure of interest rates under uncertainty, and the pricing of interest rate linked and other derivative securities.

Teaching: 40 hours of lectures, 20 hours of classes.

Formative coursework: 15 problem sets in classes.

Assessment: A three-hour written examination in the ST.

---

FM437 Financial Econometrics

This information is for the 2012/13 session.

Teachers responsible: Dr C Julliard, OLD M2.18 and Professor V Hajivassiliou, S564

Availability: Exclusively for MSc Finance and Economics, MSc Finance and Economics (Research) and PhD Finance students.

Pre-requisites: Mathematical background to the level of the course taught in September in the Economics Department (EC400) is assumed.

Course content: The techniques of empirical investigation in economics and finance. Students are introduced to recent empirical findings based on asset pricing models. The course includes a selection of the following topics: multivariate regression; maximum likelihood and methods of moments estimation; hypothesis testing, omitted variables and misspecification; asymptotic theory; measurement error and instrumental variables; time-series modelling; predictability of asset returns; event study analysis; econometric tests of the CAPM and multifactor models; volatility modelling; generalised method of moments estimation.

Teaching: 45 hours of lectures and 20 hours of classes.

Formative coursework: Exercises are provided each week and they are discussed in class.

Assessment: A three-hour written examination in the ST.

---

FM440 Half Unit Not available in 2012/13

Corporate Finance Theory

This information is for the 2012/13 session.

Teacher responsible: Professor D Webb, OLD M3.09

Availability: Intended for students on the MSc Accounting and Finance, MSc Finance (full-time), MSc Finance (part-time), MSc Finance and Economics, MSc Finance and Private Equity, MSc Finance and Economics (Research) and MSc Economics and Management.

Pre-requisites: This is an advanced course; students will be expected to have a strong background in Micro Economics and be comfortable with mathematical arguments. Coverage of the material in FM430 Corporate Finance and Asset Markets is normally required as a prerequisite for this course.

Course content: Provides a thorough grounding in recent developments in the theory of corporate finance. The course involves an advanced development of theories of corporate financial policy and corporate governance, going public, takeovers and insolvency. The development of these theories involves applying the modern theories of agency, asymmetric information and game theoretic ideas. Applications of the economics of incomplete contracts to the problems of ownership and control and financial decisions will also be developed.

Teaching: 20 hours of lectures and 10 hours of classes in the LT.

Formative coursework: Written answers to problems will be expected on a weekly basis. There will also be an unassessed assignment.

Indicative reading: The Theory of Corporate Finance by Jean Tirole (Princeton University Press, 2006) covers much of the material. Some additional material can be found in O D Hart, Firms Contracts and Finance Structure (Oxford University Press, 1995) and C W Smith, The Modern Theory of Corporate Finance (McGraW-Hill, 1990). A set of lecture notes and a study pack of journal articles will be provided.

Assessment: A two-hour written examination in the ST (100%).

---

FM441 Half Unit

Derivatives

This information is for the 2012/13 session.

Teacher responsible: Dr Konstantinos Zachariadis, OLD M3.02

Availability: Intended for students on the MSc Accounting and Finance. Optional for MSc Risk and Stochastics, MSc Financial Mathematics, MSc Statistics (Financial Statistics), MSc Statistics (Financial Statistics) (Research), and MSc Applicable Mathematics.

Pre-requisites: This is a more advanced course. Students will be expected to show some familiarity with statistics, calculus and random processes.

Course content: Provides a thorough grounding in the theory of derivatives pricing and hedging.

This course develops the theories of no-arbitrage asset pricing. Particular emphasis is placed on pricing within a multi-period, mostly continuous-time, framework. A special feature of the course is its coverage of the modern theory of contingent claims valuation by PDE and martingale methods. These asset pricing-methods are applied to the pricing of vanilla and exotic options and corporate liabilities, forwards, futures, as well as fixed income derivatives. The uses of derivatives in hedging and risk-management are discussed as well.

---

FM442 Half Unit

Quantitative Methods for Finance and Risk Analysis

This information is for the 2012/13 session.

Teacher responsible: Dr Philippe Mueller, OLD M2.16

Availability: This course is intended for students on the MSc Accounting and Finance, MSc Applicable Mathematics, MSc Finance and Economics, MSc Finance and Economics (Research), and MSc Financial Mathematics, MSc Management and Regulation of Risk, MSc Risk and Stochastics, MSc Risk and Finance and MSc Finance and Economics.

Pre-requisites: A background in statistics and mathematics is required. No prior programming experience is necessary but students without programming experience are highly encouraged to concurrently take FM457 MATLAB for MSc Students.

Course content: A graduate level course on the quantitative and statistical tools that are important in applied finance. Students will be exposed to application of these tools and the key properties of financial data through a set of computer-based classes and exercises. The following topics will be covered: review of statistics and introduction to time-series econometrics; modelling financial returns; an introduction to the analysis of financial data using MATLAB; volatility models; Value-at-Risk. Implementing the tools in MATLAB is an essential part of the course and all classes are computer based.

Teaching: 18 hours of lectures, six hours of computer classes plus five hours of classes (student presentations) in MT.

Formative coursework: Problem sets to be solved using MATLAB. In addition, students will have the opportunity to present the results of a problem set to the class.

Indicative reading: The core text for this course is: Jon Danielsson, Financial Risk Forecasting, John Wiley & Sons, 2011. Extra readings will be assigned for selected topics.

Assessment: A one-and-a-half hour written examination in the ST (75%), a 2,000 word project (20%) and a group presentation (5%).

---

FM445 Half Unit

Portfolio Management

This information is for the 2012/13 session.

Teacher responsible: Prof. K Yaun, OLD M3.05

Availability: MSc Accounting and Finance, MSc Financial Mathematics, MSc Finance and Economics, MSc Finance and Economics (Research), MSc Management and Regulation of Risk, MSc Risk and Stochastics, MSc Risk and Finance.

Course content: This course aims to cover the main topics in equity portfolio management. Some of the topics covered in the course include: Portfolio optimization techniques; Multi-factor models and their applications; Trading strategies; International portfolio management and currency hedging; Trading costs; Portfolio performance measurement and attribution; Style analysis; Mutual funds; Hedge funds. The course is based on a number of empirical applications and case studies, so that students can gain a better understanding of implementation issues related to managing an equity portfolio.

Teaching: 20 hours of lectures and 10 hours of classes in the LT.
Formative coursework: Regular classworks will be completed, handed in and marked as part of formative assessment for this course.

Indicative reading: A study pack will include lecture notes and case studies. All relevant articles will be made available during the course. Useful references are Modern portfolio theory and investment analysis, by E. J. Elton, M. J. Gruber, S. J. Brown, and W. N. Goetzmann, Wiley Press, Modern investment management, by Bob Litterman and the Quantitative Resource Group, GSAM, Willey Press; Investments, by Z. Bodie, A. Kane, and A. Marcus, McGraw-Hill Irwin.

Assessment: A two-hour written examination in the ST (100%).

FM447 Half Unit
Global Financial System

This information is for the 2012/13 session.

Teacher responsible: Dr Jon Danielsson, OLD 4.20

Availability: Intended for students on the MSc Accounting and Finance, MSc Finance (part-time), MSc Finance and Economics and MSc Finance and Economics (Research).

Pre-requisites: Students should have a strong background in microeconomics, and be comfortable with formal arguments.

Course content: This course examines the academic and policy debates on the operation of the global financial system. The course will aim to be topical, but the analysis of the issues will be based on rigorous economic arguments.

The course begins with a brief overview of the history of the international financial system. Several theories of financial crises are then developed in some detail, and are assessed by reference to historical experience and the mechanics of speculative attack, including the current liquidity crisis. Special emphasis is placed on the analysis of coordination failures and their implications for economic policy. The course concludes by analysis of the current liquidity crisis in the context of the models and historical experience discussed earlier in the course.

Teaching: 20 hours of lectures and 10 hours of classes in the MT.

Indicative reading: Most material will be provided by the coursepack, distributed at the beginning of the course. For preparatory reading on the history of the international financial system, Barry Eichengreen's book Globalizing Capital is a useful brief reference. Students may also benefit from a review of the material in a microeconomics textbook at the graduate level, such as J Green, A Mas-Colell & M Whinston, Microeconomic Theory.

Assessment: A two-hour written examination in the ST (100%).

FM457 MATLAB for MSc Students

This information is for the 2012/13 session.

Teacher responsible: Dr Jack Favluliks, OLD M2.14

Availability: Intended for students taking FM442 Quantitative Methods for Finance and Risk Analysis and FM404 Forecasting Financial Time Series. There may be limited availability to other students on the MSc Finance (Full-time), MSc Finance and Economics, MSc Management and Regulation of Risk, MSc Risk and Finance and MSc Accounting and Finance programmes.

Course content: This course is an introduction to computational methods in finance; the course uses Matlab. We will begin with an introduction to basic Matlab. We will then learn how to simulate individual securities, with a special focus on the predictability and fat tails features of volatility. Simultaneously we will examine the data to test how well our models approximate the real world. Next we will move onto modeling portfolios of multiple securities and test the CAPM and the Fama-French three factor model; we will also test for long term predictability in asset prices. Finally we will use numerical techniques to price options and to construct a yield curve.

Teaching: 10 hours of teaching during MT.

Indicative reading: Teaching notes will be distributed.

Assessment: This is an additional, non-assessed computer course to supplement MSc level courses in the Department of Finance.

FM458 Probability and Stochastic Calculus

This information is for the 2012/13 session.

Teacher responsible: Dr Stephane Guibaud, OLD 3.44 and Albina Danilova

Availability: Compulsory for MSc Finance and Economics and MSc Finance and Economics (Research).

Course content: The aim of this course is to supplement the Economics pre-sessional course and provide students with the essential quantitative methods for the core Finance courses FM436 and FM437. Measure Theory and Elementary Probability Concepts, Conditional Expectations, Introduction to Stochastic Processes, Stochastic Integration, Ito Calculus, Stochastic Differential Equations, Feynman-Kac formula, Girsanov Theorem.

Teaching: 30 hours of lectures during MT, weeks 1-10.

Assessment: No formal assessment. Students will sit a mock exam based upon the material to aid learning.

FM472 Half Unit
International Finance

This information is for the 2012/13 session.

Teacher responsible: Dr E Bertero, OLD M2.12

Availability: This course is available to students on the MSc Accounting and Finance, MSc Management and Regulation of Risk, MSc Finance (Full-time), MSc Finance and Private Equity, MSc Finance and Economics and MSc Financial Mathematics.

Other interested graduate students may also be admitted provided they obtain permission from the course leader. Permission can be requested by emailing the course leader relevant information on previous studies in finance and economics and the motivation for wanting to take the course.

Course content: This course examines key issues in international finance, focusing on recent developments and incorporating theoretical, empirical, policy and institutional dimensions. The course uses exchange rates as a unifying theme and considers them from four perspectives: theory, policy, global risk and international investors. The course examines models of exchange rate determination and related empirical evidence. It analyses the choice and coordination of exchange rate regimes, including the European Monetary Union. It examines exchange rates as one of the sources of global financial instability. It considers the risk exposure for investors arising from exchange rate volatility and its hedging with currency instruments. The course also explores the links, in each area, to current developments such as the internationalisation of the Chinese Rennminbi, the EMU sovereign debt crisis, the recent financial crisis and global imbalances, forex carry trades and the high volatility of short term exchange rates.

Teaching: 20 hours of lectures and 10 hours of classes in the LT.

Formative coursework: Students are required to undertake a group research project on a given topic concerning financial crises.

Indicative reading: A selection of journal articles, backround reading from a textbook such as Keith Pilbeam International Finance (Palgrave, 2006, 3rd edition)

Assessment: A two-hour written examination in the ST (100%).
FM473 Half Unit
Finance I
This information is for the 2012/13 session.
Teachers responsible: Dr Georgy Chabakauri, OLD M2.15 (MT), Dr Dong Lou, OLD M3.11 (LT)
Availability: Optional for MSc Management, MSc Management, Information Systems and Innovation, MSc Risk and Finance, and MSc Real Estate Economics and Finance students. Students from other taught post-graduate programmes with permission of the course director. This course is not open to students in the MSc Accounting and Finance and in the MSc Finance and Economics.
Course content: A first course in financial analysis for students with a basic knowledge of management. The course explores the way that firms and the capital market function to channel savings toward productive investments. From the investor's perspective it considers characteristics of the major financial contracts and the principles used in their valuation. It considers how investors should select their portfolios and the implications of this behaviour for pricing assets in stock and bond markets. It explores the question of whether stock markets are efficient in reflecting investors information. It applies these insights to the firm's financial management decisions of whether or not to invest in a risky project and how to select among alternative investments.
Teaching: Ten three-hour lecture and seminar sessions. This course is taught twice, in both Michaelmas and Lent Term. Students must either register for FM473 A which is taught in Michaelmas Term, or FM473 B which is taught in Lent Term.
Formative coursework: Weekly problem sets.
Indicative reading: Brealey, Myers and Allen, Principles of Corporate Finance.
Assessment: A two-hour exam in ST.

---

FM474 Half Unit
Finance II
This information is for the 2012/13 session.
Teacher responsible: Dr Maria Cecilia Bustamante, OLD M2.13
Availability: Optional for MSc Management students. Students from other taught post-graduate programmes with permission of the course director. This course is not open to students in the MSc Accounting and Finance and in the MSc Finance and Economics.
This is a second course in financial analysis for students with a knowledge of the topics covered in Finance I. The course starts with the determination of the cost of capital for a firm in an efficient market. It then introduces the principles of financial options and shows how puts and calls can be priced. These tools are applied to the valuation of real options, that is, real investments where payoffs are affected by the options available to the firm in how the projects will be operated. After seeing the equivalence between the liabilities of the levered firm and financial options, the problem of capital structure and financial policy are further studied. The course closes with more advanced topics including convertible bonds and the decision of the firm to list its shares on a stock exchange.
Teaching: Ten three-hour lecture and seminar sessions.
Formative coursework: Weekly problem sets.
Indicative reading: Brealey, Myers and Allen, Principles of Corporate Finance.
Assessment: A two-hour exam in the ST (100%).

---

FM475 Half Unit
Financial Management (modular)
This information is for the 2012/13 session.
Teacher responsible: Professor Daniel Ferreira
Availability: MSc Global Management students only
Course content: The aim of the course is to provide a comprehensive overview of firms’ financial decision making. The course is designed to provide an applied and practical approach to finance, enabling the students to address topical issues that modern corporations face. In particular, the course builds on concepts in business strategy, valuation techniques, and capital structure theories, and applies those tools in a systematic and rigorous way to real-life financial management problems. After a brief introduction to financial markets, institutions, and instruments, the course focuses on corporate finance and business valuation. Topics such as mergers and acquisitions, initial public offerings, leveraged buyouts, and real options will also be covered.
Teaching: Taught during module three - 10 interactive lectures of 3 hours each
1. Introduction to financial markets
2. Measuring financial performance
3. The firm's financing decision
4. Risk, return, and the cost of capital
5. Discounted Cash Flow techniques
6. Business Valuation
7. Mergers and Acquisitions
8. Leveraged Buyouts
9. Initial Public Offerings
10. Financial and Real Options
Formative coursework: Feedback on class participation
Assessment: Assessed 2,000 word essay = 20%
Class participation = 15%
Take home individual project = 65%

---

FM492 Principles of Finance
This information is for the 2012/13 session.
Teachers responsible: Professor Christopher Polk, OLD 4.23 and Dr Mungo Wilson, OLD M2.17
Availability: Intended for MSc students who are not specialising in Accounting and Finance and who have not previously studied finance to a significant extent. Optional for MSc Regulation and MSc Regulation (Research), MSc Financial Mathematics, MSc Applicable Mathematics and MPA Public and Economic Policy/MPA Public Policy and Management/MPA International Development/MPA European Public and Economic Policy/MPA Public and Social Policy. This is a capped course. Students are required to make an application via LSE for You.
Pre-requisites: Students should have taken courses in quantitative methods and economics at an undergraduate level.
Course content: This course examines the theory of financial decision-making by firms and examines the behaviour of the capital markets in which these decisions are taken. The topics covered are the theory of capital budgeting under certainty in perfect and imperfect capital markets, portfolio theory, equity and bond markets, the capital asset pricing model, efficient markets, sources of funds, basic theory of capital structure and the cost of capital, company dividend decisions and financial markets and institutions.
Teaching: 40 lectures (FM212) of one-hour MT and LT and 20 classes (FM492.A) of two-hours MT and LT.
Formative coursework: Students are expected to produce written work for classes and to make positive contributions to class discussion.
Indicative reading: Detailed course programmes and reading lists are distributed at the start of the course. Illustrative texts include:

FM499

Dissertation

This information is for the 2012/13 session.

Teacher responsible: TBC

Availability: Only for students on the MSc Accounting and Finance programme, who elect to take this as an option in paper 3 or 4 and who wish to write a dissertation on a Finance topic. Permission to select the long essay option must be obtained from the MSc Accounting and Finance Programme Director by the end of the third week of MT. Students wishing to select this option must identify and secure agreement from a member of staff from the Department of Finance who is willing to provide supervision for the dissertation.

Course content: The dissertation may focus on analysing the relevant literature and other source material on a particular topic and writing a critical survey or commentary, indicating clearly the main problems and their nature, or investigating and reporting on a selected problem, either by some small-scale empirical research, or by using information derived from secondary sources. The dissertation must identify relevant issues, sustain reasoned argument, and draw supportable conclusions. It must be arranged in an organised manner and include a full bibliography.

Teaching: There is no teaching associated with the dissertation, but students who select this option are encouraged to attend the dissertation workshop sessions organised by the Teaching and Learning Centre.

Assessment: The dissertation outline must be approved in the LT by the supervisor. The submission deadline is Monday 11 June 2012. The dissertation should be double-spaced, on A4 paper, with a maximum world limit of 10,000 words, not including Appendices.

FM4E1

Economics Finance Option 1

This information is for the 2012/13 session.

Availability: MSc Economics, MSc Economics (Research), MSc Economics (two-year programme), MSc Econometrics and Mathematical Economics, MSc Econometrics and Mathematical Economics (Research), MSc Econometrics and Mathematical Economics (two-year programme)

Course content: Finance option course for Department of Economics students, please see course descriptions associated with FM440 and FM4T0.

Indicative reading: See FM440 and FM4T0

Assessment: See FM440 and FM4T0

FM4E2

Economics Finance Option 2

This information is for the 2012/13 session.

Availability: MSc Economics, MSc Economics (Research), MSc Economics (two-year programme), MSc Econometrics and Mathematical Economics, MSc Econometrics and Mathematical Economics (Research), MSc Econometrics and Mathematical Economics (two-year programme)

Course content: Finance option course for Department of Economics students, please see course descriptions associated with FM402 and FM4U1.

Indicative reading: See FM402 and FM4U1

Assessment: See FM402 and FM4U1

FM4E3

Economics Finance Option 3

This information is for the 2012/13 session.

Availability: MSc Economics, MSc Economics (Research), MSc Economics (two-year programme), MSc Econometrics and Mathematical Economics, MSc Econometrics and Mathematical Economics (Research), MSc Econometrics and Mathematical Economics (two-year programme)

Course content: Finance option course for Department of Economics students, please see course descriptions associated with FM402 and FM4T3.

Indicative reading: See FM402 and FM4T3

Assessment: See FM402 and FM4T3

FM4E4

Economics Finance Option 4

This information is for the 2012/13 session.

Availability: MSc Economics, MSc Economics (Research), MSc Economics (two-year programme), MSc Econometrics and Mathematical Economics, MSc Econometrics and Mathematical Economics (Research), MSc Econometrics and Mathematical Economics (two-year programme)

Course content: Finance option course for Department of Economics students, please see course descriptions associated with FM413 and FM4T0.

Indicative reading: See FM413 and FM4T0

Assessment: See FM413 and FM4T0

FM4T0

Half Unit

Financial Risk Analysis Dissertation

This information is for the 2012/13 session.

Availability: For MSc Finance and Economics students only.

Course content: See entry for FM402

Assessment: 6,000 word dissertation on a topic to be agreed with the course teacher. The dissertation option is to be chosen in only one Half Unit module, with its outline approved in the LT by the course teacher and the student’s supervisor. Deadline is Monday 17 June 2013. Please note that MSc Finance and Economics (Research) students can submit a dissertation of 6,000-10,000 words.

FM4T1

Half Unit

Forecasting Financial Time Series Dissertation

This information is for the 2012/13 session.

Availability: For MSc Finance and Economics students and MSc Finance (full-time).

Course content: See entry for FM404

Assessment: 6,000 word dissertation on a topic to be agreed with the course teacher. The dissertation option is to be chosen in only one Half Unit module, with its outline approved in the LT by the course teacher and the student’s supervisor. Deadline is Monday 17 June 2013. Please note that MSc Finance and Economics (Research) students can submit a dissertation of 6,000-10,000 words.

FM4T2

Half Unit

Applied Corporate Finance Dissertation

This information is for the 2012/13 session.

Availability: MSc Finance and Economics students only.

Course content: See entry for FM421

Assessment: 6,000 word dissertation on a topic to be agreed with the course teacher. The dissertation option is to be chosen in only one Half Unit module, with its outline approved in the LT by the course teacher and the student's supervisor. Deadline is Monday 17 June 2013.

Please note that MSc Finance and Economics (Research) students can submit a dissertation of 6,000-10,000 words.

---

FM4T3 Half Unit

Corporate Finance Theory Dissertation

This information is for the 2012/13 session.

Availability: MSc Finance and Economics and MSc Finance (full-time) students only.

Course content: See entry for FM440

Assessment: 6,000 word dissertation on a topic to be agreed with the course teacher. The dissertation option is to be chosen in only one Half Unit module, with its outline approved in the LT by the course teacher and the student’s supervisor. Deadline is Monday 17 June 2013.

Please note that MSc Finance and Economics (Research) students can submit a dissertation of 6,000-10,000 words.

---

FM4T4 Half Unit

Cases in Corporate Finance Dissertation

This information is for the 2012/13 session.

Availability: MSc Finance (part-time) and MSc Finance (full-time) students only.

Course content: See entry for FM414

Assessment: 6,000 word dissertation in lieu of examination (70%) on a topic to be agreed with the course teacher, and coursework (30%). The dissertation option is to be chosen in only one Half Unit module, with its outline approved in the LT by the course teacher and the student’s supervisor. Deadline is Monday 17 June 2013.

---

FM4T5 Half Unit

Portfolio Management Dissertation

This information is for the 2012/13 session.

Availability: MSc Finance and Economics students only

Course content: See entry for FM445

Assessment: 6,000 word dissertation on a topic to be agreed with the course teacher. The dissertation option is to be chosen in only one Half Unit module, with its outline approved in the LT by the course teacher and the student’s supervisor. Deadline is Monday 17 June 2013.

Please note that MSc Finance and Economics (Research) students can submit a dissertation of 6,000-10,000 words.

---

FM4T6 Half Unit

Topics in Portfolio Management Dissertation

This information is for the 2012/13 session.

Availability: MSc Finance (full-time) and MSc Finance (part-time) students only

Course content: See entry for FM406

Assessment: 6,000 word dissertation in lieu of exam (90%) on a topic to be agreed with the course teacher, and coursework (10%). The dissertation option is to be chosen in only one Half Unit module, with its outline approved in the LT by the course teacher and the student’s supervisor. Deadline is Monday 17 June 2013.

---

FM4T7 Half Unit

Global Financial System Dissertation

This information is for the 2012/13 session.

Availability: For MSc Finance and Economics students and MSc Finance (part-time).

Course content: See entry for FM447

Assessment: 6,000 word dissertation on a topic to be agreed with the course teacher. The dissertation option is to be chosen in only one Half Unit module, with its outline approved in the LT by the course teacher and the student’s supervisor. Deadline Monday 17 June 2013.

Please note that MSc Finance and Economics (Research) students can submit a dissertation of 6,000-10,000 words.

---

FM4T8 Half Unit

Financial Engineering Dissertation

This information is for the 2012/13 session.

Availability: MSc Finance (part-time) and MSc Finance (full-time) students only.

Course content: See entry for FM408

Assessment: 6,000 word dissertation in lieu of examination (80%) on a topic to be agreed with the course teacher, and coursework (20%). The dissertation option is to be chosen in only one Half Unit module, with its outline approved in the LT by the course teacher and the student’s supervisor. Deadline Monday 17 June 2013.

---

FM4T9 Half Unit

International Finance Dissertation

This information is for the 2012/13 session.

Availability: MSc Finance and Economics and MSc Finance (full-time) students only.

Course content: See entry for FM472

Assessment: 6,000 word dissertation on a topic to be agreed with the course teacher. The dissertation option is to be chosen in only one Half Unit module, with its outline approved in the LT by the course teacher and the student’s supervisor. Deadline is Monday 17 June 2013.

Please note that MSc Finance and Economics (Research) students can submit a dissertation of 6,000-10,000 words.

---

FM4U1 Half Unit

Fixed Income Markets Dissertation

This information is for the 2012/13 session.

Availability: MSc Finance and Economics and MSc Finance (full-time) students only.

Course content: See entry for FM413

Assessment: 6,000 word dissertation on a topic to be agreed with the course teacher. The dissertation option is to be chosen in only one Half Unit module, with its outline approved in the LT by the course teacher and the student’s supervisor. Deadline is Monday 17 June 2013.

Please note that MSc Finance and Economics (Research) students can submit a dissertation of 6,000-10,000 words.

---

FM4U2 Half Unit

Quantitative Methods for Finance and Risk Analysis

This information is for the 2012/13 session.

Availability: For MSc Finance and Economics students only.

Course content: See entry for FM442

Assessment: 6,000 word dissertation on a topic to be agreed with the course teacher. The dissertation option is to be chosen in only one Half Unit module, with its outline approved in the LT by the course teacher and the student's supervisor. Deadline is Monday 11 June 2012. Please note that MSc Finance and Economics (Research) students can submit a dissertation of 6,000-10,000 words.

FM4U5  Half Unit
Fixed Income Securities and Credit Markets
Dissertation
This information is for the 2012/13 session.
Availability: For MSc Finance (part-time) and MSc Finance (full-time) students only.
Course content: See entry for FM405
Assessment: 6,000 word dissertation in lieu of exam (80%) on a topic to be agreed with the course teacher, and coursework (20%). The dissertation option is to be chosen in only one Half Unit module, with its outline approved in the LT by the course teacher and the student’s supervisor. Deadline is Monday 17 June 2013.

FM4U7  Half Unit
Applied Financial Valuation Dissertation
This information is for the 2012/13 session.
Availability: For MSc Finance (part-time) and MSc Finance (full-time) students only.
Course content: See entry for FM407
Assessment: 6,000 word dissertation in lieu of exam (70%) on a topic to be agreed with the course teacher, and coursework (30%). The dissertation option is to be chosen in only one Half Unit module, with its outline approved in the LT by the course teacher and the student’s supervisor. Deadline is Monday 17 June 2013.

FM4U9  Half Unit
Risk Management for Financial Institutions
Dissertation
This information is for the 2012/13 session.
Availability: For MSc Finance (full-time) and MSc Finance (part-time) students only.
Course content: See entry for FM409
Assessment: 6,000 word dissertation in lieu of examination (90%) on a topic to be agreed with the course teacher, and coursework (10%). The dissertation option is to be chosen in only one Half Unit module, with its outline approved in the LT by the course teacher and the student’s supervisor. Deadline is Monday 17 June 2013.

GI400  Gender Theories in the Modern World: An Interdisciplinary Approach
This information is for the 2012/13 session.
Teacher responsible: Dr Sumi Madhok, COL. S.04A
Availability: This is a compulsory course for students on MSc Gender, MSc Gender (Research), MSc Gender, Development and Globalisation, MSc Gender, Policy and Inequalities and MSc Gender, Media and Culture. Optional for MSc Development Studies.
Course content: The course aims to enable students to: become familiar with the fullest range of gender theories with particular attention to the intersections of gender, sexuality and race; develop a critical appreciation of these different theories of gender; use gender theories to inform their appreciation of existing work in their own disciplines and in an interdisciplinary context; use the analysis of gender relations as a basis for case study evaluation and research. It is a full unit course and begins with a review of the formative influences on the development of gender theory, including the sex/gender distinction, economics and production/reproduction, theories of difference and the implications for analysis of a variety of sites including political representation, psychoanalysis and its impact on considering aspects of the social sexualities in a global context, theories of power and discourse, and questions raised by postcolonial theory. The course includes a number of sessions on gender, culture and global feminism, addressing issues of cultural relativism, human rights, agency and masculinities. The course considers the impact of gender analysis on key areas of social science investigation.
Teaching: The course is taught in 20 x one-and-a-half hour sessions (GI400) plus 20 x one-and-a-half-hour seminars. It is divided into blocks of related lectures and linked seminars.
Assessment: One three-hour written examination, 2 questions (50%) and one essay of 3,000 words (50%). There will also be a formative essay to be written during the first term.

GI402  Gender, Knowledge and Research Practice
This information is for the 2012/13 session.
Teacher responsible: Dr Sumi Madhok, COL. S.04A
Availability: This is a compulsory unit for MSc Gender, MSc Gender (Research), MSc Gender, Media and Culture, Gender MPhil students in the first year of registration, and is strongly recommended as an optional unit for MSc Gender, Development and Globalisation, MSc Gender, Policy and Inequalities and MSc Culture and Society students. It is also available as an optional course to MSc Media, Communication and Development students. Other students welcome in consultation with the teacher responsible.
Course content: This course introduces students to the central issues at stake in designing and carrying out gender research at graduate and postgraduate level and beyond. The course maps the history of debates about gender and feminist research, and asks what difference it makes to take gender as the subject or object of research. Of particular concern are the ethical and political issues arising from doing gender research with respect to representing others and seeking to influence and engage with broader social contexts. Students will be introduced to debates about subjectivity and objectivity, the relationship between researcher and researched, and asked to evaluate the usefulness of particular methods and approaches. The course is interdisciplinary, introducing students to a range of perspectives on knowledge production and research practice. The course offers critiques of existing knowledge practices, and highlights the specific challenges to ‘mainstream knowledge’ that come from gendered and feminist perspectives. It explores how knowledge is produced and offers critical assessments of the
GI403 Half Unit
Gender and Media Representation

This information is for the 2012/13 session.

Teacher responsible: Dr Sadie Wearing, COL.5.04D

Availability: This course is a Half Unit, which is available to all suitably qualified students. It is especially recommended to those students on MSc Gender, MSc Gender, Policy and Inequalities, MSc Organisational and Social Psychology, MSc Media and Communications, MSc Media and Communications (Research) and MSc Media, Communication and Development. It is a compulsory course for students on MSc Gender, Media and Culture.

Course content: This course aims to enable students to think critically about representations of gender in a range of different media; to apply a range of theoretical and methodological approaches to the study of the media; to examine changing representations of gender in the context of wider social changes and to explore questions concerning the interpretation and use of different media and their products. The course focuses on examples largely drawn from Anglo-American media and usually includes topics such as news media and gender; gendered approaches to contemporary cinema; advertising and gender and critically explores terms such as ‘postfeminism’ in relation to media content. The course also considers themes such as the nature of contemporary celebrity and questions of media representations gender in relation to dimensions such as sexuality, class, race, age and (dis)ability.

Teaching: Two hour lecture (incorporating audiovisual material) and one hour seminar plus occasional screenings of material to be discussed in class. Students are expected to carry out directed readings, and to maintain familiarity with contemporary UK media.

Formative coursework: 1500-2000 word essay due end of week 5

Assessment: One 4,000 word essay to be submitted at the beginning of the LT (100%).
GI406  Half Unit
Feminist Political Theory
This information is for the 2012/13 session.
Teacher responsible: Professor Anne Phillips, CON.5.07
Availability: For MSc Political Theory, MSc Political Theory (Research), MSc Gender, MSc Gender, Development and Globalisation, MSc Gender, Policy and Inequalities. Other graduate students may attend by permission.
Course content: This course covers some of the central debates in contemporary feminist political theory, with a particular emphasis on the legacy and usefulness of liberalism. The course focuses on debates and differences within feminist political theory, rather than justifications for, or defences of, feminist political theory. Among the problems raised are conceptions of the individual and individual autonomy; the relative invisibility of gender issues in mainstream literature on justice and equality; the tendency to conceive of equality in sex-blind terms; the tendency to presume a universally applicable set of norms. We consider the theoretical debates in relation to a number of contemporary political issues. Topics likely to be addressed include: feminism and contract, individualism and autonomy, identity politics, equality and the politics of difference, surrogacy, multiculturalism, and universalism.
Teaching: 10 one-hour lectures followed by ten one-hour seminars in the MT. For one week, students will be divided into two groups and asked to stage a debate on the issue of prostitution.
Indicative reading: Most of the material is in the form of articles, and a detailed list will be handed out at the beginning of the course. The following is only an indicative list: J Squires, Gender in Political Theory; C Pateman The Sexual Contract; I M Young, Justice and the Politics of Difference; W Brown, States of Injury; A Phillips Multiculturalism without Culture; C Mackenzie and N Stoljar (eds) Relational Autonomy.
Assessment: One 4,000 word essay (100%).

GI407  Globalisation, Gender and Development
This information is for the 2012/13 session.
Teachers responsible: Dr Marsha Henry and Professor Diane Perrons.
Availability: Compulsory for MSc Gender, Development and Globalisation; and recommended for LSE-Sciences PO Double Degree in Urban Policy, MSc Gender, MSc Gender, Policy and Inequalities, MSc Global Politics, MSc Human Rights, MSc Human Geography and Urban Studies (Research), MSc Management, MSc Development Studies, MSc Development Management, MSc Social Policy and Development, MSc Race, Ethnicity and Post-Colonial Studies, PhD Programme in Human Geography, PhD Programme in Planning Studies, MPhil/PhD in Regional and Urban Planning. Other suitably qualified and interested graduate students may take or audit the course with the permission of the teacher responsible.
Note that this course cannot be combined with GI409 Gender, Globalisation and Development: An Introduction.
Course content: This course will provide students with a thorough knowledge of two key interconnected and intersecting literatures: gender and development and gender and globalisation. The course provides students with an introduction to the history of the field of gender and development studies (from women in development to gender, development and culture) and globalisation and gender, in particular how globalisation is associated with widening social, spatial and gender inequalities. The course is organised as a number of themed blocks including: 1: definitions and concepts; contemporary theories of gender, development and globalisation; gender, and poverty; postcolonial and anti-racist critiques; 2: Work, development and global divisions; 3 regulating bodies; 4: Engendering Security; and 5: Changes, Challenges and Policies.
The course draws on a wide range of perspectives and considers diverse analytical tools for the analysis of gender, development and globalisation. Emphasis is placed on the analysis and theorisation of socio-economic and spatial aspects of change, particularly changes in working patterns, living arrangements, experiences and subjectivities. Empirical illustrations are provided through a series of case studies and readings of ethnographies linking global and local issues and the lives of people across the globe and in the final part of the course more detailed consideration is given to economic transformation and changing gender relations in China, India, Latin America and the transitional economies in central and Eastern Europe.
Teaching: MT 10 x one-hour lectures and 10 x one-hour seminars, LT 10 x one-hour lectures and 10 x 1-hour seminars.
Formative coursework: One formative essay (1,500 words, excluding bibliography), due in MT.
Assessment: One 3,000 word essay (50%) due in MT and an unseen two-hour examination in ST (50%).
GI408  Half Unit  Not available in 2012/13 Cultural Constructions of the Body
This information is for the 2012/13 session.
Teacher responsible: Dr Jin Haritaworn, COL. B514.
Availability: This course is available to any suitably qualified Masters students within the School. It is likely to be of interest to students taking the following degree programmes: MSc Gender, MSc Gender (Research), MSc Gender, Media and Culture, MSc Gender, Policy and Inequalities, MSc Gender, Development and Globalisation, MSc Race, Ethnicity and Postcolonial Studies, MSc Culture and Society, MSc Social and Cultural Psychology, MSc Sociology, MSc Media, Communication and Development, MSc Media and Communications and MSc Media and Communications (Research).
Pre-requisites: There are no formal pre requisites for this course, but students should approach the course convenor to discuss whether it would be appropriate for them to take this option.
Course content: This course brings together material from sociology, cultural and media studies, gender studies, critical race and postcolonial studies, queer and transgender theory, history, philosophy and critical legal studies to examine contemporary constructions of the body. Students will be presented with key concepts such as performativity, transgression, body projects, affect and bi/o/necropolitics. However, the course is not primarily designed to equip students with theoretical knowledge at a high level of abstraction, but rather to allow them to engage with concrete issues and contemporary debates around embodiment. Topics likely to be addressed include: Theories of the body; Bodies, affect and space; Body modification; Constructing age; Disability; Transgendered bodies and representation; ‘Mixed race’ phenomenology; Feminism and the wounded body; War, state racism and the precarious body; Beauty and the black body.
Teaching: This course will be taught by means of a weekly lecture followed by a seminar in the MT.
Assessment: One assessed essay of 3,000 words (50%) to be handed in on the first day of Lent Term 2010 and one two-hour examination (50%) in June.

GI409  Half Unit  Gender, Globalisation and Development: An Introduction
This information is for the 2012/13 session.
Teachers responsible: Dr Marsha Henry and Professor Diane Perrons.
Availability: MSc Gender; MSc Gender (Research); MSc Gender, Policy and Inequalities; MSc Gender, Media and Culture; MSc Environment and Development; MSc Human Geography and Urban Studies (Research); MSc Regional and Urban Planning Studies; MSc Human Rights, MSc Global Politics, MSc Empires, Colonialism and Globalisation. Other suitably qualified and interested graduate students may take or audit the course with the permission of the teacher responsible.
The course cannot be taken alongside GI407 Globalisation, Gender and Development.
Course content: The course provides students with an introduction to the history of the field of gender, globalisation and development studies; it provides an analysis of how globalisation is associated with widening social, spatial and gender inequalities and an examination of some of the consequences of contemporary economic, social and spatial restructuring on the organisation of daily life in the Global North and South. The course is organised in two main blocks; 1: definitions and concepts; contemporary theories of gender, development and globalisation; gender, and poverty; postcolonial and anti-racist critiques; 2: Work, development and global divisions. The course draws on a wide range of perspectives and considers diverse analytical tools for the analysis of gender, development and globalisation. Emphasis is placed on the analysis and theorisation of socio-economic and spatial aspects of change, particularly changes in working patterns, living arrangements, experiences and subjectivities. Empirical illustrations are provided through a series of case studies and readings of ethnographies linking global and local issues and the lives of people across the globe.
Teaching: 10 x 1 hour lecture, and 10 x 1 hour seminar MT.
Formative coursework: One formative essay (1,500 words, excluding bibliography).
In addition a range of institutional reports will be referred to including for example ILO (2010) Moving Towards Decent Work for Domestic Workers: An Overview of ILO’s Work.
Assessment: One essay of 4,000 words (100%) due in the Lent term.

GI410  Half Unit  Screening the Present: contemporary cinema and cultural critique
This information is for the 2012/13 session.
Teacher responsible: Dr Sadie Wearing, COL 5.04D.
Availability: Optional course on MSc Gender, Media and Culture, MSc Gender, MSc Gender, Development and Globalisation, MSc Media and Communications, MSc Media and Communications (Research) and MSc Culture and Society. The course is also available as an outside option where regulations permit.
Pre-requisites: Students need to have an awareness of and interest in contemporary cultural theory.
Course content: The aims of the course are to offer students the opportunity to critically explore contemporary international cinema as a site for the interrogation and reproduction of contested contemporary social and political processes such as migration, globalisation and conflict. The course will link cinematic... representations to the preoccupations of contemporary cultural theory in relation to themes such as diaspora and identity, colonial/postcolonial memory, neo liberalism and cultural dislocations, religion and subjectivity and gendered violence. The course will introduce students to a range of international film and will develop the critical tools for the analysis of both mainstream and marginal (or marginalised) cultural productions. It will offer students a range of critical and theoretical writing on film considering questions such as cinema as oppositional practice, the emergence of transnational cinema, questions of representation, global spectatorship and ‘witnessing’ and the affective dimensions of cinema. Indicative films are: Unknown Pleasures (dir. Jia Zhang-Ke), Persepolis (dir. Marjane Satrapi), Black Skin White Mask (dir. Isaac Julien) Waltz with Bashir (dir. Ari Folman) Cache (dir. Michael Hennke), The Road to Guantanamo (dir. Michael Winterbottom).

Teaching: Ten hours of lectures and 10 hours of seminars in the LT. 10 x 2 hours screening sessions in the LT.

Formative coursework: 1,500 word timed essay including an element of film analysis.

GI412 Half Unit Narratives of the Modern

This information is for the 2012/13 session.

Teacher responsible: Professor Mary Evans, COL.5.04I

Availability: MSc Gender and MSc Gender, Media and Culture. The course is also available as an outside option where regulations permit.

Course content: The course will cover the following topics:

1. A review of various accounts of individual ‘stories’, accounts from which various forms of ‘theory’ have been developed. Amongst these accounts might be Freud’s account of Dora, Carolyn Steedman’s memoir of her mother.
2. The modern ‘self’ of women; the ways in which women have written their history, had history written about them and how those narratives have been a crucial part of the modern and its understanding of the individual.
3. The question of the ‘who’ in narrative; the literature on the recovery of the unknown, a form of recovery which has formed a considerable tradition (from Rowbotham to Spivak) in feminist literature, whilst that very recovery carries with it questions about power, messages received and lost and a form of reading which invites what has been described as the ‘Great Story’. This part of the course will consider the subject of the imposition of meaning on individual acts and memories and the relationship between individual and collective subjectivity.
4. A review of the methods and the locations of the writing of auto/biography.

Teaching: 10 hours of lectures and 10 hours of seminars in the LT.

Formative coursework: One 1,500 word essay.

GI413 Half Unit
Gender and Militarisation
This information is for the 2012/13 session.
Teacher responsible: Dr Marsha Henry, COL. 5.04H
Availability: MSc Gender, MSc Gender (Research), MSc Gender, Development and Globalisation, MSc Gender, Policy and Inequalities, MSc Gender, Media and Culture, MSc Comparative Politics (Conflict stream), MSc Human Rights, MSc International Relations, MSc International Relations Theory, and MSc International Relations Theory. Also available to students taking MSc International Relations as part of the LSE-Sciences Po Double Degree in Affaires Internationales.
Course content: This course will provide students with an introduction to militarisation and its gendered basis and effects. Students will be introduced to social critiques of militarisation, feminist just war theory, men's and women's experiences of conflict, violence and war, gender issues within a variety of national militaries including issues of diversity in recruitment and retention, gender and the war on terror and the gender politics of participation in peace and anti-militarisation activities.
Teaching: Ten hours of lectures and 10 hours of seminars in LT.
Formative coursework: 1 X 1,500 word essay due in Week 5, AND 1 X 250 word blog posting between Week 3 and 8, feedback provided online.
Assessment: 1 X 3,000 word essay (75%) due in Week 1 of summer term, AND 1 X 2,000 word diary (25%) due in Week 10.

GI414 Half Unit
Gender and Social Policy: Theory and Practice
This information is for the 2012/13 session.
Teacher responsible: Dr Wendy Sigle Rushton, COL.5.04E
Availability: Compulsory for MSc Gender, Policy and Inequalities; optional for MSc Population and Development, MSc Social Policy (European and Comparative Social Policy), MPA Public and Economic Policy, MPA Public and Social Policy/MPA International Development/MPA European Public and Economic Policy, MSc Social Policy (Research) and MSc Social Policy (Social Policy and Planning).
Course content: The course looks at two distinct aspects of gender and social policy: the importance of gender in explaining the structure and development of social policy and the use of gender in analysing inequalities that arise in access to and outcomes of social policies. Feminist perspectives on welfare are explored, while notions of justice, citizenship and inequality are examined as tools to analyse social policy. The use of gender as a category of analysis is examined and attention is paid to the potentially modifying effects of race and class. Policy-making is analysed to see how gender roles and the form, functioning and responsibilities of the family are understood.
Teaching: 10 x one-and-a-half hour lectures and 10 x one-and-a-half hour seminars, LT.
Indicative reading: Most material is based on articles and a reading list will be provided at the beginning of the course. Other sources are: R. Crompton et al., Women, Men, Work and Family in Europe, 2007; H. M. Dahl et al. (eds) Europeanization, Care and Gender: Global Complexities, 2011; M. Daly and K. Rake, Gender and the Welfare State, 2003; G. Esping Andersen et al., Why We Need a New Welfare State, 2003; R. Lister, Citizenship: Feminist Perspectives, 2nd edit, 2003; J. Lewis (ed), Work-Family Balance, Gender and Policy, 2009; J. Gornick and M. Meyers, Families that Work, 2011.
Assessment: A 2,500-word essay to be handed in on the first day of ST (50%). A two-hour written examination in the ST (50%).

GI415 Half Unit
Gender and European Welfare States
This information is for the 2012/13 session.
Teacher responsible: Dr Ania Plomien, COL.5.04F
Course content: The course analyses the different ways in which gender is incorporated into national welfare states and the impact this has on particular, national structures of gender inequalities. The course covers the theory and methodology of comparative studies and their applicability to the analysis of gender, especially how well existing typologies of welfare states fare when gender is the focus of analysis, and the role of the European Union in the development of more gender equitable outcomes in EU countries. A number of key areas will be studied, including: the organisation of caring services; family policy; provisions for lone parents; the labour market and labour market policies; the practices and roles of men, especially regarding fatherhood; and aging. In looking at these areas students will be encouraged to contrast approaches of different families of nations (e.g. Bismarckian, Scandinavian, or Central East European countries) as well as looking at the particularism of national approaches.
Teaching: 10 x one-hour lectures and 10 x one-hour seminars, LT.
Indicative reading: Most material is based on articles and a reading list will be provided at the beginning of the course. Other sources are: R. Crompton et al., Women, Men, Work and Family in Europe, 2007; H. M. Dahl et al. (eds) Europeanization, Care and Gender: Global Complexities, 2011; M. Daly and K. Rake, Gender and the Welfare State, 2003; G. Esping Andersen et al., Why We Need a New Welfare State, 2003; R. Lister, Citizenship: Feminist Perspectives, 2nd edit, 2003; J. Lewis (ed), Work-Family Balance, Gender and Policy, 2009; J. Gornick and M. Meyers, Families that Work, 2003.
Assessment: A 2,500-word essay to be handed in on the first day of ST (50%). A two-hour written examination in the ST (50%).
GI417   Half Unit
Gender, Population and Policy
This information is for the 2012/13 session.
Teacher responsible: Dr Wendy Sigle-Rushton, COL.5.04E.
Availability: MSc Gender, Policy and Inequalities, MSc Gender, Development and Globalisation, MSc Gender. Available as an outside option where regulations permit.
Course content: With the exception of the introductory lecture, each week we will introduce students to the measurement, interpretation, and gendered policy issues surrounding a “big picture” population concern.
1. Introduction
2. The Age Structure of the Population and the Welfare State
3. Explanations for Fertility Decline
4. From Population Control to Reproductive Health Policy
5. The First Demographic Transition and the Demographic Window of Opportunity
6. The Second Demographic Transition and Lowest-Low Fertility
7. Son Preference, Sex Ratios and Missing Women
8. The Epidemiological Transition and the Feminization of Ageing
9. Theorising Gendered Migration Streams
10. Effects of Migration in Sending and Receiving Areas.
Teaching: 10 x 3 hour sessions taught in a workshop format in MT. 1 x 1.5 hour review session in ST.
Formative coursework: Students will be asked to produce a 2,000 word essay (indicative of the kinds of questions they will encounter in the summative essay and exam) and to provide a self-assessment of the work that they have produced. This should be uploaded to Moodle in week 6 and will be returned by week 8.

Assessment: One 4,000 word essay (100%).
L2. Feminist economics and policy:
- contemporary concerns at macro and micro levels
- key analytical concepts and methodology

Part 2. Feminist Economics: the micro level

L3. Understanding national ‘economies’ and macro-economic policies

L4. International trade, financial governance and gender equality

L5. Economics of gender and development: gender equality as ‘smart economics’

L6. Gender budgeting for inclusive development: theory and practice

Part 3 Feminist Economics; the micro level

L7. Feminist Economics perspectives on labour markets, segregation and the gender wage gap

L8. Economics of the household, care and reproductive work

L9. Analysing intersectionality: linking gender, race and class

L10 Connecting the scales – a holistic approach to economic provisioning, sustainable development and well-being.

Teaching: 10 one-hour lectures and 10 one-hour seminars in the LT.

6 hours of workshops on concepts and methods in LT

Formative coursework: One formative essay (2000 words) on which written feedback will be provided Assessment: One two-hour examination (40%) and one 3,000 word essay (60%).

GI499 Dissertation

This information is for the 2012/13 session.

Teacher responsible: Dr Ania Plomien, COL. 5.04F and other members of GI staff.

Availability: Compulsory for those on MSc Gender, MSc Gender (Research), MSc Gender, Media and Culture, MSc Gender, Development and Globalisation and MSc Gender, Policy and Inequalities.

Course content: The dissertation may be on any approved topic within the field of the MSc programme studied. There will be a series of compulsory and optional workshops in the Michaelmas and Lent Terms supporting this process. Students will be introduced to dissertation guidelines, common difficulties, ethical issues, basics in research practice, managing sources, and the process of research and writing. The sessions will consider challenges raised by quantitative and qualitative methods, and include examples from and approaches to policy research, discourse and narrative analysis, oral and visual history forms of narrative, visual and media analysis.

The workshop will be team taught within the Gender Institute according to expertise, and will involve a high level of student participation.

Teaching: Combination of compulsory and optional up to 2-hour dissertation workshops and individual supervision assigned early in the Lent Term.

Assessment: 100% Dissertation. In the Lent Term students will submit milestone documents: (a) title or topic of research; (b) summary proposal including research question, methodological and analytical / theoretical approach; (c) and at the beginning of Summer Term an annotated bibliography. Two hard copies of the Dissertation (plus one electronic copy) must be submitted on 2 September. They must not exceed the 10,000 word limit. They must be word processed, be fully referenced using a recognised citation system, and contain an abstract and page of contents.

GV403 Half Unit Network Regulation

This information is for the 2012/13 session.

Teacher responsible: Professor Mark Thatcher

Availability: This course is for students on the MSc Public Policy and Administration, MSc Public Policy and Administration (Research), MSc Regulation and MSc Regulation (Research). Also available MPA Public and Economic Policy/MPA Public Policy and Management/MPA International Development/MPA European Public and Economic Policy, MSc Comparative Politics, MSc Politics and Government in the European Union and LSE-Sciences Po Double Degree in European Studies.

Teaching: 10 weekly two hour seminars in LT in a variable format: Two revision sessions in ST.

Formative coursework: All students are expected to submit two non-assessed essays.

Course content: The course explores analytic issues in network regulation from a generic and comparative perspective. The course explores in cross-sectoral and cross-national perspective the regulation of utilities (in particular telecommunications, electricity, gas, water and railways), covering issues such as privatisation and ownership, regulatory reform in the comparative context of several countries, as well as regulation in the context of regional integration. The course considers generic themes in network regulation, such as the rationale for regulatory agencies, as well as the linkages and trade-offs between issues of liberalisation, universal service and security of supply.

Topics include: The nature of utilities and network service and the rationale for regulation; processes and styles of privatisation and regulatory reform in cross-national and cross-sectoral perspective in the context of developed and lesser developed countries; network regulation and development; the design of regulatory regimes.

Assessment: Consists of two parts: (i) a two-hour unseen written examination in the ST accounting for 75% of the marks; (ii) a single essay for assessment to be submitted by the end of the first week of the ST.

GV408 Half Unit Contemporary Disputes about Justice

This information is for the 2012/13 session.

Teacher responsible: Dr Katrin Flikschuh

Availability: For MSc Political Theory, MSc Political Theory
Course content: The course offers a critical analysis of some of the debates around distributive justice following the publication of John Rawls' A Theory of Justice in 1971. The focus is (a) on Rawlsian and post-Rawlsian methods of normative justifications in relation to distributive justice, and (b) on the extension of Rawls' domestic theory of justice to the global domain. The course begins with an overview of Rawls’ theory of justice and goes on to consider some critical responses to it. However, primary focus will be on Rawlsian global justice. Particular attention will be paid to the way in which issues of scope are introduced and dealt with methodologically and substantively. We shall consider attempted early extensions of the Rawlsian difference principle to the global domain and ensuing wider global justice debates, including human rights and arguments for humanitarian intervention. We shall ask whether scope-related issues affect the very way in which we conceive of justice, or whether they merely pose new substantive problems which can, in principle, be solved through the framework of traditional and domestic theories of justice such as Rawls’.

Teaching: 10 two-hour seminars in the MT and one-to-one advice session on writing the assessed essay in the ST.

Formative coursework: All students are expected to submit two non-assessed essays which will be marked and commented on but which do not count towards formal assessment of this course.

Assessment: One 6,000 word essay submitted at the end of week 6 of the ST (100%).

---

GV432 Half Unit

Government and Politics in China

This information is for the 2012/13 session.

Teacher responsible: Dr Chun Lin

Availability: For MSc Comparative Politics, MSc Global Politics and MSc China in Comparative Perspective. Students from other MSc programmes may take the course with the permission of the teacher responsible.

Course content: Historical and global conditions and contradictions of current economic, social and political transformation in the People's Republic of China; their rival explanations and interpretations.

Often in comparison with other postcommunist transitions, other Asian states and other developing countries, discussions of China will cover the following topics: historical and international contexts; geopolitics and political demography; central and local state power and central-local relations; bureaucracy as tradition and as invention; social structure and organisation, class, ethnic, and gender dimensions of citizenship; ideology, culture, democracy and legitimacy; nationalism, quasi-federalism, the Taiwan question; political economy, market liberalisation and globalisation; political modernity and reforms.

Teaching: 10 seminars in the MT and two seminars in the first and second weeks of the ST.

Formative coursework: Students are required to give at least one seminar presentation, and to write one 1,500 word essay, due in week 7 of the MT.

Assessment: A 5,000 word essay (100%) due in week 5 of the ST.

---

GV427 Half Unit

Democracy in East and South Asia

This information is for the 2012/13 session.

Teacher responsible: Dr Chun Lin

Availability: Primarily for MSc Comparative Politics and MSc Global Politics. Available to MSc Development Studies, MSc China in Comparative Perspective, MSc Politics and Communication and MSc Media, Communication and Development. Students from other programmes may take the course with the permission of the teacher responsible.

Course content: Recent political developments in East and South Asia in their historical and international contexts. In particular, how and why the idea of democracy has been contested and evolved in the region and in some cases catalysed social changes and/or regime transformation.

Historical, global and local stimuli and obstacles to democracy in the region. Development and democracy; modernisation and democratisation as non-parallel processes. Diverse paths in Asia to political modernity and alternative conceptions of democracy. Comparative studies of liberal and non-liberal models of democracy: India, Japan, the NICs, China and the communist experiments elsewhere. Debates over democracy as an ideology; sources of legitimacy; political culture and human rights. The politics of ethnicity, religion and gender; postcolonial nation-building and post-cold war institutional choices; nationalism and regional order in globalisation and world politics.

Teaching: 10 seminars in the LT and two seminars in the third and fourth weeks of the ST.

Formative coursework: Students are required to give at least one seminar presentation, and write one 1,500-word essay, due in Week 7 of the LT.

Assessment: A 2,000 word essay (50%) and a two-hour unseen written examination in the ST (50%).

---

GV436 Half Unit

National and Ethnic Conflict Regulation

This information is for the 2012/13 session.

Teacher responsible: Professor Sumantra Bose.

Availability: MSc Comparative Politics, MSc Global Politics, MSc Human Rights and MSc Empires, Colonialisation and Globalisation. Priority will generally be given to MSc Comparative Politics students and then to those on other programmes, who are welcome to apply but can be admitted only subject to availability of space.

All Students are required to obtain permission from the teaching department to take this course.

Course content: This course examines the range of strategies available to states and political elites seeking to regulate national and ethnic conflict. It explores when particular strategies are employed, and under what conditions they are likely to ‘succeed’. The literature drawn upon is primarily empirical political science but also includes political philosophy, policy analysis, international law and political sociology. The course materials are online on Moodle, the LSE’s electronic teaching and learning system.

A survey of 10 strategies of eliminating or democratically managing cultural, ethnic and ethno-national difference and conflict: genocide, expulsion, partition, secession, integration and assimilation, hegemonic control, devolution/autonomy and federalism, power-sharing and consociationalism, electoral system design, and language policy. The topic for each week is approached with reference to multiple case studies.

Teaching: 10 seminars in the MT and two seminars in the first and second weeks of the ST. The first meeting is a set-up and introductory session, and the last a revision session.

Formative coursework: Students are required to make at least one seminar presentation, and write one 2,000-word essay, due in Week 10 of the MT.

Assessment: Two-hour unseen written examination in the ST.

---

GV439 Half Unit

Government and Politics in Eastern Europe

This information is for the 2012/13 session.

Teacher responsible: Dr Vesselin Dimitrov

Availability: For MSc Politics and Government in the European Union, MSc Comparative Politics (all streams), MSc History of Nationalism, MSc European Studies: Ideas and Identities, and LSE-Sciences Po Double Degree in European Studies. Students on other programmes can take the course with the permission of the teacher responsible.

Course content: The course provides an analytical assessment of the transition from communism to liberal democracy in Central and Eastern Europe, with an analysis of institutional structures, party systems, government and public administration, nationalism and integration with the European Union, including the Eurozone. Topics covered include: The Communist system. Constitution-making and the development of democratic party systems. Reform of executive institutions and public administration. (Mis) management of ethnic conflict: the case of Yugoslavia. Integration with the European Union, including the Eurozone.

Teaching: 10 lectures and 10 seminars in the MT and two seminars in the third and fourth weeks of the ST.

Formative coursework: Students are required to produce two essays.

Assessment: Two-hour unseen written examination in the ST.

---

GV441 Half Unit

States and Markets

This information is for the 2012/13 session.

Teachers responsible: Dr David Woodruff and Dr Steffen Hertog

Availability: Primarily for MSc Comparative Politics (Politics and Markets). Also available, based on available space and with the approval of Dr Woodruff, to other MSc Comparative Politics streams, MSc Public Policy and Administration, MSc Political Science and Political Economy, MSc Public Policy and Administration (Research), MSc Development Studies, MSc Global Politics and LSE-PKU Double Degree in Public Administration and Government students.

Course content: To introduce politics students to basic economic theorising; to discuss the nature of markets; review contemporary discussions regarding the role of the state in the economy; provide a comparison of the relationship of states and markets in different political settings and historical contexts.

Topics: The state and the institutional foundations of markets. New challenges: changing corporate governance, international capital mobility, politics and economics of financial crisis.

Teaching: One hour lecture and 1.5 hour seminar per week in the MT and two seminars in the first and second weeks of the ST.

Formative coursework: All students are expected to submit one non-assessed essay.

Assessment: A two-hour unseen examination in the ST (100%).

---

GV442 Half Unit

Globalisation and Democracy

This information is for the 2012/13 session.

Teacher responsible: Mathias Koenig-Archibugi

Availability: Students on MSc Global Politics are guaranteed access. Students on MSc Comparative Politics, MSc International Migration and Public Policy, MPA Public and Economic Policy/MPA European Public and Economic Policy/MPA Public Policy and Management/MPA International Development/MPA European Public and Economic Policy/MPA Public and Social Policy, MSc Management and MSc Human Rights, MA/MSc History of International Relations, MA/MSc History of International Relations, MSc Empires, Colonialisation and Globalisation, MSc Global Media and Communications (with Fudan or USC) and other LSE graduate programmes may follow this course, depending on space and agreement of the course convenor.

Course content: The contemporary debate about globalisation raises profound questions about the changing nature and form of politics today. This course examines two dimensions of the debate: the impact of various forms of globalization on democratic and democratizing states, and the prospects for the democratization of global politics.

The course covers the following topics: 1) how democracy within states, both in affluent and developing countries, is affected by various dimensions of globalization, notably international trade and financial flows, transnational companies, migration and international institutions; and 2) whether and how global politics can be made more democratic, including an examination of the role played by international organizations, transnational activist networks and novel governance initiatives.

Teaching: 10 seminars in the MT and two in the ST.

Formative coursework: Students will produce one 2,000 word essay.

Consensus revisited; the policies and politics of the post-Washington consensus and the rise of the left.

Teaching:
10 lectures (GV444.1) and (GV444.2) 10 seminars in the LT and one revision seminar in the second week of the ST.

Assessment:
Two-hour unseen written examination in the ST.

---

GV445 Half Unit

European Politics: Comparative Analysis

This information is for the 2012/13 session.

Teachers responsible: Dr Alexander Herzog, Dr Michael Bruter, Professor Torun Dewan, and Dr Eiko Thiellmann.

Availability:
For MSc Politics and Government in the European Union, and MSc European Studies (Research).

Course content:
The course is intended to provide students with a systematic introduction to central conceptual and theoretical debates in the comparative analysis of politics and government in Europe. The core syllabus focuses on both traditional fields of comparative inquiry, such as the study of party competition and voting behaviour, and emerging fields of interest, such as European identity, immigration, Central banks, and Euroepaisation. The course takes a thematic approach and places particular emphasis on the diverse experiences of liberal democracy in individual European countries.

The main themes addressed include: European models of government; elections and electoral behaviour; party systems and representation; executive-legislative relations; courts and central banks; European identity; immigration; European integration and domestic institutional change.

Teaching:
10 lectures and 9 seminars in the MT and 2 revision sessions in the first two weeks of the ST.

Assessment:
Two-hour unseen written examination in the ST (75%). One 3,000 word essay to be handed in by the second week of the Lent Term (25%).
second weeks of the ST.

Formative coursework: All students are expected to submit one non-assessed essay.

Indicative reading: The course is focussed mainly on journal articles. However the following books are relevant to some of the topics covered:

Assessment: Two-hour written examination in the ST.

---

GV467 Half Unit Introduction to Comparative Politics

This information is for the 2012/13 session.

Teachers responsible: Dr David Woodruff, Dr Steffen Hertog and members of staff.

Availability: Compulsory for MSc Comparative Politics (all streams) EXCEPT Conflict Studies and MSc Comparative Politics (Research) students. Optional for MSc China in Comparative Perspective (space permitting). Optional for other students with the approval of Dr Woodruff.

Course content: This course serves as the ‘core’, compulsory course for most streams of the MSc in Comparative Politics and is intended to provide an overarching theoretical and methodological backdrop for all of the diverse course offerings available to students on this programme. The course introduces students to the field of Comparative Politics as represented in contemporary journals like Comparative Politics, Comparative Political Studies, and even Comparative Studies in Society and History, and among the various members of the Comparative Politics Group in the Government Department here at the LSE. Students examine the theoretical and methodological underpinnings of Comparative Politics, important critiques of these underpinnings, and diverse examples of ‘best practice’ in research and writing in this sub-field of the discipline of Politics or Political Science.

Lectures and seminar discussions focus both on important areas of research in comparative politics and methodological challenges involved. Readings treat such variegated topics of inquiry and debate in comparative politics as civil society, collective action, democracy, economic development, and ethnic conflict.

The course does not follow a ‘great books’ approach or focus on the various textbooks, ‘how to’ manuals, and meta-debates about Comparative Politics. Instead, the course treats examples of real existing Comparative Politics as practiced - and published - by leading scholars in the field in recent years. These examples are chosen to cover diverse forms of comparison, diverse modes of analysis, diverse topic areas, and diverse countries and regions of the world. Cutting across these forms of diversity are a set of questions that will be addressed throughout the course. These questions concern the possibilities and limitations of various forms of comparative analysis for explaining observable patterns in politics in diverse settings across different eras of world history.

Teaching: 10 weeks of lectures and seminars in MT and 2 lectures in the ST. Dr David Woodruff delivers the lectures for the course, whilst Dr Steffen Hertog and members of the Comparative Politics Group in the Department run the seminars.

Formative coursework: One unaessed essay of roughly 1,500 words.

Assessment: Two-hour unseen examination in the ST (100%).

---

GV476 Half Unit Twentieth-Century European Liberal Thought

This information is for the 2012/13 session.

Teacher responsible: Professor Paul Kelly

Availability: Open to MSc European Studies: Ideas and Identities, MSc Political Theory, MSc Political Theory (Research) students and LSE-Sciences Po Double Degree in European Studies; open to others on request. The course will be capped at one class with a maximum number of 15 students.

Course content: The course will critically examine the ideas of a selection of twentieth century European Liberal Thinkers including Isaiah Berlin, Karl Popper, F.A. Hayek and Michael Oakeshott.

Teaching: 10 x 2 hour seminars in LT.

Formative coursework:
One 2,000 word essay and a presentation.

Assessment: One 5,000 word essay submitted in the ST.

---

GV477 Half Unit Comparative Public Policy Change

This information is for the 2012/13 session.

Teachers responsible: Dr Maja Rasmussen

Availability: This is a core course for students on the MSc Public Policy and Administration, MSc Public Policy and Administration (Research) and the LSE-PKU Double Degree in Public Administration and Government. Also available for MSc Regulation, MSc Regulation (Research) and MPA Public and Economic Policy/MPA Public Policy and Management/MPA International Development/MPA European Public and Economic Policy/MPA Public and Social Policy.

Pre-requisites: Students should normally be taking GV4E9 Approaches and Issues in Public Policy and Administration or already have a good knowledge of comparative public policy. Waiving of these requirements will be at the discretion of the course teacher.

Course content: The course examines explanations of policy change using cross-national comparison. Seminars will focus on cases in key policy domains (chosen according to the literature available and interest for wider analytical questions, as well as the expertise available), but in the examination and assessed essay, any set of (2) countries can be used as examples. Key topics include: theoretical approaches to comparison and policy change; regulatory reform; varieties of capitalism; the changing size and role of the state; institutions for global public health; poverty and biodiversity.

Teaching: The course is taught through 10 two-hour seminars in the Lent Term (plus two revision seminars in ST).

Formative coursework: Students will write one unassessed essay due during the term.

Assessment: Two-hour written examination in the ST (75%); assessed essay-max 2,500 words (25%).

---

GV478 Political Science and Public Policy

This is for the 2012/13 session.

Teachers responsible: Dr Rafael Hortalá-Vallvé and Dr Andrew Eggers.

---

GV479 Nationalism

This information is for the 2012/13 session.

Teachers responsible: Professor John Breuilly and Dr John Hutchinson.

Availability: Guaranteed entry for MSc Comparative Politics. Recommended, should space permit, for MSc Development Studies, MSc Politics and Government in the European Union, MSc International Relations, MSc International Relations (Research), MSc Political Sociology, MSc Sociology, MSc Theory and History of International Relations and MSc Race, Ethnicity and Post-Colonial Studies. Students from any other relevant MSc course (MSc Politics and Communication, LSE-PKU Double Degree in MSc International Affairs and LSE-Sciences Po Double Degree in European Studies) with the permission of Professor Breuilly.

Course content: An examination of the causes and role of ethnic identity and nationalist movements in the modern world, and of the relations between nations and states. There are three principal concerns:

1. Theories of nationalism and ethnicity, including primordialism, ethno-symbolic, modernist and post-modernist approaches. These will be compared and critiqued.
2. The development of various kinds of nations, nation-states and nationalisms from pre-modern Europe to the global present, and a consideration of the concepts (e.g. civic/ethnic, political/cultural, Asian and African forms of nationalism) frequently used to understand these histories.
3. Nationalism and the international system, including problems of state sovereignty, secession and national self-determination, the European union, globalisation and religious fundamentalism.

Teaching: 23 Seminars (including revision) MT, LT and ST. GV479. (Students must also attend the lectures of course GV350). Two revision classes in the ST.

Formative coursework: Students are expected to write two non-assessed essays of 1,500-2,000 words and to make two seminar presentations in seminar slots and two revision sessions in the Summer Term. presentations during the course.

---

GV481 Half Unit Political Science and Political Economy

This information is for the 2012/13 session.

Teacher responsible: Dr Valentino Larcinese

Availability: Compulsory course for MSc Political Science and Political Economy. Optional course for MSc Regulation and MSc Regulation (Research). Open to all MSc students in the Department of Government.

Course content: The objective of the course is to provide an introduction to political science and the ways in which it illuminates the political and policy processes of advanced liberal democratic states. The course focuses mainly on institutional public choice and positive political economy. Theory of voting and party competition; collective action and interest groups; coalition theory and log-rolling; bureaucracy and economic approaches to organizations.

Teaching: Ten two-hour lectures and lectures and 9 one-hour seminars in the MT. Two seminars in the first and second weeks of the ST.

Formative coursework: Two problem sets to be submitted in week 5 and 9 of the MT

Assessment: A two-hour unseen written examination in the ST (100%).

---

GV482 Half Unit Not available in 2012/13 Political Science and Political Economy: Advanced Topics

This information is for the 2012/13 session.

Teacher responsible: Dr Valentino Larcinese

Availability: Optional course for MSc Political Science and Political Economy and MPA Programme (all streams). Available to all students with the teacher's permission. Students should either have attended GV481 or be able to show a sufficiently strong background in political economy and in statistics in order to take this course.

Course content: This course presents cutting-edge research material on some specific topics. The topics vary each year and, in the 2009-10 academic year, have included identification and causality in empirical research, mass media and voting behaviour, the design of electoral systems, text analysis, the repeal of corn laws, deliberation and monetary policy. A number of guest teachers are invited each year to illustrate the state of the art in their research field and to cover some of their own research. Guest teachers during the 2010-11 academic year have included Nikitas Nonstantinidis, Stefano Gagliarducci, Rafael Hortalal-Valve, Piero Staniging.

Teaching: 10 seminars in the LT and two seminars in the third and fourth weeks of the ST.

Formative coursework: Students are expected to give at least one presentation and to submit a piece of formative work (problem set/essay)

Indicative reading: Mostly journal articles. The reading list varies each year.

Assessment: Consists of two parts: (i) a two-hour unseen written examination in the ST, accounting for 75% of the marks; (ii) a single essay of maximum 2,500 words on a topic to be agreed with the course teachers by Week 10 of LT. The essay must be submitted by the Friday of the third week of Summer term and accounts for 25% of the marks.

---

GV483 Half Unit Public Management Theory and Doctrine

This information is for the 2012/13 session.

Teachers responsible: Professor Martin Lodge and Dr Kira Matus.

Availability: Core course for MSc Public Policy and Administration, MSc Public Policy and Administration (Research) and the LSE-PKU Double Degree in Public Administration and Government. Optional course for MSc Development Management, MSc Development Studies, MPA Public and Economic Policy/MPA International Development/MPA European Public and Economic Policy/MPA Public and Social Policy, MSc Regulation and MSc Regulation (Research), MSc Management and Strategy. Other postgraduates require permission of teachers responsible.

Course content: The course offers an intensive introduction into key areas of public management with reference to both developed and lesser developed world contexts. Topics include administrative doctrine, implementation, organizational change and inertia, capacity building, performance-management, leadership, institution creation, transparency and risk management. Public management is treated as an interdisciplinary field of study, with a particular emphasis on the administrative practices and change as well as the critical analysis of practical arguments about Public Management.

Teaching: 10 lectures and ten seminars in the MT and two seminars in the first and second weeks of the ST.

Formative coursework: Students are expected to complete two formative essays.

Assessment: A two-hour unseen written examination in the ST (100%).

---

GV488 Law and Politics of Regulation

This information is for the 2012/13 session.

Teachers responsible: Professor Robert Baldwin. Professor Julia Black, Professor Martin Lodge and Dr Kira Matus.

Availability: This is the core course for MSc Regulation and MSc Regulation (Research). Other students will not be admitted.

Course content: The course aims to give students an essential grounding in theories of regulation encountered in the legal, political science and law & economics literatures. It examines competing explanations of the origins, development and reform of regulation; the styles and processes of regulation; issues surrounding enforcement; the inter-organisational and international aspects of regulation; and questions of evaluation and accountability. Some specific cases will be explored through the medium of an additional practitioner seminar series, which will be led by experienced practitioners invited on a one-off basis. The course focuses on the following key themes: contrasting perspectives on regulation, differences in regulatory styles, dynamics and processes, regulatory standard-setting, regulatory enforcement, evaluating regulation.

Teaching: The course is taught: (a) by 20, two-hour sessions in variable format (some lecture-discussions, student-paper led discussions, debates) comprising the academic core, (b) by nine seminars on ‘economics of regulation’ and ‘research design’ in the Michaelmas term and (c) approximately five practitioner seminars, drawing on practitioners from a variety of regulated sectors.

Formative coursework: All students are expected to produce three written essays.

Assessment: Students will be assessed by a course essay weighted at 25% of the total mark and a three-hour examination in the ST; weighted at 75% of the total mark. The examination will involve answering three questions out of 12.

---

GV499

Dissertation

This information is for the 2012/13 session.

Dissertation: A 10,000 word dissertation is required to be submitted as part of the assessment for each Government MSc programme. The dissertation is due by the 1st September and is compulsory.

---

GV4A2

Half Unit

Citizens’ Political Behaviour in Europe: Elections Public Opinion and Identities

This information is for the 2012/13 session.

Teacher responsible: Dr Michael Bruter

Availability: In order to be accepted on the course, all students must submit a research project idea by the end of the sixth week in Michaelmas term. The document should be around 2 pages in length and should at least do two things: first, indicating a course-related research topic and a specific research question and explain what makes it interesting, and second suggesting the methodology the student intends to use to answer this question empirically. If you include references to others’ work (which would be a good thing to do), please also include a mini-bibliography.

Available for MSc Politics and Government in the European Union. Also available for MRes in Political Science, MSc Politics and Communication, MSc Political Science and Political Economy, MSc Public Policy and Administration, MSc Public Policy and Administration (Research), LSE-PKU Double Degree in Public Administration and Government and LSE-Sciences Po Double Degree in European Studies with prior approval of the course co-ordinator

Course content: This course intends to familiarise students with the study of electoral psychology and political behaviour in Europe in a broad sense. The three main objects of study in political science are institutions, policies, and citizens, and the study of political behaviour and political psychology is the field that centres on the third. A very important part of political behaviour is electoral participation and vote choice. We will explore general models of voting behaviour, electoral psychology, and participation, as well as specific aspects such as extremist politics. We will look closely at public opinion, how it is formed and how it can be studied. In the final part of the course, special consideration is given to political identities and how they are related to political behaviour.

Teaching: 10 two-hour seminars in LT and a double seminar to present and discuss research projects in the ST.

Assessment: One empirical research project on a topic relevant to the course and approved by the course co-ordinator with a word limit of 5,000 words (100%).

---

GV4A3

Half Unit

Social Choice Theory and Democracy

This information is for the 2012/13 session.

Teacher responsible: Professor Christian List
GV4A5 Half Unit
International Migration and Immigration Management

This information is for the 2012/13 session.

Teacher responsible: Dr Eiko Thielemann

Availability: This course has limited availability (is capped), and requires that students (regardless of Department or MSc programme) obtain permission from the teacher responsible. Compulsory for students on MSc International Migration and Public Policy. Optional on the MSc Politics and Government in the European Union. Students from MSc Global Politics, MSc Political Economy of Europe, MSc European Studies; Ideas and Identities, MSc Comparative Politics, MSc International Employment Relations and Human Resource Management, MSc Public Policy and Administration, MPA Public and Economic Policy/MPA Public Policy, Management/MPA International Development/MPA European Public and Economic Policy/MPA Public and Social Policy, LSE-Sciences Po Double Degree in European Studies and students on other relevant degree programmes may attend subject to numbers, their own degree regulations and the written permission of the teacher responsible.

Course content: This course offers a theoretically informed account of the challenges posed by international migration and resulting policy responses. The focus is on the comparative analysis of immigration control policies in OECD countries, with particular emphasis on the European Union. The course is structured in three parts. The first introduces a number of theoretical models that seek to explain the dynamics of international migration, migration control and migrant integration, addressing questions such as: Why do people migrate? Why do states accept migration? What factors facilitate/impede migrant integration? The second, comparative, part deals with national public policy responses to the issue of asylum & refugees, ‘illegal’ migration & human trafficking, (legal) immigration, and migrant inclusion & exclusion. The final part focuses on international and supranational policy responses with an emphasis on the European Union.

Teaching: 10 x 1 hour lectures and 10 x 1.5 hour seminars in the MT and one seminar in the ST.

Formative coursework: All students are expected to submit two non-assessed essays.

Indicative reading: There is no single textbook but the following texts are useful introductions: M Baldwin-Edwards & M Schain, The Politics of Immigration in Western Europe, 1994; C Boswell, European Migration Policies in Flux: Changing Patterns of Inclusion and Exclusion, 2003; C Brettell, Migration Theory: Talking Across the

GV4A4
From Empire to Globalization

This information is for the 2012/13 session.

Teacher responsible: Dr Mathias Koenig-Archibugi

Availability: Students on the MSc Global Politics are guaranteed access; other students may take the course after obtaining written permission from the teacher responsible.

Course content: This is the core course of the MSc Global Politics. It examines the nature, the causes and the political consequences of globalization in a variety of domains, including security, culture, the economy, and the environment. The course aims at enabling students to assess the extent of continuity and transformation in key areas of global politics.

Teaching: 10 two-hour seminars in MT (with some lecture components) and two two-hour seminars (for revision purposes) in the first and second weeks of the ST.

Formative coursework: Students will be expected to give a short presentation and to write a formative essay. Feedback will be given on this material, but it does not count towards final assessment.

Assessment: Consists of two parts: (i) a two-hour unseen written examination in the ST, accounting for 75% of the marks; (ii) a single essay of up to 2,500 words on a topic to be agreed with the course teacher by Week 10 of MT. The essay must be submitted by the Friday of the Week one of LT and accounts for 25% of the marks.

Availability: Optional for MSc Political Theory, MSc Political Theory (Research), MSc Applicable Mathematics, MSc Political Science and Political Economy and the LSE-PKU Double Degree in Public Administration and Government. Available in other MSc programmes subject to space and with prior approval of the course co-ordinator.

Pre-requisites: No prior knowledge of social choice theory or of any specific mathematical discipline is required.

Course content: This course provides an introduction both to social choice theory and current debates in democratic theory. On the social-choice-theoretic side, the course introduces students to key results, such as Arrow’s impossibility theorem and the Gibbard-Satterthwaite theorem, which imply that making rational collective decisions may be difficult or impossible, potential escape-routes from these negative results, and responses from the more normative literature on democracy. On the more normative side, the course covers central debates in contemporary democratic theory, which are likely to include (but need not be restricted to) the topics of deliberative democracy, procedural versus outcome-based or epistemic justifications of democracy, and democratic legitimacy. While all students are required to understand the key findings of the main social-choice-theoretic theorems, they can approach these either from a formal analytic perspective or from a more normative philosophical perspective and make the debates on democratic theory their main focus.

Teaching: 10 two-hour seminars in MT (with some lecture components) and two two-hour seminars (for revision purposes) in the first and second weeks of the ST.

Formative coursework: Students will be expected to give a short presentation and to write a formative essay. Feedback will be given on this material, but it does not count towards final assessment.

Assessment: Three-hour written examination in the ST.

Assessment: Two-hour unseen written examination in the ST (100%).

GV4A8 Half Unit
Nationalist Conflict, Political Violence and Terrorism

This information is for the 2012/13 session.

Teachers responsible: Professor James Hughes CON. H302
Availability: An optional course for MSc Comparative Politics (Conflict Studies stream) students. Other students may have access subject to space.

Course content: How can we distinguish legitimate resistance and political violence from terrorism? What is the relationship between war and terror? What distinguishes a combatant from non-combatant? Do counterinsurgency methods based on force and the securitization of the state work? Should we erode civil liberties and democratic values to fight terrorism? What consequences follow from the prominent role of psychologists in the study of political violence and terrorism? This course attempts to answer these and similar questions by a comparative examination of the theories and ethics of political violence and the root causes, nature and types, and dynamics of violence. This course also evaluates different political and security policies and methods of conflict resolution as change agents. A number of case studies of historical and contemporary conflicts are examined to illustrate the theoretical and policy dilemmas. The course has two parts. Firstly, it examines definitions and concepts, the root causes and factors of radicalization in political violence, the ethical dilemmas, the principles and efficacy of the laws and norms of armed conflict, repertoires of political violence, and the evolution from the era of decolonization of state counterinsurgency (COIN) and counterterrorism policies. Key motifs in COIN and counterterrorism will be examined including coercive versus cooperative approaches (“hearts and minds”), the spectrum of dealing with communal resistance from genocide to cooptation, policies of criminalization, and the balance between security and liberty. Secondly, it explores the key issues and debates through a number of case studies that analyse political violence and terrorism in democracies and non-democracies, including; Chechnya and Northern Ireland as nationalist secessionist conflicts, the insurgency and counterinsurgency in Iraq, and the new transnational challenges posed by Al Qaeda. Throughout the course comparisons will be made and lessons drawn from the performance of different regime types (colonial, democratic, transitional democratic, and authoritarian) in managing political violence. This is a Moodle course.

Teaching: A one and a half hour lecture weekly plus a one hour weekly seminar in the MT and one revision seminar in the ST.

Formative coursework: One essay of 2,500 words.

Assessment: A two hour exam (100%) in the ST.

GV4B3 MPA Capstone Project

This information is for the 2012/13 session.

Teachers responsible: Professor Patrick Dunleavy (H520), Dr Rafael Hortala-Vallve plus others.

Availability: This is a compulsory course for all second year MPA students.

Course content: Students will undertake a group project (in teams usually of 3 to 6 people) relating to a public policy problem faced by an external organisation. Typical clients include public sector bodies, companies operating in the public management or public policy sector, international organisations or think tanks and NGOs. The group will have from October to February to work on an issue defined by the client organisation, investigating and developing a workable solution to the problem.

Teaching: All students must attend the opening capstone introduction session in MT.

Each Capstone group will be allocated a supervisor, who will provide overall guidance on the project's development and assistance with client liaison. Other members of staff may also advise as required.

Formative coursework: Feedback will be provided on presentations of work-in-progress during MT.

Assessment: The project work is conducted in teams, and the assessment is based on a collective group mark for each component except in exceptional circumstances.

1) A presentation and submission of the project report to the client organisation. The presentation must take place by week 8 of the Lent term, on a date agreed with the client organisation. 20% of the marks are assigned by the client organisation after receipt of the presentation and project report.

2) A group project report of up to 15,000 words to be submitted during the Lent Term. The report is read by academic markers and their assessment accounts for 60% of the final grade.

Additionally, each group member must write a personal reflection on their contribution to the group's work, to be submitted alongside the report. The reflection should be no more than 600 words, and should include specific details of the student's contributions to the project. The reflections should not be included in the report submitted to the client.

Any appendices to the project report should only consist of technical data and may not contain any substantive analysis.

3) The final 20% of the marks are allocated by the Capstone
GV484  MPA Dissertation
This information is for the 2012/13 session.

Teachers responsible: Professor Patrick Dunleavy, Dr Rafael Hortalà-Valve plus others.

Availability: This is an optional course for all MPA students second year students.

Course content: MPA students must write a dissertation (of no more than 10,000 words) on a topic of their choice to be agreed with their supervisor.

Teaching: Students will be allocated a supervisor, who will provide guidance on this piece of work. MPA Dissertation Workshops will be held to assist in the development of the dissertation.

Assessment: 1) The dissertation title, abstract, contents page and a 5 page synopsis/introduction will count for 10% of the overall dissertation mark. Students may only change their topic thereafter with the agreement of their supervisor. Students will be given feedback on their abstracts.

2) The full dissertation of no more than 10,000 words will account for the remaining 90% of the overall mark.

GV486  Half Unit  Not available in 2012/13
Kant's Political Philosophy
This information is for the 2012/13 session.

Teacher responsible: Dr Katrin Flikschuh

Availability: Optional for MSc Political Theory, MSc European Studies: Ideas and Identities and LSE-Sciences Po Double Degree in European Studies; open to others as an outside option on request.

Course content: An introduction to and critical appraisal of Immanuel Kant's political philosophy. Despite the enormous influence which Kant's moral philosophy has exerted on debates in contemporary liberal thinking, his political philosophy has until recently been largely ignored. This is beginning to change: Kant's political philosophy is beginning to be studied in its own right. Such study shows that his political thinking diverges in many of its central aspects from contemporary liberal thinking: the impact of Kant's thought upon the latter must, therefore, be re-assessed. Through close reading and analysis of the primary texts, this course introduces students to Kant's distinctive approach to political thinking. Core texts will include selected passages from the Doctrine of Right (Part 1 of the Metaphysics of Morals; Kant's celebrated essay, 'On Perpetual Peace'; and his less well known, but no less important essay 'On the Common Saying: "This may be true in theory, but does it work in Practice."'.) The analytic and substantive focus will be on three interrelated themes: Kant's idea of freedom as an idea of reason; his account and justification of individual property rights; and his cosmopolitan conception of Right, or justice. Although the analytic and philosophical focus will be on Kant's own political thinking, we shall throughout compare and contrast Kant's position with contemporary Kantian liberalism.

Teaching: 10 two-hour seminars in the LT and one-to-one advice sessions on assessed essay writing in ST.

Formative coursework: Students are expected to come well prepared and take an active role in seminar discussion. They are expected to write to short formative essays which will be marked and commented, but do not count towards formal assessment for this course.

Assessment: Assessment will consist of one extended essay of up to 6,000 words based on a topic examined in the course. The essay provides 100% of the formal assessment for this course (i.e., there are no examinations).

GV487  Half Unit
The Liberal Idea of Freedom
This information is for the 2012/13 session.

Teacher responsible: Dr Mathew Coakley

Availability: Optional for MSc Political Theory and MSc Political Theory (Research); open to others on request.

Course content: Analysis and critical assessment of divergent conceptions of freedom in contemporary liberal political thinking. The liberal idea of freedom does not constitute a unitary concept. The widespread assumption that is does is largely due to Gerald MacCallum's influential analysis of 'freedom' as a 'triadic concept', which repudiates Isaiah Berlin's seminal distinction between 'negative freedom' and 'positive freedom'. This course re-examines the classic Berlin/MacCallum debate in the light of divergent contemporary liberal conceptions of freedom. Following an initial assessment of that debate, we shall turn our attention to a range of contemporary arguments concerning what it is to be free, why this is desirable and what it implies for political life. We will specifically look at Hillel Steiner's argument that freedom is not being prevented from doing things, Hayek's discussion of coercion, Nozick and Raz's sharply divergent theories of rights and autonomy, and Sen's arguments for development as freedom.

Our analyses will also give rise to a number of related metaphysical and substantive issues. These include, different ideas of what makes a life go well and of why freedom may be part of this, debates over when and how freedom is curtailed by state action and when by economic resources (or a lack thereof); and disagreement concerning the proper role of the market relative to liberal political morality. The overall aim of the course is to allow students to critically assess the quality and strength of the different theorists' suggestions and to develop their own understanding of what a justified concept of freedom would be like and what it would entail for political life.

Teaching: 10 two-hour seminars in the LT and two revision seminars in the ST.

Formative coursework: All students are expected to submit two non-assessed essays.

Assessment: Assessment will consist of one extended essay of between 4,000-5,000 words based on a topic examined in the course. The essay provides 100% of the formal assessment for this course (i.e., there are no examinations).
GV4B8  Half Unit
The Politics of Civil Wars
This information is for the 2012/13 session.
Teacher responsible: Dr Bill Kissane
Availability: Optional for MSc Comparative Politics.
Course content: The course examines social science explanations of the origins, intractability and outcomes of civil wars. It does this through the comparative analysis of various cases. These cases may vary from year to year.
The course examines social science explanations of the origins, intractability and outcomes of civil wars. It does this through the comparative analysis of various cases. These cases may vary from year to year. Particular stress is on: The Concept of Civil War. Patterns of civil war since 1945. Large N approaches. Decolonisation, Democratisation, and State-Building as causes of civil war. The emergence of security dilemmas. Theories of conflict resolution, reconstruction and the settlement of civil wars.
Teaching: 10 seminars and ten lectures in the LT plus one revision lecture in the ST.
Formative coursework: All students are expected to submit two non-assessed essays.
Indicative reading: P Collier and N Sambanis (eds) Understanding Civil War: Evidence and Analysis (The World Bank); C Cramer, Civil War is not a Stupid Thing (Hurst and Co); K Holsti, War the State and the State of War (Cambridge University Press), R Paris, At War’s End (Cambridge University Press).
Assessment: Two-hour written examination.

GV4B9  Half Unit
The Second Europe
This information is for the 2012/13 session.
Teacher responsible: Dr Vesselin Dimitrov.
Availability: For MSc Politics and Government in the European Union, MSc European Studies: Ideas and Identities, MSc Comparative Politics (all streams) and LSE-Sciences Po Double Degree in European Studies. Students on other programmes can take the course with the permission of the teacher responsible.
Course content: The course explores the problems of delayed modernisation, problematic democratisation, conflictual nation-building and geopolitical insecurity in the European semi-periphery, including countries such as Russia, Spain, Italy, Austria-Hungary, and Sweden. It analyses the socio-economic structures, political issues and problems shared by the European semi-periphery from the first wave of liberal globalisation and the emergence of mass politics in the late 19th century to the late 20th century. It analyses the strategies adopted by political elites and social classes in the face of modernisation, imperial decline, nationalism, and war.
Course topics include: The emergence of core and semi-periphery in Europe; Problems of modernisation; Ruling elites and structures of power; State nationalism, sub-state nationalism and problems of nation-state building; Religion: the socio-political power of the church; Political parties and ideologies; Fascism and varieties of right-wing authoritarianism in the 1920s and 1930s; Communism; Empire: War and its effects, including the First and Second World Wars.
Teaching: 10 lectures and 10 seminars in the LT and 2 seminars in the ST.
Formative coursework: Students are required to submit one formative essay of 2,000 words.
Assessment: A two-hour unseen written examination in the ST (75%) and an assessed essay of 2,500 words (25%).

GV4C2  Half Unit
Globalisation, Conflict and Post-Totalitarianism
This information is for the 2012/13 session.
Teachers responsible: Dr Denisa Kostovicova and Professor Mary Kaldor.
Availability: For MSc Global Politics. MSc Global Media and Communications (with Fudan or USC), MSc Comparative Politics, MSc International Development and Humanitarian Emergencies, and MSc Human Rights students may take this course, subject to space. This course has limited availability (is capped), and requires that students (regardless of Department or MSc programme) obtain permission from the teacher responsible.
Course content: The course offers a theoretically informed account of the challenges faced by post-totalitarian transition countries emerging out of totalitarian regimes in the era of globalisation, and examines them empirically primarily in reference to the Balkans but with examples from the Middle East as well as post-Soviet countries. The regions chosen are those which have experienced particular difficulties in effecting a peaceful process of transition to democracy, market economy and integration in a multilateral system. The course will start with an introduction to theories of globalisation and the reasons why the legacy of totalitarianism is different from the legacy of classic authoritarian states. The course is structured around three issue areas: political ideologies and state breakdown; transition economy and organised crime; post-totalitarian society. It looks at nationalism linked to global diasporas and fundamentalist networks, new wars in the context of international intervention, and international protectorates. Transition economy includes both an introduction to transition strategies (privatisation, liberalisation and macro-economic stabilisation) as well as the perverse effects of illegal economic networks and organised crime stemming both from the totalitarian past and the impact of globalisation. The last block of questions investigates post-totalitarian societies from the perspective of transition justice, (un)civil societies and new minorities. While analysing these issues accompanied with relevant regional illustrations particular attention is made to grasp unique aspects of post-totalitarianism triggered by the simultaneity of transition and globalisation.
Teaching: 10 one-and-a-half hour lectures and 12 one-and-a-half hour seminars in Lent Term.
Formative coursework: All students are expected to produce one written essay, plus one short presentation on topics assigned to them.
GV4C4    Half Unit
Legislative Politics: US
This information is for the 2012/13 session.
Teacher responsible: Dr Cheryl Schonhardt-Bailey
Availability: Primarily for students on MSc Political Science and Political Economy. Also an option on MSc Public Policy and Administration, MPA Programme (all streams), the LSE-PKU Double Degree in Public Administration and Government and MSc Comparative Politics. Other MSc students may only attend subject to numbers, their own degree regulations and the permission of the teacher responsible. Students who are taking GV4C6 Legislative Politics: European Union cannot take this course.
Course content: This course provides an advanced analysis of the theory and practice of legislative politics in the United States of America.
This course provides an in-depth analysis of the theory and practice of legislative politics. In the early weeks of the course we examine interests-based and ideology-based theories of legislative politics, theories of committee and party organisation, the role of deliberations in congressional debates and hearings, and the legislative process. Later in the course, we examine the legislative process in more detail, using important episodes in US legislative politics, with topics including Depression era trade conflicts (e.g., the Smoot-Hawley Tariff of 1930 and the Reciprocal Trade Agreements Act of 1934), congressional activism and partisan polarization, and social issues (abortion).
Teaching: Ten one-hour lectures and ten one-and-a-half hour seminars in the LT. Revision seminars will be offered in the third and fourth weeks of the ST.
Formative coursework: Students will be required to submit one formative essay in week 6.
Assessment: Two parts: (1) a two-hour unseen written examination in June, accounting for 67% of the mark (consisting of short reply and essay questions); and (2) a long essay of 4,000 words on one of the topics, which must apply the theoretical issues to empirical data, to be submitted at the end of Week 1 of ST, accounting for the remaining 33% of the mark.

GV4C5    Half Unit
Politics of Economic Policy
This information is for the 2012/13 session.
Teacher responsible: Dr Cheryl Schonhardt-Bailey
Availability: Primarily for students on MSc Political Science and Political Economy. Also an option on MSc Public Policy and Administration, MPA Programme (all streams), MSc Politics and Government in the European Union and LSE-Sciences Po Double Degree in European Studies. Other MSc students may only attend subject to numbers, their own degree regulations and the permission of the teacher responsible. This course has limited availability (is capped), and requires that all students obtain permission from the teaching department to take it.
Course content: This course provides an advanced policy-oriented analysis of the politics of economic policymaking in advanced industrialized countries and selected developing countries drawing on both contemporary, historical and comparative introduction into the politics of economic policy. It applies explicitly the frameworks of interests-based, ideological and institutional approaches to the study of economic policies. It seeks to explore both the independent and interactive effects of interests, ideas and institutions on economic policies. These policies include macroeconomic policy areas such as EMU, financial stability and financial crises, independent central banking, as well as trade policy (contemporary and classic case studies), and agricultural policy. Thus, the course examines some of the economic policies of the European Union, other advanced industrialized countries and developing countries.
Teaching: The course will comprise ten one-hour lectures and ten one-and-a-half hour seminars during the MT and two revision sessions in the ST. Early weeks present the theoretical frameworks of interests, ideas and institutions, as applied to the politics of economic policymaking more generally. The remaining weeks focus on specific economic policies, including independent central banking, EMU financial stability and financial crises, trade, agricultural policy. Three of the course lectures will be given jointly with the undergraduate course, Politics of Money, Finance and Trade in Comparative Perspective (GV353).
Formative coursework: Students will be required to submit one formative essay in week 6.
Assessment: Two parts: (1) a two-hour unseen written examination in June, accounting for 67% of the mark (consisting of short reply and essay questions); and (2) a long essay of 4,000 words on one of the topics, which must apply the theoretical issues to empirical data, to be submitted at the end of Week 1 of LT, accounting for the other 33 % of the mark. (The long essay must be on a topic different from the formative essay.)
GV4C8 Half Unit
Game Theory for Political Science
This information is for the 2012/13 session.
Teachers responsible: Prof Torun Dewan
Availability: Compulsory for students on MSc Political Science and Political Economy. Optional for students on the MRes Political Science and LSE-PUK Double Degree in Public Administration and Government.
Other postgraduates wanting to take the course require the permission of the teachers responsible.
Course content: Introduction to game theory for graduate students of political science
4. Applications to Political Science.
Teaching: Ten two-hour lectures (MT), ten one-hour seminars (MT) and two two-hour seminars (ST).
Formative coursework: Weekly problem sets to be completed and discussed in class.
Indicative reading: The core text for the course is M J Osborne, An Introduction to Game Theory, Oxford University Press 2004.
Assessment: Two-hour unseen examination in the ST.

GV4C9 Half Unit
Democratization and its Discontents in Southeast Asia
This information is for the 2012/13 session.
Teacher responsible: Professor John Sidel
Availability: MSc Comparative Politics, MSc Global Politics, MSc Development Studies, MSc Development Management and MSc Media, Communication and Development.
Course content: This course focuses on the varied patterns of democratization observed in Southeast Asia over the past few decades. Special attention is paid to the three democracies in the region (Indonesia, the Philippines, and Thailand), to the suppression of demands for democracy in Burma, and to ‘creeping pluralism’ and ‘creeping constitutionalism’ in Vietnam. The course examines important trends and developments accompanying democratization in the region - in government-business relations, in local politics, in civil society, in religious practices, in inter-communal relations, and in the organization and use of violence in politics. Throughout the course, the countries examined are treated as cases suitable for analysis and comparison in the light of the broader Comparative Politics and Global Politics literatures on democratization and its discontents.
The course begins by situating democratization in Southeast Asia against a comparative historical and sociological backdrop, paying close attention to the varied patterns of class, state, and religious formation in the region. The course compares patterns of democratization in the Philippines, Thailand, and Indonesia, while examining the constraints on democratization elsewhere in Southeast Asia. Lectures, readings, and seminar discussions then turn to key trends accompanying democratization in Southeast Asia. The trends examined include campaigns against ‘corruption’ and in support of ‘the rule of law’ and ‘good governance’; social movements and struggles for popular empowerment; the democratization of religious practices and institutions; religious violence, and separatist mobilization. These trends are treated through comparative analysis of different cases within Southeast Asia and in the light of relevant theoretical literatures drawn from Comparative Politics and Global Politics.
Teaching: Ten one-hour lectures, followed immediately by ten one-hour tutorials in the LT and two two-hour seminars (ST).
political science literature on 'subnational authoritarianism' and a structures rooted in local economies and societies. do so with an eye towards the comparative analysis of local power critically, and creatively about local politics more broadly, and to examination of competing accounts of and explanations for the The goals of the course are twofold. First, the course offers a critical challenges mounted against its perpetuation. Yet academic, journalistic, and policy accounts have highlighted the for local people to effect change in local politics around the world. Market reforms decentralization are said to have generated new social forces and inter-related processes of marketization, democratization, and students (regardless of Department or MSc programme) obtain permission from the teacher responsible. Course content: Over the course of the past two decades, the inter-related processes of marketization, democratization, and decentralization are said to have generated new social forces and political freedoms in localities around the world. Market reforms and village elections in China, the end of Communist Party rule in Russia and Eastern Europe, and trends of (re)democratization in Asia, Africa, and Latin America have all offered new opportunities for local people to effect change in local politics around the world. Yet, academic, journalistic, and policy accounts have highlighted the rise and resilience of ‘local despotisms’ – ‘authoritarian enclaves,’ ‘bosses,’ ‘caciques’, ‘chiefs’, ‘clans’, ‘local strongmen’, ‘mafias’, ‘warlords’ – in the midst of this reworking of market, electoral, and administrative circuitries. This course focuses on this phenomenon of what scholars have come to call ‘subnational authoritarianism’, competing explanations for its emergence and entrenchment, the diversity of its manifestations, and various challenges mounted against its perpetuation. The goals of the course are twofold. First, the course offers a critical examination of competing accounts of and explanations for the phenomenon of ‘subnational authoritarianism’ in the developing world. Second, the course helps students think more carefully, critically, and creatively about local politics more broadly, and to do so with an eye towards the comparative analysis of local power structures rooted in local economies and societies. The course begins with an examination of an emerging new political-science literature on ‘subnational authoritarianism’ and a more established body of scholarship on clientelism and machine politics. The course then turns to case studies in diverse settings, ranging from southern Italy to China, India, Indonesia, Nigeria, and Russia, and extending to cases of ‘warlordism’ in contexts such as contemporary Afghanistan, Iraq, and Somalia. The readings allow students to examine and evaluate competing explanations for the rise and entrenchment of local bosses, chiefs, clans, and mafia, diverging descriptions of their modes of domination, and alternative accounts of their disappearance, evolution, or transformation in the face of economic, social, and political change. Successive weeks also explore the links between constellations in local politics on the one hand, and patterns of economic development, ethnic conflict, and religious mobilization on the other. The final weeks of the course shift attention to the efforts to challenge entrenched local power structures and to create “countervailing power” through popular mobilization, political participation, and social empowerment in localities in diverse settings across the world.

Teaching: Ten one-hour weekly lectures and ten one-and-a-half hour weekly seminar discussions in the LT.

Formative coursework: One non-assessed, 1,000 word essay due by the fifth week of the term.

Assessment: One 3,000-word essay (50%) and a two-hour examination (50%).

GV4D3 Half Unit Local Power in an Era of Globalization, Democratization and Decentralization This information is for the 2012/13 session. Teacher responsible: Professor John Sidel Availability: MSc Comparative Politics, MSc Global Politics, MSc Development Studies and MSc China in Comparative Perspective. This course has limited availability (is capped), and requires that students (regardless of Department or MSc programme) obtain permission from the teacher responsible.

Course content: Over the course of the past two decades, the inter-related processes of marketization, democratization, and decentralization are said to have generated new social forces and political freedoms in localities around the world. Market reforms and village elections in China, the end of Communist Party rule in Russia and Eastern Europe, and trends of (re)democratization in Asia, Africa, and Latin America have all offered new opportunities for local people to effect change in local politics around the world. Yet, academic, journalistic, and policy accounts have highlighted the rise and resilience of ‘local despotisms’ – ‘authoritarian enclaves,’ ‘bosses,’ ‘caciques’, ‘chiefs’, ‘clans’, ‘local strongmen’, ‘mafias’, ‘warlords’ – in the midst of this reworking of market, electoral, and administrative circuitries. This course focuses on this phenomenon of what scholars have come to call ‘subnational authoritarianism’, competing explanations for its emergence and entrenchment, the diversity of its manifestations, and various challenges mounted against its perpetuation. The goals of the course are twofold. First, the course offers a critical examination of competing accounts of and explanations for the phenomenon of ‘subnational authoritarianism’ in the developing world. Second, the course helps students think more carefully, critically, and creatively about local politics more broadly, and to do so with an eye towards the comparative analysis of local power structures rooted in local economies and societies. The course begins with an examination of an emerging new political-science literature on ‘subnational authoritarianism’ and a more established body of scholarship on clientelism and machine politics. The course then turns to case studies in diverse settings, ranging from southern Italy to China, India, Indonesia, Nigeria, and Russia, and extending to cases of ‘warlordism’ in contexts such as contemporary Afghanistan, Iraq, and Somalia. The readings allow students to examine and evaluate competing explanations for the rise and entrenchment of local bosses, chiefs, clans, and mafia, diverging descriptions of their modes of domination, and alternative accounts of their disappearance, evolution, or transformation in the face of economic, social, and political change. Successive weeks also explore the links between constellations in local politics on the one hand, and patterns of economic development, ethnic conflict, and religious mobilization on the other. The final weeks of the course shift attention to the efforts to challenge entrenched local power structures and to create “countervailing power” through popular mobilization, political participation, and social empowerment in localities in diverse settings across the world.

Teaching: Ten one-hour weekly lectures and ten one-and-a-half hour weekly seminar discussions in the LT.

Formative coursework: One non-assessed, 1,000 word essay due by the fifth week of the term.

Assessment: One 3,000-word essay (50%) and a two-hour examination (50%).

GV4D4 Half Unit The Politics of Inequality and Redistribution This information is for the 2012/13 session. Teacher responsible: Dr Jonathan Hopkin Availability: MSc Comparative Politics, MSc Politics and Government in the European Union, MSc Political Science and Political Economy, MSc Global Politics, MSc Public Policy and Administration, LSE-PKU Double Degree in Public Administration and Government and LSE-Sciences Po Double Degree in European Studies.

Course content: This course provides an overview of contemporary redistributive politics in the rich democracies. The objective is to explain why the distribution of wealth, income and opportunities differs so much between democratic countries with similar levels of economic development. The course draws largely on literature from the field of comparative politics, although perspectives from other disciplines - such as economics and social policy - are brought in as appropriate. The focus is on tracing the interactions between political institutions such as political parties and elections, labour market institutions, and the redistributive institutions of the welfare state. This approach is used to examine the growth of the public sector in the twentieth century, the differences between Social Democratic and Christian Democratic welfare states, the impact of wage bargaining institutions, the redistributive implications of age, gender and territorial location, and redistribution through corruption and rent-seeking. By tracing interactions between constitutional arrangements, electoral politics, and the institutions of the welfare system and the labour market, explanations can be provided for the striking differences in social cohesion and human development amongst the world’s rich democracies.

Teaching: One-hour lecture and 90 minute seminar every week for ten weeks in the Michaelmas Term and two revision sessions in the third and fourth weeks of the Summer Term.

Formative coursework: All students are expected to submit one non-assessed essay.

Assessment: One two-hour unseen examination in the ST (100%).

---

GV4D5 Half Unit

Organisations, Power and Leadership

This information is for the 2012/13 session.

Teachers responsible: Professor Patrick Dunleavy, Sir Richard Motttram and Dr Nikitas Konstantinidis.

Availability: This is a core course for second year students on the MPA Public and Economic Policy, MPA Public Policy and Management, MPA International Development, MPA European Public and Economic Policy students and MPA Public and Social Policy. It is also available to MSc students in related areas if space is available. This is a controlled access course.

Pre-requisites: There are no pre-requisites, but recommended advance reading is given below.

Course content: This half-unit course provides an introduction to understanding power and leadership in organisations making or influencing public policies (such as government agencies, firms, professional bodies, NGOs, aid agencies etc). Topics include: Organizations - How bureaucracies are structured in terms of morphology, budget types, functions and missions; Organizational culture; Understanding competition for power in organizations; Power - Analysing organized power; Power and the decision process under majority rule; Power in executive contexts. Leadership - Conventional views of organisational and political leadership; Rational choice perspectives on leadership and policy change; Leaders, delegates and the power of appointment; How leaders can shape organisational change in government. One case study is discussed each week. The range of cases is drawn from economic, public management, international development, social policy and European policy contexts.

Teaching: All teaching takes place in Michaelmas Term: 10 x 2 hour lectures and 10 x 1.5 hour seminars.

Formative coursework: Students are expected to complete one formative piece of written work during MT to assist them in preparing their main assessed essay, which is due in January.

Indicative reading: A full reading list will be distributed at the beginning of the course.

Useful preliminary readings are:

Assessment: The assessment is by:

- the student’s participation in seminars (5%);
- an individual seminar presentation (ie slide set plus no more than 20 minutes talk) (10%);
- a case study analysis of max. 2,000 words in Michaelmas Term (25%);
- an essay of max. 4,000 words (60%) due at the beginning of Lent Term.

---

GV4D7 Half Unit

Not available in 2012/13

Dilemmas of Equality

This information is for the 2012/13 session.

Teachers responsible: Professor Anne Phillips

Availability: For MSc Political Theory, MSc Gender, MSc Gender, Development and Globalisation, MSc Gender, Media and Culture, MSc Human Rights and MSc Gender, Policy and Inequalities. Other students may take the course with the approval of the course organiser.

Course content: The course starts with why the general question of why (or if) equality matters. It then introduces some of the major debates in the contemporary egalitarian literature: equality of opportunity versus equality of outcome; equality of what; luck egalitarianism and the distributive paradigm. In the final section, it focuses on more specific issues and dilemmas. The topics addressed this year are whether affirmative action offends principles of equal treatment; whether gender ‘choices’ legitimate an unequal division of labour; and who carries responsibility for addressing global inequality.

Teaching: Ten two-hour lecture/seminar sessions in the Michaelmas Term, and one two-hour revision session in the third week of the Summer Term.

Formative coursework: Students will submit a short formative essay (up to 1,000 words) and will be given feedback on this before submitting their assessed coursework.

Assessment: One 3,000 word essay (100%).

---

GV4E1 Half Unit

Comparative Democratization in a Global Age

This information is for the 2012/13 session.

Teacher responsible: Dr Bill Kissane

Availability: MSc Comparative Politics and MSc Global Politics.

Course content: To introduce students to the fundamental political science debates about the phenomenon of democratization, to explore the explanatory strength of key paradigms, and to compare distinct modes of democratization. Specific topics are: Definitions of democratization and democratic consolidation; capitalist development and democratization, civil society, elite transitions and international interventions, post-communist transitions, post-civil war democracy, democratic revolutions, constitutional moments and hybrid regimes.

Teaching: 10 lectures and 10 seminars in MT. One revision seminar in the first week of ST.

Formative coursework: All students are expected to submit two non-assessed essays.

Indicative reading: D Potter et al, Democratization, J. Grugel, Democratization, Rueschemeyer, Stephens and Stephens, Capitalist Development and Democracy; J Linz and A S Stepan, Problems of GV4E2 Half Unit

Capitalism and Democracy

This information is for the 2012/13 session.

Teachers responsible: Dr David Woodruff.

Availability: Primarily for MSc Comparative Politics (Politics and Markets) and MSc Political Science and Political Economy. Available as an outside option and for students on other programmes with the teacher's consent.

Course content: Compatibility and incompatibility of capitalism and democracy; Constitutional restraints on economic policymaking in central banking and property rights; Democracy and economic inequality; World context and the compatibility of democracy and capitalism; Democracy and economic crisis.

This course examines the uneasy interaction between the two dominant concepts underpinning political and economic institutions in advanced industrial societies. It addresses in particular questions about the relationship of capitalism to democracy, both conceptually and empirically. We consider whether democracy undermines or supports capitalism, focusing on policies relating to central banking, redistribution, and property rights. We also examine how capitalism may undermine or sustain democracy and whether contemporary international circumstances heighten the tension between democracy and capitalism.

Teaching: One hour lecture and 90 minute seminar every week for 10 weeks in LT and two seminars in the Summer Term.

Formative coursework: All students are expected to submit one non-assessed essay.

Assessment: A two-hour unseen examination in the ST (100%).

GV4E3 Half Unit Not available in 2012/13

Democratization, Conflict and State-Building

This information is for the 2012/13 session.

Teacher responsible: Professor James Hughes, CON. H302

Availability: An optional course for the MSc Comparative Politics Conflict Studies Stream. Other students will be admitted subject to space. This course has limited availability (is capped), and requires that students (regardless of Department or MSc programme) obtain permission from the teacher responsible.

Course content: This course provides a theoretically informed assessment and critique of the debates on the relationship between democratization, violent conflict and state-building. It seeks to explain why some state-building projects have succeeded while others failed or are failing. Case studies will be drawn mostly from post-communist Europe and Eurasia, principal focusing on the Western Balkans, North and South Caucasus, and Central Asia, including Afghanistan. Themes considered include: theories and forms of state-building, democratization and nation-state building, internal armed conflicts; conceptualising ‘failed state’; nationalist mobilisation and the ‘nationalising’ state; ‘ethnic democracies’; authoritarian state-building; colonial legacies; national and ethnic conflict management; the political economy of armed conflicts; democracy promotion, international conditionality and intervention; the politics and security challenges posed by of ‘frozen conflicts’.

As an LSE Moodle course, most of the weekly essential readings are available on-line.

Teaching: Ten weekly one and a half hour lectures, and ten weekly one hour seminars (MT), one revision seminar (ST).

Formative coursework: Students are expected to submit one non-assessed essay (2,000 words) and prepare one seminar presentation.

Assessment: A two hour exam in the ST (100%).

GV4E4 Public Budgeting and Financial Management

This information is for the 2012/13 session.

Teacher responsible: Dr Joachim Wehner

Availability: This is a compulsory course for the MPA in Public Policy and Management. It is also an option to students on MPA Public and Economic Policy/MPA International Development/MPA European Public and Economic Policy/MPA Public and Social Policy, MSc Political Science and Political Economy, MSc Public Policy and Administration and MSc Public Management and Governance, as well as interested MSc and research students with appropriate backgrounds up to a maximum of 45 students in total.

Course content: The course examines contemporary issues in public budgeting and financial management, and how they interface with public management drawing on comparative experience in OECD countries and elsewhere.

Topics include: theories of budgeting; time horizons in budgeting; legal frameworks; fiscal rules; top-down budgeting; legislative budgeting; fiscal decentralisation; performance budgeting; budget transparency; budget reform; special issues in developing countries; accounting and auditing in the public sector; parliamentary scrutiny of audit findings.

Teaching: Twenty lectures and seminars, plus three revision sessions.

Formative coursework: Students are expected to produce two formative essays, one each in the MT and LT.

Assessment: Consists of three parts: (i) an unseen three-hour written examination in ST (65%); (ii) a coursework essay of up to 3,000 words, due in the first week after the end of LT (25%); (iii) two application exercises, carried out in groups, together account for 10%.

GV4E8 Half Unit

Conflict and Institutional Design in Divided Societies

This information is for the 2012/13 session.
Course content

The internal resolution of serious ethnic and national conflicts almost inevitably involves some form of power sharing and/or power division (autonomy and federalism). While power sharing is often invoked in normative and comparative accounts of conflict resolution, it is less frequently systematically examined. Conflict and Institutional Design (CID) is a comparative analysis of the making, maintenance and too often breaking of power-sharing agreements. When and how are peace agreements negotiated? What type of power-sharing and federal designs are available? Under what conditions is power sharing likely to help contain conflict, and when does it fail? The course will pay particular attention to what happens after a power-sharing agreement is reached. We will examine the ‘content’ of peace agreements, spoiler attempts to undermine the peace, and the increasing use of ‘transitional justice’ mechanisms. The institutional focus will include analysis of electoral system design for divided societies, the dynamics of electoral and party competition within ethnic segmentation and consociational governance (power-sharing executives, legislatures and federations). While not neglecting theory and concepts, whenever possible the course will examine the quantitative and qualitative evidence on the successes and failures of power sharing.

Teaching

Ten three-hour seminars in the Lent Term.

Formative coursework

Two briefing papers on pre-selected key concepts/cases.

Indicative reading

Assessment

2,000 word assessed essay (50%) and 2 hour unseen written examination (50%).

---

GV4F2

Half Unit

Popular Politics in the Middle East

This information is for the 2012/13 session.

Teacher responsible: Dr John Chalcraft

Availability: This course is an option on MSc Comparative Politics and MSc Global Politics. Subject to availability it can be taken by MSc Political Sociology students and as an outside option where regulations permit and with permission of the teacher responsible.

Course content

The course aims to explore the role of popular politics in the making of the modern Middle East. The primary focus is on the Arab world but reference is also made to Iran, Israel and Turkey. We will study the origins, course and consequences of protest movements and contentious politics in the region from late nineteenth century to the Arab Spring of 2011. The material is organized by both chronology and theme, and relates to diverse forms of collective action, including religious and secular, armed and peaceful, revolutionary and reformist, ideological and survivalist, urban and rural, ‘vertical’ and ’horizontal’. The course addresses in particular the question of trans-nationalism, border-crossing, and the ways in which global and local forms have been intertwined in the making of political contention. We will aim to avoid either materialist or idealist reductionism, and pay attention to the problems involved in defining and identifying resistance. The course eschews (neo)Orientalist and modernist clichés alike, and draws in inter-disciplinary fashion on comparative politics, social history, anthropology, postcolonialism, and social movements theory.

Teaching

1.5 hour lecture each week, and then convene up to three classes of 1 hour each.

Formative coursework: In order to develop essay skills and obtain feedback outside of formal assessment, students will complete a 2,000 word formative essay by week 6, on which they will receive feedback as to overall standard, argument, evidence, structure and style by the end of term. Students will choose one essay from a list of titles. To prepare for the 5,000 word essay, students will submit for approval a proposed title and a two-page handout summarizing the topic on which written feedback will be given. An eleventh seminar will also be held in the Summer Term as a workshop to

---

GV4E9

Approaches and Issues in Public Policy and Administration

This information is for the 2012/13 session.

Teachers responsible: Professor Martin Lodge and Professor Edward Page

Availability: Compulsory for students on MSc Public Policy and Administration and the LSE-PKU Double Degree in Public Administration and Government.

Course content: The course is designed to introduce MSc students to major issues in understanding public administration and policy. Students will be divided into two classes and each class will be taught for the whole 24 weeks by the same tutor (Lodge/Page). 20 of the lectures will reflect the topics to be covered in the classes which remain the focus of the course and some of the lectures will be given by other colleagues teaching on the MSc degree as well as by outside speakers. Additional Visiting Professor lectures will be arranged for the Lent term. The core of the course will consist of 20 classes (4 revision) that will deal with key themes in Public Policy and Public Administration... Compulsory for students on MSc Public Policy and Administration and the LSE-PKU Double Degree in Public Administration and Government.

Teaching: 10 lectures and 10 seminars in the MT. 10 lectures and 10 seminars in the LT. Four lectures and four seminars in the ST.

In addition, there will be a number of ‘visiting professor’ lectures in LT.

Formative coursework: Three formative essays, two in the Michaelmas Term and one in the Lent Term and a mock examination.

Assessment: One 3,000 word essay (25%) and one 3-hour examination in the ST (75%). assist students prior to the final submission of their 5,000 word essay.

Assessment: One 5,000 word essay (100%), submitted in the third week of ST.

GV4F5  Half Unit
Advanced Study of Key Political Thinkers

This information is for the 2012/13 session.
Teacher responsible: Professor Chandran Kukathas.
Availability: This course is an option on MSc Political Theory. It is also available as an outside option on other programmes where regulations permit and with the permission of the course teacher.
Pre-requisites: An advanced undergraduate course in the History of Political Thought or Political Philosophy, or following consultation with the course teacher.
Course content: This course provides an opportunity to study in depth the work of one major political thinker. It will focus on one or a few of the major works of the figure studied, and also consider the main lines of criticism of that thinker, from other contemporary figures, later political philosophers, and modern scholars and critics. It will also be important to consider issues of interpretation, particularly when there are differing controversial readings of the theorist in question. Political thinkers who might be studied would include Plato, Aristotle, St Augustine, Aquinas, Marsilius, Dante, Machiavelli, Hobbes, Rousseau, Hume, Adam Smith, Hegel, Toqueville, Marx, and Mill. The course would be taught as a seminar in political philosophy rather than one in intellectual history. To focus would be on understanding and critical engagement with the ideas of the figure under examination rather than on the study of the historical context of their work. In 2010-11 the thinker to be studied is Jean-Jacques Rousseau.
Teaching: 20 hours of seminars in the Michaelmas Term.
Formative coursework: Students will be expected to submit two formative essays of no more than 1500 words in the fifth and ninth weeks of the term.
Assessment: One 5,000 word essay (100%).

GV4F6  The Philosophy and Politics of Environmental Change

This information is for the 2012/13 session.
Teachers responsible: Professor Christian List and Dr Kai Speikermann
Availability: MSc Political Theory, MSc Philosophy and Public Policy, MSc Environmental Economics and Climate Change, MPA programme (all streams). Available as an outside option where regulations and space permit, with the permission of the teacher responsible.
Pre-requisites: No formal requirements, but an interest in the formal analysis of political, philosophical and economic questions and a willingness to study contributions from various disciplines, including the natural sciences, is expected.
Course content: This course analyses political and philosophical questions arising in the context of environmental change. The approach will be interdisciplinary, and the course will engage with normative-philosophical, positive-analytical and empirical work, drawing on methodologies from political science, philosophy, economics and the natural sciences. Among the topics discussed will be climate change, overpopulation, food and water scarcity, deforestation, desertification and the loss of biodiversity. The course will address dilemmas of co-operation such as the ‘tragedy of the commons,’ public-goods and collective-action problems, group decision making, markets for emission certificates, problems... of compliance and enforcement, the role of social norms, intergenerational justice and discounting, global and environmental justice, cost-benefit analysis, decisions under uncertainty, the precautionary principle, the analysis of complex systems, and the role of the natural sciences in policy formulation.

Teaching: 10 hours of lectures and 15 hours of seminars in the MT and the LT.

Formative coursework: One formative essay (2,000 words) and one formally developed presentation per term.

Assessment: Two 2,500 word essays (50% each).

---

GV4F9 Half Unit

Institutions in the Global Economy

This information is for the 2012/13 session.

Teacher responsible: Dr Stephanie Rickard.

Availability: MSc Global Politics, MSc Political Science and Political Economy, and MSc Public Policy and Administration. Available as an outside option on other programmes where regulations permit and with permission of the teacher responsible.

Course content: The course is organized around several important theoretical and empirical questions regarding the functioning of the global economy and the role of international institutions. Why do states delegate certain economic tasks and responsibilities to international institutions rather than acting unilaterally or cooperating directly? To what extent do states continue to control international organizations once authority has been delegated? To what extent do international institutions constrain national governments and their economic policies, such as trade, monetary and fiscal policy? When and under what circumstances do national governments comply with the decisions of international organizations? These questions are examined in the context of a variety of different institutions that play a role in the global economy including, for example, the World Trade Organization, the World Bank, the OECD and the International Monetary Fund.

Teaching: Twenty hours of seminars in the LT and four hours of seminars in the ST.

Formative coursework: All students are expected to submit one 2,000 word essay.

Assessment: One two-hour exam in the ST (100%).

GV4F9 Half Unit

African Politics, Wars and Violence

This information is for the 2012/13 session.

Teacher responsible: Dr. Omar McDoom

Availability: Priority will generally be given to Comparative Politics students, but students from other Government Department programmes and other LSE Departments may also be admitted subject to space.

Course content: Where does the colonial legacy end and the responsibility of Africa’s own leaders for the continent’s current predicaments begin? Why have the modern state, democracy, and the rule of law proved so difficult to build in Africa and are there any indigenous institutions to promote instead? Is it simply trite to say overseas development assistance has hurt Africa more that it has helped? How do we choose between the myriad explanations - natural resource abundance, high ethnic diversity, poor geography, weak state capacity, arbitrary borders, inter-group inequalities, and general poverty - in accounting for Africa’s high incidence of civil wars? This course is a survey of the major issues in sub-Saharan African politics which have confronted its leaders and peoples and engaged scholars and policy-makers since the end of colonial rule. As it is a graduate-level course in comparative politics, its content is guided by the aim of encouraging students to reflect critically on these big questions and to challenge widely-held assumptions about the continent. Students will be encouraged to place the issues studied into comparative historical and regional perspective. The application of important theoretical constructs in political science to real-world issues is central to the course’s ethos. The ultimate goal of the course is to equip students who seek to enter the policymaking arena with a strong theoretical foundation for looking critically at Africa’s ongoing challenges and the current strategies to meet them. With these questions in mind then, the course lectures then will address the following themes: (i) The colonial legacy; (ii) The modern African state; (iii) Africa's political institutions: regime type and political culture; (iv) Africa's civil society: ethnicity, class, and gender; (v) Africa's political economy: aid and the challenge of underdevelopment; (vi) Political liberalization and democracy; (vii) Political violence in Africa; (viii) Africa in the international system; (ix) Emerging challenges on the continent - for example environmental change and demographic transition. The course will illustrate each of these themes through country case studies. The case studies will vary from year-to-year, but the goal is to select from all the major country groupings to minimize the risk of students forming a regionally-skewed perspective on a diverse continent: west, east, central, and southern Africa will be represented. The course will also draw on a range of methodological approaches - quantitative, historical, and qualitative - though students will not need any prior specialization in these research methods.

Teaching: 10 one-hour lectures and 10 two-hour of seminars in the Lent Term. 2 two-hour seminars in the Summer Term which will include a film viewing and a revision seminar.

Formative coursework: Students will be required to complete one formative essay (1,500 words).

Assessment: Two-hour exam in the ST (100%).
GV4G1 Half Unit Not available in 2012/13

Applied Quantitative Methods for Political Science

This information is for the 2012/13 session.

Teacher responsible: Dr. Valentino Larcinese.

Availability: MSc Political Science and Political Economy. Also available as an outside option where regulations permit and with permission of the teacher responsible.

Pre-requisites: A good knowledge of statistics and of the generalized linear model at the level of MI452.

Course content: This course provides an introduction to the most commonly used methods for causal inference in the social sciences. After reviewing the rationale for simple OLS estimation, particularly focussing on the conditions for a causal interpretation of the coefficients, the course will cover matching estimators, instrumental variables, panel data, differences-in-differences, regression discontinuity, quantile regression. Students will be stimulated to think in experimental terms and the main theme will be how to replicate or get close to the experimental ideal of natural sciences by using non-experimental observational data. The lectures will present the techniques and illustrate their applications by making extensive use of the most up-to-date empirical literature in political science. The seminars (tutorial) will be conducted in a computer room and will provide an opportunity to learn how to use the methods with the statistical software Stata.

Teaching: 20 hours of lectures in the LT and 4 in the ST. 5 hours of seminars in the LT.

Formative coursework: There will be two pieces of formative work to be submitted collectively to the lecturer in the form of short essays. Students will be divided into groups of 4-5 people (groups change each time). Each group will receive a dataset and will be asked to use some specific methods to answer an assigned question.

Assessment: One two-hour exam in the ST (100%).

---

GV4G3 Foundations of Political Theory

This information is for the 2012/13 session.

Teacher responsible: Dr Lea Ypi

Availability: Compulsory on MSc Political Theory and MSc Political Theory (Research). Only available as an outside option with the permission of the MSc Political Theory convenor.

Course content: This course provides a systematic introduction to the philosophical and methodological foundations of political theory. It aims to give students a comprehensive conceptual toolbox that can be brought to bear on many different substantive problems and research questions in political theory and neighbouring fields. The course covers four broad areas: philosophy of history and the history of ideas; positive and analytical political theory; metethics and value theory; foundationalism and anti-foundationalism in political theory. Examples of topics addressed are: the aims and justifications of political theory; the basics of philosophical reasoning and argumentation; the Cambridge School; hermeneutic approaches to textual interpretation; formal theories of decision making and rationality; philosophy of science and social science; consequentialism and deontology; moral realism versus anti-realism; pragmatism and moral constructivism; critical theory; the feminist challenge, ideal and non-ideal theory.

Teaching: 10 one-hour lectures in MT and LT. 10 one-hour seminars in MT and LY. A two-hour revision lecture in the ST.

Formative coursework: Three 2,000 word formative essays or two formative essays and one mock exam paper.

Assessment: One three-hour examination in the ST (100%).

---

GV4G4 Half Unit Comparative Conflict Analysis

This information is for the 2012/13 session.

Teachers responsible: Professor James Hughes, Paul Mitchell and others.

Availability: Compulsory on MSc Comparative Politics (Conflict Studies) only.

Course content: What is intra-state conflict? How should we investigate and measure political violence? What causes national and ethnic conflict and other forms of political violence and why does it take particular forms? What are the most effective means of conflict resolution? This course will introduce students to the core theoretical debates and cutting edge research on intra-state conflict and political violence. The course is structured around three categories of analysis and explanation: causation, dynamics and outcomes. Central themes include: the role of violence in state formation, development and collapse; the causes and consequences of civil war; the interaction of violence and group identities and interests; macro- and micro-analyses of political violence; the sociopsychological motivations for collective and individual participation in violent acts; and top-down and bottom-up methods for ending violent conflict, including intervention, the role of civil society, and institutional designs. The course offers students the opportunity to engage with the main methodological approaches to the study of conflict, including critical case studies, small n and large n research, which will enhance their skills for the dissertation. In the weekly lectures and seminars the themes will be explored through a mix of theory-based readings and works which provide in-depth case studies.

Teaching: Ten x 1.5 hour lectures and 10 x 1-hour seminars in MT. One x 1-hour lecture and three x 1-hour seminars in the ST.

Formative coursework: Students are required to complete one formative essay of 2,000 words.

GV4G5
The History and Politics of the Modern Middle East

This information is for the 2012/13 session.

Teacher responsible: Dr John Chalcraft
Availability: Optional on MSc Comparative Politics and MSc Global Politics. Also available as an outside option where regulations permit.

Course content: The course introduces students to the advanced, inter-disciplinary study of the modern Middle East. The course takes up a series of topics and problems capable of being studied from a variety of disciplinary perspectives and drawn from the modern politics and history of the region. The course looks both from above and below, studying major processes and power structures on the one hand and key events and movements on the other. The emphasis is on change over time, comparisons with other regions, and global and transnational context.

Teaching: 10 x one-hour lectures and 10 x two-hour seminars in the MT and LT. 2 x two-hour seminars in the ST.

Formative coursework: One 2,500 word essay to be submitted at the end of the Michaelmas Term. One mock exam essay to be completed during the Lent Term.

Assessment: One three-hour examination in the ST (80%) and one 3,000 word essay (20%).

GV4G6
Nationalism and Global Politics

This information is for the 2012/13 session.

Teacher responsible: John Breuilly
Availability: Optional on MSc Comparative Politics and MSc Global Politics. Also available as an outside option where regulations permit.

Course content: In political science nationalism is often treated as preceding globalisation which poses challenges to nationalism and the nation-state, leading to debates about whether these will be weakened, strengthened or transformed by such challenges. This course explores another view; namely that globalisation both preceded and shaped nationalism and nation-state formation, the relationship changing with epochal shifts in the nature of global politics. The course will be divided into three parts: conceptual, historical, contemporary. It begins by examining theories, concepts and debates about nationalism and globalisation and how to relate these to each other. It then looks at nationalism in different epochs of global politics: Anglo-French conflict, British hegemony, global imperialism, the era of world wars, the Cold War. Contemporary issues start with the collapse of the Soviet Union and how that changed global politics, and go on to consider nationalism as response to western interventionism, to diaspora movements and to intra-state conflict.

Teaching: 10 x two-hour seminars in MT. 2 x two-hour seminars in the ST.

Formative coursework: Each student will write two short (1500-2000 words) formative essays and give one seminar presentation.

Assessment: One two-hour examination in the ST (100%).

GV4G7
Half Unit
Marx and Marxism

This information is for the 2012/13 session.

Teacher responsible: Dr Lea Ypi
Availability: Optional on MSc Political Theory and MSc Political Theory (Research). Also available as an outside option where regulations permit.

Course content: The course is an advanced level course providing the opportunity to read canonical texts in the history of Marxism and engage with the more recent normative literature related to these texts. The course will cover key issues in the study of Marxism such as the materialist conception of history, the idea of class and class struggle, the role of the state, the analysis of exploitation, the defence of revolution, the role of the party, the analysis of imperialism. It will introduce to the thought of an author that is often referred to in a range of literatures and will provide the opportunity to read original texts and engage with scholarly controversies (both historical and normative) generated by these texts.

Teaching: 10 x one-hour lectures and 10 x one-hour seminars in LT.

Formative coursework: One formative essay of around 2,500 words.

Assessment: One 5,000 word essay (100%).

GV4V8
Half Unit
MPA Policy Paper

This information is for the 2012/13 session.

Teachers responsible: Professor Patrick Dunleavy, Dr Lloyd Gruber, plus supervisors from MPA departments
Availability: This is an optional half-unit course for MPA second year students. Students may not take this course and an MPA dissertation.

Course content: MPA students to write an individually-authored MPA Policy Paper on a topic developed in consultation with their MPA supervisor. Each paper analyses a concrete policy problem in a specific setting and proposes an evidence-based solution or course of amelioration Papers cannot exceed 6,000 words and should be clearly and directly written, suitable for consideration by policy-makers.

Teaching: Three x two-hour lectures in the MT.

Formative coursework: A title, abstract, and MPA Policy Paper proposal (of no more than 750 words in total) to be submitted by Week 3 of Michaelmas Term. Students will have these items returned, with comments, within two weeks of submission.

Assessment: One 6,000 word MPA Policy Paper (100%).

---

GY404 Half Unit

Topics in Local Economic Development

This information is for the 2012/13 session.

Teacher responsible: Dr Simonia Iammarrino, Room STC. S410

Availability: MSc Local Economic Development, LSE-Sciences Po Double Degree in Urban Policy and nominated MPhil/PhD Geography students in their first year of registration, but also available to other suitably qualified students.

Course content: This course is concerned with both the theoretical underpinnings and practical implementation of specific local economic development policies. It will cover a range of different strategies and a number of different institutional contexts. In the MT the topics are presented by the responsible teacher, whilst in the LT each topic is given by a different academic drawing on their own research in the area. Topics covered vary by year, but are likely to include: changes in competitiveness, linkages and networks for innovation and technology, clusters and local growth coalitions, the role of infrastructure, human and social capital and institutions.

Teaching: 10 x two-hour lectures in alternate weeks of the MT and LT. Students will be expected to make presentations and participate actively in lectures.

Assessment: Unseen examination (75%) and one extended essay of 2,500 words to be handed in at a specified date in the ST (25%).
Term B: This section of the course deals with the management and institutions of local and regional economic development. It dwells on the socio-economic implications of the emergence of local and regional governments and institutions as key actors in the design and implementation of economic development strategies across the world. In particular, the first section of the course analyses the consequences for economic efficiency and equality of the gradual but relentless shift of development responsibilities from the national and the supranational to the local and regional scale, linked of political and fiscal decentralisation. The second section of the course focuses, from a theoretical and empirical perspective, on the strategies being implemented by subnational governments across the world in order to cope and redress development problems. Strategies based on the building of infrastructure, the attraction of foreign direct investment, the support to local production and the promotion of local human resources are analysed in different institutional and governance contexts. The course draws on examples from Europe, the US, Latin America, and Asia.

Teaching: 20 Lectures/Seminars in MT, 20 Lectures/Seminars in LT.

Assessment: One unseen examination of three hours (75%) and written work to be submitted during the session (25%).

GY408 Local Economic Development and Policy
This information is for the 2012/13 session.
Teacher responsible: Professor Ian Gordon, STC. S505a. Other teacher involved, Dr Riccardo Crescenzi
Availability: Primarily for students taking MSc Local Economic Development, LSE-Sciences Po Double Degree in Urban Policy, MSc Development Management, MSc Development Studies and MPA Public and Economic Policy/MPA Public Policy and Management/MPA International Development/MPA European Public and Economic Policy/MPA Public and Social Policy. Also available to other suitably qualified graduate students as permitted by the regulations for their degrees.

Course content: This course deals with the analysis of theoretical and institutional issues, empirical evidence, development pre-requisites and economic development policies in the context of actions to stimulate the economic development of local and regional economies. The course is split in two parts. Both are concerned with the analysis of local economic development management. The first part of the course (GY410) is focused on the macro and meso-level determinants of regional and local economic development and on the design and implementation of the corresponding ‘top-down’ policies. The second part of the course (GY415) is concerned with ‘bottom-up’ approaches and focuses on locally initiated and managed processes which may involve a much wider range of actors in shaping and implementing local economic development initiatives.

Term A: This section of the course is generally focused on the macro and meso-level determinants of regional and local economic development and on the capacity of ‘top-down’ policies to exert an influence on these drivers, promoting growth and convergence. The course starts by examining the existing disparities in regional economic performance in a number of industrial, emerging and developing countries, illustrating the scope and justification for government intervention in this area. The course then considers how different theories and approaches to local and regional economic development identify different macro and meso determinants of economic performance and, consequently, suggest differentiated sets of ‘top-down’ development policies. With these analytical tools in place, the EU regional policy is used as a case study to discuss the benefits of a ‘balanced’ approach to the analysis, design and implementation of regional development policies, overcoming the limitations of the one-sided approaches presented in the first part of the course. In this context, special attention will also be devoted to the cases of the United States, China and India in a comparative perspective.

Term B: This section of the course deals mainly with socio-economic restructuring and labour market change in recent decades and the policy issues which these present to local and regional agencies to formulate and deliver effective ‘bottom-up’ strategies for economic development. The strengths and weaknesses of growth and labour market functioning are analysed, together with those of newer orthodoxies. The lectures and seminars will focus on the relations between social capital, equity and competitiveness; human resources in development organisations and in local economies; clustering, inter-firm partnering and innovation; labour market processes and policies, urban competition, the role of institutions, policy and politics in shaping and the genesis of growth. A significant part of this course will be based on case studies and the transferability of their lessons to different contexts.

Teaching: MT and LT will each have 12 one-hour lectures and eight hours of seminars/debates (GY408.1 and GY408.2).

Assessment: One unseen examination of three hours (75%) and two essays of 1,500 words on a title approved by the course convener (25%).

GY409 Half Unit Globalisation and Regional Development
This information is for the 2012/13 session.
Teacher responsible: Professor M Storper, STC. S408
Availability: Primarily for students taking MSc Local Economic Development, MSc City Design and Social Science, MSc Development Management, MSc Regional and Urban Planning Studies, MSc Environment and Development, MSc Human Geography and Urban Studies (Research), MSc Environmental Economics and Climate Change and LSE-Sciences Po Double Degree in Urban Policy. Also available to other suitably qualified graduate students as permitted by the regulations for their degrees.

Course content: The economic geography of globalization, and examination of some of the principal effects of globalization on economic development of cities, regions and nations. Theories of regional economic development, location, and trade are applied to the contemporary process known as “globalization”, and used to decipher this phenomenon and its effects on development, employment, and political institutions. A number of major issues for regional and industrial policy are considered, including trade, convergence/divergence, corporate power, knowledge and technology, governance, and inter-place competition.

Teaching: Two lectures per week (respectively two hours and one and one-half hours) for ten weeks. Attendance is expected at all session. (GY407.1).

Assessment: One unseen examination of two hours.

---

GY410 Half Unit
Economics of Local and Regional Development
This information is for the 2012/13 session.

Teacher responsible: Dr Riccardo Crescenzi

Availability: Primarily for students taking MSc Local Economic Development, MSc Regional and Urban Planning Studies, MSc Environmental Economics and Climate Change, LSE-Sciences Po Double Degree in Urban Policy, MSc Development Management, MSc City Design and Social Science and MPA Public and Economic Policy/MPA Public Policy and Management/MPA International Development/MPA European Public and Economic Policy/MPA Public and Social Policy. Also available to other suitably qualified graduate students as permitted by the regulations for their degrees.

Course content: Why do some regions and territories perform systematically better than others in terms of economic development and wealth? What are the key drivers of local and regional economic performance? How can local and regional economic development policies boost economic activity and improve socio-economic conditions in disadvantaged areas? Globalisation and technological change have challenged the ‘traditional’ answers to these questions and call for new analytical and policy tools. This course provides students with an in-depth understanding of the macro and meso-level determinants of regional and local economic development and the policies influencing these drivers. After examining the existing disparities in regional economic performance between and within a number of advanced, emerging and developing countries, the course illustrates the scope and justification for government intervention in this area. Various theories and approaches to local and regional economic development, leading to different policy prescriptions, are analysed in order to identify different macro and meso determinants of economic performance (from innovation and human capital to knowledge spillovers and global networks). In particular, the course dwells on the regional policy of the European Union (EU) - one of the most important large-scale regional policy experiences - in order to discuss the pros and cons of existing policy tools and illustrate the benefits of a ‘balanced’ approach to the analysis, design, management and implementation of regional and local economic development policies in a globalising world. In this context, special attention will also be devoted to the cases of the United States, China and India in a comparative perspective.

Teaching: Twelve one-hour lectures and eight hours of seminars/debates (GY408.1).

A number of more specialized texts will be recommended at the beginning of the course.

Assessment: One unseen examination of two hours.

---

GY413 Half Unit
Regional Development and Policy
This information is for the 2012/13 session.

Teacher responsible: Professor A Rodriguez-Pose, STC. S407

Availability: For students taking MSc Local Economic Development, MSc Environment and Development, MSc Regional and Urban Planning Studies, MSc Urbanisation and Development, LSE-Sciences Po Double Degree in Urban Policy, MSc Global Media and Communications, also available to other suitably qualified graduate students as permitted by the regulations for their degrees. A good background is required in one of the fields of management, economics, economic geography, regional and urban studies.

Course content: This course deals with the management and institutions of local and regional economic development. It dwells on the socio-economic implications of the emergence of local and regional governments and institutions as key actors in the design and implementation of economic development strategies across the world. In particular, the first section of the course analyses the consequences for economic efficiency and equality of the gradual but relentless shift of development responsibilities from the national and the supranational to the local and regional scale, linked of political and fiscal decentralisation. The second section of the course focuses, from a theoretical and empirical perspective, on the strategies being implemented by subnational governments across the world in order to cope and redress development problems. Strategies based on the building of infrastructure, the attraction of foreign direct investment, the support to local production and the promotion of local human resources are analysed in different institutional and governance contexts. The course draws on examples from Europe, the US, Latin America, and Asia.

Teaching: 20 one-hour lectures and 20 one-hour hour seminars.

Assessment: Two-hour unseen examination.

---

GY415 Half Unit
Local Capacity and Economic Development Policy
This information is for the 2012/13 session.

Teacher responsible: Professor Ian R Gordon, STC. S505a

Availability: For students taking MSc Local Economic Development, MSc Regional and Urban Planning Studies, LSE-Sciences Po Double Degree in Urban Policy, MSc Human Geography and Urban Studies (Research) and MPA Public and Economic Policy/MPA Public Policy and Management/MPA International Development/MPA European Public and Economic Policy/MPA Public and Social Policy. Also Teaching: different rationalities of regulation (science, ethics and justice). The themes chosen to explore this concept include collective action, alignments and forms of regulation within and across state borders: the concept of multi-level governance. This concept suggests new governing policy implementation processes. In LT, the course the influence of different interest groups over government policy rationale for public policy intervention, and the factors that shape characteristics, processes and evolving dynamics of environmental development initiatives. This Half Unit focuses on the social and institutional dimension of local economic development. In particular it is concerned with the implications of changing forms of economic competition and labour market operations over recent decades and the challenge these present for formulation and delivery of effective 'bottom-up' strategies for economic development. The strengths and weaknesses of traditional theories of growth and labour market functioning are critically analysed, together with those of newer orthodoxies. The lectures and seminars will focus on: the relations between social capital, equity and competitiveness; human resources in development organisations and in local economies; clustering, inter-firm partnering and innovation; labour market processes and policies; urban competition and the role of institutions, and politics in shaping and implementing local development policies. A significant part of this course will be focused on what can be learned from case studies, and the transferability of their lessons to different contexts.

Teaching: 12 one-hour lectures and 8 hours of seminars/debates (GY408.2).

Assessment: Two-hour unseen examination.

GY420 Environmental Regulation: Implementing Policy This information is for the 2012/13 session. Teachers responsible: Dr R Perkins, STC. S413. Other teachers involved: Dr C Marchiori, KGS. K102; Dr M Mason, STC. S510.

Availability: GY420 is a compulsory course for all MSc Environmental Policy and Regulation students. It is also available to MSc Environment and Development, MSc Environmental Economics and Climate Change, MSc Management and Regulation of Risk, MSc Local Economic Development, MSc Development Studies, MPA Programme (all streams), MSc Regulation and MSc Regulation (Research) and LSE-Sciences Po Double Degree in Urban Policy students. This course cannot be taken with GY465 Concepts in Environmental Regulation or GY475 Issues in Environmental Governance.

Course content: This course provides critical insights into the characteristics, processes and evolving dynamics of environmental policy, regulation and governance. In MT, the course considers the rationale for public policy intervention, and the factors that shape the influence of different interest groups over government policy making. It proceeds to examine the nature, design and performance of different policy instruments, together with the various influences governing policy implementation processes. In LT, the course highlights key themes in environmental regulation informed by the concepts level governance, new alignments and forms of regulation within and across state borders: the themes chosen to explore this concept include collective action, international negotiations, governance beyond the state, and different rationalities of regulation (science, ethics and justice).

Teaching: Ten (one-and-a-half hour) lectures and nine (one-hour) seminars in the MT and ten (one-hour) lectures and nine (one-hour) seminars in the LT.

Formative coursework: Students are expected to prepare one formative essay in MT. In the LT students are required to give one presentation on an agreed topic: this will be graded with feedback.

Indicative reading: While there is no one single text that covers all aspects of the course, you are strongly advised to consult the following:

Assessment: There is a three-hour formal examination paper. In addition, there is a course essay of 3,000 words maximum, on a topic to be set by the teacher. The course essay will account for 25% of the final marks, the formal examination for 75%.

GY421 Half Unit Gender and Development: Geographical Perspectives This information is for the 2012/13 session.

Teacher responsible: Professor S Chant, STC. S515

Availability: For students taking MSc Urbanisation and Development, LSE-Sciences Po Double Degree in Urban Policy, MSc Human Geography and Urban Studies (Research), MSc Gender, Development and Globalisation, MSc Environment and Development, MSc Regional and Urban Planning Studies, MSc Health, Community and Development, MSc Population and Development, MPA Public and Economic Policy/MPA Public Policy and Management/MPA International Development/MPA European Public and Economic Policy/MPA Public and Social Policy, MSc Gender, MSc Gender, Policy and Inequalities, MSc Global Politics, MSc Development Management, MSc Development Studies, MSc Development Studies (Research), MSc Regulation and MSc Regulation (Research). Other suitably qualified and interested graduate students may take or audit the course with the permission of the teacher responsible. Not to be combined with GY407.

Course content: An analysis of gender roles, relations and inequalities in developing world regions, with particular emphasis on the variability of these in different geographical contexts, and their intersections with poverty, especially in urban areas. Specific themes include: the incorporation of gender into development analysis and practice; indicators of gender inequality; households, families, domestic inequalities and carework; fertility, family planning and reproductive rights; health, healthcare and housing; gender divisions in urban labour markets; female labour force participation; international and international migration; Gender and Development (GAD) policy and practice; men and masculinities in GAD.

Teaching: 5 x two-hour lectures followed by 5 x 1.5 hour seminar sessions in LT.

Formative coursework: Students will be expected to produce one essay during the course as well as to prepare presentations for seminars and to be actively engaged in seminar discussions.

Assessment: One essay of 2,500 words to be submitted at beginning of ST (25%); one two-hour unseen examination, two questions out of five in ST (75%).

GY426 Environmental and Resource Economics

This information is for the 2012/13 session.

Teacher responsible: Dr Marchiori. Other teachers involved: Dr G Atkinson; B Groom; S Mourato; C Palmer.

Availability: Compulsory on MSc Environmental Economics and Climate Change. Not available to General Course students. Other students are welcome to take the course if their programme regulations permit and with the permission of the course manager.

Course content: Environmental and resource economics is at the forefront of the response to local, national and global environmental problems. As such, it has become an essential part of the thinking and actions of national and regional governments, as well as international agencies and organizations. This course seeks to develop a rigorous treatment of the theory of the economics of the environment and resource management and to show how formal economic thinking can assist real world policymaking in areas such as climate change, ecosystem & biodiversity conservation and water resource management.

The course consists of four components which cluster together the principal areas of interest and research in environmental and natural resource economics. These are: (i) foundations of environmental and resource economics; (ii) economics of pollution control; (iii) economics of renewable and non-renewable resources; and (iv) the study of international environmental problems and agreements.

Teaching: Weekly lectures (1.5 hours) and seminars (1 hour) throughout MT and LT. Note, seminars start in Week 2 of MT.

Formative coursework: Students will complete one written assignment of 2,500 words in Michaelmas Term, on which they will receive written feedback.

Assessment: One 3,000 word essay (25%) and one three-hour exam in the ST (75%).

GY427 Half Unit Climate Change: Science, Economics and Policy

This information is for the 2012/13 session.

Teacher responsible: Dr Simon Dietz

Availability: Compulsory on MSc Environmental Economics and Climate Change. Optional on MSc Environment and Development, MSc Environmental Policy and Regulation and for research students on an appropriate pathway. Available as an outside option to other students subject to programme regulations and capacity.

Course content: This course is an interdisciplinary analysis of the issue of climate change. It will begin with an overview of the science of climate change, which will be accessible to students training in the social sciences. It will go on to consider the economic, political and social implications of climate change, drawing on economic analysis, as well as insights from other disciplines such as human geography and political science.

Teaching: 20 hours of lectures and 5 hours of seminars in the MT.

Formative coursework: Students will write one essay (unassessed), on which they will receive written feedback. The essay serves as a mock exam, there is no word limit, but students should time themselves to write it in 50 minutes.

Indicative reading: Detailed reading lists will be provided to support each course component.

Assessment
A two-hour examination in the ST (100%).

---

GY428  Half Unit

Applied Quantitative Methods

This information is for the 2012/13 session.

Teacher responsible: Professor Ken Benoit and TBA.

Availability: Compulsory on MSc Environmental Economics and Climate Change. Not available to General Course students. Subject to availability and permission of the course manager, optional for MSc Real Estate Economics & Finance and MSc Local Economic Development. Other students will be welcome to take the course if their programme regulations permit and with the permission of the course manager.

Course content: This course will provide an introduction to quantitative methods in use in modern environmental and resource economics. Emphasis will be placed on the practical use of empirical tools. This applied focus will be complemented by the investigation of assumptions and proofs that can improve the understanding of empirical results. A number of relevant applications making use of computers will be presented and, in doing so, use of a wealth of interesting and topical environmental data sets will be made. To this end, ten seminars of one hour each will be provided. During the seminars the students will gain understanding of the software STATA. Additionally, in some of the seminars, selected papers in quantitative environmental economics will be critically discussed.

Again the focus will be on relevant empirical papers published in the area.

The module will cover several estimators. We will start with the standard linear regression model, its assumptions, violations and testing procedures. Extensions of the linear regression model (e.g. Two Stages Least Squares and Panel Data) will be also covered.

Non Linear Models will also be presented. These include Poisson Regression; Probit; Logit; Selection Models (Maximum Likelihood); Multivariate Probit and Logit; Conditional Logit and Mixed Logit Models.

Teaching: 20 hours of lectures and 10 hours of seminars in the MT.

(Students take the first seven lectures on MY452).

Formative coursework: Students will complete one (unassessed) outline project assignment early on in Lent Term on which they will receive written feedback.

Indicative reading: Detailed reading lists will be provided to support each course component. The following texts will be particularly useful:

Assessment: A two-hour open book unseen examination in ST (100%).

---

GY430  Contemporary Urbanism

This information is for the 2012/13 session.

Teachers responsible: Dr M M Low, STC. S512. Other teachers involved: TBC.

Availability: Optional for students on MSc Global Media and Communications (with Fudan or USC), MSc Regional and Urban Planning Studies, MSc City Design and Social Science, MSc Environment and Development, MSc Urbanisation and Development, LSE-Sciences Po Double Degree in Urban Policy, MSc Culture and Society, MSc Development Studies, MSc Development Studies (Research) and MPA Public and Economic Policy/MPA Public Policy and Management/MPA International Development/MPA European Public and Economic Policy/MPA Public and Social Policy. Other graduate students are welcome but should seek the permission of the course director.

Course content: Theoretical perspectives on contemporary cities, with a specific focus on the global nature of urban social and political change and development. The course will consider classic and recent theory and analysis emanating from ‘Northern’ academic and policy contexts, while also challenging western-centric views of the city. In doing so, it aims to explore the mutual shapings of the differing urban experiences in these geographical contexts in a wide range of areas. In treating cities as crucibles of social, political and cultural transformation, the course will highlight the fractured and fragmented nature of the ‘urban experience,’ as well as the global determinants of the contemporary city. The course will equip students interested in urban change and development to understand and consider appropriate responses to social and political aspects of cities.

Teaching: 10 x two-hour meetings in MT, 10 x two-hour meetings in LT.

Assessment: Unseen three-hour examination (75%); one essay of 2,000 words (12.5%) and one 2,000 word project (12.5%).

---

GY431  Half Unit

Cities, People and Poverty in the South

This information is for the 2012/13 session.

Teacher responsible: Professor Sylvia Chant, STC. S515

Availability: For students taking MSc Urbanisation and Development, LSE-Sciences Po Double Degree in Urban Policy; MSc Human Geography and Urban Studies (Research); also MSc Environment and Development, MSc Health, Community and Development, MSc Regional and Urban Planning Studies. MSc Development Studies, MSc Development Studies (Research), MSc Development Management, MSc City Design and Social Science, MSc Local Economic Development, MSc Population and Development, MSc Gender, Policy and Inequalities, MSc Gender, Development and Globalisation. Other suitably qualified and interested graduate students may take or audit the course with the permission of the teacher responsible. Experience and/or knowledge of development and urbanisation in the South would be a distinct advantage.

Course content: The course examines the patterns, processes and implications of urbanisation in developing societies, with particular reference to the survival and well-being of low-income groups, and the variability of urban life and poverty in different geographical contexts. The conceptual and empirical focus of the course revolves around strategies adopted at individual household and community levels to ensure sustainable livelihoods, and the interrelations of grassroots processes with policy interventions on the part of governments, international development agencies and NGOs. Specific themes include: trends in urban development in the 20th and 21st centuries; population and rural-urban migration; shelter and housing; land and tenure; urban services; the conceptualisation and measurement of poverty; the ‘urbanisation’ of poverty; the ‘feminisation of poverty’; poverty reduction strategies, employment and urban labour markets; urban livelihood strategies and economic restructuring; households and gender; women-headed households; health and healthcare; participatory urban governance, civil society, and UN-Habitat agendas past, present and future.

Teaching: Five x 2 hour lectures (first 5 weeks) followed by five x 1.5 hour seminar sessions (second 5 weeks) in LT.
Formative coursework: Students will be expected to produce one essay during the course, as well as to prepare seminar presentations and to be actively involved in seminar discussions.

Teaching: 10 two-hour lectures and discussion in the LT and ST.

Formative coursework: A 2,500 word essay and a critical reflection on one week’s readings for discussion in class.

Assessment: A 5,000 word essay (100%).
semiformal; produce three one essay (1,500 words) on which they will receive written feedback.

Assessment: One two-hour examination in the ST (75%) and one 3,000 word essay (25%).

---

GY439 Half Unit

Cities, Politics and Citizenship

This information is for the 2012/13 session.

Teachers responsible: Dr M M Low, STC. S12.

Availability: Students registered on: MSc Regional and Urban Planning Studies, MSc Urbanisation and Development, MSc Human Geography and Urban Studies (Research), MSc City Design and Social Science, MSc Environment and Development, MSc Global Media and Communications, MSc Health, Community and Development, MSc Culture and Society and MPA Public and Social Policy/MPA Public and Economic Policy/MPA Public Policy and Management/MPA International Development/MPA European Public and Economic Policy. Other graduate students are welcome but should seek the permission of the course director.

This course can also be taken in conjunction with GY479 but only as part of the whole unit option (GY430). Not available as a half-unit option to students also taking GY479.

Course content: Perspectives on contemporary urban politics. The course will equip students interested in urban change and development to understand and critically assess the variety of ways in which urban politics and policies are imagined and discussed in universities as well as in the world of politics. It will also develop their understandings of key debates and themes in contemporary urban political life.

Topics covered will include: imagining urban politics; theories of urban politics, ‘globalisation’ and urban political life; urban governance; civil society and urban social movements; urban dimensions of citizenship and migration; urban politics and policy outside the ‘West’; urban politics and policy in London.

Teaching: 10 x two-hour meetings in LT; 2 x two-hour meetings ST.

Formative coursework: Formal assessment via mock examination early in the ST.

Assessment: Unseen two-hour examination (100%) in ST.

---

GY445 Half Unit

Urban Theory, Policy and Practice in the Global South

This information is for the 2012/13 session.

Teachers responsible: Dr Gareth A Jones, S506, Dr Hyun Shin, S416, Prof. Sylvia Chant, S515.

Availability: Compulsory on MSc Urbanisation and Development and LSE-Sciences Po Double Degree in Urban Policy. Optional on MSc Human Geography and Urban Studies (Research), MSc Environment and Development, MSc Local Economic Development, MSc Development Management, MSc Development Studies and MSc Development Studies (Research). Other suitably qualified and interested graduate students may take or audit the course with the permission of the teacher responsible.

Course content: This course concentrates on key urban policy debates in the developing world particularly over the past two decades. It highlights the interconnections between evolving urban ideas and research, policy and practice. Topics include Urban Bias; the State and ‘Public’ Policy; Policy Mobility; Social Life of Cities; Slums and Squatter Upgrading; Property Rights and Evictions; Access to Land and Security of Tenure; Rights to the City; Environmental Justice; Governance and Participation; World-Class Cities; Flexible Planning and Elite Informality; East Asia and Urban Accumulation; Post-socialism; Privatisation and Urban Policy; elites and gated estates; social capital; livelihoods, poverty and gender; youth; violence and post-conflict cities. Dedicated lectures will draw from staff research, with particular emphasis on Mexico, India, The Gambia, South Africa and post-socialist countries including China.

Teaching: 20 two-hour lectures and 20 one-hour seminars MT and LT, and 2-hour revision ST.

Formative coursework: One essay of 1,500 words (formatative).

Assessment: One assessed essay of 3,000 words (25%) and one three-hour unseen examination (75%).

---

GY446 Half Unit

Planning for Sustainable Cities

This information is for the 2012/13 session.

Teacher responsible: Dr. Nancy Holman, STC. S514

Availability: This course is available as an option on MSc Regional and Urban Planning Studies, MSc Urbanisation and Development, MSc Environmental Policy and Regulation, MSc Environmental Economics and Climate Change, MSc Human Geography and Urban Studies (Research), MSc City Design and Social Science and LSE-Sciences Po Double Degree in Urban Policy. It is also available as an outside option where regulations permit and with the agreement of the course teacher.

Course content: A critical examination of the issues involved in planning for sustainable development at the urban level together with a review of policies and practice; the course focus largely on the problems facing developed countries. The course comprises ten lectures on the following themes: sustainability, sustainable development at the urban level, sustainability indicators, environmental assessment, environmental limits, carrying capacity and ecological footprints, the debate on sustainable urban form, Local Agenda 21, public participation, environmental governance.

Formative coursework: Students are expected to prepare a seminar paper and presentation.

Indicative reading: Detailed reading on specific policy areas will be provided. The basic principles are covered in: J Agyeman & B Evans (Eds), Local Environmental Policies and Strategies, 1994; A Blowers & B Evans (Eds), Town Planning in the 21st Century, 1997;
GY447  Half Unit
The Economics of Regional and Urban Planning
This information is for the 2012/13 session.
Teacher responsible: Dr Gabriel Ahlfeldt, STC. S408.
Availability: This course is a core course for MSc Regional and Urban Planning Studies. It may be taken as an option by students on MSc Local Economic Development, MSc City Design and Social Science, MSc Human Geography and Urban Studies (Research), MSc Development Management, MSc Development Studies and LSE-Science Po Double Degree in Urban Policy, if there are spaces available. Students who have not completed a course in first year undergraduate level Economics might find it useful to audit EC100 Economics A.
Pre-requisites: Students should normally have completed an introductory course in economics. Students without this background will be required to attend the micro-economic section of EC100 Economics A together with the GY447 A classes.
Course content: To provide an economic framework in which to analyse the structure of economic activity within the urban and regional context; the impact of this structure on urban form; the role of government at the local level and local economic policy applications.
The course aims to provide an economic framework in which to analyse the structure of economic activity within the urban and regional context; the impact of this structure on urban form; the role of government at the local level and local economic policy applications.
Topics include: The determinants of industrial, commercial and residential location. The interaction between activities within a spatial context. The economics of land markets and of the development process. The determinants of rents and densities. Economic models of urban structure. Sources of market failure in the urban economy. The rationale of government intervention. Techniques of intervention in the urban and environmental context. The role of the public sector: pricing, allocation, production and investment decisions. Urban and regional economic policy issues.
Teaching: 10 one-and-a-half hour lectures and six one-and-a-half hour seminars in the MT, and one revision session in the ST. There will also be 10 classes in the MT and 10 mainly for those without a previous economic background. The course will be supplemented by a visiting speaker Seminar Series EC450 Urban and Transport Economics.
Assessment: A two-hour unseen examination taken in June.

GY450 Planning Practice and Research
This information is for the 2012/13 session.
Teaching: Dr Nancy Holman, STC. S514. Other teachers, Dr Alan Mace, Professor Andy Thornley.
Availability: Course intended primarily for MSc Regional and Urban Planning Studies. It is also available as an option for LSE-Sciences Po Double Degree in Urban Policy.
Course content: The aim of this course is to provide students with an understanding of the current planning issues faced by practitioners and their policy responses. This will begin with an introduction to the planning context of London and an overview of the British planning system. This will be followed by weekly sessions with invited speakers involved in planning practice and research. They will be engaged in relevant current research or be practicing planners or policy-makers from central or local government, research agencies or consultancy. The content will consist of a series of guided walks, lectures and seminars covering issues of current concern and debate within urban and regional policy and planning.
Teaching: There will normally be 25 hours of lectures and seminars, mainly from visiting speakers, plus three study trips. These will take place throughout the year.
Assessment: There is no Assessment in this course but the content will be relevant to the assessed courses in the MSc Regional and Urban Planning Studies Programme.
GY454  Half Unit
Urban Policy and Planning
This information is for the 2012/13 session.
Teachers responsible: Dr Alan Mace, STC509, Dr Hyun Shin STC. S416, Dr Nancy Holman, STC514.
Availability: Course intended primarily for MSc Regional and Urban Planning Studies. Also available for LSE-Sciences Po Double Degree in Urban Policy, MSc Human Geography (Research), MPA Public and Economic Policy/MPA Public Policy and Management/MPA International Development/MPA European Public and Economic Policy/MPA Public and Social Policy, MSc Social Policy (European and Comparative Social Policy) and MSc Social Policy (Social Policy and Planning).
Course content: The course provides a synthesised approach to the analysis of urban policy-making and plan formulation. It will explore the way in which economic, political and social forces interact to effect policy approaches in different spatial settings. The aim is also to gain an understanding of the causes for similarity and difference in policy approaches. Issues covered include: Development of urban regeneration policy; current British urban policy initiatives; urban containment policy; new settlements and new urbanism; post-industrial spatial transformation of cities - mega projects, retail development, leisure projects including Olympic Games.
Teaching: 10 (one-hour) lectures in the LT and 10 (one-and-a-half hour) seminars, including a project on a London neighbourhood.
Formative coursework: A 2,000 word course essay.
Indicative reading: Urban Task Force, Urban Renaissance; DETR, Our Towns and Cities: The Future; R Atkinson & G Moon, Urban Policy in Britain; P Hall & C Ward, Sociable Cities; E Blakely & M Snyder, Fortress America; D Judd & S Fainstein, The Tourist City; J Mannigan, Fantasy City; T Hall & P Hubbard, The Entrepreneurial City.
Assessment: A 5,000 word essay linked to the London neighbourhood planning project.

GY455  Half Unit
Economic Appraisal and Valuation
This information is for the 2012/13 session.
Teachers responsible: Dr Giles Atkinson, STC. S513. Other teacher involved: Dr Susana Mourato, STC. S420.
Availability: Optional for MSc Regional and Urban Planning Studies, MSc Environmental Policy and Regulation, MSc Environmental Economics and Climate Change, LSE-Sciences Po Double Degree in Urban Policy, MSc Management and Regulation of Risk, MSc Risk and Finance, MSc Urbanisation and Development, MSc City Design and Social Science, MPA Public and Economic Policy/MPA Public Policy and Management/MPA International Development/MPA European Public and Economic Policy/MPA Public and Social Policy and MSc Environment and Development. Other graduate students are welcome to attend if their course regulations permit.
Course content: This course is concerned with the foundations and practical use of applied economics in the context of project appraisal and policy evaluation and will include the following content. Introduction to economic aspects of project appraisal and cost-benefit analysis. Efficiency, equity and distributional concerns. Measurement of costs and benefits with a specific emphasis on non-market valuation methods such as stated preference approaches. The application of project appraisal methods to policy sectors such as transport, health and the environment. Seminars and lectures will focus extensively on practical case studies and the tools involved in the appraisal of projects by for example development agencies such as The World Bank. Examples particularly from environmental, health, development and transport policy in the developed and developing world.
Teaching: Twenty hours, in total, including lectures and seminars in the LT.
Indicative reading: Detailed reading lists will be provided to support each course component. Emphasis will be placed on texts, case study material and state-of-the-art contributions to, for example, the literature on non-market valuation. For an overview and introduction to the main issues covered by the course, students may wish to consult the following: G Atkinson and S Mourato, “Environmental Cost-Benefit Analysis.” Annual Review of Environment and Resources, 2008; AE Boardman et al, Cost-Benefit Analysis: Concepts and Practice, 2010 (chapters 1 and 2); P Champ et al, A Primer on Non-market Valuation, 2003.
Assessment: A two-hour unseen written examination in the ST (100%).

GY457  Applied Urban and Regional Economics
This information is for the 2012/13 session.
Teacher responsible: Dr C Hilber, STC. S418a
Availability: This course is intended primarily for students on MSc Real Estate Economics and Finance. It is optional on MPA Public and Economic Policy/MPA Public Policy and Management/MPA International Development/MPA European Public and Economic Policy/MPA Public and Social Policy. The course assumes that students already have knowledge of economics equivalent to a good first degree in the subject. It is available as an option to students who can show that they are suitably qualified.
Course content: This course aims to provide students with a theoretical and empirical understanding of urban economic processes and price determination in land and real property markets within an institutional context. Examples of topics covered include: the function of cities and the urban system; the determinants of urban structure; patterns of urban land use; the determinants of urban and regional growth - theory and evidence; land and real property markets; the impact of land market regulation including the economic impact of land use planning; local public finance and house price capitalisation; real estate cycles; homeownership; the economics of schooling, crime and urban transport; urban labour markets. The institutional frame of reference within which the course is taught relates mainly to Western Europe and the United States.
Teaching: 40 hours of lectures and 20 x 1.5 hour seminars in the MT and LT. Students will be expected to prepare presentations.
Assessment: Three-hour written examination in June (100%).

GY458  Half Unit
Real Property Market Practice
This information is for the 2012/13 session.
Teacher responsible: Professor P C Cheshire, STC. S405. Dr G. Ahlfeldt, STC. S408
Availability: This course is intended primarily for students on MSc Real Estate Economics and Finance. It is available by arrangement with the teacher responsible as an option to other students on other programmes who have an appropriate academic background and an interest in real estate markets.
Course content: An examination of how real property markets operate in practice and of the analytical techniques and data available for analysts and practitioners. Specific areas of study include: the availability and structure of data sets in the context... of property: problems of: price measurement; user/investment categories; professional methods of valuation and possible impact on price formation: creating and manipulating datasets; measuring property performance; analysis to guide portfolio selection; anticipating and evaluating investment opportunities. Specific sector case studies: industrial, retail, commercial, and residential: investment portfolio choice and management. Brieﬁng on course project/Vessay. Deﬁning research objectives and methodology in practice.

Teaching: 10 x two-hour lectures in MT plus 3 x two-hour project seminar/workshops in MT/LT. The three seminars/workshop sessions are organised by Dr Ahfeldt late in Michaelmas/early in the Lent term to prepare students for their projects. The majority of the lectures are provided by senior practitioners in real estate research and analysis. In addition there will be voluntary statistical/ econometric support available in the Lent term.

Indicative reading: There is no course text. CSO guides to Government Statistics; publications from Investment Property Databank and other research departments and organisations in the real property markets; Journal of Property Research, Estates Gazette.

Assessment: A 3,000 word project or essay identifying a research problem in real estate markets on a speciﬁc issue (e.g., ‘The Impact of the 2008 Financial Crisis on Office Rents in Hong Kong’, ‘Impact of Incomes on House Prices in the UK’, ‘Which Side of Beijing-Tianjin High-Speed Railway Beneﬁts Most in terms of Housing Prices?’ or ‘The Economic Implications of Use-Class Designations in England’) which will require the student to investigate data sources, suggest techniques of data analysis and provide conclusions on the problem set. Topics must be agreed with the teachers responsible and students participate in small group seminars to prepare for their project. Some back-up assistance with statistical analysis will be available in the Lent term.

GY460 Half Unit
Techniques of Spatial Economic Analysis
This information is for the 2012/13 session.

Teacher responsible: Dr Stephen Gibbons
Availability: MSc Environmental Economics and Climate Change, MSc Local Economic Development, MSc Regional and Urban Planning Studies, MSc Real Estate Economics and Finance. Also available to other students who can show they are suitably qualiﬁed.

Pre-requisites: No formal pre-requisites, but students should have an understanding of statistics and applied econometrics at an undergraduate level.

Course content: The aim of the course is to develop the technical tools necessary to understand and analyse spatial economic and social phenomena and to apply quantitative techniques to analyse economic and social problems, processes and policies at the urban and regional scale. The course also provides a hands-on introduction to Geographical Information Systems and other spatial computer applications.

Topics typically include: Spatial representation, spatial data and Geographical Information Systems; spatial weights, aggregation and smoothing methods; spatial econometric models and neighbourhood effects; answering causal questions in the spatial context; spatial interaction and discrete choice models; spatial cluster and point pattern analysis; inequality, competition and diversity.

Teaching: 30 hours of teaching in LT comprising computer classes, lectures, and seminars for discussion of papers. The majority of sessions will take place in a computer classroom. Formative feedback will be available on submitted answers to seminar exercises and a past exam paper.

Indicative reading: A reading list and outline is available on Moodle. Some parts of the course are covered by: A Fotheringham, C Brunsdon & M Charlton, Quantitative Geography: Perspectives on Spatial Data Analysis. Sage Publications, 2000.

Assessment: An unseen examination of two hours (50%) and a project of not more than 2,500 words to be handed in at a specified date in the ST (50%).
Formative coursework: A 2,500 word essay and a critical reflection on one week's readings for discussion in class.

Assessment: A 5,000 word essay (100%).

GY465 Half Unit Concepts in Environmental Regulation

This information is for the 2012/13 session.

Teachers responsible: Dr R Perkins, STC. S410.

Availability: This course is available on MSc Environment and Development, MSc Environmental Economics and Climate Change, MSc Management and Regulation of Risk, MSc Risk and Finance, MSc Local Economic Development, MSc Development Studies, MPA Public and Economic Policy, MPA Public Policy and Management, MPA International Development, MPA European Public and Economic Policy, MPA Public and Social Policy, MSc Regulation, MSc Regulation (Research), MSc Regional and Urban Planning Studies and LSE-Sciences Po Double Degree in Urban Policy. This course cannot be taken with GY420 Environmental Regulation: Implementing Policy.

Course content: This course provides critical insights into the nature, dynamics and practice of environmental regulation. It considers the rationale for policy intervention and the influence of different interest groups on environmental policy making. The course proceeds to examine the characteristics, design and performance of different policy instruments, together with the various influences governing policy implementation processes. Within the context of debates about regulatory reinvention and reform, it also assesses the scope for and sources of policy change.

Teaching: Ten (one-and-a-half hour) lectures and nine (one-hour) seminars (MT).

Formative coursework: Students are expected to prepare one formative essay.

Indicative reading: While there is no one single text that covers all aspects of the course, you are strongly advised to consult the following:

Assessment: There is a two-hour formal examination in the ST.

GY466 Half Unit Development, Diaspora and Migration

This information is for the 2012/13 session.

Teacher responsible: Dr Claire Mercer, STC. S412.

Availability: MSc Environment and Development, MSc Urbanisation and Development, LSE-Sciences Po Double Degree in Urban Policy, MSc Human Geography and Urban Studies (Research), MSc Development Studies, MSc Development Management, MSc Anthropology and Development, MSc Anthropology and Development Management, MSc International Migration and Public Policy, MSc Empires, Colonialism and Globalisation, MSc Social Policy and Development: Non-Governmental Organisations and MSc Social Policy and Development. The course is also available as an outside option where regulations permit.

Course content: The aim of this course is to examine the relationship between migration, diaspora and development with a particular focus on diasporas' communities' contributions to development in the Global South. The course encourages students to develop a critical understanding of the role of different diasporas in political, social and economic development. This is achieved through (i) a critical consideration of theoretical debates in geography, sociology, anthropology and development studies on diaspora, migration and development, (ii) an engagement with contemporary migration and development policies, (iii) an examination of diasporas' developmental work including economic and social remittances, and political activities. The final part of the course examines these debates in the context of the African diaspora.

Teaching: 10 hours of lectures in the LT and 10 hours of seminars in the LT. One 1-hour revision session.

Formative coursework: One 1,500 word essay.

Assessment: One 2 hour examination in the ST (75%) and one 2,500 word essay (25%).

GY467 Half Unit Development, Diaspora and Migration

This information is for the 2012/13 session.

Teacher responsible: Dr Richard Perkins, STC. S413

Availability: This course is a core course for MSc Environmental Policy and Regulation, unless taken as part of the full-unit course GY423 Environment and Development. It may be taken as an option by students on MSc Urbanisation and Development, MSc Human Geography (Research), MSc Development Studies and MSc Development Management if there are available spaces (this is a capped course). Students who have not completed a course in first year undergraduate level Economics might find it useful to audit EC100 Economics A.

Course content: Environment-economy linkages and the concept of sustainable economic development; The "source"-side: Resource availability for sustained economic growth; The "sink"-side: Economic growth and the environment; Trade, investment and the environment; Measuring progress towards sustainability: Genuine Savings (GS), the Index of Sustainable Economic Welfare (ISEW) and the Genuine Progress Indicator (GPI); Technological lock-in, innovation and system transformation; Corporate social responsibility strategy and greenwash.

Teaching: The course will be taught through a combination of 10 weekly lectures (1 and a half hours) and 10 weekly seminars (1 hour).

GY469 Half Unit
Environment and Development: Resources, Institutions and the Global South

This information is for the 2012/13 session.

Teachers responsible: Dr Charles Palmer, KGS.K205; Other teachers involved: Dr Ben Groom, KGS.K204.

Availability: This course is optional for students on MSc Environmental Economics and Climate Change, MSc Urbanisation and Development, MSc Human Geography (Research), MSc Environmental Studies and MSc Development Management if there are available spaces (this is a capped course). Students who have not completed a course in first year undergraduate level Economics might find it useful to audit EC100 Economics A.

Course content: Environment, Growth and the Resource Curse; Population, Development and the Environment; Climate Change and Adaptation in Developing Countries; Biodiversity Conservation, Natural Resources and Poverty; The Political Economy of Food Security in the Global South; Forests I: Land-Use Trends, Drivers and Market Failure; Forests II: Poverty, Policy and Governance; Energy Use and Equity; Bioenergy in Developing Countries; Urban Environment and Development.

Teaching: The course will be taught through a combination of 10 weekly lectures (1 and a half hours) and 10 weekly seminars (1 hour).

Formative coursework: Students are expected to prepare one formative essay.

Assessment: A two-hour written examination (100%).

GY470 Half Unit
Issues in Environmental Governance

This information is for the 2012/13 session.

Teacher responsible: Dr R Perkins, STC. S413. Other teacher involved: Dr M Mason, STC. S510; Dr C Marchiori, KGS. K102.

Availability: It is also available to MSc Environment and Development, MSc Human Geography (Research), MSc Management and Regulation of Risk, MSc Risk and Finance, MSc Environmental Economics and Climate Change, MSc Local Economic Development, MSc Development Studies, MPA programme (MPA streams), MSc Regulation and MSc Regulation (Research) and LSE-Sciences Po Double Degree in Urban Policy students. This course cannot be taken with GY465 Concepts in Environmental Regulation.

Course content: This Lent Term course is designed to highlight key themes impacting on environmental regulation across different scales of governance. While the emphasis is on global and transnational policy processes, attention is also paid to the implications of these processes at regional and local scales. The organising framework of ‘multi-level governance’ suggests new alignments and forms of regulation which require us to consider environmental decision-making within and beyond the territorial authority of a single state. The indicative themes chosen explore distinctive challenges for multi-level governance - collective action, international negotiations, governance beyond the state, and different rationalities of regulation (science, ethics and justice). These themes, which will be explored in student-led seminars, run explicitly or implicitly through many environmental policy debates.

Teaching: Ten (one hour) lectures and nine (one hour) seminars in the LT.

Formative coursework: All students are required to make one presentation on an agreed topic: this will be graded with feedback for individual students.

Indicative reading: While there is no one single text that covers all aspects of the course, students are advised to consult the following:

Assessment: A two-hour examination in the Summer Term (100%).

GY479 Half Unit
The Urban Revolution

This information is for the 2012/13 session.

Teacher responsible: TBC

Availability: Students registered on: MSc Urbanisation and Development, MSc Regional and Urban Planning Studies, MSc City Design and Social Science, MSc Environment and Development, MSc Human Geography and Urban Studies (Research), LSE-Sciences Po Double Degree in Urban Policy, MSc Global Media and Communications, MSc Social Policy and Development, MSc Culture and Society and MPA Public and Economic Policy/MPA Public Policy and Management/MPA International Development. Other graduate students are welcome but should seek the permission of the course director. This course can also be taken in conjunction with GY439 but only as part of the whole unit option (GY430). Students wishing to take GY439 together with this course must chose the full unit course GY430 Contemporary Urbanism.

Course content: This course uses the concept of “urban revolution” as an organising principle to introduce students to key theories and debates related to societies undergoing rapid urban change. Course lectures examine “urban revolution” in three senses. The first pertains to Henri Lefebvre’s use of the term to signify the “complete urbanization of society,” a historical process by which social life, even outside of cities, becomes urbanised. This means addressing the relationship between the country and the city, the idea of the urban in historical perspective, and the relationship between urban life in the global North and South. The second treatment of “urban revolution” considers the city as a site for radical political change and social experimentation. This means studying cities as spaces of movement, resistance, and innovation, with an emphasis on urban experiments in the South. Thirdly, urban revolution is analysed in terms of the explosion of policies aimed at managing the place and function of cities in the global economy. Through these three lenses - theory, politics and policy - the course aims to equip students with a conceptual and empirical foundation for analysing globalised urbanisation, with particular attention to emerging urbanisms in the South. Topics covered may include the following: urban revolution, the right to the city, the colonial and postcolonial city, the space of the state, the politics of infrastructure, eviction and displacement, urban political ecology, urban informality.

Teaching: 10 x two-hour meetings in MT, 1 x two-hour meeting in ST.

Formative coursework: A via mock examination early in ST.

Assessment: A two-hour examination (100%) in ST.
GY499
Dissertation
This information is for the 2012/13 session.
Teacher responsible: Programme Director of relevant MSc programme. Other teachers involved: Dr Susana Mourato STC. S420, Professor Ian Gordon STC. S505a, Professor Andy Thornley, STC. S514, Professor Sylvia Chant STC. S515.
Availability: For students taking LSE-Sciences Po Double Degree in Urban Policy, MSc Real Estate Economics and Finance; MSc Regional and Urban Planning Studies and MSc Urbanisation and Development.
Course content: The dissertation may be on any topic within the field of the MSc programme studied. Approval for the topic must be obtained from the relevant Programme Director.
Teaching: Two general lectures for all MSc students on dissertation preparation in the MT. An introduction to preparing, planning and writing a Master's dissertation, including choosing a topic, writing and keeping track of sources, time management and data sources and information handling. One topical workshop on environmental dissertations in the MT for students of the MSc Environmental Economics and Climate Change, MSc Environmental Policy & Regulation, MSc Environment & Development only. Two topical workshops in the LT and ST respectively for students of the MSc Urbanisation & Development only.
Assessment: The course is assessed 100% by a Dissertation of no more than 10,000 words. Dissertations must be submitted on a specified date in late August. Exact dates will be provided in Induction materials.

HY400
Crisis Decision-Making in War and Peace, 1914-2003
This information is for the 2012/13 session.
Teacher responsible: Professor David Stevenson, EAS.E604
 Availability: Intended primarily for MSc History of International Relations, MSc Theory and History of International Relations. Core course for the LSE-PKU Double Degree in International Affairs. Also available to students on the LSE - Columbia University Double Degree in International and World History.
Pre-requisites: The course is intended for students with or without a detailed knowledge of the international relations of the twentieth century. Students without a detailed knowledge are advised to undertake preliminary background reading.
Course content: The history of international relations from the First World War to the Iraq War. Particular stress is placed upon key turning points and on crisis decision-making. Topics examined in this course include German decision-making in 1914; peacemaking, 1919; the Ruhr occupation crisis; Manchuria, Abyssinia and the crises of collective security; the Munich agreement; the Nazi-Soviet Pact and the outbreak of war in 1939; Hitler's decision to invade the Soviet Union; the outbreak of the Pacific War; the decision to drop the atomic bomb; the creation of the state of Israel, 1948-49; the Berlin Blockade; the outbreak and escalation of the Korean War; the Suez Crisis; the Cuban Missile Crisis; the US and Vietnam, 1961-65; the Arab-Israeli Wars of 1967 and 1973; German reunification and the collapse of the Soviet bloc; the origins of the Gulf War, 1990-91; the road to the 2003 Iraq War.
Teaching: The course will be taught in 22 weekly seminars of two hours’ duration. Students will be expected to read widely in documentary and other primary sources, and to participate actively in the seminars, which will address the historiographical debates raised in the secondary literature on the topics covered. Students will write four essays. Three of the essays will be up to 3,000 words in length and drawn upon primary sources. The fourth will be a shorter timed essay produced in class.
HY411
European Integration in the Twentieth Century
This information is for the 2012/13 session.
Teacher responsible: Dr N P Ludlow, EAS. E502
Availability: For MSc Comparative Politics, MSc European Identities, MSc History of International Relations, MSc Theory and History of International Relations, MSc Politics and Government in the European Union, LSE-Columbia University Double Degree in International and World History, LSE-PKU Double Degree in International Affairs and LSE-Sciences Po Double Degree in European Studies and where regulations permit.

Pre-requisites: A prior knowledge of 20th century European history will be an advantage. Students unfamiliar with the subject should do some preliminary reading. A reading knowledge of French and/or German will be useful but in no sense essential.

Course content: The antecedents and development of Western European integration from the First World War to the 1990s.
European integration before 1914; German and Allied projects during the First World War; inter-war developments and the Briand Plan; the Nazi New ‘Order’; Resistance and Allied planning during the Second World War; the impact of the Marshall Plan; Federalism and Christian Democracy; the Schuman Plan and the Coal and Steel Community; the European Defence Community project; the Treaties of Rome; the Common Agricultural Policy; the integration policies of the Six and Britain; de Gaulle and the Communities; enlargement; monetary integration; developments in the 1970s and 1980s; Maastricht.

Teaching: There will be 22 weekly seminars of one-and-a-half hours. In addition there will be a series of 10 dedicated lectures.

Formative coursework: Three essays will be required in the course of the year. The essay in the LT will be an assessed piece of work counting towards the final assessment. In addition there will be a mock exam in the ST.

Assessment: 75% of the final mark will be determined by an unseen three-hour written exam held in the ST. Candidates will be expected to answer three questions, at least one from each of two sections. In addition the fourth piece of written work, produced during the LT, will be assessed and will account for the remaining 25% of the mark.

HY422
President, Public Opinion and Foreign Policy: From Roosevelt to Reagan, 1933-89
This information is for the 2012/13 session.
Teacher responsible: Dr Steven Casey, EAS. E311
Availability: Intended primarily for MSc History of International Relations, MSc Theory and History of International Relations, LSE-Columbia University Double Degree in International and World History and LSE-PKU Double Degree in MSc International Affairs.

Course content: Using a range of primary as well as secondary sources, the course explores the dynamic interaction between presidents, public opinion, and foreign policymaking in order to test a range of common assumptions about the determinants of American foreign policy in the period from 1933 to 1989. The course explores the interaction between opinion and policy in three periods: First, the Roosevelt era, with emphasis on FDR’s response to American isolationism, the media and public attitudes towards Nazi Germany and the Holocaust, and the influence of public pressures upon US policy. Second, the period of consensus on the Cold War, examining how Americans viewed the Communist world before, during and after the Korean War, the influence of the atomic bomb upon popular thinking, the limits of dissent in the period of McCarthyism, the impact of public opinion upon US policy-making during the Berlin and Cuban crises. Third, the period when the Cold War consensus broke down, focusing not just on the opposition to the Vietnam war and the new cleavages that emerged within US society but also on the changing nature of the American media and the very different attempts made by Nixon, Carter and Reagan to respond to this new environment.

Teaching: 22 seminars of two-hours. Students are expected to keep up with readings for the weekly meetings and to participate in the seminar discussions.

Formative coursework: Students are required to produce two 3,000 word essays during the year. There will also be a mock exam (a one-hour timed essay) in the first of the two revision classes in the ST.

Indicative reading: A full bibliography accompanies the course and the teacher will advise on reading. M Small, Democracy and Diplomacy (1996); O R Holsti, Public Opinion and American Foreign Policy (1996); S Casey, Cautious Crusade (2001); S Casey, Selling the Korean War (2008); D Foyle, Counting the Public In (1999); R Sobel, The Impact of Public Opinion on US Foreign Policy since Vietnam (2001).

Assessment: A three-hour unseen written examination in the ST. A mock examination paper will be distributed to students at the first meeting to familiarise themselves with the structure of the examination. The final examination will count for 100% of the final course assessment.

HY423
Empire, Colonialism and Globalisation
This information is for the 2012/13 session.
Teachers responsible: Dr Taylor C. Sherman EAS. E601
Availability: Intended primarily for MSc History of International Relations, MSc Global History, MSc Race, Ethnicity and Post-Colonial Studies, LSE-Columbia University Double Degree in International and World History and LSE-PKU Double Degree in MSc International Affairs.

Course content: The course looks at the political and cultural history of empires and their legacy in the contemporary world. It analyses specific imperial formations, including the Ottoman, Mughal, Qing, Spanish, French and British Empires. It explores comparative and theoretical debates concerning the nature and strengths of given empires and the dynamics of their decline. In addition, the course examines the cultural history of empires, exploring notions of race, gender, modernity, and hybridity. The course also explores the extent to which the imperial past has helped to shape the processes of globalisation in the contemporary world, and includes a look at the hegemonic power of the USA in the twentieth century. In addition to sessions on individual empires, thematic sessions will include: gender and Islam in the Ottoman Empire; Court Culture and the Mughal Empire; Ethnicity in the Qing Empire; Christianity, Conversion and Hybridity in Spanish America; Race, Slavery and the European Overseas Empires; Colonial Medicine and Psychiatry in Africa; and the American Empire from the Philippines to Afghanistan. Besides these case-studies there will be general and comparative discussions of archaic and modern globalization, the technologies and ideologies of empire, and imperial legacies in both the former colonies and metropolitan societies.

Teaching: The course includes 20 two-hour seminars taught within the Department of International History, ten each in the Michaelmas and Lent terms.

Formative coursework: Each student is required to write two 2,500 words essays, and a one-hour timed essay plus one presentation.

Assessment: A three-hour written examination in the ST.

HY426
The European Enlightenment, c1680-1799
This information is for the 2012/13 session.
Teacher responsible: Dr Tim Hochstrasser, EAS. E407
Availability: Intended primarily for MSc History of International Relations and MSc Theory and History of International Relations students. Optional for MSc European Studies: Ideas and Identities, LSE-Columbia University Double Degree in International and World History and LSE-Sciences Po Double Degree in European Studies. Also available as an outside option.

Course content: The objective of the course is to introduce students to the main themes and debates of the Enlightenment through selections from the original writings of the leading political, scientific and philosophical thinkers of the period. The chronological framework of the Enlightenment is here taken to be Europe between the reign of Louis XIV and the end of the French Revolution. The Enlightenment is the period in which philosophy, history, economics and anthropology and other social sciences began to emerge as discrete disciplines independent of state and church control. The course sets out to explore the new ideas generated in these areas as a result of a fresh understanding of man’s place in the physical world. The contributions of Newton, Locke, Voltaire, Montesquieu, Rousseau, Hume and Smith, among others, will be highlighted, and developed with a detailed study of selected texts as detailed on Moodle. The primary focus of the course is on philosophy and the history of political thought, not political or social history.

Teaching: The course will be taught by both lectures (HY315) and seminars (HY426). There will be 20 lectures and 20 seminars held in the MT and LT and two revision sessions in the ST.

Formative coursework: Two essays are required of up to 3,000 words (one submitted in week 4 of MT and in week 4 of LT). There will also be a presentation from each student in LT. There will be a mock examination in the ST.

Indicative reading: A Full Reading list will be provided at the start of the course on Moodle. The following represent basic introductory reading only, and students will be expected to give class presentations: T C W Blanning, The culture of power and the power of culture (2002); T Munck, The Enlightenment (2000); D Outram, The Enlightenment (1995); R Porter, The Enlightenment (2001); Anthologies: I Kramnik (Ed), The Portable Enlightenment Reader (1995).

Assessment: A three-hour written examination in the ST (100%).

HY424
The Napoleonic Empire: The Making of Modern Europe?
This information is for the 2012/13 session.
Teacher responsible: Dr Paul Keenan, EAS.E391
Availability: For MSc History of International Relations, MSc Empires, Colonialism, Globalisation and LSE-Columbia University Double Degree in International and World History. Only Master’s students may take this course as permitted by the regulations for their degree.

Course content: The Napoleonic Empire was crucial in the formation of modern Europe. Much of Europe was dominated by the Napoleonic Empire and its impact was felt across the continent and in parts of the non-European world. Through an analysis of both those areas directly incorporated into the Napoleonic empire and of those that lay beyond it, this course will examine the extent of the direct and indirect influence of this era on the development of what we understand by a modern European society and a modern state system. The course analyses how this empire was created, as well as the states and societies that it forged. The varied and sometimes contradictory elements of this era will be analysed - from the impact of the growth of secularisation, constitutionalism and the codification of laws to the beginnings of Romanticism, manifestations of early nationalism and monarchial reaction after 1815. The course will also assess the significance of both the reality and the ‘myth’ of Napoleon and his empire, for contemporary commentators and also in the later nineteenth and twentieth centuries.

Teaching: 22 two-hour seminars.

Formative coursework: Students will be required to write three essays. They will also be required to answer a mock examination question.

Indicative reading: A detailed Reading List will be issued at the beginning of the course.

Useful introductory works include: G. Ellis, Napoleon; G. Ellis, The Napoleonic Empire; M. Broers, Europe under Napoleon 1799-1815; S. J. Woolf, Napoleon’s Integration of Europe; P. O’Dwyer (ed), Napoleon and Europe; C. Esdaile, The French Wars 1792-1815; O. Connelly, Napoleon’s Satellite Kingdoms; P. Geyl, Napoleon, For and Against.

Assessment: A three-hour written examination in the ST.

HY429
Anglo-American Relations from World War to Cold War
This information is for the 2012/13 session.
Teacher responsible: Professor Nigel Ashton, EAS. E408
Availability: For MSc History of International Relations, MSc Theory and History of International Relations, MSc Empires,
Colonalism, Globalisation, LSE-Columbia University Double Degree in International and World History and LSE-PKU Double Degree in MSc International Affairs.

Course content: This course analyses the changing nature of the Anglo-American "special relationship" from its creation against the backdrop of the Second World War in Europe through to the end of the Cold War. It will illuminate the foundations of the relationship in terms of culture and ideology, and also the threat posed by common enemies in the Second World War and Cold War. The competitive dimension of the Anglo-American relationship will also be highlighted as a means of explaining examples of discord such as the Suez Crisis of 1956.

The topics covered include: Anglo-American relations in historical perspective; the creation of the Anglo-American alliance, 1939-41; competitive co-operation in war strategy and politics, 1941-45; the American "Occupation" of Britain during the Second World War; the emergence of the Cold War in Europe, 1945-49; the Cold War in Asia, 1945-54; the Palestine question; the Suez Crisis, 1956; nuclear relations, 1939-60; the Skybolt Crisis; Kennedy, Macmillan and the Cuban Missile Crisis; Anglo-American relations and European integration, decolonisation and Anglo-American relations since 1945; the impact of the Vietnam War; transatlantic influences on culture and society since 1945; intelligence co-operation; Thatcher, Reagan and the Cold War in the 1980s; the Falklands War; the significance of personal relations at the top; retrospect and prospects for Anglo-American relations.

Teaching: The course will be taught by means of 22 seminars of two hours duration during the MT, LT and ST.

Formative coursework: Three pieces of written work must be submitted by students taking this course. These consist of two essays of up to 3,000 words in length and one timed class essay.

Indicative reading: For an introduction to Anglo-American relations, students should consult the following texts: D Reynolds & D Dimbleby, An Ocean Apart: the Relationship between Britain and America in the Twentieth Century (1988); C Bartlett, The Special Relationship: A Political History of Anglo-American Relations Since 1945 (1992); A Dobson, Anglo-American Relations in the Twentieth Century (1995); W R Louis & H Bull (Eds), The Special Relationship: Anglo-American Relations since 1945 (1984); R Ovendale, Anglo-American Relations in the Twentieth Century (1998); D Watt, Succeeding John Bull: America in Britain's Place, 1900-75 (1984). A detailed reading list will be issued at the start of the course.

Assessment: A three-hour written examination in the ST.

HY432 From Cold Warriors to Peacemakers: the End of the Cold War Era, 1979-1999

This information is for the 2012/13 session.

Teacher responsible: Dr Kristina Spohr, EAS.E507.

Availability: For MSc History of International Relations, MSc Theory and History of International Relations, MSc Empires, Colonialism, Globalisation, LSE-Columbia University Double Degree in International and World History and LSE-PKU Double Degree in MSc International Affairs.

Course content: Western (European) diplomacy in the 1980s to the mid-1990s examining tensions, rivalries and linkages not merely between the western and communist blocs, but also within them, as well as studying the events reflecting the shift from the Cold War to the post-Cold War world.

The aim is to address from a historical perspective the diplomacy of the end of the East-West conflict, German reunification, the Yugoslavian wars, European integration, and NATO enlargement. The domestic political bases of, and the political relations between, the leading figures (Gorbachev, Yeltsin, Reagan, Bush, Thatcher, Major, Mitterrand, Delors and Kohl) will be covered as well as the diplomacy of the period. Major topics will include Thatcherism; Reaganagons; Gorbachev's new thinking; the reunification of Germany; the collapse of the Soviet Union and its wider empire; the Gulf War and Yugoslavian Wars; America and her Western European partners; the Single European Act, the Maastricht Treaty and the Euro; the security arrangements of Russia and NATO after the fall of communism.

Teaching: 22 two-hour weekly meetings arranged on a mixed lecture/seminar basis.

Formative coursework: Short class papers, engagement in role play, a number of discussions on Moodle, and one 4,000 word essay. There will be a one-hour timed essay in ST (Mock Exam).

Indicative reading: A full bibliography will be provided at the first meeting of the class and is available on Moodle. Key books include: Margaret Thatcher, The Downing Street Years; EHH Green, Thatcher; Julius W Friend, The Long Presidency, France in the Mitterrand Years; Martin McCauley, Gorbatch; Hannes Adomeit, Imperial Overstretch; Saki Dockrill, The End of the Cold War Era; George Bush & Brent Scowcroft, A World Transformed; Philip Zelikow & Condoleezza Rice, Misha Glenny, The Balkans 1804-1999; Sean Kay, NATO and the Future of European Security; Kristina Spohr Readman, Germany and the Baltic Problem: The Development of a New Ostpolitik, 1989-2000.

Assessment: One three-hour formal examination in the ST for 75% of the final mark, and one assessed essay (delivered in LT) for the remaining 25% of the mark.

HY434 The Rise and Fall of Communism in Europe 1917-1990

This information is for the 2012/13 session.

Teacher responsible: TBA

Availability: Primarily for postgraduate students registered for the following degrees: MSc History of International Relations, MSc Theory and History of International Relations, MSc Empires, Colonialism, Globalisation, LSE-Columbia University Double Degree in International and World History and LSE-PKU Double Degree in MSc International Affairs. Postgraduate students registered for other MSc courses within the School will be considered on application.

Course content: The course will examine the rise, survival and collapse of the Soviet Communist ideology and Communist regimes based in Russia and Eastern Europe during the period 1917-1990. The course will also deal with the struggle for Communist influence in Western Europe during the same period. The course will start with the study of the Russian revolution and the civil war to the establishment of the Stalinist regime in the Soviet Union. This will be followed by the study of the history of Soviet involvement in the Second World War and the extension of Soviet influence into Eastern Europe after the Second World War. An examination of the installation of Soviet style regimes in that region will be followed by the analysis of Soviet post-war objectives and Soviet objectives towards Germany. The death of Stalin and the Soviet responses to the Polish and Hungarian events in 1956 is linked to the study of Khroushchev and the Brezhnev eras. Additionally the course analyses the extension of Communist influence into Western Europe through the Comintern and the Cominform. The course concludes with a consideration of détente, the Gorbachev period, and the collapse by the end of 1990 of the Soviet Union and other Communist regimes in Europe.

Teaching: The course will be taught through 20 weekly two-hour seminars.

Formative coursework: Students will be required to write two essays in MT and one essay and a book review during LT. A timed one hour essay is scheduled for the ST.

Indicative reading: A full bibliography will be provided at the beginning of the academic year. For an introduction, the following may be of assistance: F Claudin, The Communist Movement from Comintern to Cominform; R C Tucker (Ed), Stalinism: Essays in Historical Interpretation; C Kennedy-Pipe, Russia and the World, 1917-1990; P Kennoz, A History of the Soviet Union from the Beginning to the End; C Read, The Making and Breaking of the Soviet System; V Mastny, Russia's Road to the Cold War. Diplomacy, Warfare and the Politics of Communism 1941-1945; F A Fejto, A
HY435
Political Islam: From Ibn Taymiyya to Osama Bin Laden

This information is for the 2012/13 session.
Teacher responsible: Dr Kirsten E. Schulze, EAS, E600
Availability: For MSc History of International Relations, MSc Theory and History of International Relations, LSE-Columbia University Double Degree in International and World History and LSE-PKU Double Degree in MSc International Affairs.

Course content: This course has six objectives:

i. To examine the evolution of political Islam as a set of ideas.
ii. To compare and contrast different models of Islamic State.
iii. To explore the strategies used by Islamist movements to Islamise a state as well as state strategies to prevent this.
iv. To explore the phenomena of transnational Islamism and international jihadism.
v. To analyse and evaluate the relationship between Islam and the West.
vi. To familiarise the student with some of the primary sources (in translation) and the historiographical controversies.

This course looks at the evolution of Islamist philosophy and movements from the late nineteenth century until the present day. It focuses on ideas as well as intellectual, religious and political leaders. The key areas covered are: the fundamentals of Sunni and Shi'a thought; modernist Islam - al-Afghani, Mohamed Abduh and Rashid Rida; Islamic Puritanism - Abdul Wahab and the Mahdi; Models of Islamic State - Iran, Pakistan, Afghanistan, Malaysia and Sudan; Islamist Movements - the Muslim Brotherhood, Islamic Jihad, Hizb'allah, Hamas, the Islamic Salvation Front, Darul Islam, and the Moro Islamic Liberation Front; transnational Islam and international jihadism - Jama'at' Islamiyya and al-Qaeda; and the Global War on Terror.

Teaching: The course is taught by a weekly two-hour seminar.

Formative coursework: Each student is required to write one 2,500 word essay, and a one-hour timed essay.

Assessment: A three-hour written examination in the ST (75%), a 2,500 word essay (20%) and a presentation (5%).

HY438
Western Intellectuals and the Challenge of Totalitarianism

This information is for the 2012/13 session.
Teacher responsible: Professor Alan Sked

Availability: MSc History of International Relations and MA/MSc Theory and History of International Relations, LSE-CU Double Degree in International and World History, LSE-PKU Double Degree in International Affairs. The course is available to General Course students and as an outside option where regulations permit and with the permission of the course convenor.

Course content: This course studied the period extends from the late nineteenth century to the present day. The area covered is primarily Europe and the United States. The views and careers of a number of intellectuals are used to highlight certain political themes. Introductory topics will include: the role and responsibility of the “intellectual”; the various means of diffusing ideas; the concept of the “West”; and the concept of “totalitarianism”. Themes include: Marxism and revisionism before 1917; political racism in Europe and the United States before 1933; the intellectual origins of fascism before 1922 and its intellectual appeal afterwards; anti-semitism as a political force in Europe and the USA; fellow-travellers of right and left; pacifism and isolationism between the wars; the failure of marxism as a political cause in Britain and the USA before and after 1945; the post-war French debate over communism; the perspective of the Italian communists; the rise and fall of Eurocommunism; Titoism and the Yugoslav model; the German problem as one of post-war national identity; red scares and McCarthyism in the USA; Hollywood and the Cold War; the New Left and the rediscovery of Marxism in Europe; the cultural New Left and the crisis of American liberalism; the American New Right and the rise of neo-conservatism; the intellectual background to US foreign policy debates; anti-Americanism in Europe and elsewhere; the persistence of liberal and social democracy. Intellectuals covered include (in no particular order): Bernstein, Blum, Sarte, Aaron, Camus, Gramsci, Togliatti, d’Annunzio, Marinetti, Heidegger, Spengler, Schmitt, Maurras, Brissolais, Barbusse, Yeats, Pound, Wyndham Lewis, H.G.Wells, Bernard Shaw, J.M.Keynes, E.H.Carr, Habermas, Grass, Enzensberger, Marcuse, Hook, Howe, Kennan, Beard, Kahn, Kissing, Podhoretz, Rostow, Schlesinger Jr., Orwell, Koestler, Furet, Lasch, Kristal, Vidal, Chomsky, Fukuyama and others.

HY436
Race, Violence and Colonial Rule in Africa

This information is for the 2012/13 session.
Teacher responsible: Dr Joanna Lewis
Availability: For MSc History of International Relations, MSc Theory and History of International Relations, MSc Race, Ethnicity and Post-Colonial Studies, MSc Empires, Colonialism, Globalisation, MSc International Migration and Public Policy, LSE-Columbia University Double Degree in International and World History and LSE-PKU Double Degree in International Affairs.

Course content: This course examines the rise and fall of formal colonial rule in Africa. It is comparative in principle and is focused upon the violence inherent in this encounter. It is essentially a political history but includes cultural, social and economic aspects. The end of slavery; European exploration; the European empires and African resistance; white settler societies; the origins of apartheid in South Africa; the development of the colonial state; direct and indirect rule; the rise of nationalism in West Africa; the Mau Mau uprising in Kenya; the Algerian war of independence; the Congo crisis and the assassination of Lumumba; the rise and fall of 'white' Rhodesia; the wars of liberation in the Portuguese colonies; the demise of the apartheid state; the legacy of colonialism in Africa; the genocide in Rwanda; the civil war in Sierra Leone and the collapse of Zimbabwe.

Assessment: A three-hour written examination taken in the ST.
Among the topics it will cover are: The Boer War, the Herero and looking at continuities and breaks in patterns of combat violence. Particular on the role and practices of combatants in armed conflict, examining how they interlinked during this period. It will focus in the phenomenon. This course will examine how states and societies of war cultures remains a crucial question and one that has and why this period was marked by such a particular development other conflicts such as civil wars or independence struggles. How advancement of international law, paradoxically was accompanied which ushered in the age of mass politics, the nation state and the from the colonial wars of the 1890s through to the end of the War Cultures, 1890-1945

This information is for the 2012/13 session.

Teacher responsible: Dr Roham Alvandi, Room E310

Availability: MSc History of International Relations, MSc Empires, Colonialisation and Globalisation, MSc Theory and History of International Relations, LSE-Columbia University Double Degree in International and World History, LSE-PKU Double Degree in International Affairs. The course is available as an outside option where regulations permit and with permission of the teacher responsible for the course. Please note that students taking this course cannot take GV4E7

Islamic Republic of Iran: Society, Politics, the Greater Middle East (H).

Course content: This course examines the emergence of modern Iran against the backdrop of Iran's political, social and diplomatic history in the nineteenth and twentieth centuries. It covers three inter-related topics: the history of the modern Iranian state; the interaction between state and society in modern Iran; and Iran's diplomatic history. The course is divided into three sections. The first section examines the emergence of modern Iran from the remnants of the Persian Empire under the Qajars, while confronting social resistance at home and asserting Iran's power abroad. The second section deals with the Pahlavi era and the attempts by both Pahlavi monarchs to strengthen the Iranian state while confronting social resistance at home and asserting Iran's power abroad. The third section deals with the origins of the Iranian revolution of 1978/79 and the transformation of the Iranian state under the Islamic Republic. Here we consider how war and peace shaped the domestic politics and foreign policy of revolutionary Iran, with a particular focus on US-Iran relations and the rise and fall of the reform movement.

Teaching: 9 x 2-hour seminars in the MT and Ten x 2-hour seminars in the LT. Two revision sessions in the ST.

Formative coursework: Throughout the academic year, students are required to write two 3,000 word essays. There will also be a mock exam (a one-hour time essay) in the first of the two revision classes in the summer term.

HY440

The Emergence of Modern Iran: State, Society and Diplomacy

This information is for the 2012/13 session.

Teacher responsible: Dr Roham Alvandi, Room E310

Availability: MSc History of International Relations, MSc Empires, Colonialisation and Globalisation, MSc Theory and History of International Relations, LSE-Columbia University Double Degree in International and World History, LSE-PKU Double Degree in International Affairs. The course is available as an outside option where regulations permit and with permission of the teacher responsible for the course.

Please note that students taking this course cannot take GV4E7

Islamic Republic of Iran: Society, Politics, the Greater Middle East (H).

Course content: This course examines the emergence of modern Iran against the backdrop of Iran's political, social and diplomatic history in the nineteenth and twentieth centuries. It covers three inter-related topics: the history of the modern Iranian state; the interaction between state and society in modern Iran; and Iran's diplomatic history. The course is divided into three sections. The first section examines the emergence of modern Iran from the remnants of the Persian Empire under the Qajars, while confronting social resistance at home and asserting Iran's power abroad. The second section deals with the Pahlavi era and the attempts by both Pahlavi monarchs to strengthen the Iranian state while confronting social resistance at home and asserting Iran's power abroad. The third section deals with the origins of the Iranian revolution of 1978/79 and the transformation of the Iranian state under the Islamic Republic. Here we consider how war and peace shaped the domestic politics and foreign policy of revolutionary Iran, with a particular focus on US-Iran relations and the rise and fall of the reform movement.

Teaching: 9 x 2-hour seminars in the MT and Ten x 2-hour seminars in the LT. Two revision sessions in the ST.

Formative coursework: Throughout the academic year, students are required to write two 3,000 word essays. There will also be a mock exam (a one-hour time essay) in the first of the two revision classes in the summer term.

Avery, Peter, Gavin R. G. Hambley and Charles Melville (eds.), The Irish War of Independence and Civil War, The Greco-Turkish War 1919-23, International law relating to war 1890-1945, the Polish-Soviet War, the Russian Civil War, the Italian invasion of Abyssinia, the Spanish Civil War, the Sino-Japanese War, the Second World War and the development of forced labour during wartime, with particular discussion of both the Holocaust and the Soviet Gulag system.

Teaching: 20 hours of seminars in the MT and 20 hours of seminars in the LT. Four hours of seminars in the ST.

Formative coursework: Two essays of 3,000 words in length and a mock exam.

Assessment: One 3,000 word essay (25%) and one three-hour exam in the ST (75%).
HY441

Nusanatara: State and Rebellion in the Indonesian Archipelago from the Colonial Period to Reformasi

This information is for the 2012/13 session.

Teacher responsible: Dr Kirsten E Schulze
Availability: Optional on MSc Empires, Colonialism and Globalisation, MSc Theory and History of International Relations and MSc History of International Relations. Also available as an outside option where regulations permit.
Course content: This course looks at the Indonesian archipelago from the early modern colonial period to reformasi. It will focus on the dynamics of state and rebellion and centre and periphery relations as well as the dynamics of ‘empire’ looking both at external and internal imperial/colonialisation. The seminars will cover: the European scramble for the Spice Islands and indigenous rebellions; the establishment of the colonial state by the Dutch and local resistance in Maluku, Java and Aceh; anti-colonialism, Islam and the development of Indonesian nationalism; the Japanese occupation during the Second World War and Indo-Japanese cooperation against the Dutch; the Indonesian war of independence and the establishment of the Republic under Sukarno; regional rebellions against Sukarno’s state: the Darul Islam uprisings, the Republic of South Maluku uprising and the PRR/Permesta rebellions; the PKI ‘attempted takeover’ and the rise to power of Suharto; Suharto’s New Order state and expansion into Dutch New Guinea and Portuguese Timor; regional rebellions in East Timor, Aceh, and Irian Jaya; the fall of Suharto and the reformasi governments under BJ Habibie, Abdurrahman Wahid, Megawati Sukarnoputri and Susilo Bambang Yudhoyono and inter-communal, separatist, and Islamist challenges to the state.
Teaching: 10 x two-hour seminars in MT and LT. 2 x two-hour seminars in the ST.
Formative coursework: A 3,000-word essay (Lent Term) and a timed essay (Summer Term).
Assessment: A three-hour examination in MT and LT. 2 x two-hour seminars in the ST.

HY451

Persecution in Europe: From Witch-Hunts to Ethnic Cleansing

This information is for the 2012/13 session.

Teacher responsible: Professor M J Rodriguez-Salgado, EAS.
Availability: For MSc Theory and History of International Relations, MSc History of International Relations, LSE-Columbia University Double Degree in International and World History and as an outside option where regulations permit.
Course content: This is a unique and challenging course. It examines the mentality behind the savage persecutions of certain ‘out-groups’ in Europe from the Renaissance to the present day, and the mechanisms that were employed to achieve their execution or expulsion. The European witch-craze has been repeatedly used as a paradigm to explain processes of persecution. Consequently, the course begins with an in-depth study of the ideological underpinning and practical processes that allowed the witch-craze to take place. It moves on to consider other persecution and mass extermination: the expulsion of Muslims from Spain; French Revolutionary Terror and Genocide; the Stalinist pogroms in Russia and Eastern Europe; the Holocaust and Nazi policies of extermination; and the development of Indonesian nationalism; the Japanese occupation during the Second World War and Indo-Japanese cooperation against the Dutch; the Indonesian war of independence and the establishment of the Republic under Sukarno; regional rebellions against Sukarno’s state: the Darul Islam uprisings, the Republic of South Maluku uprising and the PRR/Permesta rebellions; the PKI ‘attempted takeover’ and the rise to power of Suharto; Suharto’s New Order state and expansion into Dutch New Guinea and Portuguese Timor; regional rebellions in East Timor, Aceh, and Irian Jaya; the fall of Suharto and the reformasi governments under BJ Habibie, Abdurrahman Wahid, Megawati Sukarnoputri and Susilo Bambang Yudhoyono and inter-communal, separatist, and Islamist challenges to the state.
Teaching: The course will be taught in two-hour seminars. Minimum contact hours: 44.
Formative coursework: Four formal pieces of work are required: two essays of up to 3,000 words; a substantive class presentation, and a mock exam (timed essay). Feedback will be given for all these. In addition, students are expected to do reading prior to each class and may be assigned specific, brief contributions to the class.
Assessment: Three-hour examination in the ST.

HY458

LSE-Columbia University Double Degree Dissertation

This information is for the 2012/13 session.

Teachers responsible: Dr Robert Barnes and Dr Evan Haefeli
Availability: LSE - Columbia University Double Degree in International and World History students.
Pre-requisites: During their first year at Columbia University, students will identify a topic for the dissertation and will submit a detailed dissertation proposal form to their LSE supervisor. They will also have undertaken substantial research over the course of the summer, have written a Dissertation Research Report before arriving at LSE and be in a position to talk in a detailed and fluent manner with regards to their dissertation. These and the completion of other formal requirements for year one of the Double Degree will be needed before students can proceed to the second year of the programme at LSE.

Course content: The individual dissertation will be supervised and assessed at LSE in accordance with the Department’s MSc regulations. It will be in the form of a thesis of no more than 15,000 words. The dissertation workshop will complement this by offering three sessions on methodological topics, and 7 sessions in which the students will each present updates on their research over the summer (MT) and a 3,000 word extract from their dissertations for group discussion, evaluation and analysis (LT).

Teaching: Five two-hour seminars in MT and five one-hour seminars in LT.

Indicative reading: A reading list will be provided at the start of the course but will include the following introductory surveys: Berger, Feldner and Passmore, Writing History; D Cannadine (Ed), What is History now?; L Jordanova, History in Practice; R Evans, In Defence of History; J Tosh, The Pursuit of the Past; M Bloch, The Historian’s Craft; R G Collingwood, The Idea of History.

Assessment: 15,000 word dissertation (100%), provisional submission date is the first week of ST.

HY461
East Asia in the Age of Imperialism, 1839-1945

This information is for the 2012/13 session.

Teacher responsible: Dr Antony Best, EAS. EA045

Availability: MSc History of International Relations, MSc Theory and History of International Relations, MSc China in Comparative Perspective, MSc Empires, Colonialism, Globalisation, LSE-PKU Double Degree in International Affairs and LSE-Columbia University Double Degree in International and World History.

Pre-requisites: There are no formal pre-requisites for this course, but some knowledge of the international history of East Asia would be helpful.

Course content: The course looks at the origins and the political, strategic, economic and cultural consequences of the arrival of Western imperialism in East Asia. Subjects covered by the course include the clash between the Westphalian and Sinocentric international orders; the opium wars; the fall of the Tokugawa shogunate; the Japanese, Korean and Chinese responses to the arrival of the West; the history of Western imperialism in China and the rise of Chinese nationalism; the rise of Japanese imperialism; the Russo-Japanese War and its consequences; pan-Asianism, race and immigration; the Chinese revolution of 1911-12; the rise of intra-Asian trade; the effect of Wilsonian and communist ideology. There are seminars on the following topics: The Origins of the Origins, 1917-1943; The Breakdown of the Grand Alliance, 1943-1946; The German Question; The Sovietisation of Eastern Europe and the Yugoslav Exception; The Marshall Plan and the Foundation of NATO; The United States and Japan, 1945-1962; The Communist Victory in China and the Origins of the Korean War; The Korean War; Grand Strategy I: The Soviet Union and the Post-War World, 1945-1953; Grand Strategy II: The United States and the Post-War World, 1945-1953; Cold War Liberalism and McCarthyism: Anti-Communism and the Cold War in American Politics and Culture; The Sino-Soviet Alliance, 1954-1962; Indochina Wars: From the French Indochina War to the Eve of American Intervention; Eastern Europe from 1953 to the Aftermath of the 1956 Revolutions; The Berlin Crisis, 1958-1962; from the Cuban Revolution to the Cuban Missile Crisis, 1958-1962; Grand Strategy III: Soviet Foreign Policy from Stalin’s Death to the Cuban Missile Crisis; Grand Strategy IV: US National Security Policy from Eisenhower to Kennedy; The World Economy and the Cold War, 1917-1962; Nuclear Weapons, Technology and the Cold War, 1945-1962; Ideology and Culture.

There are lectures covering the following topics: The Breakdown of the Grand Alliance, 1943-1946; The Division of Germany; The Iron Curtain; The Marshall Plan and the Foundation of NATO; The United States and Japan, 1945-1965; The Outbreak of the Korean War; The Sino-Soviet Alliance; The 1956 Hungarian Revolution; Technologies, Weapons, and the Arms Race; The Cuban Revolution and the 1962 Missile Crisis; Culture and Mindsets.

Teaching: Twenty-two two-hour seminars and eleven one-hour survey lectures. The twofold emphasis of the seminars is on understanding how historians have interpreted (and re-interpreted) the origins of the Cold War in light of their access to new sources. The lectures are joint with HY206.

Formative coursework: Students are required to write two pieces of formative coursework during the year (the third essay is assessed, see below): one essay in the Michaelmas Term and an in-class mock examination in the Summer Term.

Assessment: One assessed essay due in the Lent Term (25%) and a three-hour written examination in the Summer Term (75%).

HY463
The Origins of the Cold War, 1917-1962

This information is for the 2012/13 session.

Teacher responsible: Professor Arne Westad

Availability: MSc History of International Relations, MSc Theory and History of International Relations, MSc Empires, Colonialism, Globalisation, LSE-PKU Double Degree in International Affairs and LSE-Columbia University Double Degree in International and World History.

Course content: This course examines the origins of the Cold War and the dynamics of its rise during the period from the Russian Revolution in 1917 to the Cuban Missile Crisis in 1962. It looks at long-term trends as well as specific events in order to elucidate how the Cold War originated and evolved. It deals with the Cold War as international history, covering the period from a wide variety of geographical and national angles: while some meetings necessarily centre on an individual state or a bilateral relationship, there will be others that deal with a wider region or with global trends. Intellecutally, therefore, the course stresses the transformation of the field from the study of (primarily American) national foreign policy to a broader international approach.

There are lectures covering the following topics: The Breakdown of the Grand Alliance, 1943-1946; The Division of Germany; The Iron Curtain; The Marshall Plan and the Foundation of NATO; The United States and Japan, 1945-1965; The Outbreak of the Korean War; The Sino-Soviet Alliance; The 1956 Hungarian Revolution; Technologies, Weapons, and the Arms Race; The Cuban Revolution and the 1962 Missile Crisis; Culture and Mindsets.

Teaching: Twenty-two two-hour seminars and eleven one-hour survey lectures. The twofold emphasis of the seminars is on understanding how historians have interpreted (and re-interpreted) the origins of the Cold War in light of their access to new sources. The lectures are joint with HY206.

Formative coursework: Students are required to write two pieces of formative coursework during the year (the third essay is assessed, see below): one essay in the Michaelmas Term and an in-class mock examination in the Summer Term.

Assessment: One assessed essay due in the Lent Term (25%) and a three-hour written examination in the Summer Term (75%).
HY464   Not available in 2012/13
Crises and Detente in the Cold War, 1962-1979
This information is for the 2012/13 session.
Teacher responsible: Professor O.A. Westad, COL. B206
Availability: MSc History of International Relations, MSc Theory and History of International Relations, LSE-Columbia University Double Degree in International and World History, LSE-PKU Double Degree in International Affairs and MSc Empires, Colonialism, Globalisation.
Course content: This course examines the period of crises and détente in the Cold War between the Cuban Missile Crisis in 1962 and the Soviet invasion of Afghanistan in 1979. The course covers topics such as the changes in media and politics in the UK, Germany and the US in the period from 1890 to 1970/80. This period encompasses the changes that created a schism within one of the ideological poles of the Cold War, namely the Non-aligned Movement, and the ideological heresy, the so-called "Yugoslav road to Socialism" that created a schism within one of the ideological poles of the Cold War, the Soviet Communism. Thirdly, the course will offer insight into the dramatic impact the end of the Cold War on the developments in the region, in particular on the collapse of the Yugoslav federation; at the same time, it will assess the role that the disintegration of Yugoslavia and the subsequent wars of secession had on the creation of the concepts that became the building blocks of the post-Cold War international system, namely nation-building, humanitarian intervention, international community, conflict-resolution, limited sovereignty, decreasing role of the UN, American hegemony, etc.
Teaching: 10 two-hour seminars in the MT and LT. Two-hours of seminars in the ST.
Formative coursework: Throughout the academic year, students are required to write two 2,500 word essays. There will also be a mock exam (a one-hour essay) in the first of the two revision classes in the summer term.
Assessment: One three-hour unseen exam in the ST (100%).

HY465   Not available in 2012/13
The International History of the Balkans since 1939: State Projects, Wars, and Social Conflict
This information is for the 2012/13 session.
Teacher responsible: Dr Svetozar Rajak
Availability: Optional on MSc History of International Relations, MSc Theory and History of International Relations, LSE-PKU Double Degree in International Affairs and LSE-Columbia University Double Degree in International and World History.
Course content: This course examines the history of the Balkans in the second half of the Twentieth century and on the threshold of the Twenty First century. It is not, however, designed to provide a simple historical overview of the region during this period. The course aims to integrate broader themes and interpretations of the Cold War and its legacy, and of deeper civilization undercurrents of the second half of the Twentieth Century, with the study of the region and its only federation, Yugoslavia. To do so, it will invoke three main themes that will also facilitate insight into the interaction between the global, regional, and country specific. Firstly, the course will explore the regional and inter-bloc dynamics within the structured Cold War system by looking at the impact the Cold War had on the region and, in turn, at the influence the Balkans, in particular the Greek Civil War and Yugoslavia’s conflict with the USSR. It will also facilitate insight into the dramatic impact the end of the Cold War on the developments in the region, in particular on the collapse of the Yugoslav federation; at the same time, it will assess the role that the disintegration of Yugoslavia and the subsequent wars of secession had on the creation of the concepts that became the building blocks of the post-Cold War international system, namely nation-building, humanitarian intervention, international community, conflict-resolution, limited sovereignty, decreasing role of the UN, American hegemony, etc.
Teaching: One assessed essay (25%) in the Lent Term and one mock exam (a one-hour essay) in the first of the two revision classes in the summer term.
Assessment: One three-hour essay exam in the ST (100%).
and it ends with the changes in media structure and ownership around 1970 (in the UK) respectively around 1980 (in West Germany), which led to the media landscapes of our times. The aim of the course would be to make the students familiar with media history as a field of research integrated into overall historical developments (above all of politics, society and economy as the most important contexts of media history).

Teaching: 10 x two-hour seminars in both the MT and LT. 2 x two-hour seminars in the ST.

Formative coursework: Two 2,000 word essays and one mock exam.

Assessment: One 3-hour exam (75%) in ST and one 3,000 word essay (25%).

HY468

Nazi Germany and WW II - Causes and Course, 1933-1945

This information is for the 2012/13 session.

Teacher responsible: Professor Soenke Neitzel

Availability: Optional on MSc History of International Relations, MSc Empires, Colonialism and Globalization, LSE in Theory and History of International Relations, LSE-PKU Double Degree in International Affairs and LSE-Columbia Double MA Degree in International and World History. Also available as an outside option where regulations permit and with permission of the teacher responsible.

Course content: The Second World War is the most pivotal event of the 20th century. It was the most global war in history and involved almost every country. Although a huge number of nations fought in Europe, Asia and Africa, Nazi Germany was the central actor in WW II. Germany's radical war aims led to an unparalleled war of annihilation which included the Holocaust and the mass killing of millions Soviet POWs and civilians. The military success of Hitler's army in 1940/41 was the precondition for Italy's and also Japan's entry into the war.

This course will explore the role of Nazi Germany in WW II in an international context. Starting with an analysis of WW I and its legacy to the International system in general and to Germany in particular, the course will investigate how the three revision powers - Germany, Italy and Japan - destroyed the system of International relations founded in Paris 1919/20 and followed their aggressive foreign policy which finally led to WW II. We will then analyse the character of the war in Poland, in Western Europe and in the Soviet Union with an emphasis on the cultures of violence and the perceptions of the war/holocaust by ordinary Germans. New methodological approaches will be discussed which include the history of mentalities whilst we seek to define the specific character of WW II, also by a comparison of the European and Asian theatres of war. The Grand Strategy of the Allies, the role of economies, the controversial debates about Strategic Air War will lead us finally to the end of the Third Reich in 1944/45.

Teaching: 10 x two-hour seminars in both the MT and LT. 2 x two-hour seminars in the ST.

Formative coursework: Students will be required to submit two 3,000 word formative essays (one per term). They will also sit a mock exam in the summer term.

Assessment: One three-hour exam in the ST (100%).
supervised by a member of staff in the Department of International History.

Teaching: HY498 teaching is provided through HY499 Dissertation workshop sessions and through the individual supervision of dissertation projects by supervisors in the Department of International History. Students should use the Michaelmas Term to find, decide on, and develop a suitable dissertation topic and consider possible dissertation supervisors. Help with this process is available from the students’ personal advisers. Students are then required to complete the HY498 Dissertation Proposal Form and to seek approval for their project from their dissertation supervisor.

HY499 Dissertation

This information is for the 2012/13 session.

Teacher responsible: Dr Robert Barnes

Availability: The HY499 dissertation is compulsory for students on MSc History of International Relations, MSc Theory and History of International Relations and MSc Empires, Colonialism and Globalisation.

Course content: The HY499 dissertation is an exercise in using primary sources to write on a precise topic in International History. The only formal limit on the choice of subject is that it must fall within the syllabus - i.e. it has to be a topic in International History, and the dissertation has to be a study in the discipline of history. Dissertations that represent contributions to disciplines outside history, such as International Relations or Politics, will not be approved or accepted. Dissertations must therefore be based substantially on a critical analysis of primary sources, and candidates should aim to include an element of originality in the argument and/or the treatment of the evidence. The subject must involve a detailed plan of the dissertation of no more than 1,000 words.

Assessment: The dissertation must not exceed 10,000 words (100% of course mark), including text and footnotes but excluding the cover page, the table of contents, the list of abbreviations, the bibliography and appendices. A Fail cannot be compensated, and a degree cannot be awarded unless HY498 has been passed. Two bound copies and one electronic copy must be submitted by Wednesday 4 September 2013 to EAS.E401 in the Departmental Office.

HY499 teaching is provided through HY499 Dissertation workshop sessions and through the individual supervision of dissertation projects by supervisors in the Department of International History. Students should use the Michaelmas Term to find, decide on, and develop a suitable dissertation topic and consider possible dissertation supervisors. Help with this process is available from the students’ personal advisers. Students are then required to complete the HY499 Dissertation Proposal Form and to seek approval for their project from their dissertation supervisor. It is the students’ responsibility to locate a supervisor. They should meet with the potential supervisor in late Michaelmas term (every member of staff has weekly office hours) to discuss their dissertation proposal, and then get the supervisor to sign the HY499 Dissertation Proposal Form before the deadline on 12.00 noon of Friday, 25 January 2013 at the latest. It is the students’ responsibility to contact their supervisor to arrange at least one but no more than three meetings in the Summer Term to discuss their dissertation. At this stage the supervisor will be prepared to read and give feedback on a draft table of contents and a draft chapter, or a section or a detailed plan of the dissertation of no more than 1,000 words. For students on LSE-PKU Double Degree in International Affairs the teaching is through the individual supervision of dissertation projects by supervisors in the Department of International History. Students should use the Michaelmas Term to find, decide on, and develop a suitable dissertation topic and consider possible dissertation supervisors. Help with this process is available from the students’ personal advisers. Students are then required to complete the HY499 Dissertation Proposal Form and to seek approval for their project from their dissertation supervisor. It is the students’ responsibility to contact their supervisor to arrange at least one but no more than three meetings in the Summer Term to discuss their dissertation. At this stage the supervisor will be prepared to read and give feedback on a draft table of contents and a draft chapter, or a section or a detailed plan of the dissertation of no more than 1,000 words. A Fail cannot be compensated, and a degree cannot be awarded unless HY499 has been passed. Dissertations must not exceed 10,000 words, including text and footnotes but excluding the cover page, the table of contents, the list of abbreviations, the bibliography and appendices. Two bound copies and one electronic copy must be submitted by Wednesday 4 September 2013 to EAS.E401 in the Departmental Office.

HY4A3

The History of the Soviet Union and of the Post-Soviet Transition

This information is for the 2012/13 session.

Teacher responsible: Anne Applebaum, Phillippe Roman Professor of History and International Relations LSE IDEAS.

Availability: Intended for Masters and Doctoral students with a special interest in modern and contemporary Eastern Europe and Russia.

Pre-requisites: There are no pre-requisites. Students can be from any disciplinary background or course.

Course content: The Soviet Union no longer exists, but the legacy of its rise and the impact of its collapse continue to shape political thinking around the world. This course will first explore the history of the USSR with a special emphasis on ideology, and on the phenomenon of Soviet totalitarianism: what was it, how was it created, how was it spread. In the winter term, we will shift the focus to the post-1989 history of Russian and Eastern Europe, and on to the question of “democratization”: how totalitarianism was (or was not) dismantled, the transition strategies deployed in different parts of the Soviet empire, and what lessons, if any, can be learned from their experiences in other parts of the world. Teaching: The seminar will meet every week during the term time for two hours. Professor Applebaum will initiate the discussion, and speak for perhaps thirty or forty minutes. The session will then become interactive, with students expected and encouraged to put forward their views and understandings.

Indicative reading: A detailed, session-by-session reading list will be provided at the beginning of the course and can be found on the course Moodle website. The following books will be useful background reading as preparation for the first seminar:

- Karl Marx, The Communist Manifesto (1848) www.marxists.org/archive/marx/works/1848/communist-manifesto/
- V.I. Lenin, What is to be Done (1902) www.marxists.org/archive/lenin/works/1901/wibtd/
- Leon Trotsky, My Life (1930)

Assessment: This course is not assessed, and there are no specific assignments; however, students would wish to write essays on a relevant subject will be encouraged to do so.

---

ID410 Half Unit Management of Human Resources: Strategies and Policies

This information is for the 2012/13 session.

Teachers responsible: Professor David Marsden.

Availability: Compulsory for students taking MSc Management and Human Resources. Optional for MSc International Employment Relations and Human Resource Management; MSc International Management, MSc Management, Organisations and Governance, MSc Management, MPA Public and Economic Policy/MPA Public Policy and Management/MPA International Development/MPA European Public and Economic Policy/MPA Public and Social Policy.

Course content: The course examines central issues pertinent to the theory and practice of Human Resource Management (HRM). It introduces students to a range of theoretical perspectives which underpin the ways in which organizations manage the employment relationship through the deployment of HRM strategy and policy. From a practice perspective, it reviews challenges involved in the design, implementation and evaluation of both overall HRM strategy and specific practice areas. In this respect we review HR policy and practice in the areas of job redesign, recruitment and selection, diversity and work-life issues, performance appraisal and rewards.

Teaching: There are 10 lectures as well as weekly classes (starting in week 2) during the MT, and revision sessions in the ST.

Formative coursework: Students are required to write one piece of un-assessed work.

Indicative reading: Students are expected to read widely in the appropriate journals; a detailed reading list will be provided at the start of the course. The course textbook is: J Baron & D Kreps, Strategic Human Resources: Frameworks for General Managers, John Wiley, New York, 1999.

Additional textbooks of interest include:

Assessment: Students complete an assessed essay during the Christmas vacation, which counts for one third of their Assessment, and a summer exam which counts for two thirds.

---

ID411 Half Unit International and Comparative Human Resource Management

This information is for the 2012/13 session.

Teacher responsible: Professor David Marsden

Availability: Optional for MSc Management and Human Resources, MSc International Employment Relations and Human Resource Management, MSc Management, Organisations and Governance, MSc Management and MPA Public and Economic Policy/MPA Public Policy and Management/MPA International Development/MPA European Public and Economic Policy/MPA Public and Social Policy. It is recommended for those taking the ID410 Management of Human Resources: strategies and policy Half Unit.

Course content: The course deals with the policies that organisations adopt to deal within a range of human resource issues, and develops an international and comparative perspective. The course considers managerial human resource policies in their institutional, social and market contexts in advanced industrial countries. As an integrating perspective, the lectures analyse how different employment systems shape organisations’ HR strategies and policies. The course looks at problems of human resource management in international firms, training, migration, knowledge management, rewards, equal opportunities, employment flexibility, participation, and employer collective action all within the context of different types of employment systems.

Teaching: There will be weekly lectures in the LT as well as classes (starting LT week 2) and revision classes in the ST.

Assessment: Students complete an assessed essay during the Easter vacation, which counts for one third of their assessment, and a summer examination, which counts for two thirds.

---

ID419 Half Unit Cross Cultural Management

This information is for the 2012/13 session.

Teacher responsible: Hyun-Jung Lee

Availability: This course is normally taught twice, in both Michaelmas and Lent Term. However in the 2012/13 session the course will only be offered in the Lent Term, therefore all students must register for ID419 L.

This course is available for MSc International Employment Relations and Human Resource Management, MSc Management and Human Resources and MSc Organisational Behaviour students. It is also available to all other Masters students interested in this course. This course is compulsory for MSc Management (CEMS MIM) students.

Pre-requisites: Some background in psychology and organisational behaviour is useful.

Course content: The ability to communicate cross culturally and understand diverse perspectives is a necessity in order to achieve a competitive advantage in our global economy. The aims of the course are to understand the impact of culture on leadership; to identify the areas in which cultural differences present a challenge in managing people across cultures; and finally to become more self-aware of our cultural conditioning, individual biases and assumptions and to understand the implications these have on our interactions with people who are different from us.

Teaching: Experiential learning is emphasised and team working is an integral part of the course. The teaching is highly participative. Students will be asked to make presentations and participate in exercise. The course is demanding of students and success depends partly upon student commitment and willingness to participate fully.

Formative coursework: Students are required to write one piece of un-assessed work.

Indicative reading: The following reading list contains some of the main volumes and some easily accessible introductory volumes. Most of the course reading is taken from journals. A full reading list will be issued at the start of the course. N. Adler, International Dimensions of Organisational Behaviour, South-Western; D. Thomas, Cross cultural management, Sage; S. Schneider and J-L. Barsoux, Managing across cultures, FT Prentice Hall.

Assessment: Team project (30%) and a two-hour exam in the ST (70%).

ID420 Half Unit Leadership in Organisations: Theory and Practice

This information is for the 2012/13 session.

Teachers responsible: Dr Emma Soane, Dr David Henderson, Dr Common Locke, Dr Rebecca Newton and Dr Cécile Emery.

Other students may attend where regulations permit and with the agreement of the teachers responsible. There are a limited number of places and early enrolment is recommended.

Course content: This course is designed to provide students with the knowledge, skills and analytical capabilities needed to exercise leadership in organisations. It explores several facets of leadership and considers how leadership develops. The emphasis will be on application of theory, comparing and contrasting ideas approaches to leadership, and self-reflection.

The course examines: leadership and management; trait, behavioural and contingency theories of leadership; individual differences in leadership; the dynamics between leaders and their followers; transformational and transactional forms of leadership; team leadership and co-leadership; leadership communication; leadership development; the future of leadership.

Teaching: There will be ten one-and-a-half hour lectures, one per week throughout Lent Term. There will be nine one-and-a-half hour seminars starting in week two of Lent Term. In addition, there will be one revision lecture and a one-and-a-half hour revision class in the Summer Term.

Students are expected to prepare for, and contribute to, the classes. Classes will include group work, preparing and giving presentations, case analyses, small group discussions, and self-assessment exercises.

Formative coursework: Students will complete a formative assessment based on previous exam questions. The details will be discussed in week 1. The assignment deadline will be in week 6.

Indicative reading: A full reading list will be provided at the beginning of the term. The main text is: Norhouse, P. (2009). Leadership. Theory and Practice (5th ed.)

Assessment: Unseen two-hour examination in the ST (100%).

ID421 Half Unit Not available in 2012/13 Human Resource Management and Employment Regulation

This information is for the 2012/13 session.

Teacher responsible: Stephen Dunn

Availability: Optional on MSc Management and Human Resources and MSc International Employment Relations and Human Resource Management. The course is not available as an outside option.

Pre-requisites: None. But students who have an undergraduate degree in law are advised to choose the specialist employment law options available to management students.

Course content: Human resource management problems and issues relating to the employment contract and legislation on discipline and dismissal, redundancy, mergers and sub-contracting, sex, race, age, disability and other types of discrimination, work-life balance, information and consultation, health and safety, union recognition and the right to strike. The focus is on UK and EU law, but other countries, including the USA, are used for comparative purposes.

Teaching: Ten x 1.5 hour lectures and ten x 1.5 hour seminars in the LT.

Formative coursework: As well as seminar presentations and case studies, students will be expected to submit a 2,000 word essay and will receive feedback within two weeks.

Assessment: A two-hour exam in the ST (70%) and a 2,000 word essay (30%).

ID423 Half Unit The Dark Side of the Organisation

This information is for the 2012/13 session.

Teacher responsible: Dr Jonathan E. Booth

Availability: MSc International Employment Relations and Human Resource Management, MSc Management and Human Resources, MSc Organisational Behaviour, MSc Management, Organisations and Governance, MSc Management, and MSc Management (CEMS MIM). Also available as an outside option where regulations permit.

There are a limited number of places and early enrolment is recommended.

Pre-requisites: Introductory OB course required. ID430, MG434, ID200, or equivalent course in another institution.
Course content: In this seminar, students will learn about a variety of topics related to the dark side of the organisation, (e.g., substance abuse, violent/aggressive, discriminatory, and retaliatory behaviours, and unethical behaviours/corporate corruption). In organizational behaviour courses, topics covered often explore how behaviours promote beneficial outcomes for the organization, as well as investigate the precursors to these more positive behaviours. However, not all behaviours and outcomes occurring in the workplace are beneficial and positive for employees and their organisations. Dark side behaviours typically lead to negative outcomes. Those who engage in these negative behaviours generally are aware that their actions can cause harm to others, their employer, and/or to them; hence, the instigator usually has intent. It is imperative that we more fully understand these behaviours and their antecedents and consequences so that we can identify these behaviours, as well as control, prevent, mitigate, or ameliorate their occurrences. In addition to an organizational behaviour approach to the dark side, we will also explore industrial relations perspective.

Teaching: Twenty hours of seminars in the LT. Two hours of seminars in the ST.

Formative coursework: 2,000 word essay. Students are expected to participate in a group project which will directly relate to a section of the final exam paper.

Assessment: One two-hour exam (60%) and one 2,000 word essay (40%).

ID430 Half Unit
Organisational Behaviour
This information is for the 2012/13 session.
Teacher responsible: Dr Connnon Locke
Availability: Compulsory on MSc Management and Human Resources and MSc Organisational Behaviour.
Optional for MSc International Employment Relations and Human Resource Management, MPA Programme (all streams), MSc Management Science (Decision Sciences), MSc Management Science (Operational Research), MSc Management, Organisations and Governance, MSc Development Management and MSc Public Management and Governance.
This course is available in the Michaelmas Term only. For students on MSc Management (Two-year programme) this course is available in the Lent Term as MG434, please see the MG434 course guide for further details.

Course content: This course seeks to understand individual attitudes and behaviour in an organisational context. It does this by reviewing psychological theories as they apply to organisations; demonstrating the contribution of a psychological perspective to understanding human behaviour at work; and critically evaluating the empirical evidence.

Personality and individual differences, work motivation, decision making, rewards systems, psychological contracts, organisational justice, performance and counter-performance (organisational citizenship behaviour, retaliation in organisations), leadership, groups and group processes, design of work, organisational culture.

Teaching: The teaching is highly participative and includes lectures and seminars. The course is demanding of students and its success depends partly upon student commitment and willingness to participate fully. The course is taught in the MT.

Formative coursework: Students are required to write one piece of un-assessed work.

Assessment: There will be a two-hour formal examination in the ST (100%).

ID431 Half Unit
Organisational Change
This information is for the 2012/13 session.
Teacher responsible: Professor Jacqueline Coyle-Shapiro and Dr Ellirama Gardiner.
Availability: Compulsory on MSc Organisational Behaviour.
Optional on MSc Management and Human Resources, MSc International Employment Relations and Human Resource Management, MPA Programme (all streams), MSc Management, Information Systems and Innovation, MSc Management, Organisations and Governance, MSc Management Science (Decision Sciences), MSc Management Science (Operational Research), MSc Development Management and MSc Public Management and Governance.

Pre-requisites: Students are required to take ID430 unless they have a psychology background.

Course content: This course adopts a psychological framework to explore the content, process and outcomes of organisational change. The aim of the course is to provide students with different psychological theories to understand the process and consequences of organisational change and in doing so addresses the following issues: type of organisational change, creating readiness for organizational change and leading change, the change agent, strategies for change, resistance to change and evaluation of and institutionalization of organisational change. Models and frameworks for analyzing and diagnosing change; the role of the change agent, leading change from the top, bottom up change specific interventions; strategies of change; ethical decision making; a justice perspective on organisational change; understanding recipients reactions to change; theory and methods of evaluation of organisational change and reinforcing change interventions.

Teaching: The teaching is highly participative and includes lectures and seminars. Group working is an integral part of the course and students are expected to actively contribute to their syndicate group throughout the year. The course is demanding of students and depends partly upon commitment and willingness to participate fully. The course is taught in the LT.

Formative coursework: Students are required to write one piece of un-assessed work.

Indicative reading: The course relies heavily on journal articles (for example, Academy of Management Journal, Journal of Applied Psychology, Journal of Organisational Behaviour, Psychological Bulletin, Organizational Behavior and Human Decision Processes and Journal of Applied Behavioural Science) and the use of case studies.

Assessment: There will be a two-hour formal examination in the ST (100%).

---

ID432 Half Unit International Employment Relations

This information is for the 2012/13 session.

Teachers responsible: Professor Carola Frege, Professor Sarah Ashwin, Dr Virginia Doellgast.

Availability: Compulsory on MSc International Employment Relations and Human Resource Management. Optional on MSc Management and Human Resources and MSc Management, Organisations and Governance. Also available as an outside option to students with permission.

Pre-requisites: A general knowledge of the social sciences is required.

Course content: The course aims to provide an introduction to the comparative analysis of employment relations at national, firm and workplace level throughout the world. It will introduce the employment relationship, the key concepts surrounding it, and the theories required to understand it. The strategies and policies of the main actors will be explored through cross-national comparative analysis. The course will also introduce the main ‘models’ of employment relations: the Anglo-Saxon, Japanese and European Social Models, as well as models of employment relations in the developing world.

The aim of the classes will be to provide an introduction to the comparative analysis of employment relations, and to ensure that students have both the conceptual and empirical grounding they need to take the options offered in international comparative human resource management, and cross-cultural management.

Teaching: 10 x 1.5-hour lectures and seminars in MT. The teaching is highly participative and includes lectures and seminars. Group working is an integral part of the course and students are expected to actively contribute to their class groups. The course is demanding of students and depends for its success partly upon their commitment and willingness to participate fully.

Formative coursework: A non-assessed essay during MT. Students also complete a class presentation.

Assessment: One 2000 word assessed essay to be completed over the Christmas vacation (25%), and a two hour examination in the ST (75%).

---

ID433 Half Unit Negotiation Analysis

This information is for the 2012/13 session.

Teacher responsible: Dr Marta Coelho.

Availability: Optional course for MSc International Employment Relations and Human Resource Management, MSc Management and Human Resources, MSc Management, MSc International Management (CEMS/MEX), MSc Public Management and Governance, MSc Management, Information Systems and Innovation and MSc Management, Organisations and Governance.

Course content: This course adopts an interdisciplinary perspective to analyse negotiations, covering ideas from economics, decision sciences and psychology. The course examines cognitive psychological, game theoretic and decision analytic approaches to the analysis of negotiations. These approaches highlight the importance of interests, information, strategy and power in defining the structure and outcomes of inter-dependent interactions. Prescriptive as well as descriptive findings from research in negotiations will be discussed throughout the course. The first part covers the basics of distributive bargaining and the importance of pre-negotiation information in the division of a fixed negotiation surplus. The second part introduces the concept of integrative bargaining. In these situations, the size of the negotiation surplus is variable. This creates challenges and opportunities that are different from those found in distributive negotiations. The third part covers some very basic game theoretic models of strategic interaction. The final part of the course concentrates on psychological mechanisms that can powerfully shape negotiation behaviour and outcomes.

Teaching: 10 one-hour lectures and 10 two-hour classes in the MT.

Formative coursework: Students, individually or in groups, will be asked to make presentations and participate in negotiation exercises.

Indicative reading: Getting to Yes: Negotiating Agreement Without Giving In, by Roger Fisher and William Ury, Penguin Books (1981); The Mind and Heart of the Negotiator, by Leigh Thompson, Prentice Hall (4th edition); The Art and Science of Negotiation, by Howard Raiffa, Harvard University Press (1982); Negotiating Rationally, by Max Bazerman & Margaret Neale, Free Press (1992). Note that no one book covers the entire syllabus; students will be expected to read widely in appropriate journals, and a list of references will be provided at the start of the course.

Assessment: A formal two-hour examination.

---

ID434 Half Unit Not available in 2012/13 Managing Diversity in Organisations

This information is for the 2012/13 session.

Teacher responsible: Dr Alexandra Beauregard

Availability: MSc International Employment Relations and Human Resource Management, MSc Management and Human Resources and MSc Organisational Behaviour. Also available as an outside option where regulations permit. There are a limited number of places and early enrolment is recommended.

Course content: The primary aim of the course is to develop students’ understanding and critical awareness of issues associated with managing a workforce characterised by diversity in age, gender, race, religion, disability, and sexual orientation. The course endeavours to combine academic rigour with a practical focus on promoting equality, diversity and inclusion in the workplace, enabling students to both develop a critical understanding of relevant theoretical and empirical literature and apply acquired knowledge to specific diversity management scenarios. Seminars will require participation in group exercises designed to enhance students’ appreciation of the wide range of issues associated with categorizing individuals as members of different groups, on whatever basis. Students will become familiar with the drivers of increased workforce diversity, the psychological and sociological theories underlying discrimination and exclusion in organisations, current employment legislation related to diversity in the UK, and the barriers to equality of opportunity in the workplace for minority groups. The emphasis of the course will be on organisational elements of diversity in order to avoid overlap with existing offerings from other departments. Students will examine “best practice” in diversity management programmes and learn to critically assess organisational policies and practices for managing workplace diversity with regard to their ability to enhance organisational performance and avoid costly litigation.

Teaching: 10 one-hour lectures and nine 1.5-hour seminars (MT). 2.5 hours of revision (ST).

Formative coursework: Students are required to submit a two-page essay outline.

Assessment: One take-home examination (60%) in the ST, an essay of 1,800 words (30%), and seminar participation (10%).

ID435 Half Unit
Organisational Theory
This information is for the 2012/13 session.
Teacher responsible: Daniel Beunza
Availability: Compulsory on MSc Organisational Behaviour.
Optional on MSc Management and Human Resources, MSc International Employment Relations, MSc Management, and MSc Management, Organisation and Governance.

Course content: 1. Early debates: Smith, Marx and Weber on bureaucracy
2. Institutional Theory and corporate culture
3. Sensemaking
4. Materiality and the Performativity of Economics
5. Social Movements/ Corporate Social Responsibility
6. Population Ecology
7. Social networks - individual level
8. Social networks inter-organizational level
9. New Markets and product categories
10. Status and Identity in organizational fields

Teaching: 10 x 1.5 hour lectures and seminars in the MT. One revision session in the ST.

Formative coursework: Formative essay of 1,000 words.

Assessment: One essay of 3,000 words, 2,500 word group project (30%), and class participation (10%).

ID436 Half Unit
Advanced and Emerging Topics in Organisational Behaviour
This information is for the 2012/13 session.
Teacher responsible: Hyun-Jung Lee
Availability: Compulsory for MSc Organisational Behaviour. Available as an outside option subject to space, programme regulations and the permission of the teacher responsible for the course.

Pre-requisites: Students on degrees other than the MSc in Organisational Behaviour may only attend if they have taken ID430 Organisational Behaviour.

Course content: 1. Non instrumentality at work
2. Proactive Behaviour at Work
3. The Perception of Leadership
4. Work-life balance initiatives
5. Creativity and Innovation in Organisational Behaviour
6. Cultural Intelligence
7. Organisational Response to Employee Pain
8. Evidence based management
9. Negative Employment Relationships

Teaching: Ten 3-hour sessions in the Michaelmas Term, and two 3-hour sessions in the ST.

Formative coursework: One essay of 3,000 words.

Assessment: Two hour exam in the ST (50%) and a 3,000 word essay (50%).

ID437 Half Unit
Reward System: Key Models and Practices
This information is for the 2012/13 session.
Teacher responsible: Alexander Pepper and others.
Availability: Optional on MSc Management and Human Resources, MSc International Employment Relations and HR Management, MSc Management, MSc Management, Organisations and Governance and MSc Organisational Behaviour.

Course content: The course will provide an analysis of the types of reward systems commonly used in private and public sector organisations, drawing on economic, psychological and sociological principles, covering all-employee reward, senior executive reward, fixed pay, short-term incentives, long-term incentives, benefits and pensions.

Teaching: 10 hours of lectures and 15 hours of seminars in the LT.
1.5 hours of seminars in the ST.
Students are expected to prepare for, and contribute to, the seminars. Seminars will include group work, preparing and giving presentations, case analyses, small group discussions, and self-assessment exercises.

Formative coursework: Students are expected to prepare for, and contribute to, the seminars. Seminars will include group work, preparing and giving presentations, case analyses, small group discussions, and self-assessment exercises. Students will be required to prepare a 1,500 word briefing note in advance of the case study session (week 8) and will receive feedback on their understanding of the issues.

Assessment: One two-hour exam in the ST (60%), one 2,000 word essay (30%) and seminar participation (10%).

ID438 Half Unit
Globalisation and Human Resource Management
This information is for the 2012/13 session.
Teacher responsible: Virginia Doellgast
Availability: Compulsory on MSc International Employment Relations & Human Resource Management. MSc Management and Human Resources must take at least one from this course and/or ID441. Also available as an outside option where regulations permit and with the permission of the teacher responsible.

Course content: This course examines the human resource management (HRM) and employment relations (ER) strategies of global corporations, with the aim of understanding both the causes of different strategic choices and the consequences of these strategies for diverse stakeholders. It takes the perspective that HRM/ER strategies are influenced by a range of variables, including internal business strategy and resources, as well as external factors such as national legislation, business systems and culture, and regional and global institutions.

In the course modules, we will:

Teaching: 15 hours of lectures and 15 hours of seminars in the LT. One hour of revision in the ST.
Formative coursework: One 2,000 word essay during Lent Term and one class presentation.

Assessment: 1x two hour exam (75%) and 1x 2,000 word essay (25%)
Assessment: 2,000 word essay (35%), seminar participation (5%), and a two-hour examination in the ST (60%).

ID441  Half Unit
Contemporary issues in HR Management
This information is for the 2012/13 session.
Teacher responsible: Dr. Jonathan Booth
Availability: Only available on MSc Management and Human Resources
Course content: This course combines a focus on contemporary issues of significance in HRM, along with faculty's current research topics. The curriculum evolves and is subject to change each year. Recent topics have included: Strategic HRM (e.g., HRM (de)centralization in global firms, managing labour standards, etc.) HR transformation - Key models and evidence & the UBS case Corporate Social Responsibility and HRM Employer Banding and Employee Engagement The Crisis in Pensions Senior executive reward - a case of market failure? Discrimination in the 21st Century? Toxin handling and compassion organizing: A role for HRM? Teaching: 10 two-hour joint lecture/seminar sessions in the LT. Two hours of revision in the ST. Lecture/seminars will be run in a participatory manner, involving case studies, debates etc. Students are expected to prepare for, and contribute to, the lecture/seminars. Formative coursework: Students will be required to write a 1,000 word case-analysis in preparation for the case study in week 4. Indicative reading: Specific readings will be allocated on a weekly basis prior to each lecture and class. General readings will include the following.
Assessment: Two-hour examination in the ST (60%), one 2,000 word essay (30%) and class participation (10%).

ID493  Half Unit
Human Resource Policy and Practice
This information is for the 2012/13 session.
Teachers responsible: Linda Walker and Dr Eddy Donnelly
Availability: Only available to students on MSc Management and Human Resources who wish to satisfy the educational requirements of the CIPD.
Course content: Introduces students to the key professional competencies necessary in human resource management and exposes them to practical human resource management systems and issues within their ‘Link’ companies. An introduction to the interviews, negotiating, team-building and IT skills necessary to practice human resource management; later, a series of visits to a company to explore how the HR function works.
Assessment: If you wish to satisfy the educational requirements of the Chartered Institute of Personnel Development, then it is essential that you successfully complete and pass the assessment for ID493, as described below.
Students must attend the workshops and complete a company report on their ‘Link’ and keep a record and plan of their Professional Development for the whole year. In addition, there is a group project, which is assessed by a group presentation at the last session of MT. ID493 is not part of your MSc degree, but is essential if you wish to satisfy the educational requirements for membership of the CIPD.

ID496  Dissertation: Organisational Behaviour
This information is for the 2012/13 session.
Teacher responsible: Dissertation Supervisors
Availability: Compulsory on MSc Organisational Behaviour
Course content: This course contains two parts: (a) Research Methods for OB and (b) Engaged Self and Scholarship workshops. Research Methods for OB: is designed to guide and support students through the process of developing an empirical dissertation. MT sessions will focus on helping students understand the expectations, identify a research question, and become familiar with the process of conducting a piece of independent research. LT sessions will focus on specific methods in particular using SPSS software. A goal of this course is to help students develop strong research and analytical skills; an important part of this skill set includes familiarity with the widely used SPSS software. Engaged Self and Scholarship (ES&S) provides a forum for students to address the research-practice divide and develop skills to bridge that divide. It will help students develop their professional skills and professional identity. Topics include: managing the consultant-client relationship, making research relevant to practice, developing your brand, presentation skills, and time management.
Because this course is designed to build students’ skill, sessions are highly interactive, with an emphasis on discussion, self-reflection, and exercises. Therefore, course readings are few and will be supplemented with practical assignments such as preparing a draft CV or reflecting on a discussion question and preparing a short written answer for the following session.
Teaching: One day workshop at induction, plus 9 x 2 hour lectures in MT, and 9 x 2 hour lectures in LT.
Formative coursework: A 1,500 word essay providing a literature review for the dissertation proposal.
Assessment: The final grade in this course will be based on two elements:
1. A 2,000-word research proposal (10%) due Week 5 of Lent Term.
2. A 10,000-word dissertation (90%) due on 31st August.

ID499  Dissertation
This information is for the 2012/13 session.
Teachers responsible: Dissertation Supervisors
Availability: Compulsory for students on MSc International Employment Relations and Human Resource Management, and MSc Management and Human Resources.
Course content: The aim of the project is to:
IR407
International Political Economy of the Environment

This information is for the 2012/13 session.
Teacher responsible: Dr R Falkner, CLM 5.05
Availability: Course intended primarily for MSc International Political Economy. Optional course for MSc International Relations, LSE-PKU Double Degree in MSc International Affairs and MSc International Political Economy as part of the LSE-Science Po Double Degree in Affaires Internationales programme. Optional course for MSc programmes in other departments, such as MSc Global Politics, MSc Political Science and Political Economy, MSc Management. Open to other interested students where degree regulations permit. All students are required to obtain permission from the Teacher Responsible by completing the Student Statement box on the online application form linked to course selection on LSE for You. Admission is not guaranteed.

Course content: An introduction to concepts and issues in the study of international environmental politics, with special emphasis on the political economy of environmental protection. Environmentalism and the greening of international society; ecological perspectives on international political economy; domestic sources of environmental diplomacy; environmental leadership in international negotiations; international environmental regimes and their effectiveness; the role of nonstate actors (business, NGOs, scientists); corporate environmentalism; private environmental governance; trade and environment; international environmental aid; greening foreign direct investment; climate change; ozone layer depletion; biosafety regulation; deforestation.

Teaching: 18 weekly lectures (IR407.1) beginning in the first week of MT and 17 one-and-a-half hour seminars (IR407.2) beginning in week three of MT.

Formative coursework: Students are expected to submit three 2,000-word essays to be marked by the seminar teacher and to present at least three seminar topics.

Assessment: One three-hour written examination in the ST based on the lecture course and work covered in the seminars. The paper contains about 12 questions, of which three are to be answered.

IR410
International Politics

This information is for the 2012/13 session.
Teacher responsible: Dr P Wilson, CLM 5.10
Availability: This course is compulsory for the MSc International Relations & MSc International Relations (Research) and for students taking MSc International Relations as part of the LSE-Sciences Po Double Degree in Affaires Internationales. It is not available to students on any other degree programme.

Course content: An historical and theoretical analysis of core concepts in International Relations, of the normative and analytic issues involved, and of their relationship to the social sciences in general.

Theories of international relations; the history of inter-state practices; states, nations, social forces and structures in international relations; the role of ideas and values; war, cooperation, peace; the disciplinary history of IR.

Teaching: 20 weekly lectures (IR410.1) held in MT and LT, commencing in week one of MT, and 19 weekly seminars (IR410.2) held in MT and LT, commencing in week two of MT.

Formative coursework: Students deliver seminar papers and write three 2,000-word essays for their seminar teachers on topics notified at the beginning of the session.

Assessment: One three-hour written examination in the ST based on the lecture course and work covered in the seminars. The paper contains about 12 questions, of which three are to be answered.
It is an optional course on MSc China in Comparative Perspective, LSE-PKU Double Degree in MSc International Affairs and MSc Politics and Government in the European Union. It is also available to students taking MSc International Relations or MSc International Political Economy as part of the LSE-Sciences Po Double Degree in Affaires Internationales programme. Other students may take this course where degree regulations permit.

All students are required to obtain permission from the Teacher Responsible by completing the Student Statement box on the online application form linked to course selection on LSE for You. Admission is not guaranteed.

Pre-requisites: Students need not have studied Foreign Policy Analysis before, but some familiarity with theories of international relations and modern international history will be an advantage.

Course content: The ways in which international actors formulate decisions and strategies for dealing with other members of the international community. Critical examination of theoretical perspectives on foreign policy, involving the analysis of the foreign policy behaviour of a broad range of states through selective use of case studies.

Development of the sub-discipline of Foreign Policy Analysis; the interplay between domestic and external forces, the organisation, psychology and politics of small-group decision-making; the impact of leadership and motivation upon foreign policy; the impact of public opinion, democracy and transitions upon foreign policy; the foreign policies of the major and middle powers as well as small/weak states; conventional and critical IR theories as applied to FPA; ethical foreign policy; foreign aid; geopolitics. Seminars discuss and expand on these topics, covering also questions of choice, rationality and identity and the significance of history and culture in foreign policy, as well as methodological issues, as appropriate. Students are expected to combine an interest in theoretical and comparative aspects of the subject with a solid knowledge of the main foreign policy issues and events of the contemporary era and the twentieth and twenty-first centuries. A detailed programme of lectures will be provided at the start of the session.

Teaching: 20 weekly lectures (IR411), commencing in week one of MT. 18 weekly seminars (IR411) will run from week three of the MT. There is also a 1 1/2 hour revision session in ST.

Formative coursework: All students who attend the seminar will be expected to write three 2,000 word essays for their seminar leader. Each student will also be expected to present at least one seminar topic.

Assessment: A formal three-hour examination in the ST (100%).
The Western Way of War; Non Western Ways of Warfare; Technology and War. Clausewitz and the Western Way of Warfare; war and genocide; war in the developing world; terrorism and crime; NATO and its future; Globalisation and Security; the ‘end of war’ thesis.

Teaching: Students are highly recommended to attend lectures on IR305 (MT and LT) and are required to attend 16 weekly seminars (IR415.1) commencing in week three of MT. The majority of seminar topics will be on strategic aspects of postwar international relations and examination papers will reflect this.

Formative coursework: Three 2,000-word essays will be set and marked by the seminar teacher.

Indicative reading: The following short list comprises some of the most important and some of the best currently available books. An asterisk indicates publication in paperback edition. R Aron, Peace and War; C M Clausewitz, On War (Ed by M Howard & P Paret); J L Gaddis, Strategies of Containment; M E Howard, War and the Liberal Conscience; F M Osanka, Modern Guerrilla Warfare; C Coker, War and the Twentieth Century; J Keegan, A History of Warfare: C Coker, War and the Illiberal Conscience.

Assessment: There is a three-hour formal examination held in the ST. Three questions must be answered from 12 or more. Examples of recent past examination papers will be appended to the Reading list.

IR416 The EU in the World

This information is for the 2012/13 session.

Teacher responsible: Professor Karen E. Smith, CLM 4.09

Availability: Course intended primarily for MSc International Relations, MSc International Relations (Research), MSc International Relations Theory, MSc Theory and History of International Relations, MSc Comparative Politics, MSc Development Studies, MSc China in Comparative Perspective and LSE-PUK Double Degree in MSc International Affairs. Also available to students taking MSc International Relations or MSc International Political Economy as part of the LSE-Sciences Po Double Degree in Affaires Internationales programme. Open to other interested students where regulations permit.

All students, except those registered on the MSc Politics and Government in the EU (Stream 2) are required to obtain permission from the Teacher Responsible by completing the Student Statement box on the online application form linked to course selection on LSE for You. Admission is not guaranteed.

Pre-requisites: Some basic knowledge of International Relations as an academic discipline is desirable, together with some acquaintance with the general evolution of world politics over the last one hundred years.

Course content: The development of the external activities of the European Communities since 1957, including the development of European Political Cooperation and the Common Foreign and Security Policy. The relationship between the member states and these external activities, in particular the impact of the evolution of EU institutions and policies on national foreign policies.

The external relations of the European Community, including external trade and development policy. Relations between the EU and non-EU states and regions.

Teaching: 17 weekly lectures (IR416.1) commencing in week two one of MT and 1 revision lecture in week 1 of ST; 17 weekly seminars (IR416) commencing in week three of MT.

Formative coursework: Three 2,000-word essays during the course, to be marked by seminar leaders. These do not count towards the final mark.

Assessment: Unseen, three-hour written examination in the ST (100%). The normal length of the examination paper is 12 questions, of which candidates are invited to answer any three.

IR418 International Politics: Asia and the Pacific

This information is for the 2012/13 session.

Teachers responsible: Dr J Haacke, CLM 7.09 and Professor C Hughes, CLM 5.07

Availability: Optional course for MSc International Relations, MSc International Relations (Research), MSc International Relations Theory, MSc Theory and History of International Relations, MSc Comparative Politics, MSc Development Studies, MSc China in Comparative Perspective and LSE-PUK Double Degree in MSc International Affairs. Also available to students taking MSc International Relations or MSc International Political Economy as part of the LSE-Sciences Po Double Degree in Affaires Internationales programme. Available to other interested students where regulations permit.

All students are required to obtain permission from the Teacher Responsible by completing the Student Statement box on the online application form linked to course selection on LSE for You. Admission is not guaranteed.

Pre-requisites: A first degree in politics and/or history is desirable but special interest in the region is of prime importance.

Course content: The international political experience of major powers and post-colonial states in a region beset by recurrent conflict and external intervention during the Cold War and subject to a novel multilateralism in its wake.

Students will be expected to write three 2,000-word essays by dates stipulated by the teachers responsible. An asterisk indicates publication in paperback edition. R Aron, Peace and War; C M Clausewitz, On War (Ed by M Howard & P Paret); J L Gaddis, Strategies of Containment; M E Howard, War and the Liberal Conscience; F M Osanka, Modern Guerrilla Warfare; C Coker, War and the Twentieth Century; J Keegan, A History of Warfare: C Coker, War and the Illiberal Conscience.

Assessment: There is a three-hour formal examination held in the ST. Three questions must be answered from 12 or more. Examples of recent past examination papers will be appended to the Reading list.

Formative coursework: Students will be expected to write three 2,000-word essays by dates stipulated by the teachers responsible. An asterisk indicates publication in paperback edition.

Indicative reading: A full reading guide will be made available to interested students.

There is one three-hour examination in the ST. Assessment: A detailed reading list will be distributed.

The Superpowers and the Middle East: Regional Politics and International Politics
Fred Halliday; The Middle East in International Relations
John Roberts; F Ajami, The Arab World: A Modern History of the Islamic World; B Lewis, The Middle East; In addition they are recommended to consult: Reinhard Schulze,

Indicative reading: Students are not particularly advised to purchase any book. However, they are advised to have read, before the beginning of the course: M E Yapp, The Near East Since the First World War, and R Hinnebusch & A Ehteshami (Eds), The Foreign Policies of Middle East States.

Pre-requisites: A knowledge of the international political system and of the major issues in its contemporary development is required. Background in IR and/or political science and/or history is a prerequisite.

Course content: The course is intended to provide an analysis of the regional politics of the Middle East since 1918, and of their interaction with problems of international security, global resources and great power/super power/hyerpower politics.

The emergence of the states system in the Middle East during the inter-war period. The interplay of domestic politics, regional conflicts and international rivalries. The Cold War and post-Cold War significance of the Middle East in global politics. The importance of oil and other economic factors and interests. Conflict in the Gulf and the Arab-Israeli conflict. The foreign policies of major Middle Eastern states and the Lebanese civil war. The role of ideologies and social movements: Arab nationalism, militarism, political Islam and global jihadism. State and non-state actors. Democracy and human rights issues. International relations theory and its significance for the study of Middle East politics.

Indicative reading: Students are not particularly advised to purchase any book. However, they are advised to have read, before the beginning of the course: M Yapp, The Near East Since the First World War, and R Hinnebusch & A Ehteshami (Eds), The Foreign Policies of Middle East States.

In addition they are recommended to consult: Reinhard Schulze, A Modern History of the Islamic World; B Lewis, The Middle East; F Halliday, Islam and the Myth of Confrontation; F Ajami, The Arab Predicament; B Korany & A Dessouki (Eds), The Foreign Policies of Arab States; John Roberts, Visions and Mirages, The Middle East in a New Era; Fred Halliday, The Middle East in International Relations; Fawaz A. Gerges, The Superpowers and the Middle East: Regional and International Politics. A detailed reading list will be distributed.

Assessment: There is one three-hour examination in the ST.

IR422

Conflict and Peace Studies

This information is for the 2012/13 session. Teacher responsible: Mr M Hoffman, OLD 2.02

Availability: Course intended primarily for MSc International Relations, MSc International Relations (Research), MSc International Relations Theory, [MSc Theory and History of International Relations], MSc Global Politics, and LSE-PKU Double Degree in MSc International Affairs. MSc Comparative Politics (Stream 5), MSc International Development and Humanitarian Emergencies, and MSc Human Rights with permission of the course teacher. Also available to students taking MSc International Relations or MSc International Political Economy as part of the LSE-Sciences Po Double Degree in Affaires Internationales programme. Open to other interested students where regulations permit.

All students are required to obtain permission from the Teacher Responsible by completing the Student Statement box on the online application form linked to course selection on LSE for You. Admission is not guaranteed.

Pre-requisites: A basic background knowledge of the subject would be an advantage.

Course content: This course is intended for those interested in theoretical and practical approaches to the question of peace, the problems of conflict and violence, and responses to them particularly in the form of liberal peacebuilding and statebuilding.

The course is divided into three unequal but interconnected parts.

The first part examines ideas and debates about the causes, contexts, dynamics and characterisations of conflict. The second explores and problematises the nature and meanings of peace and peacebuilding. This leads into the third section which is concerned with a critical engagement with the range of international responses to conflict associated with the discourses and practices of liberal peacebuilding and statebuilding. The seminars explore the nexus between theory and practice. Although the course and its readings are mainly theoretical and conceptual rather than empirical, students are encouraged to apply the ideas to actual cases, past and present.

Teaching: Ten one-and-a-half hour lectures (IR422) beginning week one of MT; 20 one-and-a-half hour seminars (IR422.1) beginning in week two of MT, plus two revision seminars in ST. Lectures covering case studies will also be given during LT; further details to be announced. There will be two revision lectures in weeks 1 and 2 of ST. In addition to the lectures and seminars, the course includes a film series. Each week there is a documentary or film relevant to that week’s seminar topic.

Formative coursework: Two 2,500-word essays, marked by the seminar teacher. One two-page outline of assessed essay.

Indicative reading: A detailed reading guide will provided at the first meeting. Useful survey texts are: Oliver Ramsbotham, Hugh Miall and Tom Woodhouse, Contemporary Conflict Resolution: The Prevention, Management and Transformation of Deadly Conflicts, 3rd ed (Polity, 2011); Chester Crocker, Fen Osler Hampson and Pamela Aall (eds), Leashing the Dogs of War (USIP, 1999); David Keen, Complex Emergencies (Polity, 2007); Karen Ballantine and Jake Sherman (eds), The Political Economy of Armed Conflict: Beyond Greed and Grievance (Lynne Rienner, 2004); Oliver Richmond, The Transformation of Peace (Palgrave, 2006); Chester Crocker, Fen Osler Hampson and Pamela Aall (eds), Herding Cats: Multiparty Mediation in a Complex World (USIP, 1999); Peter Wallensteen, Understanding Conflict Resolution, 2nd ed (London: Sage, 2007).

Assessment: One 4,000 word assessed essay due in week 6 of LT (40%) and one two-hour written examination in the ST (60%).

IR429

Economic Diplomacy

This information is for the 2012/13 session. Teacher responsible: Dr S Woolcock, CLM 6.13

Availability: The course is intended for graduate students studying for the MSc in International Political Economy, LSE-PKU Double Degree in MSc International Affairs and students taking the MSc International Political Economy as part of the LSE-Science Po Double Degree in Affaires Internationales programme. The course is also available as an option for students on other degree programmes where degree regulations permit (MPA Programme).

All students are required to obtain permission from the Teacher Responsible by completing the Student Statement box on the online application form linked to course selection on LSE for You. Admission is not guaranteed.

Course content: This course enables students to gain an in-depth understanding of the nature of economic diplomacy. The course focuses on decision making and negotiating processes in international economic relations and includes, as an integral part of the course, an opportunity for a dialogue with a range of senior policy practitioners and simulation of negotiations.

The course covers:

Teaching: There are 20 lectures (IR429.1) beginning in the first week of the MT and continuing through the MT and LT. In addition to the lectures given by LSE staff responsible for the course, senior policy practitioners will make presentations on the case studies. These form an integral part of the course and are designed to provide insights into the factors shaping decision-making in international economic relations. The course also includes a weekly seminar series (IR429.2) which will begin in the third week of MT and continue through the MT and LT. The seminars will take the form of student presentations followed by group discussion.

Formative coursework: Students will be expected to write three 2,000-word essays during the course of the year to be marked by the seminar teacher.

Assessment: An unseen, two-hour written examination in the ST (100%).

---

IR433 Half Unit

The International Politics of EU Enlargement

This information is for the 2012/13 session.

Teacher responsible: Professor Karen E Smith, CLM 5.06

Availability: MSc Politics and Government in the European Union (Stream 2), MSc International Relations, MSc International Relations (Research), MSc International Relations Theory, LSE-PKU Double Degree in MSc International Affairs and LSE Sciences-Po Double Degree in European Studies. Also available to students taking MSc International Relations or MSc International Political Economy as part of the LSE-Sciences Po Double Degree in Affaires Internationales programme. Open to other interested students where degree regulations permit.

All students are required to obtain permission from the Teacher Responsible by completing the Student Statement box on the online application form linked to course selection on LSE for You. Admission is not guaranteed.

Course content: This course examines EU enlargement from the point of view of International Relations. The principal aim is to understand the interplay between enlargement, EU foreign policy and wider geopolitics. The course begins with a discussion of the theoretical issues of the international dimension of EU enlargement, including: size; diversity; pace of change; reach; external reactions; and the widening v. deepening dilemma within the EU. It moves on to a broadly chronological discussion of the various phases of enlargement from 1973 to the present, examining the inputs from key Member States as well as from the EU institutions, and analysing the extent to which strategic policy-making characterised each round. In the last part of the course the attention switches to more thematic concerns: the role of the self-excluded states (Norway, Switzerland, Iceland); security, NATO and the post-Cold War European order; the geopolitical issue of Europe’s final border; and the view from outsiders, such as the United States, Russia, Turkey and Morocco.

Teaching: 10 lectures and 10 seminars in the LT.

Formative coursework: Two 2,000-word essays.

IR436  Half Unit
Theories of International Relations
This information is for the 2012/13 session.
Teacher responsible: Dr G Lawson, COL 2.03
Availability: The course is compulsory for students on MSc International Relations Theory and MSc International Relations (Research). It is not available to students on any other degree programme. It may not be combined with IR410 International Politics.
Course content: The major schools of thought in the contemporary theory and methodology of international relations.
The course will cover the main explanatory and normative paradigms in international relations theory. The purpose of the course will be to provide a thorough background in all schools of International Relations theory and the debates between them regarding their view on the nature of international politics and how it is to be conceptualised, understood and judged. Theoretical/methodological approaches to be considered include: classical and neo-realism; liberal institutionalism and neo-liberalism; Marxism; constructivism; English School theory; critical theory; post-structuralism; feminism; rationalism and reflexivism.
Teaching: The course will be taught using a combination of lectures and seminars. 20 one-hour lectures, weekly from Week 1 of MT and 20 two-hour weekly seminars also from Week 1 of MT. There will also be a revision seminar in the ST.
Formative coursework: Students will be required to submit formative coursework and to deliver at least one formal seminar presentation. All students are expected to prepare for and participate in seminar discussion.
Assessment: One 4,000 word essay (50%) and one two-hour examination in ST (50%).

IR434  Half Unit
European Defence and Security
This information is for the 2012/13 session.
Teacher responsible: Dr S Economides, COW 2.07
Availability: MSc Politics and Government in the European Union (Stream 2), MSc International Relations, MSc International Relations (Research), MSc International Relations Theory, LSE-PKU Double Degree in MSc International Affairs and LSE Sciences-Po Double Degree in European Studies. Also available to students taking MSc International Relations or MSc International Political Economy as part of the LSE-Sciences Po Double Degree in Affaires Internationales programme. Open to other interested students were degree regulations permit.
All students are required to obtain permission from the Teacher Responsible by completing the Student Statement box on the online application form linked to course selection on LSE for You. Admission is not guaranteed.
Course content: This course examines the role of defence and security issues in European integration. It traces the evolution and nature of decision-making with respect to European defence initiatives, and examines the structures and institutions of EU defence and security. It also seeks to understand the relationship between foreign policy and security/defence policy in the EU, especially in the context of transatlantic relations, the relationship with NATO and the EU’s wider international profile.
The course is divided into two parts. Part one provides a theoretical overview of the role of defence and security issues in European integration. It addresses the question of defence and European identity, the relationship between European defence and the national objectives of Member-States, the link between collective defence and collective security as well as the role of defence in the EU’s evolution as a civilian actor in international relations. It also looks at the historical evolution of the plans, structures and institutions of European defence and security. It places this evolution in the context of the early post-Second World War era, the Cold War and German rearmament and the issues of extended deterrence, burden-sharing within NATO and the emergence of a European pillar to Western defence. Part two examines the more contemporary developments in European defence and security and concentrates on the relationship with European Political Cooperation/Common Foreign and Security Policy, moves to institutionalise defence and provisions for crisis management and conflict prevention. Included in the second part are examinations of the EU’s recent ESDP mission and the implications of this on the EU’s role in the world.
Teaching: 10 lectures and 10 seminars in the LT and one revision seminar in the ST.
Formative coursework: Two 2,000-word essays.
Assessment: Two-hour unseen examination in June.
Teaching: 10 x one-hour lectures and 10 x 1.5 hour seminars in the MT.

Formative coursework: Students will be required to produce 2 short pieces of formative course work: One textual analysis exercise, which will involve answering a series of questions in under 1,000 words, and one essay of up to 2,000 words.

Assessment: One 5,000 word essay (100%).

IR438 Half Unit
Theory of International Society: English School Texts

This information is for the 2012/13 session.
Teacher responsible: Dr P Wilson, CLM 5.10
Availability: Course intended primarily for students on MSc International Relations, MSc International Relations (Research), and MSc International Relations Theory. Also available to students taking MSc International Relations as part of the LSE-Sciences Po Double Degree in Affaires Internationales programme. The course is also available as an outside option where degree regulations permit.

All students are required to obtain permission from the Teacher Responsible by completing the online application form linked to course selection on LSE for You. Admission is not guaranteed.

Course content: A critical examination of the principal texts and core ideas of the English school (ES) of International Relations. This course examines the idea of international society and the formal structure of that society as depicted by Bull, Wight, James and other leading ES scholars. It also examines the dynamics of and challenges to international society as articulated by Vincent, Watson, Buzan among others. The course aims at a close reading of specific texts in the context of their critical reception and subsequent theoretical debates. It seeks to evaluate the importance of these texts and their contribution to international theory. It explores the solidarist and pluralist strands of ES theory and the nature of the interrelationship between international and world society.

Teaching: 1 x 1 hour (introductory) lecture in week 1 of Lent Term. 9 x 2 hour seminars commencing in week 2 of Lent Term. 1 x 1 hour (concluding) lecture in week 1 of Summer Term.

Formative coursework: Two x 2,000 word essays

Assessment: One unseen two-hour examination (100%) in Summer Term.

IR442
Diplomacy and Challenges

This information is for the 2012/13 session.
Teacher responsible: Professor Michael Cox
Availability: MSc Diplomacy and International Strategy students only.

Course content: This course will look at different meanings of the notion of diplomacy. It will focus, in particular, on six key areas. The tools of diplomacy, the challenges ahead - pressure points, strategic decisions with a particular focus on Iran, the challenges ahead looking at flashpoints and what to watch out for, the future and crisis management and the European perspective from a diplomatic, political and military viewpoint.

Teaching: The course is taught in two intensive weeks - the week before ST and the week after. Together there are 60 hours of lectures and seminars. There are also 10 two hour lectures during term time in the ST.

Formative coursework: One formative essay (2,000 words) with a pre-arranged title. Feedback will involve a meeting with each student to discuss their formative essay.

We will aim to ensure that students are able to:

2. G. R. Berridge, Diplomatic Theory From Machiavelli To Kissinger (Studies in Diplomacy)
3. Henry Kissinger, Diplomacy, 1994
6. Chester Croker, Taming Intractable Conflicts, 2004
10. Michael Alexander, Managing the Cold War, 2005
15. Odell, Negotiating the World Economy, 2001;

Assessment: One 4,000 word essay (100%).

IR443
Strategy in a Changing World

This information is for the 2012/13 session.
Teacher responsible: Professor Michael Cox
Availability: MSc Diplomacy and International Strategy students only.

Course content: This course will examine the meaning of strategy and will be divided into five key areas as follows: A new approach to strategy, strategic economic trends, strategic decisions with particular attention on the global financial crisis, strategic trends with and emphasis on the factors shaping their power and the strategic international environment, in particular looking at institutions and threats.

Teaching: The course is taught in two intensive weeks - the week before LT and the week after. Together there are 60 hours of lectures and seminars. There are also 10 two hour lectures during term time in LT.
Formative coursework: One 2,000 word formative essay with a pre-arranged title due in the LT. Feedback will involve a meeting with each student to discuss their formative essay.
In the process, we will aim to ensure that students are able to:
- Critically evaluate different kinds of evidence;
- Assess the strengths and weaknesses of competing explanatory paradigms;
- Formulate arguments in a coherent and balanced fashion.

www.mod.uk/NR/rdonlyres/9E28927E-733F-49E1-A0AB-7BA46AF3FF60/rcdsstrategyhandbook.pdf

Assessment: One 4,000 word essay (100%).

IR444 Half Unit Strategy in Action
This information is for the 2012/13 session.
Teacher responsible: Professor Michael Cox
Availability: MSc Diplomacy and International Strategy students only.
Course content: In this course we will be examining through lectures, seminars and workshops four major foreign policy decisions, the diplomatic background to each of these and the strategic thinking behind them. We will be asking the students through group exercises to prepare a strategy and policy paper relevant to the day.
Teaching: The course is taught over 48 hours. This includes 3 intense sessions - a weekend of assessing strategic decisions involving drafting and crafting papers, a second weekend of formulating strategic decisions and a third 2 day workshop of methodology. All these will lay the foundations for the dissertation plan.
Formative coursework: Group discussion and formulation of strategy/policy papers.
Indicative reading: 1. Maastricht - case study:
Finn Laursen (Editor), Sophie Vanhoonacker (Editor), The Ratification of the Maastricht Treaty: Issues, Debates and Future Implications (1994)
2. Middle East - case study:
3. Northern Ireland - case study:
Michael Cox, Fiona Stephen and Adrian Guelke, A Farewell to Arms; After the Good Friday Agreement (2006)
4. The decision to go to war against Iraq - case study:
Assessment: The formulation of a dissertation topic which must be in the form of a 3,000 word dissertation plan (100%). This should include the title, an abstract, a problem statement which should identify the features and theoretical concepts associated with the topic, the aims and objectives (including research questions or hypotheses), a literature review and the methodology. This module is taken in conjunction with IR496 Dissertation: MSc Diplomacy and International Strategy (1.5 units).

IR445 Chinese Foreign and Security Policy
This information is for the 2012/13 session.
Teacher responsible: Professor Christopher R Hughes, CLM S.07
Availability: MSc International Relations, MSc International Relations (Research), MSc International Political Economy. Also available to students taking MSc International Political Economy as part of the LSE-Sciences Po Double Degree in Affaires Internationales. Available as an outside option with permission of the teacher responsible.
All students are required to obtain permission from the Teacher Responsible by completing the Student Statement box on the online application form linked to course selection on LSE for You. Admission is not guaranteed.
Course content: This course will provide students with an historical overview of the development of Chinese foreign and security policy, the theoretical concepts used for analysing the making of Chinese foreign policy, and an up-to-date survey of China’s evolving relations around the world. The first five weeks will be dedicated to providing a long historical perspective, and use a number of case studies to show how basic factors used in foreign policy analysis shape policy outcomes, including economic factors, the role of perception, geopolitical influences, bureaucratic politics, nationalism, and socialisation into the international system. The remainder of the course will involve analysing case studies on China’s relations with the United States, Japan and Korea, Southeast Asia, South Asia, Russia and Central Asia, Australasia and the Pacific Islands, the EU, Africa, Latin America, the Middle East.
Teaching: 18 hours of seminars in MT and 20 in LT. A further two hours of seminars in week one of ST.
Formative coursework: Students will complete three 2,000 word essays during the course and will make two presentations to the seminar. It is permissible for the presentations to be on the same topics as the essays.
Deng, Yong, China’s Struggle for Status: The Realignment of International Relations, (Cambridge: Cambridge Univ. Press, 2008).
DS779.27 D39
Kang, David C. China Rising: Peace, Power, and Order in East Asia
IR446  Half Unit
Chinese Foreign and Security Policy
This information is for the 2012/13 session.
Teacher responsible: Professor Christopher R Hughes, CLM 5.07
Availability: MSc International Relations, MSc International Relations (Research), MSc International Political Economy and students taking MSc International Relations or MSc International Political Economy as part of the LSE Sciences Po Double Degree in Affaires Internationales. Available as an outside option with permission of the teacher responsible.
All students are required to obtain permission from the Teacher Responsible by completing the Student Statement box on the online application form linked to course selection on LSE for You. Admission is not guaranteed.
Course content: This course will provide students with an historical overview of the development of Chinese foreign and security policy, the theoretical concepts used for analysing the making of Chinese foreign policy, and an up-to-date survey of China's evolving relations around the world. The lectures will be dedicated to providing a long historical perspective, and exploring how perspectives from Foreign Policy Analysis can be used to explain policy outcomes, including economic factors, the role of perception, geopolitical influences, bureaucratic politics, nationalism, and socialisation into the international system. The seminars will be used to explore case studies on China's relations with various states and regions, including those in the East Asian Region, South Asia, Russia, Central Asia, the EU, the Middle Powers (Canada, Australia, Norway), Africa, Latin America and the Middle East.
Teaching: 4 hours of lectures in weeks 1-4, and 7 two hour seminars in weeks 4-10. One 2 hour seminar in ST.
Formative coursework: Students will complete two 2,000 word essays during the course and will make two presentations to the seminar. It is permissible for the presentations to be on the same topics as the essays.
Indicative reading: General Overviews:
Hao, Y and Su, L, China’s Foreign Policy Making: Societal Force and Chinese American Policy, Ashgate 2005.
Johnston, A I and Ross, R. New Directions in the Study of China's Foreign Policy, Stanford University Press,
Zhu, Zhiqun China's New Diplomacy: Rationale, Strategies and Significance, Farnham: Ashgate 2010
Specific Regions:
Casarini, Nicola, Remaking Global Order: the evolution of Europe-China Relations and Its Implications for East Asia and the United States, Oxford and New York: Oxford

Assessment: One three-hour exam in the ST (100%).

IR450  International Political Economy
This information is for the 2012/13 session.
Teachers responsible: Dr J.M. Chwieroth, CLM 5.11
Availability: This course is compulsory for the MSc International Political Economy and MSc International Political Economy (Research). Also available to students taking MSc International Political Economy as part of the LSE-Sciences Po Double Degree in Affaires Internationales Programme.
It is available on an optional basis to a limited number of students on MSc Management, with enrolment subject to staffing resources, the completion of a hard copy application form available from room CLM 6.08, and permission of the teachers responsible. It is not available to students on any other degree programme.
Course content: An advanced introduction to concepts and contending approaches in international political economy, and an overview of the evolution of international economic relations since the late nineteenth century.
This course is the core course for MSc International Political Economy. It aims to introduce students to various approaches to the study of international political economy (IPE), and to apply theories to important historical and contemporary empirical issues. The first part of the course introduces students to the main theoretical concepts in and methodological approaches to political economy, emphasising the overlap between international and comparative approaches. After surveying the main schools of thought in the subject, it examines more recent theoretical developments, including the comparative and domestic approaches that have become increasingly prominent in the literature. The second and third parts of the course address the political and economic history of the international political economy since the Industrial Revolution. The issues covered in this part include particular events such as the 1930s economic depression, the issue of economic development, the construction and evolution of international economic regimes and institutions, and contemporary issues related to ‘globalisation’. Previous background in international relations, international economics, comparative politics and history is helpful but is not a requirement. Students with no previous background in the subject should read Walter and Sen, Analyzing the Global Political Economy (2009), Oatley, International Political Economy and Ravenhill, Global Political Economy by the end of the first term.
Indicative reading: It is advisable to begin reading before the lectures start, and the following general texts are recommended. A more complete source-list is provided in the course outline. Oatley,
The paper contains about 12 questions, of which three are to be based on the lecture course and work covered in the seminars. There is a three-hour formal examination in the ST of the course.

Indicative reading: The new book that covers the entire syllabus of the course is "The Political Economy of International Trade" by J. Frieden and S. D. Lake. A detailed reading list will be provided in class.

Assessment: Students will be required to sit a three-hour examination on the full syllabus of the course. Students will be asked to answer three out of 12 questions.

IR451
Politics of Money in the World Economy
This information is for the 2012/13 session.

Teachers responsible: Dr J Chwieroth, CLM 5.11

Availability: Course intended primarily for MSc International Political Economy. It is an optional course for MSc Comparative Politics, MSc Political Science and Political Economy, MPA Public and Economic Policy/MPA Public Policy and Management/MBA International Development/MBA European Public and Economic Policy/MPA Public and Social Policy and LSE-PKU Double Degree in International Affairs. Also available to students taking MSc International Political Economy as part of the LSE-Siences Po Double Degree in Affaires Internationales programme. Open to other interested students where degree regulations permit.

All students are required to obtain permission from the Teacher Responsible by completing the Student Statement box on the online application form linked to course selection on LSE for You. Admission is not guaranteed.

Course content: This course is intended as a component of the study of a global system in which the management and mismanagement of money and finance are matters of fundamental consequence, for both international relations and domestic politics. It is intended to be of particular relevance to students specialising in international political economy.

This is a course in applied political economy theory. It deals with the basic concepts regarding the creation, use and management of money and finance in the global system. Students are then introduced to international monetary relations over the past one and a half centuries. Issues covered include the use of national currencies as international money, the politics of exchange rate adjustment, the operations of banks and other institutions in international monetary cooperation, the creation and use of monetary and financial policies open to developed and developing countries. The course emphasizes that contemporary issues, such as financial crises, financial regulation and the politics of IMF conditionality, are best understood in a broader theoretical and historical context.

A detailed list of recommended reading is provided at the beginning of the course.

Assessment: There is a three-hour formal examination in the ST based on the lecture course and work covered in the seminars. The paper contains about 12 questions, of which three are to be answered.

IR457
The Political Economy of International Trade
This information is for the 2012/13 session.

Teacher responsible: Dr L Baccini, LCH 2.08

Availability: Course intended primarily for MSc International Political Economy. It is an optional course for students on MSc Comparative Politics, MSc Political Science and Political Economy, MPA Public and Economic Policy/MPA Public Policy and Management/MBA International Development/MBA European Public and Economic Policy/MPA Public and Social Policy and LSE-PKU Double Degree in International Affairs. Also available to students taking MSc International Political Economy as part of the LSE-Siences Po Double Degree in Affaires Internationales programme. Open to other interested students where degree regulations permit.

All students are required to obtain permission from the Teacher Responsible by completing the Student Statement box on the online application form linked to course selection on LSE for You. Admission is not guaranteed.

Course content: This course investigates how theories of emphasising distributional interests and institutions can explain trade policy choices. Particular emphasis is placed on giving students an understanding of the fundamental models of political economy. The course then applies these various issue-areas of trade policy, among them the role of the GATT and the WTO, regional trade agreements, trade in services, and the relationship between trade and foreign direct investment.

While there is no formal pre-requisite for the course, it would be preferable for students to have already completed an introductory course in microeconomics and basic knowledge of quantitative analysis. Students without a previous background in quantitative methods can attend lectures from M1451 and M1452.

Assessment: ST formal three-hour examination, three questions to be chosen from 12.

IR460
Comparative Political Economy
This information is for the 2012/13 session.

Teacher responsible: Dr L Phillips, CLM 4.12

Availability: This course is compulsory for the MSc International Political Economy Research. It is optional for students on MSc International Political Economy, MPA Public and Economic Policy/MPA Public Policy and Management/MBA International Development/MBA European Public and Economic Policy/MPA Public Policy and Social Policy, MSc Political Science and Political Economy, MSc Management and LSE-PKU Double Degree in International Affairs. Also available to students taking MSc International Relations or MSc International Political Economy as part of the LSE-Siences Po Double Degree in Affaires Internationales programme. MSc Global Politics and other interested MSc students may also apply, where degree regulations permit.

All students taking the course as an option are required to obtain permission from the Teacher Responsible by completing the Student Statement box on the online application form linked to course selection on LSE for You. Admission is not guaranteed.

Course content: This course investigates how theories of emphasising distributional interests and institutions can explain trade policy choices. Particular emphasis is placed on giving students an understanding of the fundamental models of political economy. The course then applies these various issue-areas of trade policy, among them the role of the GATT and the WTO, regional trade agreements, trade in services, and the relationship between trade and foreign direct investment.

While there is no formal pre-requisite for the course, it would be preferable for students to have already completed an introductory course in microeconomics and basic knowledge of quantitative analysis. Students without a previous background in quantitative methods can attend lectures from M1451 and M1452.

Assessment: ST formal three-hour examination, three questions to be chosen from 12.
Course content: The comparative study of democratic institutions and economic policy choice. This course will investigate how theories emphasising distributional interests and domestic institutions can explain economic policy choices. Particular emphasis will be placed on giving students an understanding of the use of quantitative methods in political economy research. A third main objective will be to show how similar theories of political economy can be applied to both OECD and developing country cases. While there will be no formal prerequisite for the course, it would be preferable for students to have already completed an introductory sequence in microeconomics and macroeconomics. Students without a previous background in quantitative methods can attend lectures from MI451 and MI452.

Teaching: Sixteen one-hour lectures in MT and LT plus one summary lecture in week 10 of LT, and sixteen one-and-a-half-hour seminars.

Formative coursework: Students will be required to submit three 2,000-word essays over the course of MT and LT.

Indicative reading: The bulk of this course will be taught using journal articles. In addition, students will find it useful to consult several overview texts in political economy. James Morrow, Game Theory for Political Scientists; Allan Drazen, Political Economy in Macroeconomics; Adam Przeworski, Susan Stokes & Bernard Manin, Democracy, Accountability, and Representation.

Assessment: There is a three-hour formal examination in the ST on the full syllabus of the course. Candidates are required to answer three out of 12 questions.

IR461
Islam in International Relations:
From Al-Andalus to Afghanistan
This information is for the 2012/13 session.
Teacher responsible: Professor J Sidel, CON 4.02
Availability: MSc International Relations, MSc International Relations (Research), MSc International Relations Theory and MSc Global Politics. Also available to students taking MSc International Relations or MSc International Political Economy as part of the LSE-Sciences Po Double Degree in the Affaires Internationales programme. Open to other interested students where degree regulations permit.

All students are required to obtain permission from the Teacher Responsible by completing the Student Statement box on the online application form linked to course selection on LSE for You. Admission is not guaranteed.

Course content: The course focuses on the role of Islam in world politics, posing two inter-related questions: First, how can we explain the varying nature and strength of Islam as a discursive and mobilisational force in international relations? Second, how should we understand the impact of changes in international relations on the varying nature and strength of Islam as a discursive and mobilisational force in international relations? Second, how should we understand the impact of changes in international relations on the institutions, authority structures, and identities associated with Islam?

In this course, the approach to these questions is comparative. The course begins with an examination of the distinctive transnational structures of Islam as compared with another major world religion: Christianity. The emergence and trajectory of Islam as a force in international relations since the late 19th century are examined across successive periods in world history. The course covers the rise of transnational Islamist networks from the late Ottoman era through the tumultuous years of mass mobilisation in the interwar era, demobilisation with the formation of new nation-states in the early Cold War era, and the revival of Islam in world politics by the 1970s with the Iranian Revolution and developments elsewhere in the Muslim world. But most of the course covers the contemporary post-Cold War era, examining the varying role of Islam in diverse regional settings - Asia, Africa, the Middle East, and Europe - and in the contexts of globalization and democratization, mass migration, separatist struggles and regional conflicts. Close attention is paid to the role of Saudi Arabia and Iran in the global politics of Islam, to Sunni-Shi'i conflicts, and to the question of Israel and Palestine. The course also focuses important cases like Al Qa’ida and the Taliban in Afghanistan and Pakistan, as well as Chechnya, Iraq, and Somalia, as well as important trends in Western Europe, including the UK.

Teaching: Twenty-one weekly lectures commencing in the first week of the Michaelmas Term, plus a revision lecture in week 2 of ST, prior to the examinations, accompanied by twenty weekly seminars from the third week of the Michaelmas Term. Professor Sidel will be solely responsible for the lectures and the seminars. Students will be divided into seminar discussion groups at the beginning of the course.

Formative coursework: Students are expected to submit three essays of 2,000 words in length over the course of the year for evaluation and comment by Professor Sidel. Whilst these essays will not be included in the formal assessment, they will help students to focus their energies on specific topics of particular interest to them and to receive feedback and guidance from Professor Sidel.

Assessment: One three-hour examination (100%).

Assessment: 2-hour unseen examination in the Summer Term (100%)

IR463 Half Unit
The International Political Theory of Humanitarian Intervention
This information is for the 2012/13 session.
Teacher responsible: Professor C.J. Brown, CLM 4.08
Availability: Course intended primarily for students on MSc International Relations, MSc International Relations (Research), MSc International Relations Theory, MSc Political Theory and MSc Theory and History of International Relations. The course is available to students on MSc International Migration and Public Policy, MSc Global Politics, MSc Human Rights, MSc Race, Ethnicity and Post-Colonial Studies and MSc China in Comparative Perspective students with the permission of the Teacher Responsible. Also available to students taking MSc International Relations or MSc International Political Economy as part of the LSE-Sciences Po Double Degree in Affaires Internationales programme. The course is also available as an outside option where degree regulations permit.
All students are required to obtain permission from the Teacher Responsible by completing the Student Statement box on the online application form linked to course selection on LSE for You. Admission is not guaranteed.
Pre-requisites: IR462 Introduction to International Political Theory is recommended.
Course content: The course will involve both theoretical explorations of the nature and prehistory of ‘humanitarianism’ and empirical examples of claimed ‘humanitarian interventions’ (such as Bosnia, Kosovo and East Timor) along with cases where it is claimed interventions should have taken place (such as Rwanda 1994) and others where humanitarianism has been combined with geo-strategic motivations. Notions of ‘global social justice’ as a response to the root causes of humanitarian disasters will be explored, along with the future of humanitarianism in the light of the changing global strategic architecture.
Teaching: 10 x 2 hour seminars in the Lent Term
2 x 2 hour revision sessions in weeks 1 - 3 of ST.
Students will be encouraged to attend relevant lectures in the UG course IR306 Sovereignty, Rights and Duties: Issues in IPT
Formative coursework: 1 x 2,000 word essay
Assessment: One unseen two-hour examination in the Summer Term (50%), and a 4,000 word long essay to be produced by week 3 of the Summer Term.

IR464 Half Unit
The Politics of International Law
This information is for the 2012/13 session.
Teacher responsible: Dr J Hoover, CLM 5.08
Availability: Course intended primarily for students on MSc International Relations, MSc International Relations (Research), MSc International Relations Theory, MSc Political Theory and MSc Theory and History of International Relations. The course is available to students on MSc Global Politics, MSc Human Rights, MSc Race, Ethnicity and Post-Colonial Studies and MSc China in Comparative Perspective students with the permission of the teacher responsible. Also available to students taking MSc International Relations or MSc International Political Economy as part of the LSE-Sciences Po Double Degree in Affaires Internationales programme. The course is also available as an outside option where degree regulations permit.
All students are required to obtain permission from the Teacher Responsible by completing the Student Statement box on the online application form linked to course selection on LSE for You. Admission is not guaranteed.
Course content: An introduction to the politics of the creation and implementation of international law, intended for non-lawyers. The course focuses on the areas of international law most relevant to International Political Theory – human rights, the use of force and international crime, and examines the increasing legalization of international politics, the tensions between international politics and international law, alternatives to international law and international law post 9/11.
Teaching: 1 organisational meeting in week 10 of MT
10 x 2 hour seminars in LT.
2 x 2 hour revision seminars in weeks 3 and 4 of ST.
Formative coursework: 1 x 2,000 word essay
Assessment: A two-hour unseen examination in the Summer Term (50%) and a 4,000 word long essay to be produced by week 3 of the Summer Term (50%).

IR465 The International Politics of Culture and Religion
This information is for the 2012/13 session.
Teacher responsible: Dr K Dalacoura, CLM 4.11
Availability: Course intended primarily for MSc International Relations, MSc International Relations (Research), MSc International Relations Theory and MSc Human Rights. Also available to students taking MSc International Relations as part of the LSE-Sciences Po Double Degree in Affaires Internationales programme. Open to other interested students where degree regulations permit.
All students are required to obtain permission from the Teacher Responsible by completing the online application form linked to course selection on LSE for You. Admission is not guaranteed.
Pre-requisites: Background in International Relations or a related IR466 Half Unit Not available in 2012/13

Genocide
This information is for the 2012/13 session.
Availability: Optional on MSc International Relations, MSc International Relations (Research), MSc Theory and History of International Relations, MSc International Relations Theory, MSc Global Politics, MSc Comparative Politics and MSc Human Rights. Also optional for students on Sciences Po-LSE Double Degree in Affaires Internationales taking MSc International Relations. The course is available as an outside option.
All students are required to obtain permission from the Teacher Responsible by completing the Student Statement box on the online application form linked to course selection on LSE for You. Admission is not guaranteed.
Course content: This seminar course provides an introduction to the study of genocide. The course's disciplinary ambit ranges from anthropology to economics, from history to law, and from political science to sociology. Against the background of diverse disciplinary approaches, it explores major theoretical and empirical aspects of the role(s) of genocidal campaigns in international politics, inter alia, their origins, development, and termination; the manner of their perpetration, progression, and diffusion; their impact on the maintenance of international peace and security; their consequences for the reconstruction and development of states and the building of nations; and their adjudication in domestic and international courts and tribunals. Empirical cases to be discussed include Australia, Cambodia, China, the Democratic Republic of Congo, East Timor, Nazi Germany, Guatemala, Iraq, Northern Ireland, the Ottoman Empire, Rwanda, Uganda, the Soviet Union, Sudan, and the former Yugoslavia, among others. The course is designed to equip students with the analytic tools necessary for making sense of the evolution of the international system from the nineteenth century to the present-and for critically assessing the promise and limits of responding to collective violence.

Teaching: 10 x two-hour seminars in LT.

Formative coursework: One x 2,000 word essay.

Karen E. Smith, Genocide and the Europeans (Cambridge: Cambridge University Press, 2010).

Assessment: One 5,000 word essay (100%).
IR482
Russia and Eurasia: Foreign and Security Policies

This information is for the 2012/13 session.

Teacher responsible: Dr T Lankina, CLM 6.07

Availability: Course intended primarily for MSc International Relations, MSc International Relations (Research), MSc International Relations Theory, MSc Politics and Government of the EU (Stream 2) and LSE Sciences-Po Double Degree in European Studies. Also available to students taking MSc International Relations or MSc International Political Economy as part of the LSE-Sciences-Po Double Degree in European Studies. Also available to students taking MSc International Relations or MSc International Relations Theory, MSc Politics and Government of the EU (Stream 2) and LSE Sciences-Po Double Degree in European Studies.

All students are required to obtain permission from the Course Coordinator by completing the online application form linked to course selection on LSE for You. Admission is not guaranteed.

Pre-requisites: Some knowledge of post-1945 international history/ international relations is necessary.

Course content: The course covers the various factors shaping Soviet, post-communist Russian and Eurasian foreign and security policy. It explores both the traditional foreign policy and security issues, such as the arms race and Détente, the role of the military, economic power projection, etc., as well as new soft power and security factors shaping policy, such as transnational civil society, sub-national regionalization, transnational ethnic and cultural networks, migration, the role of ideas, norms and norm entrepreneurs, etc. Key topics covered are Cold War, East-West relations and Détente; relations with Eastern Europe; relations with the Third World; Gorbachev’s foreign policy and the end of the Cold War; post-Cold War Russian foreign and security policy; Russia and the ‘near abroad’; ethnic separatism and regional conflict; Russian national and sub-national engagement with the West; Russia’s relations with China and the other ‘rising powers’; other security challenges (demographic problems, social protest, regional developmental disparities, etc.); regionalism and multilateralism in Eurasia; domestic and external influences on foreign policy and security in Ukraine, Belarus and the states of the Caucasus and Central Asia; Caspian energy and foreign policies; the challenge of Afghanistan for the region; regional responses to the Middle Eastern uprisings.

Teaching: There will be an introductory lecture in week 1 of MT followed by 15 one-hour lectures from week 1 of MT. There will be 18 one-and-a-half-hour weekly seminars commencing in week 3 of MT, including two revision seminars in ST.

Assessment: Unseen, two one-and-a-half hour written examinations in ST (100%). The normal length of the examination paper is eight questions, of which candidates are invited to answer any two.

IR496
Dissertation: MSc Diplomacy and International Strategy (1.5 units)

This information is for the 2012/13 session.

Teacher responsible: Professor Mick Cox

Availability: Compulsory on MSc Diplomacy and International Strategy.
Course content: The dissertation will address a topic in the social sciences drawn broadly from the three core courses. This will normally be a library based dissertation. The topic should make central use of concepts in the study of diplomacy and strategy and should demonstrate a good understanding of these concepts and implications. The dissertation will draw on empirical topic areas but should also demonstrate a high degree of conceptual originality. Guidance on standards of presentation will be given in the handbook and conform to the standard laid down for MSc dissertations in the International Relations Department.

Assessment: A 15,000 word dissertation (100%) to be submitted in September 2013. This course is taken in conjunction with IR444 Strategy in Action (H).

Using the dissertation plan (IR444), the dissertation will include an introduction, theoretical framework, a literature review and methodology followed by chapters, conclusion and bibliography.

IR499
Dissertation
This information is for the 2012/13 session.

Teachers responsible: Dr K Dalacoura, CLM 4.11 (MSc International Relations); Professor K Hutchings, CLM 4.07 (MSc International Relations (Research) and MSc International Relations Theory); Dr J Chwieroth, CLM 5.11 (MSc International Political Economy (IPE) and MSc IPE (Research))

Assessment: MSc IR, MSc IR (Research), MSc IPE, and MSc IPE (Research) and MSc IRT students are required to write a 10,000-word Dissertation on a topic within the field of IR/IPE/IRT approved by the student's academic adviser. The Dissertation need not be an account of original research and may rely on secondary sources but it should be the product of work done independently and, except for the initial phase, unaided by the student. The Dissertation is supervised in the sense that candidates receive as much help and advice as they need to get their projects up and running. It is not supervised, in line with general School practice, in the sense of receiving written and/or oral feedback on the actual text of the Dissertation. Detailed advice on the nature of the academic adviser’s role, timing, deadlines and presentation will be given to students towards the end of MT. Candidates are required to submit their title, together with a brief synopsis of their proposed topic, for approval towards the end of LT.

IS415 Half Unit
eHealth: Policy, Strategy and Systems
This information is for the 2012/13 session.

Teachers responsible: Dr T Cornford, NAB3.29 and Dr Ela Klecun, NAB3.37.

Availability: Optional for students on MSc Management, Information Systems and Innovation, MSc International Health Policy and MSc Health, Population and Society. The course is also available as an outside option where regulations permit and with permission of the course coordinator.

Pre-requisites: Students should have some appreciation of information management and systems implementation issues, and some understanding of healthcare systems. A short set of readings will be provided for students who require this background understanding.

Course content: This course explores the principal issues faced by healthcare policy makers and healthcare organizations as they plan for and implement substantial healthcare information systems and infrastructures - a field increasingly referred to as eHealth. The course considers systems oriented towards administrative and clinical activities. The course is organised as follows: A survey of the history of computer-based systems in healthcare and some comparison with other sectors. The evolution and current state of information systems in primary and secondary care with international comparisons. The goal of an electronic patient record and national information infrastructures for health. Patient-centred health care and new patient roles. Assessing the transformative potential of health information systems. Shaping strategy and policy to deliver new digital systems and support infrastructures. Issues of systems implementation. Selected application domains including electronic prescribing and medicines management, telehealth and telecare. Issues of evaluation and building of an evidence base.

Teaching: 10 one and a half hour lectures, 9 one-hour seminars

Formative coursework: Seminars are based around reading and discussing selected journal articles from the course study pack. Formative feedback is provided on class participation. In addition, students complete a formative essay proposal on which written feedback is provided.

Assessment: Seminar participation (15%) One 5,000 word individual essay on an approved topic (85%).

IS416 Half Unit
eHealth: Policy, Strategy and Systems (modular)
This information is for the 2012/13 session.

Teachers responsible: Dr T Cornford, NAB3.29

Availability: Optional on MSc Health Economics, Policy and Management (modular) only.

Pre-requisites: Students should have an appreciation of information management and systems development and implementation issues, and some understanding of healthcare systems. Selected readings will be provided for students who require this background understanding as part of the pre-sessional reading programme.

Course content: This course explores the principal issues faced by healthcare policy makers and healthcare organizations as they plan for and implement substantial healthcare information systems and infrastructures. The course considers systems oriented towards both administrative and clinical activities. The course is organised as follows: A survey of the history of computer-based systems in healthcare and some comparison with other sectors. The evolution and current state of information systems in primary and secondary care with international comparisons. The electronic patient record and national information infrastructures for health. The development of healthcare policies for systems and infrastructures. Assessing the transformative potential of health information systems. Issues of systems implementation. Selected application domains including electronic prescribing and medicines management, telehealth and telecare, new patient roles. Issues of evaluation and building of an evidence base.

Teaching: 3 two-hour lectures, 6 two-hour seminars and 2 one and a half hour project essay workshops during a modular study week.
Formative coursework: Seminars are based around reading and discussing selected journal articles from the pre-sessional reading materials. Formative feedback is provided on class participation. In addition, students will complete a formative writing assignment on which written feedback will be provided.

Assessment: One 5,000 word individual essay on an approved topic (100%).
This is the same course as IS415 (non - modular) but it has different teaching and assessment arrangements.

IS418 Half Unit
Convergence and Information Management
This information is for the 2012/13 session.
Teacher responsible: Professor Jannis Kallinikos
Availability: Optional on MSc Management, Information Systems and Innovation. Optional on MSc Media and Communications, MSc Media and Communications (Media and Communication Governance), MSc Media and Communications (Research), and MSc Global Media and Communications (with Fudan or USC). Available as an outside option where regulations permit and with permission of the course teacher.
Course content: The course provides an overview of the theories and models associated with the diffusion of the internet, media convergence and the development of large cross corporate communication infrastructures. An essential aim of the course is to advance the understanding of the background developments against which information has increasingly emerged as carrier of new economic ventures and a crucial means for developing new organizational and business offerings. The course also aims to provide an account of alternative models of producing and distributing services (for example, open source software, wikipedia) that do not any more need to rely on the mediating role which markets have normally assumed. These models both contrast and complement market-mediated ventures.
The course entails the following thematic units:
Teaching: 10 x 2-hour lectures and 10 x 1-hour classes.
Formative coursework: Classes are based around reading and discussing selected journal articles from the course study pack. Written formative feedback is provided on weekly class preparation and participation. There is a mock examination.
7. Study pack with journal articles, book chapters and web publications
Assessment: 3 hour exam in the ST (100%).
IS419  Half Unit  Not available in 2012/13 Qualitative Research in Management Studies
This information is for the 2012/13 session.
Teacher responsible: Dr Susan V Scott
Availability: Optional on MSc Management, Information Systems and Innovation. Available as an outside option where regulations permit and with permission of the course teacher.
Course content: This course explores the status of qualitative research in management studies and how such research is supported and practiced across higher education, government and business sectors. The course considers the purposes that research serves in contemporary society, the infrastructures established to support research, some principal methods and approaches to qualitative enquiry, and the processes by which such research outputs are made use of. The primary focus of the course is on qualitative research in the field of information systems, socio-economic and organizational innovation, and management. However, core concepts are illustrated by drawing from a wider base including research traditions in physical sciences and medicine.
Teaching: Twenty hours of lectures and 10 one hour classes in the LT.
Formative coursework: Classes are based around reading and discussing selected journal articles from the course study pack.
Formative feedback is provided on class participation, and written feedback will be provided on a mock exam held in week 10.
Assessment: One 3-hour examination in the ST (100%).

IS470  Half Unit  Innovation and Information Systems: Concepts and Perspectives
This information is for the 2012/13 session.
Teacher responsible: Professor C Avgouropou, NAB3.22 and Dr Shirin Madon, NAB3.31.
Availability: This course is compulsory for MSc Management, Information Systems and Innovation. It is optional on MSc Management Science (Operational Research) and MSc Management. It is available as an outside option to other MSc students.
Course content: The course explores the theoretical foundations for the study of organizational and social innovation and the particular role of information systems in such change. It integrates concepts and perspectives of innovation from a range of disciplines. In completing this course students should be able to draw critically from existing theories in order to address issues of technology-based innovation, organizational change and information systems management. The lectures cover literature related to three broad themes: innovation and organizational change; information technology innovation and socio-economic change. For each of these themes we identify and discuss relevant theoretical concepts and perspectives. The discussion of theories is structured in terms of technical/factual and socially embedded approaches.
In addition we provide five formative sessions on essay preparation.
Teaching: 10 two-hour lectures, 5 one-hour lectures and 10 one-hour classes.
Formative coursework: Classes are based around reading and discussing selected journal articles from the course study pack.
Formative feedback is provided on class participation.
In addition, students will complete a formative essay of 2000 words on which feedback will be provided.
A mock examination, with questions from IS470, IS471 and IS472 is held in January.
Assessment: A 3,000 word individual literature-based essay on an approved topic, due mid December (50%).
A two-hour unseen examination taken in the ST (50%).

IS471  Half Unit  Innovating Organisational Information Technology
This information is for the 2012/13 session.
Teachers responsible: Dr Carsten Sørensen, NAB3.11
Availability: This course is compulsory on MSc Management, Information Systems and Innovation. It is optional for MSc Management Science (Operational Research) and MSc Management. It is available as an outside option to other MSc students.
Pre-requisites: A basic knowledge of computing, including hardware and software. Students are expected to have a basic understanding of the challenges of implementing and managing information systems in organisations. A short study pack of selected readings will be provided for students who require this background understanding.
Course content: The course provides students with a practical and theoretical insight into the processes and practices of developing contemporary Information Systems. The course reflects the diversity of contemporary information systems contexts; discussing how we should manage the development of complex Internet enabled systems and services.
The course focuses on new technologies and practices including cloud and grid computing, open-source development, Software as
A Service, Web2.0 mashups, mobile and ubiquitous information technology, technology to support knowledge work, innovating customer relationship management, mediating mutual adjustment and mass-scale mediated communities. The changing architectures of information systems towards an Internet based cloud are key themes of the course. Attention is also given to the development of traditional ERP and information management systems which remain important in enterprises.

Particular attention is given to problem structuring and problem design issues within such complex settings using Soft Systems Methodology and the Unified Modeling Language as a toolkit. Agile methods form a core part of the teaching, with Extreme Programming, Rapid Application Development and Internet-speed development contrasted with development formalism such as the Rational Unified Model and Capability Maturity Models.

To ensure that students gain practical experience we include a two-week intensive “bootcamp” group project in which outside consultants present a “real-world” case study of systems development and the groups undertake to rapidly analyse and design a proposal for a technical solution. This allows students to support their theoretical understanding with a strong practical experience of the pressures and difficulties of systems development today. The “bootcamp” group project provides a realistic experience of developing systems within a consulting role, and is supported by classes and question and answer session and online discussion.

Students gain an understanding of the benefits and difficulties of working within a small team under pressure.

Teaching: 10 two-hour lectures, 5 one-hour lectures and 10 one-hour seminars.

Formative coursework: Students discuss articles, practice systems development techniques, and critically evaluate their success.

Assessment: A three-hour unseen examination taken in the ST (100%).
By theoretical elements from the course. Subsequently, each real-life set of services and suggest design improvements, sensitised course small groups of students will describe an existing complex illustrative example of IT innovation throughout. Throughout the also significant risks. Mobile and ubiquitous IT will feature as an and infrastructures. This complexity, which has emerged within the diversity of contemporary IT developments to organisational and practical insights into the key issues informing the design where regulations permit and with the permission of the course

IS480 Half Unit

Information Technology and Service Innovation

This information is for the 2012/13 session.

Teacher responsible: Dr C. Sørensen, NAB 3.11 and Dr Will Venters, NAB 3.13.

Availability: This course is optional for the MSc Management, Information Systems and Innovation and MSc Management, Organisations and Governance. It is available as an outside option where regulations permit and with the permission of the course teacher.

Course content: The course aims to give the students theoretical and practical insights into the key issues informing the design of contemporary information technology (IT). The course relates the diversity of contemporary IT developments to organisational innovation and emphasises the increased complexity of this challenge with ubiquitous and pervasive technologies affording intimate everyday experiences relying on digitisation and convergence of device functionality, data, content, systems, services and infrastructures. This complexity, which has emerged within the past couple of decades both offer possibilities for innovation, but also significant risks. Mobile and ubiquitous IT will feature as an illustrative example of IT innovation throughout. Throughout the course small groups of students will describe an existing complex real-life set of services and suggest design improvements, sensitised by theoretical elements from the course. Subsequently, each individual group member will write a reflective essay based on the group discussions.

Topics addressed will be:
- Digital infrastructure innovation; Digital platform strategies; Designing technology affordance diversity; Understanding technology performances; Individual interaction intimacy; Amplified teams; The technological organisation; Global crowd innovation with IT; Global technology innovation tussles;

Assessment:
- One 5,000-word individual essay on an approved topic. (100%)
assurance perspectives of implementing risk governance, security countermeasures and business continuity planning. Particular topics include: security management, governance, standards and certification; evaluation of security technology; interoperability; identity management, trust and risk especially in online services and eGovernment.

Teaching: 10 two-hour lectures, 10 one-hour classes (LT).

Formative coursework: Classes are used to discuss relevant papers and topics and to debate competing approaches to managing information risk. In week 7 students will develop their essay proposal into a draft online. This is assessed by week 9 and acts as formative feedback for the overall assessment.

Assessment: 1,000 word essay proposal in week 7 of LT (10%).

Based on this, feedback is provided for a research essay of up to 5,000 words on the agreed topic (90%).

---

IS485 Half Unit

Management and Economics of E-Business

This information is for the 2012/13 session.

Teachers responsible: Dr Steve Smithson, NAB 3.31 and Dr Antonio Cordella, NAB 3.30

Availability: Optional for MSc Management, Information Systems and Innovation and MSc Management, Organisations and Governance. It is available as an outside option to other MSc students.

Pre-requisites: None, but a basic understanding of information systems within organisational contexts is assumed. Students are expected to have a basic understanding of the challenges of implementing and managing information systems in organisations. A short study pack of selected readings will be provided for students who require the background understanding.

Course content: The course discusses managerial, economics and innovation aspects of online business. History and foundations of online business are introduced to discuss the managerial challenges of the different e-business practices: Business-to-consumer (B2C) and Business-to-business (B2B) systems; e-marketing; intermediation; e-procurement; and IT in supply chain management. Economic theories, such as transaction costs and principal agent, are used to discuss the impact of e-business on market structure and organisation. The course introduces practical and management aspects of the impact of diverse technologies on inter-organisational relationships, new organisational forms, such as networked organisations, and electronic markets. Strategies for e-business innovation including web 2.0 and similar developments are also discussed.

Teaching: 10 two-hour lectures, ten one-hour classes.

Formative coursework: Classes are based around reading and discussing selected journal articles from the course study pack and case studies. Formative feedback is provided through class presentations and a formative essay of 1000 words on which feedback will be provided.

Assessment: A three-hour examination in the ST (100%).

---

IS489 Half Unit

Data Governance: Privacy, Openness and Transparency

This information is for the 2012/13 session.

Teachers responsible: Dr E Whitley NAB 3.32 and Dr T Cornford NAB 3.29

Availability: This course is optional for MSc Management, Information Systems and Innovation and MSc Public Management and Governance. We welcome other MSc students to follow the course, and previous students have come from Development, Government, Law, Management, Media and Communications, Social Policy and Sociology.

Course content: The course provides a detailed consideration of the key elements of the concept of informational privacy, the open data movement and freedom of information. These topics lie at the intersection of diverse contemporary themes issues including, public sector reform, human rights, digital ecosystems and social networking, and the global and national regulation of business. The course content is international in focus, and reviews contemporary issues arising from new technologies, new policies of governments, new practices and business models in the private sector. Topics include personal privacy and identity systems; motivations for information sharing and transparency and its potential for driving beneficial change; transformations in the management of government information and processing practices; the technological and regulatory challenges faced by public sector and business; the protection of sensitive personal data including medical and financial information; data-mining in the context of national security and anti-terrorism policies; communications surveillance policies; behavioural studies of privacy attitudes and the evolution of trust and consent in online environments. The course enables students to develop their understanding of the challenges presented by new informational regimes, their regulatory development and emerging governance structures.

Formative coursework: Classes are based around reading and discussing selected journal articles from the course study pack. Formative feedback is provided on class participation. In addition, students will complete a formative essay of 2,000 words on which feedback will be provided.

Teaching: There are 20 hours of lectures in the LT and 10 one-hour classes.

Indicative reading: The course covers a wide spectrum of aspects of privacy, human rights, law and regulation, and data protection, so we make use of components from the following texts:

Assessment: 10% class participation. 20% 800 word “magazine” article that summarises the key argument of the research essay. 70% 5000 word research essay on an approved topic.

IS499
Dissertation: MSc MISI
This information is for the 2012/13 session.

Teachers responsible: All members of the Information Systems and Innovation Group are involved in dissertation support.

Availability: Compulsory for MSc Management, Information Systems and Innovation.

Course content: The aim of the dissertation is for students to pursue an independent piece of research within the field of information systems. The dissertation is a quantitative or qualitative investigation in the field. It may be either a theoretical or empirical piece of research. Students must obtain the approval of their advisor before embarking on any research. The course IS490 Study Skills and Research Methods provides background material on undertaking dissertation work.

Assessment: Three paper copies of the dissertation must be handed in to the IS Group on a specified date in late August/early September. An electronic version of the dissertation must also be submitted. Penalties will be applied to any late submission. The word limit for the dissertation is 10,000 words. The dissertation is critical to assessment on the programme.

---

LL400
Jurisprudence and Legal Theory
This information is for the 2012/13 session.

Teacher responsible: Ms A Barron, NAB6.05

Availability: For LLM students, MSc Regulation, MSc Regulation (Research), MSc Law, Anthropology and Society students, and other Master’s level students with permission.

This course is capped at 30 students. Students must apply through Graduate Course Choice on LSEforYou.

Course content: The aim of this course is to situate the central debates in jurisprudence against the backdrop of major themes in modern European philosophy, especially the idea of autonomy. Drawing on the philosophical tradition that connects Kant to Habermas, we illuminate and re-frame the questions that figures such as Hart, Kelsen, Finnis and Fuller have identified as defining jurisprudential inquiry: What explains the foundations of legal orders and their durability across space and time? What is the connection between law and sovereignty? What accounts for the normativity of law? What is the relationship between legality and legitimacy? At the same time, and also invoking an alternative tradition of modern European thought that includes Marx, Nietzsche, and Foucault, we open up other questions that have been neglected by jurisprudence: What forces propel law’s historical evolution? What are the material conditions for law’s existence as a legitimate structure of authoritative norms? What are the connections between law and forms of power that are not encoded in the forms of sovereignty? And most fundamentally: Is law necessary, or rather antithetical, to processes of individual and collective self-determination?

Teaching: 20 two-hour seminars.

Formative coursework: Students are asked to submit two 2,000 word essays.

Indicative reading: Readings will be provided in advance on a weekly basis.

Assessment: One two-hour formal examination contributing 50% of the final mark and one extended essay (8,000 words) contributing 50% of the final mark. The extended essay will meet the LLM Writing Requirement.

LL402
Alternative Dispute Resolution
This information is for the 2012/13 session.

Teacher responsible: Professor Linda Mulcahy, NAB 7.15

Availability: For LLM degree and MSc Law, Anthropology and Society. No previous knowledge of alternative dispute resolution is required.
This course is capped at 60 students. Students must apply through Graduate Course Choice on LSEforYou.

Course content: The principal focus of the course is upon methods of resolving disputes other than by adjudication. The course brings together a number of case studies. It is divided into two parts: following an examination of the history of the "informal justice" movement and contemporary debates surrounding it, the focus of the first part of the course is on the general features of negotiation and mediation and on the contemporary transformation of court processes. In the second half the course examines alternatives to adjudication in particular subject areas (including commercial, family and international dispute resolution), as well as giving students some opportunity for regional specialization. The course is designed to complement the option on Commercial Arbitration.

Teaching: Teaching will be by 22 two-hour (LL402) seminars, held weekly at LSE.

Formative coursework: Students are asked to prepare one class presentation and to submit one detailed essay plan.

R Baldwin, C Hood & C Scott, Socio-Legal Reader on Regulation (OUP, 1998); Responsive Regulation: Transcending the Deregulation Debate by Ian Ayres and John Braithwaite (OUP, 1992).

Assessment: One two-hour formal examination (50%) and one 8,000 word extended essay (50%). The extended essay will meet the LLM Writing Requirement.

LL403 Copyright and Related Rights
This information is for the 2012/13 session.

Teacher responsible: Ms A Barron, NAB 6.05

Availability: For LLM students and other Master’s level students with permission. This course is capped at 30 students. Students must apply through Graduate Course Choice on LSEforYou.

Course content: An examination of the law of copyright and related rights, in the context of an analysis of the history of the institution of copyright; the arguments that have been advanced to justify or oppose its expansion; its role as an instrument of cultural policy; and its relationship with the technologies, institutions and investment strategies that sustain the global culture industries. Topics to be covered will include: the history and conceptual basis of copyright; the major rules and doctrines of UK, EU and international copyright law; current trends in the development of copyright law and the critiques that have been directed at these trends; and case studies of particular areas of contemporary interest. The starting point for the analysis throughout will be UK copyright law, but the course will involve a substantial comparative element, with US, French and German law serving as the main bases of comparison.

Teaching: There will be one two-hour seminar weekly.

Formative coursework: Students are asked to submit two 2,000 word essays.

Indicative reading: Students will receive a detailed reading list for each topic.

Assessment: One three-hour written paper.

LL407 Half Unit Media and Communications Regulation
This information is for the 2012/13 session.

Teacher responsible: Professor R Baldwin, NAB7.08

Availability: This is an optional paper for LSE LLM students, MSc Public Management and Governance, MPA Programme (all streams), MSc Law and Accounting, MSc Public Policy and Administration, MSc Public Policy and Administration (Research) and the LSE-PKU Double Degree in Public Administration and Government. Other MSc students may take the paper by arrangement. This paper is NOT available for students of the MSc Regulation programme. This course is capped at 30 students. Students must apply through Graduate Course Choice on LSEforYou.

Teaching: 10 weekly two-hour seminars in a variable format: some lecture-discussions, some student-paper-led discussions, some debates and guest speakers where appropriate.

Formative coursework: All students are expected to submit one non-assessed essay and to prepare one presentation on a topic assigned to them.

Assessment: Consists of 100% exam in ST debates and guest speakers where appropriate.

Formative coursework: All students will submit one 1,500 word essay. Students will also be required to submit an essay plan and annotated bibliography for the assessed essay.

Assessment: One 8,000 word extended essay (100%). The extended essay will meet the LLM Writing Requirement.

---

LL409  Not available in 2012/13

Human Rights in the Developing World

This information is for the 2012/13 session.

Teacher responsible: Dr Chaloka Beyani, NAB 7.04

Availability: For LLM, MSc Human Rights and MSc International Migration and Public Policy students. This course is capped at 30 students. Students must apply through Graduate Course Choice on LSEforYou.

Course content: The course looks at how human rights are experienced in the developing global South. It reflects on the question of what socio-cultural significance human rights standards can and do have in the multi-faceted ‘developing world’, and then examines the role and impact of (domestic) law for their realization. Different types of rights and case studies of their legal enforcement in diverse ‘developing country’ jurisdictions will serve as illustrations of the multiple ‘functionings’ of human rights in this realm.

1. What are human rights? What is the ‘developing world’? Why ‘human rights in the developing world’?
3. Global, international, and domestic human rights discourse
4. The form and substance of human rights: international law, constitutional bills of rights and human rights acts and their core contents and aspirations as well as specificities of the ‘developing world’.
5. Human rights and (domestic) courts: from legalization to judicialization. Civil and political rights in transnational judicial conversations.
6. The (domestic) judicialization of social and economic rights: questions of justiciability, enforcement and impact. ‘Human rights and’...development, poverty, and global economic regimes as reflected in the domestic context.
7. ‘Human rights and’...(human) security.
8. ‘Human rights and’...the conundrums of the developing nation-state - the rights of minorities, disadvantaged groups and the economically excluded.
9. ‘Human rights and’...health and environmental protection.

Teaching: 23 two-hour seminars, including guest lecturers.

Formative coursework: Students are asked to participate in regular group Q&A exercises which are posted on the course’s Moodle site.

A full reading list will be available through the course’s Moodle page.

Assessment: The course is examined by one extended essay of 8000 words, counting for 50% of the final grade, and one two-hour exam (with 15 minutes reading time) also counting for 50%. The extended essay will meet the LLM Writing Requirement.

---

LL416  Not available in 2012/13

Regulating New Medical Technologies

This information is for the 2012/13 session.

Teacher responsible: Professor Emily Jackson, NAB 7.12

Availability: For LLM students, and students taking MSc Law, Anthropology and Society. Also available to other MSc students with permission from their programme director and the consent of the course convenor.

This course is capped at 30 students. Students must apply through Graduate Course Choice on LSEforYou.

Course content: Course content includes:

1. Bioethics
2. Assisted Conception
3. Regulation of genetic information; direct to consumer genetic testing; biobanks
4. Preimplantation and prenatal genetic diagnosis; sex selection; ‘designer’ babies; saviour siblings
5. Abortion and artificial wombs
6. Organ transplantation and xenotransplantation
7. Markets in human tissue.
8. Stem cell research
9. Cloning
10. End of life decisions; euthanasia

Teaching: A weekly of two-hour seminar.

Formative coursework: Students are asked to submit two 2,000 word essays.

Indicative reading: A detailed reading list will be provided.

Assessment: This course is assessed by a 15,000 word dissertation due at the end of August.

---

LL418  Not available in 2012/13

European Administrative Law

This information is for the 2012/13 session.

Teacher responsible: Professor Carol Harlow, NAB 6.02 This course is jointly taught with UCL where the responsible teacher is Professor Richard Rawlings.

Availability: For the LLM and MSc Public Management and Governance. The course is open to students with and without a law degree. Students of public administration are welcome. A knowledge of the structure of European institutions is desirable. This course is capped at 30 students. Students must apply through Graduate Course Choice on LSEforYou.

Course content: The course is concerned with the development of a system of European Union administrative law. It focuses on the development of European governance structures, the design of regulatory frameworks and on institutions for control of the administration; on principles of, and structures and processes for, securing accountability; on the role and contribution of courts and the European Ombudsman. Case studies will be used to illustrate the place of law in the administrative process.

While the course draws on administrative law as practised in the Member States, and also in the USA, direct comparison is not anticipated.
A. Law and Administration in the European Union

Teaching: There will be 21 two-hour seminars. A full weekly seminar list of appropriate readings will be provided on Moodle. Written assignments will be distributed as appropriate throughout the course of the year. Opportunities will be provided for student presentations. This course is jointly taught with UCL.

Formative coursework: Students are asked to submit two 2,000 word essays.

Assessment: One three-hour examination.

LL425

Rethinking International Law

This information is for the 2012/13 session.

Teacher responsible: Professor Susan Marks, NAB 7.14.

Availability: For LLM Students and (with the permission of the teachers responsible) students on other LSE Master's programmes. This course is capped at 30 students. Students must apply through Graduate Course Choice on LSEforYou.

Course content: At a time when international law is said to be both pivotal and irrelevant, we investigate its contribution and limits as a force in global affairs. This course is designed for students who already have some acquaintance with public international law and wish to take a step back from what they have learned to date, with a view to developing new modes of understanding and enquiry. Course readings encompass both legal literature and writing by scholars from other disciplines, such as history, anthropology and geography. The course is divided into two parts. In the first part, our focus is on the interaction between international law and a range of global issues, problems and themes that include war, poverty, governance, territory, humanity and empire. In the second part, we explore some questions concerning the character of international law and how it is studied. What is at stake in debates over whether international law is ‘really law’? Who are the key actors in international legal institutions and processes? Inasmuch as there exists a range of different ‘approaches’ to international law, what are the implications of these for analysis, policy and action?

Teaching: This course is taught by two-hour weekly seminars. Students are expected to have undertaken the set reading for each seminar, and to be prepared to take part in the discussion.

Formative coursework: Formative coursework comprises two essays of between 1500 and 2500 words, one in the Michaelmas Term and the other in the Lent Term.

Assessment: The course is assessed by a three-hour exam in the Summer Term (100%).

LL423

Not available in 2012/13

European Monetary and Financial Services Law

This information is for the 2012/13 session.

Teacher responsible: Professor Niamh Moloney, NAB 7.16

Availability: For LLM, MSc Regulation and MSc Regulation (Research) students and for other Master's level students with permission.

This course is capped at 30 students. Students must apply through Graduate Course Choice on LSEforYou.

Course content: This course seeks to provide an in-depth understanding of the institutional and legal underpinnings of the European financial economy by examining EU monetary and banking law and the regulatory regime which governs the EU’s capital markets. It examines the institutional structures and the legal rules which underpin the EU’s monetary system and its integrated banking market. It also considers the harmonized regulatory regime which applies to capital market actors across the Member States and which supports the integrated market.

Topics covered include: the integration project; the free movement of capital and current payments; central banking and monetary law in the European Monetary Union; banks and free movement rules; the harmonized regulatory regime which applies to banks; the institutional structure for banking supervision; retail banking services and consumer protection; the capital markets and the EU; the mechanisms used to integrate the capital market; market access and the investment services passport; the regulation of conduct of business and prudent regulation under the Markets in Financial Instruments Directive 2004; the liberalization of order execution and trading markets; the retail markets; investment products; the prospectus and disclosure regime; and the institutional structure for law-making and supervision. Course coverage may vary slightly from year to year.

This course is also available in the form of two half-courses: European Monetary and Banking Law LL4/9G (MT) and European Capital Markets Law LL4/9 (LT). Students who wish to follow the full course must register for LL425.

Teaching: 20 two-hour seminars in MT and LT.

Formative coursework: Students are asked to submit one 2,000 word essay in MT and one 2,000 word essay in LT.

Assessment: One three-hour unseen examination paper in ST.
LL430

Competition Law

This information is for the 2012/13 session.

Teacher responsible: Dr Pablo Ibanez Colomo, NAB 7.18.

Availability: For LLM, MSc Law and Accounting (with permission of the Law and Accounting course director), MSc Management and Regulation of Risk, MSc Risk and Finance, MSc Accounting, Organisations and Institutions and other Masters level students (with permission of the teachers responsible).

This course is capped at 60 students. Students must apply through the Law and Accounting course director.

Course content: This course will focus on the role of boards of directors in large public companies and groups of companies. It will deal with the legal regulation of agency problems arising between the board and shareholders as a class; between the board/majority shareholders and minority shareholders; and between the board and other stakeholder groups, notably creditors and employees. Although the main focus will be on board and shareholder relationships, the aim of the course is to develop and apply a framework of analysis which illuminates relations between the board and all stakeholder groups. The course will be taught largely on a comparative basis, focussing on English, US and German law.

Teaching: 20 two-hour sessions weekly.

Formative coursework: Students are asked to submit two 2,000 word essays.

Assessment: One three-hour examination.

---

LL433

Not available in 2012/13

International and Comparative Commercial Arbitration

This information is for the 2012/13 session.

Teacher responsible: Dr Jan Kleinheisterkamp, NAB 7.34.

Availability: For LLM students and other Master’s level students with permission.

Course content: This course, which is divided into two parts, is designed to provide an overview of domestic and international arbitration as a means of settling commercial disputes. The first part of the course (MT) examines the fundamentals of international commercial arbitration and conveys the basic knowledge necessary for practice and for engaging with more advanced issues of international arbitration, which are the subject of the second part of this course (LT). Both parts of this course are available in the form of two half-courses: Fundamentals of International Commercial Arbitration (LL4C5) and Advanced Issues of International Commercial Arbitration (LL4C6).

Teaching: Weekly two-hour lectures with fortnightly back-up classes in MT and weekly two-hour seminars in LT plus six evening specialist seminars. Three revision sessions in ST.

Formative coursework: Students are asked to submit two 2,000 word essays.

Indicative reading: Detailed reading lists will be provided during the course.

Assessment: A formal three-hour examination.

---

LL435

Corporate Governance

This information is for the 2012/13 session.

Teacher responsible: Dr C Gerner-Beuerle, NAB 6.32.

Availability: For LLM, MSc Law and Accounting (with permission of the Law and Accounting course director), MSc Management and Regulation of Risk, MSc Risk and Finance, MSc Accounting, Organisations and Institutions and other Masters level students (with permission of the teachers responsible).

This course is capped at 60 students. Students must apply through Graduate Course Choice on LSEforYou.

Course content: This course is a comprehensive study of the main features of competition law. While the focus is on EU competition law, reference will be made to the laws of other jurisdictions (e.g. the United States and the UK) when these offer relevant points for comparison. The first part of the course examines the history and aims of competition law. It considers the role of economic analysis and its limitations in the light of non-economic considerations. The second part is a review of the major substantive fields: restrictive practices; the regulation of monopolies and dominant positions; distribution and cooperation agreements and merger control.

The third part addresses the public and private enforcement of competition law and the final section considers its interface with economic regulation.

Teaching: One two-hour seminar each week.

Formative coursework: Students are asked to submit two 2,000 word essays.

A full reading list is distributed at the beginning of the course and each seminar sheet will contain references to relevant literature.

Assessment: A three-hour open book examination in the ST (100%).

---

LL437

Law of Corporate Finance

This information is for the 2012/13 session.

Teacher responsible: Dr. Eva Micheler, NAB 7.35 and Professor Niamh Moloney, NAB 7.16.

Availability: For LLM, MSc Law and Accounting, MSc Management and Regulation of Risk and MSc Risk and Finance students and other Master’s level students with permission.

Course content: This course consists of two half courses, The Law of Corporate Finance A (LL4G8) and The Law of Corporate Finance B (LL4K8).

The Law of Corporate Finance A (LL4G8) examines the legal issues arising out of the operation of the capital markets as intermediaries between investors and issuers; it focuses on the regulation of capital-raising through the markets. The topics covered include e.g. capital structures, identifying and protecting shareholder rights, issuing shares, initial legal capital and alternatives, dividends, reduction of capital and share buy-backs, reform and moving to a solvency test, property rights in shares and financial assistance. The course will focus on English law, but will also look at other legal systems in particular at German law. The Law of Corporate Finance B (LL4K8) examines the legal issues arising out of the operation of the capital markets as intermediaries between investors and issuers; it focuses on the regulation of capital-raising through the markets. The topics covered include: disclosure theory; the role of trading markets in finance-raising and their regulation; prospectus disclosure; ongoing disclosure; market abuse; the debt markets and regulation; and the internationalization of capital-raising and harmonization. The course will focus on English law but reference will be made to the relevant EU rules. Contents may vary slightly from year to year.

Teaching: Two-hour weekly lecture and fortnightly one-hour back up classes.

Formative coursework: Students will have the opportunity to write a formative essay for each of the classes. All students are strongly encouraged to write at least one essay.

Indicative reading: Reading will be prescribed for each seminar. Sample texts for The Law of Corporate Finance A include: Gower
LL439
Insolvency Law: Principles and Policy
This information is for the 2012/13 session.
Teacher responsible: Professor Vanessa Finch, NAB 6.09
Availability: For LLM and MSc Law and Accounting students.
This course is capped at 30 students. Students must apply through Graduate Course Choice on LSEforYou.
Course content: This course focuses primarily on registered companies and is concerned with the principles and policies underlying the legal treatment of corporate insolvency and corporate rescue. The course considers how the nature of the problems raised by insolvency varies and is dependent on the legal identity of the insolvent (for example, whether the insolvent is a company with limited liability or an individual running a business) and the course examines the legal responses to these problems. The formal legal procedures available for dealing with companies in distress are analysed as are informal approaches to corporate failure. The impact of these procedures and approaches on third parties, for example directors and employees, is also considered.

Part I - Role, Objectives and Characteristics of Insolvency Law
1. Introduction: Aims and Objectives
2. Outline of procedures
3. The legal identity of the enterprise, the significance of limited liability and the problem of corporate groups
4. The administration of insolvency processes: insolvency practitioners, the Insolvency Service and turnaround professionals

Part II - Causes of Corporate Failure. Who Goes bankrupt?
Part III - Averting Liquidation and Bankruptcy
5. Rescue Procedures: informal rescues
6. Rescue Procedures: formal corporate rescue procedures
7. Business rescues - comparative approaches: USA, Chapter 11

Part IV - Liquidation and Bankruptcy
8. Control of Procedures
9. Setting Aside Transactions
10. The Pari Passu Principle and Preferential Claims
11. Secured Creditors and Security Devices

Part V - Repercussions of Insolvency on Individuals
13. Company directors
14. Employees

Teaching: Weekly seminars (LL439) of two hours duration throughout the Session.

Assessment: A three-hour written examination at the end of the course.

LL440
Corporate Accountability: Topics in Legal and Accounting Regulation
This information is for the 2012/13 session.
Teachers responsible: D Kershaw (NAB 7.28), and others.
Availability: This is the core compulsory course for students taking the MSc in Law and Accounting and is not available to other students.
Course content: The purpose of this course is to acquaint students with the central issues faced by law and accounting in relation to problems of corporate accountability and regulation. It is interdisciplinary in focus, and provides students from varying backgrounds with new perspectives and leads to in-depth study by way of a Long Essay.

Topics may include:
- Regulatory institutions and techniques: statutes, markets, financial reporting
- The interrelated functions and the rights and duties of directors and auditors
- Company law and stakeholders: shareholders, creditors, employees and the ‘public interest’
- Models of the corporate form: corporate groups
- Stakeholder reporting and environmental audit
- Audit committees, internal controls; the audit process and auditor liability.
- Form, substance and the ‘true and fair view’ in financial reporting
- Accounting standards and company law; capital maintenance; executive remuneration; accounting standards and tax law
- Accounting for, and regulating, networks, SMEs and micro companies.
- Regulating the professions; overview of functions of accountants and lawyers in corporate governance and the relation between them
- Other issues in accounting and the law may be substituted/added.

Assessment: A Long Essay of up to 10,000 words due by 20 August (40%) and one formal two-hour examination in May/June (60%). Students will be required to answer three questions.

LL442
International Business Transactions I: Litigation
This information is for the 2012/13 session.
Teachers responsible: Professor T C Hartley, NAB 6.02 and Mr Jacco A Bomhoff, NAB 6.29.
Availability: For LLM students intending to offer this subject in the examinations. Other students may attend only with the prior permission of Professor Hartley. Students must have a good general knowledge of law. Knowledge of conflict of laws (private international law) would be useful but is not essential.
This course is capped at 30 students. Students must apply through Graduate Course Choice on LSEforYou.
Course content: Litigation resulting from international business transactions.
The following topics will be studied from the point of view of English, Commonwealth, American and (where relevant) European Union law:

1. Judicial jurisdiction in cases involving international business transactions, especially:
   a. Jurisdiction over companies and individuals;
   b. Product liability actions, defamation, intellectual property and multinationals in the Third World;
   c. Branches and agents;
   d. Constitutional limitations on jurisdiction in the United States;
   e. Forum-selection clauses;
   f. Forum non conveniens and anti-suit injunctions;
   g. Lis pendens.
2. Obtaining evidence in transnational business litigation: extraterritorial application of the forum’s own discovery rules, international judicial assistance, blocking statutes and injunctions.
3. Provisional remedies and procedural problems in transnational business litigation: freezing orders (Mareva injunctions), search orders (Anton Piller orders) and equivalent remedies.
4. Recognition and enforcement of foreign judgments in commercial matters.
5. Recognition and enforcement of foreign judgments in commercial matters.

Teaching: Seminars: Sessional (LL442).

Formative coursework: Students are asked to submit two pieces of written work.

Indicative reading:

Further reading:

Assessment: A three-hour written examination (100%).
LL444  Not available in 2012/13
Constitutional Theory
This information is for the 2012/13 session.
Teacher responsible: Professor Martin Loughlin, NAB 7.07
Availability: Available to LLM students; available to other Master's students with permission of the Teacher responsible.
Course content: This course examines the role of constitutions and the nature of constitutional discourse. It considers the ways in which theorists have advanced understanding of constitutions and devised solutions to a range of constitutional questions. The course deals with the following topics: the scope of constitutional theory; the constitution of government; constitutional politics; representation; sovereignty; constituent power; constitutional rights; the rule of law; liberalism and republicanism; constitutional adjudication; cultural pluralism; theories of federalism; the cosmopolitan polity.
Teaching: The course involves a weekly two-hour seminar during the MT and LT. Detailed reading lists are provided in advance of seminars and students are expected to participate in discussions.
Formative coursework: Students are asked to submit two 2,000 word essays.
Indicative reading: Much of the reading for the course consists of classic texts in political thought. Many are available online and the course is delivered through Moodle. The standard text (covering the first half of the course only) is Martin Loughlin, The Idea of Public Law (OUP, 2003). As preliminary reading, students are advised to read: R C van Caenegem, An Historical Introduction to Western Constitutional Law (Cambridge University Press, 1995).
Assessment: There is a two-hour formal examination in June, which counts for 50% of the marks for the course. In addition, an extended essay of 8,000 words (due on the dissertation deadline) will contribute 50% of the marks for the course. The extended essay will meet the LLM Writing Requirement.

LL445  International Criminal Law
This information is for the 2012/13 session.
Teachers responsible: Dr Stephen Humphreys, NAB S.12 (course convenor).
Guest lecturers will include: Prof. Gerry Simpson (University of Melbourne)
Availability: For LLM students, MSc Criminal Justice Policy and MSc Human Rights.
Course content: This full-unit course on international criminal law seeks to place this burgeoning field of practice in its historical and political context. The course will examine the rationale for the introduction of criminal procedures and institutions at international level, and the degree to which the field is achieving - and is capable of achieving - its stated objectives. It will cover the conceptual and practical problems associated with the turn to legalised retribution and the criminalisation of hitherto political activities, with a view to assessing the field's trajectory and progress.
The course looks back at the history of and background to international criminal law: developments at Versailles following the First World War, at Nuremberg and Tokyo following the Second, with regard to the Balkans and Rwanda following the Cold War, and since. It will examine the four core crimes set out in the Rome Statute of the International Criminal Court (war crimes, crimes against humanity, genocide and aggression), as well as recent discussions surrounding the crimes of torture and terrorism. It will look at institutional arrangements - at the ICC and the ad hoc and 'hybrid' tribunals - as well as procedural issues, including immunity. It will also cover corporate complicity in international crimes.
Teaching: Teaching is by seminar. There is normally one two-hour seminar each week. There may be back-up classes, (up to four per term).
Formative coursework: Students may submit two 2,000 word essays. Students are asked to choose from past exam papers and submit by the end of Week 10 in Michaelmas and Lent terms respectively.
Assessment: A three-hour written examination, based on the entire syllabus (100%).

LL446  Regulation: Legal and Political Aspects
This information is for the 2012/13 session.
Teacher responsible: Professor Robert Baldwin, NAB 7.08
Availability: LLM, MSc Law and Accounting students and other MSc students when places available (MPA Programme (all streams). This course is capped at 30 students. Students must apply through Graduate Course Choice on LSEforYou.
Course content: The course aims to give students an essential grounding in theories of regulation encountered in the public policy/administration/legal literature. It examines competing explanations of the origins, development and reform of regulation; the styles and processes of regulation; issues surrounding enforcement; the inter-organisational and international aspects of regulation; and questions of evaluation and accountability.
Teaching: The course is taught by 22, two-hour sessions in variable format (some lecture-discussions, student-paper led discussions, debates).
Formative coursework: All students are expected to produce three written essays plus short presentations on topics assigned to them.
Assessment: Students will be assessed by a three-hour examination in June. The examination will involve answering three questions in total out of between 10 and 12 in total.

LL447  International Economic Law
This information is for the 2012/13 session.
Teacher responsible: Dr Andrew Lang, NAB 6.19
Availability: For LLM students and MSc Development Studies.
This course is capped at 30 students. Students must apply through Graduate Course Choice on LSEforYou.
Course content: The aim of the course is to study in detail those aspects of international law which are concerned with international economic relations. We will concentrate primarily on the principles, norms and policies of international trade governed by the World Trade Organization, and may also cover some aspects of international monetary relations within the IMF, and international development assistance applied by the World Bank.
The course topics may include:
Teaching: There is a two-hour seminar each week, sessional.
Formative coursework: Students are asked to submit one 2,000 word essay.

Assessment: There is a three-hour formal examination in May or June, based on the full syllabus. The paper counts for 100% of the assessment of the course.

LL452
The International Law of Armed Conflict and the Use of Force

This information is for the 2012/13 session.

Teachers responsible: Dr Stephen Humphreys, NAB 5.12, Dr Andrew Lang, NAB 6.19.

Availability: For LLM students and MSc Human Rights. Some prior knowledge of international law is useful but not essential. This course is capped at 30 students. Students must apply through Graduate Course Choice on LSEforYou.

Course content: The aim of this course is to develop an understanding of the principles of international law which regulate the use of force in international society.

The course examines both the law relating to when it is permissible to use force (The jus ad bellum) and the law governing the conduct of hostilities once the decision to resort to force has been taken (The Law of Armed Conflict or International Humanitarian Law).

The first half of the course is devoted to the law on resort to force. It concentrates on the prohibition of resort to force in Article 2(4) of the United Nations Charter and the exceptions to that prohibition. This part of the course looks in detail at the right of self-defence, humanitarian intervention, intervention to promote democracy, self-determination and to protect nationals, reprisals and intervention in civil war. The use of force by or with the authorization of the United Nations is also considered.

The second half of the course is concerned with the conduct of hostilities and takes a critical approach to the international regulation and facilitation of armed conflict. It covers the laws governing the means and methods of warfare (sometimes known as ‘Hague’ law) and those regarding ‘protected’ groups hors de combat (‘Geneva’ law) in times of armed conflict and occupation.

The course will further consider the practice of ‘lawfare’ more generally: that is, recourse to law as an aspect of waging war. This part of the course looks in detail at the right of self-defence, humanitarian intervention, intervention to promote democracy, self-determination and to protect nationals, reprisals and intervention in civil war. The use of force by or with the authorization of the United Nations is also considered.

Teaching: Teaching is by seminar. There is normally one two-hour seminar each week.

Formative coursework: Students are asked to submit two 2,000 word essays.

Indicative reading: A detailed reading list will be provided.

LL453
International Human Rights

This information is for the 2012/13 session.

Teachers responsible: Dr Margot Salomon, TW2, 11th floor, Professor Susan Marks, NAB 7.14, Dr Chaloka Beyani, NAB 7.04.

Availability: For LLM students, MSc Development Studies, and MSc Human Rights. and MSc International Migration and Public Policy.

Pre-requisites: Some knowledge of public international law is required.

Course content: This course is concerned with the international protection of human rights and its relation to a range of contemporary global problems involving deprivation, violence and exclusion. Recurring questions will be: in what ways does the international protection of human rights help in alleviating these problems, and in what ways does it instead serve to sustain the conditions for their occurrence? How might we understand the contribution of human rights to addressing contemporary ills and what are their particular limitations? Through the consideration of topical thematic issues, students will learn about, and critically analyse, human rights concepts, norms, institutions and actors.

The course is composed of five sections. The first section begins with a review of the key institutions and instruments which define the international human rights regime. The second is concerned with human rights and deprivation. Here we relate human rights to such issues as globalisation, poverty and climate change. The third section addresses human rights and violence. Here we consider the bearing of human rights for counter-terrorism, violence against women, war, and refugee protection. The fourth section of the course explores issues around identity, including non-discrimination and the rights of indigenous peoples. At the end of the course we take a step back to reflect on debates within and about international human rights, and explore the contribution, limits and further possibilities of this regime as a force for emancipatory change.

Teaching: This course is taught by two hour weekly seminars (10 in MT, 10 in LT, and an exam preparation seminar in ST) and fortnightly classes of 1 hour.

Formative coursework: Two 1,500 word essays.

Indicative reading: A comprehensive reading list will be provided.

Assessment: A three-hour exam in June (100%). Students are usually given 10 questions and must answer four.

LL454
Human Rights of Women

This information is for the 2012/13 session.

Teacher responsible: Christine Chinkin, Professor of International Law, NAB 6.15.

Availability: For LLM, MSc Human Rights and MSc International Migration and Public Policy.

This course is capped at 30 students. Students must apply through Graduate Course Choice on LSEforYou.

Course content: An introduction to a gender based analysis of the mainstream normative and institutional frameworks for human rights.

The course explores the following issues: the concept of women's human rights; international instruments guaranteeing civil and political and economic and social rights; the approach of the mainstream human rights mechanisms and institutions, including the UN Human Rights treaty bodies and special mechanisms and the European, American, and African regional human rights systems; the UN Commission on the Status of Women and the development of specific normative standards relating to women; the background, drafting, content and experience of the Convention on the Elimination of All Forms of Discrimination against Women 1979 and its Optional Protocol 1999; the work of the Committee on the Elimination of Discrimination Against Women in monitoring States, elaborating general recommendations and making decisions and initiating inquiries under the Optional Protocol; debates around universalism and cultural particularity; the establishment of new standards at the global and regional levels; violence against women, including in armed conflict and trafficking; economic and social rights and the right to development; examples of domestic protection of women’s rights, including India and Commonwealth Africa; the rights of the girl child.

Teaching: This course is taught by two-hour weekly seminars in MT and LT.

Formative coursework: Students are asked to submit a 1,500 word essay in both the MT and LT.

Indicative reading: Detailed readings are arranged for each class.

Assessment: A three-hour examination (100%).
LL455
International Tax Systems
This information is for the 2012/13 session.
Teacher responsible: Eduardo Baistrocchi, NAB 7.33.
Availability: For the LLM degree and MSc Law and Accounting.
This course is capped at 30 students. Students must apply through Graduate Course Choice on LSEforYou.
Pre-requisites: Students should have at least a basic knowledge of a tax system of a country (not necessarily the UK) or be studying (or with permission following) LL421 Business Taxation and LL422 Principles of Taxation.
Course content: This course examines how taxation applies to transactions in the international context, and considers tax law that operates at the international and supra-national levels. The focus is on rules that operate at an international or supra-national level, though we will look at some domestic rules that are important to international taxation and that can be found in a number of important tax systems. The course will look at a series of international transactions, starting with the very basic example of an export and import of goods and culminating with the treatment of some complex and artificial structures. The features of tax systems will be studied through these transactions, particularly those features found in double tax conventions and in the law of the European Union. In the first part of the course this will be supplemented by introductions to some key foundation concepts that are needed in the study of international taxation. Throughout the course examples will be drawn from the tax systems of a range of countries.
Teaching: Two-hour seminars weekly.
Formative coursework: Students are asked to submit two 2,000 word essays.
Indicative reading: Detailed reading lists will be provided during the course via Moodle.
General reading: Primary materials in K van Raad (ed), Materials on International and EC Tax Law (ITC Leiden); P Baker, Double Taxation Conventions and International Tax Law; Terra and Wattel, European Tax Law (Kluwer); publications of: the OECD; the UN; the European Commission; HM Revenue and Customs; Internal Revenue Service.
General journals: Bulletin for International Taxation (formerly Bulletin of International Fiscal Documentation - BIFD); Cahiers de Droit Fiscal International; Intertax; Tax Notes International; European Taxation; EC Tax Review; International Transfer Pricing Journal; British Tax Review; National Tax Journal.
Assessment: The examination will be by three-hour written paper. Candidates may take into the examination room unannotated copies of K van Raad (ed), Materials on International and EC Tax Law (Vols 1 and 2, ITC Leiden).

LL460
International Law and the Protection of Refugees, Displaced Persons and Migrants
This information is for the 2012/13 session.
Teacher responsible: Dr C Beyani, NAB 7.04
Availability: For LLM, MSc Human Rights and MSc International Migration and Public Policy students.
This course is capped at 30 students. Students must apply through Graduate Course Choice on LSEforYou.
Course content: The course provides a detailed study of the international legal framework in which the causes, problems, policies, standards, techniques and institutions concerning the protection of asylum seekers, refugees and refugee women, internally displaced persons and migrants are situated. The course explores the overlap between International Refugee Law, Human Rights, International Humanitarian Law and Humanitarian Assistance, the phenomenon of legal and illegal Migration, including Human Trafficking in the context of refugees, persons displaced within states during armed conflict, legal and illegal migrants. It covers: the definition of refugees, internally displaced persons, legal and illegal migrants, including trafficking in human beings; the concepts of ‘well-founded fear’ of persecution and group eligibility to refugee protection; procedures for determining refugee status on an individual and group basis, in Africa, Asia, Australia, the European Union, North America, and Latin America; temporary protection; the process of exclusion from refugee protection and individual criminal responsibility for persecution and association; the role of the ad hoc Tribunals with criminal jurisdiction and the International Criminal Court; the role, in refugee law and human rights, of the principle of non-refoulment in refugee protection; the cessation of refugee status, voluntary repatriation, and safe return; standards applicable in international law to the protection of refugees, internally displaced persons, migrants, and evolving standards against human trafficking; the regulation of migration in regional economic and political unions, namely the European Union, East African Community, the Union of West African States, the Caribbean Community and the Southern African Development Community; the regime of humanitarian assistance to displaced persons in armed conflict and in refugee settlements, including the Sphere Project and the Humanitarian Ombudsperson; and finally the institutional protection of refugees, displaced persons, and migrants by the United Nations High Commissioner for Refugees, the United Nations High Commissioner for Human Rights and the United Nations Human Rights Treaty Bodies, the Red Cross, the International Organisation for Migration, problems encountered in the application of mental health law. The introduction to the course is concerned with the context of mental health law and covers issues relating to legal and clinical terminology, basic legal structures and the interaction between law and psychiatry. The remainder of the term is devoted to civil mental health law and looks at: issues of capacity; compulsory treatment both in hospital and in the community, and discharge from hospital. We also touch on issues of law, rights and discrimination. The second term focuses more on issues relating to mentally disordered offenders; it reviews relevant issues of criminal law and sentencing, and covers materials relating to the relationship between mental disorder and offending. Finally we look at issues of mental health law, policy and reform.
Teaching: Weekly seminars of 2 hours for 10 weeks in the MT, 10 in LT and up to two in the ST.
Formative coursework: Two essays of 2,000 words each (one to be submitted by the end of MT and LT terms.
Assessment: A three-hour examination that counts for (100%).

LL458
Mental Health Law
This information is for the 2012/13 session.
Teacher responsible: Professor Jill Peay, NAB6.11. This course will be taught jointly with staff from King’s College London. Sessions in the Michaelmas Term will take place at King’s College London in the Strand.
Availability: For LLM students and MSc Criminal Justice Policy.
This course is capped at 30 students. Students must apply through Graduate Course Choice on LSEforYou.
Course content: The course is designed to integrate a practical and theoretical understanding of mental health law, from the perspectives of law and mental health sciences. It tries to provide students with a broad conceptual understanding of the particular...
LL465 Law and Social Theory
This information is for the 2012/13 session.
Teacher responsible: Professor W Tim Murphy, NAB 7.22
Availability: For LLM and MSc Law, Anthropology and Society students and other students with some interest in legal, social or political theory. Optional course for MSc Criminal Justice Policy, MSc Regulation and MSc Regulation (Research) students.
This course is capped at 30 students. Students must apply through Graduate Course Choice on LSEforYou.
Course content: This course explores the role of law in world society. Much has been written on the theme of law and globalisation, and much of what has been written is itself implicated in the process of globalisation. This course begins elsewhere. It engages critically both with the phenomenon of globalisation and with the observations and assumptions in which it is reflected. By means of a set of interlinked case studies it addresses some quite fundamental theoretical questions about law and world society: what exactly do we mean by the global as distinct from the local?; did globalisation get under way?; is the phenomenon as recent as we suppose?; what modes of spatiality characterise the modern world? how should we understand the kinds of assemblage that compose transnational legal processes?; what kinds of boundary, membrane, or couplings hold together the elements of these assemblages? how has globalisation shaped the evolution and operation of law as a discourse, technique, form or set of institutions?; what effect has the expansion of global media had on the constitution and self-representation of law? Case studies range from explorations of the bigger or more topical legal questions, notably climate change, world trade, intellectual and cultural property, and law and development, to studies of the operation of law in the new localities of the global: urban spaces, or the spaces of institutions such as the museum or the shopping mall. What is in question in each case is how a specific legal form or institution is implicated in the historical processes and geographical or spatial configurations that articulate world society. Although the course is organised in terms topics or questions, or media or environments (air, sea, land, fibre optic cables), rather than authors or texts, it will renew engagement with a number of now classic authors while at the same time exploring newer theoretical and historical scholarship on the spatiality of modernity.
Teaching: 23 two-hour seminars (LL465).
The seminars will be conducted by Dr Manolis Melissaris, Dr Flessas, Dr Stramignoni and Professor Tim Murphy.
Formative coursework: Students are asked to submit two 2,000 word essays.
Assessment: The course is assessed by means of one two-hour examination. The marks obtained count for 50% of the composite mark for the course. In addition, students are required to submit an extended essay of 8,000 words maximum which is due in August. The extended essay will meet the LLM Writing Requirement.

LL466 Half Unit
European Human Rights Law
This information is for the 2012/13 session.
Teacher responsible: Professor Conor Gearty, NAB, 7.11
Availability: For LLM and MSc Human Rights students and other Master's level students with permission. It is not possible to take this course along with LL468.
This course is capped at 30 students. Students must apply through Graduate Course Choice on LSEforYou.
Course content: This course will provide an overview of the origin, development and current standing of the European Convention on Human Rights and Fundamental Freedoms. Its primary focus will be on the case-law of the European Court of Human Rights, though the cases of other jurisdictions will also be referred to where appropriate. The course will analyse the Convention from the perspective of selected rights within it, but will also engage with the subject thematically, subjecting such concepts as the ‘margin of appreciation’ and proportionality to close scrutiny. The goal of the course is to give students a good critical understanding of the Convention, the case-law of the Strasbourg court and the Convention’s place within the constitutional and political structure of ‘Greater Europe’.
This course complements Human Rights Law: The HRA (LL469) but is entirely self-standing and can easily be taken without that course.
Teaching: 10 two-hour seminars in the MT of each academic year.
Formative coursework: Students are asked to submit one 2,000 word essay.
The course will involve textbook reading but will primarily entail analysis of case-law read for the seminar and discussed in class.
Assessment: This subject is examined by one two-hour paper, composed of at least five questions of which two must be attempted.

LL469 Half Unit
UK Human Rights Law
This information is for the 2012/13 session.
Teacher responsible: Professor Conor Gearty, NAB, 7.11
Availability: For LLM students, MSc Human Rights and MSc International Migration and Public Policy; other Master’s level students with permission. It is not possible to take this course along with LL468.
This course is capped at 30 students. Students must apply through Graduate Course Choice on LSEforYou.
Course content: This course will be made up of a detailed study of the UK Human Rights Act. The origins and the political background to the Act will be explained, and the structure of the measure will be fully elaborated, relying on the text of the Act itself but also on the burgeoning case law that accompanies the measure. The course will identify the principles that underpin the Act and explain its proper place in English law. It will also explore the wider constitutional implications of the measure, looking at its effect on the relationship between courts and Parliament. The course complements Human Rights Law: the European Convention on Human Rights (LL468) but can be taken separately from it.
Teaching: 12 two-hour seminars in the LT and ST of each academic year.
Formative coursework: Students are asked to submit one 2,000 word essay.
Indicative reading: Kavanagh, Constitutional Review under the UK Human Rights Act (Cambridge, 2009); Hickman, Public Law After the Human Rights Act (Hart, 2010); Gearty, Principles of Human Rights Adjudication (Oxford University Press, 2004). While these books will be referred to, students will also be expected to read cases: they will receive a detailed Reading list for each topic.
Assessment: This subject is examined by one two-hour paper, composed of at least five questions of which two must be attempted.

LL474 Modern Legal History
This information is for the 2012/13 session.
Teacher responsible: Professor W T Murphy, NAB 7.22
Availability: For LLM students, MSc Law, Anthropology and Society, MSc Regulation and MSc Regulation (Research). Some knowledge of British political and economic history in the period is desirable.
This course is capped at 30 students. Students must apply through Graduate Course Choice on LSEforYou.
Course content: A survey of developments in English law in the period 1750-1950 in their social, economic and political context. Not all the specific topics listed in the syllabus will be covered in any year. Topics will be selected from the following list: Sources and methods; Social change, law reform and the main movements in political and economic thought, Constitutional and administrative law; reform of Parliament and local government; Judicial review; Police and criminal law; The legal system: courts, legal profession, procedural reform; Contract: The modern economy: consumer, commercial contract, property law, public policy; Tort: negligence, nuisance, economic torts; Land law: settlements, married women, conveyancing; Personal status: marriage and divorce, family support, children; Associations: incorporation and other forms of business organisation; trade unions and legal regulation of labour; Social welfare law; relief of poverty, public health, environmental control, safety, education.
Teaching: One weekly two-hour seminar (LL474), Sessional.
Formative coursework: No formal written work is prescribed but students will be expected to make presentations to the seminar.
Indicative reading: A detailed reading list is available at the beginning of the course from either of the teachers responsible.
Assessment: By means of 15,000 word dissertation due in August.

LL475 Half Unit
Terrorism and the Rule of Law
This information is for the 2012/13 session.
Teacher responsible: Professor Conor Gearty, NAB 7.11
Availability: For LLM students; other Master’s level students with permission (which will usually be given, subject to cap - see below). Note that it is not necessary to have a law degree to take this course. This course is capped at 60 students. Students must apply through Graduate Course Choice on LSEforYou. If numbers exceed thirty the course will be taught in two two-hour sessions per week with each student being assigned one of the two weekly sessions.
Course content: This course will provide a theoretical and historical introduction to the concept of terrorism. It will critically consider definitions of terrorism, and analyse the relationship between terrorism and the right to rebel, and the right to engage in civil disobedience. The historical development of the idea of ‘terrorism’ from the late eighteenth century through to the present will then be traced, with the emphasis on locating the practice of political terror in its political and military/quasi-military context. The role of international law generally and international human rights law in particular in the context of terrorism and anti-terrorism action will be considered in detail. The course will teach the material in context, so the subject will be analysed by reference to particular situations where necessary, eg Northern Ireland, the Palestine/Israel conflict and the post 11 September ‘war on terror’. The aim of the course is to give the student a good critical understanding of this most controversial of subjects, and also to impart an understanding of the role of law in shaping the fields of terrorism and of counter-terrorism.

Teaching: 12 two-hour seminars in the LT and ST of each academic year.
Formative coursework: Students are asked to submit one 2,000 word essay.
Indicative reading: There is no set text though reliance is made on the work of authors such as Richard English, Adrian Guelke, Lawrence Freedman, Igor Primoratz, Paul Wilkinson and the course teacher Conor Gearty. Students will receive a detailed Reading list for each topic, which will include legal cases from time to time. We may well rely a bit on Gearty, Liberty and Security (Polity Press, January 2013).
Assessment: This subject is examined by one two-hour paper, composed of at least five questions of which two must be attempted.

LL478 Policing and Police Powers
This information is for the 2012/13 session.
Teacher responsible: Professor R Reiner.
Availability: For LLM, MSc Criminal Justice Policy, MSc Sociology of Crime, Control & Globalisation, MSc Regulation, MSc Regulation (Research) and MSc Public Management and Governance.
This course is capped at 30 students. Students must apply through Graduate Course Choice on LSEforYou.
Course content: The police are a central part of the criminal justice system and of the State’s formal machinery for maintaining order and enforcing law. It is difficult to underestimate their importance in the process of criminal law enforcement and social policy more generally. Nonetheless the police are only one aspect of the more general institutions and processes of policing. There is a burgeoning research, policy-oriented and theoretical literature analysing the nature and functions of policing. Policing and police powers are central focal points for debate in the politics of criminal justice, as well as one of the fastest-growing areas in academic research and publishing within criminology. This course will review the extensive research literature and policy developments about policing in recent years.
Teaching: A weekly two-hour seminar sessional.
Formative coursework: Students are asked to submit two 2,000 word essays.
Assessment: One three-hour examination, counting for 100% of the marks.

LL479 Issues in Taxation
This information is for the 2012/13 session.
Teachers responsible: Dr I Roxan, NAB 7.25, Mr E Baistrocchi NAB 7.33, and others.
Availability: For LLM students. This course is required for the specialism in Taxation. Students will be expected to be taking other tax courses or to have a good background in taxation.
This course is capped at 30 students. Students must apply through Graduate Course Choice on LSEforYou.
Course content: This course begins with the basic principles of tax policy and the methodology of applying these principles. It goes on to discuss a range of current issues in taxation and tax policy, often with an interdisciplinary approach.
This course will provide support for students in writing an LLM dissertation on a taxation topic. It will also use the monthly Taxation Seminars, organised by the Law and Economics Departments, to provide students with direct exposure to current debates in taxation. The monthly seminars bring together a wide variety of participants, including lawyers, economists, accountants and government officials. Those attending the meetings are encouraged to participate, and the meetings provide a forum for topical discussion on taxation. The topics for the seminars are chosen each year from subjects of current interest. Seminars in this course outside of the monthly series will provide students with background for the seminar series and will provide the opportunity to explore in depth other topical issues in taxation and tax policy.

Teaching: Two-hour seminars (LL479). Sessional (weekly).

Formative coursework: Students are asked to submit one 2,000 word essay and to make one 10 minute oral presentation.

Indicative reading: There is no fixed list, selections being made from year to year on the basis of topicality. Detailed reading lists will be provided during the course via Moodle.

Assessment: Dissertation of no more than 15,000 words due in late August. Students will also be required to make at least one presentation (not formally assessed) during the year.

NB: The monthly Taxation Seminars are available to all with an interest in taxation including LLM and MSc students. Students wishing to attend the Taxation Seminars are very welcome. For more information, see the Law Department or LSE Financial Markets Group web pages.

---

LL484

Regulation of Financial Markets

This information is for the 2012/13 session.

Teachers responsible: Prof Julia Black, NAB 7.09 (course convenor) Dr Philipp Paeck, NAB 7.05 (course teacher).

Availability: For LLM, MSc Regulation, MSc (Research), MSc Management and Regulation of Risk, MSc Risk and Finance, MSc Law and Accounting, MSc Accounting, Organisations and Institutions and MPA Programme (all streams). This course is capped at 90 students. Students must apply through Graduate Course Choice on LSEforYou.

Course content: This course examines the regulatory structures governing financial markets and investment services. It covers the main principles of international, EU and UK financial regulation, with the aim of developing a critical understanding of the conceptual framework for financial regulation. The course does not aim to provide a detailed comparative account of financial regulation across countries, but international comparisons may be made where these are useful. In this context, students are encouraged to draw on their knowledge of their own national systems of regulation in making comparisons, and to apply the analytical perspectives suggested to those systems. The focus will be on the regulation of national and international aspects of financial services and markets, rather than on private law and transactional aspects.

No previous knowledge of financial market regulation or background in economics is required for those wishing to follow this course. Indeed, the course provides a good background for further study of both financial and economic law and economic analysis of law. For non-lawyers, a willingness to engage in legal analysis will be necessary, although a legal background is not required. The course might be regarded as complimentary to a number of other courses, including the LLM courses in Regulation: Legal and Political Aspects, Banking Law, European Monetary and Financial Services Law, The Law of Corporate Finance, Financial Crime, Financial Law or The Law and Practice of International Finance. The syllabus includes the following topics:

Teaching: There will be 22 two-hour seminars in 3 parallel groups (each 30 Students max). A number of guest lecturers are also invited to give lectures on their specialist areas.

Formative coursework: Students are asked to submit two-three 2,000 word essays. There is also a mock exam held in the Summer Term to help students prepare for exams.

Indicative reading: A full Reading list will be distributed during the course and essential materials will be made available to the students, where possible. In addition, the students will be invited to do independent reading. Good general introductions to financial markets and their regulation include: C Goodhart, et al, Financial Regulation: Why, How and Where Now? (1998) and S Valdez, Introduction to Global Financial Markets (6th edn, 2011).

Assessment: A two-hour, unseen examination paper, in which students will be required to answer two questions (50%). An extended essay of 8000 words on a set question (50%).

---

LL490

LLM Self-standing full unit Dissertation

This information is for the 2012/13 session.

Availability: For LLM and MSc students only (with permission).

Course content: A self-standing dissertation for students whose dissertation topic does not fall under a related taught course. Permission must be obtained by a suitable course supervisor and the LLM Programme Director.

Assessment: 15,000 word dissertation on a topic to be agreed with the LLM Programme Director and course supervisor. The dissertation option is to be chosen in only one full unit module, with its outline approved in the LT by the course supervisor. Deadline for submission is end of August.

---

LL491

Taxation of Corporate Transactions

This information is for the 2012/13 session.

Teachers responsible: Dr I Roxan NAB 7.25, Professor S Ball and others.

Availability: For LLM degree and MSc Law and Accounting.

This course is capped at 30 students. Students must apply through Graduate Course Choice on LSEforYou.

Pre-requisites: Students should be familiar with the UK tax system, or have working knowledge of another system of business taxation, and otherwise will be expected to be taking LL421 Business Taxation.

Course content: The course examines the principles governing the taxation of corporate and other business transactions. The course will take a comparative approach in examining the business tax systems of the United Kingdom and other countries. The main tax system studied will be that of the United Kingdom (primarily income tax, capital gains tax and corporation tax), but the tax system of the United States will also be examined and typically that of Germany as well. This course will concentrate on a number of key advanced topics that are central to corporate taxation, such as the treatment of shares, the taxation of corporate finance, the treatment of groups of companies, and the taxation of corporate reconstructions and reorganisations (broadly defined).

Teaching: Two-hour seminars (LL491). Sessional (weekly).

Formative coursework: Students are asked to submit two 2,000 word essays.

Detailed reading lists will be provided during the course via Moodle.

Assessment: The examination will be by three-hour written paper. Candidates will be permitted to take into the examination room unannotated copies of approved statutory materials.
LL494  Value Added Tax
This information is for the 2012/13 session.
Teacher responsible: Dr Ian Roxan, NAB 7.25.
Availability: For LLM, MSc Law and Accounting.
Pre-requisites: No particular knowledge of taxation is required.
Course content: The course then considers the main features and problems raised by VATs and GSTs, including defining the taxpayers and the amount subject to tax, international transactions and VATs in federal jurisdictions, and problematic issues such as input tax credits. Examples will be drawn from the European Union VAT and from taxes in other countries.
The focus of the second term will be on the European Union VAT as it operates in the United Kingdom. A significant part of the term will be devoted to EU legislation and jurisprudence. The term will begin with an introduction to key concepts of VAT, including supplies of goods and services, taxable persons and transactions, the rate structure, and consideration for supplies. The course will then examine in more detail a range of the most important aspects of VAT in the EU, including topics such as the deductibility of input tax and the treatment of exemptions, the taxation of international transactions and transactions between member states, VAT and financial services.
Teaching: Two-hour weekly seminars in MT and LT.
Formative coursework: Students are asked to submit two 2,000 word essays.
Assessment: Three-hour formal written examination. Candidates will be permitted to take into the examination room unannotated copies of the Tolley’s Orange Tax Handbook or CCH The Green Book.

LL499  Dissertation: MSc Regulation
This information is for the 2012/13 session.
Availability: Compulsory on MSc Regulation and MSc Regulation (Research).
Assessment: A 10,000 word dissertation is required to be submitted as part of the assessment. The dissertation is due by the 1st September.

LL4A1  LLM Subject Area Specialist Research Seminars
This information is for the 2012/13 session.
Teacher responsible: Various. Contact Ms Mandy Tinnams, NAB 6.08
Availability: For LLM students, and for other Master’s level students with permission.
Course content: A series of ad hoc one-hour seminars running during MT and LT. The programme changes annually, with sessions given by distinguished visiting academics, practitioners and other experts on issues related to their specialist interests. The aim is to expose LLM students to a wider range of material than is possible in many of the taught courses, and to explore and challenge some of the issues and themes that are currently controversial. Most sessions will run as seminars rather than public lectures, with students expected to interact with the seminar speaker and with each other.
Teaching: Weekly or fortnightly one-hour sessions during the MT and LT.
Assessment: Not assessed, although many sessions will be directly or indirectly related to material considered in other assessable LLM courses.

LL4A2  LLM Dissertation Seminars
This information is for the 2012/13 session.
Teacher responsible: Dr Veerle Heyvaert, NAB 7.06.
Course content: A series of seminars on dissertation research, writing and presentation skills. The sessions give guidance on selecting, developing and managing a research project, organising research materials, analysing and formulating arguments, and delivering appropriate conclusions. The sessions discuss important topics related to essay writing such as footnoting and avoiding plagiarism. They include integrated input from LSE Library and computer-based training sessions in smaller groups. During LT, attention is also devoted to exam writing skills and students are given the opportunity to write a mock answer under exam conditions for the course of their choice.
Teaching: Regular one-hour sessions during MT and LT. Sessions are advertised on the course Moodle site.
Assessment: Not assessed, but each LLM student is expected to attend.
LL4A5  Half Unit
Investment Funds Law in Europe
This information is for the 2012/13 session.
Teacher responsible: Vivien Prais, NAB 6.02
Availability: For LLM students and any other suitably qualified MSc
Students with the permission of the course convenor.
This course is capped at 30 students. Students must apply through Graduate Course Choice on LSEforYou.
Course content: This course examines the law and regulations governing collective investment funds in the UK and selected European jurisdictions (e.g. Germany, Italy, Sweden, Ireland and Luxembourg) and also relevant EU regulation. It will include a study both of investment funds law of the countries selected and a comparative assessment of the development and current features of the collective investment fund industry in the European context.
Topics covered include: historical development of investment funds law in the UK and the respective European countries selected, with particular emphasis on the investment vehicle; a comparison of types of funds developed with emphasis on recent changes and innovation; the regulation of the establishment and marketing of collective investment funds, including UCITS, REITS and ETFs; taxation of investment funds; the effect of EC law, particularly the Teaching: One two-hour seminar each week in Michaelmas Term.
Formative coursework: Students are asked to submit one 2,000 word essay.
Indicative reading: Reading lists will be provided in advance for each seminar. Sample texts include: Hill, A Practitioner’s Guide to Authorised Investment Funds (2010); Sin, The Legal Nature of the Unit Trust (1997); Adams, The Split Capital Investment Trust Crisis (2004); St. Giles, Managing Collective Investment Funds, 2nd ed. (2003); Blair, Blackstone’s Guide to the Financial Services and Assessment: One two-hour written examination (100%).

LL4A6  Half Unit
Climate Change and International Law
This information is for the 2012/13 session.
Teacher responsible: Dr Stephen Humphreys, NAB 5.12.
Availability: Optional on the LLM, MSc Environment and Development, MSc International Relations, MSc International Relations (Research), MSc Human Rights, MSc Environmental Economics and Climate Change. Also available to students taking MSc International Relations as part of the LSE-Sciences Po Double Degree in Affaires Internationales. The course is capped and is available as an option where regulations permit.
This course is capped at 30 students. Students must apply through Graduate Course Choice on LSEforYou.
Course content: This course covers the international law dealing with climate change with a view to assessing how the harms associated with climate change are governed and allocated in different legal regimes. The course adopts the stance that the political and legal questions raised by climate change cannot be addressed by reference to climate change law or international environmental law as a whole. Climate change gives rise to a series of profound problems touching upon a range of bodies of law (international economic law, human rights law, the transnational governance of energy and resources, and state responsibility inter alia) in a complex political and ethical environment. In approaching climate change as a concrete concern relevant to these various bodies of law and practice, the course will address the normative and/or ethical bases for choosing between actions designed to prevent and/or manage climate change and its consequences, the development imperatives in much of the world, and the theoretical concerns raised by the ‘fragmented’ nature of international law.
Projected seminars include: climate change science; politics; ethics; theory of international law; international environmental law; trade and investment law; human rights law; climate technology diffusion; food security.
Teaching: Ten two-hour seminars in MT. One two-hour hour seminar in ST.
Formative coursework: One formative essay of 2,500 words.
Indicative reading: Rosemary Rayfuse and Shirley Scott (eds.),
International Law in the Era of Climate Change, Edward Elgar
Shue (Eds.), Climate Ethics: Essential Readings, Oxford University Press (2010); Nicholas Stern, The Economics of Climate Change:
The Stern Review, Cambridge: Cambridge University Press (2007);
IPCC, Fourth Assessment Report, Cambridge University Press
(2007); Stephen Humphreys (ed.), Climate Change and Human Rights, Cambridge University Press (2009); Larry Lohmann, Carbon
Trading, Day Hammerskjöld Foundation (2006); Lavanya Rajamani,
Differential Treatment in International Environmental Law, Oxford University Press (2006); Margaret Young (ed.), Regime Interaction in International Law: Facing Fragmentation, Cambridge University Assessment: A two-hour examination in the ST covering the entire syllabus (100%).

LL4A8  Half Unit
International Law and the Use of Force
This information is for the 2012/13 session.
Teacher responsible: Dr Andrew Lang, NAB 6.19
Availability: For LLM students and MSc Human Rights. Available for MSc Conflict Studies students subject to space. Some prior knowledge of international law is useful but not essential.
This course, together with its related full course LL452, is subject to an overall cap of 30 students. Students must apply through Graduate Course Choice on LSEforYou.
Course content: This half-unit course examines the law relating to when it is permissible to use force (jus ad bellum). The course can be taken alone or (when available) together with LL4A9: Law in War, as a full unit course. The aim of this course is to develop an understanding of the principles of international law that regulate the use of force in international society. It concentrates on the prohibition of resort to force in Article 2(4) of the United Nations Charter and the exceptions to that prohibition. It looks in detail at the right of self-defence, humanitarian intervention, pro-democratic intervention, and protection of nationals. The use of force by or with the authorization of the United Nations is also considered.
Teaching: Teaching is by seminar. There is normally one two-hour seminar each week (MT).
Formative coursework: Students have the option of submitting a
2,000 word essay.
Indicative reading: A detailed reading list will be issued at the first seminar. See, in particular: Dinstein, War, Aggression and Self-Defence (4th ed., 2006); Gray, International Law and the Use of Assessment: There is a two-hour formal examination, based on the entire syllabus. Students who take this course together with LL4A9:
Law in War sit a single 3-hour exam on both half-units.

LL4A9  Half Unit
Law in War
This information is for the 2012/13 session.
Teacher responsible: Dr Stephen Humphreys, NAB 5.12.
Availability: For LLM students and MSc Human Rights. Some prior knowledge of international law is useful but not essential.
This course, together with its related full course LL452, is subject to an overall cap of 30 students. Students must apply through Graduate Course Choice on LSEforYou.
Course content: This half-unit course covers the law governing the conduct of hostilities (jus in bello), also known as the law of armed conflict (LOAC) or international humanitarian law (IHL). This course can be taken alone or together with LL4A8: International Law and the Use of Force, as a full unit course. The course will take a critical and historical perspective on the international regulation and facilitation of armed conflict. It covers both the laws governing the means and methods of warfare (sometimes known as ‘Hague’ law) and those regarding ‘protected groups hors de combat’ (‘Geneva’ law) in times of armed conflict and occupation. The course will further consider the practice of ‘lawfare’ more generally: that is, recourse to law as an aspect of waging war.

Teaching: Teaching is by seminar. There is normally one two-hour seminar each week (LT).

Formative coursework: Students have the option of submitting a 2,000 word essay. Students are requested to choose from past exam papers and submit by the end of week 3.

Assessment: There is a two-hour formal examination (100%), based on the entire syllabus. Students who take this course together with LL4A8 sit a single 3-hour exam on both half-units (LL452).

---

LL4B1 Half Unit
International Economic Law
This information is for the 2012/13 session.
Teacher responsible: Mr Chris Thomas, NAB 6.03.
Availability: For LLM students and MSc Development Studies. This course is capped at 30 students. Students must apply through Graduate Course Choice on LSE for You.

Course content: The aim of the course is to study in detail those aspects of public international law which are concerned with international economic relations. We will concentrate on the principles, norms and policies of international trade governed by the World Trade Organization. The course topics may include:

- Teaching: One two-hour seminar per week in the LT.
- Formative coursework: Students are asked to submit one 2,000 word essay.
- Assessment: One two-hour formal examination (100%) in Summer Term.

---

LL4B2
Advanced Issues of European Union Law
This information is for the 2012/13 session.
Teacher responsible: Dr Jan Komarek, COW 1.04.
Availability: For the LLM (Specialisms: Legal Theory, Public Law, Human Rights Law), European Law. The course is also available as Graduate Course Choice on LSEforYou.

Course content: The course will build on the knowledge that students have acquired when studying EU law at the undergraduate level. It seeks to provide a detailed and sophisticated understanding of legal issues surrounding the EU today. This is done from a variety of perspectives by a number of people who have made a significant impact on the field. The course is divided into two terms and two parts.

- Teaching: Teaching is by seminar. There is normally one two-hour seminar each week (LT).
- Formative coursework: Students are asked to submit two 2,000 word essays.
- Indicative reading: In term one, there are two texts both of which cover the ground of the course and to which reference will be made: Jacobs and White, The European Convention on Human Rights 4th edn (OUP, 2006) and Harris, O’Boyle and Warbrick, Law of the European Convention on Human Rights 2nd edn (Oxford, 2009). Terms two and three will draw from Kavanagh, Constitutional Review under the UK Human Rights Act (Cambridge, 2009), Hickman Public Law after the Human Rights Act (Hart, 2010) and Gearty, Principles of Human Rights Adjudication (Oxford...
LL4B9 Corporate and Financial Crime
This information is for the 2012/13 session.
Teacher responsible: Visiting Professor, Jonathan Fisher, QC
Availability: For MSc Accounting and Finance, MSc Criminal Justice Policy, MSc Criminology, LLM, MSc Law and Accounting, MSc Management and Regulation of Risk, MSc Regulation (Research) and MSc Regulation.
This course is capped at 30 students. Students must apply through Graduate Course Choice on LSE for You.
Course content: This course focuses on crime committed within the commercial and business environment, with particular emphasis on corporate financial crime. The law is responding to the challenges presented by financial crime; as the primary vehicle for commercial activity, unacceptable corporate practices are increasingly made the object of criminal sanction and causes of action in civil law.

Following an introductory session on the place of corporate and financial crime in the criminal justice system, the course considers the development of corporate criminal liability, directors’ liability, corporations, sentencing corporate defendants and deferred prosecution agreements. The course explores the importance in terms of corporate governance of directors placing emphasis on the problems of corporate and financial crime by ensuring that the risks of corporate criminal activity are properly identified. Criminal offences directed at the enforcement of accounting transparency, recovery of losses by civil action, asset confiscation and the application of the UK anti-money laundering legislation are also considered. The course examines current perspectives in the detection, investigation and prosecution of corporate and financial crime, and the relationship between the global financial crisis and economic crime. This includes analysis of the role of the law enforcement agencies, the use of informants, surveillance and entrapment techniques, and a consideration of the tension between the exercise of invasive powers and privacy issues. The efficacy of the criminal process in the battle against financial crime is examined, with particular reference being made to corruption, tax offences, financial market offences, and cyber crime. Issues surrounding the debates over trial by jury, admissibility of evidence obtained by surveillance, informants and entrapment, and levels of sentencing are addressed. Recent initiatives in partnerships between the public sector and the private sector to tackle the prevention, detection and investigation of fraud are also considered.

Teaching: Twenty two hour sessions weekly; the first half of the session is lecture format, the second half seminar format. Students have an opportunity to work with other students in the presentation of seminars. There are two revision sessions in the summer term.
Formative coursework: Students are asked to submit two 2,000 word essays.

Course content: This course critically examines UK and European patent law from different perspectives including the economic case for incentivising innovation, industry and technological-specificity of legal doctrine, international economic and political frameworks, institutional features, and legal developments in the domestic laws of other countries as well as at regional and international levels. Case studies from comparable jurisdictions such as US, India or Latin America will be used where appropriate.
Topics to be covered will include:
Special issues to be considered will include some or all of the following:
Teaching: Weekly two hour seminars.
Formative coursework: Students are asked to submit two 2,000 word essays.
Indicative reading: Core Textbook: Bently and Sherman, Intellectual Property Law, Oxford University Press, 2008. Students will be expected to read widely in appropriate journals and books. Detailed reading lists will be provided during the course, the following is a recommended reading list:
Assessment: One three-hour written paper, accounting for 100% of the final grade.

LL4C1 Innovation, Technology and Patent Law
This information is for the 2012/13 session.
Teacher responsible: Dr Sivaramjani Thambisetty, NAB 7.29
Availability: This course is primarily intended for students enrolled on the LLM. Students enrolled on MSc Law and Accounting and MSc Law, Anthropology and Society may take the course subject to the approval of the course coordinator.
This course is capped at 30 students. All students are required to obtain permission from the Teacher Responsible to take it, by completing the online application form linked to the course selection on LSEforYou.
Course content: This course critically examines UK and European patent law from different perspectives including the economic case for incentivising innovation, industry and technological-specificity of legal doctrine, international economic and political frameworks, institutional features, and legal developments in the domestic laws of other countries as well as at regional and international levels. Case studies from comparable jurisdictions such as US, India or Latin America will be used where appropriate.
Topics to be covered will include:
Special issues to be considered will include some or all of the following:
Teaching: Weekly two hour seminars.
Formative coursework: Students are asked to submit two 2,000 word essays.
Indicative reading: Core Textbook: Bently and Sherman, Intellectual Property Law, Oxford University Press, 2008. Students will be expected to read widely in appropriate journals and books. Detailed reading lists will be provided during the course, the following is a recommended reading list:
Assessment: One three-hour written paper, accounting for 100% of the final grade.

LL4C2 Half Unit
World Poverty and Human Rights
This information is for the 2012/13 session.
Teacher responsible: Dr Margot Salomon, TW2. V503
Availability: For LLM students, MSc Human Rights, MSc Development Studies, MSc Global Politics and students undertaking MScs in Social Policy.
This course is capped at 30 students. All students are required to obtain permission from the Teacher Responsible to take it by completing the online application form linked to the course selection on LSEforYou.
Pre-requisites: Some knowledge of public international law is required.
Course content: This course examines world poverty and inequality from the perspective of international law aimed at the protection human rights. Drawing on rights and obligations, the course considers the duties of states and other actors, and the ways in which they may be implicated in the deprivation which has, for example, 2.7 billion people concentrated in the South unable to exercise their minimum essential levels of human rights. While the approach to the course is largely normative and conceptual, it will explore its findings in relation to players and institutions that impact positively or negatively on human rights today, as well as examine the application of legal standards and developments to some areas of outstanding concern. Topics to be covered may include:

Teaching: Weekly two-hour seminars in LT on Wednesdays from 4-6.

Formative coursework: Students will receive feedback on work completed during the course.

A detailed reading list will be issued at the first seminar.

Assessment: A two-hour examination during the ST (100%).

---

LL4C6 Half Unit

Advanced Issues of International Commercial Arbitration

This information is for the 2012/13 session.

Teacher responsible: Dr. Jan Kleinheisterkamp, NAB 7.34

Availability: LLM (Corporate and/or Commercial Law, International Business Law).

This course is capped at 60 students. Students must apply through Graduate Course Choice on LSEforYou.

Pre-requisites: LL4C5 or course on arbitration in previous studies or solid practical experience in the field.

Course content: This course aims at giving students who already are acquainted with the fundamentals of arbitration the possibility to go into depth into selected problems of international commercial arbitration. The course is designed to allow intense discussions of these problems in order to raise the sensitivity for the issues at stake and to lead to a research oriented approach. Despite its academic outset, the course is highly relevant for those wanting to specialise in arbitration practice, as the theoretical problems have a most significant impact on practical solutions. The course will treat a selection of topical contemporary issues of international commercial arbitration, such as the role of internationally mandatory rules of law, arbitration & insolvency, the scope of the competence-competence principle; arbitration and fraud and corruption, or the enforcement of awards set aside abroad. The course seeks to be as topical as possible, so that content may change in the light of new developments.

Teaching: Weekly two-hour seminars in LT; two hour revision session in ST.

Formative coursework: One group presentation in the seminar and an essay of 2,500 words.

Assessment: One two-hour examination in the ST (100%).

---

LL4C5 Half Unit

Fundamentals of International Commercial Arbitration

This information is for the 2012/13 session.

Teacher responsible: Dr. Jan Kleinheisterkamp, NAB 7.34

Availability: LLM (Corporate and/or Commercial Law, and International Business Law). This course is capped at 60 students. Students must apply through Graduate Course Choice on LSEforYou.

Course content: This course offers the fundamentals of international commercial arbitration, the most important dispute settlement mechanism for international commercial transactions. The course provides a complete introduction to the functioning of arbitration in theory and in practice. London being one of the main centres of arbitration in the world, this course focuses mainly on English arbitration law which is put into a comparative perspective and contrasted especially with the UNCITRAL Model Law on International Commercial Arbitration. Special attention is given to the different types of rules that may have to be taken into consideration in an international arbitration. This course prepares for LL4C6 Advances Issues of International Commercial Arbitration and provides for some of the procedural basics for LL4E7 Investment Treaty Law.

Teaching: Weekly two-hour lectures with fortnightly one-hour back-up classes, plus three evening specialist seminars in MT. One revision session in ST.

Formative coursework: 2,500 word essay after week 6 on previous exam questions (choice of 1 out of 4).

Assessment: One two-hour examination in the ST (100%).
Course content: This course takes a broadly historical, theoretical and contextual approach to the study of intellectual and cultural property law. It focuses on a set of topical questions that illuminate paradigms, institutional models and social and economic formations that cut across the diversity of intellectual and cultural property regimes; questions about the nature of property in intangible things; about the implications of the transnational expansion of intellectual property forms and institutions; about the role of comparative analysis in the study of intellectual property, or about how regimes forged in the era of industrialization have adapted to new modes of production and distribution. These expansive questions are not asked in abstraction. Seminars will focus on specific case studies of institutions, transactional forms and social effects. Many of these studies are chosen for their topicality, so the contents of the course will evolve from year to year, but seminar topics might include: the emergence of new regimes of open source biotechnology, the evolution of non-conventional trade marks such as scents, textures and shapes; the effects of regime-shifting between different international frameworks for the regulation of questions of intellectual property; the bases of emerging markets in cultural property and heritage; the re-emergence of old tensions between droit d’auteur and copyright in the context of open source licensing or human rights negotiations; the nature of ‘negative spaces’ (the fashion industry, magicians, manga and stand up comedy) within the otherwise pervasive order of intellectual property; the nature of the link between legal incentives and technological innovation; the usefulness of economic models in understanding the proprietary value of patents. The object of the course is to introduce key themes in critical debates about intellectual property, and to offer a set of conceptual resources that might be drawn upon in more specialized LLM courses in intellectual property.

Teaching: 20 hours of seminars in the MT and 20 hours of seminars in the LT. 4 hours of seminars in the ST.

Formative coursework: One 2000-word essay in each of the Michaelmas and Lent Terms.

Indicative reading:

Assessment: One 8,000 word extended essay (50%) and one two-hour examination (50%) in the ST. The extended essay will meet the LLM Writing Requirement.

LL4C9 Half Unit
Project Finance and Public Private Partnerships

This information is for the 2012/13 session.

Teacher responsible: Visiting Professor Roger McCormick.

Availability: LLM only. The course is not available as an outside option or to general course students.

Course content: Legal issues relevant to the financing of major projects on a limited recourse basis, including the following: Definitions of project finance and PPP, brief history; sectors for which this kind of financing is relevant; risk transfer and other political justifications; the international dimension; the principal parties and their roles; the triangular nature of negotiations; significance of cash flow financing and “bankability”; principal risks and risk allocation methods; Analysis of a concession; the BOT concept; permits and licences; ownership of natural resources and project assets; termination rights and financial effects of early termination; benchmarking and refinancing; force majeure; the differing risk perspectives of government, sponsors and lenders; typical entities taking sponsor roles and summary of contractual structures inter se and with project company SPV; conflicts of interest; how profit is extracted; subordinated debt; subordination generally and other examples of “sponsor support” for project finance; share retention and exit strategies; Commercial banks, IFIs and ECAs and the products offered by them; examples of bankable and unbankable risk; risks posed by transition economy structures; outline of loan document content and structure; local lenders and international lenders; inter-creditor arrangements.

Meaning of completion risk and political risk; methods of providing completion guarantees; sponsor debt service undertakings; political risk carve-outs from completion guarantees; issues arising in turn-key construction contracts; Significance of cash-flow based lending; contractual analysis of revenue sources; supply/feedback and operation contracts; contractual provisions of general concern to lenders; pass-through and back to back provisions; take or pay; “hell and high water provisions”; credit issues; regulatory and permitting issues; government as off-taker; availability and usage fees risk of termination and financial consequences; Relevant issues affecting security interests; Requirements of different kinds of lenders; representations/warranties, financial and other covenants and events of default; Typical conditions precedent, covenants and events of default relating to environment; requirements of different agencies and lenders; relationship of contractual provisions with local law; scope and impact of Equator principles; typical NGO/ sustainability concerns; Ongoing debate about UK’s PFI programme; Mock negotiation; Analysis of various sample clauses from documentation will feature in most seminars.

Teaching: Twenty hours of seminars in the Michaelmas Term.

Formative coursework: A mock examination: feedback session in Lent Term

Indicative reading: The reading list is provisional and may change before the start and topical materials may be added during the course.

Books
Vinter, Project Finance (3rd Edn) (Thomson/Sweet & Maxwell 2006)
International Project Finance (ed. Dewar) OUP 2011
UNCITRAL Legislative Guide on Privately Financed Infrastructure Projects (United Nations 2001)
“‘Attracting Investors to African Public Private Partnerships” World Bank, ICA, PPIAF

Articles
McCormick “Project Finance in Central and Eastern Europe” 1998 1 JIBFL 6-13
Watchman et al, “EP2: the revised Equator Principles: why hard nosed bankers are embracing soft law principles” LFMR Vol 1 No.2 85

Other
HM Treasury website for PFIPPPP and, in particular, section on standardised wording
ECGD website, in particular (under “Products and Services”) the “Detailed Guide” on “Project Financing”
EBRD Model law on secured transactions (published by EBRD and available on its website)
“EBRD “Law in Transition Report” Spring 2001 “Focus on Concessions” (p19-60 incl.)

Cases
A list of relevant cases can be provided if needed.

Assessment: One two-hour examination (100%) in the ST.

LL4D1
Trade Mark Law

This information is for the 2012/13 session.

This information is for the 2012/13 session.
Cultural Property and Heritage Law

This course is primarily intended for students enrolled on the LLM. Students enrolled on MSc Law and Accounting and MSc Law, Anthropology and Society may take the course subject to the approval of the course coordinator. This course is capped at 30 students. Students must apply through Graduate Course Choice on LSEforYou.

Course content: Trade marks are the most widespread (and widely litigated) species of intellectual property. This course examines issues arising out of the registered protection of trade marks in the UK and EU, against the backdrop of international and comparative developments. The subject matter of trade mark protection has expanded to include sounds, scents, shapes, movements and pure colours. Similarly, the scope of protection has extended to protect not just the origin indication function but also guarantees of quality and brand image. Marks are simultaneously perceived as valuable assets for their proprietors, key components in competitive markets and effective shorthand for enabling expressive or critical agendas. Along with in depth analysis of legislation and case law, it reconsiders the rationale of trade mark protection from various interdisciplinary vantage points such as economics, marketing, history and linguistics. Topics covered include: an introduction to national, regional and international trade mark registration systems; the background of unfair competition law; registration requirements; absolute grounds and relative grounds of refusal of registration; the scope of trade mark rights; the tests for infringement - confusion and dilution; exceptions and defences; the evolution of brand thinking; trade marks on the internet; publicity rights and celebrity image.

Teaching: A two-hour seminar each week, with an occasional guest lecturer (practitioners and academics).

Formative coursework: Students will be asked to submit at least one termly essay on which they will receive feedback.

Indicative reading: Core Textbook - A Firth, G Lea and P Cornford Trade Marks: Law and Practice 3rd ed (Jordans, 2012) [Discounts available from publisher for students on this course]

Students will be expected to read widely in designated journals and books. Extensive use of trade mark registry materials is made such as references to live registrations as test cases, examiners’ decisions, registry works manuals and practice notices. All of the recommended cases and journal articles are available in electronic form and additional materials will be made available on the Moodle website which supports this course.

A detailed reading list will be provided for the course, but the following are recommended:

Assessment: A three-hour written examination paper (100%).
Fundamentals of environmental law in a global context areas that are covered in international as well as EU law, the course instructs students on the general principles and application of international and European Union environmental law. The course will address substantive legal issues regarding, amongst other things, netting and set-off, the special resolution regime under the Banking Act 2009, dematerialised securities and financial crime laws; risk management issues will be explored in depth as will the relationship of the legal function to general corporate governance; the EU dimension regarding financial law reform (and associated risks) will be critically examined; the relationship between perceptions of risk, the markets’ desire for legal certainty and the need for law reform and modernisation will also be considered.

Teaching: 10 two hour lectures/seminars in MT.

Formative coursework: Students will take a mock examination: feedback session in LT.

Indicative reading: The reading list is provisional and may change before the start and topical materials may be added during the course.

Legal Risks in Financial Markets, Roger McCormick 2nd edition (OUP 2010). (For example of case law and legislation for the reading list, see the Tables set out at the beginning of this book); Legal Problems of Credit and Security, Roy Goode (4th edn. edited by Gullifer, Thomson 2008); Reforming Collateral Laws to Expand Access to Finance, Heywood Fleisig, Mehnaz Safavian and Nuria de la Pen (World Bank 2006); EBRD Model Law for Secured Transactions; ‘Publicity of Security Rights’ (EBRD Paper of 2004); plus various extracts from EBRD’s annual ‘Law in Transition’ publications and the EBRD paper ‘The Impact of the Legal Framework on the Secured Credit Market in Poland’ (July 2005); the Banking Act 2009; FMLC papers on the Landsbanki Freezing Order and on dematerialised securities (FMLC.org.uk) and UNIDROIT draft Convention on dematerialised securities; FMLC papers on Proceeds of Crime Act 2002 and related articles.

Assessment: The course will be assessed by a 2 hour examination in the ST.

LL4D7
Law of Mergers, Acquisitions and Restructurings in Europe and the United States
This information is for the 2012/13 session.

Teacher responsible: Professor David Kenshaw, NAB 7.28 and Mr Edmund-Philipp Schuster, NAB 6.30

Availability: LLM and MSc Law and Accounting students. This course is capped at 90 students. Students must apply through Graduate Course Choice on LSEforYou.

Course content: This course will look at the regulation of the market for corporate control and corporate restructurings in Europe and the United States. In the first term the course will focus on the European context. Areas covered will include freedom of establishment and mobility of companies in Europe, domestic and cross-border mergers and de-mergers, regulation of public takeovers in Europe, the European Company and its relevance for restructurings and reorganisations. In the Lent Term the course will focus on the European context. Areas covered will include freedom of establishment and mobility of companies in Europe, domestic and cross-border mergers and de-mergers, regulation of public takeovers in Europe, the European Company and its relevance for restructurings and reorganisations. In the Lent Term the course will look at the regulation of the bid process and at takeover defence regulation in the US, UK and EU. In the Lent term will also look at the development of the private equity industry and at typical fund and transaction structures used in private equity deals.

Michaelmas Term: Introduction to the market for corporate control, corporate ownership structures and transaction structures for takeovers and restructurings in Europe

Regulatory competition and European company law
European takeover regulation
EU directives on domestic mergers and divisions
Cross-Border mergers in the EU
Impact of employee participation on corporate transactions
Introduction to taxation of corporate transactions in the EU
Restructuring and the European Company (SE)
Implications of SE restructurings for board structure and composition as well as the involvement of employees

Lent Term:
Takeover process regulation
The extra-territorial effects of US process regulation
Takeover defence regulation
The mandatory bid rule
Private equity and management buyouts: fund structures; deal structures; value strategies
Regulating conflicts of interest in going private transactions
Financial assistance regulation
Effectiveness of the market for corporate control

Teaching: Weekly two-hour seminars in both MT and LT. One revision session in ST.

Formative coursework: Two 1,500 word essays, one in MT and one in LT (approximately three weeks to complete).

Assessment: A three hour examination. Students answer three questions (100%).

---

LL4E6 Half Unit
International Dispute Resolution: Courts and Tribunals
This information is for the 2012/13 session.
Teacher responsible: Dr Devika Hovell, room TBC
Availability: LLM and MSc Human Rights.

Course content: Since the early 1990s, there has been a proliferation in the number of international courts and tribunals. Significant judicial bodies operating on the world stage today include the International Court of Justice, the International Criminal Court, the World Trade Organization Dispute Settlement Body, the Permanent Court of Arbitration and numerous regional human rights bodies. Domestic courts are also taking an increasing role in the determination of issues relating to international law, with UK courts deciding recent cases concerning the Iraq War, Security Council sanctions and human rights.

The growth of the international judiciary has given rise to a number of questions, including: what is the function of international courts and judges in the resolution of international disputes? What renders some courts more legitimate than others? What are the relations between international and national courts? How are jurisdictional conflicts between courts resolved? How are international judgments enforced? Do individuals have access to international courts?

The course will examine the history and controversies surrounding the role of judicial bodies in international dispute resolution. It will focus on the International Court of Justice and a variety of specialist tribunals in international criminal law, trade law, human rights and arbitration, as well as the growing role of national courts in international dispute resolution.

Teaching: The course is taught by two-hour weekly seminars in Lent Term.

Formative coursework: Students are asked to submit one 2,000 word formative essay.

Indicative reading: Reading lists will be provided for each week's seminar on Moodle. Students may wish to refer to J Collier & V Lovre, The Settlement of Disputes in International Law Institutions and Procedures (Oxford, 1999); and J Merrills, International Dispute Settlement (4th ed, Cambridge, 2005).

Assessment: One two-hour exam in ST.

---

LL4E7 Half Unit
Investment Treaty Law
This information is for the 2012/13 session.

---

LL4E5 Not available in 2012/13
International Sale of Goods
This information is for the 2012/13 session.
Teacher responsible: Professor Michael Bridge, NAB 6.21
Availability: LLM and other Masters students where regulations permit with permission of the course teacher.
This course is capped at 30 students. Students must apply through Graduate Course Choice on LSEforYou.

Pre-requisites: Students should have some background knowledge of legal study.

Course content: The course is divided into two parts and is the sum of two half courses (International Uniform Sales Law and International Commodity Sales). The first part of the course concerns sales conducted on the basis of the United Nations Convention on the International Sale of Goods 1980 (CISG). Over seventy countries have so far adopted the CISG, which has generated an enormous primary and secondary literature. It has also very largely informed the Chinese Contract Law of 1999. The second part is concerned with the international sale of goods where English law is the applicable law. English law plays a dominant part in the international sale of commodities, especially in the case of dry commodities (wheat, soya etc) produced in North America and transported to a northern European destination. It is usually the case that such contracts have no physical connection with England. There is a rich case law dealing with sales on FOB, CIF and similar terms and there are interesting comparisons to be drawn between forward physical sales and futures sales. Interesting questions are also posed by the intersection of various allied contracts concluded to give effect to the international venture, notably, sale, letters of credit, insurance and carriage (or charter parties). The theme of uniformity bulks large in the course, whether it takes the form of a uniform law, like the CISG, or the use of non-mandatory instruments, like the Uniform Principles of International and Commercial Contracts to bulk out the 1980 Convention; or a set of uniform rules incorporated voluntarily in contracts, as is the case with the UCP600 Customs and Practice on Documentary Credits 2007; or even the uniform selection of the same law (English law) in string transactions; or the selection of a well-established standard form, like the GAFTA 100 contract on CIF terms.

Teaching: Twenty hours of seminars in both the Michaelmas and Lent Terms. Four hours of revision seminars in the Summer Term.

Formative coursework: Where the student does not opt to write a dissertation in the subject, there will be at least 2 x 2000 word written assignments.

Assessment: One three-hour examination in ST (100%).
LL4E9

Dissertation: MSc Law, Anthropology and Society

This information is for the 2012/13 session.

Teacher responsible: Professor Alain Pottage.

Availability: Compulsory for MSc Law, Anthropology and Society.

Course content: Topics to be determined in consultation with programme teachers.

Teaching: Dissertation meetings with programme teachers.

Assessment: A 10,000 word dissertation.

---

LL4F1

Half Unit

Secured Financing in Commercial Transactions

This information is for the 2012/13 session.

Teacher responsible: Professor Michael Bridge, NAB 6.21

Availability: For LLM students and other Master’s level students with permission.

This course is capped at 30 students. Students must apply through Graduate Course Choice on LSEforYou.

Course content: An examination of the proprietary and security aspects of commercial transactions.

This course considers the significance of property and the special protection the law affords to proprietary interests (mainly in movable property). It examines various types of commercial transactions involving the transfer of property, the use of property, the taking of security and certain quasi-security transactions having a similar effect to security. It explores the different types of security and other transactions that may be available in the context of various types of asset, as well as priority issues when there are conflicting interests.

The course will also consider proposals for reforming the law and alternative approaches that might be taken. The course is based upon the principles of English law but reference will also be made to other systems of law and to international initiatives sponsored by Unidroit and UNCITRAL.

Teaching: One two-hour weekly session in the Michaelmas Term.

Formative coursework: Students are asked to submit one 2,000 word essay.

Assessment: One two-hour open book examination paper.
LL4F2  Half Unit
The Law and Practice of International Finance
This information is for the 2012/13 session.
Teacher responsible: Dr Jo Braithwaite, NAB 6.33
Availability: LLM and MSc Law and Accounting.
Course content: The course is a half-unit course which runs in Lent Term. It examines the legal issues which arise in international financial markets based in London. It is a good fit with LL4H4 (Financial Law) which runs in Michaelmas Term, though this is not a pre-requisite.
This course looks at the various transactions and structures which are widely used in the financial markets, such as derivatives, securitisation, syndicated loans and Eurobonds. With an emphasis on private law, it considers the relevant legal, commercial and regulatory background and the risks and protections available to participants in these markets. The course is based upon an analysis of the relevant issues under English law with some reference to other systems for comparative purposes. Where possible, several of the lectures will be attended by practitioners who will participate in the discussions, and the course ties in well with the LLM evening seminars in financial and corporate law.
The course will be underpinned by discussion of the legal principles involved in international finance, but the case studies referenced will be topical. In this sense, the content of the course will be adapted to the fast moving developments affecting international markets in capital and in risk (for example, in recent sessions the course has examined the legal basis of prime brokerage relationships, the related Lehman Brothers litigation and the ongoing regulatory reform of the OTC derivatives markets, including the new requirement of mandatory CCP clearing).
Teaching: The course will run in LT and will comprise a two hour weekly seminar and, depending on student numbers, small group follow-up classes.
Formative coursework: Students will be asked to submit one essay, which may be completed in exam conditions.
Assessment: Assessment is by closed book written examination (100%) which students sit in the summer term. The exam is two hours plus 15 minutes reading time.

LL4F3  Half Unit
Mergers, Acquisitions and Restructurings in Europe
This information is for the 2012/13 session.
Teachers responsible: Mr Edmund-Philipp Schuster, NAB 6.30
Availability: LLM and MSc Law and Accounting
This course, together with its related full course LL4D7, is subject to an overall cap of 90 students. Students must apply through Graduate Course Choice on LSEforYou.
Teaching: Ten two-hour seminars in LT; revision session in ST.
Formative coursework: 1,500 word essay, due in week 2 of LT
Assessment: A two-hour examination. Students answer two questions.

LL4F4  Half Unit
Takeover Regulation in the UK and the US
This information is for the 2012/13 session.
Teacher responsible: Professor David Kershaw, NAB 7.28
Availability: LLM and MSc Law and Accounting
This course, together with its related full course LL4D7, is subject to an overall cap of 90 students. Students must apply through Graduate Course Choice on LSEforYou.
The course is based upon analysis of the legal principles involved in international finance, but the case studies referenced will be topical. In this sense, the content of the course will be adapted to the fast moving developments affecting international markets in capital and in risk (for example, in recent sessions the course has examined the legal basis of prime brokerage relationships, the related Lehman Brothers litigation and the ongoing regulatory reform of the OTC derivatives markets, including the new requirement of mandatory CCP clearing).
Teaching: The course will run in LT and will comprise a two hour weekly seminar and, depending on student numbers, small group follow-up classes.
Formative coursework: Students will be asked to submit one essay, which may be completed in exam conditions.
Assessment: Assessment is by closed book written examination (100%) which students sit in the summer term. The exam is two hours plus 15 minutes reading time.

LL4F5  Not available in 2012/13
International Dispute Resolution
This information is for the 2012/13 session.
Teacher responsible: Professor Christine Chinkin, NAB 6.15 and Ms Anthea Roberts, NAB 6.23
Availability: LLM (Public International Law)
The course is based upon analysis of the legal principles involved in international finance, but the case studies referenced will be topical. In this sense, the content of the course will be adapted to the fast moving developments affecting international markets in capital and in risk (for example, in recent sessions the course has examined the legal basis of prime brokerage relationships, the related Lehman Brothers litigation and the ongoing regulatory reform of the OTC derivatives markets, including the new requirement of mandatory CCP clearing).
Teaching: The course will run in LT and will comprise a two hour weekly seminar and, depending on student numbers, small group follow-up classes.
Formative coursework: 1,500 word essay, due in week 2 of LT
Assessment: A two-hour examination. Students answer two questions.
International Dispute Resolution.

Teaching: Twenty hours of seminars in the MT and twenty hours of seminars in the LT. Two hours of seminars in the ST.

Formative coursework: Students will be expected to complete two formative essays of 2,000 words each during the course.

Assessment: One 3 hour examination (100%) in the ST.

---

LL4F6  Half Unit Not available in 2012/13
International Dispute Resolution: Non-Adjudicatory Processes

This information is for the 2012/13 session.

Teacher responsible: Professor Christine Chinkin, NAB 6.15

Availability: LLM (Public International Law)

This course is capped at 30 students. Students must apply through Graduate Course Choice on LSEforYou.

Course content: International Dispute Resolution: Non-Adjudicatory Processes is concerned with the way in which conflicts or potential conflicts, both between states and with other participants in the international arena, can be peacefully managed and resolved. It is a Half Unit course running for 10 weeks in MT. The course considers the options available for the peaceful settlement of international disputes. It will examine the general obligation under international law to settle disputes peacefully, focusing particularly (but not exclusively) on non-adjudicatory means of international dispute settlement, such as negotiation, inquiry, mediation and conciliation. Using controversial case studies (including those relating to peace processes), the course will examine the respective advantages and disadvantages of these various mechanisms, the interplay between them, and the factors that influence their effectiveness. It will also explore some of the theoretical issues that underpin international dispute resolution.

Teaching: Twenty hours of seminars in the MT. One hour of (revision) seminars in the ST.

Formative coursework: Students will be expected to complete one formative essay of 1,500 words during the course.

Assessment: One two-hour exam in the ST (100%).

---

LL4G6  Half Unit
International Commodity Sales

This information is for the 2012/13 session.

Teacher responsible: Professor Michael Bridge, NAB 6.21

Availability: LLM.

This course, together with its related full course LL4E5, is capped at 30 students. Students must apply through Graduate Course Choice on LSEforYou.

Course content: The course is concerned with the international sale of goods where English law is the applicable law by virtue of well-established standard form contracts used extensively in the trade, such as GAFTA 100 (a CIF contract form). English law plays a dominant part in the international sale of commodities, especially in the case of dry commodities (wheat, soya etc) produced in North America and transported to a northern European destination. It is usually the case that such contracts have no physical connection with England. There is a rich case law dealing with sales on FOB, CIF and similar terms and there are interesting comparisons to be drawn between forward physical sales and futures sales. Interesting questions are also posed by the intersection of various allied contracts concluded to give effect to the international venture, notably, sale, letters of credit, insurance and carriage (or charter parties). Extensive consideration is given to the UCP600 Customs and Practice on Documentary Credits 2007.

Teaching: 10 x 2 hour seminars or lectures (depending upon class size) in MT

Assessment: Two-hour unseen examination in the Summer Term (100%). Note that students taking this course and LL4K6 International Uniform Sales Law (H) will sit one 3-hour exam in the ST: LL4E5 International Sale of Goods.

---

LL4G7  Half Unit
Mental Health Law: The Civil Context

This information is for the 2012/13 session.

Teacher responsible: Professor Jill Peay, NAB 6.11

The course is taught in the Michaelmas term at Kings College by Professor Geneva Richardson. Students from Kings are taught alongside those from the LSE.

Availability: For LLM students and (with permission) MSc Criminal Justice Policy.

This course, together with its related full course LL458, is subject to an overall cap of 30 students. Students must apply through Graduate Course Choice on LSEforYou.

Course content: This course aims to integrate a practical and theoretical understanding of mental health law, as it relates both to mental illness and mental incapacity. It is not intended to provide a comprehensive understanding of the law in England and Wales, but rather aims at broader conceptual understanding of the problem areas that are likely to bedevil mental health law across many jurisdictions. The course makes reference to both the Mental Health Act 1983 and the Mental Capacity Act 2005.

Teaching: 20 two-hour seminars, weekly during the MT and LT...

Teaching: Weekly seminars of two hours for 10 weeks in MT.

Formative coursework: One essay of 2,000 words to be submitted by the last day of term.

Assessment: Two hour unseen examination in ST (100%). Students taking both this Half Unit course and LL4K7 Mental Health Law: The Criminal Context (H) sit one three-hour exam in the ST. LL4G8 Mental Health Law.

LL4G8 Half Unit Law of Corporate Finance A

This information is for the 2012/13 session.

Teacher responsible: Dr Eva Micheler, NAB 7.35

Availability: For LLM, MSc Law and Accounting and other Master’s level students with permission.

Course content: The course examines the private law rules governing how companies raise finance. The issues covered include e.g. capital structures, identifying and protecting shareholder rights, issuing shares, initial legal capital and alternatives, dividends, reduction of capital and share buy-backs, reform and moving to a solvency test, property rights in shares and financial assistance. The course will focus on English law, but will also look at other legal systems in particular at German law.

Teaching: Two-hour weekly lecture and fortnightly one-hour back up classes in MT.

Formative coursework: Students will have the opportunity to write a formative essay for each of the classes. All students are strongly encouraged to write at least one essay.

Assessment: Students taking Law of Corporate Finance A are required to sit one 2 hour examination in the summer term.

LL4H1 Half Unit Constitutional Theory

This information is for the 2012/13 session.

Teacher responsible: Dr Thomas Poole, NAB 7.19

Availability: Available to LLM students; available to other Master’s students with permission of the Teacher responsible.

The course is the MT teaching of the full unit LL444 Constitutional Theory.

This course is capped at 30 students. Students must apply through Graduate Course Choice on LSEforYou.

Course content: This course examines the role of constitutions and the nature of constitutional discourse. It considers the ways in which theorists have advanced understanding of constitutions and devised solutions to a range of constitutional questions. The course deals with the following topics: the rule of law; liberalism and republicanism; constitutional adjudication; cultural pluralism; theories of federalism; theories of revolution; the cosmopolitan polity.

Teaching: The course involves a weekly two-hour seminar during the MT. Detailed reading lists are provided in advance of seminars and students are expected to participate in discussions.

Formative coursework: Students are asked to submit one 2,000 word essay.

Indicative reading: Much of the reading for the course consists of classic texts in political thought. Many are available online and the course is delivered through Moodle. As preliminary reading, students are advised to read R C Van Caenegem, An Historical Introduction to Western Constitutional Law (Cambridge University Press, 1995).

Assessment: An extended essay of 8,000 words (100%).

LL4H2 Half Unit Media Law: Regulating Publication

This information is for the 2012/13 session.

Teacher responsible: Dr A Scott, NAB 6.25

Availability: For LLM, MSc Media and Communications, MSc Media and Communications (Media and Communication Governance) and MSc Media and Communications (Research) students and other Masters level students.

This course is capped at 30 students. Students must apply through Graduate Course Choice on LSEforYou.

Course content: The course examines the legal and administrative regulation of mass media publication (principally the press, the broadcast media, and institutionalised Internet publication). The course is introduced with consideration of a number of themes that underpin the rest of the syllabus: the role(s) of the media in society (including conceptions of the ‘public interest’); the main social, technological and regulatory influences that shape media publication practise, and rights jurisprudence (in particular, the freedom of expression and freedom of the press in national and international law). The course then examines potential restrictions on publication that are aimed at promoting or preserving specific private and/or public interests. The key private interests considered are those in reputation (defamation), privacy, and confidentiality. The key public interests considered are the integrity of the judicial process (contempt and reporting restrictions), the impartiality of political representations, the avoidance of offence (obscenity and religion), and national security.

Teaching: 10 weekly two-hour seminars in MT. The course is also supported by a series of specialist seminars with outside speakers, and by an online discussion forum.

Formative coursework: Students must submit an essay plan... and working bibliography for the assessed essay. All students are expected to contribute to a series of class and online exercises, and to submit one 1,500 word essay.

Assessment: One 8,000 word extended essay (100%). The extended essay will meet the LLM Writing Requirement.

---

LL4H3 Half Unit
Media Law: Regulating Newsgathering

This information is for the 2012/13 session.

Teacher responsible: Dr A Scott, NAB 6.25

Availability: For LLM, MSc Media and Communications, MSc Media and Communications (Media and Communication Governance) and MSc Media and Communications (Research) students and other Masters level students.

This course is capped at 30 students. Students must apply through Graduate Course Choice on LSEForYou.

Course content: This course examines the legal and administrative regulation of newsgathering and content production practices undertaken by journalists and others working in the media sector. The course is introduced with consideration of a number of themes that underpin the rest of the syllabus: the role(s) of the media in society (including conceptions of the ‘public interest’); the main social, technological and regulatory influences that shape media newsgathering practise, and rights jurisprudence (in particular, the freedom of expression and freedom of the press in national and international law). The course then examines a number of newsgathering practices that are either facilitated or proscribed by law and/or other forms of regulation. These include the protection of sources and journalistic materials; ‘cheque-book journalism’ (including payments to witnesses and to criminals); access to information held by the state (freedom of information); access to courts and legal documents; media-police interaction; harassment and media intrusion, and the regulation of surreptitious newsgathering practices (hacking, tapping and subterfuge).

Teaching: 10 weekly two-hour seminars in LT. The course is also supported by a series of specialist seminars with outside speakers, and by an online discussion forum.

Formative coursework: Students must submit an essay plan and working bibliography for the assessed essay. All students are expected to contribute to a series of class and online exercises, and to submit one 1,500 word formative essay.

Assessment: One 8,000 word extended essay (100%). The extended essay will meet the LLM Writing Requirement.

---

LL4H4 Half Unit
Financial Law

This information is for the 2012/13 session.

Teacher responsible: Dr Philipp Paech, NAB 7.05.

Availability: LLM and MSc Law and Accounting.

Course content: The traditional financial market sectors of insurance, commercial banking, derivatives, capital markets and asset management are converging in practice, but their academic analysis is still largely sector-based. This course offers a cross-sectoral, functional analysis, permitting students to grasp the big picture. It highlights certain anomalies in differing legal treatment of the respective sectors, and considers key trends. The course provides an overview of the substantive law aspects (UK, EU and international) of international financial and business transactions. The focus is mainly on broad principles and policy issues rather than a detailed examination of statute, case law and drafting. However, where appropriate, legal concepts and market practice will be explained by reference to case law and other legal sources. The course is designed to be as topical as possible, and the content may change in the light of developments. While the precise topics covered will vary from year to year they typically will include the following:

Introduction:
- Logic and players of the financial market
- Overview of types of financial transactions
- Reasoning and sources of financial law and regulation
- The types of risk and the role of financial law
- European and global legal and regulatory architecture
- Taking risk - funded positions:
  - The nature of banks, deposit taking, loans, syndicated loans
  - Issuance of debt securities, eurobonds and equity
- Investment funds
- Cross-comparison of funded positions, common patterns and differences
- Taking risk - simple positions:
  - Guarantee and insurance
  - Derivatives and credit default swaps
  - Structured finance, securitisation, asset-backed securities
  - Cross-comparison and the risk of recharacterisation
- Mitigating risk - net and asset-backed positions:
  - Set-off and netting
  - Security interests, quasi-security and financial collateral
- Insolvency policy and preferential treatment of financial firms
- Cross-jurisdictional analysis:
- Private international law analysis in financial law
- Example 1: intermediated securities and cross-border collateral
- Example 2: cross-jurisdictional netting
- Common patterns and difficulties

Teaching: The course will run in MT and will comprise a two hour weekly seminar and, depending on student numbers, small group follow-up seminars. There will be a revision session in ST.

Formative coursework: Students will be asked to submit a 2,000 word essay.

Indicative reading: A detailed reading list will be distributed prior to teaching.

Assessment: Assessment is by closed book written examination (100%) which students sit in the summer term. The exam is two hours plus 15 minutes reading time.

---

LL4H8 Half Unit
Employment Law

This information is for the 2012/13 session.

Teacher responsible: Professor H Collins NAB 7.10.

Availability: Optional on the LLM, MSc International Employment Relations and Human Resource Management and MSc Management and Human Resources. Also available to students and other Master’s level students with permission.

This course is capped at 30 students. Students must apply through Graduate Course Choice on LSEforYou.

Course content: Regulation of the content and the form of the employment relation. The contract of employment, including express and implied terms and the scope of employment law. Regulation of minimum wage and working time. Discipline and protection from dismissal and termination of employment. Business reorganisation, insolvency and employment rights, and economic dismissals. The approach involves theoretical perspectives, economic analysis, comparative law of employment, and examination of relevant European law.

Teaching: 10 two-hour seminars in MT.

Formative coursework: A 2,000 word essay and a presentation.

Indicative reading: A detailed syllabus of weekly readings will be available and the materials can all be accessed through Moodle. Hugh Collins, Employment Law, 2nd edn (Oxford University Press, 2010), Chapters 1-9.

Assessment: There is a two-hour formal examination in ST (100%). Candidates are allowed to take an unannotated copy of a collection of statutory materials into the examination.

LL4H9 Half Unit
Human Rights in the Workplace
This information is for the 2012/13 session.

Teacher responsible: Professor H Collins, NAB 7.10.

Availability: LLM, MSc Human Rights, and MSc Management and Human Resources. Other MSc students can take the course with permission.

This course is capped at 30 students. Students must apply through Graduate Course Choice on LSEforYou.

Course content: The sources and application of human rights in the workplace, including international and European laws and conventions. Civil liberties of employees. Social and economic rights of workers. Protection from discrimination in the labour market and employment. As well as detailed examination of legal materials, the approach involves discussion of theories of human rights and comparisons between legal systems.

Teaching: 10 two-hour seminars in the LT.

Formative coursework: One 2,000 word essay and one presentation.

Indicative reading: A detailed syllabus of weekly readings will be available and the materials can all be accessed through Moodle Preliminary reading: Hugh Collins, Employment Law, 2nd edn (Oxford University Press, 2010), Chapters 9-10.

Assessment: An extended essay, 8,000 words. The extended essay will meet the LLM Writing Requirement.

LL4K2 Half Unit
Law of International Economic and Financial Sanctions
This information is for the 2012/13 session.

Teacher responsible: Jonathan Fisher QC, Visiting Professor, and Dr Rachel Barnes.

Availability: LLM, MSc Accounting and Finance, MSc Accounting, Organisations and Institutions, MSc Criminal Justice Policy, MSc Law and Accounting, MSc Regulation (Research), MSc Regulation.

Some prior knowledge of public international law is useful but not essential.

This course is capped at 30 students. Students must apply through Graduate Course Choice on LSEforYou.

Course content: To examine the development and practice of States’ use of economic and financial sanctions against other States and non-State entities from a legal perspective. The course will consider both unilateral measures by individual States and multilateral programmes most notably those established by the UN Security Council and the European Union; the various modes of implementation and enforcement of these programmes on transnational levels and within domestic legal systems; issues arising in public international law and for fundamental human rights; and the effects on third parties, both in terms of the regulatory costs for businesses and charities and the humanitarian issues for civilian populations and persons connected with targeted entities.

Teaching: 10 hours of lectures and 10 hours of seminars in the LT (i.e. a two-hour session a week). One Lecture and one seminar in the ST. Students are expected to contribute to class discussions and to give at least one seminar presentation during the term.

Formative coursework: One essay of 2,500 words.

Assessment: One two-hour exam (100%) in ST.

LL4K3 Not available in 2012/13
Secured Credit in English, Comparative and International Law
This information is for the 2012/13 session.

Teacher responsible: Professor Michael Bridge, NAB 6.21

Availability: LLM only.

This course is capped at 30 students. Students must apply through Graduate Course Choice on LSEforYou.

Course content: This course deals with the various ways in which creditors improve their prospects of being repaid loans they have made to (principally corporate) debtors. The primary focus will be on proprietary security, whether it takes the form of mortgage, charge or pledge. In addition, extensive treatment will be given to proprietary devices, not traditionally viewed as security, which serve the same functional purpose as security (quasi-security). The various transactions giving rise to security and quasi-security will be dealt with, as also will the types of asset than can be made available to serve a security purpose. Priority issues will also be considered in the event of a conflict of interests among a debtor’s creditors, as well as the various ways in which creditors may have to give public notice of their interests. In the event of default by debtors, the ways in which creditors have recourse to assets the subject of security and quasi-security will be discussed. An important feature of security and quasi-security relates to the way they are effective in insolvency proceedings. Consideration will also be given to proposals for reforming the law and to the alternative approaches that might be taken. The course is centred on English law but deals at length with other systems of law (e.g., US and civilian systems) and with international instruments and conventions promulgated and sponsored by bodies such as the European Bank for Reconstruction and Development (EBRD), the International Institute for the Unification of Private Law (Unidroit) and the United Nations Commission on International Trade Law (UNCITAL). The course also deals with the effect of European Directives on the law of security and quasi-security.

Teaching: 20 hours of seminars in the MT and LT. Four hours of seminars in the ST.

Formative coursework: Unless they opt to write a dissertation in the subject, students will be required to write at least one essay of 2,000 words.

LL4K4  Half Unit
The International Law of Self-Determination
This information is for the 2012/13 session.
Teacher responsible: Dr James Irving
Availability: LLM and MSc Human Rights. The course is also available as an outside option where regulations permit. This course is capped at 30 students. Students must apply through Graduate Course Choice on LSEforYou.
Pre-requisites: Some prior knowledge of international law is useful but not essential.
Course content: This course will provide a general introduction to the doctrine of self-determination in international law. Self-determination will be historically contextualised from its intellectual progenitors in the Enlightenment through to its political birth at the 1919 Paris Peace Conference and its formal induction into international law by virtue of the 1945 UN Charter. Both the detail of the doctrine's content and the dynamic governing its development will be explored. The relationship between self-determination and state formation (including decolonisation and secession), minority rights, aboriginal rights, women's rights and the nascent right to democratic governance will be central topics. Reference will also be made to the interplay between self-determination and economic rights, including permanent sovereignty over natural resources, the right to development and the "third generation rights" movement more generally. Self-determination's influence upon the international rules governing the use of force will be discussed, but these rules will not be a primary focus. Upon completion of the course students will be in a position to legally analyse contemporary fact patterns and to identify both strengths and weaknesses in the existing legal framework. Students will have considered new and novel approaches to self-determination and will be able to situate the doctrine in relation to international law and human rights. Those taking the course will gain an appreciation for self-determination's particular contribution to political and economic liberty.
Teaching: 20 hours of seminars (10 weekly two-hour sessions) in MT.
Formative coursework: Students will be asked to submit one 2,000 word essay.
Assessment: One three-hour exam (100%) in the ST.

LL4K5  Half Unit
International Commercial Contracts: General Principles
This information is for the 2012/13 session.
Teachers responsible: Professor Michael Bridge, NAB 6.21 and Dr. Jan Kleineheisterkamp, NAB 7.34
Availability: LLM only.
This course is capped at 30 students. Students must apply through Graduate Course Choice on LSEforYou.
Pre-requisites: Firm knowledge in contract law and/or international sale of goods from previous studies.
Course content: The course treats what can be called the general part of transnational contract law, i.e. the general principles of law which are of relevance in any kind of international contract, be it sale, construction, shipping, financing, or joint venture. These general principles relate to contractual formation and negotiations, interpretation, transversal general principles, changed circumstances and hardship, agency, third parties, assignment, self-help and set-off, direct performance and damages and penalties. At present, such contracts are governed either by uniform rules of international conventions or by the national laws applicable by virtue of conflict of law rules. The course puts the existing national and international solutions in a comparative perspective so as to work with the sources of such generally accepted principles. Where there are divergences between existing solutions, the course focuses on the elaboration of new efficient solutions that are internationally acceptable and have the potential of becoming general principles in the future. For these purposes, special attention is given to the UNIDROIT Principles on International Commercial Contracts and, where appropriate, the European Principles of Contract Law. Other national laws, however, are drawn upon from time to time. Students are also encouraged, in both classes and examination, to reflect upon the similarities and differences between their own national laws and the UNIDROIT Principles.
Teaching: 10 x 2 hour seminars in the MT and two hours of revision in ST.
Formative coursework: Group presentations and one essay of 2,500 words.
Assessment: One two-hour exam in the ST (100%).
also very largely informed the Chinese Contract Law of 1999. The CISG is a most important piece of legislation in the continuing development of international contract law. It has been influential in the development of European sales law (the Directive on the Sale of Consumer Goods and Associated Guarantees) and of the Common Frame of Reference. The experience of the CISG brings out all of the issues arising from attempts to create uniform, transnational private law. Attention will also be given to the Unidroit Principles of International Commercial Contracts (2nd ed 2004) so far as they may be used to supplement the CISG. (This course complements LL4G6 International Commodity Sales. The two half-courses are taken as LL4ES International Sale of Goods.)

Teaching: Ten x 2 hour seminars or lectures (depending upon class size) in MT.

Formative coursework: Where the student does not opt to write a dissertation in the subject, there will be at least one x 2,000 word written assignment.

Assessment: Two-hour unseen examination in the Summer Term (100%). Note that students taking this course and LL4G6 International Commodity Sales (H) will sit one 3-hour exam in the ST. LL4ES International Sale of Goods.

---

LL4K8 Half Unit

Law of Corporate Finance B

This information is for the 2012/13 session.

Teacher responsible: Professor Niamh Moloney, NAB 7.16

Availability: For LLM and other Master’s level students with permission.

Course content: The course examines the legal issues arising out of the operation of the capital markets as intermediaries between investors and issuers; it focuses on the regulation of capital-raising through the markets. The topics covered include: disclosure theory; the role of trading markets in finance-raising and their regulation; prospectus disclosure; ongoing disclosure; market abuse; and the internationalization of capital-raising and harmonization. The course will focus on English law but reference will be made to the relevant EU rules. Course coverage may vary slightly from year to year.

Teaching: Two-hour weekly lecture and four one-hour back up classes (fortnightly) in LT.

Formative coursework: Students are asked to submit one 2,000 word essay.

Assessment: Students taking Law of Corporate Finance B are required to sit one two-hour unseen examination in the ST (100%).

---

LL4K9 Half Unit

European Capital Markets Law

This information is for the 2012/13 session.

Teacher responsible: Professor Niamh Moloney, NAB 7.16

Availability: Availability For LLM, MSc Regulation and MSc Regulation (Research) students and for other Master’s level students with permission. This course is subject to an overall cap of 60 students. Students must apply through Graduate Course Choice on LSEforYou.

Course content: The course examines the EU’s regulation of the capital markets. It considers the harmonized regulatory regime which applies to capital market actors across the Member States and which supports the integrated market. The topics covered include: the rationale for integration and the role of law, the evolution of the integration project, the Financial Services Action Plan, and the Lamfalussy Report; the deregulation, liberalization, harmonization, and re-regulation mechanisms used to integrate and regulate the EU market; market access and the passport for investment services; the Markets in Financial Instruments Directive 2004 and regulation; the liberalization of order execution and the regulation of trading markets; the UCITS mutual funds regime; retail investor protection; the prospectus and disclosure regime; and the institutional structure for law-making and for supervision. It also covers the EU’s financial crisis reform programme and the new European Securities and Markets Authority. Course coverage may vary slightly from year to year.

Teaching: Ten two-hour seminars in MT.

Formative coursework: Students are asked to submit one 2,000 word essay.

Assessment: One two-hour unseen examination in ST (100%). It is not possible to write an Elective Essay in substitution for the examination in this course for this academic session (2012-2013).

LL4L4 Half Unit

Law and the Holocaust

This information is for the 2012/13 session.

Teacher responsible: Dr Kristen Rundle, NAB 6.06.

Availability: LLM and MSc Human Rights students. Also available as an outside option where regulations permit and with the permission of the teacher responsible.

This course is capped at 30 students. Students must apply through Graduate Course Choice on LSEforYou.

Course content: This course examines the relationship between law, legal pathology, and the origins and implementation of the events known as the Holocaust. Students will explore the lessons for legal theory and practice arising from Hitler's rise to power under the Weimar Constitution, the legalization of the Nazi racial-biological worldview through eugenics and anti-Jewish legislation, the differential treatment of citizens and non-citizens in parallel anti-Jewish legal programs in Vichy France and elsewhere, the challenge to our conceptions of legal and moral responsibility that is presented by the idea of 'administrative massacre', and the question of how the Nazi legal era has been represented in mainstream jurisprudence. By studying the sequential moments of legal and institutional pathology that provided the context for the persecution of the Jews - loss of meaningful constitutionalism or constitutional values, loss of legal rights, loss of citizenship, loss of the standards of the rule of law, loss of the status of the legal subject as a bearer of dignity, amongst others - students will have the opportunity to think deeply about the significance of these pathologies for our understanding of what law is, what law should be, and what conditions are required for law to mediate power rather than merely provide a vehicle for its expression. The crucial role played by legal thinkers and legal actors in the Nazi project will be a key reference point, as will the question of the adequacy of our scholarly resources to the task of illuminating the complex questions and connections that a study of law and the Holocaust presents.

Teaching: 10 x 2 hour seminars in the LT, plus film presentations (where able to be timetabled) totalling approximately 6 hours.

Formative coursework: Short writing task (1500 words) at the mid-point of course.

Indicative reading: In addition to key primary sources (legislation etc), the following materials will be assigned: Hannah Arendt, The Origins of Totalitarianism (New York: Harcourt Brace, 1951).

David Fraser, "The Fragility of Law: Anti-Jewish decrees and Belgian legal elites", Chapter 3 in The Fragility of Law: Constitutional Patriotism and the Jews of Belgium, 1940-1945 (Routledge

Films:

Conspiracy (2001)

Judgment at Nuremberg (1961)

The Specialist (1999)

Assessment: 8,000 word extended essay (100%) on a topic chosen by the student in consultation with the instructor. The extended essay will meet the LLM Writing Requirement.

LL4L5 Half Unit

Socio-legal Theory and Practice

This information is for the 2012/13 session.

Teacher responsible: Professor Linda Mulcahy, NAB 7.15.

Availability: LLM and other Master's level students with permission. Proposed +4 ESRC PhD students registered in the law department (and in other departments with permission).

This course is capped at 30 students. Students must apply through Graduate Course Choice on LSEforYou.

Course content: This course will explore the interface between social theory, methodology and socio-legal practice. After an initial engagement with literature on the history, scope and nature of doctrinal, realist, critical and socio-legal approaches to law, the course will focus on seminal empirical studies of law and legal phenomena. In particular students will be asked to identify how specific theoretical frameworks for research have influenced choice of methodology, methods and the subsequent interpretation of data. Empirical studies exploring central legal concepts such as rights, regulation, access to justice, judgment, neutrality, due process and equality will be selected for in-depth analysis. An important feature of the course is that authors of leading socio-legal research outputs will be invited to lead 'master classes' in order to discuss the intellectual origins of their work and how this impacted on design and implementation.

Teaching: Twenty hours of seminars in the LT. Two hours of seminars in the ST.

Formative coursework: Students will be asked to prepare a poster presentation outlining the theoretical framework, methodological choices, ethical implications and practical obstacles for a research project they would like to undertake. The 'ideas map' they present will be used as a plan for the formal summative assessment. Each student will present their poster to the class before week seven of the term and will receive detailed feedback on their presentation by the end of the same term. This will give students the time to reflect on the comments made before writing up their ideas in their course dissertation A fuller version of the presentation will later be submitted as the coursework component of the course. This is an unusual form of assessment for law students but is used extensively in other disciplines. Students will be directed to websites which provide guidance in preparing a poster presentation and will also be given the opportunity to study examples of posters collected by the course convenor.

Examples of master class case studies:

Assessment: One 8,000 word extended essay, which takes the form of a research proposal (100%). The extended essay will meet the LLM Writing Requirement.

LL4L6  Half Unit
Theory of Human Rights Law
This information is for the 2012/13 session.
Teacher responsible: Dr Kai Moller, NAB 7.01
Availability: Optional for the LLM and MSc Human Rights. Also available as an outside option where regulations permit and with permission of the teacher responsible.
This course is capped at 30 students. Students must apply through Graduate Course Choice on LSEforYou.

Pre-requisites: Some knowledge of human rights law of any jurisdiction may be helpful, but is not essential. A knowledge of philosophy is not required.

Course content: The course will provide an introduction to the philosophy of human rights and theoretical issues in human rights law. The emphasis is on a combination of law and theory; to this end, each seminar will rely on a mixture of cases from various jurisdictions and theoretical and philosophical materials. The overarching questions to be examined are to what extent current philosophical theories of human rights can illuminate our understanding of the cases and legal doctrines, and to what extent the cases and doctrines can help improving the theoretical and philosophical understanding of human rights. Topics to be discussed will include: Negative and Positive Freedom; Theories of Human Rights; Ronald Dworkin’s Theory of Rights; Balancing and Proportionality; Rights Inflation; Human Rights and Judicial Review I (The American Perspective); Human Rights and Judicial Review II (The European Perspective); Absolute Rights.

Teaching: Twenty hours of seminars in the MT. 2 hours of seminars in the ST.

Formative coursework: Students are asked to submit one 2,000 word essay.

Indicative reading: The course will rely on both cases from various jurisdictions and articles and book chapters from authors including Amartya Sen, Ronald Dworkin, Robert Alexy, James Griffin, Mattias Kumm, Jeremy Waldron and Frances Kamm.

Assessment: One two-hour examination in the ST (100%).

LL4L9  Not available in 2012/13
LLM Full Unit Dissertation (attached to a Half Unit course)
This information is for the 2012/13 session.
Availability: For LLM and MSc students only (with permission).

Course content: A full unit dissertation for students registered for a Half Unit course. Students are required to attend the teaching on the Half Unit course and they must also ‘audit’ another Half Unit course in a similar area in order to meet the Programme requirements.

Please note that students taking LL4C5 Fundamentals of International Commercial Arbitration as their dissertation course can only combine it with LL4C6 Advanced Issues of Commercial Arbitration (H) or LL4E7 Investment Treaty Law (H).

Assessment: 15,000 word dissertation on a topic to be agreed with the course supervisor. The dissertation option is to be chosen in only one Half Unit module, with its outline approved in the LT by the course supervisor. Deadline for submission is end of August.

LL4S1  Half Unit
Cyberlaw
This information is for the 2012/13 session.
Teacher responsible: Professor Andrew Murray, NAB 7.26
Availability: LLM, MSc Law and Accounting, MSc Regulation, MSc Regulation (Research), MSc Media and Communications (Media and Communication Governance), MSc Global Media and Communications (with FuDan or USC) and the MPA Programme (all streams). Also available as an outside option.
This course is capped at 30 students. Students must apply through Graduate Course Choice on LSEforYou.

Course content: This course examines and discusses topical issues in relation to the law of the internet and other digital information devices (iPhones etc.). It opens by examining the issues relating to network regulation or control by addressing questions such as “can the internet be regulated?” and “who is competent to police online content and activity?” It concludes its examination of structural controls by examining the highly topical and politically charged issue of enshrined network neutrality: by asking the question: should Internet Service Providers be allowed to vary service conditions by types of content? Students taking the course will be expected to develop knowledge and understanding of the different values brought to bear in the regulation of ICT and communities and the factors leading towards choices of particular values, regulatory institutions and process. Such knowledge and understanding will operate both at the theoretical level and the level of particular examples of regulatory regimes.

Teaching: 20 hours of seminars in MT.

Formative coursework: Students should submit an essay plan and working bibliography for the assessed essay. All students are expected to contribute to a series of class and online exercises, and to submit one 2,000 word formative essay.

Murray: The Regulation of Cyberspace (Routledge, 2007)
Lessig: Code Ver 2.0 (Basic Books, 2006)
Zittrain: The Future of the Internet (Penguin, 2009)
Benkler: The Wealth of Networks (Yale UP, 2007)
Sunstein: Republic.com 2.0 (Princeton UP, 2009)

Assessment: One 8,000 word extended essay (100%). The extended essay will meet the LLM Writing Requirement.

LL4S2  Half Unit
E-Commerce Law
This information is for the 2012/13 session.
Teacher responsible: Professor Andrew Murray, NAB 7.26
Availability: LLM and MSc Law and Accounting. Also available as an outside option.
This course is capped at 30 students. Students must apply through Graduate Course Choice on LSEforYou.

Course content: This course is to introduce students from a legal background to the specialised legal structure which surrounds e-commerce. The course looks at the specific problems an e-commerce start-up must overcome in order to begin trading, including arranging hosting agreements, designing terms and conditions of service and delivery, and arranging distribution agreements. From here the course will develop to examine the problems of more mature e-commerce businesses including jurisdiction, payment systems and rules on marketing and privacy. Special classes on internet auctions and social networks will complete the analysis. The course is designed to act as an interface between ICT law and commercial law and practice in that it examines in detail the close sub-set of online transactions which are clearly commercial in nature.

Teaching: 20 hours of seminars in LT and 2 hours in ST.

Formative coursework: Students should submit an essay plan and working bibliography for the assessed essay. All students are expected to contribute to a series of class and online exercises, and to submit one 2,000 word formative essay.

Indicative reading:
- Hörlle: Cross-Border Internet Dispute Resolution (CUP, 2009)
- Charlesworth: Key Concepts in E-commerce (MacMillan, 2007)
- Dickie: Producers and Consumers in EU E-commerce Law (Hart, 2005)

Assessment: One 8,000 word extended essay (100%). The extended essay will meet the LLM Writing Requirement.

LL454 Half Unit Digital Rights, Privacy and Security

This information is for the 2012/13 session.

Teachers responsible: Mr Andrew Murray and Ms Orla Lynskey

Availability: LLM, MSc Regulation and MSc Regulation (Research). Also available as an outside option.

This course is capped at 30 students. Students must apply through Graduate Course Choice on LSEforYou.

Course content: While the development of the information society brings about significant economic and societal benefits, by treating the personal data of individuals as a valuable trading commodity it also raises fundamental rights concerns. In response to these concerns the EU has recognised a “right to data protection” in the EU Charter of Fundamental Rights and is currently remodelling the legal framework applicable to personal data processing in the EU. Moreover, other key global actors including the Council of Europe, the OECD and the US are currently discussing amendments to their legal regimes in this field. The proposed reforms suggest a first movement towards a shared global vision of whether, and how, personal data processing should be regulated in the information society. However, given the exponential increases in the amount of personal data processed globally such a movement may appear to be out of date, and even quaint.

This course will therefore critically evaluate the current and proposed legal frameworks applicable to personal data processing. Students will be introduced to techniques and technologies for monitoring and gathering personal data in the information society and the legal framework applicable to this personal data collection in a number of jurisdictions, including the EU, US and the UK. In order to bring key issues to life, a number of cases studies will be considered, for instance the application of data protection rules to online behavioural advertising, user-generated content on social networking sites and ambient technologies.

Teaching: 20 hours of seminars in MT and 2 hours in ST.

Formative coursework: All students are expected to contribute to a series of class and online exercises, and to submit to one one-hour mock exam.

Indicative reading:
- Lessig: Remix – Making Art and Commerce Thrive in the Hybrid Economy (Bloomsbury, 2008)
- Boyle: The Public Domain: Enclosing the Commons of the Mind (Yale UP, 2009)
- Netanel: Copyright’s Paradox (OUP, 2010)

Assessment: One two-hour exam in the ST (100%).
LL4Z2 Half Unit
Principles of Taxation
This information is for the 2012/13 session.
Teachers responsible: Dr I Roxan, NAB 7.25, Mr E Baistrocchi, NAB 7.33, Professor M Gammie, and others.
Availability: For LLM degree and MSc in Law and Accounting. For other Master's level students with permission of the course convenor. This course is capped at 30 students. Students must apply through Graduate Course Choice on LSEforYou.
Pre-requisites: The course is suitable both for those who have not studied taxation before and for those who have. It is recommended for those who have not studied taxation previously, and who are studying any of the other tax courses offered at LLM/MSc level.
Course content: This course looks at how tax systems work and the principles that lie behind tax systems. Topics covered include the reasons for taxation and the main types of tax, how income is taxed, how tax administration operates, the interpretation of tax legislation and tax avoidance. The course uses examples from the tax systems of the UK and other countries to illustrate the issues discussed. The course is suitable for those who have not studied taxation before, as well as for those with a background in tax who are interested in studying the principles of taxation in greater depth.
Teaching: Two-hour weekly seminars in LT
Formative coursework: Students are asked to submit one 2,000 word essay.
Indicative reading: Appropriate readings from journal articles and from books including: Messere et al., Tax Policy: Theory and Practice in OECD Countries; Tanzi and Zee, Tax Policy for Developing Countries; Victor Thuronyi, Comparative Tax Law; James and Nobes, The Economics of Taxation; Mirrlees et al., Tax by Design; McClure, The Value Added Tax: Key to Deficit Reduction?; James and Nobes, The Economics of Taxation; Tanzi and Zee, Tax Policy for Developing Countries.
Detailed reading lists will be provided during course via Moodle.
Assessment: A two-hour examination in the ST (100%).

LL4Z4 Half Unit
Value Added Tax in the European Context
This information is for the 2012/13 session.
Teacher responsible: Dr Ian Roxan, NAB 7.25.
Availability: For LLM, MSc Law and Accounting. For other Master's level students with permission of the course convenor. It is not possible to take this course along with LL494 Value Added Tax. This course, together with its related full unit course LL494, is subject to an overall cap of 30 students. Students must apply through Graduate Course Choice on LSEforYou.
Pre-requisites: This course is suitable for students who are taking LL4Z3 Consumption Taxes, or who already have some experience of EU direct or indirect taxation or of a VAT or GST system.
Course content: The focus of the course will be on the European Union VAT as it operates in the United Kingdom. A significant part of the course will be devoted to EU legislation and jurisprudence. The course will begin with an introduction to key concepts of VAT, including supplies of goods and services, taxable persons and transactions, the rate structure, and consideration for supplies. The course will then examine in more detail a range of the most important aspects of VAT, including topics such as the deductibility of input tax and the treatment of exemptions, the taxation of international transactions and transactions between member states, VAT and financial services.
Teaching: Two-hour weekly seminars in LT.
Formative coursework: Students are asked to submit one 2,000 word essay.
Indicative reading: Terra and Wattel, European Tax Law; Ogley, Principles of Value Added Tax: A European Perspective; Ebril, The Modern VAT, Alan A. Tait, Value Added Tax: International Practice and Problems; Mirrlees et al., Tax by Design; McClure, The Value Added Tax: Key to Deficit Reduction?, James and Nobes, The Economics of Taxation; Tanzi and Zee, Tax Policy for Developing Countries.
Detailed reading lists will be provided during course via Moodle.
Assessment: A two-hour exam in the ST (100%).

LL4Z3 Half Unit
Consumption Taxes
This information is for the 2012/13 session.
Teacher responsible: Dr Ian Roxan, NAB 7.25.
Availability: For LLM, MSc Law and Accounting. For other Master's level students with permission of the course convenor. It is not possible to take this course along with LL494 Value Added Tax. This course, together with its related full unit course LL494, is subject to an overall cap of 30 students. Students must apply through Graduate Course Choice on LSEforYou.
Pre-requisites: This course is suitable for students who are taking LL4Z2 Principles of Taxation, and it provides a suitable background course for LL4Z4 VAT in the European Context. In the sixty years of the existence of value added taxes, they have spread to all corners of the globe to become one of the most important sources of government revenue. This course will examine the nature of value added taxes, whether called VAT, GST or another name. VATs will be compared with other methods of taxing consumption, including other sales taxes and progressive expenditure taxes. The course will also look at the distinction between taxing consumption and income and the redistributive effects of taxing consumption.
The course then considers the main features and problems raised by VATs and GSTs, including defining the taxpayers and the amount subject to tax, international transactions and VATs in federal jurisdictions, and problematic issues such as input tax credits. Examples will be drawn from the European Union VAT and from taxes in other countries.
Teaching: Two-hour weekly seminars in MT.
Formative coursework: Students are asked to submit one 2,000 word essay.
Detailed reading lists will be provided during course via Moodle.
Assessment: A two-hour examination in the ST (100%).
Principles of Value Added Tax: A European Perspective; Farmer & Lyal, EC Tax Law; Roxan, "VAT Supplies of Services: A Definition in Search of a Meaning"; Millar, "Illusory Supplies and Unacknowledged Discounts: VAT and Valuation in Consumer Transactions".

Students will be expected to acquire either the Tolley's Orange Tax Handbook, or The Green Book (CCH) for the current year.

Assessment: A two-hour formal written examination (100%). Candidates will be permitted to take into the examination room unannotated copies of the Tolley's Orange Tax Handbook or CCH The Green Book.

LL4Z5  Half Unit
EU State Aid Law
This information is for the 2012/13 session.
Teacher responsible: Dr Pablo Ibanez Colomo, NAB 7.18
Availability: For LLM, MSc Regulation and MSc Regulation (Research). MSc Politics and Government in the European Union students must seek approval of the course convenor. This course is capped at 30 students. Students must apply through Graduate Course Choice on LSEforYou.

Course content: Member States of the EU are not free to award subsidies to their national companies or to support them in a comparable way (by, inter alia, securing favourable supply conditions to the companies, granting loans at favourable rates or providing unlimited guarantees). In the wake of the recent financial crisis, for instance, bailout measures adopted across the EU had to be cleared by the European Commission in accordance with Articles 107 and 108 TFEU.

The first part of the course explores the economic rationale underpinning the prohibition of State aid in the European Union (the reasons why similar regimes are not implemented at the national level in federal countries facing similar dilemmas, such as the United States, will also be explored). The second part examined (i) the notion of State aid within the meaning of Article 107(1) TFEU and (ii) the conditions under which measures falling under the scope of that provision may be deemed compatible with the internal market. The third part provides an overview of the application of the law in some sectors (including the financial and the communications sectors) or for some purposes (e.g. research and development, regional aid). Finally, the fourth part is devoted to the procedural aspects of the discipline.

Teaching: One two-hour seminar each week during the Lent Term.

Assessment: A two-hour examination in the ST (100%).

LL4Z6  Half Unit
Comparative Constitutional Law: Institutions
This information is for the 2012/13 session.
Teacher responsible: Dr Jo Eric Khushal Murkens, NAB 7.31
Availability: For the LLM (Specialisms: Legal Theory, Public Law, Human Rights Law). This half course and its related full unit course LL4F7 are subject to a combined cap of 30 students. Students must apply through Graduate Course Choice on LSEforYou. Students wishing to take LL4Z6 Comparative Constitutional Law: Institutions together with this course must choose the full course LL4F7.

Course content: This course examines a range of important and controversial topics in constitutional law from a comparative perspective. The topics to be discussed include: abortion; euthanasia and physician-assisted suicide; gay sex and sodomy; religion in the public sphere; non-discrimination; affirmative action; hate speech and denial of the holocaust; obscenity. The materials will come from a broad range of jurisdictions, including but not limited to the U.S., Canada, South Africa, the European Convention on Human Rights, the U.K. and Germany. The emphasis will be on a critical and comparative analysis of the cases; secondary literature will only rarely be used. The cases will be used to highlight differences in judicial methodology, constitutional traditions (including textual differences in the various constitutions and human rights documents and the social and political background against which the constitution was adopted and continues to be interpreted), and - primarily - disagreement about the substantive moral and political questions at stake.

Teaching: 10 two-hour seminars, weekly during the LT. Readings are provided in advance and students are expected to participate in discussions.

Formative coursework: One 2,000 word essay.
Indicative reading: The course is mainly case-based; however, interested students may find the following book helpful: V Jackson and M Tushnet, Comparative Constitutional Law, 2nd edition, 2006.

Assessment: A two-hour examination in the ST (100%).

LL4Z7  Half Unit
Comparative Constitutional Law: Rights
This information is for the 2012/13 session.
Teacher responsible: Dr Kai Moller, NAB 7.01
Availability: For the LLM (Specialisms: Legal Theory, Public Law, Human Rights Law).

This half course and its related full unit course LL4F7 are subject to a combined cap of 30 students. Students must apply through Graduate Course Choice on LSEforYou. Students wishing to take LL4Z6 Comparative Constitutional Law: Institutions together with this course must choose the full course LL4F7.

Course content: This course examines a range of important and controversial topics in constitutional rights law from a comparative perspective. The topics to be discussed include: abortion; euthanasia and physician-assisted suicide; gay sex and sodomy; religion in the public sphere; non-discrimination; affirmative action; hate speech and denial of the holocaust; obscenity. The materials will come from a broad range of jurisdictions, including but not limited to the U.S., Canada, South Africa, the European Convention on Human Rights, the U.K. and Germany. The emphasis will be on a critical and comparative analysis of the cases; secondary literature will only rarely be used. The cases will be used to highlight differences in judicial methodology, constitutional traditions (including textual differences in the various constitutions and human rights documents and the social and political background against which the constitution was adopted and continues to be interpreted), and - primarily - disagreement about the substantive moral and political questions at stake.

Teaching: 10 two-hour seminars, weekly during the LT. Readings are provided in advance and students are expected to participate in discussions.

Formative coursework: One 2,000 word essay.

Indicative reading: The course is mainly case-based; however, interested students may find the following book helpful: V Jackson and M Tushnet, Comparative Constitutional Law, 2nd edition, 2006.

Assessment: A two-hour examination in the ST (100%).

LL4Z8  Half Unit
Not available in 2012/13
Theories of Criminal Law and Criminal Justice
This information is for the 2012/13 session.
Teacher responsible: Dr Peter Ramsay, NAB6.27
Availability: For LLM students and for MSc Criminal Justice Policy, MSc Law, Anthropology and Society (with permission). This course is capped at 30 students. Students must apply through Graduate Course Choice on LSEforYou.

Course content: Theories of criminal wrong, criminal responsibility and punishment. The problem of how the criminal law's threats of punishment, and the actual punishment of those who fail to obey those threats, can be justified.

Teaching: 10 seminars of two-hours duration.

Formative coursework: Students are asked to submit one 2,000 word essay.

Assessment: One two-hour examination in ST (100%).

---

LL4Z9  Half Unit  Banking Law

This information is for the 2012/13 session.

Teacher responsible: Dr Jo Braithwaite, NAB 6.33

Availability: For LLM students. The course is a  Half Unit course, which runs in Lent Term. This course is capped at 30 students. Students must apply through Graduate Course Choice on LSEforYou.

Course content: The financing activities of banks, and the regulation of banking activities, are examined in other courses. This course focuses on the private law of banking as it relates to the core banking activities not covered elsewhere: the deposit-taking relationship, and (more fully) bank payment services. It aims to be both domestic and international in perspective, though the emphasis will be on English law. Topics include:

1. The deposit-taking relationship.
2. Money, transfers of money and payment
3. Bank payment methods: funds transfers
4. Third party claims and liabilities of banks as payment service providers
5. Bank payment services in international trade

Teaching: Ten weekly two-hour seminars in Lent Term, plus one Summer Term revision seminar.

Formative coursework: Students will be asked to submit one essay, which may be written in exam conditions.

Indicative reading: For introductory purposes, students are referred to Cranston, Principles of Banking Law (2002). Full reading lists will be distributed during the course.

Assessment: The course will be assessed by means of a two-hour examination paper (100%), taken in the Summer Term, in which students will be required to answer two questions. Students may bring unannotated copies of primary materials into the examination room.

---

MA400  September Introductory Course (Financial Mathematics)

This information is for the 2012/13 session.

Teachers responsible: Professor Mihail Zervos, COL 4.02 and Dr Luitgard Veraart, COL 4.11

Availability: This course is primarily intended for students taking MSc Applicable Mathematics. It may also be taken by other students having a suitable mathematical background.

Course content: The course is concerned with the common mathematical definitions and techniques that set the agenda for the Financial Mathematics MSc as a whole. Also, this course will introduce an introduction to programming with C++.

This course is composed of two components:

The first component is concerned with the common mathematical background that is assumed by the MSc Financial Mathematics and addresses some aspects of the mathematical theory that is central to the foundations of the programme: a review of sets and set operations, functions and inverse functions is first developed; probability spaces, random variables, distributions, expectations and moment generating functions are then discussed; special emphasis is placed on the binomial, the normal and the log-normal distributions; the concepts of conditional probability and conditional expectation as random variables are introduced using intuitive arguments and simple examples; stochastic processes, martingales, the standard Brownian motion and the Poisson process are introduced; Itô’s formula and Girsanov’s theorem are discussed on a formal basis.

The second component is an introduction to programming with languages such as C++.

Teaching: 40 lectures and classes over two weeks during September, prior to the start of the academic year, and 3 support lectures in MT.

Formative coursework: Exercises are assigned and form the basis of class discussion.

Indicative reading: Lecture notes will be provided for the mathematics component of this module. For the programming elements of the pre-sessional, we will use Derek Capper, Introducing C++ for Scientists, Engineers and Mathematicians, Springer 2001. For those with prior programming experience, a standard reference book on the C++ programming language is Bjørne Stroustrup, The C++ Programming Language, Addison Wesley, 1997.

Assessment: This course does not form part of the degree award.

---

MA401  Half Unit  Not available in 2012/13  Computational Learning Theory and Neural Networks

This information is for the 2012/13 session.

Teacher responsible: Dr Tuğkan Batu, COL 4.04

Availability: This course is primarily intended for students taking MSc Applicable Mathematics. It may also be taken by other students having a suitable mathematical background.

Course content: This course uses mathematical techniques (including probability theory, discrete mathematics and computational complexity) to analyse the representational and learning properties of artificial neural networks and other machine learning systems (including classes of Boolean functions). The key topics to be covered are: Neural networks and other learning systems; Boolean functions; A framework for supervised learning; Probabilistic modelling of learning; Consistent algorithms, sample error minimisation algorithms and learnability; The VC-dimension and the sample complexity of learning; Computational complexity of learning; The complexity of neural network learning. Other topics may be explored, if time permits.

Teaching: 20 lectures in MT and nine classes.

Assessment: A two-hour written examination in the ST (90%) and one piece of assessed coursework (10%).

---

MA402  Half Unit  Game Theory I

This information is for the 2012/13 session.

Teacher responsible: Professor Bernhard von Stengel, COL 4.12

Availability: This course is available to students on MSc Applicable Mathematics, MSc Financial Mathematics and MSc Management Science (Decision Sciences). Students from other MSc programmes may follow this course, provided they fulfil the pre-requisites.

Pre-requisites: Students should have basic knowledge of matrices as covered in Mathematical Methods (MA100) or Quantitative Methods (MA107) and some knowledge of probability. It is not available to students who have taken Game Theory (MA300) or Game Theory I (MA301).

Teaching: The lecture course MA300.1 Game Theory I consisting of two lectures a week and classes MA402.1A in the MT. Revision lectures will be arranged in the ST.

Formative coursework: Weekly exercises are set and marked.

Indicative reading: Recommended: Lecture notes will be provided. Supplementary reading: K Binmore, Playing for Real: Game Theory CUP, 2007; E Mendelson, Introducing Game Theory and Its Applications.

Assessment: There will be a two-hour written examination in the Summer term.

---

MA407 Half Unit

Algorithms and Computation

This information is for the 2012/13 session.

Teacher responsible: Dr Tugkan Batu, COL 4.04 and Dr Julia Böttcher COL 4.03

Availability: This course is compulsory for MSc Applicable Mathematics and optional for MSc Risk and Stochastics. Students from other MSc programmes may follow this course, provided they fulfil the pre-requisites.

Pre-requisites: A broad general knowledge of mathematics, including familiarity with abstract concepts, and a willingness to cope with technical details of computer usage. Students without previous programming experience can simultaneously attend the course MA314 in MT to become familiar with Java.

Teaching: 20 lectures (MA407) in MT and LT, 10 classes (MA407.A) and 20 Help Sessions in MT and LT.

Formative coursework: Weekly exercises are set and marked. Many of these will require implementation of programming exercises in Java.

Indicative reading: T H Cormen, C E Leiserson, R L Rivest and C Stein, Introduction to Algorithms; D Flanagan, Java in a Nutshell; J Hubbard, Schaum’s Outline of Programming with Java, 2nd edition; N Carter, Schaum’s Outline of Computer Architecture.

Assessment: The course is examined by projects and a written examination as follows: 10% for a first programming project in MT; 20% for a second larger programming project in LT; 70% for a 2.5-hour written examination in the ST.

---

MA408 Half Unit

Discrete Mathematics and Complexity

This information is for the 2012/13 session.

Teachers responsible: Dr Peter Allen COL 4.05

Availability: The course is primarily intended for students taking the MSc Applicable Mathematics. Students on other MSc programmes may take the course subject to the approval of the Programme Tutor and the Lecturer.

Pre-requisites: Students should have taken the course MA407 Algorithms and Computation or an equivalent course to provide a basic knowledge of algorithms, and should have experience with proofs and proof techniques used in pure mathematics.

Course content: The first part of this course covers some basic parts of discrete mathematics, with emphasis on their algorithmic aspects. The problems considered in this part can be mostly solved by algorithms whose running time is a polynomial function of the size of the input. The second part is concerned with the idea of effective computability, and the identification of problems that (apparently) cannot be solved in polynomial time. Topics to be covered include: Brief review of graph-theoretic terminology; Edge-colourings, matchings, Hall’s Theorem; Network flows, the max-flow min-cut theorem, and its algorithmic version; Fundamental ideas about computability, Turing machines, the halting problem; Polynomial time, non-deterministic polynomial time, NP-complete and NP-hard problems.

Teaching: 20 lectures and 10 seminars in the LT

Several of these texts are available online. More information, plus additional notes, will be provided during the course.

Assessment: One assessed coursework (20%) and a two-hour examination in the ST (80%).

---

MA409 Half Unit

Continuous-Time Optimisation

This information is for the 2012/13 session.

Teacher responsible: Professor Adam Ostaszewski, COL 4.06

Availability: Intended for students on MSc Applicable Mathematics and MSc Risk and Stochastics and other suitably qualified students.

Pre-requisites: Students should have attended a course in Mathematical Methods, similar to MA200 Further Mathematical Methods (Calculus), and should have experience with proofs and proof techniques used in pure mathematics.

Teaching: 20 lectures and 10 seminars in LT. Revision lectures will be arranged in the ST.

Indicative reading: A full set of lecture notes will be provided. Reference will be made to the following books: E R Pinch, Optimal Control and the Calculus of Variations, Oxford Science Publications; G Leitmann, Calculus of Variations and Optimal Control, Plenum; A K Dixit & R S Pindyck, Investment under Uncertainty, Princeton University Press; D Duffie, Security Markets, Academic Press; D J Bell & D H Jacobsen, Singular Optimal Control, Academic Press; J L Troutman, Variational Calculus and Optimal Control, Springer; W H Fleming & R W Rishel, Deterministic and Stochastic Optimal Control, Springer; W H Fleming; H M Soner Controlled Markov Processes & Viscosity Solutions, Springer; G Hadley; M C Kemp, Variational...
MA410 Half Unit
Information, Communication and Cryptography
This information is for the 2012/13 session.
Teacher responsible: Professor Norman L Biggs, COL 3.08
Availability: The course is primarily intended for students taking MSc Applicable Mathematics. Students on other MSc programmes may follow this course, provided they fulfill the pre-requisites.
Pre-requisites: Students should be taking the course MA407 Algorithms and Computation or an equivalent course.
Course content: This course provides an introduction, for students with a mathematical background, to the applications of mathematics in information theory, coding theory, cryptography, and related areas.
The course will cover mathematical aspects of the following topics: Noiseless coding, the Kraft-McMillan criterion, optimal coding, entropy, Shannon's first theorem; Noisy channels, capacity, system entropy; Error-correcting codes, decoding rules, bounds, construction and properties of linear and cyclic codes; Structure of natural languages, redundancy, the frequency table, making and breaking cryptosystems, historic examples; Public-key cryptography, complexity issues, the RSA system, authentication schemes, the ElGamal system, elliptic curve cryptography.
Teaching: 20 lectures and 10 seminars in the MT.
Assessment: One assessed coursework counting for 10%; two-hour written examination in the ST (90%).

MA411 Half Unit
Probability and Measure
This information is for the 2012/13 session.
Teacher responsible: Dr Arne Lokka, COL 4.08
Availability: Intended for students on the MSc Applicable Mathematics and MSc Financial Mathematics, and other suitably qualified students. Optional for MSc Risk and Stochastics.
Pre-requisites: Some background in pure mathematics is essential.
Course content: The purposes of this course are (a) to explain the formal basis of abstract probability theory, and the justification for basic results in the theory, and (b) to explore those aspects of the theory most used in advanced analytical models in economics and finance. The approach taken will be formal. Probability spaces and probability measures. Random variables. Expectation and integration. Convergence of random variables. Conditional expectation. The Radon-Nikodym Theorem. Martingales. Stochastic processes. Brownian motion. The Itô integral.
Teaching: 20 hours of lectures and 10 hours of seminars in MT (and a revision lecture in ST).
Indicative reading: Full lecture notes will be provided. The following may prove useful: J S Rosenthal, A First Look at Rigorous Probability Theory; G R Grimmett & D R Stirzaker, Probability and Random Processes; D Williams, Probability with Martingales; M Caplinski & E Kopp, Measure, Integral and Probability; J Jacod & P Protter, Probability Essentials.
Assessment: Two-hour written examination in the ST.

MA412 Half Unit
Functional Analysis and its Applications
This information is for the 2012/13 session.
Teacher responsible: Dr Robert Simon COL 4.07
Availability: The course is primarily intended for students taking MSc Applicable Mathematics. Students on other MSc programmes may follow this course, provided they fulfill the pre-requisites.
Pre-requisites: A background in undergraduate mathematics, in particular linear algebra (for instance, at the level of MA201 Further Mathematical Methods (Linear Algebra)) and ordinary calculus (for example, at the level of MA200 Further Mathematical Methods (Calculus)), would be sufficient as a prerequisite. Some degree of mathematical maturity is expected.
Course content: This course aims at familiarizing the student with the basic concepts, principles and methods of functional analysis and its applications. The topics covered are: normed and Banach spaces, continuous linear transformations, inner product and Hilbert spaces, compact operators, applications to differential equations, numerical analysis, optimization, and approximation theory with illustrative examples.
Teaching: 20 lectures (MA412) and 10 seminars (MA412.A) in MT.
Formative coursework: Weekly exercises are set and marked.
Assessment: There will be a formal two-hour written examination in the ST (90%) and one piece of coursework to be completed in the middle of the MT (10%).

MA413 Half Unit
Games of Incomplete Information
This information is for the 2012/13 session.
Teacher responsible: Dr Robert Simon, COL 4.07
Availability: The course is intended for students taking MSc Applicable Mathematics. Students on other MSc programmes may take the course subject to approval of the Programme Tutor and Lecturer.
Pre-requisites: Students should have taken MA402 (Game Theory) or an equivalent course in game theory. A background in algebra, topology, or probability theory would be desirable. Some degree of mathematical maturity is expected.
Course content: The techniques and results of game theory are increasingly important to economic analysis. This course focuses on the problems of information incompleteness and information asymmetry. This is a relatively new but rapidly expanding area of game theory with connections to several areas of economic theory, for example conflict resolution, auctions, principal-agent problems, and the logic of knowledge.
The course is divided into three parts, I Basic Results, II Repeated Games, III Bayesian Games. For the first part we cover the Min-max Theorem and Nash's Theorem of Equilibrium Existence, Extensive Form and Discounted Games. For the second part we cover Zero-sum Games with Vector Payoffs, The Value of the Zero-sum Repeated Game of Incomplete Information on One Side, Non-Zero-Sum Games with Incomplete Information on One Side, Incomplete Information on Two Sides, and Variations of Repeated Games of Incomplete Information. For the third part we cover Common Knowledge, Belief Spaces, Zero-Sum Bayesian Games, Locally Finite Games, Non-Zero-Sum Bayesian Games, Ergodic Theory and Ergodic Games, and Open Problems of Bayesian Games.
Teaching: The course consists of 20 lectures and 10 seminars in the LT. Revision lectures will be arranged in the ST.
Formative coursework: Weekly exercises are set and marked.
Indicative reading: A full set of lecture notes will be provided. Useful accompanying texts are Robert J. Aumann and Michael B. Maschler, Repeated Games with Incomplete Information, MIT Press, 1995; L. Breiman, Probability; K. Border, Fixed Point Theorems with...
MA414  Half Unit
Stochastic Analysis

This information is for the 2012/13 session.
Teacher responsible: Dr Arne Lokka, COL 4.08
Availability: This course is primarily intended for students studying for MSc Financial Mathematics, MSc Applicable Mathematics, MSc Accounting and Finance and MSc Management and Regulation of Risk.

This course is also available to other suitably qualified students with the permission of the Degree Programme Director and the teacher responsible for the course.

Pre-requisites: MA411 Probability and Measure, or ST409 Stochastic Processes, or equivalent.

Course content: This course is concerned with a rigorous introduction to the area of stochastic analysis with emphasis on Itô calculus.
The course begins necessary preliminaries, followed by a construction of the standard Brownian motion and a study of its properties. Subsequently, Itô's characterisation of Brownian motion, martingale representation theorems and Girsanov's theorem are established. The course then expands on a study of stochastic differential equations.

Teaching: 20 lectures and 10 seminars in the Lent Term.
Formative coursework: Weekly exercises are set and form the basis of the classes.

Indicative reading: Full lecture notes will be provided.
The following may prove useful:
I Karatzas and S E Shreve, Brownian Motion and Stochastic Calculus, Springer; B Øksendal, Stochastic Differential Equations: An Introduction with Applications, Springer; D Revuz and M Yor, Continuous Martingales and Brownian Motion, Springer; L C G Rogers and D Williams, Diffusions, Markov Processes, and Martingales, Cambridge.
Assessment: A two-hour exam in the Summer Term.

MA415  Half Unit
The Mathematics of the Black and Scholes Theory

This information is for the 2012/13 session.
Teachers responsible: Dr Arne Lokka, COL 4.08
Pre-requisites: MA400 September Introductory Course (Financial Mathematics)
Availability: This course is primarily intended for students studying for the MSc Financial Mathematics, MSc Risk and Stochastics, MSc Accounting and Finance and MSc Management and Regulation of Risk.

This course is also available to other suitably qualified students with the permission of the Degree Programme Director and the teacher responsible for the course.

Course content: This course is concerned with a mathematical development of the risk-neutral valuation theory. In the context of the binomial tree model for a risky asset, the course introduces the concepts of replication and martingale probability measures.
The mathematics of the Black & Scholes methodology follow; in particular, the expression of European contingent claims as expectations with respect to the risk-neutral probability measure of the corresponding discounted payoffs, pricing formulae for European put and call options, and the Black & Scholes PDE are derived. A class of exotic options is then considered. In particular, pricing formulas for lookback and barrier options are derived using PDE techniques as well as the reflection property of the standard Brownian motion. The course also introduces a model for foreign exchange markets and various foreign exchange options.

Teaching: 20 lectures, and 10 seminars in the Lent Term.
Formative coursework: Weekly exercises are set and form the basis of the classes.

Assessment: A two hour examination in the ST.

MA416  Half Unit
The Foundations of Interest Rate and Credit Risk Theory

This information is for the 2012/13 session.
Teacher responsible: Dr Pavel Gapeev, COL 4.10
Availability: This course is primarily intended for students studying for the MSc Financial Mathematics, MSc Risk and Stochastics, MSc Statistics (Financial Statistics) and MSc Statistics (Financial Statistics) (Research).

Pre-requisites: MA415 The Mathematics of the Black and Scholes Theory or equivalent.

Course content: This course is concerned with the mathematical foundations of interest rate and credit risk theory.
The course starts with a development of the multi-dimensional Black & Scholes theory with stochastic market data. This is then used to show how discount bond dynamics modelling can be approached by (a) the modelling of the short-rate process and the market price of risk, which underlies the family of short-rate models, or (b) the modelling of the market price of risk and the discount bond volatility structure, which gives rise to the Heath-Jarrow-Morton (HJM) framework. The course then expands on the theory of interest rate market models and credit risk.

Teaching: 20 lectures and 10 seminars in the Lent Term.
Formative coursework: Weekly exercises are set and form the basis of the classes.

Assessment: 20 lectures, and 10 seminars in the MT.

MA417  Half Unit
Computational Methods in Finance

This information is for the 2012/13 session.
Teachers responsible: Dr Luitgard Veraart COL 4.11
Availability: This course is primarily intended for students studying MSc Financial Mathematics. It is also available on MSc Finance, MSc Finance and Economics and MSc Management and Regulation of Risk.

Pre-requisites: MA400 September Introductory Course (Financial Mathematics)

Course content: The purpose of this course is to (a) develop the students’ computational skills, and (b) introduce a range of numerical techniques of importance to financial engineering.
The course starts with the implementation of binomial and trinomial trees. Random number generation, the fundamentals of Monte Carlo simulation and a number of related issues follow.
Numerical solutions to stochastic differential equations and their implementation are considered. The course then addresses finite-difference schemes for the solution of partial differential equations arising in finance.

Teaching: 8 support lectures and 12 programming seminars in MT; 20 lectures, 4 seminars and 10 programming seminars in LT.

Formative coursework: Weekly exercises and practicals are set and form the basis of the seminars.

Assessment: 50% for a two-hour exam in the Summer Term and 50% for a project based on independent study to be submitted by a given date in May or June. The project is a written report, normally between 15 and 20 pages long, 11pt, single-spaced.

---

MA418 Half Unit Preferences, Optimal Portfolio Choice, and Equilibrium

This information is for the 2012/13 session.

Teacher responsible: Dr Albina Danilova, COL 4.09

Availability: This course is primarily intended for students studying for MSc Financial Mathematics and MSc Applicable Mathematics. This course is also available as an outside option to other suitably qualified students with the permission of the Degree Programme Director and the teacher responsible for the course.

Pre-requisites: MA415 The Mathematics of the Black and Scholes Theory, or ST409 Stochastic Processes, or MA411 Probability and Measure, or equivalent.

Course content: This course is concerned with the theory of optimal investment and consumption. The course starts with the derivation of utility functions from the axioms of an agent’s preferences. Utility functions are then used as a measure of portfolio performance in a financial market. Optimal investment and consumption strategies are obtained for various utility functions in both complete and some types of incomplete markets. Equilibrium and asset price formation are considered in the context of complete and informationally incomplete markets.

Teaching: 20 lectures and 10 seminars in the Lent Term.

Formative coursework: Weekly exercises are set and form the basis of the classes.

Assessment: Three-hour exam in the Summer Term.

---

MA419 Half Unit Search Games

This information is for the 2012/13 session.

Teacher responsible: TBC

Availability: This course is intended primarily for students on MSc Applicable Mathematics and MSc Management Science (Operational Research). The course is also available to other suitably qualified students with the permission of the Degree Programme Director and the teacher responsible for the course.

Pre-requisites: An elementary knowledge of probability theory. No prior knowledge of game theory is required.

Course content: In Search Theory, a mobile Searcher tries to minimize the time T taken to find something, which we call the Hider, in a known search space Q. The Hider may be stationary or mobile. In the zero sum game context (first half of the course), the Hider does not want to be found, or at least wants to maximize T. In the second half of the course we consider the Rendezvous Search Problem, in which the Hider also wants to minimize T. In both contexts the search space Q will often be taken as a finite network.

In Search Theory, a unit-speed Searcher wishes to minimize the time T required to find (meet) a lost object or agent hidden in a known search region Q. This course concentrates on cases where the lost object is an agent who has motives of his own. The course content will be based on both Search Games (zero-sum games where a T-minimizing Searcher seeks a T-maximizing Hider) and Rendezvous Games (common-interest games where two lost searchers want to minimize T).

The first part of the course will consider Search Games. We begin with the case where the Hider is immobile - he picks his position in Q at the start of the game. We solve this game for the case where Q is a tree or a ‘weakly Eulerian’ network, assuming the Searcher starts in a location known to the Hider; then we remove this restriction. We then study Search Games where the Hider is mobile, the so-called ‘Princess and Monster’ games of R. Isaacs. Several special games are then studied, for example where the Searcher makes guesses and is given directional information about the Hider’s location (‘high-low search’), and the case of an unknown search region (maze).

The second part of the course studies the Rendezvous Search Problem. We begin with the player-asymmetric form of the problem, where the two Searchers may meet before the game to decide what strategy each will adopt. We then consider the player-symmetric form, where the Searchers are constrained to follow a common mixed strategy. Finally, we consider the incomplete information problem where the Hider is immobile. In the second half of the course we consider the Rendezvous Search Problem. We begin with the case where the Hider is immobile - he picks his position in Q at the start of the game. We solve this game for the case where Q is a tree or a ‘weakly Eulerian’ network, assuming the Searcher starts in a location known to the Hider; then we remove this restriction. We then study Search Games where the Hider is mobile, the so-called ‘Princess and Monster’ games of R. Isaacs. Several special games are then studied, for example where the Searcher makes guesses and is given directional information about the Hider’s location (‘high-low search’), and the case of an unknown search region (maze).

The second part of the course studies the Rendezvous Search Problem. We begin with the player-asymmetric form of the problem, where the two Searchers may meet before the game to decide what strategy each will adopt. We then consider the player-symmetric form, where the Searchers are constrained to follow a common mixed strategy. Finally, we consider the incomplete information problem where the Hider is immobile. In the second half of the course we consider the Rendezvous Search Problem. We begin with the case where the Hider is immobile - he picks his position in Q at the start of the game. We solve this game for the case where Q is a tree or a ‘weakly Eulerian’ network, assuming the Searcher starts in a location known to the Hider; then we remove this restriction. We then study Search Games where the Hider is mobile, the so-called ‘Princess and Monster’ games of R. Isaacs. Several special games are then studied, for example where the Searcher makes guesses and is given directional information about the Hider’s location (‘high-low search’), and the case of an unknown search region (maze).

The second part of the course studies the Rendezvous Search Problem. We begin with the player-asymmetric form of the problem, where the two Searchers may meet before the game to decide what strategy each will adopt. We then consider the player-symmetric form, where the Searchers are constrained to follow a common mixed strategy. Finally, we consider the incomplete information problem where the Hider is immobile. In the second half of the course we consider the Rendezvous Search Problem. We begin with the case where the Hider is immobile - he picks his position in Q at the start of the game. We solve this game for the case where Q is a tree or a ‘weakly Eulerian’ network, assuming the Searcher starts in a location known to the Hider; then we remove this restriction. We then study Search Games where the Hider is mobile, the so-called ‘Princess and Monster’ games of R. Isaacs. Several special games are then studied, for example where the Searcher makes guesses and is given directional information about the Hider’s location (‘high-low search’), and the case of an unknown search region (maze).

The second part of the course studies the Rendezvous Search Problem. We begin with the player-asymmetric form of the problem, where the two Searchers may meet before the game to decide what strategy each will adopt. We then consider the player-symmetric form, where the Searchers are constrained to follow a common mixed strategy. Finally, we consider the incomplete information problem where the Hider is immobile. In the second half of the course we consider the Rendezvous Search Problem. We begin with the case where the Hider is immobile - he picks his position in Q at the start of the game. We solve this game for the case where Q is a tree or a ‘weakly Eulerian’ network, assuming the Searcher starts in a location known to the Hider; then we remove this restriction. We then study Search Games where the Hider is mobile, the so-called ‘Princess and Monster’ games of R. Isaacs. Several special games are then studied, for example where the Searcher makes guesses and is given directional information about the Hider’s location (‘high-low search’), and the case of an unknown search region (maze).

---

MA420 Half Unit Not available in 2012/13 Quantifying Risk Modelling and Alternative Markets

This information is for the 2012/13 session.

Teacher responsible: Professor Mihail Zervos

Availability: MSc Financial Mathematics, MSc Applicable Mathematics, MSc Risk and Stochastics, MSc Statistics (Financial Statistics) and MSc Statistics (Financial Statistics) (Research). Also available as an outside option where regulations permit and with permission of the teacher responsible.

Pre-requisites: ST409 Stochastic Processes

Course content: This course is concerned with various issues arising in the context of investment risk specification as well as with the mathematical theory of so-called alternative markets, such as commodity and energy markets. In particular, the course considers the structural credit risk models and the quantification of risk by means of copulas and risk measures. Also, the course expands on the modeling of alternative markets and addresses the problem of valuation of investments in real assets.

Teaching: 20 hours of lectures and 10 hours of seminars in the MT.
A one-hour lecture in the ST.

Formative coursework: Two sets of written homework will be marked with feedback provided.

Assessment: One-two hour exam in the ST (100%)
Course content: This course examines a variety of social, cultural and psychological issues as they relate to the audiences for television and new media. It analyses people's everyday engagement with media, beginning with the history of audiences and audience research, then examining audiences for a variety of genres, before addressing transformations in audiences and audience research with the advent of new media, especially hybrid, globalised, cross-media genres and user-generated content. The course frames its critical investigation of empirical audience studies in relation to theories of active audiences, interpretative communities, encoding-decoding and fandom, among others. Students will be encouraged to read widely, to forge links with other aspects of media, communications and cultural studies, and to debate the nature and future of audiences in a changing media landscape.

Teaching: Lecture (one hour) x 10 LT, seminar (one hour) x 10 LT.

Formative coursework: All students are expected to complete advance reading, prepare seminar presentations, and submit one essay of 1,500 words.

Assessment: A written assignment of not more than 3,000 words.

MC403 Half Unit Contemporary Issues in Media and Communications Policy

This information is for the 2012/13 session.

Teacher responsible: Dr Damian Tambini, STC. S119e

Availability: Available primarily for students on the following programmes: MSc Media and Communications, MSc Media and Communications (Media and Communication Governance), MSc Media and Communications (Research), MSc Global Media and Communications (with Fudan or USC), MPA Public and Economic Policy/MPA European Public and Economic Policy/MPA International Development/MPA European Public and Economic Policy/MPA Public and Social Policy and MSc Politics and Communication. Also available on MSc Global Media and Communications (with Fudan or USC). It is also available to other students from the Department of Media and Communications, and to students from the Department of Government, although places are limited.

Course content: The aim of the course is to examine the relationship between the mass media and political processes. It offers a critical review of key aspects of contemporary theory and research in political communications. It examines a range of interconnected issues concerning the politics/mass media relationship: media and political influence; political marketing; branding and news management; political reporting; media and public knowledge; the ‘crisis’ of current civic communications and media and war.

Teaching: Lecture (one-hour) x 10 MT; seminar (one-hour) x 10 MT.

Formative coursework: All students are expected to complete advance reading, prepare seminar presentations, and submit one essay of 1,500 words.

Assessment: A written assignment of not more than 3,000 words.
MC405  Half Unit
Current Issues in Media and Communications: Policies for ICTs, Society and Development
This information is for the 2012/13 session.
Teachers responsible: Ms Claire Milne and Dr David Souter
Availability: This optional course is capped at 30 students and is intended primarily for students on MSc Media, Communication and Development. It is also available as an option course to students on the MSc Media and Communications, MSc Media and Communication (Research) and MSc Media and Communications (Media and Communication Governance). Remaining places will be available first to MSc students in the Department of Media and Communications.
Course content: This course will examine communication policies and their relationship with society and development, focusing particularly on the application of information and communication technologies, especially the internet and mobile services. It will draw attention to some issues of critical importance in current ICT policymaking, including the relationship between the ICT sector and other areas of public policy (such as development, governance, the environment and rights) and the relationships among technology, market development and regulation. The course will draw on case studies and the lecturers’ practitioner experiences in communications development and deployment in Europe, Africa and Asia. Course objectives: to examine the relationship between ICT policy and wider public policy domains; to explore the development and regulation of communications in industrial and developing countries; to understand current experience and the application of policy development and research methods in these areas; and to illustrate these issues, using case studies.
Teaching: Lecture (one-hour) x 10 LT; seminar (one-hour) x 10 LT. (Seminars may be given by different teachers. They do not necessarily deal with the same topics each week, but they all cover the same ground.)
Formative coursework: All students are expected to complete advance reading, prepare seminar presentations, and submit one formative essay of 1,500 words which differs from the topic addressed by the summative essay.
Assessment: A written assignment of not more than 3,000 words.

MC407  Half Unit
International Media and The Global South
This information is for the 2012/13 session.
Teacher responsible: Dr Shakuntala Banaji
Availability: This optional course is capped at 30 students and is intended primarily for students on MSc Media, Communication and Development, MSc Media and Communications (Media and Communication Governance), MSc Media and Communications, MSc Media and Communications (Research), MSc Politics and Communication and MSc Global Media and Communications (with Fudan USC). Also available as an outside option where regulations allow and with the permission of the course convenor.
Course content: This course challenges students to raise questions about the power and role of the international media in shaping global discourses about development, citizens and the global south. Building on empirical examples, the lectures aim to demonstrate that the reporting and discussion of poverty, disasters, underdevelopment and development by international media organizations has implications, not only for the way the global south is imagined and represented, but also for the arena of international and national policy and politics. From different theoretical perspectives, the course critically investigates key questions concerning the role of international, national and NGO media in development, including the failure of the dominant modernization paradigm to ‘pass away’. The course offers insight into how to approach the study of media constructions, depictions and representations of, and about, the global south and its citizens. The objectives are to:
(a) Introduce debates about how media power shapes international development discourses and political realities for citizens in the global south.
(b) Link dominant development theories to the paradigms of mediated NGO development interventions.
(c) Provide a postcolonial critique of the study of representations of poverty, development, participation and the global south.
(d) Critically assess aspects of the political economy of international media production within the contexts in which NGOs research, package and produce information about international development, especially in and about the global south.
(e) Investigate whether and in what ways new and mobile technologies, and small and participatory media formats enable alternative voices and critical frameworks from the global south to be heard.
The course is organized into three sections: 1) a historical and theoretical overview of international media, development and the global south locating the debate(s) around development and communication within postcolonial and other critical frameworks; and with respect to UNESCO’s International Commission for the Study of Communication Problems (ICSCP); 2) Critical perspectives, drawn selectively from studies of development theory, political economy and cultural studies and pertaining to identity, representation, regulatory frameworks, good governance and democracy and 3) Cases and practices in reporting poverty, inequality and humanitarian issues. Cross-cutting themes will include a consideration of gender, NGO communications, social media and ICTs in the context of international media and change in the global south.
Teaching: Lectures 10 x 1 hour LT, seminars 10 x 1 hour LT.
Formative coursework: All students are expected to complete advance reading, prepare seminar presentations, and submit one essay of 1,500 words.
Assessment: A written assignment of not more than 3,000 words.
MC408  Half Unit
Theories and Concepts in Media and Communications I (Key concepts and interdisciplinary approaches)
This information is for the 2012/13 session.
Teacher responsible: Dr Shani Orgad, STC. S110
Availability: This is a compulsory course for students taking the following programmes: MSc Media and Communications, MSc Media and Communications (Media and Communication Governance), MSc Media and Communications (Research), MSc Global Media and Communications (with Fudan or USC), MSc Media, Communication and Development, MSc Politics and Communication. An optional course for MSc Gender, Media and Culture, MSc Political Sociology, MSc Management and certain other MSc programmes. It is also open to other appropriately qualified students with the agreement of the teacher responsible.
Course content: This course addresses key theoretical and conceptual issues in the study of media and communications, within a broadly interdisciplinary social science perspective. It grounds the analysis of media and communications phenomena within broader sociological and political theoretical frameworks of social order and social change, thereby revealing the shifting significance of the media environment for relations among the state, market and public sphere in a globalising knowledge society.
The course is divided into two main sections. The first examines key concepts underpinning the nature of media and communications phenomena in order to understand processes of power and mediation in contemporary societies. The second explores selected critical perspectives which have proved influential in the field of media and communications. As a team taught course that combines weekly lectures and seminars, its purpose is to expose students to a range of research-led debates at an advanced level, and to enable students to develop their understanding and critical appraisal of the relation between media and power at the levels of institutions, culture and social processes.
The course also includes an invited speaker series (‘Media Agenda Talks’) which addresses the interface between academic issues taught on the Media and Communications programmes and professional issues facing the media and communications industry. Speakers will normally include a mix of journalists and executives working for UK and global media companies in London. The purpose of the seminar is to provide an opportunity for students to relate the topics and themes addressed within their academic studies to the debates and concerns currently facing practitioners.
Teaching: MC408.1 Lecture (one hour) x 10 MT and x 1 ST (revision)
MC408.2 Seminar (1.5 hours) x 9 MT and x 1 ST (revision)
MC408.3 Polis Media Agenda Talks: Seminar (1.5 hours) x 9 10 MT
Formative coursework: All students are expected to complete advance reading, prepare seminar presentations, and submit one essay of 1,500 words during MT.
Indicative reading: A reading list will be provided for each topic. General works relevant to the course include:
- Castells, M. (2009), Communication Power, Oxford University Press
- Dahlgren, P. (1995) Television and the Public Sphere, Sage
Assessment: A written assignment of not more than 3,000 words.

MC409  Half Unit
Media, Technology and Everyday Life
This information is for the 2012/13 session.
Teacher responsible: Dr Leslie Haddon, STC. S104 Availability: Available for students on the following programmes: MSc Global Media and Communications (with Fudan or USC), MSc Media, Communication and Development, MSc Media and Communications, MSc Media and Communications (Research) and MSc Media and Communications (Media and Communication Governance). Other students may attend subject to numbers, their own degree regulations and at the discretion of the teacher responsible.
This course is capped at 30 places.
Course content: The course aims to explore how information and communication technologies are experienced in everyday life. This includes examining how ICTs are socially shaped, through looking at current theoretical frameworks as well as historical and contemporary examples. The course covers such matters as the domestication of ICTs, their place in social networks and their implications for time and space. Finally, a range of potential social consequences are considered, from the specific implications for parent-child relationships to broader questions about the extent to which these technologies are changing social life.
Teaching: Lecture (one-hour) x 10 LT; seminar (one-hour) x 10 LT
Formative coursework: All students are expected to complete advance reading, prepare seminar presentations, and submit one essay of 1,500 words.
Assessment: A written assignment of not more than 3,000 words.

MC411  Half Unit
Media and Globalisation
This information is for the 2012/13 session.
Teacher responsible: Professor Terhi Rantanen, STC. S106 Availability: This course is compulsory for, and restricted to, students taking the MSc Global Media and Communications (with Fudan or USC).

Course content: The aim of this course is to explore and demonstrate the role of the media and communications in the processes of globalisation by introducing the relevant literature, by examining various theories of globalisation and by identifying their relevance in understanding the media. Topics taught include: Globalisation theories, Media imperialism, Global generations, Global media production, Global representations, Global consumption, Alternative globalisation theories.

Teaching: Lecture (one-hour) x 10 MT; seminar (one-hour) x 10 MT; revision session x 1 ST.

Formative coursework: All students are expected to complete advance reading, prepare seminar presentations, and submit one essay of 1,500 words.

Assessment: A written assignment of not more than 3,000 words.

MC416 Half Unit
Representation in the Age of Globalisation

This information is for the 2012/13 session.

Teacher responsible: Dr Shani Orgad, STC. S110

Availability: This course is intended primarily for students on the MSc Global Media and Communications (with Fudan or USC), to whom priority will be given in allocating places. It is a recommended option for students on the MSc Media and Communications and MSc Media and Communications (Research). It is also available as an optional course to students on other MSc programmes in the Department of Media and Communications.

Course content: Images and stories circulated in the media play a central role in contemporary social life. We become increasingly dependent, often exclusively, on what we see, read and hear in the news, on our favourite television drama series, in advertisements, on the radio, and over the Internet. This course focuses on the way media representations are implicated in the exercise of power through the construction of meaning. It explores the opportunities that media representations present for the creation of a global and interconnected space, which enables the people living in it to conduct their social, cultural, political and economic lives in positive and moral ways. At the same time, the course discusses some of the critical challenges, limits and threats those visual and textual representations present. The discussion focuses on the representation of the Other and the production of difference, the representation of suffering, migration, terrorism, and conflict, timely issues whose centrality is ever more vivid. It examines how transformations in the contemporary media landscape, such as the expansion of new media, the increasing commodification and the increasing global scope of communication, shape the ways in which public issues are framed, imagined, and constructed, and what consequences this may have for the moral judgements people make and the actions they take.

Teaching: Lecture (one hour) x 9 MT + lecture (two hours) x 1 MT; Seminar (one hour) x 9 MT.

Formative coursework: All students are expected to complete advance reading, prepare seminar presentations, and submit one essay of 1,500 words.

Assessment: A written assignment of not more than 3,000 words.
MC417 Half Unit
Democracy and the Media
This information is for the 2012/13 session.
Teacher responsible: Dr Bart Cammaerts, STC. S213
Availability: This is a capped course. It is compulsory for, and restricted to, students taking the MSc Politics and Communication.
Course content: This course examines the links between the media and democracy in theory and practice. The range of issues examined include: theories of democracy and the obligations of media; issues of press freedom and the limits to free speech; media and elections; media and public policy; the Internet and political participation; reporting in the digital age; media in international context and the relationship between the media and social movements. This course discusses the role assumed by the media in both long-established democratic societies and in new and emerging democracies.
Teaching: Lecture (one hour) x 7 MT; Seminar (one hour) x 7 MT; Student-presented case study classes (two hours) x 3 MT: Revision session x 1 ST.
Formative coursework: All students are expected to complete advance reading, prepare seminar presentations, and submit one essay of 1,500 words.
Assessment: A formal two-hour examination in the ST: two questions from a choice of five.

MC418 Half Unit
Theories and Concepts in Media and Communications II (Processes of communication in modern life)
This information is for the 2012/13 session.
Teacher responsible: Dr Myria Georgiou, STC, S119a
Availability: This is a compulsory course for students taking MSc Media and Communications and MSc Media and Communications (Research). It is an optional course for students taking the following programmes: MSc Media and Communications (Media and Communication Governance) MSc Gender, Media and Culture, MSc Culture and Society, MSc Global Media and Communications (with Fudan or USC), MSc Media, Communication and Development, MSc Politics and Communication, MSc Management and MSc Political Sociology. It is also open to other appropriately qualified students with the agreement of the teacher responsible.
Course content: This course examines key concepts and critical perspectives on the processes of communication that underpin social, economic and institutional relations across diverse spheres of modern life. It takes an interdisciplinary and theoretical perspective, comparing the claims and contribution of selected key theories of communication in order to understand and critique the symbolic and material power of communication media.
With a substantive focus on the shifts from mass to networked media and from national to globalised communication processes, the course is divided into two parts. First, it offers a selective introduction to key theories in communication. Second, it examines a series of critical perspectives, drawing on current research debates in the field of media and communications and beyond.
The course is team taught by active researchers in the field of media and communications and aims to enable students to develop their critical understanding of the communication processes central to the contemporary media and communications environment.
Teaching: MC418.1 Lecture (one hour) x 10 LT and x 1 ST (revision)
MC418.2 Seminar (1.5 hours) x 10 LT and x 1 ST (revision)
Formative coursework: All students are expected to complete advance reading, prepare seminar presentations, and submit an essay of 1,500 words.
Assessment: A formal two-hour examination in the ST: two questions from a choice of five.

MC419 Half Unit
Modern Campaigning Politics
This information is for the 2012/13 session.
Teacher responsible: Dr Nick Anstead, STC. S111
Availability: This is a capped course. It is optional for, and restricted to, students taking the MSc Politics and Communication.
Course content: Modern campaigning politics. The practice of modern political campaigns based primarily on US and UK politics and elections since 1987.
The focus is practical politics. The course is taught by a series of invited guest lecturers who are experts in the field of political campaigning for political parties and NGOs. It will connect with theory taught in the MSc programme’s core courses concerning media influence, elections and voting behaviour and public opinion. It will enable students to see how theory is relevant and applied to the practice of modern political campaigns in the context of the changing nature of modern global politics, the politics of disengagement and identity. It will examine core and general concepts in campaigning including political strategy and how it is developed, ‘political message’, and the shaping of public opinion; and election campaigning and how successful campaigns are planned and implemented. The course will link campaign-relevant theory and practice through recent case histories of illustrative campaigns/political projects.
Teaching: Lecture (one hour) x 10 LT; seminar (one hour) x 10 LT.
Formative coursework: All students are expected to complete advance reading, prepare seminar presentations, and submit one essay of 1,500 words.
MC420 Half Unit
Identity, Transnationalism and the Media
This information is for the 2012/13 session.
Teacher responsible: Dr Myria Georgiou, STC. S119a
Availability: Available as an optional course for students on the following programmes: MSc Global Media and Communications (with Fudan or USC), MSc Culture and Society, MSc Media and Communications, MSc Media and Communications (Research), MSc Media, Communication and Development and MSc Gender, Media and Culture. Also available as an outside option where regulations permit and with the permission of the course convenor.
Course content: This course examines the relation between identity and the media in the context of diaspora and transnationalism. The course examines meanings of identity at present times, especially as these are formed through experiences of mediated and physical transnational mobility. As migration and symbolic mobility, especially through the media, inform each other it becomes almost impossible to understand identity outside the context of mediation. The course is organised in three main thematic units. The first unit provides the conceptual entry point to the course. The second unit focuses on the modes of transnational communication: television, cinema and the internet. The third unit focuses on the spaces of transnational communication: the city, the nation and the transnational space. Each unit and lecture contributes to the understanding of identity in a world that is increasingly interconnected and networked.
Teaching: Lecture (one hour) x 10 LT; seminar (one hour) x 10 LT.
Formative coursework: All students are expected to complete advance reading, prepare seminar presentations, organise and attend film/documentary viewings and submit one essay of 1,500 words.
Assessment: A written assignment of not more than 3,000 words.

MC421 Half Unit
Critical Approaches to Media, Communication and Development
This information is for the 2012/13 session.
Teacher responsible: TBA
Availability: This course is capped and is compulsory for those on the MSc Media, Communication and Development. It is an optional course for students on the MSc Media and Communications/ MSc Media and Communications (Research)/MSc Media and Communications (Media and Communication Governance). This course is only available to students on MSc programmes within the Department of Media and Communications.
Course content: The content of the course is framed to address the history of and tensions between ‘media for development’ and ‘communication for development’, while challenging mainstream perspectives on the role of media and communication in low income countries. It achieves this aim by emphasising the conflictual relationships between economic and political power and the empowerment of individuals, as well as among collective groupings within their local and regional contexts.
The course offers a critique of the scholarly and policy oriented literature that regards the media, information, and communication strategies and information and communication technology applications, as potential means of alleviating poverty and fostering democracy as well as human rights in low-income countries. It offers alternative theorisations of the contested way in which developments in these areas become embedded in the cultural and social fabric, especially where poverty and unequal power relations influence the capacities of individuals to make changes in their lives.
Teaching: Lecture (one-hour) x 10 MT and x 1 ST (revision): seminar (one-hour) x 10 MT. Film Viewing: 3 hours x 1 MT.
Formative coursework: All students are expected to complete advance reading, prepare seminar presentations, organise and attend film/documentary viewings and submit one essay of 1,500 words.
Assessment: A formal two-hour examination in the ST: two questions from a choice of five.

MC422 Half Unit
Critical Studies in Media and Journalism
This information is for the 2012/13 session.
Teacher responsible: Dr Damian Tambini STC. S119e and Charlie Beckett, KGS1.01.
Availability: MSc Global Media and Communications (with Fudan or USC), MSc Media and Communications, MSc Media and Communications (Research) and MSc Politics and Communication.
Other students may attend subject to numbers, their own degree regulations and the discretion of the teacher responsible.

Course content: The news media are instrumental not only in disseminating information but also in shaping the opinions, sensibilities and dispositions of their publics. This course draws on cutting-edge theory and empirical examples in order to enable students to understand the process by which the news media operate as major ethno-political agents in our societies as well as to critically analyse the profound transformations that news journalism is undergoing today, under the pressures of media globalisation and digitalisation.

On completion of this course, students should be able to:
understand the role of global journalism in society today; critically discuss different theoretical conceptions of journalism as practiced in a wide variety of social and political contexts; compare and contrast the role of journalism in contexts ranging from mainstream to alternative media outlets; evaluate the normative and empirical connections between media journalism, the production of news and ethical considerations; critically assess contemporary debates about the changing nature of journalism and its implications for cultural understanding and democracy.

Teaching: Lecture (one hour) x 10 LT; seminar (one hour) x 10 LT

Formative coursework: All students are expected to complete advance reading, prepare seminar presentations, and submit one essay of 1,500 words.

Assessment: A written assignment of not more than 3,000 words.

---

MC423 Half Unit

Global Media Industries

This information is for the 2012/13 session.

Teacher responsible: Dr Bingchun Meng, STC. S108

Availability: This course is capped. Priority access is given to those taking MSc Global Media and Communications (with Fudan or USC), thereafter any remaining places will be made available on a first come, first served, basis to students on the following programmes:
MSc Media, Communication and Development, MSc Media and Communications, MSc Media and Communications (Research), MSc Media and Communications (Media and Communication Governance), MSc Politics and Communication, MSc Gender Media and Culture, and MSc Culture & Society.

Course content: This course aims to present a critical view of key aspects of theory, research and practice of media industries in the global context. The central theme of the course is the changing dynamics between media industries, political economic institutions, cultural norms and technological innovations at the global level. Topics of interest include: the global configuration and operation of film, television and digital media industries; the global management of creativity and the implications of such control; the possibility of constructing alternatives or resistance to the hegemonic power of media conglomerates. We will not only pay attention to different types of media, but will also take up general themes related to institutional aspects of media, such as convergence, globalisation, post-Fordism and the commercialisation of public institutions.

Course objectives:

This course aims to help you:

- Global film industry
- Global television
- Digital media structure and practices
- Globalisation and news production
- Advertising and media policy
- Global context

Summary and reflection

Assessment:

- A formal two hour examination in the ST: two questions from a choice of five.
- An essay of 1,500 words.
- An assignment of not more than 3,000 words.
- A seminar presentation.

---

MC424 Half Unit

Media and Communication Governance

This information is for the 2012/13 session.

Teacher responsible: Dr Damian Tambini STC.S119e

Availability: Compulsory on MSc Media and Communications (Media and Communication Governance). Optional on MSc Media and Communications, MSc Media and Communications (Research), MSc Politics and Communication, MSc Global Media and Communications, MSc Media, Communication and Development. The course is also available as an outside option where regulations permit.

Course content: Should the internet be governed? How should law and policy on the press and the media be reformed in the light of technological change? This course lays the foundation to enable students to approach these and related questions in an informed, authoritative way. Communication governance includes all attempts by public bodies to fund, license or otherwise regulate or govern communication services or the providers of those services, usually for an alleged public benefit. The process of governance includes public policy debate and discussion and the processes of self-regulation and legal regulation. The term ‘governance’ refers to the norms, rules and resources together with their theoretical underpinnings that inform the production and consumption of media and communication services. The course covers the key concepts required to gain an understanding of the processes through which public authorities, corporations and the public are involved in setting rules, building institutions and providing public resources for the provision of media and communication services. This course begins from the assumption that media and communication can only be fully understood if their governance and its implications for citizens and consumers as well as producers, is understood. Illustrations are drawn from UK, European and international developments, thereby presenting a multi-levelled analytical approach to governance issues in the field. The first half of the course maps key elements of communication governance including key concepts and institutions. The second half of the course examines contemporary issues and debates in communication governance.

Teaching: Lecture (one hour) x 10 MT and x 1 ST (revision); seminar (one hour) x 9 MT.

Formative coursework: All students are expected to complete advance reading, prepare seminar presentations, and submit one essay of 1,500 words.

Indicative reading:
MC425  Half Unit
Interpersonal Mediated Communication

This information is for the 2012/13 session.

Teacher responsible: Dr Ellen Helson, STC.119c.
Availability: MSc Media and Communications (Media and Communication Governance), MSc Media and Communications, MSc Media and Communications (Research), MSc Politics and Communication, MSc Global Media and Communications and MSc Media, Communication and Development. Also available as an outside option where regulations permit and with the permission of the teacher responsible.

Course content: Communication media have been blamed for a breakdown of social relationships and have simultaneously been hailed as powerful social tools that can connect people from all walks of life. This course addresses the ways in which interpersonal relationships and communication are influenced by mediation. The first half of the course addresses the history of media in interpersonal communication as well as general interpersonal communication and relationship theories. The second half looks in more detail at how the interaction between media and interpersonal communication has been studied in relation to the cross-cutting themes of trust, intended outcomes and context. The aim of this course is to provide students with a critical understanding of communication within small groups and dyadic relationships. The course examines the influence of media on three key areas of interpersonal interaction which are identified as personal, social and professional communication. The examination of these key areas is framed by theories of social norms, media richness, social capital and supplementation/substitution. The central concepts of the course (ie. trust, intended outcomes and social context) reflected upon in these theories, are discussed from the perspective of different disciplinary and methodological paradigms. Examples of research and policy will give students the tools to understand what the practical implications are of the ways in which these different paradigms suggest that interpersonal communication processes vary depending on the type of platform this communication takes place on as well as the type of relationship that is under investigation.

As a result of the course the students will be able to evaluate the weaknesses and strengths of the theories that aim to explain apparently contradictory observations about the practice of interpersonal mediated communication.

Teaching: Lecture (one hour) x 10 MT; seminar (one hour) x 10 MT.

Assessment: One two-hour examination in the ST (100%).

MC426  Half Unit
Film Theory and World Cinema

This information is for the 2012/13 session.

Teacher responsible: Dr Shakuntala Banaji, STC. S103
Availability: MSc Media, Communication and Development, MSc Media and Communications (Media and Communication Governance), MSc Media and Communications, MSc Media and Communications (Research), MSc Politics and Communication and MSc Global Media and Communications (with FudanUSC). Also available as an outside option where numbers and regulations permit and at the discretion of the course convenor.

Course content: This course is designed to enable a consistent, informed and plausible reading of popular film representations, discourses and cultures of consumption in specific geopolitical contexts. Introducing theories from the humanities and the social sciences, lectures offer alternative approaches to theorising sexuality, gender, race, class, religion, national identity, childhood, history and politics in popular commercial films and their interpretation by audiences. The impact of unequal power relations - on how representations are reproduced, spectatorship is theorised and censorship policies are formulated - will be demonstrated and analysed. While the course offers a particular focus on Hindi commercial cinema as an example of World cinema, it refers more widely to examples from other National Cinemas such as those of China, Korea, Australia, Mexico and Iran. A key learning method is the extensive interrogation of audiovisual materials. To this end, there will be five film screenings alongside the lectures and seminars. Additionally, films referred to on the course will be made available through the library or can be downloaded and watched from popular film sites on the internet.

Teaching: Lecture (one hour) x 10 MT; seminar (one hour) x 10 MT; film screenings x 4 MT.

Formative coursework: All students are expected to complete advance reading, present in seminar discussions, attend 5 film screenings and submit one essay of 1,500 words.

MC427  Half Unit
Digital Media Futures
This information is for the 2012/13 session.
Teacher responsible: Dr Alison Powell STC. S119b
Availability: Optional on MSc Media and Communications, MSc Media and Communications (Research) and MSc Media and Communications (Media and Communication Governance). Also available as an outside option where regulations permit.
Course content: This course provides an historical, theoretical and methodological basis through which to assess the social and cultural transformations related to digital media infrastructures and related social practices. It focuses on the materiality and affordances of new media, as well as on the social transformations that have co-evolved, including open source media production practices and peer to peer organizing practices. It critiques and questions the assumptions about the transformation of social and cultural life but also attempts to help students develop conceptual strategies beyond critique. A central focus of the course will be the claims made about the implication for collaborative work and culture of the qualities of digital data, considered through topics including but not limited to: peer to peer and open source cultural movements, the political economy and ecology of digital media, the politics of algorithms, remembering and forgetting, as well as the shift towards ‘data as media’ and its implications for media publics and media power. Students will be invited to consider the broader contexts of all of these media futures, including those related to policy and governance.
Teaching: 10 x one-hour lectures and 10 x one-hour seminars in LT.
Formative coursework: Students will complete a 1,500 word formative essay based on a case study. They will also receive formative feedback on class participation and on participation in creating a shared, online ‘Encyclopedia of Media Futures’ modelled on Wikipedia.
Assessment: A written assignment of not more than 3,000 words (100%).

MC499  Dissertation: Media and Communications
This information is for the 2012/13 session.
Teacher responsible: Dr Shakuntala Banaji, STC. S103
Availability: Compulsory unit for MSc Global Media and Communications, MSc Media and Communications, MSc Media and Communications (Research), MSc Media and Communications (Media and Communication Governance), MSc Media, Communication and Development, and MSc Politics and Communication.
Course content: The aim of this dissertation is for students to pursue an independent piece of research within the field of media and communications following the guidelines provided in the MSc Dissertation Guide and the instructions by the School’s staff members.
The dissertation is usually a combination of theoretical enquiry and original empirical enquiry concerning an issue in the field of media and communications. On rare occasions it is based on a theoretical interrogation. Students are encouraged to select a topic that reflects the content of their MSc programme. In all cases, students must obtain the approval of their supervisors before embarking on any research. The dissertation must be word-processed. It should be not less than 10,000 words and not more than 12,000 words in length.
Teaching: MC499.1
(i) Dissertation symposiums: a two-hour symposium will be held towards the end of LT for all students and another will be held in the summer term.
(ii) Dissertation workshops: each supervisor holds three two-hour workshops for their supervisees: (i) early in LT, after supervisors have been allocated; (ii) towards the end of LT; (iii) week 7 or 8 of ST.
(iii) Dissertation tutorials: ad hoc sessions for each student and their supervisor that can be organised during term-time in feedback and consultation hours.
MC499.2
Non-compulsory MC Lab sessions, taught by Graduate Teaching Assistants, are provided for students registered on MSc programmes in the Department of Media and Communications.
(i) Lectures:
Two x 2-hour lectures in LT5 and LT7.
(ii) Workshops:
Three x 1.5-hour workshops in MT2, MT5 and MT9.
Three x 1.5-hour workshops in LT2, LT5 and LT9.
Formative coursework: Students are required to submit Ethics Checklists and Dissertation Plans to their supervisor in LT and ST.
Assessment: Two hard copies of the dissertation must be submitted to the Department of Media and Communications MSc Programme Administrator on the last Friday of August 2012. Students on MSc Global Media and Communications are required to submit their dissertations by 15 August or the last working day before 15 August if 15 August falls on a weekend. Students are also required to upload their dissertation file(s) to Moodle by the same deadline.
There are no formal reading lists, but students are encouraged to consult handbooks on how to write dissertations. In addition, students are advised to consult dissertations submitted in previous years for style and formatting purposes and to make sure that they are not replicating previous work.

MC4M1  Half Unit
Methods of Research in Media & Communications (including Qualitative & Quantitative Analysis)
This information is for the 2012/13 session.
Teacher responsible: Dr Ellen Helser, STC. S119c
Availability: MSc Gender, Media and Culture, MSc Global Media and Communications (with Fudan or USC), MSc Media and Communications, MSc Media and Communications (Media and Communication Governance), MSc Media, Communication and Development, and MSc Politics and Communication. This course is not available as an outside option.
Course content: The aims of the course are to provide students with a general training in research methods and techniques, including research design, the collection, analysis and interpretation of data, and to enable students to evaluate critically their own research and that of professional researchers. The course has three components:

i. Principles of Research in Media and Communications: a series of lectures offered by media and communications staff in MT. The lectures will normally cover the following topics central to research design across the social sciences, with a specific emphasis on their application to media and communications contexts: the general nature of research as social inquiry, interviewing, critical discourse analysis, content analysis, visual analysis, survey design/questionnaires, experiments, ethnography and participant observation, as well as research ethics.

ii. Principles of Social Research: a series of five three-hour workshops (each comprised of two 1.5-hour sessions) offered by media and communications staff in MT. Students are required to participate in two of the workshops.

iii. Quantitative Analysis: Students have to take the following course offered by the Methodology Institute: MY451 Introduction to Quantitative Analysis. Please note that this statistics course is compulsory and automatically included when you register for the standard MC4M1 course. (Students may be permitted to substitute a more advanced Quantitative Analysis course offered by the Methodology Institute in place of MY451, with the approval of the MC4M1 course convenor and subject to timetabling constraints.)

Teaching: i. Principles of Research in Media and Communications: Lecture (one hour) x 10 MT; Lecture on Writing Methodological Critiques (one hour) x 1 LT. ii. Principles of Social Research: Workshop (three hours) x 2 LT (each comprised of two separate 1.5 hour sessions). iii. Quantitative Analysis MY451: Lecture (two hours) x 9 MT; Computer class (one hour) x 9 MT.

Formative coursework: i. Principles of Research in Media and Communications: Lecture (one hour) x 9 MT; Lecture on Writing Methodological Critiques (one hour) x 1 LT. ii. Principles of Social Research: Workshop (three hours) x 10 LT. iii. Quantitative Analysis MY451: Lecture (two hours) x 10 MT; Computer class (one hour) x 9 MT.

Assessment: 1. Coursework: One written assignment of not more than 3,000 words, relating to the combination of Principles of Research in Media and Communications and Principles of Social Research to be submitted in ST (80%). 2. A two-hour examination in the ST relating to Quantitative Analysis MY451 (20%).

MC4M2 Advanced Methods of Research in Media & Communications (including Qualitative & Quantitative Analysis)

This information is for the 2012/13 session.

Teacher responsible: Dr Ellen Helser, STC. S119c

Availability: MSc Media and Communications (Research) and MPhil/PhD Media and Communications. Students taking non-research track media and communications MSc programmes may take this course instead of MC4M1 subject to their own degree regulations and with the agreement of the teacher responsible. This course is not available as an outside option.

Course content: a series of lectures offered by media and communications staff in MT. The lectures will normally cover the following topics central to research design across the social sciences, with a specific emphasis on their application to media and communications contexts: the general nature of research as social inquiry, interviewing, critical discourse analysis, content analysis, visual analysis, survey design/questionnaires, experiments, ethnography and participant observation, as well as research ethics.

ii. Principles of Social Research: A series of ten three-hour workshops (each comprised of two x 1.5 hour sessions) offered by media and communications staff in LT. Students are required to participate in all ten workshops.

iii. Quantitative Analysis: Students have to take two statistics courses offered by the Methodology Institute: MY451 Introduction to Quantitative Analysis; MY452 Applied Regression Analysis. Please note that these courses are compulsory and automatically included when you register for the standard MC4M2 course. (Students may be permitted to substitute a more advanced course offered by the Methodology Institute in place of MY451 and/or MY452, with the approval of the MC4M2 course convenor and subject to timetabling constraints.)

Teaching: i. Principles of Research in Media and Communications: Lecture (one hour) x 10 MT; Lecture on Writing Methodological Critiques (one hour) x 1 LT. ii. Principles of Social Research: Workshop (three hours) x 10 LT (each comprised of two 1.5 hour sessions). iii. Quantitative Analysis: MY451: Lecture (two hours) x 9 MT; Computer class (one hour) x 9 MT; MY452: Lecture (two hours) x 9 LT; Computer class (one hour) x 9 LT.

Formative coursework: i. Principles of Research in Media and Communications: All students are expected to complete advance readings and submit one essay of 1,500 words in week 9 of MT. ii. Principles of Social Research: All students are expected to complete advance readings and submit workshop assignments. iii. Quantitative Analysis: Most statistics courses require weekly assignments.

Assessment: 1. Coursework: One written assignment of not more than 5,000 words to be submitted in ST (67%). 2. Two x two-hour examinations in ST relating to Quantitative Analysis MY451 and MY452 (see Methodology Institute course guides) (33%).

MG402 Half Unit

Public Management: A Strategic Approach

This information is for the 2012/13 session.

Teacher responsible: Dr Meredith Rope

Availability: Available to MSc students where regulations permit, including MSc Public Policy and Administration, MSc Public
MG411 Firms and Markets
This information is for the 2012/13 session.
Teachers responsible: Luis Garicano, John Sutton
Availability: MSc Economics and Management students only.
Course content: A graduate course in microeconomic analysis, geared towards those parts of the subject that are of primary importance in the Management area. The first section focuses on competition between firms, using standard game theoretic models. This leads to a general treatment of market competition by reference to the concept of firms' capabilities. The next section traces the basis of firms' capabilities to the set of elements of know-how possessed by the individuals comprising the firm, and by the mode of internal organization of those individuals. The analysis draws on the several strands in the modern literature on the theory of the firm. The final section of the course deals with the link between strategy and structure, and with the formulation of strategies in environments characterized by complexity and uncertainty.
Teaching: Twenty 2-hour lectures. A weekly seminar devoted to problem sets. A weekly seminar devoted to case studies.
Indicative reading: Milgrom and Roberts, Economics, Organization and Management; Sutton, Sunk Costs and market Structure.
Assessment: Three hour examination in ST.

MG412 Half Unit Globalization and Strategy
This information is for the 2012/13 session.
Teacher responsible: Professor John Sutton
Availability: MSc Economics and Management students only.
Course content: The course studies the strategies of multinational corporations in their international context, including among others make or buy, organization, and location choices. It studies current developments in the global economy with a focus on the key decisions that multinationals makes in their global strategy.
Teaching: 10 one-and-a-half hour lectures and 10 classes.
Formative coursework: Students are required to make two class presentations and submit written reports on selected case studies.
Indicative reading: A reading list will be provided at the start of the course.
Assessment: 3 hour examination

MG413 Half Unit Not available in 2012/13
Entreprenurial Strategy
This information is for the 2012/13 session.
Teacher responsible: Professor Luis Garicano and Professor M Schankerman
Availability: MSc Economics and Management, MSc Management and MSc Management and Strategy. Capped at 30 students.
Course content: An elective course that studies the entrepreneurial process, theoretically and empirically.
The objective of this course is to (a) understand the economic role of entrepreneurs by reviewing the theory and evidence on entrepreneurship and (b) to get some practice on the entrepreneurial process through the development of a business plan. The course covers, specifically, (1) where do entrepreneurs come from - the theories and evidence on who is an entrepreneur and what shapes the decision to become an entrepreneur; (2) the financial aspects of this decision, including the impact of credit constraints and the role of Venture Capital and Private Equity in weakening these constraints; and (3) the dynamics aspects including the role of entrepreneurship on both industry evolution and on economic growth.
In conjunction with the course, students will develop a Business Plan that may be used as the basis for the MSc Extended Essay.
Teaching: 10 two-hour lectures and 10 classes in the LT.
Formative coursework: Students will hand in weekly assignments.
Indicative reading: Case and academic papers in a course pack.
Assessment: Two hour examination in the summer term (75%) and an essay (a business plan) presented to the class and produced during the term (25%), which will serve to apply course materials and to practice presentational skills.

MG414 Public Management and Governance
This information is for the 2012/13 session.
Teacher responsible: Professor Michael Barzelay
Availability: This full unit course is only available for students on the MSc Public Management and Governance.
Course content: Organisationally-based processes have consequences for the planning and delivery of public programmes. The study of public management includes the examination of such processes and the institutional contexts in which they occur.
The course provides complementary points of entry into this field, with each structured as a module. The first term studies the strategies of multinational corporations in their international context, including among others make or buy, organization, and location choices. It studies current developments in the global economy with a focus on the key decisions that multinationals makes in their global strategy.
The second term examine organisationally-based processes under public governance from a general management standpoint, whereas the modules in the second term examine two functional areas of organisation management as they relate to the public sector. The first module is specifically concerned with organisational design and the delivery of public services. The second module is concerned with two topics in public governance: public-private partnerships and public management policy change. The third module examines recent developments in public sector financial management, together with recent developments in public sector auditing and the notion of an 'audit explosion'. The fourth module is concerned with the organisational function of human resource management.

Teaching: Ten 1.5-hour lectures and 1.5-hour seminars in Michaelmas Term, and ten 1-hour lectures and 1.5-hour seminars in Lent Term. One or two revision sessions will be offered in the Summer Term. The course is team taught, with contributions from across the Department of Management and from the Department of Accounting.

Formative coursework: Michaelmas Term: Two formative essays and a group project. Lent Term: two formative assignments.

Assessment: Two-hour Summer Term examination (50%). Two 2,000-2,500 word essay (20% each) and a group project (10%).

---

MG415 Policy Analysis, Evaluation and Implementation

This information is for the 2012/13 session.

Teachers responsible: Professor Gwyn Bevan and Ms Mara Airoldi

Availability: MSc Public Management and Governance students only.

Course content: This course focuses on how analysis needs to take account of, and be designed to relate to, the processes through which policies are made. It gives an introduction to economic concepts and leading intellectual arguments of the 20th Century: e.g., the nature of science, critiques of positivism; the nature of power; efficiency, equity and justice; and market and government failure. Case studies of failures and successes are used to illustrate these concepts. The first term focuses on concepts and cases relevant to understanding economic appraisal and evaluation (including cost-benefit analysis and cost-effectiveness analysis and multi-criteria decision analysis); the second term focuses on reform of systems of delivering public services focusing on health care and education (including contracting out, quasi-markets and performance measurement).

Teaching: Ten 1-hour lectures and 1.5-hour seminars in Michaelmas Term, eight 1-hour lectures and 1.5-hour seminars and 5 hours of student presentations of group projects in Lent Term.

Formative coursework: One individual essay of 2,500 words on economic evaluation to be produced early in Lent Term as preparation for the summative assessment.

Assessment: Two individual presentations in seminars in MT and LT (each worth 5%); two individual essays of 2,500 words (together worth 65%); and a group project (25%). The two essays will be a reflective essay on the group project (25%) and on system reform of public services (40%).

---

MG416 Half Unit Project

This information is for the 2012/13 session.

Teachers responsible: Various (depending on project title chosen)

Availability: Compulsory for MSc Management, Organisations and Governance students.

Course content: Students will undertake a research project attached to one or more of the compulsory courses (MG426 Organisations in the Economy and Society, MG427 Analysis and Design of Organisational Practices (H) and MG428 Enterprise Development (H) taken as part of the programme.

Teaching: Students will be allocated a supervisor, based on the project chosen, who will provide supervision of this piece of work.

Assessment: Project report of no more than 6,000 words to be submitted by the 30th August 2013.

---

MG417 Half Unit Extended Essay

This information is for the 2012/13 session.

Teachers responsible: Various (depending on title chosen).

Availability: Compulsory for MSc Economics and Management students.

Course content: Students will undertake an extended essay which should normally be based on one of the two option courses taken. Students can, with special permission, base this piece of work on one of the compulsory courses.

Teaching: A supervisor will be allocated to individual students based on the essay title chosen who will provide supervision for this piece of work.

Assessment: Extended essay of no more than 6,000 words to be submitted by 10th May 2013.

---

MG418 Half Unit Open Innovation

This information is for the 2012/13 session.

Teacher responsible: Professor Harry Barkema

Availability: MSc Management; MSc Management, Governance and Organisations. The course is also available as an outside option where regulations permit and with the permission of the teacher responsible for the course.

Course content: Week 1: The broader context: Open Innovation as part of Business Model Innovation

Week 2: The broader context II: Open Innovation as part of Business Model Innovation

Week 3: Open Innovation: Tools, Theory and Practice

Week 4: Open Innovation: Networked Innovation
MG420 Half Unit Dissertation

This information is for the 2012/13 session.

Teachers responsible: Dr Brittany Jones

In addition, all students will be allocated an individual dissertation supervisor during MT in year two.

Availability: Compulsory for MSc Management. Other taught masters students from within the Department of Management may attend these sessions.

Course content: Dissertations are based on a research question which students are required to agree with the teacher responsible during MT in year two. Students are encouraged, but not required, to relate their research questions and dissertations to the business projects carried out as part of MG489.

Research questions may be investigated by:
(a) Framing the question via a literature review and examining the problem in more detail through a small scale empirical research project, using either primary or secondary data sources; or
(b) Carrying out an extended literature review to provide a rigorous analysis of existing research investigating the problem.

Teaching: Students are required to attend a course of five lectures during MT and LT in year two covering the following topics:

- Lecture 1 (MT): What is a dissertation? Getting started and writing your proposal
- Lecture 2 (LT): Refining your research question and thinking about research design
- Lecture 3 (LT): Doing qualitative research
- Lecture 4 (LT): Doing quantitative research
- Lecture 5 (LT): Writing up an exemplary dissertation

Assessment:

- A 5000-word dissertation worth 70% for all taught masters students.
- A 2000-word essay due in week 1 of Lent Term (worth 20%), and a 2000-word essay due in week 3 of Summer Term (worth 20%).
- A 2% coursework assessment for students on the MSc Management course.

Teaching:

A weekly session of three hours, during Michaelmas and Lent Terms. Consult timetables for details.

Indicative reading:

MG421 Half Unit
The Future of the Multinational Firm
This information is for the 2012/13 session.
Teacher responsible: Professor Saul Estrin and Christine Cote
Availability: Optional on MSc Management, Organisations and Governance, MSc Economics and Management, MSc International Employment Relations and Human Resource Management and MSc Management. The course is also available as an outside option where regulations permit and with the permission of the teacher responsible for the course.
Pre-requisites: An undergraduate or graduate course in microeconomics. Pre-requisites to be assessed by teacher responsible Course content: This course analyses the emergence of firms which operate on a global scale and their current and likely future interactions with emerging markets. It will combine the development of conceptual frameworks primarily through the lectures with the analysis of key cases in the classes. There will also be some external speakers from large international firms and from the banking and consulting community to bring contemporary views and arguments to bear.
Multinational firms have been an increasingly significant aspect of the corporate environment in developed countries since the 1960s, and are responsible for a high proportion of global output, exports and investment, as well as the bulk of foreign direct investment. In the past few decades their activities have been increasingly focused to developing economies, notably those which have liberalised and entered a more rapid growth phase. These economies, emerging markets, include some important world economies including China, India, transition economies such as Russia, and Latin American countries such as Brazil and Argentina. The “new institutional economics” has recently developed as a field to understand the impact of variation in institutions on economies’ performance. This course will focus on how the institutional characteristics of emerging markets affect the choices and behaviour of multinational firms, now and into the future. We commence with the basic framework of analysis of the behaviour of multinational enterprises (MNEs), outlining models of the MNE which draw on transaction cost economics, the eclectic OLI paradigm of Dunning, and more recent concept such as the resource based view. We will provide an analysis of economic performance and growth in emerging markets building on the new institutional economies and working with a large variety of datasets and sources. The course will then turn to key topics. These will include the determinants of FDI; the effects of FDI on the host economy; entry mode choices; measures of institutional and cultural distance; and the growing importance of FDI on the host economy; entry mode choices; measures of institutional and cultural distance; and the growing importance of multinationals from emerging markets.
Assessment: A 1,000 word essay (25%) and a 2,000 word group project (25%).

MG422 Half Unit
Thinking Strategically
This information is for the 2012/13 session.
Teacher responsible: Professor Ignacio Palacios-Huerta
Pre-requisites: A knowledge of basic algebra is necessary to take this course.
Availability: MSc Management, Organisations and Governance, MSc Management, MSc Management, Information Systems and Innovation and MSc Economics and Management. The course is also available as an outside option where programme regulations permit.
Course content: This course is concerned with strategic thinking. The course is an interaction of game theory, economics and business strategic management. The focus is the study of situations in which two or more decision-makers (e.g., individuals, firms, political parties, etc) interact in a strategic manner. Understanding strategic situations that involve conflict and cooperation has proven critical in many areas of economics, business, political science, sports, law and other areas. The emphasis is to provide the fundamental thinking of good strategic making in these situations, rather than a mathematical and formal analysis.
The purpose of this course is threefold: (1) first, to introduce relevant tools of game theory in order to capture the key elements of different strategic situations and determine the most likely outcome in each situation; (2) second, to study various real-life applications and case-studies where thinking strategically has proven critical; (3) third, to cover modern developments in behavioural game theory, in particular in the areas of intertemporal choices and strategies, decision-making under risk and uncertainty, and experiments in strategic interaction.
Students should note that this course will involve weekly calculations and numerical reasoning.
Teaching: 10 x two-hour lectures and 8 x one-hour seminars in the Lent Term.
Formative coursework: Students will hand in 5-8 written assignments throughout the course, and feedback will be provided.
Set of academic articles and/or case studies, plus lecture notes written by instructor. Set of articles from the media.
Assessment: One two-hour examination in the Summer Term (100%).

MG423 Half Unit Not available in 2012/13
Leading Entrepreneurial Organisations in Global Markets
This information is for the 2012/13 session.
Teacher responsible: Dr Fei Qin
Availability: Optional for students on MSc Management, MSc Management (CEMS), MSc International Employment Relations and Human Resource Management, MSc Management and Human Resources, MSc Management Information Systems and Innovation, MSc Management Science, MSc Management and Strategy, MSc Organisational Behaviour and MSc Public Management and Governance. Also available as an outside option where regulations permit.
Course content: This course focuses on the entrepreneurial
MG425 Half Unit
Global Business Management

This information is for the 2012/13 session.
Teacher responsible: Professor Leslie Willcocks and Dr Susan Scott.
Availability: MSc Management, MSc Management (CEMS MIM), MSc Management, Organisations and Governance, MSc Management Science and MSc Public Management and Governance. The course is not available as an outside option.

Course content: This course studies the varieties of management practices across regions, and how business management can be conducted internationally. The course focuses on: Perspectives on Globalization; Political Economic, Cultural and Legal Environments and Differences; Strategy in Global Context; Organization, Foundations; Technological Architecture; Entry Strategy and Strategic Alliances; Global Sourcing and Logistics Strategy; International Management Challenges especially: Human Resources; Projects, Technology, R and D and Innovation; Global Information Systems and Digital Business Management; Managing Across Boundaries; Regional Business Strategies and International Trade; Regional Analysis: Europe and the EU, North and South America and Asia Pacific; Africa.

Teaching: Ten 1.5-hour lectures and ten 1.5-hour seminars in Michaelmas Term.

Formative coursework: In classes students will be presenting on case studies and on work assignments that involve making short presentations on themes, literatures and regions. There will at least six such pieces of work. Students will receive written feedback on their formative work.

Assessment: One 3,000 word essay (65%), one 1,500 word group project and presentation (30%), and class participation (5%).

MG426 Organisations in the Economy and Society

This information is for the 2012/13 session.

Teacher responsible: Dr Alexander Pepper

Availability: For MSc Management, Organisations and Governance students only.

Course content: This core course will introduce students to the economic and social context in which managers and their organisations operate. Managers have a special role within organisations by virtue of their ability to structure the way the organisation is designed and work is organised, to position their organisations in a changing economic and social landscape, and to develop organisational capabilities to profit from new opportunities. Our teaching encourages students to address questions such as:

- Why do firms exist and what are the boundaries of the firm?
- Why does exchange sometimes occur through markets and sometimes through firms?
- Do markets emerge or are they created by firms?
- What role do networks play in markets and organisations?
- Does ownership matter?
- What is meant by ‘corporate governance’ and why is it important?
- Is the global economy converging to one form of capitalism, or does capitalism come in many forms?

The course draws on theory and evidence from a range of social sciences, including economics, economic sociology and organisational theory. It makes particular use of historical and international evidence. Lectures and classes are arranged under seven headings:

- Exchange
- Firms
- Industry structure
- Networks
- How the firm can shape its external environment
- Governance
- Varieties of capitalism

Teaching: Teaching will be by weekly one-hour lectures and 16 1.5 hour classes. There will be a ST revision session.

Formative coursework: Students will be expected to make oral presentations in class, and be expected to write one non-assessed essay during the MT.

Indicative reading:

In Lent terms students will follow the development of an Foundation for the enterprise projects which the students will develop in finance) in the second half of Michaelmas term. These will form the concepts (marketing, strategy, human resource management and Students will be introduced to basic business
Course content:
MG427    Half Unit
Innovation in Organisations
This information is for the 2012/13 session.
Teachers responsible: Dr Susan Hill (Convenor) and Dr Yally
Availability: For MSc Management, Organisations and Governance
students only.
Pre-requisites: The course normally requires a good grounding in one of the social sciences.
Course content: Strategic Importance of Innovation in Organisations; Innovation in Social Science Theory; Creativity in Organisations; Corporate Entrepreneurship; Open Innovation; Real Options and Assessing Innovation Projects; Measuring and Incentivising Innovation; and Ambidexterity in Organisations. This half-unit course will develop students’ abilities to analyse, design and evaluate innovative initiatives in organisations. Managers are viewed as agents of creative efforts to manage innovation in the interest of enhancing organisational performance over the long run. Knowledge and skill for this purpose is developed by studying the development and operation of well-theorised practices for delivering enhanced value through organisational innovation and entrepreneurship.
Teaching: Ten one-and-a-half hour lectures and 10 one-and-a-half hour seminars (MT), team taught.
Formative coursework: Students are required to complete one formative essay.
Assessment: One 2,000 word assessed essay (40%) and a two-hour examination in the ST (60%).

MG428    Half Unit
Enterprise Development
This information is for the 2012/13 session.
Teachers responsible: Dr Nathalie Mitev and Dr Linda Hickman
Availability: For MSc Management, Organisations and Governance
students only.
Course content: Students will be introduced to basic business concepts (marketing, strategy, human resource management and finance) in the second half of Michaelmas term. These will form the basis for the enterprise projects which the students will develop in Lent term and Summer term. In Lent terms students will follow the development of an organisation from founder and idea generation through growth and change. This course will address problems and issues that must be resolved in order for start-up organisations to survive. It will provide an opportunity for students to use other course materials for application and decision-making when designing, maintaining and growing organisations. Through application, the students will be able to critically assess management practices and disciplines and evaluate their potential and limitations in developing organisations. The foundation idea of the course is to have the students start or adopt an organisation and work through its development through the course, addressing the challenges of a growing enterprise through the eyes of different disciplines and bodies of knowledge. The focus on the specific organization and its development should drive the student research material for the course.
The course will start with an evaluation of leadership roles and skills, followed by idea generation, group development, market evaluation, organisational design, resource issues, performance evaluation and growth.
Teaching: There will be 5 one-and-a-half hour lectures in the second half of MT; 8 one-and-a-half hour lectures, 7 one one-and-a-half hour group project seminars in the LT and one day seminar in ST.
Formative coursework: Students will be expected to make one oral presentation supported by one 1,800 word assessed essay based on an aspect of their group project. This will be later expanded and become the individual portion of the 5,000 word group project to be presented in Summer term. All written and oral work will be assessed.
Assessment: One 1,800 word assessed essay (30%); one presentation with 500 word outline (30%) and 5,000 word group project (20% group based, 20% individual based).

MG430    Half Unit
Strategy, Organisation and Innovation
This information is for the 2012/13 session.
Teacher responsible: Dr. Theodore (Ted) Piepenbrock
Availability: MSc Management students only. Other students wishing to audit the course are welcome, with permission of the Teacher Responsible.
Pre-requisites: MG433 Foundations of Management, MG431 Managerial Economics, MG434 Organisational Behaviour (exemptions by permission of the Teacher Responsible).
Course content: As a capstone course for the MSc in Management, MG430 explores advanced topics in Strategy, Organization and Innovation. True to the LSE, we will adopt an interdisciplinary social sciences point of view that embraces economics, sociology, political science and psychology, and builds on the core MiM courses of MG433 (Foundations of Management), MG431 (Managerial Economics) and MG434 (Organisational Behaviour). This course therefore focuses as much on integration and synthesis, as on differentiation and analysis. Throughout the term, we will explore, critique and develop theoretical frameworks which seek to understand, explain and predict firm performance via the analysis of empirical data in case studies. In the process we aim to contribute to fundamental academic debates on organization-environment interactions, managerial adaptation-inertia dilemmas, and competition-cooperation problems. Leveraging a unique vision of the Department of Management, we will adopt a view of management as an emerging Design Science, whereby we will seek to balance rigour with relevance, description with prescription, problems with solutions. We will explore how to architect enterprises to achieve their goals and to how to evolve them through “intelligent design.”

In other courses, you are learning to consume existing management theory (i.e. analyse, critique and use), while in this course we will also learn to produce new management theory (i.e. synthesize, build and test). This is a valuable capability, which will serve as a bridge to your own dissertation research, successful management careers beyond and will enable us to continue to advance the science and art of management theory and practice.

Teaching: 10 x 2-hour lectures and 10 x 1.5-hour classes in Lent Term.

Formative coursework: At least one piece of optional formative work (2,000 words) may be handed in and marked at the end of LT. Students will also be given formative feedback on their class participation.

Indicative reading: A primary text will be: Saloner, Garth, Andrea Shepard, and Joel M. Podolny. Strategic Management. New York, NY: John Wiley, 2001. A full reading list will be distributed at the start of the course.

Assessment: Two-hour examination in the Summer Term (80%) and class participation submitted and assessed weekly via micro-essays (web logs) (20%).

---

MG433 Foundations of Management

This information is for the 2012/13 session.

Teacher responsible: Professor Paul Willman

Availability: MSc Management students only.

Course content: basic grounding in the key management disciplines which will be taught chronologically. Students will therefore be provided with an overview of the development of Management disciplines and will develop an understanding of the disciplinary anchors in Sociology, Psychology and Economics. Each field will cover Origins and disciplinary boundaries, triggers for growth, core concepts and the current state of play and debate.

1. Course Introduction and the Origins of Management
2. Management and the Firm
3. Taylorism, Motivation, and Performance
4. The Rise and Decline of Labour
5. The Rise of Human Resources Management
6. Decision Making
7. Understanding Organisational Structures
8. The Origins of Modern Strategy
9. Analysis of Organisations
10. Contemporary Strategic Management: Firms as Bundles of Resources
11. Finance: Foundational Concepts
12. Financial Accounting 1
13. Financial Accounting 2
14. Management Accounting 1
15. Management Accounting 2
16. Management Accounting 3
17. Origins of Management Science
18. Marketing 1
19. Marketing 2
20. Marketing 3

Teaching: 10 x 2 hour lectures in Michaelmas term and 10 x 2 hour seminars in Lent term. Weekly two-hour seminars in each term in which some seminars will be workshops around technical material such as core applications or techniques.

Formative coursework: A 2,000 word formative essay in week 8 of MT.

Indicative reading: D. A. Wren and A.G Bedeian, The Evolution of Management Thought, Sixth Edition, Wiley 2009. A full reading list will be provided at the beginning of the course.

Assessment: Three hour examination in ST (75%) and one assessed essay of 2,500 words (25%) to be submitted in week 7 of LT.

---

MG431 Half Unit Managerial Economics

This information is for the 2012/13 session.

Teachers responsible: Professor Luis Rayo

Availability: MSc Management students only.

Course content: A graduate-level introduction to the central issues in managerial economics. The course will analyse the foundations for applying economic thinking to management. These include:

1. Economics as a theory of organisation.
2. Economic Agents: Rationality and the co-ordination powers of the market (Demand and supply and equilibrium: the determinants of consumers’ and firms’ market responses and the nature of non-strategic interaction).
3. Strategic interaction and dynamic competition
4. Uncertainty: behaviour and markets (the economic foundations of financial markets)
5. Information and efficiency.

Teaching: Students will be grouped into two streams. They will be able to select which group they attend. Both streams will cover the same content but will be taught separately. Each stream will have 1x3 hour lecture per week in the Michaelmas Term.

Formative coursework: Answers to problem sets are to be handed in during week 7 to be marked. In week 9 there will be a mock examination.

Indicative reading: Main textbooks: S. Estrin et al, Microeconomics, Prentice Hall, 2008. Students can also consider D M Kreps, Microeconomics for Managers, W. W. Norton (2004); T van Zandt; Firms, Price and Markets, available online (2006). Other books and articles as appropriate. A detailed reading list will be provided at the beginning of the course.

Assessment: Two-hour examination in the Summer Term.

---

MG434 Half Unit Organisational Behaviour

This information is for the 2012/13 session.

Teacher responsible: Dr Tara Reich

Availability: MSc Management students only.

This course is available in the Lent Term solely for MSc Management (Masters in Management) students. All other Masters students interested in this course can take it in the Michaelmas Term and should refer to the course guide entry under ID430 for further details.

Course content: This course seeks to understand individual attitudes and behaviour in an organizational context. It does this by reviewing psychological theories as they apply to organisations, demonstrating the contribution of a psychological perspective to understanding human behaviour at work, and critically evaluating the empirical evidence. The course attempts to strike a balance between theory and practice by applying the theories to practical problems in organizations.

Personality and individual differences, work motivation, decision making, rewards system, psychological contracts, organizational justice, performance and counter-performance (organizational citizenship behaviour, retaliation in organizations), leadership groups and group processes, design of work, organizational culture.

Teaching: The teaching is highly participative and includes lectures and seminars. Group work is an integral part of the course and students are expected to actively contribute to all group exercises. The course is demanding of students and its success depends partly upon student commitment and willingness to participate fully. The course is taught in the LT.

Formative coursework: Students are required to write one piece of un-assessed work.

Assessment: There will be a two-hour formal examination in the ST (100%). Candidates must tackle two questions from a choice of seven.

---

MG436 Half Unit Not available in 2012/13

Firms, Markets and Crises

This information is for the 2012/13 session.

Teacher responsible: Dr Daniel Beunza

Availability: MSc Management, MSc Management (CEMS MIIM) and MSc Management, Organisations and Governance students. Also available as an outside option where regulations permit.

Pre-requisites: Any social science background.

Course content: This course focuses on the financial sector and financial markets. It discusses current research in the social sciences on how this sector has emerged and operates, and sheds some light on the recent financial crisis. A constant theme is that academic research helps us explain major phenomena in current business and organizational life. In each lecture and class, faculty will discuss research helps us explain major phenomena in current business and organizational life. In each lecture and class, faculty will discuss major aspects of or issue in the financial sector internationally, and show how relevant research can help us understand it. The classes will use readings or cases to explore these matters in depth. Class membership, timing and location are dealt with in a separate document. Assessment is the subject also of a separate sheet.

Teaching: Ten x 1.5 hour lectures and ten x 1-hour seminar in the Lent Term. A revision session in ST.

Formative coursework: One 2,000 word essay.

Assessment: One two-hour exam in the ST (75%) and one 2,000 word essay (25%).

---

MG437 Half Unit

Business Model Innovation at the ‘Base of the Pyramid’

This information is for the 2012/13 session.

Teacher responsible: Professor Harry Barkema

Availability: MSc Management, MSc Management, Organisations and Governance, MSc Public Management and Governance, MSc Economics and Management, MSc Health, Community and Development and MSc Development Management. The course is also available as an outside option where regulations permit.

Pre-requisites: Students are required to submit a 500 word statement explaining their motivation to take MG438, and a CV detailing their education or experience related to countries in abject poverty. Either the student will have worked in these countries with NGOs, social enterprises or charities; or studied courses related to development poverty or business models.

The statement and CV should be submitted via the normal application system on LSE for You.

Course content: This is a timely and innovative topic for study. Over the past four decades, the developed world has transferred around $2 trillion in aid to emerging economies. However the impact, in terms of a positive permanent transformation, has been limited. NGOs have focused on a variety of needs, but despite enormous achievements in many places around the world only a small fraction of these needs have been served. More recently, an interest has been created around new business models that are economically sustainable. Some popular writings have even argued and presented anecdotes suggesting that “a fortune” can be made at the Base of the Pyramid. Despite significant effort there have been only a few successful ventures of multinational corporations (MNCs) at the BOP in only a few industries (e.g., food, cell phones) and little evidence of NGOs and social entrepreneurs taking economically sustainable business models to scale. The course will include guest speakers from industry and will encourage students to assess the evidence to date and to think critically about the process of business model innovation at the base of the pyramid.

The course will assess the evidence to date and will encourage students to think critically about the process of business model innovation at the base of the pyramid. It will monitor progress by MNCS and entrepreneurs as new business models are developed and delivered.

Teaching: Lectures: 6 x 3 hours in MT

Seminars: 4 x 3 hours in MT including final presentations in week 10

Formative coursework: One 800 word essay. Students choose one example of business model innovation at the base of the pyramid from those posted on Moodle by course members, or choose your own. Use theory underlying and developed in this course to explain how the business model innovation may support the relevant organization's goals.

Indicative reading: Morduch, J., 1999, The Microfinance Promise, Journal of Economic Literature, 37, (4), 1569-1614 (Jstor)

Assessment: One 1,500 word essay (45%), one 3,000 word group project (45%) and class participation (10%).

---

MG438 Business Model Innovation at the ‘Base of the Pyramid’ (full unit)

This information is for the 2012/13 session.

Teacher responsible: Professor Harry Barkema

Availability: MSc Management, MSc Management (CEMS MIIM), MSc Management, Organisations and Governance, MSc Public Management and Governance, MSc Development Management.
The course is also available as an outside option where regulations permit.

Pre-requisites: Students are required to submit a 500 word statement explaining their motivation to take MG438, and a CV detailing their education or experience related to countries in abject poverty. Either the student will have worked in these countries or with NGOs, social enterprises or charities; or studied courses related to development poverty or business models.

Course content: This is a timely and innovative topic for study. Over the past four decades, the developed world has transferred around $2 trillion in aid to emerging economies. However the impact, in terms of a positive permanent transformation, has been limited. NGOs have focused on a variety of needs, but despite enormous achievements in many places around the world only a small fraction of these needs have been served. More recently, an interest has been created around new business models that are economically sustainable. Some popular writings have even argued and presented anecdotes suggesting that “a fortune” can be made at the Base of the Pyramid. Despite significant effort there have been only a few successful ventures of multinational corporations (MNCs) at the BOP in only a few industries (e.g., food, cell phones) and little evidence of NGOs and social entrepreneurs taking economically sustainable business models to scale. The course will include guest speakers from industry and will encourage students to assess the evidence to date and to think critically about the process of business model innovation at the base of the pyramid.

The course will assess the evidence to date and will encourage students to think critically about the process of business model innovation at the base of the pyramid. It will monitor progress by MNCs and entrepreneurs as new business models are developed and delivered.

The 1.0 unit course leads to in-depth understanding through 10 class sessions, additional training in relevant methodology for the field work (data gathering and analysis) to arrive at stronger consulting projects, and actually going over to the local enterprise (company, social enterprise, NGO, etc.) to do the field work and work for a week during the Easter break with the actual organization on the ground. This course is spread out over the Michaelmas and Lent terms.

Teaching: 10 x three-hour lectures in MT, 8 x three-hour seminars in LT and 6 hours of presentations of group projects in week 4 of ST.

Assessment: One 2,000 word essay (45%), one 5,000 word group project (5,000 words) and class participation (10%).
MG443   Half Unit
Organisational Behaviour (modular)
This information is for the 2012/13 session.
Teacher responsible: Connson Locke
Availability: Global MSc Management only.
Course content: The course seeks to understand individual attitudes and behaviour in an organisational context. It does this by reviewing psychological theories as they apply to organisations, demonstrating the contribution of a psychological perspective to understanding human behaviour at work, and critically evaluating the empirical evidence. The course attempts to strike a balance between theory and practice by applying the theories to practical problems in organisations.
Topics include motivation and rewards, intrinsic motivation, creativity, organizational justice, group processes, culture, perception, power and persuasion, and leadership.
Teaching: Taught over 8 full days spread over 3 modules. The teaching is highly participative and includes lectures and classes for breakout discussion and exercises.
Formative coursework: Feedback will be given on online assignments, which will include one short essay preparing students for the exam.
Assessment: Take home exam (65%); essay (integrated assignment with MG441 Foundations of Management) (15%); class participation (20%) - in online assignments (10%) and team presentation (20%).

MG444   Half Unit
Quantitative and Qualitative Methods (modular)
This information is for the 2012/13 session.
Teacher responsible: Alec Morton and Daniel Beunza
Availability: Global MSc Management students only.
Course content: dummy variables, interactions and non-linear effects of explanatory variables, collinearity, diagnostics and model development. Introduction to logistic regression modelling. Introduction to principal components analysis and factor analysis. This course also provides research training in qualitative research methodology. The main qualitative methods will be introduced with an emphasis on ethnography. The course will cover: research design; data collection; data handling techniques; methods of analysis; constructing a contribution; and authoring a research report.
Teaching: Taught over several modules to supplement other assessed courses and support students in preparation for their dissertations in case they wish to use these methods.
Formative coursework: This course will not be formally assessed, but faculty will give feedback on class participation and homework assignments as appropriate.
Assessment: This course is not assessed.

MG445   Half Unit
Marketing Strategy (modular)
This information is for the 2012/13 session.
Teacher responsible: Professor Amitav Chakravarti.
Availability: MSc Global Management only.
Course content: This course is a rigorous examination of the key analytical frameworks and tools that are essential to building an effective marketing strategy. Peter Drucker, the father of business consulting once remarked, “Because the purpose of business is to create a customer, the business enterprise has two—and only two—basic functions: marketing and innovation.” In today’s highly competitive environment these words ring even more true: a well-designed marketing strategy can make all the difference between success and failure in the marketplace.
Participants with little or no previous experience of the discipline are introduced to the subject at a strategic level with some emphasis on the operational elements. One of its important aims is to emphasize the range of social science disciplines that are relevant if marketing is to be properly understood. Accordingly, this course will combine LSE’s premier standing in the social sciences with cutting-edge management practices by using a wide range of quantitative as well as qualitative methods, interactive lectures, videos, hands-on exercises, and case studies. Also, emphasis is placed on the use of global marketing case studies to develop participants’ skills at analyzing and making sense of complex real world business situations. These cases are drawn from various industries and countries, giving the participant exposure to a wide variety of internationally orientated marketing issues. Thus, the aim of the course is to develop an analytical tool-kit that is applicable to a wide range of industries and functions.
Teaching: Scheduled over three modules - one of which will take place overseas. Teaching will be spread across 10 sessions of up to 4 hours each.
Formative coursework: Feedback on class participation.
Assessment: Take home exam (60%); a 2,000 word essay case write-up (25%); class participation (15%).

MG446   Half Unit
Strategy, Organisation and Innovation (modular)
This information is for the 2012/13 session.
Teacher responsible: Dr. Theodore (Ted) Piepenbrock
Availability: Global MSc Management students only.
Course content: As a capstone course for the Global MSc in Management, MG446 explores advanced topics in Strategy, Organisation and Innovation. True to the LSE, we will adopt the LSE’s premier standing in the social sciences with cutting-edge management practices by using a wide range of quantitative as well as qualitative methods, interactive lectures, videos, hands-on exercises, and case studies. Also, emphasis is placed on the use of global marketing case studies to develop participants’ skills at analyzing and making sense of complex real world business situations. These cases are drawn from various industries and countries, giving the participant exposure to a wide variety of internationally orientated marketing issues. Thus, the aim of the course is to develop an analytical tool-kit that is applicable to a wide range of industries and functions.
on integration and synthesis, as on differentiation and analysis. Throughout the modules, we will explore, critique and develop theoretical frameworks which seek to understand, explain and predict firm performance via the analysis of empirical data in case studies. In the process we aim to contribute to fundamental academic debates on organization-environment interactions, managerial adaptation-inertia dilemmas, and competition-cooperation problems. Leveraging a unique vision of the Department of Management, we will adopt a view of management as an emerging Design Science, whereby we will seek to balance rigour with relevance, description with prescription, problems with solutions. We will explore how to architect enterprises to achieve their goals and how to evolve them through “intelligent design.” In other courses, you are learning to consume existing management theory (i.e. analyse, critique and use), while in this course we will also learn to produce new management theory (i.e. synthesize, build and test). This is a valuable capability, which will serve as a bridge to your own dissertation research, successful management careers beyond and will enable us to continue to advance the science and art of management theory and practice.

Teaching: Teaching will be scheduled throughout the programme to include (at least) one 4-hour classroom session in each module plus intersession activity.

Formative coursework: Feedback on class participation and one piece of formative work (1,000 words) to be handed in and marked.

Indicative reading: A full reading list will be provided at the start of the course. A primary text will be: Saloner, Garth, Andrea Shepard, and Joel M. Podolny. Strategic Management. New York, NY: John Wiley, 2001.

Assessment: Class participation assessed via micro-essays (web-logs) submitted after each module (50%) and a take-home final examination (50%).

---

MG447 Half Unit Foreign Direct Investment and Emerging Markets (modular)

This information is for the 2012/13 session.
Teacher responsible: Professor Saul Estrin.
Availability: Global MSc Management students only.
Course content: This course analyses the emergence of firms which operate on a global scale and their current and likely future interactions with emerging markets. Multinational firms have been an increasingly significant aspect of the corporate environment in developed countries since the 1960’s, and are responsible for a high proportion of global output, exports and investment, as well as the bulk of foreign direct investment. In the past few decades their activities have been increasingly focused to developing economies, notably those which have liberalised and entered a more rapid growth phase. These economies, emerging markets, include some important world economies including China, India, transition economies such as Russia, and Latin American countries such as Brazil and Argentina. The “new institutional economics” has recently developed as a field to understand the impact of variation in institutions on economies’ performance. This course will focus on how the institutional characteristics of emerging markets affect the choices and behaviour of multinational firms, now and into the future. We commence with the basic framework of analysis of the behaviour of multinational enterprises (MNEs), outlining models of the MNE which draw on transaction cost economics, the eclectic OLI paradigm of Dunning, and more recent concept such as the resource based view. We will then provide an analysis of economic performance and growth in emerging markets building on the new institutional economics and working with a large variety of datasets and sources. The remainder of the course is devoted to specific topics of MNEs in emerging markets. These include the determinants and impact of FDI, entry mode choices; measures of institutional distance; outsourcing and offshoring; and emerging market multinationals.

---

Outline of Lectures:
Lectures 1 and 2: Models and Strategies of the Multi-National Enterprise (MNE)
Lectures 3 & 4: Growth and Institutions in Emerging Markets
Lecture 5: The Determinants of Foreign Direct Investment (FDI) into Emerging Markets
Lecture 6: The Impact of FDI on Emerging Markets - Horizontal Lecture 7: The Impact of FDI on Emerging Markets - Vertical Lecture 8: MNEs and Modes of Entry
Lecture 9: FDI and “Distance”
Lecture 10: Emerging Market Multinationals
Teaching: Scheduled over three modules, one of which will take place overseas - 10 sessions of up to 4 hours.

Formative coursework: Two essays of 1000 words each.

Assessment: Take home exam (50%); group presentation x 2 (20% each); class participation (10%).

---

MG450 Half Unit Social Network Analysis and Strategies

This information is for the 2012/13 session.
Teacher responsible: Dr Daniela Lup.
Availability: Optional on MSc Management, MSc Management (CEMS MIM), MSc Management, Organisations and Governance, MSc Public Management and Governance, MSc Organisational Behaviour and MSc International Employment Relations and Human Resource Management.
Students from other departments are welcome, but should contact the course leader before enrolling.

Course content: The main objective of this course is to introduce students to current research in the area of social network analysis and improve their understanding of how an effective network structure looks like. The course focuses on both theoretical and substantive themes within social network analysis. Substantive topics focus on everyday managerial situations and consulting projects such as: managing information and knowledge; managing one’s career; managing a team; selecting a business partner; using virtual networks; social media.

In addition, the course aims to familiarize students with methodological issues connected with social network analysis (SNA). To this end, the students will learn to work with UCINET, a software designed for SNA. During the classes, the students will solve concrete managerial and consulting problems using SNA. Examples include (but are not limited to): understanding the social network of a manager, proposing a strategy for implementing organizational change; understanding the power and fallacies of online networks; visualizing power networks in specific industries; marketing applications.

List of topics:
1. SNA: Basic Concepts and Trends
2. Principles of Social Networks
3. Brokerage Networks and Network Roles
4. Solving network problems in Organizations
5. Social Networks and Labor Markets: job search, careers and HR issues
6. Inter-organizational networks
7. Status and Reputation in Networks: Consequences for Individuals and Organizations
8. Entrepreneurship and Market Entry : Regional and International perspective
MG452  Half Unit
Behavioural Economics for Management
This information is for the 2012/13 session.
Teacher responsible: Dr Kristof Madarasz
Availability: Optional on MSc Management, MSc Management (CEMS MIM), MSc Economics and Management and MSc Management and Strategy. Also available as an outside option where regulations permit.
Pre-requisites: The course covers formal models of behavioural economics and discusses related but we will discuss both experimental and field evidence that motivate and test various aspects of these models.
Graduate level Microeconomics or Managerial Economics Graduate level Econometrics of Quantitative Analysis is required.
Course content: This course is a post-graduate introduction to behavioural economics and strategy. The topics to be discussed are:
2. Procrastination, Self Control and Choice over Time.
4. Processing Information and Mistakes in Cognition.
5. Naivite and Heuristics in Strategic Thinking.
Teaching: 10 x two-hour lectures and 10 x one-hour seminars in the Lent Term.
Formative coursework: A mock exam comprising of problem sets.
MG461  Half Unit
Quantitative Analysis in Management
This information is for the 2012/13 session.
Teacher responsible: Professor Gregory Sorkin
Availability: MSc Management students only.
Course content: Analysis of Variance, Simple and multiple linear regression, including ideas of confounding and statistical control, the use of dummy variables, interactions and non-linear effects of explanatory variables, collinearity, diagnostics and model development. Introduction to logistic regression modelling. Introduction to Management Science modelling. Introduction to principal components analysis and factor analysis.
Teaching: 10 x 2 hour lectures and 9 x 1 hour computer classes.
Formative coursework: Weekly homework with formative assessment by Class Teachers
Assessment: A two-hour examination in ST (100%).

MG462  Half Unit
Qualitative Analysis in Management
This information is for the 2012/13 session.
Teacher responsible: Professor Jannis Kalinikos, Dr Katie Best
Availability: The course is intended for all students taking the MSc Management only, with little or no previous experience of qualitative methodology.
Course content: This course provides MIM students with a critical understanding of qualitative management research, with an emphasis on methods and techniques which will be useful and relevant to them both as management scholars and in their future careers. A range of methods will be used and critically appraised, including ethnography, discourse analysis, case studies and in-depth interviews. The course will cover: research design; data collection; data handling techniques; methods of analysis; constructing a contribution; and authoring a research report. These are methods, skills and techniques which are used both formally and informally in academia, consultancy and the workplace.
Teaching: 10 x 1.5 hour lectures and 10 x 1 hour seminars.
Formative coursework: 500 word research proposal in week 5 LT.
Teaching: Ten two-hour lectures and ten seminars of varying lengths in Michaelmas Term.
Formative coursework: Classes are based around reading and discussing selected journal articles and case studies from the course study pack. Formative feedback is provided on class participation. In addition, students will present an essay plan in preparation for the final case-based essay, on which formative feedback will be provided.

MG482  Half Unit
Innovation and Technology Management
This information is for the 2012/13 session.
Teachers responsible: Dr Nathalie Mitev (NAB3.27) and Dr Jonathan Liebenau (NAB5.14)
Availability: This is an optional course for the MSc Management, Information Systems and Innovation, MSc Management and MSc Management, Organisations and Governance. It is available as an outside option to other MSc students.
Course content: The main focus of this course is on how innovative technologies are managed and their consequences. It includes technological innovation in areas such as telecoms, hi tech industries, pharmaceuticals, biotechnology, space technology, nuclear technologies. Aspects covered are how new industries are created, how existing industries can be transformed by new technologies, linkages between technological development and the creation of wealth, and implementation success and failure of technological systems. Topics include: technology and entrepreneurship, technology strategy, R&D management, patents and intellectual property, disruptive technologies, project escalation, technological disasters. Economic, systems, managerial and sociological approaches will be compared using a variety of case studies.
Teaching: Ten two-hour lectures and ten seminars of varying lengths in Michaelmas Term.
Formative coursework: Classes are based around reading and discussing selected journal articles and case studies from the course study pack. Formative feedback is provided on class participation. In addition, students will present an essay plan in preparation for the final case-based essay, on which formative feedback will be provided.

MG489  Half Unit
Professional Development Programme and Business Project
This information is for the 2012/13 session.
Teachers responsible: Dr Emma Soane (PDP), Dr Sandy Pepper (Business Project).
Availability: Compulsory for MSc Management students.
Course content: The Professional Development Programme (PDP) aims to equip students with the skills necessary to secure internships, optimise their career opportunities and succeed in their careers. The sessions will also provide students with tools and
MG498 Half Unit
Dissertation
MSc Global Management

This information is for the 2012/13 session.

Teacher responsible: Various.

Availability: Global MSc Management students only.

Course content: Dissertations will be based on a project which will be undertaken throughout the second year of the degree. This will include conducting industry and company analysis before writing a final report based on issues and opportunities within a business - ideally the student's own company.

Teaching: Students are required to participate in 20 hours of scheduled seminar sessions which will relate to dissertation topics and will lead to their own individual dissertation project. Students will work in groups of 4 or 5. They will be allocated a faculty advisor who will support and guide them through the full project including virtual support through the online learning platform.

Formative coursework: Students will be required to agree their dissertation topic with a faculty advisor and provide a 1,500 word dissertation plan which they will receive feedback on.

Indicative reading: Relevant reading will be provided by group advisors.

Assessment: 6,000 word dissertation (100%).

MG499 Half Unit
Dissertation

This information is for the 2012/13 session.

Teacher responsible: Professor Michael Barzelay.

Availability: Compulsory for MSc Public Management and Governance.

Course content: Dissertations could be either a "live" project with an outside organisation or a small research project.

Teaching: Students will attend a session in the Michaelmas term which will explain the objectives and requirements of the dissertation and outline possible topics. Students are required to choose a topic by the start of Lent term. They will attend lectures on methods in the Lent term. Academic supervision will be available in the Lent and Summer terms but not after the end of the Summer term. Students are required to submit their dissertation by the end of August.

Formative coursework: Each student will be required present an outline of the subject of their dissertation and the proposed argument of the dissertation in a session organised for all students at the end of the Summer Term.

Assessment: Dissertations (maximum 6,000 words) are to be completed by the end of August.

MG4A1 MSc Management pre-sessional: Quantitative Methods and Mathematics

This information is for the 2012/13 session.

Teachers responsible: TBC.

Availability: MSc Management only.

Course content: The course is divided into two separate subjects: Statistics and Mathematics.

The Statistics course covers basic probability and statistics; hypothesis testing; analysis of variance; association, correlation and regression and matrix algebra.

The Mathematics course covers the following topics with application reference to economics and business: Linear equations; Algebra and Graphs; Quadratic functions; Indices and Logs; Exponential and natural log; Geometric Series; Derivatives (univariat); Rules of differentiation; Optimisation; Multivariate functions; Unconstraint optimisation; Constraint optimisation; Indefinite integrals; Definite integrals.

Teaching: Statistics: 10 x 1 hour lecture (+tutorial) in the three weeks prior to the Michaelmas Term. Mathematics: 10 x 2 hour lecture (+tutorial) in the three weeks prior to the Michaelmas Term.

Assessment: No formal assessment. Students will sit a mock exam at the end of the course based upon the material to aid learning.

MN404 Incentives and Governance in Organisations

This information is for the 2012/13 session.

Teacher responsible: Dr Catherine Thomas
Availability: Core course for MSc Management and Strategy. Available as an option for MSc International Management, MSc Management, MPA Public and Economic Policy/MPA Public Policy and Management/MPA International Development/MPA European Public and Economic Policy/MPA Public and Social Policy with the permission of the Course Convenor. Please note this course may be capped if student numbers become too high. Students are required to obtain permission from the teaching department to take this course, unless it is a compulsory course for their programme.

Pre-requisites: A knowledge of Mathematics and Economics.

Course content: The course uses economic theory to gain insight into issues related to internal organisation and management of firms. The course will draw on various disciplines including management science, industrial organisation and microeconomics. The course deals with three main topics: (i) the provision of incentives in organisations, (ii) the use of information in markets and firms, and (iii) the theory of financial decisions. A major theme concerns the question of how to provide incentives efficiently in organisations. Other important themes include efficiency, coordination, incompleteness of contracts and the use of the market versus internal exchange. A section of the course deals with financial theory. The implications of asymmetric information are examined. Corporate governance is discussed in a principal-agent framework.

Teaching: 10 two-hour lectures and eight one-hour classes in the MT.

Assessment: Two-hour examination in the ST.

MN415 Half Unit
The Analysis of Strategy A
This information is for the 2012/13 session.
Teacher responsible: Dr Vikram Pathania
Availability: Compulsory course for MSc Management and Strategy students. Optional course for MSc Management Science (Decision Sciences), MSc International Management and MPA Public and Economic Policy/MPA Public Policy and Management/MPA International Development/MPA European Public and Economic Policy/MPA Public and Social Policy although there is no guarantee that additional places will be available. Students are required to obtain permission from the teaching department to take this course, unless it is a compulsory course for their programme

Course content: The objective of the two courses (A and B) is to provide students with a critical appreciation of what it takes to be a strategist - in the context of the real world, within and outside firms and with other strategists. The critical aspect of being a strategist is to anticipate and prepare in advance for possible reactions of other players (eg competitors). These two courses will help students to understand how managers in the real world ought to react in strategic situations. The particular emphasis is on the perspective provided by economics on the subject of strategy. Besides applications, stress will also be given to the theoretical underpinnings.

The course is an interaction of game theory, economics, and strategic management. After some preliminary material on measuring corporate performance, students will be introduced to ideas of behaving in strategic situations. A powerful tool to study these situations is game theory, where the emphasis is on how to provide adequate incentives efficiently in organisations. These two courses will help students to understand how managers in the real world ought to react in strategic situations. A powerful tool to study these situations is game theory, where the emphasis is on how to provide adequate incentives efficiently in organisations. These two courses will help students to understand how managers in the real world ought to react in strategic situations.

Teaching: 10 two-hour lectures and one-hour classes in the MT.

Assessment: Two-hour examination in the ST.

MN413 Half Unit
International Marketing: A Strategic Approach
This information is for the 2012/13 session.
Teacher responsible: Professor Amitav Chakravarti
Availability: For MSc Management and Strategy, MSc Management, MSc International Management, MSc Management, Organisations and Governance, MSc Media and Communications, MSc Media and Communications (Media and Communication Governance) but other MSc students may take the course with approval of the course teacher. Students are required to obtain permission from the teaching department to take this course.

Course content: This course is a rigorous examination of the key analytical frameworks, technical tools, and concepts that are essential in building an effective marketing strategy. Participants are introduced to the subject at both strategic and operational levels. This course combines LSE’s premier standing in the social sciences with cutting-edge management practices. By using a wide range of quantitative as well as qualitative methods, interactive lectures, videos, hands-on exercises, and case studies, we will share key analytical frameworks and tools that are essential to a good marketing strategy. The aim is to develop a widely applicable analytical tool-kit that relies on: (a) anticipating decisions that managers frequently face, (b) bringing to bear a wide range of fundamental, often competing social science theories to inform these decisions, (c) knowledge about empirical generalizations, and (d) knowledge about moderating conditions. Also, emphasis is placed on the use of marketing case studies to develop participant’s skills at analysing and making sense of complex real world business situations.

Teaching: Lectures: 10 lectures. Nine one-hour classes (MN413.A) in the MT beginning in the 2nd week of the MT.

Further references will be provided at the commencement of the course.

Assessment: Assessment is determined by a two-hour term test (50%) and an essay of 2,500 words (50%)
Development/MPA European Public and Economic Policy/MPA Public and Social Policy. Other students may attend subject to numbers, degree regulations, and at the discretion of the teacher responsible. Students are required to obtain permission from the teaching department to take this course, unless it is a compulsory course for their programme.

Pre-requisites: MN415 The Analysis of Strategy (A) or equivalent.

Course content: In this course we continue, deepen and extend the analysis of strategy. The success of a firm depends on the decisions it makes, and these decisions have to take the behaviour of competitors into account who themselves try to make optimal decisions. Thus the firm faces a problem of strategic interaction, and game theory takes this interaction consistently into account. This course aims at a strategic understanding of these situations and the decisions firms face. We will study general principles of strategic thinking, the application of these principles to specific problems and general conclusions we can draw in these situations.

This part of the course focuses on the strategic aspects of competing against other firms within the same industry. We start by analysing market structure and various dimensions of competition - pricing, capacity choices, research and development and advertising. We will then discuss different aspects of strategic commitment and the commitment aspects of pricing, investment and financing decisions.

We then focus on the dynamic aspect of pricing rivalry, in particular collusion and price wars. We will analyse the role of incomplete and changing information in decision-making and the evaluation of 'real options'. We will finally discuss the incentives for innovation and market entry and exit decisions.

Our approach will be critical throughout, emphasising both the power and the limits of a game-theoretic approach. We will use simple models to clarify the logic of strategic reasoning, and case studies to emphasise the relationship between the analysis of strategy and managerial decision making.

Teaching: There will be 10 two-hour lectures in the LT and 10 one-hour seminars in the LT and ST.

Assessment: The course will be examined by a two-hour examination in the ST.

MN419 Half Unit
Systems Thinking and Strategic Modelling
This information is for the 2012/13 session.

Teacher responsible: Dr David Lane

Availability: For students taking the MSc Management and Strategy, MSc International Management, MSc Management, Organisations and Governance, MSc Economics and Management, MSc Management Science and MPA Programme (all streams), and MSc Public Policy and Administration. Only in exceptional circumstances may students taking OR431 take this course and this is subject to approval by the teacher responsible. Students are required to obtain permission from the teaching department to take this course.

Pre-requisites: Pre-requisites are a sound understanding of algebraic and functional relationships as well as comfort with the use of elementary differential equations and the practical use of computer packages.

Course content: The course provides an introduction to the form of systems thinking called system dynamics. The emphasis is on the creation and use of strategic models which allow the rigorous testing of different policies to understand the behaviour of organisations over time.

The course treats the following subjects: the core concepts of system dynamics and its intended contribution to management thinking, the symbols and conventions of causal loop diagramming, creating causal theories with CLDs, the benefits of simulations models, iconography for strategic modelling, managerial applications of strategic modelling.

The first half of the course introduces the causal feedback thinking at the centre of system dynamics and shows how this qualitative modelling approach can add clarity and precision to strategic debates. In the second half of the course the benefits of fully specified and parametrised simulation models are then described using a range of examples and students are expected to explore and experiment with quantitative computer models using ‘state of the art’ simulation software with a graphical interface.

This course concentrates on the use of pre-built simulation models and the contribution that they can make to management. It therefore compliments the course OR431 System Dynamics Modelling which gives greater emphasis to the process of model building and which offers a broader range of examples from business, public-policy making, epidemiology/ecology and elsewhere. Non IMEX students may take either or both courses, subject to their specific degree requirements, the respective course restrictions, and the approval of the teacher responsible.

Teaching: Two sessions per week (normally alternating lecture then class, some of these classes being held in computer rooms) for the 10 weeks of MT.

Assessment: The course is examined by two pieces of individual course work.

These involve the following general areas and mark weightings: explanation and policy intervention using causal loop diagrams (50%) and analysis of the managerial implications of a simulation model in the form of a management report (50%).

For the first assignment students will be expected to choose their own policy issue to explore with CLDs.

For the second assignment students may use one of the examples on the course or explore some other application of system dynamics. For both assignments the student choices are subject to approval by the teacher responsible.

These pieces of work are made available at the mid-point and then towards the end of the course, with appropriately staged hand-in dates, the last being on the first day of LT.

MN425 Half Unit
Business in the Global Environment
This information is for the 2012/13 session.

Teachers responsible: Professors Emanuel Ornelas and Veronica Rapopo.

Availability: For MSc Management and Strategy and MSc International Management, incoming IMEX students, MSc International Employment Relations and Human Resource Management and MPA Public and Economic Policy/MPA Public Policy and Management/MPA International Development/MPA European Public and Economic Policy/MPA Public and Social Policy. Priority will be given in the following order: IMEX students (home and visiting); other students from the MES Group and International Relations; all other LSE students. Students are required to obtain permission from the teaching department to take this course, unless it is a compulsory course for their programme.

Course content: The course looks at the process of globalisation at three levels: industries, firms and nations. Its goal is to develop a solid understanding of the external, economy-wide factors that affect the performance and management of firms in today's global economy. Topics include the changing structure of industries, the response of companies, both those based in the advanced industrial countries and those based in emerging markets, to increasing international competition; and differences between countries in their institutions and policies.

Teaching: 10 lectures and 10 seminars in the MT.

Formative coursework: A seminar presentation on a topic related to the course.

Assessment: The assessment is based on a term test held in the last week of the term (70%) and on two written assignments of 1,000 words each during the term (15% each).

MN426 Half Unit Design and Management of Organisations This information is for the 2012/13 session.

Teacher responsible: Professor Luis Rayo

Availability: Core course for MSc Management and Strategy. Optional for MSc Management. Students are required to obtain permission from the teaching department to take this course, unless it is a compulsory course for their programme

Course content: In this course we investigate aspects of management and the internal organisation of the firm. We start by discussing management decision making in the light of general heuristics and biases exhibited by individuals and groups and ask how organisations might help to mitigate negative consequences arising from these predispositions. We also shed light on the management of teams and non-monetary aspects of motivation. Other topics include formal and informal structures of organisations, leadership, power, authority, delegation, entrepreneurship, innovation, promotions and careers. We conclude by looking at two intangible assets of organisations: corporate culture and corporate social responsibility.

Students are introduced to a set of frameworks which will enable them to critically evaluate contemporary management approaches. The organising principle of much of the content of the course has its origins in economic theory and empirical behavioural observations which are applied to issues and ideas relevant to management. Additionally we draw upon findings from psychology and sociology. The course complements MN404 (Incentives and Governance in Organisations) but can be taken as a stand-alone course. Whereas MN404 focuses on incentive contracts, principal-agent models and topics in finance, this course focuses more on aspects of informal structure.

Teaching: 10 two-hour lectures and 10 one-hour classes in the LT.

Indicative reading: A course pack will be provided at the beginning of the course.

Assessment: A formal two-hour examination in the ST.

MN429 Half Unit The World Trading System This information is for the 2012/13 session.

Teacher responsible: Dr E Ornelas

Availability: MSc Management and Strategy, MSc International Management, MSc Economics and Management, MSc Risk and Finance, MSc Management and Regulation of Risk and MPA Public and Economic Policy/MPA Public Policy and Management/MPA International Development/MPA European Public and Economic Policy/MPA Public and Social Policy. Other students may attend subject to degree regulations and the approval of the teacher responsible. Students are required to obtain permission from the teaching department to take this course.

Pre-requisites: Basic Knowledge of Mathematics and Economics

Course content: The course studies a key component of the “globalization” process: the negotiation, implementation and implications of international trade agreements (ITAs). These include the World Trade Organisation and the fast-growing web of regional trade agreements. We analyse the challenges and opportunities faced by companies engaged in the global economy in this context. The course relies on recent theoretical and empirical research to gain insight into the motivations for ITAs and their consequences for consumers and firms.

Globalisation - trends in the international economy and overview of their causes and effects.

The sources of international trade.

Trade barriers - restrictions to international trade and their consequences.

The economics and politics of international trade agreements.

The rules, accomplishments and shortcomings of the GATT/WTO system.

Regional trade agreements - motivation, implications, and recent trends.

The costs and benefits from exporting for individual firms.

Challenges and opportunities for national and multinational firms in the global economy.

Teaching: Weekly one hour lecture and one hour class in Michaelmas Term. A review session in the Summer Term.

Formative coursework: A mock examination will be held.

Assessment: A two-hour examination in the Summer Term.

MN430 Half Unit
Strategy for the Information Economy
This information is for the 2012/13 session.
Teacher responsible: Dr Thomas Kittsteiner
Availability: MSc Management and Strategy, MSc Management and Regulation of Risk, MSc Risk and Finance, MSc Economics and Management, and MSc Management. Students are required to obtain permission from the teaching department to take this course.
Pre-requisites: Basic knowledge of economics.
Course content: The internet has created many new market opportunities. Web-based technology allows for new kinds of market interactions and products. Understanding the design and functioning of these new markets is central for business strategy and success. This course develops the relevant economic principles and applies them to the formulation of strategies for the provision of information goods and the design of online market platforms. The first part of the course is concerned with strategic aspects of the provision of information goods (such as music, software, product reviews, search results). Topics include the pricing of information goods, versioning, rights management, network effects, lock-ins and the discussion of e-commerce institutions and business models. The second part of the course covers the use and design of online-market transaction mechanisms for business-to-consumer and business-to-business e-commerce. Topics include principles of market engineering, design of standard (online-)auction markets and multi-unit auction markets, reputation and collusion in online markets and matching markets. The course provides a theoretical background and relates theory to various examples and case-studies (such as the design of Google’s ad-auctions and eBay’s feedback mechanism).
Teaching: Ten hours of lectures and ten hours of seminars in LT. Two hours of lectures in ST.
Formative coursework: Two exercise sets with a mixture of qualitative and quantitative questions. These will be marked and students will receive written feedback on them.
Assessment: Two-hour written examination in the ST (100%).

MN432 Half Unit
Personnel Economics
This information is for the 2012/13 session.
Teacher responsible: Dr Yona Rubinstein
Availability: MSc Management, MSc Management (CEMS MIM), MSc Management and Strategy, MSc International Management, MSc Management and Human Resources and MSc International Employment Relations and Human Resource Management.
Pre-requisites: Students will need to have some understanding of microeconomics and knowledge of basic statistical methods would be an advantage.
Course content: Personnel economics applies economic principles to human resources management issues such as recruitment, compensation, promotions, performance evaluation, selection, and training. The course provides a rigorous theoretical framework and the statistical tools needed to analyse human resources policies under varying institutional and competitive environments. It highlights the importance of information and incentives in the modern economy. Issues covered include should pay vary across workers within firms? How are pay and promotions structured across jobs to induce optimal effort from employees? Why do firms use teams and how are they used most effectively? Does CEO pay reflect competitive markets and efficient contracting? How important is discrimination What makes an entrepreneur? How should human resource management practices be combined within firms?
Teaching: 10 x 3 hours of seminars (in Harvard Style teaching) in MT.
Formative coursework: Students will be required to undertake the analysis of two human resource management problems which will be marked and handed back with feedback.
Articles
Assessment: One two-hour exam held in ST (100%).
MN433  Half Unit
Case Study in Management and Strategy
This information is for the 2012/13 session.
Teacher responsible: Sir Geoffrey Owen, Professor David de Meza
Availability: Optional on MSc Management and Strategy. Not available as an outside option.
Course content: The case study component involves an examination of the recent history of a number of major companies, focusing in particular on strategic choices, organisational issues and overall performance. The aim is to use these case studies as a way of illustrating some of the topics dealt with in the MSc Management and Strategy programme.
Each of the study groups into which the class is divided will be assigned a company, which will form the subject of its case study. Each group will make a presentation on their company in the Lent Term. Linked to these case studies is a set of talks on strategy and organisation given by outside speakers - executives from the companies and experts in the industries concerned.
Teaching: 8 x one-hour lectures in MT and 4 x one-hour lectures in the LT. Each case group will have a one-hour introductory session and a 1.5 hour guidance session (MT). There will be 6 x 1.5 hour presentation sessions and each group will have a 1.5 hour feedback session (LT).
Formative coursework: Each study group will meet the teachers responsible for an introductory session, and then a guidance session. Each study group will then provide a draft of their presentation and receive feedback on this draft in a feedback session. Each student will submit an essay (1000 words) as a formative assessment. Before submitting the final essay students will also receive feedback on their group presentation.
Indicative reading: Geoffrey Owen, \textit{The rise and fall of great companies: Courtaulds and the reshaping of the man-made fibres industry}, Oxford University Press, 2011
John Roberts, The modern firm, Oxford University Press, 2004
Case-specific reading, e.g.
Rigas Doganis, \textit{The airline business}, Routledge 2006
Michel Freyssenet (ed), \textit{The second automobile revolution, trajectories of the world carmakers in the 21st century}, Palgrave Macmillan 2009
Clive Humphy and Terry Hunt, \textit{Scoring points: how Tesco is winning customer loyalty}, Kogan Page 2003
\textbf{Assessment:} One 2,500 word essay (50%) and one group presentation (50%).

MN434  Half Unit
Empirical Research Strategy for Managerial Economics
This information is for the 2012/13 session.
Teacher responsible: Dr Yona Rubinstein
Availability: Optional on MSc Management and Strategy and MSc International Management.
Course content: This course addresses the link between a research question, the nature of the available data, the appropriate statistical and econometric methods and the interpretation of the empirical findings.
Using datasets from current research in managerial economics, the course will explain how conceptual ideas are transformed into an empirical research project, and how this project is then implemented.
Topics will include:
1. The statistical modelling of research questions; (formulation, reduced forms and structural parameters of interest)
2. Identification in controlled experiments;
3. Identification strategies in observational data;
a. cross section: instrumental variables, regression discontinuity design;
b. panel data: fixed and random effects models, differences-in-differences
c. sample selection: structural models and non-parametric approach
Teaching: 10 x two-hour lectures in the MT.
Formative coursework: One formative essay (review of an empirical paper, 1000 words), one problem set, mock exam.
Indicative reading: Books:
Wooldridge, Jeffrey. Introductory econometrics, South Western College, 5th edn. 2012
Papers:
Assessment: One two-hour open book exam (60%) and one 1,000 word review of an empirical paper (40%).

MN497  Half Unit
Dissertation: MSc Management and strategy
This information is for the 2012/13 session.
Teacher responsible: Dr Jörn Rothe
Availability: Compulsory for students on MSc Management and Strategy.
Course content: The dissertation consists of a research project within the subject of management. Students work on this project individually under the guidance of a supervisor. The dissertation should make a contribution towards understanding a topic or question related to management based on original analysis and empirical evidence.
Teaching: There will be two introductory meetings, the first will set out the requirements for the dissertation, the process, caution of plagiarism, etc. The second meeting will allow students to approach staff with preliminary ideas, mainly with a view to set up subsequent one-to-one meetings.
Formative coursework: Students will receive feedback on a preliminary proposal (to be submitted by the end of Michaelmas Term) and will be allocated a dissertation supervisor, under whose guidance they will complete a detailed project proposal by the end of Lent Term. Students work on their dissertation over the summer, with supervision available until the end of the Summer Term.
Assessment: One 6,000 word dissertation (100%).

MN499  Half Unit
Dissertation: MSc Management and strategy
This information is for the 2012/13 session.
Teacher responsible: Dr Jörn Rothe
Availability: Compulsory for and exclusive to all MSc International Management students.
Course content: The dissertation consists of a research project within the subject of management. Students work on this project individually under the guidance of a supervisor. The dissertation should make a contribution towards understanding a topic or question related to management based on original analysis and empirical evidence.

Teaching: Dissertation supervisors are allocated early in the Lent Term and are available for consultation until the end of July. Details about the process of writing the dissertation will be provided in Michaelmas Term.

Assessment: One dissertation of 10,000 words (100%).

---

MY400  Half Unit
Fundamentals of Social Science Research Design

This information is for the 2012/13 session.

Teachers responsible: Dr Paul Mitchell.

Availability: Compulsory for MSc Social Research Methods, and MSc Statistics (Research) and MSc Gender (Research). Also available on MSc Human Geography and Urban Studies (Research) and to all masters level students where regulations allow. Research students please see MY500.

Course content: Research design can be considered as a form of problem oriented practical scholarship. It is one of the key components in the empirical social scientific study of social issues. Design is the means to provide relevant information on a research question in an efficient way that meets the criteria of public accountability, in the sense of openness to public scrutiny. Any research design is characterised by both opportunities and constraints, and the selection of the optimal design is always a trade off between the strengths and weaknesses of different options, viewed in the context of feasibility. Drawing on a variety of examples from the social scientific literature, this course will explore design considerations and options, issues of data quality and analysis, and reporting.

The broad aims of the course are to: increase awareness of the role of research design in the social sciences; introduce a range of design options; and foster an appreciation of the strengths and weaknesses of the different options for particular research objectives. At the end of the course, students will be able to bring a more critical reading to the literature and have acquired a basic knowledge of social research design as a contribution to their dissertations.

Teaching: 10 x two-hours lectures in the MT. One hour seminars in the MT and/or the LT.

Formative coursework: To identify a research question the proposed research project will answer (two pages of A4, by week 5).

Assessment:
1. Provisional Research Design (1500 words) submitted in week 10 MT. Students received feedback in LT (30%).
2. Final Outline research Design (5000 words). Submitted ST. (60%)
3. Class participation (10%)

---

MY421  Half Unit
Qualitative Research Methods

This information is for the 2012/13 session.

Teacher responsible: Dr Jen Tarr (MT), Dr Flora Cornish (LT)

Availability: Optional for MSc Social Research Methods, and MSc Gender (Research) and MSc Human Geography and Urban Studies (Research).

Course content: The course will address methods of data collection and analysis of qualitative data, and is aimed at students with little or no background in qualitative research. It will discuss elements of qualitative research design including how to conduct good quality research and how to collect a corpus of data, writing up qualitative research, and ethical issues that emerge in the research process. Data collection methods including participant observation, interviewing, and documentary and historical research will be covered. Students will then be presented with a variety of methods of qualitative data analysis, including thematic analysis, grounded theory, content analysis, discourse analysis and semiotics.

Course examples and seminar activities will be related to a key theme: the Olympic legacy. The aim is to show how a particular research theme might be addressed through each of the data collection strategies and analytic approaches discussed. Where possible, selected studies related to this theme have been chosen to illustrate the method under discussion.

Teaching: The course runs twice per year: in MT (MY421M) and again in LT (MY421L). Ten x two hour lectures and six x 90 minute workshops with practical exercises.

Formative coursework: All students are required to upload one interview transcript OR one focus group transcript, plus a topic guide and one paragraph of reflections, to Moodle by Week 6 of term. Students will also be required to read and comment on transcripts submitted by others. Feedback will be provided through these discussions and via comments from the seminar leader, and the collected transcripts will provide the material for practising data analysis later in the term. The formative assessment develops the practical skills required for the examination (or coursework for those students registered under MY4M1/2).

Please Note: No single publication covers the whole content of the course.

Assessment: A two-hour unseen examination (100%).

---

MY426  Half Unit
Doing Ethnography

This information is for the 2012/13 session.

Teacher responsible: Dr Flora Cornish

Availability: Optional on MSc Social Research Methods, MSc Social Policy (Research), MSc Gender (Research), MSc Human Geography and Urban Studies (Research), MSc Development Studies (Research). Also available as an outside option to other MSc students with permission of the teacher responsible.

Pre-requisites: A postgraduate qualitative research methods course, such as MY421, as pre- or co-requisite. Familiarity with notions of research design in the social sciences, to the level of MY400 or equivalent.

Course content: Doing ethnography, particularly through participant observation enables us to examine how social order is produced as people go about their everyday interactions. Multiple sources of naturally-occurring data are used to understand how communities, organisations and institutions work, informally as well as formally. Contemporary conditions of globalisation, individualisation, bureaucratisation and digitisation introduce new challenges for such fieldwork. This interdisciplinary course equips students with a practical understanding of how to do, and to think about, contemporary ethnography. Core conceptual, ethical and methodological debates are introduced through in-depth engagement with book-length exemplars, and through students’ experience of fieldwork. Fieldwork is a key component of the course, with data collection at a local public institution (interesting sites are chosen each year, e.g. the Occupy encampment at St Pauls, a busy train station), followed by data analysis and presentation workshops. Methodological concerns regarding case selection, establishing rigour, reflexivity, representing others, and ethical issues are addressed in detail. Practical issues addressed include access to study sites, studying elite and marginalised groups, innovative sources of data, and writing field notes. Emphasising that ethnography relies on the researcher-as-research-instrument, the course aims to develop students’ sensitivity and rigour as ethnographic researchers.

Teaching: 8 x two-hour lectures and 8 x one-hour seminars in the
MY427 Half Unit

Qualitative Research with Non-Traditional Data

This information is for the 2012/13 session.

Teacher responsible: Dr. Jen Tarr

Availability: MSc Social Research Methods, MSc Culture and Society, MSc Media and Communications, MSc Media and Communications (Research), MSc Gender (Research), MSc Gender, Media and Culture and MSc Human Geography and Urban Studies (Research). The course is also available to PhD students, please see MYS27.

Pre-requisites: Introductory course on qualitative methods (e.g. MY421 or MC4M1) as pre-requisite or co-requisite.

Course content: Most qualitative research is in the form of written or spoken texts, produced through interviews and field notes or collection and analysis of documents. Recently, qualitative researchers have become interested in ways of capturing and documenting other kinds of data and other dimensions of social life, including visual, audio, and other sensory data, space, and time. This course will examine methods for collecting and analysing data which are not primarily textual or linguistic, and how these can be integrated into qualitative research. The course will cover history, memory and longitudinal qualitative research; space and place; research in virtual environments; pre-existing and research-generated images and video; sound and audio data including music; kinaesthetic and movement data; and taste and smell as research data. The aim is to understand how qualitative methods can be applied to these data and how to address traditional methodological concerns such as rigor and representativeness in their analysis and presentation.

The course is aimed at students who are considering one or more of these elements as part of their dissertation research design and/or who are interested in gaining advanced qualitative research skills. Seminars will provide practical skills through hands-on exercises in collecting and analysing non-traditional data. These develop skills for a final project of students’ choosing which is to be submitted at the beginning of summer term.

Teaching: 20 hours of lectures and 9 hours of seminars in the LT.

Formative coursework: Seminar activities will receive in-class feedback. One seminar exercise will be written up (c. 1000 words) for formative feedback.

Indicative reading: No one text covers the whole course.

Assessment: One 3,500 word project (100%).

---

MY429 Half Unit

Special Topics in Qualitative Research Methods: Qualitative Text Analysis

This information is for the 2012/13 session.

Teachers responsible: Dr Aude Bicquelet

Availability: Optional on MSc Social Research Methods, MSc Human Geography and Urban Studies (Research) and MSc Gender (Research).

Pre-requisites: The course will assume good knowledge of qualitative research methods as covered in MY421 and MY530, and familiarity with software tools taught in MY591.

Course content: This course introduces techniques and procedures available to researchers to identify and extract information from texts for social scientific purposes. Topics discussed will draw on a wide range of analytic traditions such as, amongst others; content analysis; discourse analysis and dictionary-based approaches. The aim of this course is to equip participants with the right skills to work within these traditions and select appropriate qualitative methods for analysing textual data according to 1) Research Design; 2) Type of data under consideration.

Teaching: 10 x one-hour lectures and 10 x one-hour seminars in the LT.

Formative coursework: One piece of assessed coursework: writing up an analytic exercise provided by the course convenor (max 2500 words).

Indicative reading: Readings for this course will vary according to the topics covered each year. A reading list will be provided at the beginning of the course.

Assessment: Coursework 40% and examination 60%.

---

MY451 Half Unit

Introduction to Quantitative Analysis

This information is for the 2012/13 session.

Teacher responsible: Dr Paul Mitchell and Dr. Sally Stares

Availability: Compulsory for MSc European Studies (Research) and MSc Sociology (Research). Optional for MSc Social Research Methods, MSc Gender (Research), MSc International Health Policy, MSc International Health Policy (Health Economics), MSc Social Anthropology (Research), MSc International Migration and Public Policy, MSc Public Policy and Administration, MSc Public Policy and Administration (Research), MSc Politics and Government in the European Union and LSE-Sciences Po Double Degree in European Studies. Research students please see MY551.

Course content: An intensive introduction to quantitative data analysis in the social sciences. The course is intended for students with no previous experience of quantitative methods or statistics. It covers the foundations of descriptive statistics and statistical estimation and inference. At the end of the course students should be able to carry out univariate and bi-variate data analysis and have an appreciation of multiple regression. The computer classes give “hands-on” training in the application of statistical techniques to real social science research problems using the SPSS computer package (no prior knowledge of SPSS is necessary).

Teaching: The course runs twice per year: in MT (MY451M) and again in LT (MY451L). Ten two-hour lectures and nine one-hour computer classes per term. Weekly assignments are required.

Indicative reading: A course pack will be available for download online.

Assessment: A two-hour open book unseen examination in ST.
MY452  Half Unit
Applied Regression Analysis
This information is for the 2012/13 session.
Teacher responsible: Dr Sally Stares
Availability: Optional for MSc Political Science and Political Economy, MSc Social Research Methods, MSc Management and MSc Organisational Behaviour. The course is also available to students on all other MSc programmes, subject to approval of their Programme Director. The course is also available to research students, as MY555.
Pre-requisites: The course will assume a knowledge of standard linear regression models, to the level covered in MY452.
Course content: An introduction to the application of modern multivariate methods used in the social sciences. We will focus on latent variable models for continuous observed variables, and their application to questions of measurement in the social sciences. At least the following topics will be covered: principal components analysis, exploratory factor analysis, confirmatory factor analysis and structural equation models. In addition, a selection from the following topics will be covered: cluster analysis, correspondence analysis, multidimensional scaling, latent class models, latent trait models.
Teaching: Lectures: 20 LT. Computer classes: 4 x 2 hours LT.
Formative coursework: Exercises from the computer classes can be submitted for marking.
Assessment: A two-hour written examination in the ST (100%).

MY456  Half Unit
Survey Methodology
This information is for the 2012/13 session.
Teacher responsible: Dr Dominik Hangartner
Availability: MSc Social Research Methods, MSc Statistics, MSc Statistics (Research), MSc Statistics (Financial Statistics) and MSc Statistics (Financial Statistics) (Research). Also available as an outside option.
Pre-requisites: Knowledge of descriptive and inferential statistics, to the level of MY452 or equivalent. MY456 can also be taken in parallel with MY452L. Familiarity with notions of research design in the social sciences, to the level of MY400 or equivalent.
Course content: This course provides an introduction to the methodology of the design and analysis of social surveys. It is intended both for students who plan to design and collect their own surveys, and for those who need to understand and use data from existing large-scale surveys. Topics covered include basic ideas of target populations, survey estimation and inference, sampling error and non-sampling error; sample design and sampling theory; methods of data collection; survey interviewing; cognitive processes in answering survey questions; design and evaluation of survey questions; nonresponse error and imputation for item nonresponse; survey weights; analysis of data from complex surveys; accessing, preparing and working with secondary data from existing social surveys. The course includes computer classes, using the statistical computer package Stata; no previous knowledge of Stata is required.
Teaching: 10 x two-hour lectures in LT. 5 x two-hour seminars (including 2 x computer classes) in LT.
Formative coursework: Exercises from the some of the seminars and computer classes are submitted for feedback.
Assessment: A two-hour examination in the ST (50%) and a written project (50%). The project is a report of approximately 20 to 30 pages, including tables and figures, or approximately 2,500 words, reporting the data analysis of a given research question and data set.

MY455  Half Unit
Multivariate Analysis and Measurement
This information is for the 2012/13 session.
Teacher responsible: Dr Sally Stares
Availability: Optional for MSc Political Science and Political Economy, MSc Social Research Methods, MSc Management and MSc Organisational Behaviour. The course is also available to students on all other MSc programmes, subject to approval of their Programme Director. The course is also available to research students, as MY555.
Pre-requisites: The course will assume a knowledge of standard linear regression models, to the level covered in MY452.
Course content: An introduction to the application of modern multivariate methods used in the social sciences. We will focus on latent variable models for continuous observed variables, and their application to questions of measurement in the social sciences. At least the following topics will be covered: principal components analysis, exploratory factor analysis, confirmatory factor analysis and structural equation models. In addition, a selection from the following topics will be covered: cluster analysis, correspondence analysis, multidimensional scaling, latent class models, latent trait models.
Teaching: Lectures: 20 LT. Computer classes: 4 x 2 hours LT.
Formative coursework: Exercises from the computer classes can be submitted for marking.
Indicative reading: A Agresti & B Finlay, Statistical Methods for the Social Sciences, M Lewis-Beck, Applied Regression: An Introduction; J Aldrich & F D Nelson, Linear Probability, Logit, and Probit Models. A course pack will be provided at the beginning of the course and additional reading will be recommended.
Assessment: A two-hour open book unseen examination in ST.

MY457  Half Unit
Causal Inference for Observational and Experimental Studies
This information is for the 2012/13 session.
Teacher responsible: Dr Dominik Hangartner
Availability: MSc Social Research Methods, MSc Statistics, MSc Statistics (Research), MSc Statistics (Financial Statistics), MSc Statistics (Financial Statistics) (Research) and MSc Political Science and Political Economy. Also available as an outside option to MSc students where regulations permit and with permission of the teacher responsible.
Pre-requisites: Knowledge of multiple linear regression and some familiarity with generalised linear models, to the level of MY552 (Mi452) or equivalent. Familiarity with notions of research design in the social sciences, to the level of MY400 (Mi453) or equivalent.
Course content: This course provides an introduction to statistical methods used for causal inference in the social sciences. Using the potential outcomes framework of causality, topics covered include research designs such as randomized experiments and observational studies. We explore the impact of noncompliance in randomized experiments, as well as nonignorable treatment assignment in observational studies. To analyze these research designs, the methods covered include matching, instrumental variables, difference-in-difference, and regression discontinuity. Examples are drawn from different social sciences. The course includes computer classes, where standard statistical computer packages (Stata or R) are used for computation.
Teaching: 10 x two-hour lectures in LT and 5 x two-hour computer classes in the LT.

Formative coursework: Exercises from the computer classes are submitted for feedback.

Indicative reading: Morgan, S. L. and Winship, C. (2007). Counterfactuals and Causal Inference. CUP.

Assessment: A two-hour examination in the ST (50%) and a written project (50%). The project is a report of approximately 20 to 30 pages, including tables and figures, or approximately 2,500 words, reporting the data analysis of a given research question and data set.

---

MY459 Half Unit

Special Topics in Quantitative Analysis: Advanced Regression Modelling

This information is for the 2012/13 session.

Teacher responsible: Dr Benjamin Lauderdale

Availability: This is an optional course for MSc Social Research Methods, MSc Political Science and Political Economy, MSc Statistics, MSc Statistics (Financial Statistics) and MSc Statistics (Financial Statistics) (Research). The course is also available to students on all other MSc programmes, subject to approval of their Programme Director. The course is also available to research students, as MY559.

Pre-requisites: The course will assume knowledge of linear and logistic regression models, to the level covered in MY452.

Course content: The aim of the course is to introduce students to advanced analytic methods frequently used in leading-edge social research. The content of the course will change from year to year. In the 2012/2013 session, this course will primarily cover advanced regression modelling, including generalized linear models, nonparametric regression, generalized additive models, as well as statistical and substantive criteria for model specification and selection. The course will be conducted using the statistical software R, but will assume no knowledge of that language.

Teaching: 10 two-hour lectures in LT. 5 two-hour computer classes in LT.

Formative coursework: Exercises from the computer classes can be submitted for marking.

Indicative reading: S Wood, Generalized Additive Models: An Introduction with R

Assessment: Two-hour written examination in the ST (50%) and 2,500-word coursework (50%).

---

MY499 Dissertation

This information is for the 2012/13 session.

Teachers responsible: Dr Jouni Kuha, COL 8.02, Dr Jen Tarr, COL 8.06, and dissertation supervisors.

Availability: Compulsory for students on the MSc Social Research Methods.

Course content: Students are required to write a 10,000 word dissertation on a topic within the field covered by their specialist subject and agreed with their supervisor.

Teaching: A series of around 6 dissertation seminars during MT and ST. The seminars cover methodological issues such as the literature review, sources of secondary quantitative data, topic guides for interviews, and sources of textual material. Students will be required to write a report where they apply the tools considered in the seminars to a topic of their choice.

Formative coursework: Each student will be required to give a short presentation outlining the subject of his/her dissertation and the proposed argument of the dissertation in a session organised for all students during ST.

Assessment: Two hard copies of the 10,000 word dissertation must be submitted to the Institute Manager of the Methodology Institute by Friday August 16th 2013. Students are also required to upload their dissertation file(s) to Moodle by the same deadline.

In addition to the dissertation, a separate written report based on the dissertation seminars, due in ST, must be submitted. MY499 cannot be passed unless this report has been submitted, with all of its required elements included. The report does not otherwise affect the mark for MY499, which is based entirely on the dissertation. Individual feedback on the report will be provided.

---

MY4M1 Foundations of Social Research 1

This information is for the 2012/13 session.

Teachers responsible: Dr. Sally Stares (MY451), Dr. Paul Mitchell (MY451/MY400), and Dr. Jen Tarr (MY421).

Availability: For MSc Political Theory (Research); MSc Comparative Politics (Research); MSc Public Policy and Administration (Research); MSc Regulation (Research); MSc Social Policy (Research); MSc International Relations (Research); MSc International Political Economy (Research) and where programme regulations indicate applicable.

Course content: This course is designed to give students a good introduction to quantitative and qualitative methods and to acquaint them with the strengths and limits of different methodologies. The course has three main components:

- Teaching: See separate course outlines above.

Assessment: Examination is by two pieces of assessed coursework (c.3000 words each) (67%) due early in LT and one two-hour paper in the ST (33%). Students registered on this course will take exam papers MY4M1a (based on the MY451 syllabus) and assessed coursework covering MY400 (c.3000 words) and MY421 (c.3000 words) portion of the course.

---

MY4M2 Foundations of Social Research 2

This information is for the 2012/13 session.

Teachers responsible: Dr. Sally Stares (MY452), Dr. Paul Mitchell (MY400), and Dr. Jen Tarr (MY421).

Availability: For MSc Political Theory (Research); MSc Comparative Politics (Research); MSc Public Policy and Administration (Research); MSc Regulation (Research); MSc Social Policy (Research); MSc International Relations (Research); MSc International Political Economy (Research) and where programme regulations indicate applicable.

Course content: This programme is designed to give students a good introduction to quantitative and qualitative methods and to acquaint them with the strengths and limits of different methodologies. The course has three main components:

1. MY4M2 Applied Regression Analysis 1. MY400

Fundamentals of Social Science Research Design

2. MY4M2 Qualitative Research Methods.

Teaching: See separate course outlines above.

Assessment: Examination is by two pieces of assessed coursework (c.3000 words each) (67%) due early in LT and two two-hour papers in the ST (33%). Students registered on this course will take exam papers MY4M2a (based on the MY453 syllabus) and assessed coursework covering MY400 (c.3000 words) and MY421 (c.3000 words) portion of the course.
OR401 Half Unit
Techniques of Operational Research
This information is for the 2012/13 session.
Teacher responsible: Dr K Papadaki, NAB 3.14
Availability: The course is compulsory for MSc Management Science (Operational Research) students. Optional course for MSc Applicable Mathematics, MSc Management, Information Systems and Innovation, MSc Management and MSc Management Science (Decision Sciences) and as an outside option for students on other degrees where programme regulations permit.
Pre-requisites: Students must have a knowledge of mathematics and statistics to the level of the undergraduate course MA107/ST107 Quantitative Methods.
Course content: An introduction to a range of Operational Research techniques. The particular techniques taught may vary slightly from year to year. Topics normally covered are: inventory models, forecasting, queuing theory, replacement, critical path analysis, dynamic programming, markov chains, and game theory.
Teaching: Lectures: OR401 x 14 LT and 1 x 4 hr revision session in ST.
Seminars: OR401A x 14 LT.
Formative coursework: Problems are set in lectures each week, which students will be expected to attempt to solve. Solutions will be discussed in weekly classes.
Assessment: A three-hour written examination in ST.

OR405 Half Unit
Not available in 2012/13
Advanced Behavioural Decision Making
This information is for the 2012/13 session.
Teacher responsible: Dr Barbara Fasolo, NAB 3.15
Availability: For students of MSc Management Science (Decision Sciences), MSc Management, MSc Management, Organisations and Governance, MSc Management Science (Operational Research), MSc Public Management and Governance, and as an outside option for students on other degrees where permitted by the regulations.
Course content: This course introduces students to the fascinating field of behavioural decision science. We will explore a selection of current research topics relevant to personal and managerial decision making as well as policy-making. For each topic students will gain an understanding of central behavioural concepts through lectures. Students will read pre-assigned scientific articles and in class discuss lessons learned, limitations and implications of these concepts for the development of decision making competence (e.g. via design of policies, training programmes, or tools). Content will vary depending on the status of the field. Topics for 2010/2011 provisionally include: Origin of Behavioural Decision Science; the Building Blocks; Preferences, Utility and Value; Probability, Uncertainty and Risk; Choice Architecture and Nudges; Emotions in Decision Making; Decisions about Money; Decisions about Health; Decisions about Things (consumers and choice tyranny); Decisions about People.
Teaching: 9 x two-hour lectures, 1 x two-hour feedback session and 6 x one-hour classes in MT.
Formative coursework: One 800 word written report.
Assessment: The course is examined during the year as follows:

one 800 word written report (30%) and one essay of about 5,000 words (70%).

OR406 Half Unit
Mathematical Programming: Theory and Algorithms
This information is for the 2012/13 session.
Teacher responsible: Dr Giacomo Zambelli, NAB 3.36.
Availability: MSc Applicable Mathematics, MSc Management Science (Operational Research), MSc Statistics, MSc Statistics (Research), MSc Statistics (Financial Statistics), MSc Statistics (Financial Statistics) (Research), and as permitted by the regulations.
Pre-requisites: Some familiarity with graph theory and some knowledge of programming could be desirable.
Course content: The course is intended as an introduction to discrete and combinatorial techniques for solving optimisation problems, mainly involving graphs and networks, as described under the headings of the lecture courses below.
Teaching:
Formative coursework: Written answers to set problems will be expected weekly.
Assessment: A formal three-hour examination in the ST.

OR408 Half Unit
Combinatorial Optimisation
This information is for the 2012/13 session.
Teacher responsible: Dr K Papadaki, NAB 3.14.
Availability: MSc Applicable Mathematics, MSc Management Science (Operational Research) and as permitted by the regulations.
Pre-requisites: Some familiarity with graph theory and some knowledge of programming could be desirable.
Course content: The course is intended as an introduction to discrete and combinatorial techniques for solving optimisation problems, mainly involving graphs and networks, as described under the headings of the lecture course below.
Teaching:
Formative coursework: Lecture notes containing problems are supplied. Written answers will be expected by the lecturer on a regular basis, and the problems will be discussed in the problem class.
Assessment: Students will be assessed by a three-hour formal examination in the ST.
OR409 Half Unit Not available in 2012/13
Auctions and Game Theory
This information is for the 2012/13 session.
Teacher responsible: Professor Richard Steinberg, NAB 3.08
Availability: MSc Management Science (Operational Research), MSc Management Science (Decision Sciences) and MSc Applicable Mathematics.
Course content: The course provides an introduction to auctions and game theory. Topics covered are: non-cooperative game theory; cooperative game theory; social choice; auctions; and combinatorial auctions.
Teaching: OR409 16 hours LT; OR409.A 12 hours LT.
Formative coursework: Very full lecture notes are provided, and every week a set of problems is given out in the lecture. These are discussed in the following seminars (OR409.A).
Indicative reading: Recommended books are: K.G. Binmore, Playing for Real: A Text on Game Theory; Alan D. Taylor, Social Choice and the Mathematics of Manipulation; and P. Cramton, Y. Shoham, and R. Steinberg, Combinatorial Auctions.
Assessment: A two-hour formal examination in the ST covering the whole syllabus.

OR414 Half Unit Not available in 2012/13
Advanced Topics in Operational Research
This information is for the 2012/13 session.
Teacher responsible: Professor G Sorkin, NAB 3.19
Availability: The course is intended for students on MSc Management Science (Operational Research) and MSc Management Science (Decision Sciences). Depending on the topics covered, students from other degrees may be admitted by agreement.
Course content: An examination of the new trends in Operational Research. The topics selected differ year to year; information is available from the Management Science Group administration office.
Teaching: Lectures and classes in MT - actual hours will be arranged appropriately for the topic taught.
Formative coursework: Details will be provided at the start of the course.
Indicative reading: Detailed suggestions for reading will be given before the start of the course.
Assessment: One piece of weekly coursework will be assessed (15%) and there will be a formal 2.5 hour examination in ST (85%).

OR426 Half Unit Modelling in Applied Statistics and Simulation
This information is for the 2012/13 session.
Teacher responsible: Dr A Morton, NAB 3.07
Availability: The course is compulsory for MSc Management Science (Operational Research) and MSc Management Science (Decision Sciences). Optional course for MSc Applicable Mathematics and for students on other degrees where regulations permit.
Pre-requisites: Students must have a knowledge of mathematics and statistics to the level of the undergraduate papers MA107, Quantitative Methods and ST102. Elementary Statistical Theory. Students must be prepared to use computer packages.
Course content: An introduction to stochastic modelling and applied statistics.
Applied Statistics (OR426.1): Revision of Descriptive stats, EDA, outliers, transformations; ideas of experimental design, one-way ANOVA; simple and multiple regression.
Applied Stochastic Modelling (OR426.2): This course is about how to build models of systems which are characterised by uncertainty and random variability. The focus is on simulation (i.e. computer-based) models and aims to develop simulation modelling skills, understanding of the theoretic basis which underpins the simulation methodology, and an appreciation of practical issues in managing a simulation modelling project.
Teaching: OR426.1 11 MT
OR426.1A 10 MT
OR426.2: 10 MT
OR426.2A: 9 MT
Formative coursework: OR426.1 - exercises are set weekly and discussed in the following classes, which alternate between hands-on computer sessions and problem classes. Any written work handed in prior to the class will be marked and returned.
OR426.2 - students will have the opportunity to submit a mock project for marking and comment several weeks before the final assessed project is due.
Assessment: This course is examined entirely by course work and projects, as follows:
50% for a final project for Applied Statistics, and 50% to a management report covering the results of a computer simulation project. Written work is marked on presentation as well as on content.

OR428 Half Unit Model Building in Mathematical Programming
This information is for the 2012/13 session.
Teacher responsible: TBA
Availability: The course is compulsory for MSc Management Science (Operational Research). Optional course for MSc Applicable Mathematics and as an outside option for students on other degrees where regulations permit.
Pre-requisites: Students must have a knowledge of mathematics and statistics to the level of the undergraduate papers MA107, Quantitative Methods and Elementary ST102. Statistical Theory. Students must be prepared to use computer packages.
Course content: Mathematical Programming is one of the most powerful and widely-used quantitative techniques for making optimal decisions. The course has a pragmatic focus and aims at enabling students to model and solve real-life management problems. In providing an overview of the most relevant techniques of the field, it teaches a range of approaches to building Mathematical Programming models and shows how to solve them and analyse their solutions.
Content includes:
An introduction to the theory of linear programming. The modelling life cycle and modelling environments. Formulation of management problems using linear and network models; solution of such problems with a special-purpose programming language; interpretation of the solutions; limitations of such models. Formulation and solution of non-linear models including some or all of binary, integer, convex and stochastic programming models.
Teaching: OR428 18 MT, OR428.A 18 MT, computer workshops 9 x 2-hours MT (optional)
Formative coursework: Students will have the opportunity to submit a mock project for marking and comment before the final assessed project is due.
Indicative reading: Central to the course is: H P Williams, Model Building in Mathematical Programming, Wiley. A good introduction to Mathematical Programming provide the relevant chapters of: F S Hillier and G J Lieberman: Introduction to Operations Research, McGraw-Hill. A more theoretical treatment can be found in: D Bertsimas and J N Tsitsiklis; Introduction to Linear Optimization, Athena Scientific. Further suggestions for reading are given during the course.

Assessment: This course is examined entirely by weekly exercises and/or by project. Written work is marked on presentation as well as on content.

---

OR431  Half Unit

System Dynamics Modelling

This information is for the 2012/13 session.

Teacher responsible: Dr D C Lane, NAB 3.33

Availability: The course is optional on MSc Management Science (Operational Research), MSc Management Science (Decision Sciences), MSc Management, MSc Public Management and Governance, MSc Management, Organisations and Governance and MPA programme (all streams). Students from other degrees are most welcome but will only be admitted by agreement. Students taking MN419 may take this course as well, but only in exceptional circumstances and subject to approval of the teacher responsible.

Pre-requisites: Pre-requisites are a sound understanding of algebraic and functional relationships as well as comfort with the use of differential equations and the practical use of computer packages.

Course content: This course introduces the theory and application of the system dynamics modelling approach as it is used to support strategic decision making in complex social systems. It involves the qualitative and quantitative mapping of the relevant system structure (including physical processes, information links and human decision making) and the simulation of the dynamic consequences of that structure. The aim is both to examine the general modes of behaviour that result so as to gain qualitative insights and also to experiment with alternative policies in order to formulate ones which improve behaviour. It has three distinctive themes: the concept of information feedback, the use of computer simulation models to explore complex behaviour and the need to work with the mental models of relevant system actors (with a view both to drawing on the relevant knowledge and interpretations of the system and to implementing the insights gained from the modelling process). The course deals with all stages of the modelling approach as well as introducing some research topics in the field. Students will use ‘state of the art’ simulation software with a graphical interface (currently STELLA/Think) and will be expected to work extensively with quantitative computer models. The practical application of system dynamics will be emphasised throughout, using various cases studies from business, public-policy making and elsewhere. The course is structured primarily around three themes, each with its own topics:

Feedback: Modelling feedback with causal loop diagrams (the concept of feedback, CLDs, conceptualisation exercises, the limits of CLDs).

Simulation Modelling: Simple structures (positive loop, negative loop, coupled loops, loop polarity and shifts in loop dominance), model formulation (rate equations, auxiliary equations, table functions, levels, delays, representation of decision processes, principles of formulation), model testing (understanding model behaviour, sensitivity analysis), policy analysis (general approach, application to inventory management).

Working with Mental Models: Insights and archetypes (necessity and benefits of system dynamics, use and abuse of archetypes, general system insights), system dynamics in organisations (as group decision support tool, as organisational learning tool).

In addition students will be introduced to: critiques of system dynamics, further applications, current research problems.

Teaching: 10 x three LT (primarily lectures but including problems classes).

Assessment: Examined by three pieces of individual course work. These involve the following general areas and mark weightings: problem conceptualisation using causal loop diagrams (30%), computer model formulation (30%) and analysis of a pre-built simulation model and production of a management report on resulting policy insights (40%). These pieces of work are made available throughout the course and have staged hand-in dates, the last being on the first day of ST.

---

OR432  Half Unit

Operational Research and Decision Sciences in Practice

This information is for the 2012/13 session.

Teacher responsible: Mr Keith Rapley, NAB 3.38

Availability: Available on MSc Management Science (Decision Sciences) and MSc Management Science (Operational Research).

Course content: This course focuses on the key skills needed to be an effective practitioner in Operational Research (OR) and Decision Sciences (DS). It is designed to complement the theoretical and practical skills developed in both programmes’ compulsory courses. The intention is to give students an appreciation of the different kinds of OR & DS study that occur in practice, and the skills that are needed to make effective interventions in the decision making of organisations. Additionally, the students will explore common practical problems encountered in undertaking OR & DS studies. The history and development of OR & DS will be explored to identify key issues affecting the practice of OR & DS.

Students will identify different kinds of organisation in which OR & DS make important contributions. The structure of these organisations will be studied together with organisational behaviours. The nature of decision making at both the strategic and operational levels will be examined.

The course will explore the role of the OR & DS consultant emphasising the importance of problem structuring and of various techniques (e.g. cognitive mapping) which can assist the analyst in developing a shared view of the problem with a client or clients. The skills required for making OR & DS interventions will be identified. Students will have opportunities to develop these skills together with identifying the contributions that they can make when working in teams as well as individually.

Teaching: 10 x 1.5 hours MT, 10 x 1.5 hours LT.

Formative coursework: There will be opportunities in MT and LT to provide answers to test examination questions.

Additional reading matter will be issued for specific sessions.

Assessment: The course is examined by an essay or project assignment (2,500 words) during the year (20%) and by a 2 hour formal examination (80%) in ST.

---

OR434  Half Unit

Principles of Decision Sciences

This information is for the 2012/13 session.

Teacher responsible: Dr A Morton, NAB 3.07

Availability: Compulsory for MSc Management Science (Decision Sciences) and available as an option on MSc Management Science (Operational Research), MSc Management, MSc Management and Regulation of Risk, MSc Risk and Finance and other MSc degrees where regulations permit.

---
Course content: This Half Unit course examines ‘decision capability’, that is the ability of people to make judgments and decisions. The course blends research on how individuals and groups actually make decisions with theories on how they should make decisions in order to be consistent. The course encourages students to appreciate the linkages between the mathematical and psychological theories of decision. The course will cover the foundations of decision theory; models and theories describing how people form preferences, make judgments, deal with conflicting objectives, uncertainty, and risk.

Teaching: OR434 10 x 2 hrs MT, and 1 revision session ST; OR434A 9 x 1 hr MT.

Formative coursework: Four problem sets will be assigned over the course of the term.

Assessment: A two-hour examination in the ST (100%).

OR435 Half Unit Advanced Decision Sciences
This information is for the 2012/13 session.
Teachers responsible: Dr G Montbeller, NAB3.16
Availability: Compulsory for MSc Management Science (Decision Sciences) and an optional course for MSc Management Science (Operational Research) students. The course is available as an outside option where regulations permit.
Pre-requisites: OR434 Principles of Decision Sciences
Course content: This Half Unit course extends the concept of ‘decision capability’, that is the ability of people to make judgments and decisions, and shows how that ability can be enhanced with appropriate modelling and analysis. Based on rigorous concepts of normative, descriptive and prescriptive decision-making research, the course has an emphasis on the practice of decision sciences. It uses illustrations of real-world Decision Analysis applications in organisations, and employs several case-studies (supported by specialised decision software) to build students’ skills in decision modelling and analysis.

It covers modelling and supporting decisions involving multiple stakeholders and conflicting objectives (multi-criteria evaluation and resource allocation problems) as well as uncertainty (decision trees, influence diagrams, risk analysis and Bayesian belief networks).
Teaching: One three-hour seminar each week in the LT. Seminars are conducted differently each week, and involve a mixture of lectures, discussions, exercises and projects. One revision session in week 11 of LT.

Formative coursework: Four problem sets will be assigned over the course of the term.

Assessment: A two-hour examination in the ST (100%).

OR436 Half Unit Operations Management
This information is for the 2012/13 session.
Teacher responsible: Professor Richard Steinberg, NAB 3.08
Availability: Optional on MSc Management, MSc Management, Organisations and Governance, MSc Management, Information Systems and Innovation, MSc Management Science (Operational Research) and MSc Management Science (Decision Sciences). The course is also available as an outside option where programme regulations permit. Note: This course contains a substantial amount of qualitative material, and in particular would not be appropriate for a student seeking a quantitative course.

Teaching: 8 x 2-hour lectures and 6 x 2-hour seminars in the LT. 1 x 2-hour revision session in ST.

Formative coursework: Students will have six assignments throughout the term covering the material in the course, and will be expected to work as a group on each assignment. The problems comprising each assignment will be discussed in the classes, and each student will be individually responsible for answering all the problems for each assignment.

Indicative reading: (1) Case: ‘National cranberry cooperative (abridged)’
(2) Case: ‘Toshiba: Ome works’
(4) Article: ‘Controlling variation in health care: a consultation from Walter Shewhart’
(5) Article: ‘Monitoring patients using control charts: systematic review’

Assessment: A two-hour examination in ST.

OR437 Half Unit Not available in 2012/13 Solving Unsolvable Problems: NP-completeness and how to cope with it
This information is for the 2012/13 session.
Teacher responsible: Professor Gregory Sorkin.
Availability: MSc Management Science. Also available as an outside option where regulations permit and with permission of the teacher responsible.
Pre-requisites: A level of mathematical sophistication, including comfort with proofs, and familiarity with limits; permutations, factorials and binomial coefficients; and rudimentary probability including expectations and independence. If in doubt, please consult the instructor or attend the first lecture.

Course content: Many problems, from the “Travelling Salesman Problem” to train scheduling, are easy to state but hard to solve, in a mathematically well-defined sense. In practical operations research, though, one must solve such problems, and the issues involved are mathematically interesting. The course will introduce the underlying computational concepts (polynomial-time computation and NP-completeness); introduce canonical problem models including graph problems and formula satisfiability; and explore various ways of addressing these problems, including heuristics, randomized and approximation algorithms, average-case analysis, and relatively efficient exponential-time algorithms.
Teaching: 9 x two-hour lectures and 9 x 1.5 hour seminars in the Lent Term. 1 x two-hour revision lecture in the ST.

Formative coursework: Weekly exercises, discussed in seminars.
- Sinclair, Randomness and Computation (U.C. Berkeley lecture notes, by kind permission of the author)
Print books
- Fomin and Kratsch, Exact Exponential Algorithms

Assessment: One 2.5-hour examination in the ST (85%) and two pieces of coursework (15%).

OR440

Applied Management Science

This information is for the 2012/13 session.

Teacher responsible: Dr Trevor Gibbons, Room NAB 3.38

Availability: For MSc Management Science students only. Cannot be taken with OR449 Management Science Dissertation.

Course content: The student will carry out and report upon a substantial practical piece of Management Science. The project will either be found by the Group or may be suggested by the student, with the approval of his/her teachers.

Teaching: 7 one-hour lectures and 1 three-hour seminar in MT and LT.

Indicative reading: Detailed suggestions for reading will be provided in the course of supervision.

Assessment: Assessment is based entirely on the project report. Two paper copies must be handed in to the MS Group on a specified date in late August/early September. The page limit for the report is 40 pages, excluding appendices. The project is critical to assessment.

OR499

Dissertation: MSc Management Science

This information is for the 2012/13 session.

Teachers responsible: All members of the Management Science Group are involved in dissertation support.

Availability: MSc Management Science students only. Cannot be taken with OR440 Applied Management Science.

Course content: The aim of the dissertation is for students to pursue an independent piece of research within the field of management science. The dissertation is a quantitative or qualitative investigation in the field. It may be either a theoretical or empirical piece of research. Students must obtain the approval of their advisor before embarking on any research.

Formative coursework: Students are required to submit dissertation plans to their supervisor in LT and ST.

Assessment: Two paper copies of the dissertation must be handed in to the MS Group on a specified date in late August/early September. An electronic version of the dissertation must also be submitted. The word limit for the dissertation is 10,000 words. The dissertation is critical to assessment.

PH400

Philosophy of Science

This information is for the 2012/13 session.

Teacher responsible: Dr Miklos Redei

Availability: The course is primarily intended for MSc Philosophy of Science, MSc Philosophy of the Social Sciences, MSc Economics and Philosophy, MSc Philosophy of Science and LSE-Sciences Po Double Degree in European Studies. It is optional for MSc European Studies: Ideas and Identities.

Course content: The course examines a number of fundamental issues in philosophy of science, as they arise from instances of important theory-changes (so-called ‘scientific revolutions’) in the history of science. It is therefore by no means a ‘straight’ course in history of science: it looks at historical episodes to test and/or illustrate philosophical theses about science and its development.

1. The Copernican revolution: the switch from the Ptolemaic geocentric theory of the world to the Copernican heliocentric theory was probably the single most significant shift in human thought ever: What justified the switch? Was Ptolemaic theory definitively refuted by the data? Was Copernican theory simpler? Was the Church’s view that Copernican theory should only be thought of as an instrument for calculating astronomical data purely theologically motivated or does it have some scientific rationale? What role was played in the eventual acceptance of the Copernican view by predictive success? Do we need to invoke social or other non-intellectual factors to explain why this “revolution” occurred?

2. Galileo: Galileo and the telescope: are all observations “theory-laden” and does this mean that there is a subjective element to all theory-chances?

3. The Newtonian “revolution”: What was the relationship between Newton's theory and Kepler's and Galileo's laws? What does this tell us about theory-change in general?

4. 19th century “revolutions” in optics: in the 18th century the most widely held view of the nature of light was that it consists of tiny material corpuscles fired by light sources, such as the sun, and then subject to various forces in accordance with Newtonian dynamics; in the early 19th century this theory was replaced by the theory that light consists of periodic vibrations (waves) transmitted through an all pervading elastic medium (the ‘luminiferous aether’); in the mid to late 19th century this theory was in turn replaced by Maxwell’s theory of light as part of the electromagnetic spectrum. What do these changes tell us about the two central philosophical issues of scientific rationality and scientific realism?

5. The Darwinian Revolution: This revolution certainly ranks alongside the Copernican one in terms of its impact on man’s view of herself. But debates about the scientific credentials of Darwin's theory began immediately on the publication of Darwin’s work and continue to this day. Is Darwinian theory unfalsifiable (or even just one big tautology? Can ‘scientific’ creationists explain everything that Darwin can? What objections were raised by Darwin’s critics to particular aspects of Darwinian theory? Were these valid objections and, in so far as they were, have they now been resolved?

Teaching: Twenty lectures one hour each (MT, LT) (shared with undergraduate students taking PH213); and twenty Masters seminars one and a half hour each (MT, LT).

Formative coursework: Students will be expected to write at least two essays per term and may be asked to give seminar papers.

Recommended reading: The central text for the first part of the course is T S Kuhn, The Copernican Revolution, Harvard University Press. The central text on the Darwinian revolution will be P Kitcher, Abusing Science, the Case Against Creationism. MIT Press. There will be lecture slides on each topic including (i) a list of essential reading and suggestions for further reading and (ii) ‘study questions’ to guide your thought. Aside from the above reading for the section of the course on the Copernican revolution and the Darwinian revolution, reading for particular topics will be in the form of articles and selections from books. These will be made available electronically on Moodle.

Assessment: A two-hour written examination in summer term (67%) and a 2,000 word essay to be handed in at the beginning of Summer Term (33%).

---

PH409

Philosophical Foundations of Physics

This information is for the 2012/13 session.

Teacher responsible: Dr Roman Frigg

Availability: Optional on MSc Philosophy of Science. May be taken as an option by other MSc students with the express permission of their tutor.

Course content: The course introduces students to philosophical and conceptual problems that arise in connection with modern physics. The course starts with classical mechanics, which lays the foundation for the discussion of chaos theory, relativity theory (special and general), quantum mechanics, and thermo-statistical physics.

First Term: The term is split into three parts. The first part (5 weeks) is about classical mechanics: determinism and indeterminism, absolute versus relative space and time, chaos, stability and instability, the limits to predictability, and randomness in deterministic theories. The second part (two weeks) covers the philosophy of special relativity: Minkowski space-time, the meaning of the relativity principle, and the verifiability principle. The third part (three weeks) is dedicated to conceptual problems in general relativity theory: the rise and fall of Euclidean geometry, conventionality, substantivalism, and the hole argument.

Second Term: The term is split into two parts of five weeks each. The first part is dedicated to conceptual problems in quantum mechanics: the measurement problem, non-locality, the EPR experiment, Bell’s inequalities, and hidden variables. The second part deals with the foundations of thermo-statistical physics: the second law of thermodynamics, probabilities in deterministic theories, inter-theoretic reduction, the reversibility objection, and the recurrence objection.

Teaching: Lectures PH409.1 20 x one hour (MT, LT). Seminars PH409.2 20 x one hour (MT, LT). There is also an optional research seminar in philosophy of natural science (PH551).

Formative coursework: Students will be expected to write at least two essays per term and to give a class presentation.

Assessment: A three-hour written examination in the ST.

---

PH411

Philosophy of Biological and Cognitive Sciences

This information is for the 2012/13 session.

Teacher responsible: Dr Kristina Musholt

Availability: The course is primarily intended for MSc Philosophy of the Social Sciences, MSc Philosophy and History of Science, MSc Economics and Philosophy and MSc Philosophy and Public Policy, MSc Biomedicine, Bioscience and Society, MSc European Studies: Ideas and Identities, MSc Social Research Methods and LSE-Sciences Po Double Degree in European Studies The seminar is also open to research students.

Course content: Philosophical issues concerning the nature of social scientific theory and its applications. Topics to be covered will include some or all of the following: the explanation and interpretation of action, naturalist and hermeneutic social theory; the nature of ‘social facts’; reductionism and methodological individualism; functional and structural explanations; rationality and relativism; the role of values in social science; social norms; the construction of social reality; methods of evolutionary explanation in the social sciences; philosophical and methodological critiques of evolutionary psychology. In addition, philosophical problems of particular social sciences such as anthropology, sociology, and economics will also be addressed.

Teaching: Lectures PH411 x 20 (MT, LT - shared with undergraduate students taking PH213); Seminars PH411 x 20 x one-and-a-half hour (MT, LT).

Formative coursework: Students will be expected to write two essays per term and may be asked to give seminar presentations.

Indicative reading: A detailed reading list will be provided at the beginning of the course. Useful background readings are: The Philosophy of Social Science Reader (Francesco Guala and Daniel Steel, eds); D Little, Varieties of Social Explanation; A Rosenberg, Philosophy of Social Science; M Hollis, The Philosophy of Social Science; B Skyrms, Evolution of the Social Contract. A useful anthology is M Martin & L McIntyre (Eds), Readings in the Philosophy of Social Science.

---

Assessment: A three-hour written examination in the ST.
PH413
Philosophy of Economics
This information is for the 2012/13 session.
Teacher responsible: Dr Armin Schulz
Availability: The course is primarily intended for students taking MSc Philosophy of the Social Sciences, MSc Philosophy and History of Science, MSc Economics and Philosophy, MSc Philosophy and Public Policy, MPA Public and Economic Policy/MPA Public Policy and Management/MPA International Development/MPA European Public and Economic Policy/MPA Public and Social Policy, MSc European Studies: Ideas and Identities, MSc Social Research Methods and LSE-Sciences Po Double Degree in European Studies. It is optional for MRes/PhD Economics and open to all MSc and research students.
Teaching: Lectures PH211 x 20 (MT, LT - the lectures are shared with undergraduates taking PH211); Seminars PH413 20 x one-and-a-half hours (MT, LT).
Formative coursework: Students will be required to participate in seminar discussions and to write three formative essays: two in the Michaelmas Term, and one in Lent.
Assessment: A two-hour written examination in the ST (67%) and a 2,000 word essay, due in the first week of ST (33%).

PH416
Philosophy, Morals and Politics
This information is for the 2012/13 session.
Teacher responsible: Dr Andrew Khoury
Availability: This course is primarily intended for students on MSc Philosophy and Public Policy, MSc Economics and Philosophy, MSc Philosophy of the Social Sciences and MSc Political Theory. It is also available to students as an outside option where permitted by their programme regulations.
Course content: This course covers central topics in moral and political philosophy. We will read seminal texts by some of the greatest writers of the western tradition in moral and political philosophy: Aristotle, Immanuel Kant, and John Stuart Mill. We’ll also discuss leading contemporary authors, including John Rawls, Robert Nozick, G.A. Cohen, Bernard Williams, and Thomas Nagel. Through the study of major philosophers, this course provides students with the tools to think and write clearly and independently about moral and political problems.
Teaching: Seminars PH416 20 x one-and-a-half hours (MT, LT); Students are strongly advised to attend PH214 Morality and Values lectures, 20 x one hour (MT, LT).
Formative coursework: Students will be required to participate in seminar discussions and to write three formative essays: two in the Michaelmas Term, and one in Lent.
Indicative reading: Mark Timmons, Moral Theory: An Introduction, Rowan & Littlefield.

PH415
Philosophy and Public Policy
This information is for the 2012/13 session.
Teacher responsible: Dr Joe Mazor
Availability: The course is compulsory for MSc Philosophy and Public Policy and optional for MSc Economics and Philosophy, MSc Public Policy and Administration, MSc Economics and Philosophy and MPA Public and Economic Policy/MPA Public Policy and Management/MPA International Development/MPA European Public and Economic Policy/MPA Public and Social Policy.
Course content: The course offers critical reflection on the design and evaluation of public policies from the perspective of moral and political philosophy. To this end, we study a range of theories and concepts that are used in policy evaluation. We often discuss and evaluate them by focusing on specific policy proposals. The course addresses questions such as:
Teaching: Lectures 20 x one-hour (MT, LT - the lectures are shared with undergraduates taking PH222); Seminars PH415.2 20 x one-and-a-half-hour (MT, LT).
Formative coursework: Students will be required to give seminar presentations and to write three 2,000-word essays.
Assessment: A 2000-word essay (33%), to be handed in the first week of ST on one of four course topics and a two-hour (67%) examination on the other 16 course topics.

446 Taught Masters Course Guides

PH418

Dissertation Seminar - Economics and Philosophy

This information is for the 2012/13 session.

Teacher responsible: Prof Richard Bradley.

Availability: The course is restricted to students taking MSc Economics and Philosophy.

Course content: The course is intended to develop the ability to make philosophical arguments and to write structured philosophical essays. It covers topics in the philosophy and methodology of economics and will serve to prepare students for research and writing their dissertation.

Teaching: 10 x 1 hour seminar in MT and 10 x 1 hour seminar in LT

Formative coursework: Students will be expected to write one or more essays per term.

Indicative reading: Readings will be chosen by the seminar participants.

Assessment: This course is not assessed.

---

PH419

Set Theory and Further Logic

This information is for the 2012/13 session.

Teacher responsible: Miklos Redei

Availability: MSc Economics and Philosophy, MSc Philosophy of the Social Sciences and MSc Philosophy and History of Science.

The course is available as an outside option where programme regulations permit.

Pre-requisites: PH101 or equivalent

Course content: The aim of the course is to make students of philosophy familiar with the elements of naive and axiomatic set theory; classical mathematical logic and propositional modal logic. From set theory, two types of facts and results are covered: (i) the ones needed to understand the basic notions, constructions and the mode of thinking in mathematical logic (ii) the ones that have philosophical-conceptual significance in themselves (elementary theory of ordinals and cardinals, transfinite induction, Axiom of Choice and its equivalents, Continuum Hypothesis, Russell paradox). Formal languages, syntactic-semantic, theorem-metatheorem, soundness and completeness and some model theory are the main topics covered from classical first-order logic, together with an outline of Peano arithmetic, decidability and Gödel’s incompleteness theorems. The idea of possible world semantics and the semantic characterization of the basic types of modal propositional logics are covered from modal logic. In both set theory and logic, emphasis is on the conceptual-structural elements rather than on technical-computational details. Not all theorems are proven and not all proofs are complete.

Teaching: 30 hours of lectures and 20 hours of classes across the Michaelmas and Lent Terms. The lectures are shared with undergraduate students taking PH217.

Formative coursework: Students are required to write three 1,500 word essays during the year on a topic from a list and are to hand in two problem solutions each term.

Assessment: Three hour written examination in the ST (100%).

---

PH421

Dissertation Seminar - Philosophy and Public Policy

This information is for the 2012/13 session.

Teachers responsible: Foad Dizadji-Bahmani (Michaelmas) and Luc Bovens (Spring and Summer).

Availability: The course is restricted to students taking the MSc Philosophy and Public Policy.

Course content: Aim: This course is intended to develop the ability to write a structured philosophical essay and serves to prepare students in the MSc Philosophy and Public Policy for dissertation writing.

Teaching: 10 x one hour (MT) and 10 x 2 hour (LT)

Assessment: This course is not assessed.

---

PH422

Dissertation Seminar - Philosophy of Social Science

This information is for the 2012/13 session.

Teachers responsible: Michaelmas and Summer terms: Dr J McKenzie Alexander, LAK. T501b.

Lent term: Dr Kristina Musholt, LAK. T403

Availability: The course is restricted to students taking the MSc Philosophy of the Social Sciences.

Course content: The course is intended to develop the ability to make philosophical arguments and to write structured philosophical essays. It will serve to prepare students for research and writing their dissertation. In Lent term, seminars will cover topics that are chosen by MSc students for their theses. In Michaelmas term, the early meetings will discuss the structure and content of an MSc dissertation in Philosophy, the grading rubric used for marking dissertations. The remainder of Michaelmas term will cover some core topics in the philosophy of social science, such as: Methodological issues such as the use of mathematical models in the social sciences, methodological individualism and its rivals, collective intentionality and the autonomy of the social sciences.

Teaching: Seminar: 10 x one-hour (MT); 10 x two-hour (LT)

Formative coursework: A number of assignments whose completion will aid the writing of the dissertation will be set over the course of MT and LT.

Assessment: This course is not assessed.

---

PH423

Evidence, Objectivity and Policy

This information is for the 2012/13 session.

Teacher responsible: Dr Katie Steele

Availability: MSc Economics and Philosophy, MSc Philosophy of the Social Sciences, MSc Philosophy and History of Science and MSc Philosophy and Public Policy. It is also open to all LSE MSc and research students.

Course content: Policy decisions should be responsive to our best evidence. But what does that mean? How should we negotiate conflicting evidence? Can some evidence be disregarded due to cultural and political biases? What should we do when there is little evidence available about the issues at hand?

The course is divided into three main topics.

The first topic concerns the strength and the quality of the available evidence. This is a central issue in the ‘evidence-based’ policy-and-medicine movement. Are randomized controlled trials really the gold standard? Can evidence be statistically significant without being scientifically or practically significant, and vice versa?

The second topic concerns the relationship between scientific and policy aims. To what extent should individual rights be compromised to enable scientific research? What issues arise when scientists interpret and measure ethically-loaded concepts like poverty or biodiversity? How should broader social-political values influence priority-setting in public science?

The final topic concerns the role of the scientist as policy advisor. What is the ‘Precautionary Principle’ and how is it used in policy decision-making? What does it mean to say that there is a scientific consensus? Does expert knowledge of scientists constitute a threat to democratic processes?

Case studies employed throughout the course are drawn from various areas of science in policy-making, including climate, conservation, international development, poverty, education, medicine, and health.

Teaching: Twenty one-hour lectures (MT, LT) and 20 one and-a-half hour seminars (MT, LT). The lectures for this course are shared with undergraduate students taking PH220.

Formative coursework: Students are expected to write two essays per term and to give class presentations.

Assessment: A three-hour written examination in ST.

---

PH425 Half Unit Business and Organisational Ethics

This information is for the 2012/13 session.

Teacher responsible: Dr. Gabriel Wollner

Availability: Optional on MSc Philosophy of Science, MSc Philosophy of the Social Sciences, MSc Economics and Philosophy, MSc Management, MSc Management (CEMS MIM), MSc Management, Organisations and Governance, MSc Public Management and Governance, MPA (all streams), MSc Management and Regulation of Risk and MSc Risk and Finance. Also available as an outside option where regulations permit and with permission of the teacher responsible.

Course content: This introductory course to business and organisational ethics is divided into three parts. The first part outlines a framework for incorporating moral principles into the decision-making of business professionals. The course introduces basic approaches in normative theory, explains how these approaches relate to standard ways of managerial and economic decision-making and discusses to what extent business professionals are bound by ordinary moral requirements. Parts two and three apply elements of this framework. The second part focuses on firms and corporations as units of moral concern. The course discusses how business professionals should balance the obligations they have towards different stakeholders, what principles should govern their hiring practices, how they ensure justice at the workplace and how they may or may not respond to practices like bribery and insider-trading. The third part discusses the role of business in politics and society, with a particular focus on global and international affairs. In particular, there will be a focus on international labour standards, justice in trade and questions about what role business should play in addressing the challenge of global climate change.

Teaching: 10 x on-hour lectures and 10 x 1.5-hour seminars in the LT.

Formative coursework: Two essays of 1500 words

Assessment: One two-hour examination in the ST (67%) and one 1,500 word essay (33%).

---

PH445 Dissertation Seminar - Philosophy of Science

This information is for the 2012/13 session.

Teacher responsible: Dr Miklos Redei

Availability: The course is restricted to students taking the MSc in Philosophy of Science.

Teaching: 10 one-hour seminars in MT, 10 two-hour seminars in LT

Course content: The course is intended to develop the ability to construct sharp analytic philosophical arguments and to write structured philosophical essays. It will help students to choose the topic of their dissertation, help with how to go about researching the topic and how to write the dissertation (by presentation and criticism of preliminary drafts).

The course starts with reviewing the structure and content of an MSc dissertation in Philosophy, the requirements of, and grading scheme used for marking dissertations. This is followed by presentations by students on topics intended as possible topics of their dissertations. The presentations will be extensively discussed in the seminar by fellow students and in subsequent private meetings with the seminar leader. In the Lent Term each student will read two former MSc dissertations with topics close to the interest of the student, and each student will report in the seminar on the merits and weaknesses of the selected works, trying to understand why the chosen dissertations received the marks they did. In the final part of the seminar students will again give presentations on the progress of their research.

Formative coursework: A number of assignments - at least one per term - whose completion will aid the research into and writing of the dissertation will be set.

Assessment: The course is not assessed.

---

PH456 Rationality and Choice

This information is for the 2012/13 session.

Teacher responsible: Professor R Bradley

Availability: MSc Economics and Philosophy, MSc Philosophy and Public Policy, MSc Philosophy of Social Science, MSc Philosophy of Science, and MPhil/PhD Philosophy. It is also open to all LSE MSc and PhD research students.

Pre-requisites: None, but introductory logic is useful.

Course content: The course examines the theory of rationality and rational decision making. It is in two parts (i) Probability and Decision: Probabilistic thinking, different interpretations of probability, decision making under risk, ignorance and uncertainty, the measurement of belief and desire, paradoxes of expected utility theory. (ii) Game Theory and Social Choice: Solution concepts for games, backward induction and hypothetical reasoning, bargaining theory, Arrow's Theorem, the Gibbard-Satterthwaite theorem, interpersonal comparability and Utilitarianism.

Teaching: Weekly one-hour lecture and one-hour seminar in the Michaelmas and Lent terms.
Formative coursework: Students will submit a piece of written work each term and complete a number of exercises.

Assessment: A three-hour examination in the Summer Term.

---

PH499

Dissertation

This information is for the 2012/13 session.

Teachers responsible: For MSc Philosophy of Science students, Miklos RedeI. For MSc Philosophy of the Social Sciences students, Jason Alexander (Michaemas and Summer terms) and Kristina Musholt (Lent term). For MSc Philosophy and Public Policy students, Luc Bovens. For MSc Economics and Philosophy students, Richard Bradley.

Availability: For students taking the MSc Philosophy of Science, MSc Philosophy of the Social Sciences, MSc Philosophy and Public Policy and MSc Economics and Philosophy.

Course content: All students are required to write a 10,000-word dissertation (7,000 for MSc Economics and Philosophy) on a topic within the field covered by their course of study and approved by the Department of Philosophy, Logic and Scientific Method.

Teaching: For students taking the MSc Philosophy of the Social Sciences, preparation for the dissertation will be through the seminar PH422; 10 x one-hour (MT); 10 x two-hour (LT).

For students taking the MSc Philosophy and Public Policy, preparation for the dissertation will be through the seminar PH421; 10 x one-hour (MT); 10 x two-hour (LT).

For students taking the MSc Economics and Philosophy, preparation for the dissertation will be through the seminar PH418; 10 x one-hour (MT); 10 x two-hour (LT).

For students taking the MSc Philosophy of Science, preparation for the dissertation will be through the seminar PH445; 10 x one-hour (MT); 10 x two-hour (LT).

Assessment: The course is assessed 100% by Dissertation.

Dissertations must be submitted on a specified date in September in the academic year registered. (Part-time students are required to submit their dissertations in the September of their second year of part-time registration). All details are given in the Departmental course booklet.

---

PS400

Contemporary Social and Cultural Psychology

This information is for the 2012/13 session.

Teacher responsible: Prof Sandra Jovchelovitch, STC. S310

Availability: This is the core course for MSc Social and Cultural Psychology. Optional for MSc Social and Public Communication. Students without a prior degree in psychology (or its equivalent) may only attend subject to numbers, their own degree regulations and at the discretion of the Teacher responsible.

Course content: Selected topics in cultural and modern social psychology.

The relationship between mind, society and culture; the relationship between the individual and society; social and cultural psychology in historical perspective; epistemological issues in social and cultural psychology; self, society and social identities, attribution theory; discourse and psychoanalytic approaches to culture and society, social representations, beliefs and attitudes; the relations between culture and psychology, cognition and culture, applied aspects of social and cultural psychology.

Teaching: Lectures: 8 x 1 hour + 12 (MT) x 2 hour (MT) = 32 in total Classes: 10 x 1 hour (MT)

Formative coursework: 1) An individual book review and 2) a written assignment.

In addition, reading lists on specific topics will be distributed during the course.

Assessment: A formal three-hour examination in the ST: three questions from a choice of 10 (100%).

---

PS404

Organisational Social Psychology

This information is for the 2012/13 session.

Teacher responsible: Dr Lucia Garcia, STC. S311

Availability: Core course for MSc Organisational and Social Psychology. Optional for MSc Social Research Methods. Students on degrees without a psychology component may only attend subject to numbers, their own degree regulations and at the discretion of the Teacher responsible.

Course content: The course addresses both the social psychology of organisations and social psychological processes within organisations. It also provides multidisciplinary coverage of the organisational contexts in which social psychologists may work in a variety of professional domains. A basic familiarity with social psychological methods is assumed but their application within organisational processes and contexts will be examined in detail within the course. Issues and techniques in organisational analysis, discourse, decision-making and change management are covered with emphasis on their social psychological aspects.

Lectures/seminars in the MT: These will cover key social psychological concepts and theories and their application to the understanding of organisations and the implementation of change processes. The specific topics covered include: 1) Introduction: critique of the tradition and logic underlying organisational psychology; history and frameworks in organisational analysis; “Scientific” management; Taylorism and Fordism; the Human Relations movement and the Socio-Technical approach; 2) Frameworks for analysis: organisational representations; the cultural image of organisations; culture and change in organisations; power, knowledge and organising; 3) People organising: job design, motivation and stress; work groups and teams; decision-making; resistance and organisational learning; leadership, networking and collaborative work; 4) Implications for practice: doing organisational development and action research.

Working Seminars in the LT: These will centre on discussion of practical and research applications in domains where organisational social psychological investigation and analysis may play a leading role. Each topic will be presented by a member of LSE staff or invited external expert working in the domain.

Teaching: Lecture (PS404) (one-and-a-half hours) x 20 MT; Seminar (PS404) (one-and-a-half hours) x 10 LT. Class (PS404.A) (one-hour) x five fortnightly MT devoted to the further analysis of specific organisational issues.

Formative coursework: 1) An individual book review and 2) a written assignment.

Assessment: A formal three-hour examination in the ST: three questions from a choice of 10 (100%).

PS410 Half Unit

Social Representations

This information is for the 2012/13 session.

Teachers responsible: Prof Sandra Jovchelovitch, STC. S310, Dr Caroline Howarth STC. S384.

Availability: Optional course for MSc Culture and Society, MSc Health, Community and Development, MSc Social and Cultural Psychology, MSc Organisational and Social Psychology, and MSc Social and Public Communication. Students on degrees without a psychology or media component may only attend subject to numbers, their own degree regulations and at the discretion of the Teacher responsible. A knowledge of any of the following is considered relevant: psychology, sociology, anthropology, linguistics or philosophy.

Course content: To acquaint students with the theory of social representations and its multiple fields of application emphasising how it contributes to the understanding of the production, transformation and contestation of knowledge systems in the contemporary world. This course provides students with extensive knowledge of the theory of social representations. This is a theory of both social knowledge (highlighting the construction, negotiation and contestation of different knowledge systems) and social change (highlighting the interplay between social and community identities and relations of power). The course covers 4 parts. 1: The theory of social representations and its history, covering the theory's ancestors (Durkheim, Weber, Piaget, Vygotsky, Lévy-Bruhl and Freud) and recent developments. 2: Classical studies in social representations - their methodology and findings, including representations of madness, psychoanalysis, food, science, health and illness, the environment and nature. 3: Fields of application, covering health, community, education, multiculturalism, racism, organisations, public communication and marketing. 4: Criticisms and points of development, including critiques of the theory, the relationship between theory and method and the critical development of the theory.

Teaching: Ten 1 hour lectures and ten 1-hour seminars in the LT.

Formative coursework: An essay plan of not more than 500 words is required.

Assessment: A written assignment of not more than 3,000 words (100%).

PS411 Half Unit

Current Communication Research

This information is for the 2012/13 session.

Teacher responsible: Dr Bradley Franks, STC. S307

Availability: MSc Social and Public Communication, MSc Organisational and Social Psychology, MSc Health Community and Development, MSc Social and Cultural Psychology. Students on degrees without a psychology or communications component may only attend subject to numbers, their own degree regulations and at the discretion of the teacher responsible.

Course content: This course considers social psychological perspectives on the relations between communication and culture. There are three principal aspects to this: the impact of culture on communication; the role of communication in transmitting and shaping culture; and variations of aspects of communication according to cultural differences (including inter-cultural or cross-cultural communication). The course begins with a discussion of some foundational issues regarding culture and communication - linguistic relativity theory, politeness, pragmatics, nonverbal communication, cultural change and stability. It then assesses the way these issues are manifest in specific areas of application, such as science, race, religion, literacy, gender and organisations.

Teaching: Lecture (one hour) (PS411) x 10 LT + seminar (one hour) x 10 LT.

Formative coursework: An essay plan of not more than 500 words is required.

Assessment: A written assignment of not more than 3,000 words (100%).

PS415 Half Unit

Not available in 2012/13

The Social Psychology of Economic Life

This information is for the 2012/13 session.

Teacher responsible: Professor George Gaskell, COL. B101

Availability: MSc Media and Communications, MSc Media and Communications (Research), MSc Media and Communications (Media and Communication Governance), MSc Organisational and Social Psychology, MSc Social and Cultural Psychology, MSc Social Research Methods and MSc Social and Public Communication.

Students on degrees without a psychology or media component may only attend subject to numbers, their own degree regulations... and at the discretion of the teacher responsible.

Course content: The course reviews the contribution of social psychological theories and perspectives, broadly interpreted to include micro-sociology, to the understanding of people's representations, attitudes, choices and behaviours in the economic sphere. Rationality in individual and collective decision making. The scientific and lay representations of risk. Trust in contemporary society. Consumer behaviour, fashion and the symbolic aspects of consumption. Equity and justice. Behavioural economics.

Teaching: Lecture (PS415) (one hour) x 10 LT; Seminar x 10 LT.

Formative coursework: An essay plan of not more than 500 words is required.

Indicative reading: Reading lists will be provided for each topic, the following are of general use; S E Lea, R M Tarpy & P Webley, The Individual in the Economy, Cambridge University Press, 1987; A Lewis, P Webley & A Furnham, The New Economic Mind: The social psychology of economic behaviour, Harvester, 1995.

Assessment: A written assignment of not more than 3,000 words (100%).

---

PS418 Half Unit

Social Psychology of Health Communication

This information is for the 2012/13 session.

Teacher responsible: Professor Catherine Campbell, STC. S387

Availability: Optional for MSc Organisational and Social Psychology, MSc Social Research Methods, MSc Social and Cultural Psychology, MSc Social and Public Communication, MSc Population and Development, MSc Gender, Policy and Inequalities, MSc Gender, Development and Globalisation, MSc Media, Communication and Development and MSc Health, Community and Development.

Students on degrees without a psychology component may only attend subject to numbers, their own degree regulations and at the discretion of the Teacher responsible.

Course content: The application of social psychology to the challenges of health communication in its social context. Communicating about health and well-being (physical, mental and social), viewing the individual (i) as a bio-psycho-social system, (ii) located within workplaces/communities/local and global cultures/unequal power hierarchies, (iii) often in rapidly changing social settings. Theoretical debates about determinants of health-related behaviours, the nature of health communication, and the processes through which communication impacts on health. Contributions of sociology, anthropology and media studies to social psychological understandings of health and communication. Implications of these debates for health promotion campaigns and policies (information-based campaigns, social development approaches, public health policy). Doctor-patient relations. Patient care in hospital settings. Mental ill-health and psychotherapy. Patient movements. Mediated health communication (edutainment, citizen journalism, blogging). The internet and health. Communication for social development. Community participation, dialogue and alliances. Communication via visual images. Gender, empowerment and social change. Local and global health advocacy. International social movements and networks.

Teaching: Ten two-hour combined weekly lecture/seminar, LT.

Formative coursework: An essay of not more than 500 words is required.

Assessment: A written assignment of not more than 3,000 words (100%).

---

PS421 Half Unit

Not available in 2012/13

Issues in Social Psychology: Evolutionary Social Psychology

This information is for the 2012/13 session.

Teacher responsible: Dr Andy Wells, STC. S305

Availability: Optional for MSc Organisational and Social Psychology, MSc Social and Cultural Psychology, MSc Social and Public Communication and MSc Social Research Methods. Students on degrees without a psychology component may attend subject to numbers, their own degree regulations and at the discretion of the Teacher responsible.

Teaching: Lecture/seminar (PS421) (two hours) x 10 LT.

Formative coursework: An essay plan of not more than 500 words is required.

PS428 Half Unit Knowledge Processes in Organisations
This information is for the 2012/13 session.
Teacher responsible: Dr Lucia Garcia-Lorenzo, STC. S311
Availability: Optional for MSc Organisational and Social Psychology, MSc Social and Cultural Psychology, MSc Social and Public Communication and MSc Organisational Behaviour. Other students on degrees without a psychology or management component may only attend subject to numbers, their own degree regulations and at the discretion of the teacher responsible for the course.
Course content: The course focuses on how people work together in a number of contexts, from project teams within particular organisations to inter-organisational networks and alliances from the perspective of organisational knowledge. It offers students a theoretical and practical understanding about how organisations construct, disseminate and share knowledge in those settings. The focus is both theoretical and practical. Students will be expected to engage with both current theoretical debates and emerging practical issues in organisational life.
The course will cover topics such as: Organisations in the knowledge economy, knowledge-intensive companies, organisational learning, communities of practice, storytelling as knowledge transmission, teams and project organisations, virtual spaces, networks, alliances and partnerships, collaborative work, innovation and knowledge creation, implications for research and practice.
Teaching: Lecture (one hour) x 10 LT; Class/Seminar x 10 LT.
Students will be expected to make extended use of the course intranet - for on-line discussions and group presentations.
Formative coursework: An essay plan of not more than 500 words is required.
Assessment: A written assignment of not more than 3,000 words (100%).

PS437 Half Unit Not available in 2012/13 Representations, Institutions and Communities
This information is for the 2012/13 session.
Teacher responsible: Dr Sandra Jovchelevitch, STC. S310
Availability: Optional course for MSc Culture and Society, MSc Social and Cultural Psychology, MSc Organisational and Social Psychology, MSc Social Research Methods, MSc Social and Public Communication, MSc Global Media and Communications (with Fudan or USC) and MSc Health, Community and Development.
Students on degrees without a psychology component may only attend subject to numbers, their own degree regulations and at the discretion of the Teacher responsible.
Course content: The objective of the course is to allow students to explore in depth the relationship between social representations and social contexts, with especial attention to the construction of everyday forms of knowledge, institutional functioning and community life.
The course will cover the social context of representational activity: (i) The genesis and development of representations, (ii) The public nature of representations, (iii) Time and place in the construction of representations: Memory and identity; Representing institutions and communities: (i) Institutions: The symbolic and the material in the life of communities, (ii) The instituting and the instituted in the life of communities, (iii) Institutions and communities as potential space; Representing/construing Others: (i) The other institutionalised: strategies of classification, segregation and exclusion, (ii) The other in the community: strategies of habitation, denial and differentiation, (iii) The other in dialogue: solidarity and strategies of communicative action; The limitations and possibilities of social psychological intervention: (i) Research as a dialogical act: Interpretation, knowledge and empowerment.
Teaching: Lecture (one hour) (PS437) x 10 LT, seminar/class (one hour) x 10 LT.
Formative coursework: An essay plan of not more than 500 words is required.
Assessment: A written assignment of not more than 3,000 words (100%).
PS438  Half Unit
Corporate Communications
This information is for the 2012/13 session.
Teacher responsible: Dr Claudine Provencher, STC. S312
Availability: Mainly for: MSc Social and Cultural Psychology; MSc Organisational and Social Psychology; MSc Social and Public Communication students. Students from other programmes can only access this course subject to space and discussions with the teacher responsible.
Course content: Corporate communication affects each one of us in various guises as employees, customers, citizens, investors or, more generally, as observers of today's world. It is therefore essential to develop a critical understanding of the different practices associated with corporate communication, be it traditional public relations, corporate social responsibility, crisis management or internal communication. Future practitioners also need this critical perspective so as to understand better the challenges associated with the development and implementation of corporate communication programmes. This course provides an introduction to corporate communication, both internal and external and makes use of different social psychological concepts to improve our understanding of this significant aspect of organisational life. It combines a critical perspective on corporate communication with practical examples provided by invited expert authors. Both theoretical and practical perspectives are discussed during the seminars that complement the lectures.
Teaching: Ten x 1.5 hour lectures and 5 x 1 hour seminars in LT.
Formative coursework: An essay plan of not more that 500 words.
Assessment: A written assignment of not more than 3,000 words (100%).

PS443  Half Unit
Societal Psychology
This information is for the 2012/13 session.
Teacher responsible: Dr Caroline Howarth, STC.S384.
Availability: Optional on MSc Health, Community and Development. Students from all departments may attend subject to numbers, their own degree regulations and at the discretion of the teacher responsible. Students from the Institute of Social Psychology are strongly encouraged to audit this course.
Course content: What is the relevance of Societal Psychology for social science? How is it useful for the study of organisations, intercultural relations, health, community development and communication? Each week we tackle key debates for the social sciences through an examination of central theories in Societal Psychology. For example we ask: How is human consciousness possible? Is intergroup conflict inevitable? Are there cultural differences in how we think? Do we practice what we preach? Can a minority change the opinions of a majority? Do certain organisations produce good leaders? Would designing social spaces differently change social behaviour? These questions are addressed through the introduction of the main theories of Societal Psychology, theories on consciousness, social identity, intergroup relations, attitudes and behaviour, social representations, social influence, language, leadership and social design. The course is aimed at MSc students with little or no background in Societal Psychology but will also include advanced material and critiques for students who want to study topics in-depth.
Teaching: 10 x two-hour lecture/seminar (PS443) MT.
Formative coursework: A essay plan of not more than 500 words is required.
Assessment: A written assignment of not more than 3,000 words (100%).

PS445 Half Unit
Organizational and Social Decision Making
This information is for the 2012/13 session.
Teachers responsible: Dr Tom Reader, STC. S313.
Availability: Optional for MSc Social and Cultural Psychology, MSc Organisational and Social Psychology, MSc Social Research Methods, MSc Social and Public Communication and MSc Organisational Behaviour, and MSc Public Management and Governance. Students on degrees without a psychology component may only attend subject to numbers, their own degree regulations and at the discretion of the Teacher responsible.
Course content: This course teaches on theory and research from the field of organisational and social decision-making. It provides a historical introduction to decision-making, and introduces the core concepts used by social psychologists to understand (and improve) decision-making processes in organisations. The course considers decision making in both organisational and societal settings, and focuses upon contexts in which there is risk and uncertainty. It draws upon the social, cognitive and organisational psychology literatures, and considers the core concepts and tools used to understand, research, and support organisational and social decision-making. These theories and tools are contextualized through empirical and case study examples taken from domains such as finance, healthcare, the energy industry, government, and the military. Students will be encouraged to take a critical perspective, and to consider how the principles taught on the course can be applied to (and used to improve) a variety of social or organisational scenarios.
The course will cover psychology topics such as: intuitive and analytical forms of decision-making, individual traits and cognitive factors that influence decision-makers (e.g. biases and emotions), personality and decision-making, human error and decision-failures, group decision-making processes (e.g. teamwork, leadership), strategic decision-making, decision-making under risk and uncertainty, decision-making and organisational/societal outcomes, and techniques and tools for aiding organisational and social decision-making.
Teaching: Lecture/Seminar (PS445) (one-hour) x 10 LT. Class (PS445.A) (one hour) x ten in LT, devoted to in-depth analysis of specific material.
Formative coursework: An essay plan of not more than 500 words is required.
Assessment: A written assignment of not more than 3,000 words is required (100%).

PS446 Half Unit
Issues in Organisational and Social Psychology: Organisational Life
This information is for the 2012/13 session.
Teacher responsible: Mr Barry Rogers, STC. S312, Senior Visiting Fellow.
Availability: Optional for MSc Organisational and Social Psychology, MSc Social and Cultural Psychology, and MSc Social and Public Communication. Students on degrees without a psychology component may only attend subject to numbers, their own degree regulations and at the discretion of the Teacher responsible.
Course content: In recent years, much has been made of the demise of the traditional workplace and with it, traditional organisational life. In popular rhetoric, globalisation, the rise of the knowledge economy, ICT and the credit crunch have all trumpeted the dawn of a very different world. The reality of the situation would seem to be far more complex.
So how do we understand and explain this complexity? This basic question has prompted huge soul searching within the social sciences as comfortable assumptions about the analysis of our world have been shown wanting. For many the current behavioural ‘turn’ throughout many of our disciplines act as an alternative lens for making sense of our reality - this has as its core the tools and approaches of social psychology.
The aim of the course is to give a social psychological perspective on the elements of continuity and change surrounding contemporary organisational life. It will focus in particular on the blurring of boundaries within our key organisational relationships: with employees, customers, clients, and stakeholders. Its primary objective is to facilitate students in developing a critical and reflective understanding of these emerging processes.
The course is informed throughout by a dual mandate. A rigorous approach to theory will be developed within the context of contemporary organisational issues, and current topics of debate. This essential relationship between theory and practice is a central feature of the course - outside speakers and practitioners are used throughout to supplement the learning for each topic and various forms of social media are employed to connect with an extended community of practice.
The course will address emerging organisational questions such as: Perspectives: how do we make sense of the complexity of organisational Life? Why do we work? How do different generations engage with work?
The rise of the BlackBerry: have we moved from the workplace to the 24/7 workspace?
Organisational time: is work life-balance a pipe dream?
After multiculturalism where now for organisational equality, diversity and inclusion?
Corporate Social Responsibility: how do organisations relate to wider stakeholders?
Customer, client or ‘partner’? Co-creation as the dynamic for growth.
Being in the ‘ivory tower’: how do we relate organisational theory to practice?
Teaching: Lecture (one hour) x 10 LT; Seminar (one hour) x 10 LT.
Formative coursework: An essay plan of not more than 500 words is required.
Indicative reading: Detailed references and class topics are distributed in the first lecture of the series. The following represents some key readings from the course:

Assessment: A summative written assignment of not more than 3,000 words is required (100%).

PS447 Half Unit Psychoanalysis and Communication

This information is for the 2012/13 session.

Teacher responsible: Dr Derek Hook, STC. S312

Availability: MSc Social and Cultural Psychology, MSc Organisational and Social Psychology, MSc Social and Public Communications, MSc Social Research Methods, MSc Health, Community and Development, MSc Media and Communications and MSc Media and Communications (Research). Students from all departments may attend subject to numbers, their own degree regulations and at the discretion of the teachers responsible.

Course content: Lacanian psychoanalysis provides a valuable set of instruments for an understanding of the structures and dynamics underlying communicative activity. This course will introduce students to a series of relevant components within Lacanian theory - the distinction between enunciation and statement, the role of the ‘big Other’ as the third in every dialogue, Lacan’s four structures of discourse - before exploring how these ideas might inform, extend and develop how we go about the analysis of communication.

Specific content will include: Freudian dream theory and the analysis of popular advertising texts; jokes, slips of the tongue, and the role of the unconscious in everyday speech; the notion of the ‘big Other’ as the mediating third in every instance of dialogue; Lacan’s four discursive structures or social links (emphasising particularly political, governmental and university discourse); the functioning of Master signifiers and the transmission of knowledge; ‘empty’ versus ‘full’ speech; a psychoanalytic account of ideology.

Teaching: 10 hours each of lectures and seminars in the Lent Term.

Formative coursework: An essay plan of not more than 500 words is required.

Indicative reading: A detailed reading list will be handed out at the beginning of the course.

Assessment: A written assignment of not more than 3,000 words (100%).

PS451 Half Unit Cognition and Culture

This information is for the 2012/13 session.

Teacher responsible: Dr Bradley Franks, STC. S307

Availability: Optional course for MSc Culture and Society, MSc Social and Cultural Psychology, MSc Organisational and Social Psychology, and MSc Social and Public Communication. Students on degrees without a psychology component may only attend subject to numbers, their own degree regulations and at the discretion of the teacher responsible.

Course content: The course examines recent directions in research relating to the relationships between mind and culture. Specific content will include a variety of theoretical issues, for example: relationships between social facts and psychological facts; naturalistic and non-naturalistic concepts of culture; symbolic culture; cultural relativity and universals; evolutionary and developmental constraints on the relations between mind and culture; communication, cultural transmission and change. These issues will be discussed with reference to specific domains of investigation, such as: emotions, representations of religion, race and natural kinds; pragmatics and communication; and social divisions of labour in meaning and representation, including deference and expertise.

Teaching: Lecture (one hour) x 10 LT; Seminar (one hour) x 10 LT.

Formative coursework: An essay plan of not more than 500 words is required.

Assessment: A written assignment of not more than 3,000 words is required (100%).
PS456  Half Unit
Consumer Psychology
This information is for the 2012/13 session.
Teachers responsible: Professor Saadi Lahlou (Convenor), STC. S303, Dr Benjamin Voyer, STC.S312, and Dr Claudine Provencher (Co-convenors), STC.S312.
Availability: Optional course for MSc Organisational and Social Psychology, MSc Social and Public Communication, MSc Social and Cultural Psychology students. Students from other programmes can only access this course subject to space and discussions with the teachers responsible.
Course content: Homo economicus (economic theories of consumption, state of the art); Homo sociologicus (sociology of consumption, state of the art); Homo emporior (traditional marketing-related theories such as attitudes, attitude change, persuasion, dissonance, anchoring, state of the art); Evolutionary psychology of consumers and citizens (competition and cooperation); Community and consumption (social identity theory, fads and fashion, alternative consumption patterns and boycott as resistance); Traditional socio-psychological theories of behavioural change (Lewin on change and action research; Kiesler, Joule and Beavous on psychology of commitment); New theories of behavioural change and sustainable consumption (Lahlou's installation theory; social representations); Alternative approaches to consumer psychology (community engagement, consumer culture theory); The future of consumption (globalisation, sustainability).
Teaching: 10 x one-hour lectures and 10 x one-hour seminars during Lent Term.
Formative coursework: An essay plan of not more than 500 words is required. This essay should include: written introduction and conclusion, summary of the key arguments and theories mobilized in the essay, and an indicative reference list. Students are encouraged to discuss their plan with the course convenors.
Assessment: A written assignment of not more than 3,000 words is required (100%).

PS458  Half Unit
Creativity and Innovation
This information is for the 2012/13 session.
Teacher responsible: Dr Alex Gillespie.
Availability: Optional on MSc Organisational and Social Psychology, MSc Social and Cultural Psychology, MSc Social and Public Communication, MSc Health Community and Development. Also available as an outside option where regulations permit.
Pre-requisites: An undergraduate degree in a social science related discipline or equivalent.
Course content: This course examines creativity and innovation from a social psychological standpoint. The first part of the course will examine creativity, focusing on the social conditions which lead to new ideas and technologies. The second part of the course will examine the way in which new ideas and technologies are instituted and resisted. Guiding questions will be: How do new ideas and technologies come about? How do we know if something new is creative, productive or useful? What social contexts are conducive to creativity and innovation? Can the resistance to innovation lead to innovation? What is the human imagination? Why do humans enjoy play, games and fiction? What leads to insightful problem solving? At a deeper level the course will also question the extent to which researchers should be describing the world as it is, or imagining the world as it could be.
The overarching focus is on the relation between social interaction and the emergence of productive novelty. The course will examine the social conditions (i.e., face-to-face or online, one-to-one or group, autocratic or democratic, specialisation or integration, etc.) conducive to creativity and innovation, including the social conditions for socialization creative individuals and the social and institutional factors which enable productive novelty to be recognised and instituted.
Specific topics will include: theories of creativity, the imagination, insight and problem solving, creative leadership, the creation of value, cultural evolution, the resistance to innovation, utopias and social science as future-making.
Teaching: 10 x one-hour lectures in LT and 10 x one-hour workshops in LT.
Formative coursework: One 1000 word critique of a research report or article.
Assessment: One 3,000 word project or essay (100%).

PS460  Half Unit
Inter-cultural Relations and Racism
This information is for the 2012/13 session.
Teacher responsible: Dr Caroline Howarth, STC. S384.
Availability: Students from all departments may attend subject to numbers, their own degree regulations and at the discretion of the Teachers responsible.
Course content: The course demonstrates the importance of a Social Psychological perspective for research into inter-cultural relations and racism, with a particular focus on national and community identities, acculturation, multiculturism, political change and collaboration across difference. Lecturers aim to achieve a balance between theoretical and applied issues, in the interests of critically investigating the way in which conceptual tools can enhance our understanding of the concrete social world.
We use a range of psychological theories: acculturation, contact, social identity, social representations, intersectionality, orientalism and conscientization. We explore the social and ideological production of cultural difference, exclusion and prejudice in ways that both highlight the role of history and politics in the social psychology of intercultural relations and also reveal the possibilities
This course examines the psycho-social determinants of collective action for social change, with particular attention to the social psychology to public health, public health promotion and application of the principles of community development students.

Teaching: 10 one-hour lectures and 10 one-hour seminars in LT.

Formative coursework: A written task related to the summative essay of not more than 500 words is required.

Indicative reading:

Assessment: A written assignment of not more than 3,000 words (100%).

PS461 Health, Community and Development

This information is for the 2012/13 session.

Teacher responsible: Prof Catherine Campbell, STC. S387

Availability: Available to MSc Health, Community and Development students.

Course content: Application of the principles of community social psychology to public health, public health promotion and collective action for social change, with particular attention to the psycho-social and community-level determinants of health-related behaviour and of participation in collective action for community development.

This course examines the psycho-social determinants of community development for health, and more particularly the role of participation, partnerships and collective action in the promotion of health and the management of disease. This material is contextualised within a multi-level framework of health spanning the individual, community and social levels of analysis, and driven by an interest in the challenge of building social environments that enable and support the possibility of health. Viewing communities as mediators between the individual and social dimensions of health, the bulk of the course focuses on the social psychology of grassroots participation, collective action, partnerships and community development for health - relating health and community development to social identities, social representations and local knowledge, dialogue, empowerment, critical thinking and the public sphere. Particular attention is given to the mechanisms underlying individual/social change in building health-enabling social environments, and implications for the design and evaluation of practical community health strategies. All this material is contextualised within wider debates and controversies about the global nature of public health, mainstream vs. alternative development policy, the respective roles of local and global social movements, and the potential for participation to alleviate the negative health impacts of social inequalities (especially relating to poverty and gender). The course concludes with a focus on the incorporation of social psychological perspectives into the design and evaluation of community development for health programmes.

Teaching: Lectures/Seminars (two hours) x 20 MT; Class (one hour) x five MT.

Formative coursework: 1) an individual book review and 2) a written assignment.

Indicative reading:

Assessment: A formal three-hour examination in the ST: three questions from a choice of 10 (100%).
PS462  Half Unit
Theory and Practice of Organisational Development

This information is for the 2012/13 session.

Teacher responsible: Dr Caryn Solomon, STC. S312
Availability: Optional for MSc Organisational and Social Psychology, MSc Social and Cultural Psychology, MSc Social and Public Communication and MSc Organisational Behaviour. This course is capped at 30 students.

Course content: The organisation is a social system that is complex, dynamic and ever changing. This course attempts to explore the management of organisational change and development in a practical way. It does this by recognising that there are research-based methodologies for ensuring that the potential inherent in change is harnessed, and that the capacity and potential of the organisation, in the pursuit of a broad range of organisational objectives, are enabled. While it is informed by a number of key theoretical frameworks, Organisation Development comes into its own in application.

The aim of the course, therefore, is two fold: first to explore the body of core theory underpinning the practice; second, to examine the practice of Organisation Development as a ‘process’ (not a ‘product’ or a ‘programme’) which fundamentally influences and is influenced by the specific organisational context within which it takes place. Drawing on key theoretical frameworks and the approaches of major practitioners, the course also examines a range of current, best practice socio-psychological interventions.

Students will be actively encouraged to relate key theoretical perspectives to organisational challenges covering a range of contemporary issues and contexts.

Teaching: 10 x one-hour lectures (LT) plus ten x one-hour seminars (LT).

Formative coursework: An essay plan of not more than 500 words is required.

Assessment: A written assignment of not more than 3,000 words (100%).

PS497  Dissertation

This information is for the 2012/13 session.

Teacher responsible: Dr Alex Gillespie (STC. S308) is responsible for the course, but any member of the Institute of Social Psychology may be involved in providing supervision for the course.

Availability: Compulsory for students taking MSc Social and Cultural Psychology, MSc Social and Public Communication, MSc Organisational and Social Psychology, MSc Health, Community and Development.

Course content: The dissertation is an empirical investigation, carried out on the student’s own initiative, under the supervision of a member of staff. Research topics and methodologies vary considerably, but they must relate to the student’s MSc Programme. All dissertation topics will need to be approved by a supervisor who is a faculty member of the Institute of Social Psychology.

Formative coursework: Students will receive formative feedback from their supervisor on the following coursework (1,000 words):
1) A Dissertation Plan
2) A Dissertation Progress Report

Assessment: The course is assessed entirely on the basis of the dissertation. Two copies of the Dissertation plus an electronic copy must be handed into/received by the Institute Office in August (exact date to be confirmed). The Report must be typewritten. It should not be less than 7,500 words and should not exceed 10,000 words in length.

PS4A1  Methods for Social Psychology Research: Fundamental Qualitative and Fundamental Quantitative Methods

This information is for the 2012/13 session.

Teacher responsible: Dr Caroline Howarth in collaboration with Dr Alex Gillespie as the director of ISP MSc Dissertations (PS497).

Availability: A full unit of methods training is compulsory for students taking MSc Social and Cultural Psychology, MSc Social and Public Communication, MSc Organisational and Social Psychology, MSc Health, Community and Development. Students take either PS4A1/2/3/4 depending on their level of knowledge and experience with methods.

Course content: This is for MSc students in ISP will no background in research methodology. This shall provide them with an overview of methodological issues for Social Psychological research as well as an introduction to both qualitative and quantitative methods. The course as a whole will equip them with methodological skills that will enable them to conduct empirical research for their MSc Dissertation and possibly research after the MSc.

Teaching: The course consists of 10 hours of in-house ISP teaching and two Half Unit course options provided by the LSE Methodology Institute (MY) during MT and LT.

Formative coursework: Students will follow the formative work requirements on the MY course(s) that they take under each stream.

Assessment: Students will be assessed according to the elements of teaching that they take on this course (see ‘teaching’ information provided above).

PS4A2  Methods for Social Psychology Research: Advanced Qualitative and Fundamental Quantitative Methods

This information is for the 2012/13 session.

Teacher responsible: Dr Caroline Howarth in collaboration with Dr Alex Gillespie as the director of ISP MSc Dissertations (PS497).

Availability: A full unit of methods training is compulsory for students taking MSc Social and Cultural Psychology, MSc Social and Public Communication, MSc Organisational and Social Psychology, MSc Health, Community and Development. Students take either PS4A1/2/3/4 depending on their level of knowledge and experience with methods.

Course content: This is for MSc students in ISP with some background in qualitative methods but no background in quantitative research methodology. This shall provide them with an overview of methodological issues for Social Psychological research, an introduction to quantitative methods and a choice of advanced qualitative courses. The course as a whole will equip them with methodological skills that will enable them to conduct empirical research for their MSc Dissertation and possibly research after the MSc.

Teaching: The course consists of 10 hours of in-house ISP teaching and two Half Unit course options provided by the LSE Methodology Institute (MY) during MT and LT.

Formative coursework: Students will follow the formative work requirements on the MY course(s) that they take under each stream.

Indicative reading: Bauer, M. and Gaskell, G. (2000) Qualitative research with text, image and sound - a practical handbook London, Sage

Assessment: Students will be assessed according to the elements of teaching that they take on this course (see ‘teaching’ information provided above).

---

PS4A3

Methods for Social Psychology Research:

Advanced Quantitative and Fundamental Qualitative Methods

This information is for the 2012/13 session.

Teacher responsible: Dr Caroline Howarth in collaboration with Dr Alex Gillespie as the director of ISP MSc Dissertations (PS497).

Availability: A full unit of methods training is compulsory for students taking MSc Social and Cultural Psychology, MSc Social and Public Communication, MSc Organisational and Social Psychology, MSc Health, Community and Development. Students take either PS4A1/2/3/4 depending on their level of knowledge and experience with methods.

Course content: This is for MSc students in ISP with some background in both quantitative and qualitative research methods. This shall provide them with an overview of methodological issues for Social Psychological research and a choice of both advanced quantitative and qualitative courses. The course as a whole will equip them with methodological skills that will enable them to conduct empirical research for their MSc Dissertation and possibly research after the MSc.

Teaching: The programme consists of 10 hours of in-house ISP teaching and two Half Unit course options provided by the LSE Methodology Institute (MY) during MT and LT.

And choose ONE option from each group:

Qualitative Methods

Quantitative Methods

Formative coursework: Students will follow the formative work requirements on the MY course(s) that they take under each stream.

Indicative reading: Bauer, M. and Gaskell, G. (2000) Qualitative research with text, image and sound - a practical handbook London, Sage

Assessment: Students will be assessed according to the elements of teaching that they take on this course (see ‘teaching’ information provided above).

---

SA403

Criminal Justice Policy

This information is for the 2012/13 session.

Teachers responsible: Dr C Phillips, OLD M2.27

Availability: Compulsory course for MSc Criminal Justice Policy. Optional for MSc Regulation, MSc Regulation (Research), MSc Social Policy (Research), MSc Social Policy (Social Policy and Planning), MSc Social Policy (European and Comparative Social Policy), LLM and other master's level students (by permission).

Pre-requisites: Some prior knowledge of law or sociology is useful, but not essential.

Course content: The course provides a detailed and critical introduction to the study of criminal justice institutions, practices and participants. It begins with an introduction to the nature of crime and contemporary criminal justice policy. It then examines the main elements of modern criminal justice systems (police, courts, prisons, probation, the media, and private security). Special emphasis is given to current issues such as restorative justice and increasing rates of incarceration. The course combines up-to-date empirical work with theoretical perspectives and also emphasises the role of historical and comparative perspectives in understanding current trends.

Teaching: Lectures: SA403.1 20 weekly two hour lectures, MT, LT and ST

Seminars: SA403.2, 19 weekly one hour seminars, MT and LT.

Formative coursework: All students are expected to submit two non-assessed essays.

Indicative reading: There are two set texts for the course: M Maguire, R Morgan & R Reiner (Eds), The Oxford Handbook of Criminology, 5th edn, 2012; and T Newburn, Criminology, 2007. A full reading list will be provided in the first lecture.

Assessment: A three-hour written examination in the ST.
SA407  Half Unit
Financing Health Care
This information is for the 2012/13 session.
Teacher responsible: Dr S Thomson, COW 3.01
Availability: A core course for students taking MSc Health Policy, Planning and Financing, MSc International Health Policy and MSc International Health Policy (Health Economics). An optional course for students taking MSc Health, Population and Society; MSc Social Policy (European and Comparative Social Policy), MSc Social Policy (Social Policy and Planning) and other programmes where regulations permit.
Course content: This course aims to give students a thorough grounding in health financing policy. It focuses on the health financing functions of collecting revenue, pooling funds and purchasing services, as well as on policy choices concerning coverage, resource allocation and market structure. The course mainly draws on examples from health financing policy in European countries, but the general principles studied apply internationally. By the end of the course students will have:
Teaching: 15 one-hour lectures and five two-hour seminars in the MT. A two-hour revision session in the MT and a two-hour revision session in the ST.
Formative coursework: Students will be given an essay question which they must answer and submit for feedback from their seminar leader.
Assessment: A two-hour written examination in the ST (100%).

SA408  Half Unit
Health Economics
This information is for the 2012/13 session.
Teacher responsible: Professor A McGuire, COW 4.05
Availability: For MSc International Health Policy (Health Economics); MSc Health Policy, Planning and Financing; MSc Health, Population and Society; MSc International Health Policy; MSc Social Policy (Research); and other Master's students where programme regulations permit.
Course content: This course develops basic economic concepts as they are applied to the health sector, and provides for specialisation in health economics. Nature of health care as an economic commodity. How markets and insurance markets work, and how they can fail for health care and health care insurance. The economics of paying providers and different approaches taken by governments in different countries. Incentive mechanisms and Diagnostic Related Group payment schemes and yardstick competition. Labour markets in health care. Economic evaluation as a regulatory tool.
Teaching: 10 lectures and 10 seminars MT.
Assessment: A two-hour written examination in the ST.

SA409  Half Unit
Social Security Policies
This information is for the 2012/13 session.

Teachers responsible: Professor H Dean, OLD 2.30
Availability: For MSc Social Policy (Social Policy and Planning), MSc Social Policy (European and Comparative Social Policy), MSc Social Policy (Research) and other MSc programmes where regulations permit.
Course content: The course analyses income maintenance and social security policies defined broadly to include not only national insurance and social assistance provisions but also fiscal, occupational and private provisions that maintain incomes. Definitions and measurements of need and poverty are reviewed. Economic and administrative aspects of social security and tax credits are considered, as is their impact on social and economic behaviour. A comparative approach is adopted.
Teaching: 10 lectures and 10 seminars, MT.
Formative coursework: Seminar members will be expected to make regular presentations to the seminar and submit a written paper at the end of term.
Assessment: An assessed essay of 1,500 words (25%) to be submitted in the first week of the LT. A two-hour written examination in the ST (75%).

SA427  Half Unit
Pharmaceutical Economics and Policy
This information is for the 2012/13 session.
Teacher responsible: Dr P Kanavos, COW 3.08
Availability: For MSc Health Policy, Planning and Financing; MSc International Health Policy; MSc International Health Policy (Health Economics); MSc Health, Population and Society; MSc Social Policy (Research) and other Master's students where programme regulations permit.
Course content: The aim of this course is to introduce students to the economics of pharmaceutical markets and related policies that affect national and international markets broadly.
Teaching: 10 one-hour lectures and five two-hour seminars, MT; One revision seminar, ST.
Assessment: An assessed essay of 3,000 words (40%) to be submitted by the first day of the LT. A two-hour written examination in the ST (60%).
This is the same course as SA4G3 Pharmaceutical Economics and Policy (modular) but it has different teaching and assessment arrangements.

SA429  Half Unit
Social Exclusion, Inequality and the ‘Underclass’ Debate
This information is for the 2012/13 session.
Teachers responsible: Professor H Dean, OLD 2.30, Professor Stephen Jenkins, OLD 2.29 and others.
Availability: For MSc Social Policy (Social Policy and Planning), MSc City Design and Social Policy, MSc Health, Population and Society, MSc Criminal Justice Policy, MSc Social Policy (European and Comparative Social Policy), MSc Social Policy (Research), MSc Gender, Policy and Inequalities, MPA Public and Social Policy/MPA Public and Economic Policy/MPA Public Policy and Management/MPA International Development/MPA European Public and Economic Policy and other MScs at the discretion of the teachers responsible.

Course content: This course focuses on the emergence of social exclusion as a key concept in social policy and its use in developing and industrialized countries; changes in inequality and their causes; the theoretical and empirical issues provoked by the ‘underclass’ debate; family change and disadvantage; long-term unemployment and welfare-to-work; area segregation, housing and ‘welfare ghettos’, ethnic division; employment; education; social exclusion and citizenship.

Teaching: 10 Lectures and 10 Seminars, LT.

Assessment: A two-hour written examination in the ST.

SA447 Half Unit Foundations of Health Policy
This information is for the 2012/13 session.
Teachers responsible: Dr M Bhatia, OLD 2.34
Availability: For MSc Health Policy, Planning and Financing, MSc International Health Policy, MSc International Health Policy (Health Economics), MSc Health, Population and Society, MSc Social Policy and Development, MSc Public Management and Governance, MSc Social Policy (Research) and other Master's students from LSE and LSHTM where programme regulations permit.

Course content: A comparative approach to the development of health and healthcare policies in high, middle and low income countries, emphasising present and future policy options and problems. The course will examine the development and implementation of health policy. Theories of planning for setting priorities in health care are discussed and the politics, psychology and economics of health policy implementation are addressed. The course will also examine the changing role of the state and the role of international organisations in improving health status and influencing the policy agenda. The course concludes by examining some of the reforms currently taking place in the health sector.

Teaching: The course consists of 10 lectures and five seminars in the MT. Students will participate in presenting at least one seminar paper.

Formative coursework: Students will write one non-assessed essay during the course.

SA451 Social Policy Research
This information is for the 2012/13 session.
Teacher responsible: Dr Tania Burchardt, LRB.R508
Availability: For MSc Social Research Methods, MSc Social Policy (Social Policy and Planning), MSc Social Policy (Research), MSc Social Policy (European and Comparative Social Policy) and MPA Public and Social Policy/MPA Public and Economic Policy/MPA Public Policy and Management/MPA International Development/MPA European Public and Economic Policy. Also available to other MSc students where regulations permit.

Course content: The course equips students to critically assess a wide range of research designs used in the study of social policy questions. This includes: an overview of the varied traditions and approaches to social policy research; Historical methods and archive research; Participatory research; Research organisations; Depth interviews (especially with service users and clients); Analysis of policy and evaluation of policy reform; Social experiments and pilots; Geographical methods; Social surveys and the analysis of large datasets; Longitudinal and life history analysis; Micro-simulation techniques; and Comparative research. The final part of the course considers research strategies and choices and the relationship between research and policymaking.

Teaching: 22 lectures, 19 seminars and 2 tutorials. The lectures will be given by a member of staff or external expert in that particular method or topic and are followed by a seminar examining research exemplifying the approach and the issues raised. Students will make at least one seminar presentation per term. The tutorials are short one-to-one sessions with the seminar leader to discuss feedback on essays.

Formative coursework: In addition to written versions of two seminar presentations, students will write at least two essays of no more than 3,000 words for the course.

Additional references will be supplied at the start of the course and in lectures.

Assessment: A three-hour written examination in the ST.

SA465 Criminal Justice Policy - Long Essay
This information is for the 2012/13 session.
Teacher responsible: Dr C Phillips, OLD M2.27
Availability: For MSc Criminal Justice Policy.
Those taking the course part-time must submit the dissertation in their second year. The course is compulsory for all students taking the MSc in Criminal Justice Policy.

Course content: The objective is to write an original dissertation on an approved topic in the field.

Assessment: The dissertation must be submitted to the Course Administrator on or before 1 September (or if this falls on a weekend, the first weekday after 1 September). Dissertations should be no more than 10,000 words in length, excluding notes and appendices and should be typed. Formal titles should be registered with the Course Director in early December.

SA466 European Social Policy - Long Essay
This information is for the 2012/13 session.
Teacher responsible: Dr S Mangen, OLD 2.62
Availability: For MSc Social Policy (European and Comparative Social Policy). The dissertation is compulsory.

Course content: The purpose is to allow students to study a topic in depth researching the literature and analysing a subject: often these essays involve original perspectives or empirical research.

Assessment: The completed dissertation, which should be typewritten, must be submitted on or before 1 September (or if this falls on a weekend, the first weekday after 1 September). It must not exceed 10,000 words, bibliography and tables will not be included in this total.

---

SA470

Dissertation - Social Policy and Development: Non-Governmental Organisations

This information is for the 2012/13 session.

Teachers responsible: Dr A Ishkanian, OLD 2.42; Professor A Hall, OLD 2.28; Dr S Kumar, OLD 2.33; Professor D Lewis, OLD 2.25; and Dr H Seckinelgin, OLD 2.57.

Availability: This dissertation is a course requirement for all students taking the MSc in Social Policy and Development: Non-Governmental Organisations.

Course content: The 10,000 word dissertation enables students to analyse in greater depth an issue relevant to social policy and development from a civil society-centred perspective.

Assessment: Dissertations should be no more than 10,000 words in length (100% of this unit), excluding the bibliography. The dissertation must be submitted to the Course Administrator on or before 1 September (or if this falls on a weekend, the first weekday after 1 September).

---

SA471

Dissertation: Social Policy and Planning

This information is for the 2012/13 session.

Teachers responsible: Professor D Piachaud, OLD 2.64 and tutors

Availability: For MSc Social Policy (Social Policy and Planning), MSc Social Policy (Research). The dissertation is compulsory.

Course content: The purpose is to allow students to study a topic in depth researching the literature and analysing a subject: often these dissertations involve original perspectives or research and some have been subsequently published.

Assessment: The completed dissertation, must be submitted to the Course Administrator on or before 1 September (or if this falls on a weekend, the first weekday after 1 September) in the year of the examination. It must not exceed 10,000 words.

---

SA472

Dissertation- Social Policy and Development

This information is for the 2012/13 session.

Teachers responsible: Dr H Seckinelgin, OLD 2.57; Professor A Hall, OLD 2.28; Dr S Kumar, OLD 2.33; Professor D Lewis, OLD 2.25; and Dr A Ishkanian, OLD 2.42.

Availability: This dissertation is a course requirement for all students taking the MSc in Social Policy and Development.

Course content: The 10,000 word dissertation enables students to analyse in greater depth an issue relevant to social policy and development from a government-centred perspective.

Assessment: Dissertations should be no more than 10,000 words in length (100% of this unit), excluding the bibliography. The dissertation must be submitted to the Course Administrator on or before 1 September (or if this falls on a weekend, the first weekday after 1 September).

---

SA481

Half Unit

Population Analysis: Methods and Models

This information is for the 2012/13 session.

Teacher responsible: Dr Arjan Gjonca, OLD M2.25.

Availability: For MSc Development Studies, MSc Population and Development, MSc Health, Population and Society, MSc Statistics, MSc Statistics (Research) and MSc Social Research Methods. Also available to other MSc students where regulations permit.

Pre-requisites: Students should have basic numeracy, but the course does not require advanced mathematical knowledge.

Course content: This course is an introduction to the key concepts and methods of population analysis. It will introduce the fundamental components of population change: fertility, mortality and migration, and will discuss methods of data collection and population projections. Topics covered will also include population age-structure and growth; marriage and reproductiveity; an introduction to population projections; and the use of models in demography. Importance is placed on the understanding and interpretation of demographic data, as well as the methods of population analysis.

Teaching: 10 x one-and-a-half hour lectures and 10 x one-and-a-half seminars MT.

Formative coursework: Students will be expected to complete exercises and write two essays during the term.

Indicative reading: A detailed reading list will be provided at the start of the course. A useful text is Demographic Methods and Concepts by D Rowland, 2003; or, alternatively Methods and Models in Demography by C Newell, 1988 or Demographic Techniques by A H Pollard, F Yusuf & G N Pollard, 1990.

Assessment: A two-hour written examination in the ST.

---

SA485

Half Unit

Planning for Population and Development

This information is for the 2012/13 session.

Teacher responsible: Dr T Leone, OLD 2.56

Availability: For MSc Population and Development, MSc Development Studies, MSc Development Management, MSc Social Policy (Research), MSc Health, Population and Society, MSc Social Research Methods and other MScs where regulations permit.

Pre-requisites: Some familiarity with personal computers is required, but a high degree of technical proficiency is not required.

Course content: The course overviews key quantitative methods used for planning in population and development. Relevance will be given to methods used for assessing the implications of high levels of mortality in developing countries with specific reference to the HIV/AIDS pandemic. The approach is practical and complements the more theoretical population courses giving additional skills such as an understanding of key international projections and estimates. Students will undertake a number of computer-based assignments (using either Excel or Spectrum) which will follow the topics highlighted during the lectures. The course covers concepts used for population analysis; the role of population projections in the population planning and development process; the basis of projections made by international agencies such as the UN Population Division; the formulation of projection assumptions and methods of making projections; methods for projecting and assessing the impact of HIV/AIDS and the use of software such as AIM (AIDS Impact Model). The course will also give an overview of projections for particular sub-groups such as households, families, urban, sub-national and labour force ones and of the implications of uncertainty for the planning process.

Teaching: 10 two-hour lectures/seminars and 10 one-hour computer-based practicals, LT.

Indicative reading: Relevant documents will be provided at the start of the course, mainly in the form of electronic documents.

Assessment: Assessment will be by two coursework assignments, each of a maximum of 10 A4 pages, which will involve the formulation, execution and writing up of a project concerned with a model for population planning, which has been agreed with the lecturer.

---

SA488 Half Unit
Social Policy: Goals and Issues
This information is for the 2012/13 session.
Teachers responsible: Professor H. Dean, OLD 2.30 and others.
Availability: Compulsory for MSc Social Policy. Optional on MSc Gender, Policy and Inequalities, MSc Social Policy (Research), MSc China in Comparative Perspective, MSc Health, Population and Society, MSc Social Policy, MSc Public Management and Governance and MSc Criminal Justice Policy. Also available, subject to approval, to other MScs in the Department of Social Policy and other MScs outside the department.
Course content: The nature of social policy and policymaking: key approaches and issues. The goals of social policy in relation to policy formation and the policymaking process. Issues including: the political economy of social policy; the mixed economy of welfare; the governance of social policy; gender and social policy; poverty, inequality and social exclusion; globalisation and the future of social policy.
Teaching: 10 weekly lectures and 10 weekly seminars MT.
Assessment: A two-hour written examination in the ST.

---

SA492 Half Unit
Reproductive Health Programmes: Design, Implementation and Evaluation
This information is for the 2012/13 session.
Teacher responsible: Dr E Coast, OLD M2.24
Availability: For MSc Population and Development, MSc Development Studies, MSc Development Management, MSc Gender, MSc Gender, Policy and Inequalities, MSc Gender, Development and Globalisation, MSc Health, Population and Society, MSc Social Research Methods and MSc Health, Community and Development. Also available for other MSc students where regulations permit.
Course content: This course deals with the effectiveness and efficiency of reproductive health programmes, especially those that deliver services. The key issues addressed are the design of programmes, their effective implementation, and their evaluation, addressing questions such as:
The course covers a wide range of topics, including: the organisation of programmes; issues of strategic management; personnel training; logistics and commodity supply; the tools of management and evaluation, including management information systems; information, education and communication, including the role of the mass media; innovative approaches to reproductive health education, including an examination of the role of formal education and curriculum content; violence against women as a reproductive health issue; meeting the reproductive health needs of “special” groups, including adolescents and refugees; the use of social marketing; issues of quality in service delivery; techniques for evaluating programme effectiveness.
Teaching: 10 Lectures and 10 Seminars, LT.
Formative coursework: Students are expected to prepare a seminar presentation and an essay (circa 1,500 words) during the term.
Indicative reading: The course is supported by a VLE containing electronic reading lists. There is no single key text. The following journals are of key importance: Studies in Family Planning, Population Reports, International Family Planning Perspectives, Population Council Working Papers, Health Transition Review, Social Science and Medicine.
Assessment: A two-hour written examination in the ST (50%) and a coursework assignment (a maximum of 10 A4 pages) submitted in ST (50%).

---

SA493 Half Unit
Demography of the Developing World
This information is for the 2012/13 session.
Teacher responsible: Dr D Grenham, OLD 2.24
Availability: For MSc Population and Development, MSc Development Studies, MSc Health, Population and Society, MSc Gender, MSc Gender, Policy and Inequalities, MSc Social Policy (Research), MSc Gender, Development and Globalisation, MSc Social Policy and Development, MSc Social Policy and Development: Non-Governmental Organisations, MSc Social Policy and Development: Non-Governmental Organisations and MSc Social Research Methods. Also available to other MSc students where regulations permit.
Course content: The course provides an up-to-date and comprehensive account of the population trends in less developed countries by looking at recent changes in fertility, mortality and migration at country and regional levels. The course also looks at the implications of these trends and some of the key demographic issues facing developing countries.
Topics that are covered include:
Students will be introduced to the necessary demographic concepts so no previous demographic knowledge is required.
Teaching: 10 Lectures and 10 Seminars, MT.
Formative coursework: Students are expected to prepare a seminar presentation and a formative essay (circa 1,500 words) during the term.
Indicative reading: The course is supported by a VLE containing electronic reading lists. There is no single key text and a detailed reading list will be provided. The following journals are of key importance: Population and Development Review, Demography and Demographic Research. Key sources of demographic information include the United Nation's Population Prospects (2010 Revision) and the United Nation's World Urbanisation Prospects the 2011 Revision.
Assessment: A two-hour written examination in the ST (50%) and a coursework assignment (a maximum of 10 A4 pages) submitted in LT (50%).

---

SA499
Dissertation: Population and Development
This information is for the 2012/13 session.
Teachers responsible: MSc Convenor and academic advisor.
Availability: This course is intended for students taking the MSc Population and Development.
Course content: The purpose is to allow students to explore a particular research topic in depth.
Assessment: The completed dissertation must be submitted on or SA4A6
Dissertation: MSc International Health Policy and MSc International Health Policy (Health Economics)
This information is for the 2012/13 session.
Teachers responsible: Programme Director: Dr Panos Kanavos (COW 3.08) and Supervisors.
Availability: MSc International Health Policy and MSc International Health Policy (Health Economics).
Course content: This is not a course but a dissertation which will be undertaken by students. Students of this programme undertake a summer placement during which they would be writing up the dissertation. The purpose of the dissertation is to allow students to explore a particular topic or a relevant policy issue in depth. The dissertation may take the form of an empirical research conducted on a topic or issue of relevance to health/social policy, or may be a literature-based providing an analysis of a specific research question of relevance to health/social policy.
Teaching: Students will have at least three individual meetings with their supervisors. Additionally, 3 seminars (2 in the LT and 1 in the ST) will take place during the academic year with the entire class in order to discuss issues pertaining to the dissertation (topic selection, structure, methods, result reporting, ethics approval, among others) and the student placements.
Formative coursework: Students will receive feedback and comments on a 1,000 word summary/outline of the proposed research proposal.
Robson C (1993). Real world research: A resource for social scientists and practitioner-researchers, Oxford University Press.
Assessment: 10,000 word dissertation (100%).

SA4B3
Dissertation: Health, Population and Society
This information is for the 2012/13 session.
Teachers responsible: MSc Convenor and personal supervisor
Availability: for students taking MSc Health, Population and Society.
Course content: The purpose is to allow students to explore a particular research topic on issues related to health and population in depth.
Assessment: The completed dissertation must be submitted on or before 1 September (or if this falls on a weekend, the first weekday after 1 September).

SA4B8
Half Unit
Ethnicity, Race and Social Policy
This information is for the 2012/13 session.
Teacher responsible: Dr Coretta Phillips, OLD M2.27
Availability: For MSc Social Policy (Social Policy and Planning), MSc Social Policy (European and Comparative Social Policy), MSc Social Policy (Research), MSc International Migration and Public Policy and MSc Gender, Policy and Inequalities. Also available as an optional course for other MSc students where regulations permit. This course will be capped at 15 students, with preference given first to students on MSc programmes in Social Policy, then MSc Race, Ethnicity and Post-Colonial Studies. If spaces are still available, students from other MSc programmes will be selected on a first come first served basis.
Course content: Understanding Key Concepts; Disciplinary Frameworks; Migration and Citizenship, Theorising Multiculturalism; Ethnic Settlement and Housing Inequalities; Education; Employment, Poverty and Underclass; Criminalisation and Incarceration; Discrimination and the Role of the State I: Positive and Affirmative
SA4B9  Half Unit
Education Policy, Reform and Financing
This information is for the 2012/13 session.
Teacher responsible: Dr Sonia Exley, OLD 2.65
Course content: The course considers education policy, reforms and financing across developed countries. It uses concepts and tools from a range of academic disciplines - economics, politics, social policy, philosophy and sociology - to scrutinise education, with a particular focus on equity, social justice and the redistribution of resources.
Issues to be addressed include: the aims of education; the impact of social characteristics on educational outcomes (e.g. class, 'race' and gender) and related policy reforms; accountability and market-oriented reforms in education; privatisation and the changing role of the state; power and the politics of educational policy making; global policy transfer in education and the global distribution of educational resources; early years education; school-based education; and tertiary education.
Teaching: 10 lectures and 10 seminars during LT. Three seminars in ST.
Formative coursework: Students will be expected to give at least one seminar presentation and to submit one formative essay of no more than 2,000 words.
Assessment: One written assignment of no more than 2,000 words (25%) to be submitted during the first week of the ST. A two-hour written examination in the ST (75%).

SA4C1  Half Unit
Long Essay and the Research Process
This information is for the 2012/13 session.
Teacher responsible: Professor Eileen Munro, OLD 2.46
Availability: For all MSc Social Policy programmes involving a dissertation or long essay. Exemptions at the discretion of the course tutor. Lecture notes will be available electronically via Social Policy public folders (for part-time students).
Course content: The course aims to provide an understanding of issues associated with the research process in the context of MSc Social Policy long essays. It includes an examination of philosophical issues underpinning research methods in social policy, the place of different research methods (qualitative and quantitative) in social policy and the process of writing a long essay.
Teaching: Two lectures in MT, three lectures in LT.
Assessment: Non-examinable. It is expected that the student’s dissertation will be informed by the course and appropriate discussion of methodological issues will be incorporated in all dissertations.

SA4C2  Half Unit
Basic Education for Social Development
This information is for the 2012/13 session.
Teacher responsible: Professor A Hall, OLD 2.28
Availability: Optional course for MSc Social Policy and Development, MSc Social Policy and Development: Non-Governmental Organisations, MSc Development Management, MSc Development Studies, MSc Social Policy (Research) and MSc Health, Community and Development. Students in other Master’s degrees may also take this paper by agreement with their supervisors and the class teacher and as permitted by the regulations. Work experience in a developing country is highly desirable but not essential.
Course content: The course is designed to examine the role of basic education in developing countries as it relates to social development and social policy. Content of the course includes: the history of education and current problems in developing countries, links between basic education and socio-economic development, primary schooling, decentralization policies, non-formal and vocational education, adult literacy, popular education for grassroots development, environmental education, ICT, and foreign aid in supporting basic education.
Teaching: 10 lectures and 10 seminars in LT.
Formative coursework: In addition to seminar presentations and the assessed essay, students may be required to write unassessed (formative) essays for the course.
Assessment: One 2,500-word essay to be handed in during the first week of ST (25%). Students are required to choose a topic of their own interest. In addition, there is a a two-hour examination paper in June (75%).
SA4C3  Half Unit  Statistical Methods in Health Care Economic Evaluation
This information is for the 2012/13 session.
Teachers responsible: Dr M Raikou, OLD 2.24.
Availability: For MSc Health Policy, Planning and Financing; MSc Health, Population and Society; MSc International Health Policy; MSc International Health Policy (Health Economics) and other Master's students where programme regulations permit. There is no pre-requisite, although it is envisaged to be complementary to SA4A4.
Course content: This course develops the statistical and modelling techniques necessary to apply economic evaluation to the health care sector. Introduction to statistical methods, linear regression analysis, logistic regression analysis, survival analysis for health outcomes, survival analysis for treatment costs, economic evaluation and clinical trials. Estimation of confidence intervals for cost-effectiveness ratios. Transformation of ratios - net benefit approach. Missing data, parametric and non-parametric approaches. Presentation of analysis, acceptability curves.
Teaching: 10 lectures (two-hour) and 10 seminars (one-and-a-half hours), LT.
Assessment: A 2,500 word essay to be handed in on the first day of the ST, (25%). A two-hour written examination in the ST, (75%). This is the same course as SA4A4 Statistical Methods in Health Care Economic Evaluation (modular) but it has different teaching and assessment arrangements.

SA4C4  Half Unit  Cost-Effectiveness Analysis in Health Care
This information is for the 2012/13 session.
Teacher responsible: Dr Caroline Rudisill, COW 3.05
Availability: For MSc Health Policy, Planning and Financing; MSc Health, Population and Society; MSc International Health Policy; MSc International Health Policy (Health Economics) and other Master's students where programme regulations permit.
Teaching: 10 lectures and nine computer-based seminars, including practical workshops in the LT.
Assessment: Assessment is through a project that students will undertake in small groups and write up individually (2,000 word paper), to be submitted at the end of the course.

SA4C6  Half Unit  International Housing and Human Settlements
This information is for the 2012/13 session.
Teachers responsible: Professor A Power, OLD M2.21 and Dr B Li, OLD 2.45
Availability: For MSc Social Policy and Development, MSc Social Policy and Development: Non-Governmental Organisations, MSc Social Policy (Research), MSc Social Policy (Social Policy and Planning), MSc Social Policy (European and Comparative Social Policy) and MSc City Design and Social Science. Available to other students where regulations permit.
Course content: This course is an introduction to topical issues in housing and human settlements in the context in both developed and developing countries. It is divided into four parts: urban changes, structures of housing provision, new actors in housing and settlement, and the future of housing. The course will be taught in twelve lectures starting in LT and ending in ST. The main headings of the lectures are: urban changes and their impact on housing needs and demand; contrasting patterns of housing development; owner occupation, renting and self-help; government intervention; finance, planning and renewal; enabling role of governments and the role of partnership; international agencies and aid; bottom-up methods and community led solutions; social exclusion and urban growth; basic services and public infrastructure, participation and women's role in low income human settlements; the role of Non-Government Organisations; environment of cities; urban and housing design: theories and practice of urban settlements.
Teaching: 10 lectures LT, 10 Seminars LT. There will be two lectures, two seminars and two revision sessions in the ST.
Formative coursework: Each student will do at least one case-based presentation and write two 1,000 word essays with four case studies.
Assessment: A two-hour written examination in ST (75%) and a 2,000 word assessed essay (25%).

SA4C8  Half Unit  Globalization and Social Policy
This information is for the 2012/13 session.
Teacher responsible: Dr. Hakan Seckinelgin, Room OLD M2.57
Availability: Optional for MSc China in Comparative Perspective, MSc Social Policy and Development, MSc Social Policy and Development: Non-Governmental Organisations, MSc Health, Community and Development, MSc Social Policy (Social Policy and Planning), MSc Social Policy (European and Comparative Social Policy), MSc Human Rights and, depending on the available space, open to students from other departments in the school.
Course content: What do the, the Catholic Church, Bill and Melissa Gates, UNICEF and the World Bank have in common? They are in one way or another involved in social policy that goes beyond the nation state. Policy could be seen as the exercise of political power and this political power has often been concentrated beyond the nation state. Policy process, intergovernmental organisations; bilateral and multilateral aid agencies and non-governmental organisations (NGOs), which influence the social policy environment in developing countries. The impact of the international policy environment on policy outcomes is examined. The same goes for religious groups, social movements and corporations that all play a role in global social policy and...
Examined in the ST (75%). A two-hour written Assessment:

SA4D1 Half Unit
Health and Population in Contemporary Developed Societies
This information is for the 2012/13 session.

Teacher responsible: Prof M Murphy, OLD M2.23
Availability: For MSc Health, Population and Society; MSc International Health Policy; MSc International Health Policy (Health Economics); MSc Social Research Methods and other Master’s students where programme regulations permit. There are no pre-requisites.
Course content: This course brings together the main issues in health, population and society in developed countries, including the role of social and biological factors in determining health and mortality. Course content includes the relationship between health and societal changes: family changes and their implications for population health; social support and health, health of older people and coping with ageing in the 21st century. Prospects for health and mortality in decades to come. Definition and use of measurements of health; self-reported, ‘objective’ measures and health service use indicators. Trends in inequalities in health and the explanations for these. Key issues in public health in developed countries especially in the light of expected demographic changes. Policy responses to health, population and societal changes.
Teaching: 10 weekly lectures and 10 weekly seminars, MT.
Assessment: A 2,000-word essay to be submitted in the first week of the LT (25%) and a two-hour written examination in the ST (75%).

SA4D2 Half Unit
Health and Population in Developing and Transitional Societies
This information is for the 2012/13 session.

Teacher responsible: Dr A Gjoanca, OLD M2.25
Availability: For MSc Health, Population and Society, MSc China in Comparative Perspective, MSc International Health Policy, MSc Health, Community and Development, MSc International Health Policy (Health Economics), MSc Population and Development, MSc Social Policy and Development. Non-Governmental Organisations, MSc Social Policy and Development, MSc Social Research Methods and other Master’s students where programme regulations permit. There are no pre-requisites.
Course content: This course brings together the main issues in health, population and society in developing and transitional societies. The course is unique as it brings together the issues and measurements of health and population. Determinants of health, health consequences of HIV/AIDS epidemics, poverty and health, as well as policy responses to health and population changes are some of the issues dealt with in detail in this course.
Some of the main topics covered are: The major threats to health and mortality in developing countries and the double burden of disease. Poverty and inequalities in health in developing countries. Reducing poverty: programmes and strategies, what do we know? Health consequences of HIV/AIDS epidemics in developing and transitional societies. Ageing in developing societies ‘is it a matter for concern’? Urbanisation and inequalities in health in developing countries. Child and maternal mortality in developing countries. Health and mortality crises in Eastern Europe and the Central Asian Republics. The emerging threats of health and mortality in transitional economics. Achieving ‘good health at low cost’ in developing countries. Main priorities for health improvements in developing countries. It also covers basic techniques and measurement of health, mortality and morbidity.
Teaching: 10 weekly lectures and 10 weekly seminars, LT.
Indicative reading: A detailed reading list will be provided at the beginning of the course.
Assessment: A 2,000-word essay (25%) and a two-hour written examination in the ST (75%).
SA4D3  Half Unit
Valuing Health
This information is for the 2012/13 session.
Teacher responsible: Dr A Oliver, COW 3.06
Availability: For MSc International Health Policy; MSc International Health Policy (Health Economics); MSc Health, Population and Society; MSc Health Policy, Planning and Financing and other Master's students where programme regulations permit. The course is of great value to those wishing to work as health economists after graduation, be that in academia, industry, government or health care management and practice. It is recommended that the course be taken alongside other health economics-related course options.
Course content: This course offers a thorough understanding of how we might value health for use in health economic evaluation. The major value elicitation methods, and the assumptions that underlie these methods, are critically assessed. Moreover, possible alternatives to the standard ways in which health is valued and distributed in economic evaluation are considered.
Teaching: 10 lectures (one-half hour) and 8 seminars (one-and-a-half hours), MT.
Indicative reading: The following are background readings for the course:
Assessment: An assessed essay of 2,500 words (25%) and a two-hour written examination in the ST (75%)

SA4D4  Half Unit
Measuring Health System Performance
This information is for the 2012/13 session.
Teachers responsible: Dr Irene Papanicolas, COW G.04, Professor E Mossialos, COW 4.08.
Availability: For MSc International Health Policy, MSc Health Policy, Planning and Financing, MSc Health, Population and Society, MSc Social Policy (European and Comparative Social Policy) and MSc Social Policy (Social Policy and Planning).
Course content: This course aims to present a framework to discuss the opportunities and challenges with performance measurement in health care, examine the various dimensions and levels of health system performance, identify the measurement instruments and analytic tools needed, and examine the implications of these issues for policy makers and regulators. Lectures generally focus on measuring health system performance in high-income countries but draw on the experience of other countries where relevant.
After taking this course students are expected to:
Teaching: 10 lectures and 9 seminars in the LT. Revision session in the ST.
Assessment: A two-hour examination in the ST (100%). This is the same course as SA4G6 Measuring Health System Performance (modular) but it has different teaching and assessment arrangements.

SA4D5  Half Unit
Social Rights and Human Welfare
This information is for the 2012/13 session.
Teacher responsible: Professor H Dean, OLD 2.30
Availability: This is an optional course for MSc Human Rights, MSc Social Policy (Research), MSc Social Policy (Social Policy and Planning), MSc Social Policy (European and Comparative Social Policy), MSc Social Policy and Development, MSc Social Policy and Development: Non-Governmental Organisations and other MSc programmes where regulations permit.
Course content: The course will examine the basis of social or welfare rights as a component of human rights. It will situate social/welfare rights in an historical and comparative context and explore a range of debates concerning the relevance and effectiveness of a rights based approach to poverty alleviation and social welfare provision, both in the developed and the developing world. It will address the practical limitations of and the constraints upon social/welfare rights. Specifically, it will address: concepts of social rights and welfare citizenship; human needs and human rights; social/welfare rights in global context; critiques of social/welfare rights as human rights; the scope and substance of social/welfare rights; social/welfare rights and mechanisms of redress; rights based approaches to poverty alleviation; social development and social/welfare rights; constitutional instruments and social/welfare rights; human rights and the ethics of welfare.
Teaching: 10 lectures and 10 seminars in LT and one revision seminar in ST.
Assessment: An essay of 1,500 words (25%) and a two-hour written examination in ST (75%).

SA4D6  Half Unit
Health Systems and Policies in Developing Countries
This information is for the 2012/13 session.
Teacher responsible: Dr M Bhatia, OLD 2.34
Availability: For MSc International Health Policy, MSc International Health Policy (Health Economics), MSc Health Policy, Planning and Financing, MSc Health, Population and Society, MSc Health, Community and Development, MSc Population and Development and other Master's students by agreement, and as permitted by regulation.
Course content: The course focuses on health system reforms. It aims to identify key health systems and policy issues in developing country context and understand why health sector reforms have become an important issue in the developing countries. It will examine the assumptions upon which health system reforms are based and the evidence to support these assumptions. After an introductory lecture on the history of the development of health systems and policies of the member nations of the World Health Organisation, the content of the course is divided into three components. These are financing health care, delivery of health care and stewardship. Because Primary Health Care is once again at the centre of the World Health Report (2003), these sections will focus on equity, participation and intersectoral collaboration. With respect to financing, the emphasis will be on options for financing health care in developing countries, examining the potential role of user charges, social health insurance and community financing schemes. Delivery will focus on social franchising, decentralisation and the SA4E2 Half Unit Resource Allocation and Cost-effectiveness Analysis (modular)

This information is for the 2012/13 session.

Teachers responsible: Dr C Rudisill, COW 3.05. In addition, Professor M Drummond (Professor of Health Economics, University of York) will be teaching on the course.

Availability: Compulsory on MSc Health Economics, Policy and Management (modular).

Course content: The aim is to give an overview of the theory underlying economic evaluation as applied to the health care sector; to consider the different forms of economic evaluation; to give an understanding of the techniques associated with economic evaluation as applied to health care; to give an understanding of the interpretation of the results gained from economic evaluation.

The course will cover the following topics: Conceptual rationales for economic evaluation in the health care sector (Pareto efficiency, Social Welfare, extra-welfarism and decision-making); Introduction to the methods of economic evaluation: cost-effectiveness analysis, cost-utility analysis, and Cost-benefit analysis; Cost data; Incremental cost-effectiveness analysis; Quality Adjusted Life Years gained and other outcome measures; Discounting; Uncertainty and sensitivity analysis; Economic evaluation and clinical trials; Policy decision-making using economic evaluation.

The course focuses on teaching students the tools necessary to undertake economic evaluation using computer-based seminar classes.

Teaching: 10 hours of lectures and 10 hours of seminars, including computer-based practical workshops.

Students will be given access to essential readings before the course begins through the pre-sessional reading programme on Moodle, which they will be expected to read prior to the first day of class.

Assessment: An assessed essay of 3,000 words (40%) and a two-hour written examination (60%).

SA4E3 Half Unit Dissertation in Health Economics, Policy and Management

This information is for the 2012/13 session.

Teachers responsible: Professor A McGuire, COW J405, Professor E Mossialos, COW J413 and Dr C Rudisill, COW J305.

Availability: Compulsory for those enrolled on the modular MSc in Health Economics, Policy and Management (modular).

Course content: The aim of the dissertation is for students to pursue an independent piece of research within the fields of health economics, policy and management.

The dissertation is a quantitative or qualitative investigation in the field. It may be either a theoretical or empirical piece of research. Students must obtain the approval of their supervisor before embarking on any research.

Assessment: The paper copies must be handed in to the Department on a specified date in September of the second year of the MSc programme. An electronic version of the dissertation must be submitted. Penalties will be applied to any late submission. The world limit for the dissertation is 10,000 words (including references).
SA4E6 Half Unit  Not available in 2012/13
Rural Development and Social Policy
This information is for the 2012/13 session.
Teacher responsible: Professor D Lewis, OLD 2.25
Availability: Optional course for MSc Social Policy (Research), MSc Social Policy and Development, MSc Social Policy and Development: Non-Governmental Organisations, MSc Development Studies, MSc Environmental Economics and Climate Change, and MSc International Development and Humanitarian Emergencies. Students on other Master’s programmes may also take this course by agreement with their supervisors and the class teacher and as permitted by the regulations.
Pre-requisites: Knowledge of rural areas and relevant work experience is desirable but not essential.
Course content: Theories of rural development, history of rural development policy, changing rural livelihoods, land and agrarian reform, agricultural research and extension, the roles of private and non-governmental actors, natural resource management, food security, climate change and rural-urban linkages.
Teaching: 10 lectures and 10 seminars, MT. Students are required to participate present papers for seminar discussion based on their reading and practical experience.
Formative coursework: During the year, students will receive feedback on a seminar presentation and an unassessed 1500 word essay.
Assessment: Students are required to write an assessed essay of 2,500 words (25%). A two-hour written examination in the ST (75%).

SA4E9 Half Unit
Advanced Health Economics
This information is for the 2012/13 session.
Teacher responsible: Professor A McGuire COW 4.05
Availability: For those enrolled on MSc International Health Policy, MSc International Health Policy (Health Economics) and MSc Health Policy, Planning and Financing. Also available as an outside option.
Course content: The course will cover: international comparisons of health care expenditure, health care insurance, contract theory applied to the health care sector (including principal-agent theory and incentive payment mechanisms), equity in health care, health behaviour and an introduction to econometric analysis applied to health care data.
Teaching: 20 hours of lectures and 20 hours of seminars (LT).
Assessment: An assessed essay of 2,500 words (25%) and a two-hour written examination (75%).

SA4F1 Half Unit
Migration: Population Trends and Policies
This information is for the 2012/13 session.
Teachers responsible: Dr Ernestina Coast OLD M2.24
Availability: For MSc Population and Development, MSc Health, Population and Society, MSc Development Studies, MSc Development Management, MSc Gender, Policy and Inequalities, MSc Gender, Development and Globalisation and MSc International Migration and Public Policy. Available as an outside option for other MSc students where regulations permit.
Pre-requisites: Students should have basic numeracy, but the course does not require advanced mathematical knowledge. It assumes no previous knowledge of the subject.
Course content: The course deals with the inter-relationships between migration and its economic and social context. The causes of migration and its consequences are examined at national and international levels together with their policy implications. The approach of the course is comparative, both across time and between more developed and less developed societies. A wide range of topics is covered, including: sources and types of demographic data; techniques for the measurement of migration; historic migration flows; macro- and microeconomic theories of migration; forced migration and migrants; demographic consequences of migration; and, international and national migration policies.
Teaching: 10 lectures and 10 seminars, LT
Formative coursework: Students are expected to participate actively in seminars and to produce an essay (circa 1,500 words).
Indicative reading: The course is supported by a VLE containing electronic reading lists. Key overview texts include: The migration reader : exploring politics and policies, 2006 (Anthony & Lahav); Global migration and the world economy (Hatton & Williamson); The age of migration (Castles & Miller); European migration policies in flux (Boswell); Migration theory : talking across disciplines (Brettell & Hollifield); Worlds in motion : understanding international migration at the end of the millennium (Massey); Dialogues on migration policy (Giugni & Passy); The dynamics of international migration and settlement in Europe : a state of the art ( Penninx); Forced migration and global processes (Crépeau); Migration and development : opportunities and challenges for policymakers (Farrant); Migration, immigration and social policy (Jones-Finer); Rural-urban migration in developing countries (Lall).
Assessment: 75% A two-hour written examination (ST); 25% Coursework assignment (max. 5 x A4 pages) due in Thursday, Week 1, ST.

SA4F2 Half Unit
Principles of Evidence-Based Medicine and Clinical Trials (modular)
This information is for the 2012/13 session.
Teacher responsible: Dr C Rudisill, COW 3.05.
In addition, Professor Allan Hackshaw (Deputy Director, Cancer Research UK and UCL Cancer Trials Centre, UCL) will be teaching on this course.
Availability: Optional on MSc Health Economics, Policy and Management (modular) only.
Course content: Health claims are frequently reported in the media, and it can be difficult to determine which is based on reliable evidence and which is not. With a large amount of research being conducted, it is essential to be able to interpret study results and conclusions correctly, in order to change clinical practice or develop public health policy. This is achieved by Evidence-Based Medicine. The module will enable students to evaluate risk factors for disease or early death, and methods of disease prevention, detection, or treatment. The module will provide students with practical skills in the following key areas:
Teaching: 5 x two hour lectures and 5 x two hour interactive seminars/workshops.
Formative coursework: In-class group exercises using the framework required for completing the coursework assignment. Students will receive feedback on it from their seminar leader after completion.

SA4F3 Half Unit
Rural Development and Social Policy
This information is for the 2012/13 session.
Teacher responsible: Professor D Lewis, OLD 2.25
Availability: Optional course for MSc Social Policy (Research), MSc Social Policy and Development, MSc Social Policy and Development: Non-Governmental Organisations, MSc Development Studies, MSc Environmental Economics and Climate Change, and MSc International Development and Humanitarian Emergencies. Students on other Master’s programmes may also take this course by agreement with their supervisors and the class teacher and as permitted by the regulations.
Pre-requisites: Knowledge of rural areas and relevant work experience is desirable but not essential.
Course content: Theories of rural development, history of rural development policy, changing rural livelihoods, land and agrarian reform, agricultural research and extension, the roles of private and non-governmental actors, natural resource management, food security, climate change and rural-urban linkages.
Teaching: 10 lectures and 10 seminars, MT. Students are required to participate present papers for seminar discussion based on their reading and practical experience.
Formative coursework: During the year, students will receive feedback on a seminar presentation and an unassessed 1500 word essay.
Assessment: Students are required to write an assessed essay of 2,500 words (25%). A two-hour written examination in the ST (75%).
SA4F3  Half Unit  US Health Policies
This information is for the 2012/13 session.
Teacher responsible: Dr A Oliver, COW 3.06
Availability: For MSc International Health Policy; MSc International Health Policy (Health Economics); MSc Health, Population and Society. The course is also available as an outside option where programme regulations permit and to general course students. The course is of great value to those wishing to work as health policy analysts after graduation, be that in academia, industry, government or health care management and practice.
Course content: The course offers a thorough understanding of the major issues in the United States health care policy debate. The historical development of the system, the predominant private sector health insurance, the public coverage of ‘entitled’ groups, the problems of uninsurance, and policies aimed at improving the efficiency and equity of the system will be considered.
Teaching: 10 lectures (one-hour) and ten seminars (one-and-a-half hours), LT, and a one hour revision session in the Summer Term.
Formative coursework: Students will be given a progress test at the end of LT, this will be a 60 minute test in which they answer one essay question from a choice of three.
Assessment: An assessed essay of 2,500 words (25%) and a two-hour written examination in the ST (75%).

SA4F8  Half Unit  Behavioural Public Policy
This information is for the 2012/13 session.
Teacher responsible: Professor J Le Grand, OLD 1.13
Availability: Optional on MSc Social Policy (Social Policy and Planning), MSc International Health Policy (Health Economics), MSc Social Policy (Research), MSc Social Policy and Development, MSc Social Policy and Development: Non-Governmental Organisations, MSc Social Policy (European and Comparative Social Policy), MSc Social Policy and Development, MSc Social Policy, MSc Environmental Economics and Climate Change, MPA Public and Economic Policy/MPA European Public and Economic Policy/MPA International Development/MPA Public Policy and Management/MPA Public and Social Policy, MSc Philosophy and Public Policy, MSc Public Management and Governance, MSc Public Policy and Administration, MSc Regulation, MSc Political Science and Political Economy. The course is also available as an outside option where regulations permit.
Course content: The aim of the course is to explore ways of changing behaviour to achieve the aims of public policy. One half of the course will be concerned with the behaviour of professionals who work in public services. How can doctors, teachers and social workers be motivated to provide the best possible care for their patients, pupils or clients? Should we rely upon professionalism and the public service ethos? Should we set up targets and league tables for performance, penalising those who fail to achieve the target or who drop down the table? Or should we rely upon professionalism and the public service ethos? Should we set up targets and league tables for performance, penalising those who fail to achieve the target or who drop down the table? Or should we rely upon professional standards or health care management and practice.
Course content: The course offers a thorough understanding of the major issues in the United States health care policy debate. The historical development of the system, the predominant private sector health insurance, the public coverage of ‘entitled’ groups, the problems of uninsurance, and policies aimed at improving the efficiency and equity of the system will be considered.
Teaching: 10 lectures (one-hour) and ten seminars (one-and-a-half hours), LT, and a one hour revision session in the Summer Term.
Formative coursework: Students will be given a progress test at the end of LT, this will be a 60 minute test in which they answer one essay question from a choice of three.
Assessment: An assessed essay of 2,500 words (25%) and a two-hour written examination in the ST (75%).

SA4F7  Half Unit  Not available in 2012/13  The Economics of European Social Policy
This information is for the 2012/13 session.
Teacher responsible: Dr Joan Costa Font, COW 316
Availability: Optional for MSc Political Economy of Europe, MSc Politics and Government in the European Union, MSc European Studies: Ideas and Identities, MSc European Studies (Research), MSc Social Policy (Research and Comparative Social Policy), MSc Social Policy and Development, MSc Social Policy and Development: Non-Governmental Organisations, MSc Social Policy (Social Policy and Planning), MSc Social Policy (Research), MSc Public Management and Governance, MSc Political Science and Political Economy, MPA Programme (all streams) and LSE-Sciences Po Double Degree in European Studies.
This is a capped course. Students are required to register for this course on LSE for You and obtain permission from the European Institute to take this course. Pre-requisites: Introductory economics is helpful.
Course content: This course attempts to apply economics to examine and evaluate social policies and problems in Europe. The course addresses the main goals for social intervention including poverty relief, inequality, efficiency and accountability. Students will acquire an understanding of the economic theory underpinning the analysis of social policy in the areas of health, education, long-term care, pension, housing, employment, family and housing policy.
The course will provide an analysis of social and public insurance underpinning the financing of welfare states. Students will be asked to apply the economic principles to examples of cross-country reform in Europe. The course will address key questions on social policy intervention, inequality, poverty, tax financing, insurance, longevity risks and pensions, long term care insurance, financing housing, family policy and wealth accumulation.
Teaching: 10 x 1 hour lectures and 10 x 1 hour revision lecture (ST).
Formative coursework: Two 2,000 word essays.
Assessment: One two-hour examination in the ST (100%).
SA4G1 Half Unit
Financing Health Care (modular)
This information is for the 2012/13 session.
Teachers responsible: Dr S Thomson, COW 301.
Availability: Compulsory on MSc Health Economics, Policy and Management.
Course content: This course aims to give students a thorough grounding in health financing policy. It focuses on the health financing functions of collecting revenue, pooling funds and purchasing services, as well as on policy choices concerning coverage, resource allocation and market structure. The course mainly draws on examples from health financing policy in European countries, but the general principles studied apply internationally. By the end of the course students will have.
Teaching: 4 lectures (2 hours), 2 lectures (1.5 hours), 3 seminars (2 hours), 2 seminars (1.5 hours).
Formative coursework: Students will be given an essay question which they must answer and submit for feedback from their seminar leader.
Students will be given access to essential readings before the course begins through the pre-sessional reading programme on Moodle. They will be expected to read these prior to the first day of class.
Assessment: A two-hour written exam (100%).
This is the same course as SA407 Financing Health Care (H) but it has different teaching arrangements.

SA4G2 Half Unit
Health Economics (modular)
This information is for the 2012/13 session.
Availability: Compulsory on MSc Health Economics, Policy and Management (modular) only.
Teaching: 5 lectures (2 hours) and 5 seminars (2 hours).
Formative coursework: Practice exam given to the students during the final seminar. Students will receive feedback on it from their seminar leader after completion.
Students will be given access to essential readings before the course begins through the pre-sessional reading programme on Moodle, which they will be expected to read prior to the first day of class.
Assessment: One 2500 word essay (40%) and one two-hour exam (60%). This is the same course as SA408 Health Economics (H) but it has different teaching and assessment arrangements.

SA4G3 Half Unit
Pharmaceutical Economics and Policy (modular)
This information is for the 2012/13 session.
Teachers responsible: Dr P Kanavos, COW 3.08
Availability: Optional on MSc Health Economics, Policy and Management (modular) only.
Course content: The aim of this course is to introduce students to the economics of pharmaceutical markets and related policies that affect national and international markets broadly.
Teaching: 2 lectures (2 hours), 4 lectures (1.5 hours) and 5 seminars (2 hours).
Formative coursework: In-class exercise during seminar time. Students will receive feedback on it from their seminar leader after completion.
Students will be given access to essential readings before the course begins through the pre-sessional reading programme on Moodle, which they will be expected to read prior to the first day of class. Assessment: An assessed essay of 3,000 words (40%) and a two-hour written examination (60%). This is the same course as SA427 Pharmaceutical Economics and Policy (H) but it has different teaching and assessment arrangements.

SA4G4 Half Unit
Statistical Methods in Health Care Economic Evaluation (modular)
This information is for the 2012/13 session.
Teachers responsible: Dr M Raikou, OLD 2.24.
Availability: Optional on MSc Health Economics, Policy and Management (modular) only.
Course content: This course develops the statistical and modelling techniques necessary to apply economic evaluation to the health care sector. Introduction to statistical methods, linear regression analysis, logistic regression analysis, survival analysis for health outcomes, survival analysis for treatment costs, economic evaluation and clinical trials. Estimation of confidence intervals for cost-effectiveness ratios. Transformation of ratios - net benefit approach. Missing data, parametric and non-parametric approaches. Presentation of analysis, acceptability curves.
Teaching: 2 lectures (2 hours), 4 lectures (1.5 hours) and 5 seminars (2 hours).
Formative coursework: In-class exercise during seminar time. Students will receive feedback on it from their seminar leader after completion.
Students will be given access to essential readings before the course begins through the pre-sessional reading programme on Moodle, which they will be expected to read prior to the first day of class. Assessment: A 3,000 word essay (40%) and a two-hour written examination (60%). This is the same course as SA4G3 Statistical Methods in Health Care Economic Evaluation (H) but it has different teaching and assessment arrangements.

SA4G5 Half Unit
Valuing Health and Welfare (modular)
This information is for the 2012/13 session.
Teachers responsible: Professor P Dolan, OLD 2.38
Availability: Optional on MSc Health Economics, Policy and Management (modular) only.
Course content: This course offers an understanding of how to measure health outcomes for policy purposes. We will focus on the ‘effectiveness’ side of cost-effectiveness analysis. We will consider the ways in which economists outside of health value benefits (using revealed and stated preferences) and then focus on how health economists have developed methods specifically designed to value health status. We shall pay particular attention to the measurement and valuation of quality-adjusted life years (QALYs), which are being used by agencies such as the UK’s National Institute for Health and Clinical Excellence (NICE). We will discuss some of the problems with the current methods of calculating QALYs, and consider whether ‘happiness’ measures might provide a better alternative. The course will conclude with a consideration of issues relating to equity and fairness and how we account for preferences that policymakers and the public have regarding ‘who gets what’. Teaching: 2 lectures (2 hours), 4 lectures (1.5 hours) and 5 seminars (2 hours)
Formative coursework: In-class exercise during seminar time. Students will receive feedback on it from their seminar leader after completion.
Students will be given access to essential readings before the course begins through the pre-sessional reading programme on Moodle, which they will be expected to read prior to the first day of class. Assessment: An assessed essay of 2,000 words (30%) and a two-hour written examination (70%).

SA4G6 Half Unit
Measuring Health System Performance (modular)
This information is for the 2012/13 session.
Teachers responsible: Dr I Papanicolas, COW G.04
Availability: Optional on MSc Health Economics, Policy and Management (modular) only.
Course content: This course aims to present a framework to discuss the opportunities and challenges with performance measurement in health care, examine the various dimensions and levels of health system performance, identify the measurement instruments and analytic tools needed, and examine the implications of these issues for policy makers and regulators. Lectures generally focus on measuring health system performance in high-income countries but draw on the experience of other countries where relevant.

After taking this course students are expected to:

Teaching: 2 lectures (2 hours), 4 lectures (1.5 hours) and 5 seminars (2 hours).

Formative coursework: In-class exercise during seminar time. Students will receive feedback on it from their seminar leader after completion.

Students will be given access to essential readings before the course begins through the pre-sessional reading programme on Moodle, which they will be expected to read prior to the first day of class.

Assessment: One 3,000 word assessed essay (40%) and a two-hour examination (60%).

This is the same course as SA4D4 Health Systems and Policies (H) but it has different teaching and assessment arrangements.

SA4G8 Half Unit The Third Sector

This information is for the 2012/13 session.

Teacher responsible: Dr Isabel Shutes and Dr Markus Ketola.

Availability: MSc Criminal Justice Policy, MSc Social Policy and Planning, MSc Social Policy (Research), MSc Social Policy (Social Policy and Planning) and MSc Social Policy (European and Comparative Social Policy). The course is also available as an outside option where regulations permit.

Course content: The ‘third sector’ is conceived as including all non-state and non-market organisations - such as non-governmental organisations, voluntary organisations, and community groups - and their activities. The course provides a concise introduction to theory and evidence on the nature, past and present roles and potential capacity of third sector organisations in social policy in developed countries. It aims to answer the key questions: what is the ‘third sector’; what roles does it or should it play in meeting welfare needs; what are the limits to the roles of third sector organisations? Are the answers affected by country, institutions, policy, period, areas of activity? The course covers theoretical arguments and models of the ideal and actual roles of third sector organisations, and the historical development of the sector. It assesses boundaries and relationships between the third sector and both state and market, and its relationship with the ‘community’ or the public. It describes and explains the size and the role the sector takes in different periods, countries and areas of activity, and evaluates its impact. The course draws on examples from a range of areas of activity (such as education, employment, social care), and areas of activity with particular groups (such as migrants and refugees, children and older people), as well as a range of countries (including the UK, other European countries, the USA and some middle income countries).

Teaching: 10 hours of lectures and 15 hours of seminars in LT. One lecture and one seminar in the ST.

Formative coursework: Students will be expected to participate actively in seminars and to complete one piece of written formative coursework

Assessment: One assessed essay of 3,000 words (40%) and a two-hour exam (60%).
SA4G9
Dissertation for MSc Health Policy, Planning and Financing
This information is for the 2012/13 session.
Teachers responsible: Currently Dr P Kanavos (LSE) and Dr N Spicer (LSHTM) as Programme Directors though the Programme Directorship sometimes varies from year to year.
Availability: Compulsory for MSc Health Policy, Planning and Financing.
Course content: The aim of the course is to provide a foundation to students on dissertation-writing as well as to address queries students may have in relation to their dissertation topic, the methodology used, the likelihood of ethical approval, and data acquisition, among others.
The dissertation could be on any topic in the field of health policy, planning and/or financing. The main body of the dissertation should include the background to the research, method of investigation, results of the analysis, discussion and policy implications and recommendations.
Teaching: Teaching comprises two 2-hour seminars, one in the LT and one in the ST.
Students would find it of interest to attend the lectures of SA4C1 on SA4C1 Long Essay and the Research Process - 2 hours in the MT and 3 hours in the LT.
Finally, there is individual supervision for students on the dissertation.
Formative coursework: Students will be required to write a summary of the proposed dissertation, outlining the title, background to the topic, methods to be employed, and likely expected results. A list of literature sources will be appended to this summary.
Assessment: 10,000 word dissertation, due on September 1st.

SA4H
London School of Hygiene- Units
This information is for the 2012/13 session.
Availability: Restricted to MSc Health Policy, Planning and Financing, MSc International Health Policy and MSc International Health Policy (Health Economics) students. Students taking Linear Modules at the London School of Hygiene and Tropical Medicine (LSHTM) are required to sit for this examination. Students taking just one linear module will be assessed by a one-and-a-half hour written examination in the ST. Students taking two linear modules will be assessed by a three-hour written examination in the ST. A maximum of two LSHTM linear modules may be taken subject to academic approval.
London School of Hygiene Study Modules (LT and ST)
For a detailed list of modules available and codes students are advised to refer to their MSc handbook.
Availability: Restricted to MSc Health Policy, Planning and Financing, MSc International Health Policy and MSc International Health Policy (Health Economics) students. Students can take a maximum of four independent study modules at the London School of Hygiene and Tropical Medicine subject to academic approval. These are mostly assessed by assignments and there are usually no examinations.
* Basic Epidemiology is not available to MSc International Health Policy and MSc International Health Policy (Health Economics) students.

SA4H7
Half Unit
Urbanisation and Social Policy in the Global South
This information is for the 2012/13 session.
Teacher responsible: Dr S Kumar, OLD 2.33
Availability: For postgraduate students with an interest in urban social policy in developing countries. Available on MSc Development Management, MSc Development Studies, MSc Social Policy and Development, MSc Social Policy and Development: Non-Governmental Organisations, MSc Social Policy (Research) and MSc Population and Development: Some knowledge and experience of urban issues is desirable.
Teaching: Lectures; 11 x 2-hours. Seminars: 10 x 1.5 hours (MT).
Assessment: A 3,000-word essay (excluding references) to be submitted early in the LT (40%). A two-hour written examination paper in the ST (60%).

SA4H9
Half Unit
Non-Governmental Organisations, Social Policy and Development
This information is for the 2012/13 session.
Teachers responsible: Dr A Hall, OLD 2.28, Dr S Kumar, OLD 2.33, Professor D Lewis, OLD 2.25, Dr H Seckinelgin, OLD 2.57 and Dr A Ishkanian OLD 2.42.
Availability: Compulsory for MSc Social Policy and Development: Non-Governmental Organisations. Optional for MSc Social Policy and Development, MSc Human Rights, MSc China in Comparative Perspective, MSc Development Management, MSc Development Studies, MSc Global Politics, MSc Social Policy (Research) and MPA Public and Economic Policy/MPA Public Policy and Management/ MPA International Development/MPA European Public and Economic Policy.
Pre-requisites: Students will preferably have some experience of work within NGOs and/or relevant government departments or donor agencies working with NGOs.
Teaching: 10 x 1.5 hour lectures and 10 x 1.5 hour seminars in LT. Two revision seminars in ST.
Course content: The course focuses on the specialised field of non-governmental organisations (NGOs) within the field of social policy and development, and considers theoretical and policy issues. Main topics include the history and theory of NGOs; the changing policy contexts in which NGOs operate; NGO service delivery and advocacy roles in policy; challenges of NGO accountability; NGO organisational growth and change; conceptual debates around civil society, social capital, social movements and globalisation; and NGO relationships with other institutional actors including government, donors and private sector.
Formative coursework: Students will produce and receive...
SA4J8 Half Unit

Social Policy and Development: Core Concepts

This information is for the 2012/13 session.

Teachers responsible: Dr A Hall, A279, Dr S Kumar, A224, Professor D Lewis, A281, Dr H Seckinelgin, A269 and Dr A Ishkanian A116.

Availability: This paper is compulsory on MSc Social Policy and Development and MSc Social Policy and Development: Non-Governmental Organisations. It is optional for MPA Public and Economic Policy/MPA Public Policy and Management/MPA International Development/MPA European Public and Economic Policy/MPA Public and Social Policy and MSc Social Policy (Research).

Pre-requisites: Students are expected to have a background in the social sciences and some practical work experience in developing countries.

Course content: The course is designed to give students a knowledge of core concepts within the theory and implementation of social policy in developing countries. Such an overview is essential for those focusing on mainstream social policy and development issues, and those choosing to specialise on non-governmental organisations. Main topics will include: Comparative social policy in north and south; social development and human development; conceptualizing the state, market and civil society as policy actors; citizenship and rights; comparative approaches to the understanding of poverty, wellbeing and exclusion; welfare regime theory; concepts of sustainable livelihoods; global institutions and the international aid system; conceptualizing the policy process.

Teaching: 10 x 1.5 hour lectures and 10 x 1.5 hour seminars during the MT. Two revision seminars in ST.

An unassessed study and research skills for social policy and development is also provided. This comprises five or six additional one hour sessions in MT. It includes an introduction to ‘Conceptualising the Research Process’, a self-learning web-based course, a review of research methods, use of evidence, ethics in research, basic study skills and dissertation guidance.

Formative coursework: All students will write and receive feedback on a formative essay (1500 words). Also, the student-led weekly seminars will require all students to make at least one joint seminar presentation on a question, a process designed to students plan an exam answer based on their reading.

Assessment: One 3,000 word essay (100%).

SA4J9 Half Unit

States, Social Policy and Development

This information is for the 2012/13 session.

Teachers responsible: Dr A Hall, A279, Dr S Kumar, A224, Professor D Lewis, A281, Dr H Seckinelgin, A269 and Dr A Ishkanian A116.

Course content: This paper is compulsory on MSc Social Policy and Development and optional for MSc Social Policy and Development: Non-Governmental Organisations. It is optional for MPA Public and Economic Policy/MPA Public Policy and Management/MPA International Development/MPA European Public and Economic Policy/MPA Public and Social Policy and MSc Social Policy (Research).

Pre-requisites: Students will normally be expected to have completed the Half Unit SA4J8 Social Policy and Development:

Core Concepts in the MT. Lectures and seminars draw on both conceptual literature and discussion of the practical challenges of social policy interventions and projects in the developing world. Students should provide themselves with background information on their own countries, or ones on which they intend to focus.

Students will be required to take part in a two day residential workshop on applied social planning at Cumberland Lodge in Windsor Great Park, during the Lent term. The cost is included in MSc SPD student fees. The cost of this three day workshop for students taking the course as an option is £200.

Course content: This course provides the analytical tools needed to understand and critically evaluate the key practical challenges of social development. It will apply concepts discussed earlier in the Social Policy and Development: Core Concepts Half Unit. A wide range of development contexts will be discussed using empirical research and case studies. Key themes include: linking social policy theory, implementation and practice; making social protection effective; managing sector reform processes; projects and programmes, including design and evaluation; participation and community development; gender analysis; the impact of corporate social responsibility and social enterprises on poverty reduction. Students will also be equipped with a working knowledge of the principles and tool of project design, through the project planning workshop, and will write an assessed ‘project essay’ that draws on topics from the course to present the case for a project that have designed.

Teaching: 15 hours of lectures and 15 hours of seminars in the Lent term. Students must complete a two-day residential workshop in the Lent Term.

Formative coursework: Following the project planning workshop, students will write and receive feedback on a 1500 word project proposal essay setting out a basic project idea.

SA4K3
MPA Capstone Project
This information is for the 2012/13 session.
Teacher responsible: Professor Stephen Jenkins plus others.
Availability: For second year MPA students.
Course content: Students will undertake a group project (in teams usually of 3 to 6 people) relating to a public policy problem faced by an external organisation. Typical clients include public sector bodies, companies operating in the public management or public policy sector, international organisations or think tanks and NGOs. The group will have from October to February to work on an issue defined by the client organisation, investigating and developing a workable solution to the problem.
Teaching: Each Capstone group will be allocated a supervisor, who will provide overall guidance on the project’s development and assistance with client liaison. Other members of staff may also advise as required.
Assessment: The project work is conducted in teams, and the assessment is based on a collective group mark for each component except in exceptional circumstances.
1) A presentation and submission of the project report to the client organisation. The presentation must take place by week 8 of the Lent term, on a date agreed with the client organisation. 20% of the marks are assigned by the client organisation after receipt of the presentation and project report.
2) A group project report of approximately 12-15,000 words (and no more than 20,000 words) to be submitted during the Lent Term. The report is read by academic markers and their assessment accounts for 60% of the final grade.
3) The final 20% of the marks are allocated by the Capstone supervisor on the basis of the group’s performance in terms of (i) the quality of the work, (ii) group working and self-management as a team.

SA4K4
MPA Dissertation
This information is for the 2012/13 session.
Teacher responsible: Professor Stephen Jenkins plus others.
Availability: For second year MPA students taking the MPA Public and Social Policy.
Course content: MPA students must write a dissertation (of no more than 10,000 words) on a topic of their choice to be agreed with their supervisor.
Teaching: Students will be allocated a supervisor, who will provide guidance on this piece of work. MPA Dissertation Workshops will be held to assist in the development of the dissertation.
Assessment: 1) The dissertation title, abstract, contents page and a 5 page synopsis/introduction will count for 10% of the overall dissertation mark. Students may only change their topic thereafter with the agreement of their supervisor. Students will be given feedback on their abstracts.
2) The full dissertation of no more than 10,000 words will account for the remaining 90% of the overall mark.

SA4K7
Health Care Negotiations (modular)
This information is for the 2012/13 session.
Teacher responsible: Dr Panos Kanavos.
The course will also involve outside lecturers and guest speakers to deliver teaching.
Availability: As optional course available only to students on MSc Health Economics, Policy and Management.
Prerequisites: SA4G1 Financing Health Care (modular).
Course content: Lectures will cover the following material: The dynamics of health care stakeholders and the shifting balance of power among them; Introduction to the concept of negotiations and principles of game theory (principles of game theory, definition and properties of a Nash equilibrium; static and dynamic games; games with complete and incomplete information); the dilemma of complex, discontinuous, multiparty health care negotiations; the peplulator pricing exercise; the seven elements: defining success in health care negotiations; management as negotiation: frameworks and tools for analysing decision processes; the seven elements: defining success in health care negotiations; value creation and allocation in health care systems; when the people are the problem (partisan perceptions exercise; the three perspectives; the ladder of inference; the elements of relationship management).
Seminars will be interactive drawn based on case studies from specific health care environments (e.g. hospitals, drug coverage decision; health technology assessment; conflict between management and clinical excellence), and use frameworks such as Choice Analysis (a currently unresolved negotiation in which another party has or is expected to reject a proposal), Complex Problem Solving (a currently unresolved and complex situation involving many parties and issues that the situation is unclear or confusing and our ability to influence the situation is in doubt), Rapport Management (one or more currently unresolved negotiations in which resolution of a troubled personal or corporate relationship with the key person(s) on the other side constitutes one of the major requirements or aspirations for agreement), Decision Rights Analysis (a live, unresolved task of persuasion involving one or more individuals negotiating in their capacity as employees of a large health care provider), and Value Creation (a complex, live, unresolved negotiation where lots of differing interests are implicated by the subject matter and the parties do not share the same interests or have the same priorities).
Teaching: The course will comprise 10 x 1-hour interactive lectures, 1 x 1-hour revision session and 5 x 2-hour interactive seminars, where students will discuss specific case studies.
Formative coursework: Students will be given a case study - reflecting a real-world situation - by the end of lecture 4 and will be asked to come up with a credible strategy/plan, which they will need to write up (2,000 words), submit and present during seminars.
5. Ury W., Getting past No, 1993.
7. Kelly W., We have met the enemy and he is us, 1995.
8. de Caillieres M., On the manner of negotiating with Princes: from sovereigns to CEOs, envoys to executives - classic principles of diplomacy and the art of negotiation, 2000.
Assessment: A two-hour essay-based examination, where students will be required to answer 2 questions in 2 hours (60%). Also a group project, where small groups will be allocated a case study to work on, but individual group members will be responsible for submitting their own 3,000 word project individually (40%).
SA4K8 Half Unit
Health Care Quality Management (modular)
This information is for the 2012/13 session.
Teacher responsible: Dr. C Rudisill, COW J305. This course will be led by Dr. Michael Holland, Consultant Psychiatrist, South London and Maudsley NHS Foundation Trust Rehabilitation and Associate at NHS Institute for Innovation and Improvement.
Availability: MSc Health Economics, Policy and Management (modular) only.
Course content: An introduction and overview of quality improvement methodology as used in healthcare settings internationally. The course will cover the following areas:
1) History of quality management: The course will start with an overview of key theories in quality management such as those described by Taylor, Shewhart, Deming and Juran. An overview and critical appraisal of quality assurance systems used in healthcare, such as ISO 9000, Magnet, Baldridge award and different types of healthcare regulation and their role in quality improvement. It will also include a discussion of patient-focused measures of quality such as patient-recorded outcome measures (PROMS).
2) A critical assessment of the mainstream schools of thought of quality as part of the production process - this will include a study of the relationship between supply chain procurement management and quality as well as the requirements for good production models and the critique of evidence-based decision-making in the clinical setting.
3) Quantitative methods in quality management - This course will examine a number of tools for quality management purposes - both how to do them as well as how they fit into the various schools of thought on quality management. It will cover statistical process control which is a method of statistical analysis of time series data that is used in quality management. This method shows whether there is variability in processes and gives the user an ability to evaluate processes and declines in performance of both processes and outcomes and to understand whether processes are performing within acceptable limits. A computer based seminar on the use of Statistical Process control will also be held. An overview of the quality improvement methodology known as Design of Experiments will also be given. The role of case mix adjustment in quality assessment will also be discussed.
4) Process Mapping - Understanding the value and power of process mapping processes both at a systems level and at the individual process level. This will be accompanied with a worked through example of process mapping with processes which the students are in a computer-based seminar. They will also be given an example of a process map from a healthcare environment to work on in optimising.
5) Theories of capacity and flow management and examples of this in both in-patient and outpatient settings will be discussed. This will also include how DRG/HRG payment has a role within organisations of capacity management.
6) A critical overview of Lean, Six Sigma and Model for Improvement. While these models can be useful in healthcare management, these are not deep philosophies of organisation and many of the things which make healthcare unique (e.g. asymmetry of information, difficulty of measuring quality, patient behaviour and societal preferences for fairness) are sometimes not accounted for in these models.
Teaching: 5 lectures (5 x 2 hours) and 5 seminars or workshops (5 x 2 hours). As indicated above the process mapping seminar and statistical process control seminar will be computer based (2 seminars). The other 3 seminars will be non-computer based.
Formative coursework: A case study will be provided for the students to analyse and write an essay answering questions relating to it. Feedback will be provided on this essay by the seminar leader.
Garvin, David A. “Competing on the Eight Dimensions of Quality.”

Crossing the Quality Chasm - Institute of Medicine, 2001
S Spear and H Kent Bowen; Harvard Business Review, Sept-Oct 1999; 97-106; Decoding the DNA of the Toyota Production system To Err is Human - Institute of Medicine, 2000
Understanding variation - D Wheeler, 1993
The Machine that changed the world - Womack JP, Jones DT and Roos D, 2007
Assessment: A 2,500 word case study based essay (40%) and a two-hour exam (60%).

SA4K9 Half Unit
Advanced Health Economics (modular)
This information is for the 2012/13 session.
Teachers responsible: Professor A McGuire, COW 4.05
Availability: Optional on MSc Health Economics, Policy and Management (modular) only.
Course content: The course will cover: international comparisons of health care expenditure, health care insurance, contract theory applied to the health care sector (including principal-agent theory and incentive payment mechanisms), equity in health care, health behaviour and an introduction to econometric analysis applied to health care data.
Teaching: 12 hours of lectures and 10 hours of seminars.
Formative coursework: Students will make group presentations on topics covered in lecture. Students may receive feedback on these presentations from their seminar leader after completion. Alternatively, students may write a 2,500 word essay on the topic of their presentation for seminar leader feedback.
Assessment: An assessed essay of 2,500 words (40%) and a two-hour written examination (60%).

SA4A1 Half Unit
The Governance of Welfare: The Nation State and the European Union
This information is for the 2012/13 session.
Teacher responsible: Dr Steen Mangen, OLD 2.62
Availability: Compulsory on MSc Social Policy (European and Comparative Social Policy). Optional on MSc Social Policy (Social Policy and Planning), MSc Social Policy (Research), MSc Gender and Social Policy, MSc Public Policy and Administration, MSc International Migration and Public Policy, MSc China in Comparative Perspective, MSc Gender, Policy and Inequalities, MSc Politics and Government in the European Union, MSc Public Policy and Administration, MSc Public Policy and Administration (Research), MSc Regulation, MSc Regulation (Research), and LSE-Sciences Po Double Degree in European Studies. Also available as an outside option where regulations permit.
Course content: The initial lecture introduces the principal methods and analytic models of comparative social policy. This is followed by a review of the development of modern welfare states in Western Europe from the last quarter of the 19th century, when many of the key institutional features of European welfare were being created. Then a series of lectures provides analysis of contemporary welfare models as they have evolved in major EU member states since the end of the Second World War: Sweden
SA4L2 Half Unit
Contemporary Issues in European Social Policy

This information is for the 2012/13 session.
Teacher responsible: Dr Steen Mangen, OLD 2.62
Availability: MSc Social Policy (European and Comparative Policy), MSc Social Policy (Research), MSc Gender and Social Policy, MSc Gender, Policy and Inequalities, MSc Politics and Government in the European Union, MSc International Migration and Public Policy, MSc Public Policy and Administration, MSc China in Comparative Perspective, MSc Public Policy and Administration, MSc Public Policy and Administration (Research), MSc Regulation, MSc Regulation (Research), and LSE-Sciences Po Double Degree in European Studies.

Course content: The course examines a range of critical social problems shared by EU member states and the role of the EU in resolving them within the framework of deepening European integration. Issues are addressed from the perspective of growing EU-level involvement in policy elaboration. Demographic, ethnic, and gender issues feature prominently. Specific policy areas relate to the integration of social security and labour markets; interventions targeting social inclusion; the funding, organisation and challenges of providing pensions and health care; urban policy-making; and the relative role of migration and education and training policies in the regeneration of European labour markets. The course ends with an assessment of globalisation and the threats and opportunities that arise for the European Social Model.

Teaching: 10 hours of classes and 15 hours of lectures in the LT. One 1.5 hour seminar in the ST.

Formative coursework: Students will be required to submit one formative essay of 2000 words by the end of the Lent Term.

Assessment: One 2,000 word essay (50%) and one two-hour exam (50%) in the ST.

SA4L4 Behaviour, Happiness and Public Policy

This information is for the 2012/13 session.
Teacher responsible: Professor Paul Dolan
Availability: MSc International Health Policy, MSc International Health Policy (Health Economics), MSc Social Policy (Research), MSc Social Policy and Planning, MSc Environmental Economics and Climate Change, and MPA (all programmes). Available as an outside option with priority to students on Social Policy programmes.

Course content: This course aims to introduce students to the main concepts and tools of the growing fields of behavioural science and the science of happiness. The course brings these fields together with a clear focus on social policy. To achieve this aim, the course is based around twenty lectures covering: 1) what is wellbeing?; 2) what is behavioural science?; 3) choices under risk and uncertainty; 4) intertemporal decisions; 5) social preferences; 6) distributional preferences; 7) the role of emotions in decision making; 8) compensating behaviours; 9) dual-process models of behaviour and the role of the unconscious mind; 10) dual processing into policy; 11) wellbeing in economics; 12) research on happiness; 13) the determinants of life satisfaction; 14) moment-to-moment assessments of happiness as an alternative; 15) the role of eudemonic accounts of subjective wellbeing (meaning, purpose, etc.); 16) why we are often not very good at predicting our happiness; 17) valuing non-market goods (health, environment, etc.) using preferences; 18) valuing non-market goods using happiness; 19) evidence-based policy; 20) Making better decisions - bringing behaviour and happiness together.

Teaching: 20 x 1.5-hour lectures and 20 x 1.5-hour seminars. There are ten topics, and the seminars allow for in depth discussion and analysis of the issues raised in the lectures.

Formative coursework: A 2,000 word essay.

SA4M1 Half Unit
Politics of Social Policy: Welfare and Work in Comparative Perspective
This information is for the 2012/13 session.
Teacher responsible: Dr Timo Fleckenstein, OLD 1.17
Availability: Optional on MSc Social Policy (European and Comparative Social Policy), MSc Social Policy (Social Policy and Planning), MSc Social Policy (Research), MSc Gender, Policy and Inequalities, MSc Political Economy of Europe, MSc Politics and Government in the European Union, MSc Public Policy and Administration, MSc Public Policy and Administration (Research), MSc Comparative Politics, MSc Political Sociology, MPA Programme (all streams) and LSE-Sciences Po Double Degree in European Studies. Also available as an outside option where regulations permit.
Course content: The course explores the politics of social policy in advanced political economies. In the first part of the course, the main analytical approaches for the cross-national analysis of welfare states are introduced (such as the industrialism thesis, the power resources model, new institutionalism, feminist theory and the globalisation thesis). These will be examined in the context of the rise of modern welfare states and their transformations since the 1990s. The empirical focus is on the welfare-and-work nexus. The course analyses the development of labour market and family policies in Nordic countries, Continental Europe, Anglo-phone countries and East Asia.
Teaching: Ten 1-hour lectures and ten 1.5 hour seminars in LT.
Formative coursework: Seminar members will be expected to consider a range of non-monetary, multidimensional, and subjective empirical illustrations considering assessments of trends within countries, cross-national differences, and global poverty and inequality. The topics covered include measurement of inequality, poverty, and mobility: setting poverty thresholds and equivalence scales; data sources and their quality; empirical illustrations considering assessments of trends within countries, cross-national differences, and global poverty and inequality. The second half of the course broadens the perspective to consider a range of non-monetary, multidimensional, and subjective measures of well-being.
Assessment: One 1,500 word essay (25%) and a 2,000 word essay (30%).

SA4X6 Welfare Analysis and Measurement
This information is for the 2012/13 session.
Teachers responsible: Professor Stephen Jenkins, OLD 2.29, and Dr. Berkay Ozcan, OLD 2.32.
Availability: This course is compulsory for students on the MPA Public and Social Policy. It is available as an option for the following: MPA Public and Economic Policy, MPA Public Policy and Management, MPA International Development, MPA European Public and Economic Policy, MSc Social Policy (Research), MSc International Health Policy (Health Economics) and other programmes with the consent of the programme director.
Pre-requisites: The course has no formal pre-requisites. A familiarity with basic statistical concepts and basic calculus are very useful. These topics are reviewed during the pre-sessional course of the MPA programme (EC100).
Course content: This course provides an introduction to the analysis and measurement of the welfare of individuals and societies, examining concepts, measurement and data, as well as providing illustrations. The aims are to provide an understanding of the main tools used to measure and monitor individuals and social welfare, and to develop skills for assessing academic research and official statistics (as produced by national or international agencies) and for undertaking one’s own analysis. The first half of the course focuses on monetary measures of economic wellbeing notably income, and on the experience of OECD countries (especially the UK, EU, and USA), but the aim is also to place these in the context of developments based on other approaches and in other countries including middle- and low-income nations. The topics covered include measurement of inequality, poverty, and mobility; setting poverty thresholds and equivalence scales; data sources and their quality; empirical illustrations considering assessments of trends within countries, cross-national differences, and global poverty and inequality.
Teaching: Three x two-hour lectures in the MT.
Formative coursework: A title, abstract, and MPA Policy Paper proposal (of no more than 750 words in total) to be submitted by Week 3 of Michaelmas Term. Students will have these items returned, with comments, within two weeks of submission.
Assessment: One 6,000 word MPA Policy Paper (100%).

SA4V8 Half Unit
MPA Policy Paper
This information is for the 2012/13 session.
Teachers responsible: Professor Patrick Dunleavy, Dr Lloyd Gruber,

Assessment: One two-hour exam in ST (70%) and a 2,000 word essay (30%).

SA4M1 Half Unit
Politics of Social Policy: Welfare and Work in Comparative Perspective
This information is for the 2012/13 session.
Teacher responsible: Dr Timo Fleckenstein, OLD 1.17
Availability: Optional on MSc Social Policy (European and Comparative Social Policy), MSc Social Policy (Social Policy and Planning), MSc Social Policy (Research), MSc Gender, Policy and Inequalities, MSc Political Economy of Europe, MSc Politics and Government in the European Union, MSc Public Policy and Administration, MSc Public Policy and Administration (Research), MSc Comparative Politics, MSc Political Sociology, MPA Programme (all streams) and LSE-Sciences Po Double Degree in European Studies. Also available as an outside option where regulations permit.
Course content: The course explores the politics of social policy in advanced political economies. In the first part of the course, the main analytical approaches for the cross-national analysis of welfare states are introduced (such as the industrialism thesis, the power resources model, new institutionalism, feminist theory and the globalisation thesis). These will be examined in the context of the rise of modern welfare states and their transformations since the 1990s. The empirical focus is on the welfare-and-work nexus. The course analyses the development of labour market and family policies in Nordic countries, Continental Europe, Anglo-phone countries and East Asia.
Teaching: Ten 1-hour lectures and ten 1.5 hour seminars in LT.
Formative coursework: Seminar members will be expected to consider a range of non-monetary, multidimensional, and subjective empirical illustrations considering assessments of trends within countries, cross-national differences, and global poverty and inequality. The topics covered include measurement of inequality, poverty, and mobility: setting poverty thresholds and equivalence scales; data sources and their quality; empirical illustrations considering assessments of trends within countries, cross-national differences, and global poverty and inequality. The second half of the course broadens the perspective to consider a range of non-monetary, multidimensional, and subjective measures of well-being.
Assessment: One 1,500 word essay (25%) and a 2,000 word essay (30%).

SA4X6 Welfare Analysis and Measurement
This information is for the 2012/13 session.
Teachers responsible: Professor Stephen Jenkins, OLD 2.29, and Dr. Berkay Ozcan, OLD 2.32.
Availability: This course is compulsory for students on the MPA Public and Social Policy. It is available as an option for the following: MPA Public and Economic Policy, MPA Public Policy and Management, MPA International Development, MPA European Public and Economic Policy, MSc Social Policy (Research), MSc International Health Policy (Health Economics) and other programmes with the consent of the programme director.
Pre-requisites: The course has no formal pre-requisites. A familiarity with basic statistical concepts and basic calculus are very useful. These topics are reviewed during the pre-sessional course of the MPA programme (EC100).
Course content: This course provides an introduction to the analysis and measurement of the welfare of individuals and societies, examining concepts, measurement and data, as well as providing illustrations. The aims are to provide an understanding of the main tools used to measure and monitor individuals and social welfare, and to develop skills for assessing academic research and official statistics (as produced by national or international agencies) and for undertaking one’s own analysis. The first half of the course focuses on monetary measures of economic wellbeing notably income, and on the experience of OECD countries (especially the UK, EU, and USA), but the aim is also to place these in the context of developments based on other approaches and in other countries including middle- and low-income nations. The topics covered include measurement of inequality, poverty, and mobility; setting poverty thresholds and equivalence scales; data sources and their quality; empirical illustrations considering assessments of trends within countries, cross-national differences, and global poverty and inequality.
Teaching: Three x two-hour lectures in the MT.
Formative coursework: A title, abstract, and MPA Policy Paper proposal (of no more than 750 words in total) to be submitted by Week 3 of Michaelmas Term. Students will have these items returned, with comments, within two weeks of submission.
Assessment: One 6,000 word MPA Policy Paper (100%).

SA4V8 Half Unit
MPA Policy Paper
This information is for the 2012/13 session.
Teachers responsible: Professor Patrick Dunleavy, Dr Lloyd Gruber, measures of welfare for individuals and societies. Examples include occupational and socio-economic status (SES), anthropometric measures, the Human Development Index and related indices of development, and measures of happiness and life satisfaction.

Teaching: 20 x 1 hour lectures and x 1.5 hour seminars in MT & LT and 3 x 1.5 hour seminars in ST.

Formative coursework: Essay at the end of LT (2000 words).

Indicative reading: Most of the reading for the course is in journal articles. Books providing overviews include Atkinson AB (1983) The Economics of Inequality, and Salverda W, Nolan B, Smeeding TM (eds) (2009) The Oxford Handbook on Economic Inequality. A full reading list is distributed at the beginning of the course.

Assessment: One three hour examination (75%) and one 2,000 word assessed essay (25%).

---

SO401 Social Research Methods

This information is for the 2012/13 session.

Teachers responsible: Dr Ursula Henz, STC. S279, and Dr Janet Foster, STC. S205.

Availability: Compulsory course for MSc Sociology and MSc Sociology (Research). Part-time students taking the MSc over two years may take the course in either the first or second year.

Course content: The course covers both quantitative and qualitative research methods. Special topics include: different epistemological positions; formulating research problems; the social context of research; ethical aspects of research; concepts and their measurement; attitude measurement and scaling; inference and generalization including probability and non-probability sampling; research design, including experimental and quasi-experimental; comparative research; methods of data collection including questionnaire design, structured, semi-structured and unstructured interviewing, ethnography and participant observation; introductions to contemporary survey research techniques by telephone and by the Internet; other sources of data for sociological research; analysis of qualitative data, including computer assisted analysis. As the course does not cover quantitative data analysis, students might consider taking MI451 to complement the course.

Teaching: The course is taught by a mixture of lectures, seminars and workshops. It normally provides two hours of teaching each week in MT, with 2-3 hour workshops in the LT and three revision seminars in ST.

Formative coursework: Students must participate in group presentations and undertake several pieces of compulsory practical work during the year.

Assessment: The course is assessed by two methods: (a) two pieces of coursework (20% each) and (b) a three-hour written examination in the ST (60%). The MT coursework is due on the second Friday of LT and the LT coursework is due on the second Tuesday of ST. Two sets of hard copies must be handed in to the Department of Sociology’s Administration Office, S219A, no later than 4:30pm on each due date, with a third copy being posted to Moodle.

---

SO407 Politics and Society

This information is for the 2012/13 session.

Teachers responsible: Dr Robin Archer, STC. S283 and Dr Manali Desai, STC. S282.

Availability: Compulsory for MSc Political Sociology. Optional for MSc Sociology, MSc Social Research Methods and for interested MSc and graduate students in Government and other departments and institutes.

Course content: This course aims to explore some of the great debates about the relationship between politics and society. It will examine the interaction between political institutions, economic interests and cultural ideas, especially in societies that are both democratic and capitalist. The course begins by looking at the canonical writings of authors like Marx, Weber and Tocqueville. The rest of the course will then provide you with a chance to study some of the major empirical controversies that have animated political sociologists. Each week, we will discuss questions like: Why are some social movements more powerful than others? How does social change shape parties and elections? Do repressive states give rise to radicalism? What explains the growth of the far right? Why are welfare states more developed in some countries than others? Why is there no Labor Party in the United States? Under what conditions can democracy survive? What gave rise to national identities? Do authoritarian states inhibit development? Why is there a resurgence of ethnic and religious violence? And has neo-liberalism become hegemonic? In addition, the course will enable you to build up your knowledge of a number of countries and to assess the strengths and weaknesses of some of the main theories and approaches that have dominated the study of political sociology. These include functionalist, rational choice, and institutionalist theories, as well as historical and comparative approaches.

Teaching: Seminars: Papers will be presented by participants and, occasionally, by guest speakers. In addition to the weekly seminar, there will be a number of additional seminars specifically concerned with research strategies in political sociology. Students should attend the lecture course SO203 Political Sociology when available.

Formative coursework: Members of the seminar will be required to present a number of papers during the course of the seminar. There will also be a termly essay in MT and LT.

Assessment: There is an assessed essay of 3,000 words, three copies to be submitted to the Sociology Administration Office, Room S219A, no later than 4.30pm on the first Thursday of ST and representing 30% of the total mark. There is also a three-hour formal examination in ST based on the full syllabus, representing 70% of the total mark. Candidates will be required to answer three questions out of twelve.

---

SO420 Half Unit Not available in 2012/13 Globalisation: Economy, Politics and Power

This information is for the 2012/13 session.

Teacher responsible: Dr Fran Tonkiss, STC. S219.

Availability: Available on MSc Sociology, MSc Political Sociology, MSc Global Media and Communications (with Fudan or USC), MSc Gender, Development and Globalisation and MSc Race, Ethnicity and Post-Colonial Studies. Other students may attend subject to numbers, their own degree regulations and at the discretion of the
SO425
Regulation, Risk and Economic Life
This information is for the 2012/13 session.

Teachers responsible: Professor B Hutter, STC. S217 and Dr N Dodd, STC, S266

Availability: This is an optional paper for MSc Sociology, MSc Political Sociology, MSc Regulation, MSc Regulation (Research), MSc Environmental Policy and Regulation, MSc Culture and Society, MSc Management and Regulation of Risk, MSc Risk and Finance, MSc Public Management and Governance, MSc Accounting, Organisations and Institutions, MPA Public and Economic Policy/MPA Public Policy and Management/MPA International Development/MPA European Public and Economic Policy/MPA Public and Social Policy, PhD Accounting students and other MSc/MPhil students by arrangement and with the proviso that they take the exam.

Course content: This course introduces students to sociological perspectives on economic life and risk regulation in advanced industrial societies. Topics include economic sociology, state risk regulation including regulatory variations, enforcement and business responses, economic and civil society sources of regulation, organizational risk management, science, experts and risk regulation, globalization, and trends in risk regulation. The course will draw upon a broad international literature on social and economic regulation and case studies from the environmental, financial and public health domains.

Teaching: Weekly 2.5 hour workshop seminar.

Formative coursework: All students are expected to submit at least one piece of non-assessed written work and prepare seminar presentations.

Assessment: One three-hour examination (70%) and an assessed 2,500-3,000 word essay (30%), two copies to be submitted to the Sociology Administration Office, Room S219a, no later than 4.30pm Tuesday, week 2 of ST; a third copy uploaded to Moodle.

SO426
Half Unit
Classical Social Thought
This information is for the 2012/13 session.

Teacher responsible: Dr Nigel Dodd, STC. S266

Availability: Optional for students on MSc Culture and Society, MSc Sociology and MSc Political Sociology.

Course content: A review of classical social theory. The origins and development of classical sociological theory; exploring the work of Marx, Weber, Simmel and Durkheim through a close reading and interpretation of primary texts. It is not assumed that students have a basic grounding in classical social theory, although it is expected that students who register for this course will be prepared to develop their understanding through primary readings, and not rely on textbooks.

Teaching: 10 one-hour lectures and 10 one-hour seminars (SO426); one each week during MT.

Formative coursework: Attendance at all seminars and submission of all set coursework is required.

Indicative reading: Relevant books that provide an overview... include: A Callinicos, Social Theory; N Dodd, Social Theory and Modernity; A Giddens, Capitalism and Modern Social Theory; G Ritzer, Sociological Theory. The reading list for each seminar will be divided up into essential and additional reading. Students will be asked to read between 50 and 100 pages of primary text per week. The following is a sample list of readings: Marx, K: The Communist Manifesto & Capital (sections of vols 1 & 3); Weber, M: The Protestant Ethic and the Spirit of Capitalism & ‘Science as a Vocation’; Simmel, G: The Philosophy of Money (various sections) & various essays such as ‘The Metropolis and Mental Life’, ‘The Stranger’, etc.; Durkheim, E: The Division of Labour in Society & The Elementary Forms of the Religious Life (various sections from each).

Assessment:

One two-hour formal examination in the ST, comprising topics agreed with the students and covered in the seminars. Students must answer two out of four questions.

---

SO427 Half Unit Modern Social Thought

This information is for the 2012/13 session.

Teacher responsible: Dr Nigel Dodd, STC. S266

Availability: Optional for students on MSc Political Sociology and MSc Sociology.

Course content: Contemporary social theory. An introduction to the historical background, context and output of Walter Benjamin, Theodor Adorno, Michel Foucault, and Jean Baudrillard; and a close reading and study of some of their most significant texts.

Teaching: 10 two-hour seminars weekly during LT.

Formative coursework: Attendance at all seminars and submission of all set coursework is required.

Indicative reading: The following is merely a sample list of some of the texts to be covered: Benjamin, W: ‘Theses on the philosophy of history’ & The Arcades Project (Section N); Adorno, T: ‘Theses against Occultism’ & Negative Dialectics (various sections); Foucault, M: The History of Madness & The Order of Things (various sections); Baudrillard, J: Symbolic Exchange and Death (mainly chapter 5) & The Spirit of Terrorism. A number of secondary readings will be recommended, but students will be strongly discouraged from relying on these.

Assessment: The course examination will be in two parts. The first part will be one essay of 1,500–2,000 words (30%), two copies to be submitted to the Sociology Administration Office, Room S219a, no later than 4.30pm on the first Tuesday of ST, a third copy uploaded to Moodle. The second part will be a two-hour unseen examination in ST (70%) in which candidates will be required to answer two questions selected from a choice of four.

---

SO430 Half Unit Economic Sociology

This information is for the 2012/13 session.

Teacher responsible: Dr Juan Pablo Pardo-Guerra, STC. S265

Availability: For MSc Sociology programmes and MSc Accounting, Organisations and Institutions; also available as an outside option within other Master's degrees where regulations permit.

Course content: The course offers a general introduction to the theoretical foundations of economic sociology, providing an opportunity to understand how sociologists engage with the study of complex socioeconomic issues.

Critical approaches to economy and society; economic rationality; the sociology of economics; social capital; new economic sociology; economic conventions; changing forms of production and work; new economies; economic identities and divisions; markets and values.

Teaching: 10 lectures and workshop sessions during the MT.

Formative coursework: Four problem sets and a project overview due in late MT. Individual feedback sessions provided in LT to check student project development.

Indicative reading: Recommended general texts: M Granovetter & R Swedberg (Eds), The Sociology of Economic Life; D Slater & F Tonkiss, Market Society: Markets and Modern Social Theory; N Smelsler & R Swedberg (Eds), The Handbook of Economic Sociology; P Edwards & J Wajcman, The Politics of Working Life; V Nee & R Swedberg (Eds), The Economic Sociology of Capitalism. A detailed reading list will be provided at the beginning of the course.

Assessment: A project of 4,000 words (100%). Two hard copies of the project should be submitted to the Sociology Administration Office, S219a, no later than 4.30pm on the second Wednesday of ST; a third copy to be posted on Moodle.

---

SO433 Half Unit Cultural Theory

This information is for the 2012/13 session.

Teacher responsible: Dr Don Slater, STC. S218a

Availability: Available on MSc Sociology, MSc Media and Communications, MSc Media and Communications (Research) and MSc Global Media and Communications (with Fudan or USC), and Media and Communications students. Other students may attend subject to numbers and their own degree regulations.

Course content: The course will provide a theoretical foundation for researching cultural processes and institutions. The course investigates concepts of culture in relation to core concerns of social theory. This includes both a review of traditions of theorising culture and a consideration of analytical frameworks and debates that have developed in relation to specific social dimensions such as the city, economy, mediation, ethnicity, gender and technology.

Teaching: Weekly lecture/seminar (10 x two hours) MT.

Formative coursework: All students are expected to submit one piece of non-assessed written work and prepare seminar presentations.

Assessment: A written assignment of 5,000 words (100%). Two hard copies to be handed in to the Sociology Administration Office, S219a, no later than 4.30pm on the second Wednesday of LT. A third copy to be posted to Moodle.

---

SO434 Cultural Theory and Cultural Forms

This information is for the 2012/13 session.

Teachers responsible: Dr Don Slater, STC. S218a.

Availability: Core course for MSc Culture and Society.

Course content: The course will provide a foundation in approaches to cultural processes and institutions, attending to analytical frameworks, research strategies and empirical case studies. The first term investigates concepts of culture in relation to core concerns of social theory. This includes both a review of traditions of theorising culture and a consideration of analytical frameworks and debates that have developed in relation to specific social dimensions such as, the city, mediation, economy, ethnicity, gender and technology. The second term looks at key themes in empirical research into cultural practice, drawing on a number of case studies such as specific urban spaces, visual cultures, organizational cultures, cultural industries and institutions, and processes of media and cultural consumption.

Teaching: Weekly lecture/seminar (20 x three hours) MT and LT.

Formative coursework: All students are expected to submit one piece of non-assessed written work per term and prepare seminar presentations.

Assessment: Two hard copies each of two 5,000 word assessed essays to be handed in to the Sociology Administration Office, S219a, no later than 4.30pm; one essay to be submitted on the second Friday of Lent Term and the other on the second Tuesday of Summer Term; a third copy of each to be posted on Moodle.

SO439 Half Unit Sociology of Employment I: Contemporary Management and Globalisation

This information is for the 2012/13 session.

Teacher responsible: Dr Patrick McGovern, STC. S276

Availability: For MSc International Employment Relations and Human Resource Management, MSc Social Research Methods and MSc Sociology. Other students will be admitted at the discretion of the course convenor.

Pre-requisites: Students should preferably have taken Sociology of Employment I in the MT.

Course content: Sociological perspectives on changes in the employment relationship with particular emphasis on contemporary developments in management, work organisation and globalisation. Change in the employment relationship; work-life conflict self-managing teams; globalisation and labour; employment practices of multinational corporations; immigrant workers.

Teaching: The course consists of 12 two-hour seminars (SO439) and 10 lectures (SO212). The lectures are intended broadly to introduce the relevant material on each subject while the seminars, with papers presented by students, are intended to pursue the topic or some specific aspects in more detail. Both take place on a weekly basis during the LT. There is also a revision seminar in the ST.

Formative coursework: A 1,500-2,000 word essay.

Indicative reading: There is no recommended textbook. A comprehensive bibliography will be available to students taking this course.

Assessment: A two-hour unseen examination (70%) and an essay of 1,500-2,000 words (30%). Two hard copies of the essay should be submitted to the Sociology Administration Office, S219a, no later than the second Tuesday of ST, a third copy posted to Moodle.

SO438 Half Unit Sociology of Employment I: Social Relations at Work

This information is for the 2012/13 session.

Teacher responsible: Dr Patrick McGovern, STC. S276

Availability: For MSc International Employment Relations and Human Resource Management, MSc Social Research Methods and MSc Sociology. Other students will be admitted at the discretion of the course convenor.

Pre-requisites: Students should preferably have a degree with a sizeable component of Sociology, but any social science is acceptable.

Course content: The employment contract; theoretical perspectives on the employment relationship; control and consent at work; scientific management and McDonaldization; informality, work groups and emotional labour; labour market divisions; women in the labour market; occupational segregation; the ‘gender gap’ in pay; discrimination at work.

Teaching: The course consists of 12 two-hour seminars (SO438) and 10 lectures (SO212). The lectures are intended broadly to introduce the relevant material on each subject while the seminars, with papers presented by students, are intended to pursue the topic or some specific aspects in more detail. Both take place on a weekly basis during the MT. There is also a revision seminar in the ST.

Indicative reading: There is no recommended textbook. Books of a general nature that cover substantial parts of the syllabus are: K Grint, The Sociology of Work (3rd edn); C Tilly & C Tilly, Work Under Capitalism; C Hakim, Key Issues in Women’s Work (2nd edn).

A more comprehensive bibliography will be available to students taking this course.

Assessment: A two-hour unseen examination (70%) and two hard copies of an essay of 1,500-2,000 words (30%). The essay should be submitted to the Sociology Administration Office, S219a, no later than 4.30pm on the second Friday of LT, with a third copy uploaded to Moodle.

SO444 Half Unit Qualitative Methods for Cultural Research

This information is for the 2012/13 session.

Teacher responsible: Dr Patrick Slater, STC. S218a

Availability: Optional course for MSc Culture and Society.

Course content: Aims and philosophy of qualitative research; contrasts with quantitative research; research strategy and research design; in-depth interviewing; relationship between substantive problems and methodological approaches; ethnographic enquiry; analysis of “classic” and contemporary studies.

Teaching: Weekly lecture/seminar (10 x 2 hours) LT.

Formative coursework: Students are required to write a 1,500-2,000 word assignment on a piece of (a) interview research or (b) textual/visual analysis.

Assessment: Two essays of 2,500 words (50% each). Two hard copies of each to be handed in to the Sociology Administration Office, S219a, no later than 4.30pm on the second Tuesday of ST. Third copies to be posted to Moodle.

SO445  Half Unit
New Media, Development and Globalisation
This information is for the 2012/13 session.
Teacher responsible: Dr Don Slater, STC. S218a
Availability: Optional course for MSc Sociology, MSc Culture and Society and MSc Media, Communication and Development. Also available to other graduate students where regulations permit.
Course content: This course examines the construction and assimilation of information and communication technologies in diverse social contexts, and addresses the full range of ICTs that make up the communicative ecologies of specific locales (roads, radios and cassettes as well as internet and mobile phones). Discussions will draw on sociology of consumption and material culture studies, science and technology studies and ethnographic approaches to socio-cultural processes; and will emphasise cross-cultural comparison as well as development issues.
Teaching: Ten two-hour seminars in LT.
Formative coursework: A 3,000 word essay.
Assessment: A written assignment of 5,000 words (100%). Two hard copies to be handed in to the Sociology administration Office, S219a, no later than 4.30 p.m. on the second Tuesday of ST. A third copy to be posted to Moodle.

SO447  Not available in 2012/13
Topics in Race, Ethnicity and Postcolonial-Studies
This information is for the 2012/13 session.
Teachers responsible: Professor Paul Gilroy, STC. S200 and Dr Suki Ali, STC. S216
Availability: MSc Sociology, MSc Culture and Society, MSc Political Sociology, MSc Human Rights, MSc International Migration and Public Policy and MSc Race, Ethnicity and Post-Colonial Studies.
This is a capped course. Students are required to obtain permission from the Sociology department to take this course, unless it is a condition of their place.
Course content: This new course is a whole unit that functions as the intellectual core of our proposed MSc programme in Race, Ethnicity and Postcolonial-Studies. It will offer a preliminary and critical introduction to the rise and fall of European empires in the second and third blocks. Block three takes on the scholarly agenda set by the anti-colonial theorists and intellectuals who led the movements against colonial rule as its initial point of departure. The final block engages contemporary approaches to diaspora, interculture and biocolonialism before concluding with a sequence addressed to the failure of human rights initiatives to sufficiently engage the issues of racial hierarchy and racism. The course will be taught through a weekly pattern of linked lectures and seminars.
Teaching: 10 hours each of lectures and seminars in MT and LT.
Formative coursework: Students have the option of writing a 3,000 word paper in preparation for the assessed essay.
Assessment: The course is assessed by two 5,000 word essays. Two hard copies of each essay are to be handed in to the Sociology Administration Office, S219a, no later than 4.30pm on the second Wednesday of the Lent Term and the second Tuesday of the Summer Term, respectively. A third copy of each is to be uploaded to Moodle.

SO448  City Design: Research Studio
This information is for the 2012/13 session.
Teachers responsible: Dr Suzanne Hall and Dr Fran Tonkiss.
Availability: Compulsory for MSc City Design and Social Science students. Not open to students outside the Cities Programme.

Course content: The City Design Research Studio is the central unit of the MSc programme, linking the critical issues raised in the core and optional lecture courses with the practical analysis of issues of city design, development, and proposals for urban intervention. This course promotes an understanding of the city as a social and built environment. It will provide students with an appreciation of the complexities of urban design and development processes. The course addresses design as a mode of research and practice that shapes urban environments, responds to urban problems, and connects visual, social and material forms in the city. It aims to integrate the physical, economic, social and political aspects of the urban, and demonstrate ways to communicate these visually, textually and verbally.

Teaching: The Studio course runs every Monday and Tuesday in MT and LT. In MT, additional specialist seminars and workshops will run on Wednesday mornings. While there will not necessarily be structured lectures or workshops during the entire day, these are the scheduled hours during which students and tutors will work together. Throughout each term invited guests and members of staff will give seminars and presentations and/or be available to students for consultation.

Formative coursework: 3 x group presentations for faculty and guest critics in MT and LT.
1 x research paper and site analysis
Assessment: 1 x Studio portfolio (50%); individual tutor assessment (50%).

SO449
Independent Project
This information is for the 2012/13 session.
Teacher responsible: Dr Fran Tonkiss.
Availability: For students taking MSc City Design and Social Science.

Course content: The independent project may be on any approved topic within the field of the MSc programme - students are encouraged, but not required, to develop work on themes or sites introduced in their Studio or core courses. The project may focus either on a small-scale urban research study, or on a practical proposal for urban intervention. Approval for the topic must be obtained from the relevant Programme Tutor.

Teaching: In LT students attend a dissertation workshop and are then required to submit a project abstract. In ST students have five supervisory meetings with their academic advisors, together with group dissertation workshops and one day of final reviews with members of faculty.

Formative coursework: Students are required to submit one project abstract, and to produce formative project work in consultation with their academic advisor.
Assessment: A 10,000-word project (100%).

SO451 Half Unit
Cities by Design
This information is for the 2012/13 session.
Teacher responsible: Professor Ricky Burdett, TW2. V805 and Dr Suzanne Hall, TW2. V811
Availability: Compulsory for MSc City Design and Social Science and optional for MSc Sociology programmes. Other graduate students may attend only with the permission of the teacher responsible. PLEASE NOTE: This is a capped course and we can only accept 32 students. If you are not registered on the MSc City Design and Social Design please submit an e-mail to Ricky Burdett AND Suzanne Hall motivating your inclusion on the course, ONCE you have attended the first introductory lecture where we will be available to respond to individual questions.

Course content: The course examines the relationship between built form and its social, political and cultural impacts in the contemporary, changing city. By introducing students to key concepts and methodologies in visual narratives and spatial analysis, the course investigates how the design of our complex urban environments affects the people who live in them. Using the city as a laboratory - through the analysis of case studies and discussion seminars - students are encouraged to evaluate how new policies and projects will impact on the macro and micro scales of city landscapes. While the course does not focus on urban policy, it provides students with the critical tools to understand the paradigms that underpin much of contemporary urban practice in cities of the global North and South, with a special focus on London's political and spatial context.

Key issues include urban analysis and public space; densification and the compact city; gated communities and social exclusion; accommodating complexity and difference; boundaries and borders in contemporary city.

Teaching: 10 lectures and 20 seminars in MT.

Formative coursework: One 1,500 word formative essay to be submitted in MT. Written feedback is given within two weeks of the essay submission, and in addition a writing seminar is incorporated in the course in preparation for the summative assessed essay.

Assessment: An illustrated course essay of not more than 5,000 words to be submitted by 4pm on the first Tuesday of LT, two hard copies to be handed in to the Cities Administration Office, a third copy to be posted to Moodle. This essay is assessed by internal and external examiners. Written feedback is only given after the final external assessment.

SO452 Half Unit Not available in 2012/13
Urban Environment
This information is for the 2012/13 session.
Teacher responsible: Dr Ayona Datta, STC. S209
Availability: Optional for MSc City Design and Social Science, MSc Regional and Urban Planning Studies, LSE-Sciences Po Double Degree in Urban Policy, MSc Gender, MSc Gender, Development and Globalisation, MSc Environmental Policy and Regulation, and MSc Gender, Policy and Inequalities. Available to other graduate students only with the permission of the teacher responsible.

Course content: To develop a critical understanding of the conditions and the politics of sustainability that shape the urban environment.

This is an interdisciplinary course that introduces students to a critical understanding of the conditions that shape urban environments. It makes connections between the social, physical, and environmental aspects of cities through a broad range of topics. The course is structured around four key themes: Conceptualisations of urban environments, Environmental and spatial justice, Politics of infrastructure, and approaches to sustainable urban environments. The aim of the course is to introduce the students to the range of scales and social actors who imagine different kinds of urban environments, and the issues at stake for ‘sustainability’ in these imaginings.

Teaching: Teaching consists of ten one-hour lectures and ten one hour seminars in LT.

Formative coursework: A compulsory formative essay of no more than 2,000 words to be submitted in Week 8 of LT.

Assessment: A course essay of not more than 5,000 words (100%) on an approved topic to be submitted by 4pm on the first Tuesday of the Summer Term. Two hard copies of the essay should be submitted to the Cities Administration Office, a third copy to be posted to Moodle.

SO454 Half Unit
Families in Contemporary Societies: a Life Course Perspective
This information is for the 2012/13 session.
Teacher responsible: Dr Ursula Henz, STC. S227
Availability: The course is optional for MSc Sociology and other degrees where regulations permit.
Course content: The course provides an introduction into selected issues of the sociology of the family as well as an introduction of core concepts of life-course research. It examines continuities and changes in modern life-courses by drawing on a rich body of empirical studies about the family.

Major themes include: concepts of the life course; childhood; reproducing inequality; parenthood and childlessness; causes and consequences of divorce; gender roles and the division of paid and unpaid work; intergenerational ties.

Teaching: Ten two-hour seminars in the Lent Term.

SO457 Half Unit
Political Reconciliation
This information is for the 2012/13 session.
Teacher responsible: Dr Claire Moon, STC. S267
Availability: Optional course. This course is capped. Priority is given to students on the following programmes: MSc Human Rights, MSc Political Sociology, MSc Sociology, MSc Race, Ethnicity and Post-Colonial Studies and MSc Health, Community and Development. Students from other programmes are welcome to apply where their degree regulations permit, but can be accommodated only if space is available.

Course content: The course explores the politics of reconciliation by identifying and examining its key themes, the practices and institutions in which it is embedded and the political subjects of reconciliation discourse. It is an interdisciplinary course that draws upon literature from sociology, law, political theory, anthropology and philosophy amongst others, because any investigation of reconciliation must be approached from a variety of perspectives in order to understand and interpret its wider social and political reach, as well as its limitations. The course introduces students to current research in the field of transitional justice and historical injustice, and draws upon a range of examples from Africa, Latin America, post-communist Europe, Australia and the US. Topics include transitional justice as a field of practice and a field of knowledge; historical injustice - apologies and reparations; state crimes; retributive and restorative justice; perpetration; theology and therapy in reconciliation; memory and atrocity.

Teaching: 10 lectures and 10 seminars in MT plus 1 two-hour revision seminar in the ST.

Assessment: One 3,000 word essay (30% of the overall mark), two hard copies to be handed in to the Sociology Administration Office, S219a, before 4.30pm on the first Wednesday of LT, a third copy uploaded to Moodle, and one two-hour unseen examination (70% of the overall mark) in which candidates answer two questions out of six.

SO458 Half Unit
Gender and Societies
This information is for the 2012/13 session.
Teacher responsible: Dr Tai Ali, STC. S216
Availability: MSc Sociology, MSc Social Research Methods, MSc Gender, Policy and Inequalities, MSc Political Sociology, MSc Race, Ethnicity and Post-Colonial Studies and others where regulations permit.

Course content: The course introduces theoretical debates and contemporary issues in the sociological study of gender. Topics include femininities/masculinities; sexualities; nation and family; work; education; violence; transnational feminism; politics, representation. NB topics may change slightly from year to year.

Teaching: 10 Seminars on a weekly basis in MT.

A more detailed reading list will be provided at the beginning of the course.

Assessment: One 5,000 word assessed essay, two hard copies to be handed into the Sociology Administration Office, Room S219a, before 4.30pm on the second Thursday of LT, a third copy uploaded to Moodle..

SO461 Half Unit
Racial Formations of Modernity
This information is for the 2012/13 session.
Teacher responsible: Professor Paul Gilroy, STC. S200
Availability: Optional for MSc Sociology, MSc Human Rights, MSc Political Sociology, MSc Culture and Society, MSc International Migration and Public Policy and MSc Race, Ethnicity and Post-Colonial Studies. Available to students following other MSc programmes subject to numbers, their own degree regulations and at the discretion of the teacher responsible.

Course content: The course will explore the sociological, political SO463 Contemporary Social Thought
This information is for the 2012/13 session.
Teacher responsible: Professor Mike Savage, STC. S210, Professor Judy Wajcman, STC. S203.
Availability: For MSc Sociology; MSc Sociology (Research); MSc Political Sociology; MSc Culture and Society; MSc Race Ethnicity and Postcolonial Studies.
Course content: The course critically explores cutting edge issues and themes in contemporary social thought.
It is organised around three key areas: (i) transformations in time and space; (ii) new technologies, methods and society; (iii) cosmopolitanism and post-cosmopolitanism. Topics covered include time, space, speed and technology; money and the economy; the re-emergence of social class divisions; technofeminism/cyberfeminism; cultural capital; cosmopolitanism, human rights; diaspora and modernity; post-colonialism; race, ethnicity and cultural division.
Teaching: 20 lectures and seminars during MT and LT.
Formative coursework: 1 x 1,500 word essay each term.
Indicative reading: Beck, U. The Cosmopolitan Vision; Dodd, N. The Sociology of Money; Frisby, D. Cityscapes of Modernity; Gilroy, P. After Empire; Rose, N. The Politics of Life Itself; Sennett, R. The Culture of the New Capitalism; Wajcman, J. Technofeminism.
Assessment: 3-hour unseen examination (70%) and 1x 3000 word essay (30%). Two hard copies of the essay to be submitted to the Sociology Administration Office, S219a, no later than 4.30pm on the first Wednesday of ST, a third copy to be posted on Moodle.

SO464 Half Unit
Ethnic and Religious Violence in Post-Colonial Societies
This information is for the 2012/13 session.
Teacher responsible: Dr Manali Desai, STC. S282
Availability: Optional for MSc Political Sociology, MSc Race, Ethnicity & Postcolonial Studies, MSc Sociology, MSc Comparative Politics (Conflict Studies), MSc Comparative Politics (Nationalism and Ethnicity). Sociology students will be given priority enrolment.
Course content: The course will draw on sociological theory, using constructivist theories of ethnicity and a variety of theoretical perspectives on violence that draw on recent work in political sociology, anthropology, and post-colonial studies. The course will address concerns such as post-colonial transformations of the state, the roles of political organisation and informal networks, political-economy and the class and gender bases of violence, transformations of space, as well as issues of identity, memory and recognition. Topics include: theories of violence; ethnicity and ethnic conflict; post-colonial states; state failure; riots; pogroms; genocide; sexual violence in ethnic conflict; religious fundamentalism.
Teaching: Ten one-hour lectures and seminars in the LT.
Formative coursework: One 2000 word essay and presentation.
Assessment: One 5,000 word essay (100%). Two hard copies of the essay to be submitted to the Sociology Administration Office, S219a, no later than 4.30pm on the second Thursday of ST, a third copy to be posted on Moodle.

SO465 Half Unit
City-making: the Politics of Urban Form
This information is for the 2012/13 session.
Teachers responsible: Mr Philipp Rode, Dr Savvas Verdis
Availability: Compulsory for MSc City Design and Social Science. Optional for MSc Regional and Urban Planning Studies and LSE-Sciences Po Double Degree in Urban Policy. The course is also available as an outside option where regulations permit.
Course content: The course provides a critical understanding of major urban development projects and practices in international city contexts. It will introduce and elucidate students to the following skills: The course content is based on contemporary projects and urban trends examined in the context of cities throughout the world.
These range from policies such as congestion charging (London) and Progressive City Development (urban Colombia) to urban development trends such as gated communities (Johannesburg) and privatist planning (Canary Wharf, Santa Fe, Sandton, Potsdamer Platz). Such projects will be examined through critical frameworks that include utilitarianism, cost benefit analysis, social and environmental justice, citizenship theory and the capabilities approach. The course will focus on negotiation, politics, financing, appraisals and decision-making for cities by inviting practitioners, experts and policy makers to join individual sessions for presentations and debate. Seminars and assessed project work for the course will be based on the analysis of Development Strategies and City Design briefs, leading to brief-writing for one site in one specific city in each year.

www.citymaking.com/

Teaching: Ten hours of lectures and twenty hours of seminars in the LT.

Formative coursework: 1 x seminar presentation and submission of 1 x 1000-word seminar paper.

Assessment: One 5,000 word project (100%), two hard copies of the project to be submitted to the Cities Programme Administration office, no later than 4.30pm on the first Wednesday of ST; a third copy uploaded to Moodle.

Assessment: One 5,000 word project (100%), two hard copies of the project to be submitted to the Cities Programme Administration office, no later than 4.30pm on the first Wednesday of ST; a third copy uploaded to Moodle.

Assessment: One 5,000 word project (100%), two hard copies of the project to be submitted to the Cities Programme Administration office, no later than 4.30pm on the first Wednesday of ST; a third copy uploaded to Moodle.

Assessment: One 5,000 word project (100%), two hard copies of the project to be submitted to the Cities Programme Administration office, no later than 4.30pm on the first Wednesday of ST; a third copy uploaded to Moodle.
SO468 Half Unit
International Migration and Migrant Integration

This information is for the 2012/13 session.
Teacher responsible: Dr Patrick McGovern, S276.
Availability: Core course for MSc International Migration and Public Policy. Available as an optional Half Unit for MSc Sociology. Other students will be admitted at the discretion of the course convenor.

Course content: Coverage of contemporary sociological perspectives on migration including theories of international migration, labour market incorporation; ‘assimilation’ and social integration; welfare and social rights; the second generation; educational attainment; and transnationalism.

Teaching: There will be 10 lectures given by Dr P McGovern (convener) and 12 seminars (including revision).

Formative coursework: All students are expected to write two non-assessed pieces of work during the term.

Assessment: One 5,000 word essay. Two hard copies of the essay to be submitted to the Sociology Administration Office, S219a, no later than 4.30pm on the second Thursday of LT, a third copy uploaded to Moodle.(100%).
SO471  Half Unit
Technology, Power and Culture
This information is for the 2012/13 session.
Teacher responsible: Professor Judy Wajcman STC.S203
Availability: MSc Sociology, MSc Sociology (Research), MSc Sociology (Economic sociology), MSc (Contemporary social thought), MSc Culture and Society, MSc Political Sociology, MSc Race, Ethnicity and Post-Colonial Studies and MSc Media and Communications.
Course content: This course aims to give students a detailed understanding of sociologically informed approaches to the social studies of science and technology. It will consider how macro theories of post-industrial society (from Bell to Castells) have conceptualised the role of technology in social change. It will then look at the development of STS as a field that highlights the constitutive role of objects and artefacts in social relations. In other words, it will reflect upon sociology's traditional neglect of the social life of things or materiality. These broad themes will then be elaborated substantively. First, by considering the role of technology in reconfiguring time, space and mobility. Second, by considering power relations and social inequalities embedded in digital technologies, such as the Internet and mobile phones. Third, by treating technology as a culture that shapes gender identities, such as those that find expression in the virtuality of cyberspace. The course will draw on examples from a variety of domains including the environment, the internet, robotics, sex, and weapons.
Teaching: 10 x one-hour lectures and 10 x one-hour seminars in the LT.
Formative coursework: One 1,500-word formative essay.
Assessment: One two-hour examination in the Summer Term (100%).

SO472  Half Unit
Biomedicine and Bioscience in Culture and Society
This information is for the 2012/13 session.
Teacher responsible: Dr Carrie Friese STC.S207
Availability: Optional on MSc Culture and Society, MSc Sociology, MSc Human Rights, MSc Gender, MSc Gender, Development and Globalisation, MSc Gender, Media and Culture, MSc Gender, Policy and Inequalities.
Course content: The course provides an introduction to different areas of research and debate in social studies of biomedicine and the life sciences. It is based on close readings of several contemporary ethnographies. These texts will be critically interrogated by also reading key social theorists in tandem. Indicators topics explored in this course include: genomics; immunology; reproductive, genetic and cell-based technologies; clinical trials and human experimentation; pharmaceuticals; bodies and embodiment; and mental health. The course aims to develop an empirically grounded and theoretically engaged understanding of how biomedicine and biosciences are operating in and constitutive of contemporary social life, with a focus on culture, economics, politics and/or the state.
Teaching: 10 x two-hour seminars in the MT.
Formative coursework: One 1500-2000 word essay on which feedback will be given, to be handed in on Week 7.
Assessment: One 5,000 word essay (100%). Two hard copies to be handed into the Sociology administration office, S219a, no later than 4:30pm on the second Thursday of the LT.

SO473  Half Unit
Crime, Control and the City
This information is for the 2012/13 session.
Teacher responsible: Dr Janet Foster STC.S205/6
Availability: Optional on MSc Sociology, MSc City Design and Social Science, MSc Criminal Justice Policy and MSc Regional and Urban Planning Studies. Also available as an outside options where regulations permit and with the permission of the teacher responsible.
Course content: This Half Unit course examines crime and disorder in city landscapes, the relationship between crime, space and place, and the complex mix of informal and formal social controls that influence different types and levels of crime. Drawing on a range of comparative literature from different cities, and using a mixture of classic and contemporary texts, we examine the importance of informal social control in maintaining social order in cities, the role of policing, and what happens when formal and informal social controls fail using the recent riots, gangs and homicide as examples. We also explore the principles of crime prevention - both physical and social - and use public housing as a case study to critically examine the relationship between crime and design.
Teaching: 10 x two-hours of seminars in LT.
Formative coursework: Students must complete two elements of formative work: one 500 word report on the 'Walking the City' exercise to be completed by week 4, and one 2,000-2,500 word essay to be submitted in week 8 of the course. Students who do a ride along with the police will also be required to write up a short report (approx. 500 words) on their visit and what they learnt from it.
Assessment: One 5,000 word essay (100%). Two hard copies to be handed into the Sociology administration office, S219a, no later than 4:30pm on the second Thursday of the ST.

SO499  Dissertation
This information is for the 2012/13 session.
Teachers responsible: Programme Tutor of the relevant MSc programme and other Sociology and Cities staff.

Availability: For students taking MSc Sociology, MSc Sociology (Research), MSc Sociology (Economic Sociology), MSc Sociology (Contemporary Social Thought), MSc Political Sociology, MSc Culture and Society, MSc Human Rights, MSc Biomedicine, Bioscience and Society and MSc Race, Ethnicity and Post-Colonial Studies.

Course content: The dissertation may be on any topic within the field of the MSc programme studied. Approval for the topic must be obtained from the relevant Programme Tutor.

Teaching: The candidate must submit a working title and a brief Abstract of his/her intended dissertation (up to an A4 page, double-spaced, including your name not your candidate number) no later than Monday, week 8 of LT. This should be sent electronically to the MSc Sociology Administrator. Please note you must also submit the Research Ethics Review Checklist along with the Abstract. These Abstracts are the basis for an MSc dissertation Workshop that is organised for each programme. Attendance at this is optional but students are, of course, encouraged to attend.

Assessment: The course is assessed by the Dissertation (100%). Two hard copies of the dissertation must be submitted no later than 4pm, to the Sociology Administration Office, S219a, on the last Thursday of August if you are a full-time student or in the subsequent year if you are a part-time student. A third copy is to be posted on Moodle. Dissertations may be up to and no more than 10,000 words, must be word-processed and be fully referenced using a recognised citation system.

---

ST405  Half Unit

Multivariate Methods

This information is for the 2012/13 session.

Teacher responsible: Dr. Jouni Kuha COL 8.02

Availability: Primarily for MSc Statistics, MSc Statistics (Research), MSc Statistics (Financial Statistics) and MSc Statistics (Financial Statistics) (Research).

Pre-requisites: Mathematics to the level of MA200/MA201

Further Mathematical Methods: ST202 Probability, Distribution Theory and Inference

Course content: An introduction to the theory and application of modern multivariate methods used in the Social Sciences: Principal components analysis, factor analysis, latent variable models, multivariate normal distribution, exponential family, and structural equations models.

Teaching: Lectures: 20 LT. Computer Workshops: four x two-hour LT.

Formative coursework: One piece of coursework

Assessment: Two-hour written examination in the ST (100%).

---

ST409  Half Unit

Stochastic Processes

This information is for the 2012/13 session.

Teacher responsible: Dr. Kostas Kardaras COL 6.09

Availability: Primarily for MSc Statistics, MSc Statistics (Research), MSc Statistics (Financial Statistics) and MSc Statistics (Financial Statistics) (Research), MSc Risk and Finance, MSc Management and Regulation of Risk, MSc Applicable Mathematics, MSc Financial Mathematics, MSc Risk and Stochastics and MSc Econometrics and Mathematical Economics.

Pre-requisites: Mathematics to the level of MA200/MA201

Further Mathematical Methods and a good undergraduate knowledge of distribution theory; some probability to the level of ST402 or equivalent.

Course content: A broad introduction to stochastic processes for postgraduates with an emphasis on financial and actuarial applications. The course examines Martingales, Poisson Processes, Brownian motion, stochastic differential equations and diffusion processes. Applications in Finance. Actuarial applications.

Teaching: Lectures: 20 MT. Seminars: 10 MT. Help sessions: 10 MT.

Assessment: Two-hour written examination in the ST.

---

ST411  Half Unit

Generalized Linear Modelling and Survival Analysis

This information is for the 2012/13 session.

Teacher responsible: Dr. Matteo Barigozzi COL 7.11

Availability: Primarily for MSc Statistics, MSc Statistics (Research), MSc Statistics (Financial Statistics), MSc Statistics (Financial Statistics) (Research), and MSc Econometrics and Mathematical Economics.

Pre-requisites: Mathematics to the level of MA100 Mathematical Methods, probability to the level of ST202 Probability, Distribution Theory and Inference.

Course content: Generalized linear modelling with an emphasis on diagnostics, estimation, and inference. Variables belonging to the exponential family. Survival analysis.

Teaching: Lectures: 20 LT. Computer Workshops: 10 LT.

Assessment: Two-hour written examination in the ST.

---

ST416  Half Unit

Multilevel and Longitudinal Modelling

This information is for the 2012/13 session.

Teacher responsible: Dr Jouni Kuha COL 8.02

Availability: Primarily for MSc Statistics, MSc Statistics (Research), MSc Statistics (Financial Statistics), MSc Statistics (Financial Statistics) (Research), and MSc Social Research Methods.

Pre-requisites: A knowledge of probability and statistical theory, including linear regression and logistic regression.

Course content: A practical introduction to multilevel modelling with applications in social research. This course deals with the analysis of data from hierarchically structured populations (e.g., individuals nested within households or geographical areas) and longitudinal data (e.g., repeated measurements of individuals in a panel survey). Multilevel (random-effects) extensions of standard statistical techniques, including multiple linear regression and logistic regression, will be considered. The course will have an applied emphasis with computer sessions using appropriate software (e.g., Stata).

Teaching: Lectures: 20 LT, computer classes: five two-hour sessions
ST418 Half Unit
Non-Linear Dynamics and the Analysis of Real Time Series
This information is for the 2012/13 session.
Teacher responsible: Prof. Lenny Smith TW1 11.01A
Availability: Primarily for MSc Statistics, MSc Statistics (Research), MSc Statistics (Financial Statistics) and MSc Statistics (Financial Economics) (Research), MSc Applicable Mathematics, MSc Econometrics and Mathematical Economics.
Pre-requisites: ST422 Time Series.
Course content: An introduction to the analysis of actual time series observations of real-world processes. The course casts both modern nonlinear methods and more traditional linear methods in a geometric approach. It introduces the properties of nonlinear mathematical models, covers chaos and the dynamics of uncertainty, and demonstrates the fundamental limitations in applied analysis which arise from model inadequacy. The student will leave with a toolkit for the analysis and modelling of real data, with insights into how to evaluate which methods may be appropriate for the given problem, how to interpret the results in context, and how to avoid overinterpreting nice theorems in practical circumstances. Concrete applications in economics (price time series, electricity demand, energy futures) and environment (weather, climate) as well as applications in economics (price time series, electricity demand, energy futures) and environment (weather, climate) as well as analyses of Case Studies are covered.
Teaching: Lectures: 20 LT, two ST. Computer Workshops: 10 LT.
Assessment: Two-hour written examination in ST: 70%; project: 30%.

ST421 Half Unit
Developments in Statistical Methods
This information is for the 2012/13 session.
Teacher responsible: Dr. Wicher Bergsma COL 6.06
Availability: Primarily for MSc Statistics, MSc Statistics (Research), MSc Statistics (Financial Statistics) and MSc Statistics (Financial Statistics) (Research) also available as an option to MSc Econometrics and Mathematical Economics students.
Pre-requisites: Statistical Inference to the level of ST425. It is useful to take ST411 Regression, Diagnostics and Generalized Linear Modelling in parallel to this course.
Course content: Our aim is to teach students important statistical methodologies that reflect the exciting development of the subject over the last ten years, which include empirical likelihood, MCMC, bootstrap, local likelihood and local fitting, model Assessment and selection methods, boosting, support vector machines. These are computationally intensive techniques that are particularly powerful in analysing large-scale data sets with complex structure.
Teaching: Lectures: 20 LT, Classes: five LT, Computer sessions: five LT.
Assessment: Two-hour written examination in the ST.

ST422 Half Unit
Time Series
This information is for the 2012/13 session.
Teacher responsible: Dr. Clifford Lam COL 6.09
Availability: Primarily for MSc Statistics, MSc Statistics (Research), MSc Statistics (Financial Statistics), MSc Statistics (Financial Statistics) (Research), MSc Management Science (Operational Research), MSc Applicable Mathematics, MSc Financial Mathematics, MSc Risk and Stochastics, MSc Econometrics and Mathematical Economics.
Pre-requisites: Good undergraduate knowledge of statistics and probability.
Course content: A broad introduction to statistical time series analysis for postgraduates: what time series analysis can be useful for; autocorrelation; stationarity; basic time series models: AR, MA, ARMA; ARCH and GARCH models for financial time series; trend removal and seasonal adjustment; invertibility; spectral analysis; estimation; forecasting. If time permits, we will also discuss nonstationarity and bivariate time series.
Teaching: Lectures: 20 MT. Seminars: 10 MT.
Assessment: Two-hour written examination in the ST.

ST425 Statistical Inference: Principles, Methods and Computation
This information is for the 2012/13 session.
Teacher responsible: Prof. Qiwei Yao COL 7.16
Availability: Compulsory for MSc Statistics, MSc Statistics (Research), MSc Statistics (Financial Statistics) and MSc Statistics (Financial Statistics) (Research). Optional on MSc Social Research Methods. Available as an outside option where regulations permit and with the permission of the teacher responsible. Also open to General course students.

Course content: The course will provide a comprehensive coverage on some fundamental aspects of probability and statistics methods and principles. It also covers linear regression analysis. Data illustration using statistical package R constitutes an integral part throughout the course, therefore provides the hands-on experience in simulation and data analysis.

Teaching: 40 hours of lectures. 10 hours of seminars and 10 hours of computer workshops in the Michaelmas Term.

Formative coursework: Weekly assessed problem sheets.

Indicative reading: L. Wasserman, All of Statistics.

ST433 Half Unit
Computational Methods in Finance and Insurance

This information is for the 2012/13 session.

Teacher responsible: Dr. Umut Celin COL 6.08

Availability: This course is compulsory for MSc Risk and Stochastics and is also available for students on MSc Statistics (Financial Statistics) and MSc Statistics (Financial Statistics) (Research), MSc Financial Mathematics, MSc Accounting and Finance, MSc Finance, and MSc Management of Risk and Regulation.

Pre-requisites: MA400 September Introductory Course (Financial Mathematics)

Course content: The purpose of this course is to (a) develop the students’ computational skills, (b) introduce a range of numerical techniques of importance in actuarial and financial engineering, and (c) develop the ability of the students to apply the theory from the taught courses to practical problems, work out solutions including numerical work, and to present the results in a written report.

Binomial and trinomial trees. Random number generation, the fundamentals of Monte Carlo simulation and a number of related issues. Finite difference schemes for the solution of ordinary and partial differential equations arising in insurance and finance.

Teaching: 10 support lectures (MA417) in MT and 20 lectures (MA417) in LT, and 10 lectures in (ST443.A) in LT.

Formative coursework: Weekly assessed problem sheets.

ST435 Half Unit
Advanced Probability Theory

This information is for the 2012/13 session.

Teachers responsible: Dr. Erik Baurdoux COL 6.04

Availability: This course is an option on MSc Risk and Stochastics, MSc Statistics (Financial Statistics) and MSc Statistics (Financial Statistics) (Research). It is available for Postgraduate taught and Research students across the School, timetabling permitting. The course is offered as a regular examinable half-unit as well as a service to students and academic staff.

Pre-requisites: Analysis and algebra at the level of a BSc in pure or applied mathematics and basic statistics and probability theory with stochastic processes. Knowledge of measure theory is not required as the course gives a self-contained introduction to this branch of analysis.

Course content: The course covers core topics in measure theoretic probability and modern stochastic calculus, thus laying a rigorous foundation for studies in statistics, actuarial science, financial mathematics, economics, and other areas where uncertainty is essential and needs to be described with advanced probability models. Emphasis is on probability theory as such rather than on special models occurring in its applications.

Brief revision of mathematical tools: set theory, logics, techniques of proof, real and complex numbers, sequences, functions, metric spaces, notions of limits and convergence, continuity, differentiation and integration. Brief review of basic probability concepts in a measure theoretic setting: probability spaces, random variables, expected value, conditional probability and expectation, independence, Borel-Cantelli lemmas Construction of probability spaces with emphasis on stochastic processes. Operator methods in probability: generating functions, moment generating functions, Laplace transforms, and characteristic functions. Notions of convergence: convergence in probability and weak laws of large numbers, convergence almost surely and strong laws of large numbers, convergence of probability measures and central limit theorems. If time permits and depending on the interest of the students topics from stochastic calculus might be covered as well.

Teaching: Thirty hours of lectures in the MT.

Formative coursework: Exercises are set weekly and solutions are discussed in the lectures. There will be two rounds of compulsory written coursework which will be marked, one in the MT and one in the LT.

Assessment: One two-hour written examination in the ST (100%).

ST436 Half Unit
Financial Statistics

This information is for the 2012/13 session.

Teacher responsible: Professor Piotr Fryzlewicz COL 6.01

Availability: Compulsory on MSc Statistics (Financial Statistics) and MSc Statistics (Financial Statistics) (Research). Optional on MSc Risk and Stochastics. Available as an outside option with permission.

Pre-requisites: Statistical knowledge equivalent to ST425 Statistical Inference: Principles, Methods and Computation.

Course content: The course covers key statistical methods and data analytic techniques most relevant to finance. Hands-on experience in analysing financial data in the “R” environment is an essential part of the course. The course includes a selection of the following topics: time series modelling for asset returns and their stylized facts, conditional heteroscedastic models, efficient portfolios and CAPM, multifactor pricing models, intertemporal equilibrium models, present-value models, simulation methods for derivative pricing, statistical inference for high-frequency data, forecast and management of market risks.

Teaching: 20 one-hour lectures and ten one-hour seminars in the LT.

Formative coursework: Weekly problem sheets, with solutions discussed in class and posted on Moodle. In addition, two of these sets of exercised will be marked, with written feedback.
Ait-Sahalia, Y., Fan, J., Wang, Y. and Yao, Q. Financial Econometrics. (under preparation.)
Assessment: A two-hour examination in the ST (100%).

ST437 Half Unit
Life Insurance
This information is for the 2012/13 session.
Teacher responsible: Dr Hao Xing COL 7.12
Availability: Compulsory on MSc Risk and Stochastics. Optional on MSc Statistics (Financial Statistics), MSc Statistics (Financial Statistics) (Research), and MSc Financial Mathematics. Also available as an outside option where regulations permit.
Pre-requisites: ST302 Stochastic Processes and ST202 Probability, Distribution Theory and Inference, or MA400 September Introductory course, or equivalent.
Course content: A self-contained, comprehensive introduction to life and pensions insurance mathematics based on the theory of stochastic processes, notably counting processes and their associated counting martingales. A variety of insurance schemes are analysed, ranging from the traditional participating policy to modern index-linked insurance with benefits dependent on prices of traded securities or other market indices. An introduction to statistical life history analysis is part of the course. The time continuous non-homogeneous Markov chain model for life histories and developments of life insurance policies. Extension to semi-Markov chains. Diffusion and jump process models for financial markets. Actuarial analysis of basic insurance products: life endowment, life annuity, life assurance, and disability insurance. Extension to the general multi-state policy. The participating policy; surplus and bonus. Index-linked benefits (unit-linked, salary-dependent and others). Pricing of embedded interest and mortality guarantees. Defined benefits vs defined contributions. Risk minimization in the framework of theory of incomplete financial markets. Portfolio analysis of combined insurance risk and financial risk; solvency and market value of insurance companies. Pension funding. Statistical life history analysis.
Teaching: 10 x two-hour lectures and 10 x one-hour seminars in the MT.
Formative coursework: A weekly set of homework will be set. Students are not expected to submit this homework but will go over the exercises in the following seminar with the lecturer. Students will also complete one or two sets of formative coursework during the year which will be marked. Feedback will be provided.
Indicative reading: R Norberg, Risk and Stochastics in Life Insurance (Lecture notes)
P K Andersen, O Borgan, R D Gill & N Keiding, Statistical Models Based on Counting Processes;
Further material will be specified during the course.
Assessment: One two-hour exam in the ST (100%).

ST438 Half Unit
Non-Life Insurance
This information is for the 2012/13 session.
Teacher responsible: Dr Hao Xing COL 7.12
Availability: Compulsory on MSc Risk and Stochastics. Optional on MSc Statistics (Financial Statistics), MSc Statistics (Financial Statistics) (Research) and MSc Financial Mathematics. Available as an outside option where regulations permit.
Pre-requisites: ST302 Stochastic Processes and ST202 Probability, Distribution Theory and Inference, or MA400 September Introductory course, or equivalent.
Course content: This module covers the core matter of mathematical risk theory. It gives precise content to the notion of (insurable) risk and presents theories for how to mitigate and possibly eliminate such risk through insurance schemes and, at the level of the insurance companies, through reinsurance. Emphasis is on principles for pricing of insurance products and on solvency control of insurers. Axiomatic approach to ordering of risks; expected utility; optimal forms of insurance from the insured's and from the insurer's point of view, Pareto-optimal risk exchanges. Premium principles and ordering of risks (stop-loss, convex, and other orders). Ruin theory in various model scenarios including catastrophe risk and investment risk, with application to the issue of optimal reinsurance. Evaluation of total claims distributions for risk portfolios. Value at Risk (VaR). Claims reserving in non-life insurance - a marked point process approach.
Teaching: 10 x two-hour lectures and 10 x one-hour seminars in the MT. One revision session in the ST.
Formative coursework: A set of coursework similar to the exercises that will appear in the exam will be assigned.
Indicative reading: P K Andersen, O Borgan, R D Gill & N Keiding, Statistical Models Based on Counting Processes;
R Norberg, Non-life Insurance Mathematics (Lecture notes)
T Mikosch, Non-Life Insurance Mathematics.
Further material will be specified during the course.
Assessment: One two-hour exam in the ST (100%).

ST439 Half Unit
Stochastics for Derivatives Modelling
This information is for the 2012/13 session.
Teacher responsible: Dr Andrew Jack COL 6.02
Availability: Compulsory on MSc Risk and Stochastics. Optional on MSc Statistics (Financial Statistics), MSc Statistics (Financial Statistics) (Research) and MSc Financial Mathematics. Available as an outside option where regulations permit.
Pre-requisites: ST409 Stochastic Processes
Teaching: 30 hours of seminars in Lent Term.
Formative coursework: A weekly set of homework will be set. Students are not expected to submit this homework but will go over the exercises in the following seminar with the lecturer. Students will also complete one or two sets of formative coursework during the year which will be marked. Feedback will be provided.
Selected papers from scientific journals.
Steven Shreve, Stochastic Calculus for Finance II: Continuous-Time Models, Springer
Thorsten Rheinlander and Jenny Sexton, Hedging Derivatives, World Scientific
Assessment: One two-hour examination in the ST (100%).

ST440 Half Unit
Recent Developments in Finance and Insurance
This information is for the 2012/13 session.
Teacher responsible: Dr Erik Baurdoux COL 6.04
Availability: Compulsory on MSc Risk and Stochastics. Optional on MSc Statistics (Financial Statistics), MSc Statistics (Financial Statistics)
ST499 Dissertation

This information is for the 2012/13 session.

Teacher responsible: Professor Piotr Fryzlewicz, COL7.08

Availability: MSc Statistics (Research) and MSc Statistics (Financial Statistics) (Research).

Course content: Independent project work on a subject chosen by the student.

Assessment: Dissertation to be submitted in mid-September (50 page limit).

---

ST441 Half Unit

Introduction to Markov Processes and Their Applications

This information is for the 2012/13 session.

Teacher responsible: Dr Umut Cetin COL 6.08

Availability: Optional on MSc Risk and Stochastics, MSc Statistics (Financial Statistics), MSc Statistics (Financial Statistics) (Research), and MSc Financial Mathematics. Also available as an outside option where regulations permit

Pre-requisites: ST409 Stochastic Processes

Teaching: 20 hours of lectures and 10 hours of seminars in the LT. One x 3-hour session is also held in LT for joint student presentations.

Formative coursework: A weekly set of homework will be set. Students are not expected to submit this homework but will go over the exercises in the following seminar with the lecturer. Students will also complete one or two sets of formative coursework during the year which will be marked. Feedback will be provided.

Indicative reading: An Introduction to Markov Processes and Their Applications. Lecture Notes by Umut Cetin

I. Karatzas and S. Shreve: Brownian Motion and Stochastic Calculus. Springer

D. Revuz and M. Yor: Continuous Martingales and Brownian Motion. Springer

Assessment: One two-hour exam in ST (80%) and one joint presentation (20%).

---

ST450 Advanced Lectures on Special Topics in Statistics

This information is for the 2012/13 session.

Teacher responsible: TBA

Seminar series. Please refer to Departmental web page for details.

www2.lse.ac.uk/statistics/home.aspx
Language Centre
Courses
Modern Foreign Language Certificate Courses

LN701
Arabic: Level One (Standard)
This information is for the 2012/13 session.
Teacher responsible:
Lourdes Hernández-Martin
Pre-requisites:
No previous knowledge of Modern Standard Arabic is required. All students welcome but they should:
(1) Demonstrate commitment to regular attendance, completion of homework, completion of the dossier and all assessments
(2) Dedicate at least two hours per week for coursework in addition to classes
Admission to the course upon tutor’s approval during the information sessions.
Course content:
(1) To develop the ability to use Arabic effectively for purposes of practical communication at survival level
(2) The course introduces the students to the Arabic writing system and enables them to read and write basic words and sentences.
They will learn also how to use the Arabic dictionary.
(3) To deal with a range of predictable simple language tasks using a limited range of language
(4) To establish the skills, language and attitudes required to promote and facilitate further study of Arabic
(5) To bring the students to level A1 of Common European Framework.
Teaching:
• All courses follow the dates of the LSE teaching year.
• Please refer to the LSE timetable for course teaching arrangements.
Assessment:
Students will be awarded an LSE certificate of proficiency on completion of the course and after passing the following elements:
(1) Continuous Assessment (50%) consisting of 10 pieces of coursework set by the class teacher to be handed in, either electronically or as hardcopy, at set deadlines.
(2) Final Oral Assessment (30%) to take place from week 1 in the Summer Term.
(3) Final Written Assessment (20%) to take place in week 9 or 10 of the Lent Term.

LN702
Arabic: Level One (Fast Track for Learners Familiar with Arabic Script)
This information is for the 2012/13 session.
Pre-requisites:
(1) Students who have previously learnt the ‘Communicative Content’ and ‘Structural Content of Level 1 Standard (LN701), see Language Centre website.
(2) Students should demonstrate commitment to regular attendance, completion of homework, completion of the dossier and all assessments
(3) Students should dedicate at least two hours per week for coursework in addition to classes.
(4) Admission to the course upon tutor’s approval during the information sessions.
Course content:
(1) To develop the ability to use Arabic effectively for purposes of practical communication at survival level
(2) The course enable students to read and write basic words and sentences
(3) To deal with a range of predictable simple language tasks using a limited range of language
(4) To establish the skills, language and attitudes required to promote and facilitate further study of Arabic
(5) To bring the students to level A1+ of Common European Framework.
Teaching:
• All courses follow the dates of the LSE teaching year.
• Please refer to the LSE timetable for course teaching arrangements.
Assessment:
Students will be awarded an LSE certificate of proficiency on completion of the course and after passing the following elements:
(1) Continuous Assessment (50%) consisting of 10 pieces of coursework set by the class teacher to be handed in, either electronically or as hardcopy, at set deadlines.
(2) Final Oral Assessment (30%) to take place from week 1 in the Summer Term.
(3) Final Written Assessment (20%) to take place in week 9 or 10 of the Lent Term.

LN703
Arabic: Level Two (Standard)
This information is for the 2012/13 session.
Teacher responsible:
Lourdes Hernández-Martin
Pre-requisites:
(1) Students who have previously learnt the ‘Communicative Content’ and ‘Structural Content of Level 1 Standard (LN701), see Language Centre website.
(2) Students should demonstrate commitment to regular attendance, completion of homework, completion of the dossier and all assessments
(3) Students should dedicate at least two hours per week for coursework in addition to classes.
(4) Admission to the course upon completion of level test and tutor’s approval.
Course content:
(1) To use Arabic effectively for purposes of practical communication and reading comprehension in familiar work and social contexts
(2) To establish the skills, language and attitudes required to promote and facilitate further study of Arabic
(5) To bring the students to level A2 of Common European Framework.
Teaching:
• All courses follow the dates of the LSE teaching year.
• Please refer to the LSE timetable for course teaching arrangements.
Assessment:
Students will be awarded an LSE certificate of proficiency on completion of the course and after passing the following elements:
(1) Continuous Assessment (50%) consisting of 10 pieces of coursework set by the class teacher to be handed in, either electronically or as hardcopy, at set deadlines.
(2) Final Oral Assessment (30%) to take place from week 1 in the Summer Term.
(3) Final Written Assessment (20%) to take place in week 9 or 10 of the Lent Term.

LN704
Arabic: Level Two (Fast Track)
This information is for the 2012/13 session.
Teacher responsible:
LN705
Arabic: Level Three (Standard)
This information is for the 2012/13 session.
Teacher responsible:
Lourdes Hernández-Martin
Pre-requisites:
(1) Students who have previously learnt the 'Communicative Content' and 'Structural Content of Level 2 Fast Track (LN702), see Language Centre website.
(2) Students should demonstrate commitment to regular attendance, completion of homework, completion of the dossier and all assessments
(3) Students should dedicate at least two hours per week for coursework in addition to classes.
(4) Admission to the course upon completion of level test and tutor's approval.
Course content:
(1) To use Arabic effectively for purposes of practical communication and reading comprehension in familiar work and social contexts
(2) To establish the skills, language and attitudes required to promote and facilitate further study of Arabic.
(5) To bring the students to level A2 of Common European Framework.
Teaching:
• All courses follow the dates of the LSE teaching year.
• Please refer to the LSE timetable for course teaching arrangements.
Assessment:
Students will be awarded an LSE certificate of proficiency on completion of the course and after passing the following elements:
(1) Continuous Assessment (50%) consisting of 10 pieces of coursework set by the class teacher to be handed in, either electronically or as hardcopy, at set deadlines.
(2) Final Oral Assessment (30%) to take place from week 1 in the Summer Term.
(3) Final Written Assessment (20%) to take place in week 9 or 10 of the Lent Term.

LN707
Arabic: Level Four (Standard)
This information is for the 2012/13 session.
Teacher responsible:
Lourdes Hernández-Martin
Pre-requisites:
Students who have previously learnt the 'Communicative Content' and 'Structural Content of Level 3 Standard (LN705), see Language Centre website.
Admission to the course upon completion of level test and tutor's approval.
Course content:
To extend the ability to use Arabic effectively for purposes of general communication.
To establish the skills, language and attitudes required to promote and facilitate further study of Arabic.
Teaching:
• All courses follow the dates of the LSE teaching year.
• Please refer to the LSE timetable for course teaching arrangements.
Assessment:
Students will be awarded an LSE certificate of proficiency on completion of the course and after passing the following elements:
(1) Continuous Assessment (50%) consisting of 10 pieces of coursework set by the class teacher to be handed in, either electronically or as hardcopy, at set deadlines.
(2) Final Oral Assessment (30%) to take place from week 1 in the Summer Term.
(3) Final Written Assessment (20%) to take place in week 9 or 10 of the Lent Term.

LN709
Arabic: Level Five (Standard)
This information is for the 2012/13 session.
Teacher responsible:
Lourdes Hernández-Martin
Pre-requisites:
Students who have previously learnt the ‘Communicative Content’ and ‘Structural Content of Level 4 Standard (LN707), see Language Centre website.
Admission to the course upon completion of level test and tutor's approval.
Course content:
To further extend the ability to use Arabic effectively for purposes of general communication.
To establish the skills, language and attitudes required to promote and facilitate further study of Arabic.
Teaching:
• All courses follow the dates of the LSE teaching year.
• Please refer to the LSE timetable for course teaching arrangements.
Assessment:
Students will be awarded an LSE certificate of proficiency on completion of the course and after passing the following elements:
(1) Continuous Assessment (50%) consisting of 10 pieces of coursework set by the class teacher to be handed in, either electronically or as hardcopy, at set deadlines.
(2) Final Oral Assessment (30%) to take place from week 1 in the Summer Term.
(3) Final Written Assessment (20%) to take place in week 9 or 10 of the Lent Term.
LN796
Catalan: Level One (Standard)
This information is for the 2012/13 session.
Teacher responsible: Mercedes Coca
Pre-requisites:
For all students who aim to acquire survival level of proficiency in Catalan.
Course content:
1. To develop the ability to use Catalan effectively for purposes of practical communication in familiar work and social context.
2. To improve the 4 skills with special focus on listening and speaking.
3. To be able to interact in Catalan common situations.
4. To acquire a good range of vocabulary.
5. To have a good basis to continue in the study of the language at higher levels
6. To bring the students to level A1-A2 of CEFR
Teaching:
- All courses follow the dates of the LSE teaching year.
- Please refer to the LSE timetable for course teaching arrangements.
Assessment:
Students will be awarded an LSE certificate of proficiency on completion of the course and after passing the following elements:
1. Continuous Assessment (50%) consisting of 10 pieces of coursework set by the class teacher to be handed in, either electronically or as hardcopy, at set deadlines.
2. Final Oral Assessment (30%) to take place from week 1 in the Summer Term.
3. Final Written Assessment (20%) to take place in weeks 9 or 10 of the Lent Term.

LN722
French: Level One (Fast Track)
This information is for the 2012/13 session.
Teacher responsible: Christophe Millar
Pre-requisites:
(1) No previously knowledge required. It may be suitable for re-starters.
(2) Demonstrate commitment to regular attendance, completion of homework, completion of the dossier and all assessments.
(3) Dedicate at least two hours per week for coursework in addition to classes
Course content:
1. To develop the ability to use French effectively for purposes of practical communication and reading comprehension.
2. To establish the skills, language and attitudes required to promote and facilitate further study of French.
3. To bring students to level A1-A2 of CEFR
Teaching:
- All courses follow the dates of the LSE teaching year.
- Please refer to the LSE timetable for course teaching arrangements.
Assessment:
Students will be awarded an LSE certificate of proficiency on completion of the course and after passing the following elements:
1. Continuous Assessment (50%) consisting of 10 pieces of coursework set by the class teacher to be handed in, either electronically or as hardcopy, at set deadlines.
2. Final Oral Assessment (30%) to take place in the Summer Term.
3. Final Written Assessment (20%) to take place in week 9 or 10 of the Lent Term.

LN721
French: Level One (Standard)
This information is for the 2012/13 session.
Teacher responsible: Christophe Millar
Pre-requisites:
No previously knowledge required. All students welcome but they should:
1. Demonstrate commitment to regular attendance, completion of homework, completion of the dossier and all assessments.
2. Dedicate at least one hour per week for coursework in addition to classes.
Course content:
1. To develop the ability to use French effectively for purposes of practical communication and reading comprehension.
2. To establish the skills, language and attitudes required to promote and facilitate further study of French.
3. To bring students to level A1 of CEFR
Teaching:
- All courses follow the dates of the LSE teaching year.
- Please refer to the LSE timetable for course teaching arrangements.
Assessment:
Students will be awarded an LSE certificate of proficiency on completion of the course and after passing the following elements:
1. Continuous Assessment (50%) consisting of 10 pieces of coursework set by the class teacher to be handed in, either electronically or as hardcopy, at set deadlines.
2. Final Oral Assessment (30%) to take place in the Summer Term.
3. Final Written Assessment (20%) to take place in weeks 9 or 10 of the Lent Term.

LN723
French: Level Two (Standard)
This information is for the 2012/13 session.
Teacher responsible: Christophe Millar
Pre-requisites:
Forty to 60 hours including self-study, or 2, 3 years at secondary school (under 16) and students should:
1. Demonstrate commitment to regular attendance, completion of homework, completion of dossier of evidence and all assessments.
2. Have both an awareness of grammatical structures and an ability to use them.
3. Dedicate at least one hour per week for coursework in addition to classes.
Course content:
Speaking:
Use a series of phrases and sentences to describe in simple terms family and other people, living conditions, educational background and present or most recent work. Produce talks on simple topics relating to the Social Sciences.
Writing:
Communicate in simple and routine tasks requiring a simple and direct exchange of information on familiar topics.
Listening:
Understand phrases and the highest frequency vocabulary related not only to areas of most immediate personal relevance (e.g., personal and familiar information, shopping, local geography, and employment), but also to topic areas relating to Social Sciences.
Reading:
Read short, simple texts, find specific, predictable information in everyday material such as advertisements, prospectuses, menus and timetables, and understand items of both personal and professional written communication e.g., E-mail and web-based material + social science related articles.
To bring students to level A2-B1 of CEFR.

Teaching:
• All courses follow the dates of the LSE teaching year.
• Please refer to the LSE timetable for course teaching arrangements.

Assessment:
Students will be awarded an LSE certificate of proficiency on completion of the course and after passing the following elements:
(1) Continuous Assessment (50%) consisting of 10 pieces of coursework set by the class teacher to be handed in, either electronically or as hardcopy, at set deadlines.
(2) Final Oral Assessment (30%) to take place in the Summer Term.
(3) Final Written Assessment (20%) to take place in week 9 or 10 of the Lent Term

---

LN726
French: Level Three (CIA)
This information is for the 2012/13 session.
Teacher responsible:
Christophe Millart

Pre-requisites:
This level is suitable for students from the Courtauld Institute of Arts who learnt French for some time (a few years) a long time ago (secondary school). A good foundation but finds it difficult to express themselves mostly orally. This level can also be taken by GCSE students from LSE.

Admission to the course upon completion of online level test and tutor’s approval during needs analysis.

Course content:
(1) Consolidation of major grammatical points (direct , indirect pronouns y & en…)
(2) Perfect, past tenses, conditional
(3) Present tense irregular verbs consolidation
(4) Question formation with a wide range of tenses
(5) Adjectives, place, agreement
(6) Express duration (depuis, pendant, pour)
(7) Use of relative pronouns qui/ que and ce qui/ ce que.

Teaching:
• All courses follow the dates of the LSE teaching year.
• Please refer to the LSE timetable for course teaching arrangements.

Assessment:
Students will be awarded an LSE certificate of proficiency on completion of the course and after passing the following elements:
(a) Continuous Assessment (50%) consisting of 10 pieces of coursework set by the class teacher to be handed in, either electronically or as hardcopy, at set deadlines.
(b) Final Oral Assessment (30%) to take place in the Summer Term.
(c) Final Written Assessment (20%) to take place in week 9 or 10 of the Lent Term.

---

LN727
French: Level Three (Standard)
This information is for the 2012/13 session.
Teacher responsible:
Christophe Millart

Pre-requisites:
This level is suitable for students who learnt French for some time (a few years) a long time ago (secondary school). A good foundation but finds it difficult to express themselves mostly orally. This level can also be taken by GCSE students.

SPEAKING:
Use simple phrases and sentences to describe where they live and people they know. Speak about what they study, and be able to function within a range of basic activities relating to work, study or time spent in the country.

WRITING:
Write short, simple greetings. Fill in forms with personal details, basic communication in e-mails, or short descriptions or paragraphs relating to an area of interest in the Social Sciences.

LISTENING:
Recognise familiar words and very basic phrases concerning self, family and immediate concrete surroundings when people speak slowly and clearly. Understand short excerpts from current affairs, programmes or news items on TV and Radio.

READING:
Understand the gist of and some details of original text extracts, for example on notices, posters, in newspapers, adverts and on the web, and in simple articles relating to the Social Sciences.
Admission to the course upon completion of online level test and tutor’s approval during needs analysis.

Course content:

SPEAKING AND SPOKEN INTERACTION:
Use a series of phrases and sentences to describe in simple terms family and other people, living conditions, educational background and present or most recent work. Produce talks on simple topics relating to the Social Sciences. Communicate in simple and routine tasks requiring a simple and direct exchange of information on familiar topics and express opinions in discussion of familiar topics.

WRITING:
Write short simple notes, messages and e-mails relating to matters in areas of immediate need or paragraphs or short essays in areas of interest relating to the Social Sciences.

LISTENING:
Understand phrases and the highest frequency vocabulary related not only to areas of most immediate personal relevance (e.g., personal and familiar information, shopping, local geography, and employment), but also to topic areas relating to the Social Sciences.

READING:
Read short and simple texts related to news and current issues, find specific, predictable information in simple everyday material such as advertisements, prospectuses, menus and timetables, and understand items of both personal and professional written communication e.g., Email and web-based material + social science related articles.

To bring students to level B1 of CEFR

Teaching:
- All courses follow the dates of the LSE teaching year.
- Please refer to the LSE timetable for course teaching arrangements.

Assessment:
Students will be awarded an LSE certificate of proficiency on completion of the course and after passing the following elements:
1. (1) Continuous Assessment (50%) consisting of 10 pieces of coursework set by the class teacher to be handed in, either electronically or as hardcopy, at set deadlines.
2. (2) Final Oral Assessment (30%) to take place in the Summer Term.
3. (3) Final Written Assessment (20%) to take place in week 9 or 10 of the Lent Term

---

LN728

French: Level Three (Fast Track)

This information is for the 2012/13 session.

Teacher responsible:
Christophe Millart

Pre-requisites:
This level is suitable for students who learnt French for some time (a few years) a long time ago (secondary school). A good foundation in the target language. Students express themselves with confidence or at least are willing to try. This level can also be taken by GCSE students.

SPEAKING:
Use simple phrases and sentences to describe where they live and people they know. Speak about what they study, and be able to function within a range of basic activities relating to work, study or time spent in the country.

WRITING:
Write short, simple greetings. Fill in forms with personal details, basic communication in e-mails, or short descriptions or paragraphs relating to an area of interest in the Social Sciences.

LISTENING:
Recognise familiar words and very basic phrases concerning self, family and immediate concrete surroundings when people speak slowly and clearly. Understand short excerpts from current affairs, programmes or news items on TV and Radio.

READING:
Understand the gist of and some details of original text extracts, for example on notices, posters, in newspapers, adverts and on the web, and in simple articles relating to the Social Sciences.

---

LN729

French: Level Four (Standard)

This information is for the 2012/13 session.

Teacher responsible:
Christophe Millart

Pre-requisites:
Two hundred and fifty hours including self-study (16+), AS-level or six/seven years at school level. Low pass mark at A-level.

SPEAKING AND SPOKEN INTERACTION:
Use a series of phrases and sentences to describe in simple terms family and other people, living conditions, educational background and present or most recent work. Produce talks on simple topics relating to the Social Sciences. Communicate in simple and routine tasks requiring a simple and direct exchange of information on familiar topics.

WRITING:
Write short simple notes, messages and e-mails relating to matters in areas of immediate need or paragraphs or short essays in areas of interest relating to the Social Sciences.

LISTENING:
Understand phrases and the highest frequency vocabulary related not only to areas of most immediate personal relevance (e.g., personal and familiar information, shopping, local geography, and employment), but also to topic areas relating to the Social Sciences.

READING:
Read short and simple texts related to news and current issues, find specific, predictable information in simple everyday material such as advertisements, prospectuses, menus and timetables, and understand items of both personal and professional written communication e.g., Email and web-based material + social science related articles.

To bring students to level B1 of CEFR

Teaching:
- All courses follow the dates of the LSE teaching year.
- Please refer to the LSE timetable for course teaching arrangements.

Assessment:
Students will be awarded an LSE certificate of proficiency on completion of the course and after passing the following elements:
1. (1) Continuous Assessment (50%) consisting of 10 pieces of coursework set by the class teacher to be handed in, either electronically or as hardcopy, at set deadlines.
2. (2) Final Oral Assessment (30%) to take place in the Summer Term.
3. (3) Final Written Assessment (20%) to take place in week 9 or 10 of the Lent Term
Read very short, simple texts, find specific, predictable information in simple everyday material such as advertisements, prospectuses, menus and timetables, and understand items of both personal and professional written communication e.g., Email and web-based material.

Admission to the course upon completion of online level test and tutor's approval during needs analysis.

Course content:
SPEAKING AND SPOKEN INTERACTION:
Connect phrases adequately in order to describe experiences events, hopes and ambitions. Briefly give reasons and explanations for opinions and plans relating to study or areas of interest relating to the Social Sciences. Deal with most situations likely to arise whilst travelling in an area where the language is spoken. Enter unprepared into a conversation on topics that are familiar.

WRITING:
Write simple connected text on topics that are familiar or of personal interest. Write longer texts, which describe experiences and impressions, and write on areas of interest, which relate to the Social Sciences.

LISTENING:
Understand the main points of clear standard speech on familiar matters regularly encountered in work, university, leisure, etc., understand the main point of many radio or TV programs on current affairs or topics of personal or professional interest when the delivery is relatively paced and clear.

READING:
Understand texts that consist of high frequency everyday or job-related language, understand the description of events, feelings and wishes in personal communication. In areas relating to the Social Sciences, gist comprehension should be feasible in a variety of topics taken from a variety of authentic sources.

To bring students to level B1-B2 of CER

Teaching:
• All courses follow the dates of the LSE teaching year.
• Please refer to the LSE timetable for course teaching arrangements.

Assessment:
Students will be awarded an LSE certificate of proficiency on completion of the course and after passing the following elements:
(1) Continuous Assessment (50%) consisting of 10 pieces of coursework set by the class teacher to be handed in, either electronically or as hardcopy, at set deadlines.
(2) Final Oral Assessment (30%) to take place in the Summer Term.
(3) Final Written Assessment (20%) to take place in week 9 or 10 of the Lent Term.

LN730
French: Level Four (Fast Track)
This information is for the 2012/13 session.
Teacher responsible:
Christophe Millart
Pre-requisites:
Two hundred and fifty hours including self-study (16+), AS-level or six/seven years at school level. Low pass mark at A-level.

SPEAKING AND SPOKEN INTERACTION:
Use a series of phrases and sentences to describe in simple terms family and other people, living conditions, educational background and present or most recent work. Produce talks on simple topics relating to the Social Sciences. Communicate in simple and routine tasks requiring a simple and direct exchange of information on familiar topics.

WRITING:
Write short simple notes, messages and e-mails relating to matters in areas of immediate need or paragraphs or short essays in areas of interest relating to the Social Sciences.

LISTENING:
Understand phrases and the highest frequency vocabulary related not only to areas of most immediate personal relevance (e.g., personal and familiar information, shopping, local geography, and employment), but also to topic areas relating to the Social Sciences.

READING:
Read very short, simple texts, find specific, predictable information in simple everyday material such as advertisements, prospectuses, menus and timetables, and understand items of both personal and professional written communication e.g., Email and web-based material.

Admission to the course upon completion of online level test and tutor's approval during needs analysis.

Course content:
SPEAKING AND SPOKEN INTERACTION:
Connect phrases adequately in order to describe experiences events, hopes and ambitions. Briefly give reasons and explanations for opinions and plans relating to study or areas of interest relating to the Social Sciences. Deal with most situations likely to arise whilst travelling in an area where the language is spoken. Enter unprepared into a conversation on topics that are familiar.

WRITING:
Write simple connected text on topics that are familiar or of personal interest. Write longer texts, which describe experiences and impressions, and write on areas of interest, which relate to the Social Sciences.

LISTENING:
Understand the main points of clear standard speech on familiar matters regularly encountered in work, university, leisure, etc., understand the main point of many radio or TV programs on current affairs or topics of personal or professional interest when the delivery is relatively paced and clear.

READING:
Understand texts that consist of high frequency everyday or job-related language, understand the description of events, feelings and wishes in personal communication. In areas relating to the Social Sciences, gist comprehension should be feasible in a variety of topics taken from a variety of authentic sources.

To bring students to level B2-C1 of CER

Teaching:
• All courses follow the dates of the LSE teaching year.
• Please refer to the LSE timetable for course teaching arrangements.

Assessment:
Students will be awarded an LSE certificate of proficiency on completion of the course and after passing the following elements:
(1) Continuous Assessment (50%) consisting of 10 pieces of coursework set by the class teacher to be handed in, either electronically or as hardcopy, at set deadlines.
(2) Final Oral Assessment (30%) to take place in the Summer Term.
(3) Final Written Assessment (20%) to take place in week 9 or 10 of the Lent Term.

LN731
French: Level Four (Grammar)
This information is for the 2012/13 session.
Teacher responsible:
Christophe Millart
Pre-requisites:
One hundred and fifty to two hundred hours including self-study (16+), good GCSE or four/five years at school level. Admission to the course upon completion of online level test and tutor’s approval during needs analysis.

Course content:
To establish the grammar awareness required to promote and facility further study of French.

To bring students to Level B2-C1 of CEFR.

Teaching:
• All courses follow the dates of the LSE teaching year.
• Please refer to the LSE timetable for course teaching arrangements.
Assessment:
Students will be awarded an LSE certificate of proficiency on completion of the course and after passing the following elements:
(1) Continuous Assessment (50%) consisting of 5 pieces of coursework set by the class teacher to be handed in, either electronically or as hardcopy, at set deadlines.
(2) Final Oral Assessment (30%) to take place in the Summer Term.
(3) Final Written Assessment (20%) to take place in week 9 or 10 of the Lent Term.

LN801
French: Level Four (Cinema and Society)
This information is for the 2012/13 session.
Teacher responsible:
Christophe Millart
Pre-requisites:
This is a HIGHER INTERMEDIATE course. Regarding what students should have previously learnt ‘Communicative Content’ and ‘Structural Content’ of Level 4 Standard (LN729), please see the Language Centre website. Students should have done 250 hours including self-study (16+), AS-level or six/seven years at school level. Low pass mark at A-level.
Candidates to this course should be able to:
(1) Read articles and reports concerned with contemporary problems in which the writers adopt particular stances or viewpoints.
(2) Understand texts of a more generalist nature relating to relevant areas of the Social Sciences.
(3) Understand extended speech and lectures and follow even complex lines of argument provided the topic is reasonably familiar.
(4) Understand most TV news, business and current affairs programmes. Understand the majority of films in standard dialect.
(5) Present clear, detailed descriptions on a wide range of subjects related to their field of interest. They can explain a viewpoint on a topical issue giving the advantages and disadvantages of various options.
(6) Interact with a degree of fluency and spontaneity that makes regular interaction with native speakers quite possible. They can take an active part in discussion in familiar contexts, accounting for and sustaining their views.
(7) Write clear, detailed text on a wide range of subjects related to their interests. Write an essay or report, passing on information or giving reasons in support or against a particular point of view. Writing letters highlighting the relevance of events and experience relating to business or other relevant Social Science topics.
Admission to the course upon completion of online level test and tutor’s approval during needs analysis.
Course content:
To develop the ability to speak and interact confidently in French in the formal context of a company and in situations related to business and management
(2) To develop the necessary intercultural skills which are needed in multicultural environments such as multinational companies
(3) To develop transferable skills to interact in meetings and social events.
(4) To bring students to level C2 of CEFR.COMMUNICATIVE
Teaching:
• All courses follow the dates of the LSE teaching year.
• Please refer to the LSE timetable for course teaching arrangements.
Assessment:
Students will be awarded an LSE certificate of proficiency on completion of the course and after passing the following elements:
(1) Continuous Assessment (50%) consisting of 10 pieces of coursework set by the class teacher to be handed in, either electronically or as hardcopy, at set deadlines.
(2) Final Oral Assessment (30%) to take place in the Summer Term.
(3) Final Written Assessment (20%) to take place in week 9 or 10 of the Lent Term.

LN734
French: Level Five (Management and Business)
This information is for the 2012/13 session.
Teacher responsible:
Christophe Millart
Pre-requisites:
Four hundred hours including self study (16+) Good A-Level pass. More than eight years at secondary school level. High level of ORAL fluency in the language.
Admission to the course upon completion of online level test and tutor’s approval during needs analysis.
Course content:
(1) To develop the ability to speak and interact confidently in French in the formal context of a company and in situations related to business and management
(2) To develop the necessary intercultural skills which are needed in multicultural environments such as multinational companies
(3) To develop transferable skills to interact in meetings and social events.
(4) To bring students to level C2 of CEFR.COMMUNICATIVE
Teaching:
• All courses follow the dates of the LSE teaching year.
• Please refer to the LSE timetable for course teaching arrangements.
Assessment:
Students will be awarded an LSE certificate of proficiency on completion of the course and after passing the following elements:
(1) Continuous Assessment (50%) consisting of 5 pieces of coursework set by the class teacher to be handed in, either electronically or as hardcopy, at set deadlines.
(2) Final Oral Assessment (30%) to take place in the Summer Term.
(3) Final Written Assessment (20%) to take place in week 9 or 10 of the Lent Term.

LN735
French: Level Five (Grammar Advanced)
This information is for the 2012/13 session.
Teacher responsible:
Christophe Millart
Pre-requisites:
Two hundred and fifty hours including self study (16+), AS Level or six/seven years at school level. High mark at A-Level
Admission to the course upon completion of online level test and tutor’s approval during needs analysis.
Course content:
To establish the grammar awareness required to promote and facility further study in French.
To bring students to level C1 of CEFR.

Teaching:
• All courses follow the dates of the LSE teaching year.
• Please refer to the LSE timetable for course teaching arrangements.

Assessment:
Students will be awarded an LSE certificate of proficiency on completion of the course and after passing the following elements:
(1) Continuous Assessment (50%) consisting of 5 pieces of coursework set by the class teacher to be handed in, either electronically or as hardcopy, at set deadlines.
(2) Final Oral Assessment (30%) to take place in the Summer Term.
(3) Final Written Assessment (20%) to take place in week 9 or 10 of the Lent Term.

LN737
French: Level Five (Legal Issues)
This information is for the 2012/13 session.

Teacher responsible:
Christophe Millart

Pre-requisites:
Four hundred hours including self study (16+). Good A-Level pass. More than eight years at secondary school level. High level of ORAL fluency in the language. Admission to the course upon completion of online level test and tutor's approval during needs analysis.

Course content:
(1) To be able to read and understand French specialised press, news and articles. You will also be able to discuss current topics and their effects on the French Legal system.
(2) To learn how to express logical argumentation in French
(3) To improve pronunciation by recording your voice via Wimba (Moodle).
(4) To find it helpful to discuss views with other French students and exchange documents using Moodle, should collaboration arise with French University.
(5) To bring students to level C2 of CEFR

Teaching:
• All courses follow the dates of the LSE teaching year.
• Please refer to the LSE timetable for course teaching arrangements.

Assessment:
Students will be awarded an LSE certificate of proficiency on completion of the course and after passing the following elements:
(1) Continuous Assessment (50%) consisting of 5 pieces of coursework set by the class teacher to be handed in, either electronically or as hardcopy, at set deadlines.
(2) Final Oral Assessment (30%) to take place in the Summer Term.
(3) Final Written Assessment (20%) to take place in week 9 or 10 of the Lent Term.

LN741
French: Level Five (Current Issues)
This information is for the 2012/13 session.

Teacher responsible:
Christophe Millart

Pre-requisites:
Four hundred hours including self study (16+). Good A-Level pass. More than eight years at school level. High level of ORAL fluency in the language. Admission to the course upon completion of online level test and tutor's approval during needs analysis.

Course content:
This is a proficiency course with a focus on current issues through a variety of media, especially visual.
(1) To develop the ability to speak and interact confidently in French in a wide range of an social contexts and situations and present clear, detailed descriptions of a wide range of subjects in the field of Social Sciences, integrating sub-themes, developing particular points and rounding off with an appropriate conclusion.
(2) To develop the necessary intercultural skills which are needed in multicultural environments.
(3) To develop transferable skills to interact in debates and meetings.
(4) To read articles and reports concerned with contemporary problems in which the writers adopt particular stances or viewpoints and understand texts of a more generalist nature relating to relevant areas of the Social Sciences.
(5) To understand more complex factual texts relating to Politics, International History, Economics and other associated areas.
(6) To follow TV programs and recorded material in both general and subject specific areas.
(7) To bring students to level C1 of CEFR.

Teaching:
• All courses follow the dates of the LSE teaching year.
• Please refer to the LSE timetable for course teaching arrangements.

Assessment:
Students will be awarded an LSE certificate of proficiency on completion of the course and after passing the following elements:
(1) Continuous Assessment (50%) consisting of 5 pieces of coursework set by the class teacher to be handed in, either electronically or as hardcopy, at set deadlines.
(2) Final Oral Assessment (30%) to take place in the Summer Term (20 week course) or at the beginning of the Lent Term (10 week course).
(3) Final Written Assessment (20%) to take place in week 9 or 10 of the Lent Term (20 week course) or in week 2 or 3 of the Lent Term (10 week course).

LN742
German: Level One (Standard)
This information is for the 2012/13 session.

Teacher responsible:
Dr Peter Skrandies

Pre-requisites:
All students welcome but they should:
(1) demonstrate commitment to regular attendance, completion of homework and all assessments
(2) dedicate at least two hours per week for coursework in addition to classes
Admission into the course upon tutor's approval during the information sessions.

Course content:
(1) To develop the ability to use German effectively for purposes of practical communication at survival level in familiar work and social contexts.
(2) To establish the skills, language and attitudes required to promote and facilitate further study of German.
(3) To acquire basic literacy.
(4) To master the pronunciation of German sounds
(5) To have basic knowledge of grammatical gender, word-formation, word-order in the sentence
(6) To deal with a range of predictable simple language tasks using a limited range of language to meet the needs of differing but familiar situations and topics.
(7) To familiarise students with the background to German speaking countries, including culture and civil societies.
(8) To bring students to level A1 CEFR

Teaching:
• All courses follow the dates of the LSE teaching year.
• Please refer to the LSE timetable for course teaching arrangements.

Assessment:
Students will be awarded an LSE certificate of proficiency on completion of the course and after passing the following elements:
(1) Continuous Assessment (50%) consisting of 10 pieces of coursework set by the class teacher to be handed in, either electronically or as hardcopy, at set deadlines.
(2) Final Oral Assessment (30%) to take place from week 1 in the Summer Term.
(3) Final Written Assessment (20%) to take place in weeks 9 or 10 of the Lent Term.

LN744
German: Level One (Fast Track)
This information is for the 2012/13 session.
Teacher responsible:
Dr Peter Skrandies
Pre-requisites:
No previous knowledge of German required but students should:
(1) demonstrate commitment to regular attendance, completion of homework and all assessments
(2) dedicate at least two hours per week for coursework in addition to classes
Admission into the course upon tutor's approval during the information sessions.

Course content:
(1) To develop the ability to use German effectively for purposes of practical communication at survival level in familiar work and social contexts.
(2) To establish the skills, language and attitudes required to promote and facilitate further study of German.
(3) To acquire basic literacy.
(4) To master the pronunciation of German sounds
(5) To have basic knowledge of grammatical gender, word-formation, word-order in the sentence
(6) To deal with a range of predictable simple language tasks using a limited range of language to meet the needs of differing but familiar situations and topics.
(7) To familiarise students with the background to German speaking countries, including culture and civil societies.
(8) To bring students to level A1 CEFR

Teaching:
• All courses follow the dates of the LSE teaching year.
• Please refer to the LSE timetable for course teaching arrangements.

Assessment:
Students will be awarded an LSE certificate of proficiency on completion of the course and after passing the following elements:
(1) Continuous Assessment (50%) consisting of 10 pieces of coursework set by the class teacher to be handed in, either electronically or as hardcopy, at set deadlines.
(2) Final Oral Assessment (30%) to take place from week 1 in the Summer Term.
(3) Final Written Assessment (20%) to take place in weeks 9 or 10 of the Lent Term.

LN746
German: Level Two (Standard)
This information is for the 2012/13 session.
Teacher responsible:
Dr Peter Skrandies
Pre-requisites:
Some previous knowledge of German required but students should:
(1) demonstrate commitment to regular attendance, completion of homework and all assessments
(2) dedicate at least two hours per week for coursework in addition to classes
Admission into the course upon tutor's approval during the information sessions.

Course content:
(1) To develop the ability to use German effectively for purposes of practical communication at survival level in familiar work and social contexts.
(2) To establish the skills, language and attitudes required to promote and facilitate further study of German.
(3) To acquire basic literacy.
(4) To improve the sentence intonation.
(5) To improve basic knowledge of grammatical gender, word-formation and word-order.
(6) To deal with a range of predictable simple language tasks using a limited range of language to meet the needs of differing but familiar situations and topics.
(7) To familiarise students with the background to German speaking countries, including culture.
(8) To bring students to level A1 CEFR

Teaching:
• All courses follow the dates of the LSE teaching year.
• Please refer to the LSE timetable for course teaching arrangements.

Assessment:
Students will be awarded an LSE certificate of proficiency on completion of the course and after passing the following elements:
(1) Continuous Assessment (50%) consisting of 10 pieces of coursework set by the class teacher to be handed in, either electronically or as hardcopy, at set deadlines.
(2) Final Oral Assessment (30%) to take place from week 1 in the Summer Term.
(3) Final Written Assessment (20%) to take place in weeks 9 or 10 of the Lent Term.

LN748
German: Level Two (Fast Track)
This information is for the 2012/13 session.
Teacher responsible:
Dr Peter Skrandies
Pre-requisites:
Some basic knowledge of German required but students should:
(1) demonstrate commitment to regular attendance, completion of homework and all assessments
(2) dedicate at least two hours per week for coursework in addition to classes
Admission into the course upon tutor’s approval during the information sessions.

Course content:
(1) To develop the ability to use German effectively for purposes of practical communication in familiar contexts.
(2) To establish the skills, language and attitudes required to promote and facilitate further study of German.
(3) To improve literacy.
(4) To improve the pronunciation of German sounds and sentence intonation.
(5) To improve accuracy in using inflexions, gender and word-order in the sentence.
(6) To improve basic knowledge of grammatical gender, word-formation and word-order.
(7) To deal with a range of predictable simple language tasks using a limited range of language to meet the needs of differing but familiar situations and topics.
(8) To familiarise students with the background to German speaking countries, including culture and civil societies.
(9) To bring students to level A1 CEFR

Teaching:
- All courses follow the dates of the LSE teaching year.
- Please refer to the LSE timetable for course teaching arrangements.

Assessment:
Students will be awarded an LSE certificate of proficiency in German on completion of the course and after passing the following elements:
(1) Continuous Assessment (50%) consisting of 10 pieces of coursework set by the class teacher to be handed in, either electronically or as hardcopy, at set deadlines.
(2) Final Oral Assessment (30%) to take place from week 1 in the Summer Term.
(3) Final Written Assessment (20%) to take place in weeks 9 or 10 of the Lent Term.

---

LN750
German: Level Three (Standard)
This information is for the 2012/13 session.

Teacher responsible:
Dr Peter Skrandies

Pre-requisites:
Fairly good knowledge of elementary German required but students should also:
(1) demonstrate commitment to regular attendance, completion of homework and all assessments
(2) dedicate at least two hours per week for coursework in addition to classes
Admission into the course upon tutor’s approval during the information sessions.

Course content:
(1) To develop the ability to use German effectively for purposes of practical communication in familiar contexts.
(2) To establish the skills, language and attitudes required to promote and facilitate further study of German.
(3) To improve literacy.
(4) To improve the pronunciation of German sounds and sentence intonation.
(5) To improve accuracy in using inflexions, gender and word-order in the sentence.
(6) To deal with a range of predictable simple language tasks using a limited range of language to meet the needs of differing but familiar situations and topics.
(7) To familiarise students with the background to German speaking countries, including culture and civil societies.
(8) To bring students to level A2/B1 CEFR

Teaching:
- All courses follow the dates of the LSE teaching year.
- Please refer to the LSE timetable for course teaching arrangements.

Assessment:
Students will be awarded an LSE certificate of proficiency in German on completion of the course and after passing the following elements:
(1) Continuous Assessment (50%) consisting of 10 pieces of coursework set by the class teacher to be handed in, either electronically or as hardcopy, at set deadlines.
(2) Final Oral Assessment (30%) to take place from week 1 in the Summer Term.
(3) Final Written Assessment (20%) to take place in weeks 9 or 10 of the Lent Term.
LN752
German: Level Four (Standard)
This information is for the 2012/13 session.
Teacher responsible:
Dr Peter Skrandies
Pre-requisites:
Some elementary knowledge of German required but students should:
(1) demonstrate commitment to regular attendance, completion of homework and all assessments
(2) dedicate at least two hours per week for coursework in addition to classes
All students must take the online aptitude test and gain permission of the tutor in the Needs Analysis Interview to take this course.
Course content:
(1) To develop the ability to use German effectively for purposes of practical communication in familiar contexts.
(2) To establish the skills, language and attitudes required to promote and facilitate further study of German.
(3) To improve literacy.
(4) To improve the pronunciation of German sounds and sentence intonation.
(5) To improve accuracy in using inflexions, gender and word-order in the sentence.
(6) To deal with a range of predictable simple language tasks using a limited range of language to meet the needs of differing but familiar situations and topics.
(7) To familiarise students with the background to German speaking countries, including culture and civil societies.
(8) To bring students to level B1 CEFR
Teaching:
• All courses follow the dates of the LSE teaching year.
• Please refer to the LSE timetable for course teaching arrangements.
Assessment:
Students will be awarded an LSE certificate of proficiency in German on completion of the course and after passing the following elements:
(1) Continuous Assessment (50%) consisting of 10 pieces of coursework set by the class teacher to be handed in, either electronically or as hardcopy, at set deadlines.
(2) Final Oral Assessment (30%) to take place from week 1 in the Summer Term.
(3) Final Written Assessment (20%) to take place in weeks 9 or 10 of the Lent Term.

LN753
German: Level Four (Fast Track)
This information is for the 2012/13 session.
Teacher responsible:
Dr Peter Skrandies
Pre-requisites:
Students should:
(1) demonstrate commitment to regular attendance, completion of homework and all assessments
(2) dedicate at least two hours per week for coursework in addition to classes
All students must take the online aptitude test and gain permission of the tutor in the Needs Analysis Interview to take this course.
Course content:
(1) To enhance and expand previously acquired communicative skills;
(2) To enhance the skills, language and attitudes required to promote and facilitate further study of German
(3) To familiarise students with the background to German speaking countries, including culture and civil societies.
(4) To enhance and expand previously acquired communicative skills;
(5) To develop the ability to use German effectively for purposes of communication and comprehension in a great variety of academic, social and work-related contexts;
(6) To develop a high degree of linguistic independence and flexibility in German;
(7) To develop an advanced understanding of different structural aspects of the language (i.e., by using meta-language such as grammatical terms etc.)
(8) To bring students to level B1/B2 CEFR
Teaching:
• All courses follow the dates of the LSE teaching year.
• Please refer to the LSE timetable for course teaching arrangements.
Assessment:
Students will be awarded an LSE certificate of proficiency in German on completion of the course and after passing the following elements:
(1) Continuous Assessment (50%) consisting of 10 pieces of coursework set by the class teacher to be handed in, either electronically or as hardcopy, at set deadlines.
(2) Final Oral Assessment (30%) to take place from week 1 in the Summer Term.
(3) Final Written Assessment (20%) to take place in weeks 9 or 10 of the Lent Term.

LN754
German: Level Five (Current Issues)
This information is for the 2012/13 session.
Teacher responsible:
Dr Peter Skrandies
Pre-requisites:
Students should:
(1) demonstrate commitment to regular attendance, completion of homework and all assessments
(2) dedicate at least two hours per week for coursework in addition to classes
All students must take the online aptitude test and gain permission of the tutor in the Needs Analysis Interview to take this course.
Course content:
• To retain, enhance and expand previously acquired communicative skills;
• To practise the ability to use German effectively for purposes of communication and comprehension in a great variety of academic, social and work-related contexts;
• To develop a high degree of linguistic independence and flexibility in German;
• To develop an advanced understanding of different structural aspects of the language (i.e., by using meta-language such as grammatical terms etc.)
• To establish the skills, language and attitudes required to promote and facilitate further study of German.
• To bring the students to level C1 of CEFR
Teaching:
• All courses follow the dates of the LSE teaching year.
• Please refer to the LSE timetable for course teaching arrangements.
Assessment:
Students will be awarded an LSE certificate of proficiency in German on completion of the course and after passing the following elements:
(1) Continuous Assessment (50%) consisting of 10 pieces of coursework set by the class teacher to be handed in, either electronically or as hardcopy, at set deadlines.
(2) Final Oral Assessment (30%) to take place from week 1 in the Summer Term.
(3) Final Written Assessment (20%) to take place in weeks 9 or 10 of the Lent Term.
LN758
Italian: Level One (Standard)
This information is for the 2012/13 session.
Teacher responsible:
Anna Maria Giuffria
Pre-requisites:
No previous knowledge required.
All students welcome but they should:
(1) demonstrate commitment to regular attendance, completion of homework and all assessments
(2) dedicate at least one hour per week for coursework in addition to classes
Admission into the course upon tutor’s approval during the information sessions.
Course content:
(1) To develop the ability to use Italian effectively for purposes of practical communication at a survival level.
(2) To improve the 4 skills with special focus on listening and speaking.
(3) To be able to interact in Italian common situations
(4) To acquire a good range of vocabulary.
(5) To have a good basis to continue in the study of the language at higher levels
(6) To bring the students to level A1 of CEFR
Teaching:
(1) Continuous Assessment (50%) consisting of 10 pieces of coursework set by the class teacher to be handed in, either electronically or as hardcopy, at set deadlines.
(2) Final Oral Assessment (30%) to take place from week 1 in the Summer Term.
(3) Final Written Assessment (20%) to take place in weeks 9 or 10 of the Lent Term.

LN759
Italian: Level One (Fast Track)
This information is for the 2012/13 session.
Teacher responsible:
Anna Maria Giuffria
Pre-requisites:
No previous knowledge required.
All students welcome but they should:
(1) demonstrate commitment to regular attendance, completion of homework and all assessments
(2) dedicate at least one hour per week for coursework in addition to classes
Admission into the course upon completion of online level test and tutor’s approval.
Course content:
(1) To develop the ability to use Italian effectively for purposes of practical communication at a survival level.
(2) To improve the 4 skills with special focus on Art-related material
(3) To be able to interact in Italian common situations
(4) To acquire a good range of vocabulary.
(5) To have a good basis to continue in the study of the language at higher levels
(6) To bring the students to level A1 of CEFR
Teaching:
(1) Continuous Assessment (50%) consisting of 10 pieces of coursework set by the class teacher to be handed in, either electronically or as hardcopy, at set deadlines.
(2) Final Oral Assessment (30%) to take place from week 1 in the Summer Term.
(3) Final Written Assessment (20%) to take place in weeks 9 or 10 of the Lent Term.

LN799
Italian: Level One (CIA)
This information is for the 2012/13 session.
Teacher responsible:
Anna Maria Giuffria
Pre-requisites:
No previous knowledge required.
All students welcome but they should:
(1) Demonstrate commitment to regular attendance, completion of homework and all assessments
(2) Dedicate at least one hour per week for coursework in addition to classes
Course content:
(1) To develop the ability to use Italian effectively for purposes of practical communication at a survival level.
(2) To improve the 4 skills with special focus on Art-related material
(3) To be able to interact in Italian common situations
(4) To acquire a good range of vocabulary.
(5) To have a good basis to continue in the study of the language at higher levels
(6) To bring the students to level A1 of CEFR
Teaching:
(1) Continuous Assessment (50%) consisting of 10 pieces of coursework set by the class teacher to be handed in, either electronically or as hardcopy, at set deadlines.
(2) Final Oral Assessment (30%) to take place from week 1 in the Summer Term.
(3) Final Written Assessment (20%) to take place in weeks 9 or 10 of the Lent Term.

LN760
Italian: Level Two (Standard)
This information is for the 2012/13 session.
Teacher responsible:
Anna Maria Giuffria
Pre-requisites:
This is an elementary level course. Students should have previously learnt “Communicative Content” and “Structural Content” of Level 1 Standard (LN759), see Language Centre website.
Students should:
(1) Demonstrate commitment to regular attendance, completion of homework and all assessments
(2) Dedicate at least one hour per week for coursework in addition to classes
Admission into the course upon completion of online level test and tutor’s approval.
Course content:
(1) To develop the ability to use Italian effectively for purposes of practical communication and reading comprehension in familiar and social contexts.
(2) To establish the skills, language and attitude required to promote and facilitate further study of Italian at an intermediate level
(3) To acquire the substantial information on Italy in relation to topics such as: economy, life style, education, jobs and history and social issues.
(4) The course also aims to revise and consolidate all the basic structures before advancing to more difficult language structures.
Students will be encouraged to practice productive skill, speaking and writing, and to improve receptive skills, reading and writing. Students will also start to study or analyse more authentic than artificial material. At the end of the course students should be able to interact with native speakers and be confident in the use of the language in daily life situations. Students should also acquire the required level to continue the study of the language at level 3.
(5) To bring the students to level A2 of CEFR
Teaching:
• All courses follow the dates of the LSE teaching year.
• Please refer to the LSE timetable for course teaching
arrangements.
Assessment:
Students will be awarded an LSE certificate of proficiency on completion of the course and after passing the following elements:
(1) Continuous Assessment (50%) consisting of 10 pieces of coursework set by the class teacher to be handed in, either electronically or as hard copy, at set deadlines.
(2) Final Oral Assessment (30%) to take place from week 1 in the Summer Term.
(3) Final Written Assessment (20%) to take place in weeks 9 or 10
of the Lent Term.

LN761
Italian: Level Three (Standard)
This information is for the 2012/13 session.
Teacher responsible:
Anna Maria Giuffria
Pre-requisites:
This is a lower intermediate course. Students should have previously learnt ‘Communicative Content’ and ‘Structural Content’ of Level 2 (LN760), see Language Centre website.
Admission into the course upon completion of level test and tutor’s approval during the needs analysis session.
Course content:
(1) To develop the ability to use Italian effectively for purposes of practical communication and reading comprehension in a variety of contexts related to social sciences.
(2) To establish the skills, language and attitude required to promote and facilitate further study of Italian at an advanced level.
(3) To acquire the substantial information on Italy in relation to topics such as: economy, life style, education, jobs and history and social issues.
(4) To bring the students to level B1 of CEFR
Teaching:
• All courses follow the dates of the LSE teaching year.
• Please refer to the LSE timetable for course teaching
arrangements.
Assessment:
Students will be awarded an LSE certificate of proficiency on completion of the course and after passing the following elements:
(1) Continuous Assessment (50%) consisting of 10 pieces of coursework set by the class teacher to be handed in, either
electronically or as hardcopy, at set deadlines.
(2) Final Oral Assessment (30%) to take place from week 1 in the Summer Term.
(3) Final Written Assessment (20%) to take place in weeks 9 or 10
of the Lent Term.

LN764
Japanese: Level One (Standard)
This information is for the 2012/13 session.
Teacher responsible:
Nobuko Leslie
Pre-requisites:
No previous knowledge required.
All students welcome but they should:
(1) Demonstrate full commitment to regular attendance, completion of homework and all assessments
(2) Dedicate at least two hours per week for coursework in addition to classes
Admission into the course upon tutor’s approval during the information sessions.
Course content:
(1) To follow the aim of fast-track courses and maximise the speed of individual student progression
(2) To develop the ability to use Japanese effectively for purposes of practical communication at survival level.
(3) To deal with a range of different social occasions by using limited language skills
(4) To read and write Hiragana, Katakana and about 30 Kanji
(5) To develop language skills to meet the needs of differing but familiar situations and topics
(6) To establish the skills, language and attitudes required to promote and facilitate further study of Japanese.
(7) To bring students to level A1/2 of CEFR
Teaching:
• All courses follow the dates of the LSE teaching year.
• Please refer to the LSE timetable for course teaching
arrangements.
Assessment:
Students will be awarded an LSE certificate of proficiency on completion of the course and after passing the following elements:
1. Continuous Assessment (50%) consisting of 10 pieces of coursework set by the class teacher to be handed in, either electronically or as hardcopy, at set deadlines.
2. Final Oral Assessment (30%) to take place from week 1 in the Summer Term.
3. Final Written Assessment (20%) to take place in weeks 9 or 10 of the Lent Term.

LN768

Japanese: Level Two (Fast Track)

This information is for the 2012/13 session.

Teacher responsible:

Nobuko Leslie

Pre-requisites:

Students should have completed Level 1 Fast Track or have equivalent skills.

All students welcome but they should:
1. Demonstrate full commitment to regular attendance, completion of homework and all assessments
2. Dedicate at least two hours per week for coursework in addition to classes

Admission into the course upon tutor’s approval during the Needs Analysis Interviews.

Course content:

1. To follow the aim of fast-track courses and maximise the speed of individual student progression
2. To develop the ability to use Japanese effectively for purposes of practical communication and reading comprehension in familiar work and social contexts.
3. To deal with a range of different social situations using limited language skills
4. To read and write Hiragana, Katakana and more than 70 Kanji (including Level 1’s Kanji fluently).
5. To perform predictable simple language tasks using a limited range of language to meet the needs of differing but familiar situations and topics.
6. To establish the skills, language and attitudes required to promote and facilitate further study of Japanese.
7. To exchange personal information, including your studies and outside interests.
8. To interpret documents and data containing some topical facts and figures of countries/places.
9. To bring students to level A2 of CEFR.

Teaching:

- All courses follow the dates of the LSE teaching year.
- Please refer to the LSE timetable for course teaching arrangements.

Assessment:

Students will be awarded an LSE certificate of proficiency on completion of the course and after passing the following elements:
1. Continuous Assessment (50%) consisting of 10 pieces of coursework set by the class teacher to be handed in, either electronically or as hardcopy, at set deadlines.
2. Final Oral Assessment (30%) to take place from week 1 in the Summer Term.
3. Final Written Assessment (20%) to take place in weeks 9 or 10 of the Lent Term.

LN769

Japanese: Level Three (Fast Track)

This information is for the 2012/13 session.

Teacher responsible:

Hiromi Stewart

Pre-requisites:

Completion of Level 2 Fast-track or equivalent i.e., around 150 hours of study including self-study, complete familiarity with Hiragana, Katakana and at least 50 Kanji.

1. Students need to demonstrate full commitment to:
   - regular attendance,
   - completion of homework,
   - completion of all assessments and portfolio
2. Have both an awareness of grammatical structures and an ability to use them
3. Dedicate at least two hours per week for coursework, in addition to classes

Admission to the course upon tutor’s approval during the Needs Analysis Interview.

Only in exceptional circumstances will students who do not fulfil all the requirements be admitted.

Course content:

1. To attain competence in a broad range of complex and non-routine tasks across a wide variety of contexts.
2. To practise the ability to use Japanese effectively for purposes of practical communication and reading completion dealing with linguistically challenging tasks.
(3) To establish the skills, language and attitudes required to promote and facilitate further study of Japanese.

Teaching:
This is a 40 hour-course.
Please refer to the LSE timetable for course teaching arrangements.

Assessment:
Students will be awarded an LSE certificate of proficiency on completion of the course and after passing the following elements:
(1) Continuous Assessment (50%) consisting of 10 pieces of coursework set by the class teacher to be handed in, either electronically or as hardcopy, at set deadlines.
(2) Final Oral Assessment (30%) to take place from week 1 of the Summer Term.
(3) Final Written Assessment (20%) to take place on weeks 9 or 10 of the Lent term.

LN710
Japanese: Level Four (Fast track)
This information is for the 2012/13 session.
Teacher responsible:
Hiromi Stewart
Pre-requisites:
Previous knowledge of Japanese required: 300 hours, including self-study and fluency in writing and reading Hiragana, Katakana and at least 350 Kanji.
Course content:
(1) To attain competence in a broad range of complex and non-routine tasks across a wide variety of contexts.
(2) To practise the ability to use Japanese effectively for purposes of practical communication and reading completion dealing with linguistically challenging tasks.
(3) To establish the skills, language and attitudes required to promote and facilitate further study of Japanese.

Teaching:
This is a 40 hour-course. Please refer to the LSE timetable for course teaching arrangements.

Assessment:
Students will be awarded an LSE certificate of proficiency on completion of the course and after passing the following elements:
(1) Continuous Assessment (50%) consisting of 10 pieces of coursework set by the class teacher to be handed in, either electronically or as hardcopy, at set deadlines.
(2) Final Oral Assessment (30%) to take place from week 1 in the Summer Term.
(3) Final Written Assessment (20%) to take place in weeks 9 or 10 of the Lent term.

LN711
Mandarin: Level One (Standard)
This information is for the 2012/13 session.
Teacher responsible:
Dr Catherine Hua Xiang
Pre-requisites:
No previous knowledge required. All students welcome but they should:
(1) demonstrate commitment to regular attendance, completion of homework, and all pieces of continuous assessment.
(2) dedicate at least two hours per week for coursework in addition to classes.
This course puts special emphasis on speaking and listening, but does not neglect the reading and writing skills. Admission into the course upon tutor's approval during the information sessions.
Student Profile:
Course content:
(1) To develop the ability to use Chinese effectively for purposes of practical communication at survival level.
(2) To master the pronunciation of Mandarin Chinese
(3) To have basic knowledge of Chinese language: Pinyin spelling, tones, character, word, word order
(4) To deal with a range of predictable simple language tasks using a limited range of language to meet the needs of differing but familiar situations and topics.
(5) To establish the language skills and attitudes required to promote and facilitate further study of Chinese.
(6) To have basic Chinese literacy
(7) To get familiar with Chinese geography, culture and societies.
(8) To prepare students for A1 CEFR.
Teaching:
• All courses follow the dates of the LSE teaching year.
• Please refer to the LSE timetable for course teaching arrangements.

Assessment:
Students will be awarded an LSE certificate of proficiency on completion of the course and after passing the following elements:
(1) Continuous Assessment (50%) consisting of 10 pieces of coursework set by the class teacher to be handed in, either electronically or as hardcopy, at set deadlines.
(2) Final Oral Assessment (30%) to take place from week 1 in the Summer Term.
(3) Final Written Assessment (20%) to take place in weeks 9 or 10 of the Lent term.

LN712
Mandarin: Level One (Fast Track)
This information is for the 2012/13 session.
Teacher responsible:
Dr Catherine Hua Xiang
Pre-requisites:
No previous knowledge required. All students welcome but they should:
(1) demonstrate commitment to regular attendance, completion of homework and all pieces of continuous assessment.
(2) dedicate at least two hours per week for coursework, in addition to classes.
This course puts special emphasis on reading and writing Chinese characters, but does not neglect the speaking and listening skills. Admission into the course upon tutor's approval during the information sessions.
Course content:
(1) To follow the aim of fast-track courses and maximise the speed of individual student progression,
(2) To develop the ability to use Chinese effectively for purposes of practical communication at survival level.
(3) To master the pronunciation of Mandarin Chinese
(4) To have basic knowledge of Chinese language: Pinyin spelling, tones, character, word, word order
(5) To deal with a range of predictable simple language tasks using a limited range of language to meet the needs of differing but familiar situations and topics.
(6) To establish the language skills and attitudes required to promote and facilitate further study of Chinese.
(7) To have basic Chinese literacy
(8) To get familiar with Chinese geography, culture and societies.
(9) To bring students to the level of A1 of CEFR.
Teaching:
• All courses follow the dates of the LSE teaching year.
• Please refer to the LSE timetable for course teaching arrangements.
Assessment:
Students will be awarded an LSE certificate of proficiency on completion of the course and after passing the following elements:
(1) Continuous Assessment (50%) consisting of 10 pieces of coursework set by the class teacher to be handed in, either electronically or as hardcopy, at set deadlines.
(2) Final Oral Assessment (30%) to take place from week 1 in the Summer Term.
(3) Final Written Assessment (20%) to take place in weeks 9 or 10 of the Lent Term.

LN713
Mandarin: Level Two (Standard)
This information is for the 2012/13 session.
Teacher responsible:
Dr Catherine Hua Xiang
Pre-requisites:
Some previous knowledge of Chinese required, i.e., about 300 vocabulary and 150 characters or to continue from LSE's Chinese Level 1.
Students will have to:
(1) demonstrate full commitment to regular attendance, completion of homework and all pieces of continuous assessment.
(2) dedicate at least two hours per week for coursework, in addition to classes
This course puts special emphasis on speaking and listening but does not neglect the reading and writing skills. Admission into the course after completing the online test and upon tutor's approval during the Needs Analysis Interview.
Course content:
(1) To further develop the ability to use Chinese in all four skills (speaking, listening, reading and writing) effectively for purposes of practical communication at survival level.
(2) To improve Chinese pronunciation.
(3) To deal with a range of predictable simple language tasks using a limited linguistic range to meet the needs of differing but familiar situations and topics.
(4) To establish the skills, language and attitudes required to promote and facilitate further study of Chinese.
(5) To prepare students for A1 CEFR.
Teaching:
Twenty weeks of 2-hour weekly classes. Starting week 5 in MT (6 weeks), LT (10 weeks) and ST (4 weeks).
Assessment:
Students will be awarded an LSE certificate of proficiency on completion of the course and after passing the following elements:
(1) Continuous Assessment (50%) consisting of 10 pieces of coursework set by the class teacher to be handed in, either electronically or as hardcopy, at set deadlines.
(2) Final Oral Assessment (30%) to take place from week 1 in the Summer Term.
(3) Final Written Assessment (20%) to take place in weeks 9 or 10 of the Lent Term.

LN714
Mandarin: Level Two (Fast Track)
This information is for the 2012/13 session.
Teacher responsible:
Dr Catherine Hua Xiang
Pre-requisites:
Some previous knowledge of Chinese required: i.e. about 300 words of vocabulary and 150 characters or to continue from LSE's Chinese Level 1.
Students will have to:
(1) demonstrate full commitment to regular attendance, completion of homework, and all pieces of continuous assessment;
(2) dedicate at least two hours per week for coursework, in addition to classes
This course puts special emphasis on reading and writing Chinese characters, but does not neglect speaking and listening skills. Admission into the course after completion of the online test and upon tutor's approval during the Needs Analysis Interview.
Course content:
(1) To further develop the ability to use Chinese in all four skills (speaking, listening, reading and writing) effectively for purposes of practical communication.
(2) To improve Chinese pronunciation.
(3) To deal with a range of predictable language tasks using a focused linguistic range to meet the needs of differing but familiar situations and topics.
(4) To build up the skills and language required to promote and facilitate further study of Chinese.
(5) To bring students to the equivalent of level of A2 CEFR.
Teaching:
This is a 20 hour-course. Please refer to the LSE timetable for course
Assessment:
Students will be awarded an LSE certificate of proficiency on completion of the course and after passing the following elements:
(1) Continuous Assessment (50%) consisting of 10 pieces of coursework set by the class teacher to be handed in, either electronically or as hardcopy, at set deadlines.
(2) Final Oral Assessment (30%) to take place from week 1 of the Summer Term.
(3) Final Written Assessment (20%) to take place on weeks 9 or 10 of the Lent Term.

LN715
Mandarin: Level Three (Standard)
This information is for the 2012/13 session.
Teacher responsible:
Dr Catherine Hua Xiang
Pre-requisites:
Students should have mastered the skills outlined in the description of ‘Communicative Content’ and ‘Structural Content’ of LN713/ LN714, see Language Centre website.
Students will have to:
(1) demonstrate full commitment to regular attendance, completion of homework and all pieces of continuous assessment.
(2) dedicate at least two hours per week for coursework, in addition to classes
This course puts special emphasis on reading and writing Chinese characters, but does not neglect the speaking and listening skills. Admission into the course after completion of the online test and upon tutor's approval during the Needs Analysis Interview.
Course content:
(1) To develop the ability to use Chinese effectively for purposes of practical communication and reading comprehension in familiar work and social contexts.
(2) To establish the skills and language required to promote and facilitate further study of Chinese.
(3) To enhance knowledge of Chinese culture and society.
(4) To be able to use a Chinese key board.
(5) To deliver a simple oral presentation (possibly using PowerPoint) about a chosen topic .
(6) To improve your transferable skills.
(7) To bring students to level A1, B1 CEFR.
Teaching:
• All courses follow the dates of the LSE teaching year.
• Please refer to the LSE timetable for course teaching arrangements.
Assessment:
Students will be awarded an LSE certificate of proficiency on completion of the course and after passing the following elements:
1. Continuous Assessment (50%) consisting of 10 pieces of coursework set by the class teacher to be handed in, either electronically or as hardcopy, at set deadlines.
2. Final Oral Assessment (30%) to take place from week 1 in the Summer Term.
3. Final Written Assessment (20%) to take place in weeks 9 or 10 of the Lent Term.

---

LN716
Mandarin: Level Three (Fast Track)
This information is for the 2012/13 session.

Teacher responsible:
Dr Catherine Hua Xiang

Pre-requisites:
Students should have mastered the skills outlined in the description of ‘Communicative Content’ and ‘Structural Content’ of LN713/ LN714, see Language Centre website.

Students should:
1. demonstrate full commitment to regular attendance, completion of homework and all pieces of continuous assessment.
2. dedicate at least two hours per week for coursework, in addition to classes

This course puts special emphasis on speaking and listening, but does not neglect the reading and writing skills. Admission into the course after completion of the online test and upon tutor’s approval during the Needs Analysis Interview.

Course content:
1. To develop the ability to use Chinese effectively for purposes of practical communication and reading comprehension in a variety of contexts.
2. To establish the language and study skills required to promote and facilitate further study of Chinese.
3. To deepen one’s knowledge of Chinese culture and societies.
4. To be able to use a Chinese keyboard.
5. To deliver a more detailed oral presentation (by using PowerPoint) about a chosen topic.
6. To improve your transferable skills.
7. To bring the students to level B2 of CEFR

COMMUNICATIVECONTENT

Teaching:
- All courses follow the dates of the LSE teaching year.
- Please refer to the LSE timetable for course teaching arrangements.

Assessment:

Students will be awarded an LSE certificate of proficiency on completion of the course and after passing the following elements:
1. Continuous Assessment (50%) consisting of 10 pieces of coursework set by the class teacher to be handed in, either electronically or as hardcopy, at set deadlines.
2. Final Oral Assessment (30%) to take place from week 1 in the Summer Term.
3. Final Written Assessment (20%) to take place in weeks 9 or 10 of the Lent Term.

---

LN718
Mandarin: Level Four (Fast Track)
This information is for the 2012/13 session.

Teacher responsible:
Dr Catherine Hua Xiang

Pre-requisites:
Students should have mastered the skills outlined in the description of ‘Communicative Content’ and ‘Structural Content’ of Level 3 (LN715/LN716), see Language Centre website.

Students should:
1. demonstrate full commitment to regular attendance, completion of homework and all pieces of continuous assessment.
2. dedicate at least two hours per week for coursework, in addition to classes.

This course puts special emphasis on speaking and listening, but does not neglect the reading and writing skills. Admission into the course after completion of the online test and upon tutor’s approval during the Needs Analysis Interview.

Course content:
1. To develop the ability to use Chinese effectively for purposes of practical communication and reading comprehension in a variety of contexts.
2. To establish the language and study skills required to promote and facilitate further study of Chinese.
3. To deepen one’s knowledge of Chinese culture and societies.
4. To be able to use a Chinese keyboard.
5. To deliver a more detailed oral presentation (by using PowerPoint) about a chosen topic.
6. To improve your transferable skills.
7. To bring the students to level B2 of CEFR

COMMUNICATIVECONTENT

Teaching:
- All courses follow the dates of the LSE teaching year.
- Please refer to the LSE timetable for course teaching arrangements.

Assessment:
Students will be awarded an LSE certificate of proficiency on completion of the course and after passing the following elements:
(1) Continuous Assessment (50%) consisting of 10 pieces of coursework set by the class teacher to be handed in, either electronically or as hardcopy, at set deadlines.
(2) Final Oral Assessment (30%) to take place from week 1 in the Summer Term.
(3) Final Written Assessment (20%) to take place in weeks 9 or 10 of the Lent Term.

LN719
Mandarin: Level Five (Standard)
This information is for the 2012/13 session.
Teacher responsible:
Dr Catherine Hua Xiang
Pre-requisites:
A very high level of ORAL fluency and the ability to do independent research into a chosen topic is expected, i.e., several years of intensive study of Mandarin at higher level, and also a keen interest in current issues.
Students are expected to demonstrate a high level of commitment to the course:
(1) regular attendance
(2) completion of homework and all pieces of continuous assessment.
(3) dedicate at least two hours per week for coursework, in addition to classes
Admission into the course after completion of the online test and upon tutor’s approval during the Needs Analysis Interview.

Course content:
(1) To attain competence in a broad range of complex and non-routine tasks across a wide variety of contexts.
(2) To practice the ability to use Chinese effectively for purposes of practical communication and reading comprehension dealing with linguistically challenging tasks.
(3) To establish the skills, language and attitudes required to promote and facilitate further study of Chinese.
(4) To practice the ability to use Chinese effectively for purposes of oral and written communication.
(5) To establish specific linguistic skills and strategies required to communicate effectively.
(6) To understand/analyse fairly complex texts about current issues and Chinese culture.
(7) To involve students in planning the course contents according to their specific needs and interests.
(8) To bring students to level C2 of CEFR.

Teaching:
- All courses follow the dates of the LSE teaching year.
- Please refer to the LSE timetable for course teaching arrangements.

Assessment:
Students will be awarded an LSE certificate of proficiency on completion of the course and after passing the following elements:
(1) Continuous Assessment (50%) consisting of 10 pieces of coursework set by the class teacher to be handed in, either electronically or as hardcopy, at set deadlines.
(2) Final Oral Assessment (30%) to take place from week 1 in the Summer Term.
(3) Final Written Assessment (20%) to take place in weeks 9 or 10 of the Lent Term.

LN792
Portuguese: Level One (Standard)
This information is for the 2012/13 session.
Teacher responsible:
Benvinda Alves
Pre-requisites:
No previous knowledge required:
All students welcome but they should:
(1) demonstrate commitment to regular attendance, completion of homework, completion of the dossier and all assessments.
(2) dedicate at least one hour per week for coursework, in addition to classes

Course content:
(1) To develop the ability to use Portuguese effectively for the purpose of practical communication in spoken and written discourse.
(2) To enable students to gain access through language to the contemporary scene and the background of Portuguese-speaking countries, their people and their cultures.
(3) To establish the skills, language and attitude required to promote and facilitate further study of Portuguese
(4) To bring the students to level A1 of CEFR

Teaching:
- All courses follow the dates of the LSE teaching year.
- Please refer to the LSE timetable for course teaching arrangements.

Assessment:
Students will be awarded an LSE certificate of proficiency on completion of the course and after passing the following elements:
(1) Continuous Assessment (50%) consisting of 10 pieces of coursework set by the class teacher to be handed in, either
ln772
Russian: Level One (Standard)
This information is for the 2012/13 session.
Teacher responsible:
Dr Olga Sobolev
Pre-requisites:
No previous knowledge required.
Course content:
(1) To develop an ability to use Russian effectively for the purposes of practical communication at a survival level.
(2) To deal with a range of simple predictable language tasks (using limited vocabulary and linguistic structures) in order to meet language needs of everyday situations and topics.
(3) To establish linguistic skills and attitudes required for promoting and facilitating further study of Russian.
(4) To bring the students to level A1 of CEFR.
Teaching:
• All courses follow the dates of the LSE teaching year.
• Please refer to the LSE timetable for course teaching arrangements.
Assessment:
Students will be awarded an LSE certificate of proficiency on completion of the course and after passing the following elements:
(1) Continuous Assessment (50%) consisting of 10 pieces of coursework set by the class teacher to be handed in, either electronically or as hardcopy, at set deadlines.
(2) Final Oral Assessment (30%) to take place from week 1 in the Lent Term.
(3) Final Written Assessment (20%) to take place in weeks 9 or 10 of the Lent Term.

ln773
Russian: Level One (Super Standard)
This information is for the 2012/13 session.
Teacher responsible:
Dr Olga Sobolev
Pre-requisites:
(1) To demonstrate full commitment to regular attendance, completion of homework and all assessments
(2) To dedicate at least two hours a week for coursework, in addition to classes
(3) To have a good command in two languages or to show a proven track-record in language learning.
Course content:
(1) To bring students’ knowledge of written and spoken Russian up to low intermediate level.
(2) To develop an ability to use Russian effectively for the purposes of practical communication in familiar work and social contexts.
(3) To deal with a variety of predictable simple language tasks (using limited vocabulary and linguistic structures) to meet the needs of everyday situations and topics.
(4) To establish linguistic skills and attitudes required for promoting and facilitating further study of Russian.
(5) To bring the students to level A1/A2 of CEFR.
Teaching:
• All courses follow the dates of the LSE teaching year.
• Please refer to the LSE timetable for course teaching arrangements.
Assessment:
Students will be awarded an LSE certificate of proficiency on completion of the course and after passing the following elements:
(1) Continuous Assessment (50%) consisting of 10 pieces of coursework set by the class teacher to be handed in, either electronically or as hardcopy, at set deadlines.
(2) Final Oral Assessment (30%) to take place from week 1 in the Summer Term.
(3) Final Written Assessment (20%) to take place in weeks 9 or 10 of the Lent Term.

ln774
Russian: Level Two (Standard)
This information is for the 2012/13 session.
Teacher responsible:
Dr Olga Sobolev
Pre-requisites:
Sixty hours, including self-study (16+), or two/three years at secondary school level (under 16).
Course content:
(1) To bring students’ knowledge of written and spoken Russian up to low intermediate level.
(2) To develop an ability to communicate in Russian (using high frequency vocabulary and structures) in everyday work and social situations.
(3) To establish linguistic skills and attitudes required for promoting and facilitating further study of Russian.
(4) To bring the students to level A2 of CEFR.
Teaching:
• All courses follow the dates of the LSE teaching year.
• Please refer to the LSE timetable for course teaching arrangements.
Assessment:
Students will be awarded an LSE certificate of proficiency on completion of the course and after passing the following elements:
(1) Continuous Assessment (50%) consisting of 10 pieces of coursework set by the class teacher to be handed in, either electronically or as hardcopy, at set deadlines.
(2) Final Oral Assessment (30%) to take place from week 1 in the Summer Term.
(3) Final Written Assessment (20%) to take place in weeks 9 or 10 of the Lent Term.

ln775
Russian: Level Three (Standard)
This information is for the 2012/13 session.
Teacher responsible:
Dr Olga Sobolev
Pre-requisites:
150 hours including self-study (16+), four/five years at secondary school level (under 16), good pass in GCSE (grades A-B)
Course content:
(1) To bring students’ knowledge of written and spoken Russian up to intermediate/higher intermediate level (As-level).
(2) To develop an ability to communicate effectively in Russian (using high-frequency vocabulary and structures) in a variety of social situations.
(3) To establish linguistic skills and attitudes required for promoting and facilitating further study of Russian.
(4) To bring the students to level B1 of CEFR.
Teaching:
• All courses follow the dates of the LSE teaching year.
• Please refer to the LSE timetable for course teaching arrangements.
Assessment:
Students will be awarded an LSE certificate of proficiency on completion of the course and after passing the following elements:
(1) Continuous Assessment (50%) consisting of 10 pieces of coursework set by the class teacher to be handed in, either electronically or as hardcopy, at set deadlines.
(2) Final Oral Assessment (30%) to take place from week 1 in the Summer Term.
(3) Final Written Assessment (20%) to take place in weeks 9 or 10 of the Lent Term.
Continuous Assessment (50%) consisting of 10 pieces of completion of the course and after passing the following elements: Students will be awarded an LSE certificate of proficiency on Assessment:
- Please refer to the LSE timetable for course teaching arrangements.
- All courses follow the dates of the LSE teaching year.
- Please refer to the LSE timetable for course teaching arrangements.

Teaching:
- All courses follow the dates of the LSE teaching year.
- Please refer to the LSE timetable for course teaching arrangements.

Assessment:
- All courses follow the dates of the LSE teaching year.
- Please refer to the LSE timetable for course teaching arrangements.

Course content:
- No previous knowledge required. All students welcome but they should:
  - (1) demonstrate commitment to regular attendance, completion of homework and all pieces of continuous assessment.
  - (2) dedicate at least one hour per week for coursework, in addition to classes.
- Admission into the course upon tutor’s approval during the information sessions.

Teaching:
- All courses follow the dates of the LSE teaching year.
- Please refer to the LSE timetable for course teaching arrangements.

Assessment:
- All courses follow the dates of the LSE teaching year.
- Please refer to the LSE timetable for course teaching arrangements.

Course content:
- No previous knowledge required. All students welcome but they should:
  - (1) demonstrate commitment to regular attendance, completion of homework and all pieces of continuous assessment.
  - (2) dedicate at least one hour per week for coursework, in addition to classes.
- Admission into the course upon tutor’s approval during the information sessions.

Teaching:
- All courses follow the dates of the LSE teaching year.
- Please refer to the LSE timetable for course teaching arrangements.

Assessment:
- All courses follow the dates of the LSE teaching year.
- Please refer to the LSE timetable for course teaching arrangements.

Course content:
- No previous knowledge required. All students welcome but they should:
  - (1) demonstrate commitment to regular attendance, completion of homework and all pieces of continuous assessment.
  - (2) dedicate at least one hour per week for coursework, in addition to classes.
- Admission into the course upon tutor’s approval during the information sessions.

Teaching:
- All courses follow the dates of the LSE teaching year.
- Please refer to the LSE timetable for course teaching arrangements.

Assessment:
- All courses follow the dates of the LSE teaching year.
- Please refer to the LSE timetable for course teaching arrangements.

Course content:
- No previous knowledge required. All students welcome but they should:
  - (1) demonstrate commitment to regular attendance, completion of homework and all pieces of continuous assessment.
  - (2) dedicate at least one hour per week for coursework, in addition to classes.
- Admission into the course upon tutor’s approval during the information sessions.

Teaching:
- All courses follow the dates of the LSE teaching year.
- Please refer to the LSE timetable for course teaching arrangements.

Assessment:
- All courses follow the dates of the LSE teaching year.
- Please refer to the LSE timetable for course teaching arrangements.

Course content:
- No previous knowledge required. All students welcome but they should:
  - (1) demonstrate commitment to regular attendance, completion of homework and all pieces of continuous assessment.
  - (2) dedicate at least one hour per week for coursework, in addition to classes.
- Admission into the course upon tutor’s approval during the information sessions.

Teaching:
- All courses follow the dates of the LSE teaching year.
- Please refer to the LSE timetable for course teaching arrangements.

Assessment:
- All courses follow the dates of the LSE teaching year.
- Please refer to the LSE timetable for course teaching arrangements.

Course content:
- No previous knowledge required. All students welcome but they should:
  - (1) demonstrate commitment to regular attendance, completion of homework and all pieces of continuous assessment.
  - (2) dedicate at least one hour per week for coursework, in addition to classes.
- Admission into the course upon tutor’s approval during the information sessions.

Teaching:
- All courses follow the dates of the LSE teaching year.
- Please refer to the LSE timetable for course teaching arrangements.

Assessment:
- All courses follow the dates of the LSE teaching year.
- Please refer to the LSE timetable for course teaching arrangements.

Course content:
- No previous knowledge required. All students welcome but they should:
  - (1) demonstrate commitment to regular attendance, completion of homework and all pieces of continuous assessment.
  - (2) dedicate at least one hour per week for coursework, in addition to classes.
- Admission into the course upon tutor’s approval during the information sessions.

Teaching:
- All courses follow the dates of the LSE teaching year.
- Please refer to the LSE timetable for course teaching arrangements.

Assessment:
- All courses follow the dates of the LSE teaching year.
- Please refer to the LSE timetable for course teaching arrangements.

Course content:
- No previous knowledge required. All students welcome but they should:
  - (1) demonstrate commitment to regular attendance, completion of homework and all pieces of continuous assessment.
  - (2) dedicate at least one hour per week for coursework, in addition to classes.
- Admission into the course upon tutor’s approval during the information sessions.

Teaching:
- All courses follow the dates of the LSE teaching year.
- Please refer to the LSE timetable for course teaching arrangements.

Assessment:
- All courses follow the dates of the LSE teaching year.
- Please refer to the LSE timetable for course teaching arrangements.

Course content:
- No previous knowledge required. All students welcome but they should:
  - (1) demonstrate commitment to regular attendance, completion of homework and all pieces of continuous assessment.
  - (2) dedicate at least one hour per week for coursework, in addition to classes.
- Admission into the course upon tutor’s approval during the information sessions.

Teaching:
- All courses follow the dates of the LSE teaching year.
- Please refer to the LSE timetable for course teaching arrangements.

Assessment:
- All courses follow the dates of the LSE teaching year.
- Please refer to the LSE timetable for course teaching arrangements.

Course content:
- No previous knowledge required. All students welcome but they should:
  - (1) demonstrate commitment to regular attendance, completion of homework and all pieces of continuous assessment.
  - (2) dedicate at least one hour per week for coursework, in addition to classes.
- Admission into the course upon tutor’s approval during the information sessions.

Teaching:
- All courses follow the dates of the LSE teaching year.
- Please refer to the LSE timetable for course teaching arrangements.

Assessment:
- All courses follow the dates of the LSE teaching year.
- Please refer to the LSE timetable for course teaching arrangements.

Course content:
- No previous knowledge required. All students welcome but they should:
  - (1) demonstrate commitment to regular attendance, completion of homework and all pieces of continuous assessment.
  - (2) dedicate at least one hour per week for coursework, in addition to classes.
- Admission into the course upon tutor’s approval during the information sessions.

Teaching:
- All courses follow the dates of the LSE teaching year.
- Please refer to the LSE timetable for course teaching arrangements.

Assessment:
- All courses follow the dates of the LSE teaching year.
- Please refer to the LSE timetable for course teaching arrangements.

Course content:
- No previous knowledge required. All students welcome but they should:
  - (1) demonstrate commitment to regular attendance, completion of homework and all pieces of continuous assessment.
  - (2) dedicate at least one hour per week for coursework, in addition to classes.
- Admission into the course upon tutor’s approval during the information sessions.
a limited range of language to meet the needs of differing but familiar situations and topics.
(3) To establish the skills, language and attitudes required to promote and facilitate further study of Spanish.
(5) To bring the students to level A1-A2 of CEFR

Teaching:
• All courses follow the dates of the LSE teaching year.
• Please refer to the LSE timetable for course teaching arrangements.

Assessment:
Students will be awarded an LSE certificate of proficiency on completion of the course and after passing the following elements:
(1) Continuous Assessment (50%) consisting of 10 pieces of coursework set by the class teacher to be handed in, either electronically or as hardcopy, at set deadlines.
(2) Final Oral Assessment (30%) to take place from week 1 in the Summer Term.
(3) Final Written Assessment (20%) to take place in weeks 9 or 10 of the Lent Term.

LN780
Spanish: Level Two (Standard)
This information is for the 2012/13 session.
Teacher responsible:
Roser Martínez-Sánchez

Pre-requisites:
This is an elementary level course. Students should have previously learnt ‘Communicative Content’ and ‘Structural Content’ of Level 1 Standard (LN778), see Language Centre website.

Students should:
(1) demonstrate commitment to regular attendance, completion of homework and all pieces of continuous assessment.
(2) dedicate at least one hour per week for coursework, in addition to classes Admission into the course upon tutor's approval during the information sessions.

Course content:
(1) To use Spanish effectively for purposes of practical communication and reading comprehension in familiar work and social contexts.
(2) To establish the skills, language and attitudes required to promote and facilitate further study of Spanish.
(3) To bring the students to level A2 of CEFR

Teaching:
• All courses follow the dates of the LSE teaching year.
• Please refer to the LSE timetable for course teaching arrangements.

Assessment:
Students will be awarded an LSE certificate of proficiency on completion of the course and after passing the following elements:
(1) Continuous Assessment (50%) consisting of 10 pieces of coursework set by the class teacher to be handed in, either electronically or as hardcopy, at set deadlines.
(2) Final Oral Assessment (30%) to take place from week 1 in the Summer Term.
(3) Final Written Assessment (20%) to take place in weeks 9 or 10 of the Lent Term.

LN781
Spanish: Level Two (Fast Track)
This information is for the 2012/13 session.
Teacher responsible:
Rafael Peñas Cruz

Pre-requisites:
This is an elementary course. Students should have previously learnt ‘Communicative Content’ and ‘Structural Content’ of Level 1 Fast Track (LN779) or Level 2 Standard (LN780), see Language Centre website.

Admission into the course upon completion of level test and tutor’s approval during the Needs Analysis Interview.

Course content:
(1) To use Spanish effectively for purposes of practical communication in a variety of contexts.
(2) To establish the skills, language and attitudes required to promote and facilitate further study of Spanish.
(3) To bring the students to level A2-B1 of CEFR

Teaching:
• All courses follow the dates of the LSE teaching year.
• Please refer to the LSE timetable for course teaching arrangements.

Assessment:
Students will be awarded an LSE certificate of proficiency on completion of the course and after passing the following elements:
(1) Continuous Assessment (50%) consisting of 10 pieces of coursework set by the class teacher to be handed in, either electronically or as hardcopy, at set deadlines.
(2) Final Oral Assessment (30%) to take place from week 1 in the Summer Term.
(3) Final Written Assessment (20%) to take place in weeks 9 or 10 of the Lent Term.

LN782
Spanish: Level Three (Standard)
This information is for the 2012/13 session.
Teacher responsible:
Rafael Peñas Cruz

Pre-requisites:
This is a lower intermediate course. Students should have previously learnt ‘Communicative Content’ and ‘Structural Content’ of Level 2 Fast Track (LN781), see Language Centre website.

Admission into the course upon completion of level test and tutor’s approval during the Needs Analysis Interview.

Course content:
(1) To develop the use of Spanish effectively for purposes of practical communication and reading comprehension in a variety of contexts.
(2) To establish the skills, language and attitudes required to promote and facilitate further study of Spanish.
(3) To bring the students to level B1 of CEFR

Teaching:
• All courses follow the dates of the LSE teaching year.
• Please refer to the LSE timetable for course teaching arrangements.

Assessment:
Students will be awarded an LSE certificate of proficiency on completion of the course and after passing the following elements:
(1) Continuous Assessment (50%) consisting of 10 pieces of coursework set by the class teacher to be handed in, either electronically or as hardcopy, at set deadlines.
(2) Final Oral Assessment (30%) to take place from week 1 in the Summer Term.
(3) Final Written Assessment (20%) to take place in weeks 9 or 10 of the Lent Term.

LN783
Spanish: Level Three (Fast Track)
This information is for the 2012/13 session.
Teacher responsible:
Roser Martínez-Sánchez

Pre-requisites:
This is an intermediate course and students should have previously learnt ‘Communicative Content’ and ‘Structural Content’ of Level 3 Standard (LN782), see Language Centre website.

Admission into the course upon completion of level test and tutor’s approval during the Needs Analysis Interview.

Course content:
(1) To develop the ability to use Spanish effectively for purposes of practical communication and reading comprehension in a variety of contexts.
(2) To establish the skills, language and attitudes required to promote and facilitate further study of Spanish.
(3) To bring the students to level B1 of CEFR.

Teaching:
• All courses follow the dates of the LSE teaching year.
• Please refer to the LSE timetable for course teaching arrangements.

Assessment:
Students will be awarded an LSE certificate of proficiency on completion of the course and after passing the following elements:
(1) Continuous Assessment (50%) consisting of 10 pieces of coursework set by the class teacher to be handed in, either electronically or as hardcopy, at set deadlines.
(2) Final Oral Assessment (30%) to take place from week 1 in the Summer Term.
(3) Final Written Assessment (20%) to take place in weeks 9 or 10 of the Lent Term.

LN785
Spanish: Level Four (Standard)
This information is for the 2012/13 session.
Teacher responsible:
Roser Martínez-Sánchez

Pre-requisites:
This is a higher intermediate course. Students should have previously learnt ‘Communicative Content’ and ‘Structural Content’ of Level 3 Fast Track (LN783), see Language Centre website.
Admission into the course upon completion of level test and tutor’s approval during the Needs Analysis Interview.

Course content:
(1) To develop the ability to use Spanish effectively for purposes of practical communication and reading comprehension dealing with complex work tasks.
(2) To establish the skills, language and attitudes required to promote and facilitate further study of Spanish.
(3) To bring the students to level B1-B2 of CEFR.

Teaching:
• All courses follow the dates of the LSE teaching year.
• Please refer to the LSE timetable for course teaching arrangements.

Assessment:
Students will be awarded an LSE certificate of proficiency on completion of the course and after passing the following elements:
(1) Continuous Assessment (50%) consisting of 10 pieces of coursework set by the class teacher to be handed in, either electronically or as hardcopy, at set deadlines.
(2) Final Oral Assessment (30%) to take place from week 1 in the Summer Term.
(3) Final Written Assessment (20%) to take place in weeks 9 or 10 of the Lent Term.

LN788
Spanish: Level Five (Current Issues)
This information is for the 2012/13 session.
Teacher responsible:
Rafael Peñas Cruz

Pre-requisites:
Students should have previously learnt and be confident using ‘Communicative Content’ of Level 5 Standard (LN790) and ‘Structural Content’ of LN805, see Language Centre website.
A high level of oral fluency expected from students.
Admission into the course upon completion of online level test and tutor’s approval during the Needs Analysis Interview.

Course content:
This is a proficiency course with a focus on Current Issues:
(1) To attain competence in a broad range of complex and non-routine tasks in a variety of contexts
(2) To extend the ability to use Spanish effectively for purposes of general communication in a great variety of academic, social and work-related contexts
(3) To develop a high degree of linguistic independence and flexibility in Spanish
(4) To understand and analyse complex texts about culture and society in Spanish speaking countries
(5) To familiarise students with the latest developments and current issues in Spanish-speaking countries
(6) To establish specific linguistic skills and strategies required to communicate about current issues in Spanish speaking countries
(7) To bring the students to level C1-C2 of CEFR

Teaching:
• All courses follow the dates of the LSE teaching year.
• Please refer to the LSE timetable for course teaching arrangements.

Assessment:
Students will be awarded an LSE certificate of proficiency on completion of the course and after passing the following elements:
(1) Continuous Assessment (50%) consisting of 5 pieces of coursework set by the class teacher to be handed in, either electronically or as hardcopy, at set deadlines.
(2) Final Oral Assessment (30%) to take place from week 1 in the Summer Term.
(3) Final Written Assessment (20%) to take place in weeks 9 or 10 of the Lent Term.

---

LN789
Spanish: Level Five (Culture and Society)
This information is for the 2012/13 session.
Teacher responsible: Rafael Peñas Cruz
Pre-requisites: Students should have previously learnt and be confidence using 'Communicative Content' of Level 5 Standard (LN790) and 'Structural Content' of LN803, see Language Centre website. A very high level of oral fluency expected from students. Admission into the course upon completion of online level test and tutor's approval during the Needs Analysis Interview.
Course content: This is a mastery course with a focus on Spanish Culture and Society.
1. To attain competence in a broad range of complex and non-routine tasks in a variety of contexts
2. To extend the ability to use Spanish effectively for purposes of general communication in a great variety of academic, social and work-related contexts
3. To develop a high degree of linguistic independence and flexibility in Spanish
4. To understand and analyse complex literary texts
5. To bring the students to level C2 of CEFR
Teaching:
Twenty weeks of one hour weekly classes. Starting week 5 in MT (6 weeks), LT (10 weeks) and ST (4 weeks).
Assessment: Students will be awarded an LSE certificate of proficiency on completion of the course and after passing the following elements:
1. Continuous Assessment (50%) consisting of 5 pieces of coursework set by the class teacher to be handed in, either electronically or as hardcopy, at set deadlines.
2. Final Oral Assessment (30%) to take place from week 1 in the Summer Term.
3. Final Written Assessment (20%) to take place in weeks 9 or 10 of the Lent Term.

---

LN790
Spanish: Level Five (Standard)
This information is for the 2012/13 session.
Teacher responsible: Rafael Peñas Cruz
Pre-requisites: Students should have previously learnt and be confidence using 'Communicative Content' of Level 4 Fast Track (LN803) see Language Centre website. A high level of oral fluency expected from students. Admission into the course upon completion of online level test and tutor's approval during the Needs Analysis Interview.
Course content: This is a proficiency course with a focus on Current Issues:
1. To attain competence in a broad range of complex and non-routine tasks in a variety of contexts
2. To extend the ability to use Spanish effectively for purposes of general communication in a great variety of academic, social and work-related contexts
3. To develop a high degree of linguistic independence and flexibility in Spanish
4. To understand and analyse complex texts about culture and society in Spanish speaking countries
5. To establish specific linguistic skills and strategies required to communicate about current issues in Spanish speaking countries
6. To bring the students to level C1 of CEFR
Teaching:
- All courses follow the dates of the LSE teaching year.
- Please refer to the LSE timetable for course teaching arrangements.
Assessment: Students will be awarded an LSE certificate of proficiency on completion of the course and after passing the following elements:
1. Continuous Assessment (50%) consisting of 5 pieces of coursework set by the class teacher to be handed in, either electronically or as hardcopy, at set deadlines.
2. Final Oral Assessment (30%) to take place from week 1 in the Summer Term.
3. Final Written Assessment (20%) to take place in weeks 9 or 10 of the Lent Term.

---

English for Academic Purposes Insessional Support Programme

LN900
Academic English for LSE100
This information is for the 2012/13 session.
Student Profile: Undergraduate students for whom English is not a first language.
Course Aims:
- To develop students’ ability to speak, read and listen more effectively for academic purposes.
- To develop students’ ability to write more effectively for academic purposes.
Expected Learning Outcomes: By the end of this course, students will have:
- explored and clarified style in academic texts
- developed their own written fluency, accuracy and style
Teaching:
Please refer to the LSE timetable for teaching arrangements.

---

LN961
Academic Communication Skills
This information is for the 2012/13 session.
Student Profile: Students from the departments of Economics History, European Institute, Government, International History, International Relations who speak English as a foreign language and require support when giving presentations, taking part in seminars, reading academic texts or understanding academic lectures.
Course Aims: To develop students’ ability to speak, read and listen more effectively for academic purposes.
Expected Learning Outcomes: By the end of the course, students will:
- be familiar with academic expectations and conventions
- have improved the accuracy, clarity and coherence of their spoken English
- have practised giving presentations and taking part in seminars
- have extended their range of lexical expression
- be able to read academic texts and follow academic lectures more fluently and confidently
Teaching:
Please refer to the LSE timetable for teaching arrangements.
By the end of the course, students will:

Expected Learning Outcomes:
- be able to read academic texts and follow academic lectures more fluently and confidently
- have extended their range of lexical expression
- have practised giving presentations and taking part in seminars
- have improved the accuracy, clarity and coherence of their spoken English
- be familiar with academic expectations and conventions

Course Aims:
To develop students’ ability to speak, read and listen more effectively for academic purposes.

Teaching:
Please refer to the LSE timetable for teaching arrangements.

---

LN963

Academic Communication Skills
This information is for the 2012/13 session.

Student Profile:
Students from the departments of Accounting, Economics, Finance, Mathematics and Statistics who speak English as a foreign language and require support when giving presentations, taking part in seminars, reading academic texts or understanding academic lectures.

Course Aims:
To develop students’ ability to speak, read and listen more effectively for academic purposes.

Expected Learning Outcomes:
By the end of the course, students will:
- be familiar with academic expectations and conventions
- have improved the accuracy, clarity and coherence of their spoken English
- have practised giving presentations and taking part in seminars
- have extended their range of lexical expression
- be able to read academic texts and follow academic lectures more fluently and confidently

Teaching:
Please refer to the LSE timetable for teaching arrangements.

---

LN964

Academic Communication Skills
This information is for the 2012/13 session.

Student Profile:
Students from the departments of Media & Communications and Social Psychology who speak English as a foreign language and require support when giving presentations, taking part in seminars, reading academic texts or understanding academic lectures.

Course Aims:
To develop students’ ability to speak, read and listen more effectively for academic purposes.

Expected Learning Outcomes:
By the end of the course, students will:
- be familiar with academic expectations and conventions
- have improved the accuracy, clarity and coherence of their spoken English
- have practised giving presentations and taking part in seminars
- have extended their range of lexical expression
- be able to read academic texts and follow academic lectures more fluently and confidently

Teaching:
Please refer to the LSE timetable for teaching arrangements.

---

LN965

Academic Communication Skills
This information is for the 2012/13 session.

Student Profile:
Students from the departments of Geography & Environment, International Development and Philosophy, Logic & Scientific Method who speak English as a foreign language and require support when giving presentations, taking part in seminars, reading academic texts or understanding academic lectures.

Course Aims:
To develop students’ ability to speak, read and listen more effectively for academic purposes.

Expected Learning Outcomes:
By the end of the course, students will:
- be familiar with academic expectations and conventions
- have improved the accuracy, clarity and coherence of their spoken English
- have practised giving presentations and taking part in seminars
- have extended their range of lexical expression
- be able to read academic texts and follow academic lectures more fluently and confidently

Teaching:
Please refer to the LSE timetable for teaching arrangements.

---

LN966

Academic Communication Skills
This information is for the 2012/13 session.

Student Profile:
Students from the departments of Anthropology, Gender Institute, Social Policy and Sociology who speak English as a foreign language and require support when giving presentations, taking part in seminars, reading academic texts or understanding academic lectures.

Course Aims:
To develop students’ ability to speak, read and listen more effectively for academic purposes.

Expected Learning Outcomes:
By the end of the course, students will:
- be familiar with academic expectations and conventions
- have improved the accuracy, clarity and coherence of their spoken English
- have practised giving presentations and taking part in seminars
- have extended their range of lexical expression
- be able to read academic texts and follow academic lectures more fluently and confidently

Teaching:
Please refer to the LSE timetable for teaching arrangements.

---

LN967

Academic Communication Skills
This information is for the 2012/13 session.

Student Profile:
Students from the department of Management (Employment Relations and Organisational Behaviour; Managerial Economics and Strategy) who speak English as a foreign language and require support when giving presentations, taking part in seminars, reading academic texts or understanding academic lectures.

Course Aims:
To develop students’ ability to speak, read and listen more effectively for academic purposes.

Expected Learning Outcomes:
By the end of the course, students will:
- be familiar with academic expectations and conventions

Teaching:
Please refer to the LSE timetable for teaching arrangements.
To develop students' ability to write more effectively for academic purposes.

Expected Learning Outcomes:
By the end of the course, students will:
- be familiar with the conventions of academic WRITING:
- have improved the accuracy, clarity and coherence of their written English
- have practised clear organisation of texts and appropriate paragraphing
- have extended their range of lexical expression
- be able to evaluate their own WRITING:
- be able to write more fluently and confidently

Teaching:
Please refer to the LSE timetable for teaching arrangements.

LN993
Academic Writing
This information is for the 2012/13 session.
Student Profile:
Students from the departments of Accounting, Economics, Finance, Mathematics and Statistics who speak English as a foreign language and require support when writing essays, exams and dissertations.
Course Aims:
To develop students' ability to write more effectively for academic purposes.
Expected Learning Outcomes:
By the end of the course, students will:
- be familiar with the conventions of academic WRITING:
- have improved the accuracy, clarity and coherence of their written English
- have practised clear organisation of texts and appropriate paragraphing
- have extended their range of lexical expression
- be able to evaluate their own WRITING:
- be able to write more fluently and confidently

Teaching:
Please refer to the LSE timetable for teaching arrangements.

LN994
Academic Writing
This information is for the 2012/13 session.
Student Profile:
Students from the departments of Media & Communications and Social Psychology who speak English as a foreign language and require support when writing essays, exams and dissertations.
Course Aims:
To develop students' ability to write more effectively for academic purposes.
Expected Learning Outcomes:
By the end of the course, students will:
- be familiar with the conventions of academic WRITING:
- have improved the accuracy, clarity and coherence of their written English
- have practised clear organisation of texts and appropriate paragraphing
- have extended their range of lexical expression
- be able to evaluate their own WRITING:
- be able to write more fluently and confidently

Teaching:
Please refer to the LSE timetable for teaching arrangements.
Method who speak English as a foreign language and require support when writing essays, exams and dissertations.

Course Aims:
To develop students’ ability to write more effectively for academic purposes.

Expected Learning Outcomes:
By the end of the course, students will:
• be familiar with the conventions of academic WRITING:
• have improved the accuracy, clarity and coherence of their written English
• have practised clear organisation of texts and appropriate paragraphing
• have extended their range of lexical expression
• be able to evaluate their own WRITING:
• be able to write more fluently and confidently

Teaching:
Please refer to the LSE timetable for teaching arrangements.

LN996
Academic Writing
This information is for the 2012/13 session.

Student Profile:
Students from the departments of Anthropology, Gender Institute, Social Policy and Sociology who speak English as a foreign language and require support when writing essays, exams and dissertations.

Course Aims:
To develop students’ ability to write more effectively for academic purposes.

Expected Learning Outcomes:
By the end of the course, students will:
• be familiar with the conventions of academic WRITING:
• have improved the accuracy, clarity and coherence of their written English
• have practised clear organisation of texts and appropriate paragraphing
• have extended their range of lexical expression
• be able to evaluate their own WRITING:
• be able to write more fluently and confidently

Teaching:
Please refer to the LSE timetable for teaching arrangements.

LN997
Academic Writing
This information is for the 2012/13 session.

Student Profile:
Students from the department of Management (Employment Relations and Organisational Behaviour; Managerial Economics and Strategy) who speak English as a foreign language and require support when writing essays, exams and dissertations.

Course Aims:
To develop students’ ability to write more effectively for academic purposes.

Expected Learning Outcomes:
By the end of the course, students will:
• be familiar with the conventions of academic WRITING:
• have improved the accuracy, clarity and coherence of their written English
• have practised clear organisation of texts and appropriate paragraphing
• have extended their range of lexical expression
• be able to evaluate their own WRITING:
• be able to write more fluently and confidently

Teaching:
Please refer to the LSE timetable for teaching arrangements.

LN999
Academic Writing
This information is for the 2012/13 session.

Student Profile:
Students from the department of Management (Information Systems and Innovation; Management Science) and Methodology who speak English as a foreign language and require support when writing essays, exams and dissertations.

Course Aims:
To develop students’ ability to write more effectively for academic purposes.

Expected Learning Outcomes:
By the end of the course, students will:
• be familiar with the conventions of academic WRITING:
• have improved the accuracy, clarity and coherence of their written English
• have practised clear organisation of texts and appropriate paragraphing
• have extended their range of lexical expression
• be able to evaluate their own WRITING:
• be able to write more fluently and confidently

Teaching:
Please refer to the LSE timetable for teaching arrangements.

LN988
Thesis Writing
This information is for the 2012/13 session.

Student Profile:
PhD students who are embarking on writing their thesis and who are writing in a second or third language

Course Aims:
To develop an appropriate written style for thesis writing.

Expected Learning Outcomes:
By the end of this course, students will have
• explored and clarified style in academic texts
• developed their own written fluency, accuracy and style

Teaching:
Please refer to the LSE timetable for teaching arrangements.

LN989
Examination Writing Skills
This information is for the 2012/13 session.

Student Profile:
Students who have received Academic Writing Departmental specific support in the Michaelmas and Lent Terms.

Course Aims:
To develop an appropriate written style for examinations.

Expected Learning Outcomes:
By the end of this course, students will have
• developed their own written fluency, accuracy and style for examination purposes.

Teaching:
Please refer to the LSE timetable for teaching arrangements.

Registration will be through the LSE Training System in the Summer Term www.lse.ac.uk/training.
MRes/PhD Programme Regulations
Key to MRes/PhD Regulations
(H) means a half-unit course
(C) means this course is capped
(n/a 12/13) means not available in the 2012/13 academic year
(M) means Michaelmas Term
(L) means Lent Term
(S) means Summer Term

Methodological Training and Study Skills
The Methodology Institute provides a number of courses for research track PhD programmes. MY4AMI Foundations of Social Research 1 and MY4M2 Foundations of Social Research 2 contain modules in quantitative and qualitative analysis and are required for the ESRC 1+3 scheme. In addition the Institute offers courses in study skills and specialist options in a range of aspects of social research. All PhD students are welcome to attend any courses offered by the Institute, details of which are in the relevant part of the section on Masters degrees.

MRes/PhD Economics
For students starting in or after the 2010/11 session
The MRes/PhD programme is offered in twin-track formats. Students on both tracks of the programme will have to complete MRes degree courses, a PhD-qualifying course and research training modules prior to submission of the PhD thesis. The different entrance qualifications of Track 1 and 2 students dictate the sequence and duration of the coursework.

Track 1 is aimed at students graduating with a first class undergraduate degree in economics from a reputable university institution. Track 2 is for students who have completed a graduate degree in economics from a reputable university institution and who have demonstrated exceptional performance in it. The decision on which track students are registered is a matter of academic judgement of the selectors for the programme.

The School’s regulations for Taught Masters Degrees apply to Track 1 course components 1. - 6. and Track 2 course components 1. - 5., except where the regulations below supersede the School’s degree regulations.

Programme Structure
Track 1
Track 1: (5 MRes Papers + 1 PhD-qualifying paper)
Track 1 students are required to attend EC400, the September Introductory Course before commencing the MRes/PhD programme.

First year of Track 1
Students are required to take the following MRes core courses:
1. EC441 Microeconomics for MRes Students
2. EC442 Macroeconomics for MRes Students
3. EC443 Econometrics for MRes Students or EC484 Econometric Analysis*
 * Permission must be obtained to sit EC484: it is intended for students with a strong econometric background and an interest in pursuing a PhD with econometrics as the primary field.

Second year of Track 1
Students are required to take:
4. EC599 Research Paper in Economics (5,000 - 10,000 words in length)
5. One from the Field Selection List below
Students who obtain at least two marks of 60% or more and one mark of 50% or more in the core courses 1. - 3. will be allowed to take their second (PhD qualifying) field during year 2 (paper 6).

In addition, students attend:
A. MY593A Authoring a PhD and Developing as a Researcher:
Getting Started
B. EC501 Work in Progress Seminars
C. The weekly departmental seminar series closest to their major field.

Third and further years of Track 1
Students who have not completed paper 6 (PhD qualifying field course) will be required to take:
6. One from the Field Selection List below but different from paper 5. In addition, students attend:
D. MY593B Authoring a PhD and Developing as a Researcher: The Middle Years
E. MY593C Authoring a PhD and Developing as a Researcher: The Endgame
F. EC501 Work in Progress Seminars, where they present their research
G. The weekly departmental seminar series closest to their major field
Students are required to work on their research and to write a PhD thesis.

Progression to year 2 of MRes in Economics
In order to progress unconditionally from the first to the second year of MRes registration, students are required to achieve pass marks of 50% or higher in papers 1, 2 and 3. Students who do not attain this standard may proceed to the second year with up to two resit papers, only with the permission of the MRes Programme Director, with the restriction that they can sit a maximum of four exams (including resits and EC599) in year 2.

Award of the MRes in Economics
The award and classification of the MRes degree is consistent with the School’s Scheme for the Award of a five-unit Taught Masters Degree. Students are required to achieve a pass mark of 50% in papers 1, 2, 3, 4 and 5. One failed paper (but not a bad fail of 29% or less) can be compensated by a mark of 60% or higher in another paper.

Progression to PhD registration
For PhD registration students are required to achieve three marks of 60% or higher and two marks of 50% or higher in MRes papers 1, 2, 3, 4 and 5. Two marks of 60% or higher are required from the MRes core papers 1; 2, 3, 4 and 5. A mark between 55 - 59% in one of these core papers can be condoned by a mark of +70% in another core paper and/or a mark between 50 - 59% in one of these core papers can be condoned by a mark of +70% in the EC599 research paper.

Students missing the overall progression requirement by one paper are permitted to progress to PhD registration, but will subsequently need to re-sit and pass the paper to the necessary standard to continue their PhD registration. Students will also need to pass their PhD-qualifying field course (paper 6), which is taken in the first year of PhD registration, with 50% or higher.

Students missing the progression requirement by more than one paper are required to pass those papers to the necessary standard before PhD registration can be permitted.

Throughout the coursework portion of the MRes or MRes/PhD programme, students failing a paper or missing a progression mark will have to retake that paper within one year of the original examination. In exceptional circumstances, the Graduate Studies Sub-Committee can grant permission to a candidate to resit a paper in a subsequent year. Students can resit each paper only once.

Students registered for the PhD remain subject to the relevant MRes regulations for any courses or examinations they are completing. Students who have been permitted to progress onto the PhD without satisfying the complete progression standard will have their PhD registration discontinued if they fail to reach this standard at re-sit.

A student can appeal against the Department’s decision on progression to PhD according to the appeal’s procedures against decisions on upgrading to PhD in the School’s Regulations for Research Degrees.
Award of the PhD in Economics
Award of the PhD is contingent on meeting the progression requirements for the PhD, passing the PhD qualifying field with a mark of 50% or higher, and on the completion and defence of an original research thesis, in accordance with LSE regulations.

Track 2
Track 2: (4 MRes Papers + 1 PhD-qualifying paper)
Track 2 students may be required to attend EC400, the September Introductory Course before commencing the MRes/PhD programme.

First year of Track 2:
Students are required to take:
1. EC441 Microeconomics for MRes Students
2. EC442 Macroeconomics for MRes Students
3. EC443 Econometrics for MRes Students or EC484 Econometric Analysis*
4. EC599 Research Paper in Economics (5,000 - 10,000 words in length)*
   * Permission must be obtained to sit EC484: it is intended for students with a strong econometrics background and an interest in pursuing a PhD with econometrics as the primary field. Students who have completed EC484 to the required standard as part of their MSc do not have to take the course again and will have their MSc mark carried forward. These students are permitted to take their PhD qualifying field course (paper 5) in place of paper 3.

   In addition, students attend
A. MY593A Authoring a PhD and Developing as a Researcher: Getting Started
B. EC501 Work in Progress Seminars
C. The weekly departmental seminar series closest to their major field.

Subsequent years of Track 2 (if upgraded to PhD):
Students are required to take:
5. One from the Field Selection List below (PhD qualifying field course).

Students who are permitted to take a PhD qualifying field in year 1 are waived this additional requirement.
In addition, students attend:
A. MY593A Authoring a PhD and Developing as a Researcher: Getting Started
B. MY593B Authoring a PhD and Developing as a Researcher: The Middle Years
C. MY593C Authoring a PhD and Developing as a Researcher: The Endgame
D. EC501 Work in Progress Seminars, where they present their research
E. The weekly departmental seminar series closest to their major field.

Students are required to work on their research and to write a PhD thesis.

Award of the MRes in Economics
The award and classification of the MRes degree is consistent with the School’s Scheme for the Award of a four-unit Taught Masters Degree. Students are required to achieve a pass mark of 50% in papers 1, 2, 3 and 4. One failed paper (but not a bad fail of 29% or less) can be compensated by a mark of 60% or higher in another paper.

Progression to PhD registration
For PhD registration students are required to achieve two marks of 60% or higher and two marks of 50% or higher in MRes papers 1, 2, 3 and 4. Two marks of 60% or higher are required from the MRes core papers 1, 2, and 3. A mark between 55 - 59% in one of these core papers can be condoned by a mark of +70% in another core paper and/or a mark between 50 - 59% in one of these core papers can be condoned by a mark of +70% in the EC599 research paper.

Students missing the overall progression requirement by one paper are permitted to progress to PhD registration, but will subsequently need to re-sit and pass the paper to the necessary standard to continue their PhD registration. Students will also need to pass their PhD-qualifying field course (paper 5), which is taken in the first year of PhD registration, with 50% or higher.

Students missing the progression requirement by more than one paper are required to pass those papers to the necessary standard before PhD registration can be permitted.
Throughout the coursework portion of the MRes or MRes/PhD programme, students failing a paper or missing a progression mark will have to retake that paper within one year of the original examination. In exceptional circumstances, the Graduate Studies Sub-Committee can grant permission to a candidate to resit a paper in a subsequent year. Students can resit each paper only once. Students registered for the PhD remain subject to the relevant MRes regulations for any courses or examinations they are completing.

Award of the PhD in Economics
Award of the PhD is contingent on meeting the progression requirements for the PhD, passing the PhD qualifying field with a mark of 50% or higher, and on the completion and defence of an original research thesis, in accordance with LSE regulations.

Field Selection List
EC532 International Economics for Research Students
EC533 Labour Economics for Research Students
EC534 Public Economics for Research Students
EC535 Development Economics for Research Students
EC536 Economics of Industry for Research Students
EC537 Microeconomic Theory for Research Students
EC518 Topics in Advanced Econometrics for Research Students
EC539 Macroeconomics for Research Students
Either FM502 Theories of Finance or FM503 Empirical Finance or EC430 Capital Markets and FMS502.2 Theories of Finance
PH413 Philosophy of Economics and PH555 Research Seminar in the Philosophy of Economics and Social Sciences
 Track 2 students who have previously taken the EC485 component of this course at Masters level may instead, with the agreement of the MRes Programme Director, take Statistics and/or Mathematics courses to the value of one unit.
† PH555: students are required to attend one term of choice and complete the term essay.

MRes/PhD Economics
For students starting before the 2010/11 session
The MRes/PhD programme is offered in twin-track formats. Students on both tracks of the programme will have to complete MRes degree courses, a PhD-qualifying course and research training modules prior to submission of the PhD thesis. The different entrance qualifications of Track 1 and 2 students dictates the sequence and duration of the coursework.
Track 1 is aimed at students graduating with a first class undergraduate degree in economics. Track 2 is for students who have completed a graduate degree in economics and demonstrated exceptional performance.

Programme Structure
Track 1
Track 1: (5 MRes Papers + 1 PhD-qualifying paper)
Track 1 Students are required to attend EC400 Introductory Course in Mathematics and Statistics before commencing the MRes/PhD

Award of the MRes in Economics
The award and classification of the MRes degree is consistent with the School’s Scheme for the Award of a four-unit Taught Masters Degree. Students are required to achieve a pass mark of 50% in papers 1, 2, 3 and 4. One failed paper (but not a bad fail of 29% or less) can be compensated by a mark of 60% or higher in another paper.
First year of Track 1:
Students are required to take MRes core courses (papers 1, 2 & 3) in microeconomics, macroeconomics and econometrics.

Second year of Track 1:
Students write an MRes research paper (paper 4) of 5,000-10,000 words and take the first of two field courses (paper 5). Subject to permission, students may be allowed to take their second (PhD qualifying) field simultaneously (paper 6).

Students are required to attend the Methodology Institute training ‘Authoring a PhD and Developing as a Researcher’ and are strongly encouraged to take advantage of other PhD-level training provided by the Department.

Students are required to attend the weekly Departmental seminar series closest to their major field and the relevant EC501 Work in Progress Seminar.

Subsequent years of Track 1 (if upgraded to PhD):
In year 3, students take the PhD-qualifying field course (paper 6) if they were not permitted to take it in year 2.

Students must have a detailed research proposal approved and signed by their supervisor by the end of the Michaelmas Term of their third year.

Students continue to attend the weekly Departmental seminar series closest to their major field and the relevant EC501 Work in Progress Seminar, where they present their research.

Students are expected to work on their research and to complete their PhD thesis within two or three years of PhD registration.

Track 1: Summary MRes degree courses, PhD qualifying course, and research training modules:

MRes degree courses (examinable)
1. EC441 Microeconomics for MRes Students
2. EC442 Macroeconomics for MRes Students
3. EC443 Econometrics for MRes Students or EC484 Econometric Analysis*
4. EC599 Research Paper in Economics
5. One from the Field Selection List below

PhD qualifying course (examinable)
6. One from the Field Selection List below

MRes research training modules (non-examinable)
A. MY593A Authoring a PhD and Developing as a Researcher: Getting Started
B. EC501 Work in Progress Seminars
C. In addition, students will be required to attend the weekly Departmental seminar series closest to their major field.

PhD research training modules (non-examinable)
D. MY593B Authoring a PhD and Developing as a Researcher: The Middle Years
E. MY593C Authoring a PhD and Developing as a Researcher: The Endgame
* Permission must be obtained to sit EC484: it is intended for students with a strong econometric background and an interest in pursuing a PhD with econometrics as the primary field.

Track 1: Progression to year 2 of MRes in Economics
In order to progress unconditionally from the first to the second year of MRes registration, students should attain the pass mark of 50% (at least) in papers 1, 2 & 3. Students who do not attain this standard may proceed to the second year with up to two resit papers, with the restriction that they can sit a maximum of four exams (including resits) in year 2. Students with more than 2 resits will not be permitted to proceed to year 2.

Track 1: Award of the MRes in Economics
The award and classification of the MRes degree is consistent with the School’s Scheme for the Award of a five-unit Taught Masters Degree. Students are required to achieve a pass mark of 50% in papers 1, 2, 3, 4 & 5. One failed paper (but not a bad fail) can be compensated by a mark of 55% or higher in another paper.

Track 1: Progression to PhD registration
For PhD registration students should obtain three marks of 60% or higher and two marks of 50% or higher in MRes papers 1, 2, 3, 4 & 5. Two marks of 60% or higher are required from the MRes core papers EC441, EC442, and EC443. A mark between 55-59% in one of these core papers can be condensed by a mark of +70% in another core paper.

Students missing the overall progression requirement by one paper are permitted to progress to PhD registration, but will subsequently need to pass the paper to the necessary standard to continue their PhD registration. Students who have not taken their PhD-qualifying field course (paper 6) will also need to pass that course with 50% or higher. These requirements will need to be taken at the next examination, except where permission has been granted for a candidate to defer the examination until a subsequent year.

Students missing the progression requirement by more than one paper are required to pass those papers to the necessary standard before PhD registration can be permitted. Throughout the coursework portion of the MRes or MRes/PhD programme, students failing a paper or missing a progression mark will have to retake that paper within one year of the original examination. The Graduate Studies Sub-Committee can grant permission to a candidate to retake a paper in a subsequent year in exceptional circumstances. Each paper can only be resat once.

Students registered for the PhD remain subject to the relevant MRes regulations for any courses or examinations they are completing. Students who have been permitted to progress onto the PhD without satisfying the complete progression standard will have their PhD registration discontinued if they fail to reach the this standard at re-sit.

Track 1: Award of the PhD in Economics
Award of the PhD is dependent on the completion and defence of an original research thesis, in accordance with University of London and LSE regulations.

Track 2
Track 2: (4 MRes Papers + 1 PhD-qualifying paper)
Track 2 Students may be required to attend EC400 Introductory Course in Mathematics and Statistics before commencing the MRes/PhD programme.

First year of Track 2:
Students are required to take MRes core courses (papers 1, 2 & 3), plus the MRes research paper (paper 4). Students who, as part of an MSC, have completed with exceptional performance a core course of a strictly equivalent level and coverage are permitted to take their PhD qualifying field course in its place.

Students are required to attend the Teaching and Learning Centre training ‘Authoring a PhD and Developing as a Researcher’ and are strongly encouraged to take advantage of other PhD-level training provided by the Department.

Students are required to attend the weekly Departmental seminar series closest to their major field and the relevant EC501 Work in Progress Seminar.

Subsequent years of Track 2 (if upgraded to PhD):
In year 2, students take the PhD-qualifying field course (paper 5) if they were not permitted to take it in year 1.

Students must have a detailed research proposal approved and signed by their supervisor by the end of the Michaelmas Term of their second year.

Students continue to attend the weekly Departmental seminar series. closest to their major field and the relevant EC501 Work in Progress Seminar, where they present their research. Students are expected to work on their research and to complete their PhD thesis within two or three years of PhD registration.

Track 2: Summary MRes degree courses, PhD qualifying course, and research training modules

MRes degree courses (examinable)
1. EC441 Microeconomics for MRes Students +
2. EC442 Macroeconomics for MRes Students +
3. EC443 Econometrics for MRes Students or EC484 Econometric Analysis* +
4. EC599 Research Paper in Economics

* Permission must be obtained to sit EC484: it is intended for students with a strong econometric background and an interest in pursuing a PhD with econometrics as the primary field.

PhD qualifying courses (examinable) ++
5. One from the Field Selection List below

MRes research training courses (non-examinable)
A. MY593A Authoring a PhD and Developing as a Researcher: Getting Started
B. EC501 Work in Progress Seminars
C. In addition, students will be required to attend the weekly Departmental seminar series closest to their major field.

PhD research training courses (non-examinable)
D. MY593B Authoring a PhD and Developing as a Researcher: The Middle Years
E. MY593C Authoring a PhD and Developing as a Researcher: The Endgame

+ Students who, as part of an MSc, have completed with exceptional performance a course of a strictly equivalent level and coverage are permitted to take the PhD qualifying field course in its place.
++ Students who are permitted to take a PhD qualifying field as paper 1, 2 or 3, are waived this additional requirement.

Track 2: Award of the PhD in Economics
Award of the PhD is dependent on the completion and defence of an original research thesis, in accordance with University of London and LSE regulations.

Field Selection List
EC532 International Economics for Research Students
EC533 Labour Economics for Research Students
EC534 Public Economics for Research Students
EC535 Development Economics for Research Students
EC536 Economics of Industry for Research Students
EC537 Microeconomic Theory for Research Students
EC518 Topics in Advanced Econometrics for Research Students*
EC539 Macroeconomics for Research Students

* Track 2 students who have previously taken the EC485 component of this course at Masters level may instead, with the agreement of the MRes Tutor, take Statistics and/or Mathematics courses to the value of one unit.

+ PH555: students are required to attend one term of choice and complete the term essay.

---

MRes/PhD Programme Regulations

Students complete and are examined in courses to the value of four full units.

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Paper</th>
<th>Course number and title</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>1</td>
<td>Research Design</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td>GV5X1 Research Design in Political Science</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

Methods courses

Students take courses under take A, B or C to the value of one unit:

A) Quantitative research topics
   - MY452 Applied Regression Analysis (H)
   - GV4G1 Applied Quantitative Methods for Political Science (H) (n/a 12/13)

B) Qualitative research topics
   - GV513 Qualitative Methods in the Study of Politics (H)
   - MY451 Introduction to Quantitative Analysis (H)

C) Political theory research topics
   - GV4G3 Foundations of Political Theory

If these courses have already been taken, other methods courses may be substituted with the approval of the course convenor and the supervisor.

Field seminars

Courses to the value of 1 unit from the following:
- GV5X2 Research Paper in Comparative Politics (half or full unit)
- GV5X3 Research Paper European Politics and Policy (half or full unit)
- GV5X4 Research Paper in Global Politics (half or full unit)
- GV5X5 Research Paper Political Science and Political Economy (half or full unit)
- GV5X6 Research Paper Political Theory (half or full unit)
- GV5X7 Research Paper Public Policy and Administration (half or full unit)

Any course taught anywhere in the School, with the approval of the Course Convenor and the Supervisor.
Any course from 2, above, not already taken, or any research methods course taught anywhere in the School, with the approval of the Course Convenor and the Supervisor.

Research Prospectus
GV599 Research Prospectus in Political Science

Second, third and fourth year
A) Research and write a dissertation (GV599)
B) Participate in at least one Doctoral Workshop in the Government Department or elsewhere in the School in each year. e.g. GV501 Doctoral Workshop: Political Theory; GV514 Political Science and Political Economy Doctoral Workshop.

Award of the MRes
The award and classification of the MRes is consistent with the School's Scheme for the Award of a four-unit Taught Masters Degree

Conditions for progression to PhD
1. Award of the MRes with at least a Merit
2. Award of GV599 with at least a Merit

Award of the PhD
The PhD is awarded according to the rules of the LSE.
MPhil/PhD Programme Regulations
MPhil/PhD Accounting

In addition to progressing with their research, students are expected to take the listed training and transferable skills courses. Students may take courses in addition to those listed, and should discuss this with their supervisor.

YEAR ONE
Training courses
Compulsory (not examined):
AC500 Accounting, Organisations and Society

Compulsory (examined):
AC502 Foundations in Accounting, Organisations and Institutions
Two of the following (to the value of 1.5 course units) normally to be taken in the first year (one course may need to be taken in Year Two):
AC410 Management Accounting, Strategy and Organisational Control
AC411 Accounting, Strategy and Control (H)
AC420 Financial Reporting in Capital Markets
AC444 Valuation and Security Analysis (H)
AC470 Accounting in the Global Economy (H)
EH463 The Long-Run Analysis of Firms and Industries (H) (n/a 12/13)
EH487 International Economic Institutions since World War I (H)
GV478 Political Science and Public Policy
GV481 Political Science and Political Economy (H)
GV488 Law and Politics of Regulation
GV4E4 Public Budgeting and Financial Management
GV420 Environmental Regulation: Implementing Policy
GV423 Environment and Development
GY455 Economic Appraisal and Valuation (H)
LL406 Introduction to Regulation (H)
LL425 European Monetary and Financial Services Law (n/a 12/13)
LL435 Corporate Governance
LL440 Corporate Accountability: Topics in Legal and Accounting Regulation
LL484 Regulation of Financial Markets
LL4C9 Project Finance and Public Private Partnerships
LL4D5 Legal Risk in the Financial Markets (H)
SO425 Risk, Regulation and Economic Life
SO439 Economic Sociology (H)
Any other graduate-level course available in the School with permission from the PhD Programme Director.

Optional (examined):
At least one methodology course, including courses offered by the Methodology Institute, either in their first and/or second year of the programme.

Transferable skills courses
Compulsory (not examined):
AC501 Seminar in Accounting Research Methods

Optional (not examined):
Relevant seminars in related areas elsewhere in the School
Appropriate international workshops and colloquia

YEAR TWO
Training courses
Compulsory (not examined):
AC500 Accounting, Organisations and Society

Compulsory (examined):
Students who have completed less than 2 graduate-level course units in Year One will take additional courses.

Optional (examined):
As needed, students may take course(s) or research training session(s) offered by the Methodology Institute.

Transferable skills courses
Compulsory (not examined):
Department of Accounting research seminars

Optional (not examined):
Relevant seminars in related areas offered elsewhere in the School
Appropriate international workshops and colloquia

YEAR THREE
Training courses
Compulsory (not examined):
AC500 Accounting, Organisations and Society

Optional (examined):
As needed, students may take course(s) or research training session(s) offered by the Methodology Institute.

Transferable skills courses
Compulsory (not examined):
Department of Accounting research seminars

Optional (not examined):
Relevant seminars in related areas offered elsewhere in the School
Appropriate international workshops and colloquia

YEAR FOUR
Training courses
Compulsory (not examined):
AC500 Accounting, Organisations and Society

Optional (examined):
As needed, students may take course(s) or research training session(s) offered by the Methodology Institute.

Transferable skills courses
Compulsory (not examined):
Department of Accounting research seminars

Optional (not examined):
Relevant seminars in related areas offered elsewhere in the School
Appropriate international workshops and colloquia

Progression and upgrade requirements:
To proceed from Year One to Year Two, students must pass all course examinations normally with high Merit or Distinction marks.
Examinations: All MPhil/PhD Accounting students are required to achieve a pass mark of at least 65% in their examined courses. The examiners may, in exceptional circumstances, condone a lower pass mark if there is strength elsewhere. Students failing a paper can, at the discretion of the departmental Postgraduate Assessment Review Committee, and taking into account overall performance, re-sit that paper on one occasion only. The departmental Postgraduate Assessment Review Committee may also decide to substitute a make-up assignment, such as a 5,000-word essay, to redress any mark deficiencies.

Seminar presentations:
Students are required to make a seminar presentation in each year of their programme.

Upgrade:
Students will initially be registered for the MPhil. In order to progress... to PhD registration, students must have achieved a pass mark of at least 65% in their taught course exams, and have made satisfactory progress in their research, which normally is understood to mean a solid draft of one complete chapter, plus a detailed outline for the rest of the dissertation with abstracts for each proposed chapter. The departmental Postgraduate Review and Assessment Committee will review the progress of each research student, and make recommendations for upgrading to PhD on a case-by-case basis.

Teaching Experience:
Students are offered the opportunity to gain teaching experience with appropriate training, and are encouraged to take presentation skills and other training offered by the Teaching and Learning Centre.

MPhil/PhD Anthropology
In addition to progressing with their research, students are expected to take the listed training and transferable skills courses. Students may take courses in addition to those listed, and should discuss this with their supervisor.

YEAR ONE:
Pre-fieldwork
Training courses
Compulsory (not-examined):
AN500 Seminar on Anthropological Research

Compulsory (examined):
AN501 Field Research Seminar
AN449 Ethnography in relation to other Research Methods (H)
AN455 Statistics and Causal Analysis for Social Anthropologists (H)
Students with a strong background in statistics can take MY552 instead of AN455.
In addition, students are required to attend and produce coursework for one or two of the department's main courses (to the value of one unit):
AN402 The Anthropology of Religion,
AN405 The Anthropology of Kinship, Sex and Gender,
AN437 Anthropology of Learning and Cognition and LL4E8 Law in Society: A Joint Course in Law and Anthropology (H)
AN451 Anthropology of Politics (H),
AN456 Anthropology of Economy (1): Production and Exchange (H),
AN457 Anthropology of Economy (2): Development, Transformation and Globalisation (H)
Students also follow a reading and fieldwork preparation course (AN442) under the direction of their supervisors and prepare a 10,000 word research proposal (AN443).

Transferable skills courses
Optional (not examined):
Students are encouraged to attend MY593A Authoring a PhD and Developing as a Researcher: Getting Started

YEARS TWO-THREE:
Fieldwork
Fieldwork normally lasts approximately fifteen to eighteen months. Years three-four: Post-fieldwork

Training courses
Compulsory (not examined):
After fieldwork students begin writing their PhD dissertations under the close supervision of members of staff. During this period of their studies, they attend:
AN500 Seminar on Anthropological Research,
AN503 Thesis Writing Seminar, and
AN507 Theoretical Issues in Anthropology: Precepts and Practice II.

Presentation requirements:
in the year following their return from the field, students are required to present a chapter to the rest of their cohort in the Thesis Writing Seminar (AN503). In the final year, students are normally expected to present a paper in the Departmental Seminar on Anthropological Research (AN500).

Transferable skills courses
Optional (not examined):
Students are encouraged to attend MY593B Authoring a PhD and Developing as a Researcher: The Middle Years and MY593C Authoring a PhD and Developing as a Researcher: The Endgame.

Progression and upgrade requirements:
In the first year of the programme, AN449 and AN455 will be examined in the Summer Term. Together these count for 25% of the total mark of the year. Students who obtain a fail (but not a bad fail) in either of these courses, but who achieve a pass when both marks are combined are allowed to progress without retaking the failed exam. Essays for the additional course are submitted at the end of Lent Term. If a mark of 60% is not achieved essays must be resubmitted within four weeks. The research proposal, worth 75% of the total mark for the year, will be examined, and must be passed before a student is upgraded to the PhD and allowed to begin fieldwork.

MPhil/PhD (with Qualifying Examination) in Anthropology
The QE/MPhil/PhD programme is designed for, and only open to, students who have secured full sponsorship for a research programme in Social Anthropology but do not fulfil entry requirements for the LSE’s MPhil/PhD. The first year provides training and Qualifying Examinations equivalent to MSc Social Anthropology.

YEAR ONE
Year 1 will be assessed under the LSE’s Regulations for Taught Masters Degrees and Scheme For The Award Of A Taught Masters Degree. Students will automatically progress to the MPhil/PhD provided they obtain a Merit or higher in Year 1. Students must take courses to the value of three full units and a dissertation as shown.

Paper Course number and title
1 AN404 Anthropology: Theory and Ethnography
2 One or two of the following to the value of one full unit: AN402 The Anthropology of Religion
AN405 The Anthropology of Kinship, Sex and Gender
AN451 Anthropology of Politics (H)
AN456 Anthropology of Economy (1): Production and Exchange (H)
AN457 Anthropology of Economy (2): Development, Transformation and Globalisation (H)
3 One or two of the following to the value of one full unit: A paper from 2 above not already taken
AN419 The Anthropology of Christianity (H) (n/a 12/13)
AN420 The Anthropology of South-East Asia (H) (n/a 12/13)
AN421 The Anthropology of Industrialisation and Industrial Life (H) (n/a 12/13)
AN424 The Anthropology of Melanesia (H) (n/a 12/13)
AN429 The Anthropology of Southern Africa (H) (n/a 12/13)
AN436 The Anthropology of Development (H)
AN437 Anthropology of Learning and Cognition
AN439 Anthropology and Human Rights (H)
AN444 Investigating the Philippines: New Approaches and Ethnographic Contexts (H) (n/a 12/13)
AN447 China in Comparative Perspective
AN458 Children and Youth in Contemporary Ethnography (H) (n/a 12/13)
AN459 Anthropology and Media (H) (n/a 12/13)
AN461 Anthropological Approaches to Questions of...
YEASY ONE
Non examinable components
All QE students will be entitled and encouraged to attend the Departmental Seminar on Anthropological Research (AN500) in order to develop their familiarity with current research in the discipline.

YEAR TWO
Subject to obtaining a Merit or higher in Year 1, students progress to the MPhil which focuses on research preparation and methodological training.

YEARS THREE to FIVE
After fieldwork (which normally lasts approximately fifteen to eighteen months) students begin writing their PhD dissertations under the close supervision of members of staff. During this period of their studies, they attend weekly thesis-writing seminars (AN503), as well as the departmental Seminars on Anthropological Theory (AN500), and fortnightly seminars on recent developments in anthropology (AN507).

Notes
* means subject to agreement of the MSc Law, Anthropology and Society Programme Director.

MPhil/PhD Development Studies
In addition to progressing with their research, students are expected to take the listed training and transferable skills courses.

YEAY ONE
Training courses
Optional (not examined):
SA451 Social Policy Research
MY451 Introduction to Quantitative Analysis (H)
MY400 Fundamentals of Social Science Research Design (H)
MY421 Qualitative Research Methods (H)

Transferable skills courses
Compulsory (not examined):
SA550 Research Student Seminar

Optional (not examined):
Relevant courses provided by the Library, Teaching and Learning Centre and Methodology Institute

YEAY TWO
Training courses
Optional (not examined):
MY452 Applied Regression Analysis (H)
MY455 Multivariate Analysis and Measurement (H)

Transferable skills courses
Optional (not examined):
SA550 Research Student Seminar

YEAY THREE
Transferable skills courses
Optional (not examined):
SA550 Research Student Seminar

YEAY FOUR
Transferable skills courses
Optional (not examined):
SA550 Research Student Seminar

Progression and Upgrade requirements
Each student is required to undertake Major Review in the summer term of their first year (second year for part-time students). For Major Review they must submit a 10,000 word document with a detailed thesis proposal, their research question, a literature review, a description of their methodology, their plans for data collection and a timetable through to completion. They are interviewed on this document by senior staff who make the decision on upgrading.

Each year post-Major Review, every student is expected to submit a 1,000 to 2,000 word progress report, approved by supervisors, to the Research Students’ Programme Director. Each pre-Major Review student is expected to make a presentation on their proposed research to the SA550 seminar prior to the submission of their major review document and to address issues raised by the Research Students’ Programme Director(s).

MPhil/PhD Programme Regulations   537
YEAR TWO
Transferable skills courses
Compulsory (not examined)
MY593B Authoring a PhD and Developing as a Researcher: The Middle Years

YEAR THREE
Transferable skills courses
Compulsory (not examined)
MY593C Authoring a PhD and Developing as a Researcher: The Endgame

YEAR FOUR
Students are expected to have completed their research.

Progression and Upgrade requirements
Students will be required to achieve a minimum mark of 65% in the Methodology courses. Failure to do so may mean that you are unable to progress onto the PhD programme and will remain at MPhil until you have either completed a further methodology course or achieved an improved grade.

All students will be interviewed during the Michaelmas term of their second year by the Graduate Review Committee. Continued registration for a second year will be conditional on the work presented being of a satisfactory standard and if satisfactory, will be upgraded from MPhil to PhD. By the end of ST of the second year students should have finished all fieldwork (where applicable). By the end of the third year students should be able to complete their dissertation.

MPhil/PhD Economic Geography
In addition to progressing with their research, students are expected to take the listed training and transferable skills courses. Students may take courses in addition to those listed, and should discuss this with their supervisor.

Route 1
Students who have completed MSc Local Economic Development or MSc Real Estate Economics and Finance will enter in Year 1 and take the course specified below:

Year One
Training courses
Compulsory (not examined)
GY502 Staff/Research Students Seminars

Compulsory (examined)
1. Courses to the value of one unit from the following (the course(s) must be different to those taken on the MSc):
   GY457 Applied Urban and Regional Economics
   GY404 Topics in Local Economic Development (H)
   GY407 Globalisation, Regional Development and Policy
   GY408 Local Economic Development and Policy
   GY447 The Economics of Regional and Urban Planning (H)
   EC411 Microeconomics (requires students to take pre-sessional course EC400)
2. One relevant advanced qualitative research methods course to the value of one unit:
   GY428 Applied Qualitative Methods (H)
   GY460 Techniques of Spatial Economic Analysis (H)
   MY500 Fundamentals of Social Science Research Design (H)
   MY521 Qualitative Research Methods (H)
   MY526 Doing Ethnography (H)
   MY527 Non-Traditional Data: New Dimensions in Qualitative Research (H)
   MY556 Survey Methodology (H)
   MY557 Causal Inference for Observational and Experimental Studies (H)
   MY559 Special Topics in Quantitative Analysis: Advanced Regression Modelling (H)
   GY500 Geographical Project Seminar
   MY593B Authoring a PhD and Developing as a Researcher: The Middle Years

Year three
Training courses
Compulsory (not examined)
GY502 Staff/Research Students Seminars

Transferable skills courses
Compulsory (not examined)
GY500 Geographical Project Seminar
MY593C Authoring a PhD and Developing as a Researcher: The Endgame

Year four
Training courses
Optional (not examined)
GY502 Staff/Research Students Seminars

Transferable skills courses
Optional (not examined)
GY500 Geographical Project Seminar

Route 2
Students without MSc Local Economic Development or MSc Real Estate Economics and Finance will take the following specified courses:

Year One
Training courses
Compulsory (not examined)
GY502 Staff/Research Students Seminars

Compulsory (examined)
2. One relevant advanced qualitative research methods course to the value of one unit:
   GY428 Applied Quantitative Methods (H)
   GY460 Techniques of Spatial Economic Analysis (H)
   MY500 Fundamentals of Social Science Research Design (H)
   MY521 Qualitative Research Methods (H)
   MY526 Doing Ethnography (H)
   MY527 Non-Traditional Data: New Dimensions in Qualitative Research (H)
   MY556 Survey Methodology (H)
   MY557 Causal Inference for Observational and Experimental Studies (H)
   MY559 Special Topics in Quantitative Analysis: Models for Categorical and Discrete Variables (H)
Transferable skills courses

Compulsory (not examined)

GY500 Geographical Project Seminar

MY592 Workshop in Information Literacy: finding, managing and organising published research and data

MY593A Authoring a PhD and Developing as a Researcher: Getting Started

Year Two

Training courses

Compulsory (not examined)

GY502 Staff/Research Students Seminars

Transferable skills courses

Compulsory (not examined)

GY500 Geographical Project Seminar

MY593B Authoring a PhD and Developing as a Researcher: The Middle Years

Year Three

Training courses

Compulsory (not examined)

GY502 Staff/Research Students Seminars

Transferable skills courses

Compulsory (not examined)

GY500 Geographical Project Seminar

MY593C Authoring a PhD and Developing as a Researcher: The End Game

Year Four

Training courses

Optional (not examined)

GY502 Staff/Research Students Seminars

Transferable skills courses

Optional (not examined)

GY500 Geographical Project Seminar

Progression and upgrade requirements for both routes

Progression and upgrade requirements:

Students in the MPhil/PhD programme will go through a First Year Progress Review taking place in the Summer Term of their first research year. This is Year 1 for students in the +3 programme and Year 2 for students in the 1+3 programme. For the First Year Progress Review, the student submits a written progress report containing an extensive and updated research proposal (typically including an introduction to the topic and motivation for the research; aims and objectives/research questions; contribution to knowledge; summary of methods to be used; and outline of the work to be done) and either a comprehensive literature review or a substantive draft of a chapter/paper as evidence of progress made during the year. Normally, there will be a progress review meeting between the student and the supervisors (main supervisor and review supervisor) to discuss the written material presented. The work has to reach an acceptable standard to enable the student to progress. There is provision for a second Supplementary Review in cases where there are doubts as to whether progress has been sufficient to allow the student to enter the second year (third year of the 1+3 programme). Progression to the second year (third year of the 1+3 programme) is also dependent on students having passed all required examinations and obtained at least one merit, and having presented their work satisfactorily in the doctoral presentation workshops.

All research students are initially registered for an MPhil and have to be upgraded to PhD status. The upgrade from MPhil to PhD usually occurs during the second year of full-time registration. This is Year 2 for students in the +3 programme and Year 3 for students in the 1+3 route. The exact timing depends on the student's progress. Students are required to submit a formal written upgrade report consisting of an extensive revised research proposal, two substantive draft papers/chapters, of which one can be a literature review, and a detailed plan for completion. Students are asked to discuss their research paper/thesis outline during an Upgrade Meeting in front of an Upgrading Committee normally formed by main supervisor, review supervisor and a third member of staff with relevant expertise. The material is evaluated by the Upgrading Committee, who will recommend transferal to PhD registration if the work is judged to be of sufficient quality and quantity. The upgrade is also dependent on students having completed all required training courses and having made a satisfactory research presentation in their doctoral presentation workshop.

In addition to these formal arrangements, each year during the Summer Term and throughout the course of their studies, all PhD students and their supervisors have to complete a yearly Progress Report Form, detailing progress made, problems arising and plan/timeline for completion. The forms are sent to the relevant Doctoral Programme Director for approval before students are able to re-register for the following session. If perceived lack of progress is identified, it can trigger a more formal annual review of progress in which the student is asked to produce specific written documents to be evaluated by a review panel.

MPhil/PhD Economic History

In addition to progressing with their research, students are expected to take the listed training and transferable skills courses. Students may take courses in addition to those listed, and should discuss this with their supervisor.

YEAR ONE

Training courses Compulsory (examined)

EH520 Approaches to Economic and Social History EH401 and EH402 (unless already taken as part of the Master's degree, and, where appropriate, a pre-sessional statistics course)

Optional (not examined)

Supervisors may require students in their first or subsequent years of study to take other relevant economic history courses, methodological courses provided by the Methodology Institute or the Institute of Historical Research or skills training courses as required for their thesis topic.

Transferable skills courses

Compulsory (not examined)

MY590 Thesis Workshop in Economic History

MY593A Authoring a PhD and Developing as a Researcher: Getting Started

YEAR TWO

Training courses

Compulsory (not examined)

EH590 Thesis Workshop in Economic History

Optional (not examined)

MY593B Authoring a PhD and Developing as a Researcher: The Middle Years

YEAR THREE

Training courses

Compulsory (not examined)

EH590 Thesis Workshop in Economic History

Transferable skills courses

Compulsory (not examined)

MY593C Authoring a PhD and Developing as a Researcher: The End Game

YEAR FOUR

Training courses

Compulsory (not examined)

EH590 Thesis Workshop in Economic History
Progression and upgrade requirements

At the end of the Lent Term of the first year, students are required to present their work to the Thesis Workshop in Economic History. By the start of the Summer Term students are required to submit at least one draft thesis chapter and a 3-5 page thesis outline to the Graduate Review Committee. Students taking one or more MSc examination may, with the support of their supervisor, apply to defer their submission of work to no later than the start of the 7th week of the Summer Term. The Committee will interview all students during the Summer Term, and re-registration for a second year will be conditional on the work presented being of a satisfactory standard. All students are expected to gain broad knowledge of the subject from graduate level course work in their first year and active participation in workshops, seminars and conferences to complement the expertise gained from intense thesis research.

By the Summer Term of the second year the Graduate Review Committee will normally expect to see about half the thesis in draft. The Committee will interview students, and if the submitted work is of an acceptable standard, students will be upgraded from MPhil to PhD. Students may defer the upgrade decision until their third year for fieldwork or other reasons, but only with the support of their supervisor.

---

MPhil/PhD Economics

In addition to progressing with their research, students are expected to take the listed training and transferable skills courses. Students may take courses in addition to those listed, and should discuss this with their supervisor.

Students may be taking the MRes/PhD Economics (Track 1 or Track 2) and should refer to the regulations at: www.lse.ac.uk/resources/calendar/programmeRegulations/mResPhD/mResPhDinEconomics.htm

YEAR ONE

Training courses

Compulsory (examined)

EC502 Topics in Economic Analysis (now withdrawn)

One MSc level course from a wide range of options: this course may either fill a missing gap in training or support the proposed research area.

Transferable skills courses

Compulsory (not examined)

EC500 Seminar in Research Strategy (now withdrawn)

Presentation requirements

Students are required to make short presentations of their proposed research in the weekly Seminar in Research Strategy.

YEAR TWO

Transferable skills courses

Compulsory (not examined)

EC501 Work in Progress Seminar

YEAR THREE

Transferable skills courses

Compulsory (not examined)

EC501 Work in Progress Seminar

YEAR FOUR

Transferable skills courses

Compulsory (not examined)

EC501 Work in Progress Seminar

Progression and upgrade requirements

Students are initially registered for an MPhil with retrospective transfer to PhD registration pending sufficient research progress. All first year students are reviewed by the Economics Department Graduate Committee in July. This review is based on the supervisor's report, seminar performance, and the two examination results.

Part-time students may take one examination in the first year. Every student is expected to produce one substantial piece of written work in the first year.

At the end of the second year there is a review of completion prospects. Full-time students are expected to complete in three or four years. The minimum completion time is two years. For students who do not complete by the end of the third year there is an intensive review of completion prospects.

In the second and subsequent years all students attend their relevant Work in Progress Seminar where significant chapters of thesis are presented. Upgrading to PhD registration often follows successful presentations.

Many students are affiliated to one of the Economics Centres or Institutes such as The Financial Markets Research Centre, the Suntory-Toyota International Centres for Economics and Related Disciplines and the Centre for Economic Performance. Most students do some undergraduate class teaching, either as teaching assistants or as part-time teachers. The Programme is affiliated with the European Doctoral Programme, which allows students to study at more than one institution and offers flexibility, subject to individual requirements, as to the final institution awarding the degree.

---

MPhil/PhD Environmental Economics

In addition to progressing with their research, students are expected to take the listed training and transferable skills courses. Students may take courses in addition to those listed, and should discuss this with their supervisor.

Route 1

Students with MSc Environmental Economics and Climate Change will enter Year 1 and take the specified courses below:

Year One

Training courses

Compulsory (not examined)

GY502 Staff/Research Students Seminars

Compulsory (examined)

1. EC411 Microeconomics (Note that students must take the pre-sessional course EC400).
2. Relevant advanced qualitative research methods course(s) to the value of one unit from the following:
   - EC402 Econometrics
   - MY555 Multivariate Analysis and Measurement (H)
   - MY556 Survey Methodology (H)
   - MY557 Causal Inference for Observational and Experimental Studies (H)
   - MY559 Special Topics in Quantitative Analysis: Advanced Regression Modelling (H)

Transferable skills courses

Compulsory (not examined)

GY500 Geographical Project Seminar

MY592 Workshop in Information Literacy: finding, managing and organising published research and data

MY593A Authoring a PhD and Developing as a Researcher: Getting Started

Year Two

Training courses

Compulsory (not examined)

GY502 Staff/Research Students Seminars

Transferable skills courses

Compulsory (not examined)

GY500 Geographical Project Seminar

MY593A Authoring a PhD and Developing as a Researcher: The MPhil/PhD Programme Regulations

Year Three
Training courses
Compulsory (not examined)
GY502 Staff/Research Students Seminars

Transferable skills courses
Compulsory (not examined)
GY500 Geographical Project Seminar
MY593C Authoring a PhD and Developing as a Researcher: The End

Year Four
Training Courses
Optional (not examined)
GY502 Staff/Research Students Seminars

Transferable skills courses
Optional (not examined)
GY500 Geographical Project Seminar

Route 2
Students without MSc Environmental Economics and Climate Change will enter Year 1 and take the specified courses below:

Year One
Training courses
Compulsory (not examined)
GY502 Staff/Research Students Seminars

Compulsory (examined)
1. EC411 Microeconomics (Students must take the pre-sessional course EC400).
2. GY426 Environmental and Resource Economics
3. Advanced qualitative research methods course(s) to the value of one unit from the following list:
   EC402 Econometrics
   GY428 Applied Quantitative Methods
   MY555 Multivariate Analysis and Measurement (H)
   MY556 Survey Methodology (H)
   MY557 Causal Inference for Observational and Experimental Studies (H)
   MY559 Special Topics in Quantitative Analysis: Advanced Regression Modelling (H)
   Transferable skills courses
   Compulsory (not examined)
   GY500 Geographical Project Seminar
   MY592 Workshop in Information Literacy: finding, managing and organising published research and data
   MY593A Authoring a PhD and Developing as a Researcher: Getting Started

Year Two
Training courses
Compulsory (not examined)
GY502 Staff/Research Students Seminars

Transferable skills courses
Compulsory (not examined)
GY500 Geographical Project Seminar
MY593B Authoring a PhD and Developing as a Researcher: The Middle Years

Year Three
Training courses
Compulsory (not examined)
GY502 Staff/Research Students Seminars
Transferable skills courses
Compulsory (not examined)
GY500 Geographical Project Seminar
MY593C Authoring a PhD and Developing as a Researcher: The End

Game
Year Four
Training courses
Compulsory (not examined)
GY502 Staff/Research Students Seminars

Transferable skills courses
Compulsory (not examined)
GY500 Geographical Project Seminar

Progression and Upgrade requirements for routes 1 and 2
Once students are in the MPhil/PhD part of the programme, they will go through a First Year Progress Review taking place in the Summer Term of their first research year. This is Year 1 for students in the +3 programme and Year 2 for students in the 1+3 programme. For the First Year Progress Review, the student submits a written progress report containing an extensive and updated research proposal (typically including an introduction to the topic and motivation for the research; aims and objectives/research questions; contribution to knowledge; summary of methods to be used; and outline of the work to be done) and either a comprehensive literature review or a substantive draft of a chapter/paper as evidence of progress made during the year.

Normally, there will be a progress review meeting between the student and the supervisors (main supervisor and review supervisor) to discuss the written material presented. The work has to reach an acceptable standard to enable the student to progress. There is provision for a second Supplementary Review in cases where there are doubts as to whether progress has been sufficient to allow the student to enter the second year (third year of the 1+3 programme). Progression is also dependent on students having passed all required examinations and obtained at least one merit, and having presented their work satisfactorily in the doctoral presentation workshops.

All research students are initially registered for an MPhil and have to be upgraded to PhD status. The upgrade from MPhil to PhD usually occurs during the second year of full-time registration. This is Year 2 for students in the +3 programme and Year 3 for students in the 1+3 route. The exact timing depends on the student's progress.

Students are required to submit a formal written upgrade report consisting of an extensive revised research proposal, two substantive draft papers/chapters, of which one can be a literature review, and a detailed plan for completion. The material is evaluated by an upgrading committee that will recommend transfer to PhD registration if the work is judged to be of sufficient quality and quantity. The upgrading committee is normally formed by the student's main supervisor, review supervisor and a third member of staff with relevant expertise. The upgrade is also dependent on students having completed all required training courses and having made a satisfactory research presentation in their doctoral presentation workshop.

In addition to these formal arrangements, each year during the Summer Term and throughout the course of their studies, all PhD students and their supervisors have to complete a yearly Progress Report Form, detailing progress made, problems arising and plan/timeline for completion. The forms are sent to the relevant Doctoral Programme Director for approval before students are able to re-register for the following session. If perceived lack of progress is identified, it can trigger a more formal annual review of progress in which the student is asked to produce specific written documents to be evaluated by a review panel.

MPhil/PhD Environmental Policy and Development
In addition to progressing with their research, students are expected to take the listed training and transferable skills courses. Students may take courses in addition to those listed, and should discuss this with their supervisor.
Route 1
Students who have completed MSc Environmental Policy and Regulation or MSc Environment and Development will enter in Year 1 and take the courses specified below:

Year One

Training courses

Compulsory (not examined)

GY502 Staff/Research Students Seminars

Compulsory (examined)

1. Courses to the value of one unit from the list of options on the relevant MSc degrees.
2. Relevant advanced qualitative research methods course(s) to the value of one unit from the following:
   - MY500 Fundamentals of Social Science Research Design (H)
   - MY521 Qualitative Research Methods (H)
   - MY526 Doing Ethnography (H)
   - MY527 Non-Traditional Data: New Dimensions in Qualitative Research (H)
   - MY529 Special Topics in Qualitative Research Methods: Qualitative Text Analysis (H)

Students will be required to take a different course(s) from those taken on the MSc degree.

Transferable skills courses

Compulsory (not examined)

GY500 Geographical Project Seminar

MY592 Workshop in Information Literacy: finding, managing and organising published research and data

MY593A Authoring a PhD and Developing as a Researcher: Getting Started

Year Two

Training courses

Compulsory (not examined)

GY502 Staff/Research Students Seminars

Transferable skills courses

Compulsory (not examined)

GY500 Geographical Project Seminar

MY593B Authoring a PhD and Developing as a Researcher: The Middle Years

Year Three

Training courses

Compulsory (not examined)

GY502 Staff/Research Students Seminars

Transferable skills courses

Compulsory (not examined)

GY500 Geographical Project Seminar

MY593C Authoring a PhD and Developing as a Researcher: The End Game

Year Four

Training courses

Compulsory (not examined)

GY502 Staff/Research Students Seminars

Transferable skills courses

Compulsory (not examined)

GY500 Geographical Project Seminar

Progression and Upgrade requirements for both routes

Once students in the MPhil/PhD part of the programme, they will go through a First Year Progress Review taking place in the Summer Term of their first research year. This is Year 1 for students in the +3 programme and Year 2 for students in the 1+3 programme. For the First Year Progress Review, the student submits a written progress report containing an extensive and updated research proposal (typically including an introduction to the topic and justification for the research; aims and objectives/research questions; contribution to knowledge; summary of methods to be used; and outline of the work to be done) and either a comprehensive literature review or a substantive draft of a chapter/paper as evidence of progress made during the year. Normally, there will be a progress review meeting between the student and the supervisors (main supervisor and review supervisor) to discuss the written material presented. The work has to reach an acceptable standard to enable the student to progress. There is provision for a second Supplementary Review in cases where there are doubts as to whether progress has been sufficient to allow the student to enter the second year (third year of the 1+3 programme). Progression is also dependent on students...
Students will initially be registered for the MPhil. It is the normal practice to upgrade students on an annual basis. A formal review committee assesses the progress of all MPhil/PhD students, usually presenting their work at the seminar once each year. Students are expected to take an active part in the PhD seminar.

Progression and upgrade requirements:

Students are expected to take an active part in the PhD seminar series, usually presenting their work at the seminar once each year. A formal review committee assesses the progress of all MPhil/PhD students on an annual basis. Students will initially be registered for the MPhil. It is the normal expectation that the decision to upgrade a full-time student from MPhil to PhD will be made either at the first formal review or by the end of the second year of registration, and for part-time students, respectively at the end of the second or third reviews. The materials submitted for the upgrade review may include examples of written work, such as a draft chapter or literature review, an abstract, and an outline. Supervisors will advise their students as to the content and nature of the material required for the upgrade review.

MPhil/PhD European Studies

In addition to progressing with their research, students are expected to take the listed training and transferable skills courses. Students may take courses in addition to those listed, and should discuss this with their supervisor.

YEAR ONE

Training courses

Compulsory (not examined):

ID500 Employment Relations and Organisational Behaviour Seminar

Optional (not examined/examined):

Students should discuss their training needs with their supervisor. A large number of seminars and courses are offered by the Methodology Institute and elsewhere in the school.

YEAR TWO

Training courses

Compulsory (not examined):

ID500 Employment Relations and Organisational Behaviour Seminar

YEAR THREE

Training courses

Compulsory (not examined):

ID500 Employment Relations and Organisational Behaviour Seminar

YEAR FOUR

Training courses

Compulsory (not examined):

ID500 Employment Relations and Organisational Behaviour Seminar

MPhil/PhD Employment Relations and Organisational Behaviour

In addition to progressing with their research, students are expected to take the listed training and transferable skills courses. Students may take courses in addition to those listed, and should discuss this with their supervisor.

YEAR ONE

Training courses

Compulsory (not examined):

ID500 Employment Relations and Organisational Behaviour Seminar

Optional (not examined/examined):

Students should discuss their training needs with their supervisor. A large number of seminars and courses are offered by the Methodology Institute and elsewhere in the school.

YEAR TWO

Training courses

Compulsory (not examined):

ID500 Employment Relations and Organisational Behaviour Seminar

YEAR THREE

Training courses

Compulsory (not examined):

ID500 Employment Relations and Organisational Behaviour Seminar

YEAR FOUR

Training courses

Compulsory (not examined):

ID500 Employment Relations and Organisational Behaviour Seminar

Transferable skills courses

Compulsory (not examined):

EU550 Research Workshop in European Studies

Optional (not examined):

EU553 European Political Economy Research Seminar (n/a 12/13)

MY593B Authoring a PhD and Developing as a Researcher: The Middle Years

Transferable skills courses

Compulsory (not examined):

EU550 Research Workshop in European Studies

Optional (not examined):

EU553 European Political Economy Research Seminar (n/a 12/13)

EU555/GV555/R555 Political Economy and Public Policy Workshop

Political Economy and Public Policy Workshop.

Optional (not examined):

MY593B Authoring a PhD and Developing as a Researcher: The Middle Years

YEAR THREE

Training courses

Compulsory (not examined):

EU550 Research Workshop in European Studies

Optional (not examined):

EU553 European Political Economy Research Seminar (n/a 12/13)

EU555/GV555/R555 Political Economy and Public Policy Workshop

If not taken in Year Two:

EU555/GV555/R555 Political Economy and Public Policy Workshop
MPhil/PhD Finance

In addition to progressing with their research, students are expected to take the listed training and transferable skills courses. Students may take courses in addition to those listed, and should discuss this with their supervisor.

Students will take either Route 1 or Route 2 (depending on their previous Masters qualification) as detailed below.

Route 1: Students from the MSc Accounting and Finance or MSc Management and Regulation of Risk programmes and those from other relevant programmes, either at LSE or elsewhere, will enter in Year 1 and take the courses specified below.

YEAR ONE

Training courses

Compulsory (examined)
- FM404 Forecasting Financial Time Series (H)
- FM437 Financial Econometrics
- FM502 Theories of Finance
- EC441 Microeconomics for MRes Students
- Transferable skills courses

Compulsory (not examined)
- Capital Markets Workshop
- FM505 PhD Seminar in Finance

Optional (not examined)
- Any relevant seminars in related areas
- MY593A Authoring a PhD and Developing as a Researcher: Getting Started
- MY592 Workshop in Information Literacy: finding, managing and organising published research and data

YEAR TWO

Training courses

Compulsory (examined)
- FM503 Empirical Finance
- And one full unit equivalent optional course from:
  - EC442 Macroeconomics for MRes Students
  - EC443 Econometrics for MRes Students

Optional (not examined)
- ECS18 Topics in Advanced Econometrics for Research Students
- EC357 Microeconomic Theory for Research Students
- EC539 Macroeconomic Theory for Research Students
- Or any other course approved by the Programme Director

YEAR FOUR

Transferable skills courses Compulsory (not examined)
- Capital Markets Workshop
- FM505 PhD Seminar in Finance

Optional (not examined)
- MY593B Authoring a PhD and Developing as a Researcher: The Middle Years Any relevant seminars in related areas

Presentation requirements: Students are required to do a seminar presentation in the second year.

YEARS THREE AND FOUR

Students spend the remainder of their PhD registration period carrying out research and thesis writing. They should also attend the following courses.

Transferable skills courses

Optional (not examined)
- EU550 Research Workshop in European Studies
- MY593C Authoring a PhD and Developing as a Researcher: The Endgame

Other seminars closest to student’s field of study

Progress Reviews and Upgrading to PhD

Targets for Progress

Year 1: For a standard thesis: a research proposal (approximately 2,500 words) and abstract of the whole thesis; a sample chapter (approximately 8,000 words); and a timetable for completion.

For a thesis as a series of publishable papers: a research proposal (approximately 2,500 words) and an abstract covering the three prospective papers; a full draft of the introduction (approximately 8,000 words); and a timetable for completion.

Year 2: For a standard thesis: at least two further substantive chapters (of approximately 5,000-7,000 words each). For a thesis as a series of publishable papers: at least one fully written paper (approximately 10,000 words); and outlines of the other two papers (approximately 2,000 words).

Year 3: For a standard thesis: a full draft of all core chapters and agreed timetable for completion. For a thesis as a series of publishable papers: full drafts of all three papers, and agreed timetable for completion of the thesis.

Progression and upgrade requirements

All students are required to achieve a mark of at least 65% in their examined courses, with the exception of EC441 where the required mark is 50%. The examiners may decide under certain conditions to condone a lower mark if there is strength elsewhere. Students failing to satisfy a progression requirement in a paper can, at the examiner’s discretion, take into account overall performance, re-sit that paper on one occasion only.

Students are initially registered for an MPhil. In order to progress to PhD registration, students must have achieved a mark of at least 65% in the taught course exams, with the exception of EC441 where the required mark is 50%, and have made satisfactory progress in their research. Route 1 students will also be required to submit and defend a thesis proposal to a small Committee. The proposal builds on the 10,000 word essay completed for FM505 and should be submitted at the latest by the beginning of Summer Term of the second year of registration. The thesis proposal defence will be scheduled upon the satisfactory conclusion of all examined courses and completion of the FM505 paper and presentation.

Students are strongly encouraged to participate at an early stage in their research training in appropriate international workshops and colloquia. They are also offered the opportunity to gain teaching experience, with appropriate training, without detracting from their research time.

Route 2:

Students who have taken the MSc Finance and Economics or MSc Finance and Economics (Research) programmes at LSE or equivalent from another institution may enter onto Route 2 of the programme (this will have been subject to the approval of the Programme Director).

YEAR ONE

Training courses

Compulsory (examined):
- FM502 Theories of Finance
- FM503 Empirical Finance
- FM505 PhD Seminar in Finance
- EC441 Microeconomics for MRes Students
- Students who have already taken EC441 as part of the MSc Finance and Economics should instead choose one full unit equivalent optional course from:
  - EC442 Macroeconomics for MRes Students
  - EC443 Econometrics for MRes Students

Optional (not examined)
- EU550 Research Workshop in European Studies
- MY593C Authoring a PhD and Developing as a Researcher: The Endgame

Other seminars closest to student’s field of study
Transferable skills courses

Compulsory (not examined):
Capital Markets Workshop FM505 PhD Seminar in Finance

Optional (not examined):
MY593A Authoring a PhD and Developing as a Researcher: Getting Started

YEARS TWO TO FOUR

You will spend the remainder of your PhD registration period carrying out research and thesis writing.

Transferable skills courses

Compulsory (not examined):
Capital Markets Workshop
FM505 PhD Seminar in Finance

Optional (not examined):
MY593B Authoring a PhD and Developing as a Researcher: The Middle Years
MY593C Authoring a PhD and Developing as a Researcher: The Endgame
Any other seminars closest to your field of study

Presentation requirements:
Students are required to do a seminar presentation in the second year.

Progression and upgrade requirements

All students are required to achieve a mark of at least 65% in their examined courses, with the exception of EC441 where the required mark is 50%. The examiners may decide under certain conditions to condone a lower mark if there is strength elsewhere. Students failing to satisfy a progression requirement in a paper can, at the examiner's discretion, taking into account overall performance, re-sit that paper on one occasion only.

Students are initially registered for an MPhil. In order to progress to PhD registration, students must have achieved a mark of at least 65% in the taught course exams, with the exception of EC441 where the required mark is 50%, and have made satisfactory progress in their research. Route 2 students will also be required to submit and defend a thesis proposal to a small Committee. The proposal builds on the 10,000 word essay completed for FM505 and should be submitted at the latest by the beginning of Lent Term of the second year of registration. The thesis proposal defence will be scheduled upon the satisfactory conclusion of all examined courses and completion of the FM505 paper and presentation. Students are strongly encouraged to participate at an early stage in their research training in appropriate international workshops and colloquia. They are also offered the opportunity to gain teaching experience, with appropriate training, without detracting from their research time.

MPhil/PhD Gender

In addition to progressing with their research, students are expected to take the listed training and transferable skills courses. Students may take courses in addition to those listed, and should discuss this with their supervisor.

YEAR ONE

Training courses

Compulsory (examined)
Aims and Methods (first year programme)

Compulsory (not examined)
GI400 Gender Theories in the Modern World: An Interdisciplinary Approach (lectures only)
GI402 Gender, Knowledge and Research Practice (lectures, seminars and workshops)

Optional (not examined)
GI499 Dissertation Methodologies in Interdisciplinary Perspective
MY530 Advanced Qualitative Research Workshop
Quantitative and/or qualitative training courses provided in the Methodology Institute, as agreed with supervisor.
Audit any course from the Gender Institute menu:
GI403 Gender and Media Representation
GI405 Globalising Sexualities
GI406 Feminist Political Theory
GI407 Globalisation, Gender and Development
GI408 Cultural Constructions of the Body (n/a 12/13)
GI409 Gender, Globalisation and Development: An Introduction
GI410 Screening the Present: contemporary cinema and cultural critique
GI411 Gender, Postcolonialism, Development: Critical Perspectives and New Directions
GI412 Narratives of the Modern
GI413 Gender and Militarisation
GI499 Dissertation
Audit of relevant courses on other Masters programmes with agreement of the supervisor

Transferable skills courses

Compulsory (not examined)
GI500 Doctoral Workshop

Optional (not examined)
MY593A Authoring a PhD and Developing as a Researcher: Getting Started

YEAR TWO

Training courses

Optional (students should agree with their supervisor whether the courses taken will also be examined)
Quantitative and/or qualitative training courses provided in the Methodology Institute as agreed with supervisor.
Audit any course from the Gender Institute menu as above.
Audit of relevant courses on other Masters programmes with agreement of the supervisor

Transferable skills courses

Compulsory (not examined)
GI500 Doctoral Workshop

Optional (not examined)
MY593B Authoring a PhD and Developing as a Researcher: The Middle Years

YEAR THREE

Training courses

Optional (students should agree with their supervisor whether the courses taken will also be examined)
Quantitative and/or qualitative training courses provided in the Methodology Institute and/or Gender Institute, as agreed with supervisor.
Audit any course from the Gender Institute menu as above.
Audit of relevant courses on other Masters programmes with agreement of the supervisor

Transferable skills courses

Compulsory (not examined)
GI500 Doctoral Workshop

Optional (not examined)
MY593C Authoring a PhD and Developing as a Researcher: The Endgame
YEAR FOUR
Training courses
Optional (examined/not examined):
Quantitative and/or qualitative training courses provided in the Methodology Institute, as agreed with supervisor.
Audit any course from the Gender Institute menu as above.
Audit of relevant courses on other Masters programmes with agreement of the supervisor.

Transferable skills courses
Compulsory (not examined)
GI500 Doctoral Workshop

Progression and upgrade requirements
In the first year students will go through their Aims and Methods examination. This is held in the summer term and materials should be submitted by the end of the second week of summer term. Students submit a draft chapter and a research proposal for consideration by a panel of their supervisor and advisor (and occasional one other person with appropriate expertise). The research proposal follows a specific template and includes research objectives, the methodology and short research rationale. The nature of the chapter should be agreed with the supervisor. Both parts of the assessment focus on the student’s own research and draw on material and debates engaged in GI400 and GI402 where relevant. Students must pass Aims and Methods before progressing to their second year. If unsuccessful at first sit, students have the opportunity to retake Aims and Methods once more at the end of September.
Research students make the transition from MPhil to PhD (Upgrading) by the end of the MT of their second year. In order to upgrade, students must have passed their Aims and Methods. For Upgrade students submit a detailed outline for their thesis (including the anticipated division into chapters), two substantive draft chapters (usually a literature review, methodology or introductory chapter, in discussion with supervisor), and a timetable for completion. The Upgrade is examined in a viva and the committee consists of the main and advisory supervisors and one other person who is not familiar with the student’s work. Part-time student submissions are calculated pro-rata for both Aims and Methods and Upgrading.
Expectations for successful Aims and Methods and Upgrading:
• Satisfactory completion of materials for submission and appropriate academic presentation of the same
• Completion of compulsory courses, attendance and contribution to Doctoral Workshop
• Development of appropriate LSE courses in discussion with supervisor.
Having successfully Upgraded you will have an annual review with your supervisor and advisor to ensure satisfactory progress.

MPhil/PhD Geography
In addition to progressing with their research, students are expected to take the listed training and transferable skills courses. Students may take courses in addition to those listed, and should discuss this with their supervisor.

YEAR ONE
Training courses
Compulsory (not examined)
GY502 Staff/Research Students Seminars

Optional (examined)
Students without a recognised research training MSc will be required to take:
Either MY4M1 Foundations of Social Research 1 or MY4M2 Foundations of Social Research 2, or another relevant course (to be approved by supervisor and the Director of Postgraduate Studies).

Optional (examined/not examined)
One relevant advanced research methods course and one advanced specialist subject course by agreement with the supervisor.

Transferable skills courses
Compulsory (not examined)
GY500 Geographical Project Seminar
MY592 Workshop in Information Literacy: finding, managing and organising published research and data
MY593A Authoring a PhD and Developing as a Researcher: Getting Started

YEARS TWO
Training courses
Compulsory (not examined)
GY502 Staff/Research Students Seminars
Transferable skills courses

Compulsory (not examined)
GY500 Geographical Project Seminar
MY593B Authoring a PhD and Developing as a Researcher: The Middle Years

Optional (examined/not examined)
Students may attend additional courses, as deemed relevant by their supervisor.

YEAR THREE
Training courses
Compulsory (not examined)
GY502 Staff/Research Students Seminars

Optional (examined/not examined)
Students may attend additional courses, as deemed relevant by their supervisor.

Transferable skills courses
Compulsory (not examined)
GY500 Geographical Project Seminar
MY593C Authoring a PhD and Developing as a Researcher: The Endgame

YEAR FOUR
Training courses
Optional (not examined)
GY502 Staff/Research Students Seminars

Transferable skills courses
Optional (not examined)
GY500 Geographical Project Seminar

Progression and Upgrade requirements
Students must achieve a pass (50% or over) in all examined elements (which includes the Methodological courses).
All students will be subject to an annual review of progress in every year of registration.
At the end of the first year, students must submit a written first year progress report for formal review, encompassing a revised detailed research proposal and a chapter/paper (which can be a literature review). More details about the required materials and review process are outlined in the programme orientation notes. All of the work carried out in the year, plus performance in specified courses, will also be taken into consideration in the annual review.
All students will initially register for an MPhil and will be required to pass through an upgrade process to register for the PhD. Upgrade from MPhil to PhD normally takes place in the second year of... registration. Students must then submit a written upgrade report for formal examination, encompassing an extensive and detailed research proposal and two chapters/papers (one of which can be a literature review). More details about the required materials and upgrade process are outlined in the programme orientation notes. Students may be required to complete additional courses, as deemed relevant by their supervisor, in later years of registration. Students are required to be in attendance throughout their period of registration. Absences or fieldwork must be approved by the Director of Graduate Studies in Geography and the Research Degrees Subcommittee, LSE.

MPhil/PhD Government

In addition to progressing with their research, students are expected to take the listed training and transferable skills courses. Students may take courses in addition to those listed, and should discuss this with their supervisor.

YEAR ONE

Training courses

- Compulsory (not examined)
  - GVSX1 Research Design in Political Science

Optional (not examined/examined)

- Relevant course(s) provided in the Methodology Institute agreed with supervisor.

Transferable skills courses

- Optional (not examined)
  - Students are strongly recommended to attend
  - MY593A Authoring a PhD and Developing as a Researcher: Getting Started

YEAR TWO

Training courses

- Compulsory (not examined)
  - At least one workshop from the following (workshop content varies from year to year, but a typical profile includes workshops in political theory, institutional analysis and political economy, European politics and policy, rational choice, and comparative politics):
    - GV501 Doctoral Workshop: Political Theory
    - GV503 Political Philosophy Research Seminar
    - GV510 Ethnicity and Nationalism Research Workshop
    - GV512 Research Design: Comparative, Case Study and Historical Approaches
    - GV513 Qualitative Methods in the Study of Politics
    - GV514 Political Science and Political Economy Doctoral Workshop
    - GV515 Researching People, Politics and Organisations.

Presentation requirements:

- students are required to present at one of the workshops attended

YEAR THREE

Training courses

- Compulsory (not examined)
  - At least one workshop from the above (workshop content varies from year to year, but a typical profile includes workshops in political theory, institutional analysis and political economy, European politics and policy, rational choice, and comparative politics).

YEAR FOUR

Training courses

- Compulsory (not examined)
  - At least one workshop from the above (workshop content varies from year to year, but a typical profile includes workshops in political theory, institutional analysis and political economy, European politics and policy, rational choice, and comparative politics).
  - Progression and upgrade requirements Year 1 - To be allowed to re-register for the second year, first year students are required to give a satisfactory account of the progress and future direction of their research. This should take the form of:
    1. A short prospectus, of approximately 3,000 words, setting out the research question, initial theoretical ideas, how these ideas will be applied in empirical research or theoretical enquiry, and a fully referenced discussion of the location of the proposed thesis in relation to existing research, questions, and controversies.
    2. A list of intended chapter headings, giving the hypothetical contents of the thesis, together with a short abstract of one paragraph and no more than a page of A4, which summarises, albeit tentatively, the argument, anticipated or hoped for empirical findings or theoretical conclusions of the prospective thesis.
    3. One substantial piece of writing, which would normally be a draft chapter. The draft chapter should not be a literature review: it should be a forward looking piece dealing directly with the planned research.
  - A student is allowed to re-register if, in the opinion of the panel, there is a strong probability that the student will complete a PhD in the permitted time.

YEAR TWO

- The annual review examines the progress made by the student and especially the likelihood of completion of a thesis of sufficient standard within the normal periods (four years for a full-time student and eight for a part-time one).

YEAR THREE

- The annual review examines the progress made by the student and especially the likelihood of completion of a thesis of sufficient standard within the normal periods (four years for a full-time student and eight for a part-time one).

MPhil/PhD Human Geography and Urban Studies

In addition to progressing with their research, students are expected to take the listed training and transferable skills courses. Students may take courses in addition to those listed, and should discuss this with their supervisor.

Route 1

- Students with MSc Human Geography and Urban Studies (Research) will take the following specified courses:

  Year One

  Training courses

- Compulsory (not examined)
  - GYS02 Staff/Research Students Seminars

- Compulsory (examined)
  - 1. Course(s) to the value of one unit from the list of options available on MSc Human Geography and Urban Studies.
  - 2. Relevant advanced qualitative research methods course(s) to the value of one unit from the following:
    - MY500 Fundamentals of Social Science Research Design (H)
    - MY521 Qualitative Research Methods (H)
    - MY526 Doing Ethnography (H)
    - MY527 Non-Traditional Data: New Dimensions in Qualitative Research (H)
    - MY529 Special Topics in Qualitative Research Methods: Qualitative Text Analysis (H)
  - Students who have completed MSc Human Geography and Urban Studies must take a different course(s) to those that they have already taken.

- Transferable skills courses

- Compulsory (not examined)
  - GYS00 Geographical Project Seminar
  - MY592 Workshop in Information Literacy: finding, managing and organising published research and data
  - MY593A Authoring a PhD and Developing as a Researcher: Getting Started

Year Two
Training courses
- Compulsory (not examined)
  - GY502 Staff/Research Students Seminars

Transferable skills courses
- Compulsory (not examined)
  - GY500 Geographical Project Seminar
  - MYS938 Authoring a PhD and Developing as a Researcher: The Middle Years

Year Three

Training courses
- Compulsory (not examined)
  - GY502 Staff/Research Students Seminars

Transferable skills courses
- Compulsory (not examined)
  - GY500 Geographical Project Seminar
  - MYS938 Authoring a PhD and Developing as a Researcher: The End Game

Year Four

Training courses
- Compulsory (not examined)
  - GY502 Staff/Research Students Seminars

Transferable skills courses
- Compulsory (not examined)
  - GY500 Geographical Project Seminar

Progression and Upgrade requirements for both routes 1 and 2

Once students are in the MPhil/PhD part of the programme, they will go through a First Year Progress Review taking place in the Summer Term of their first research year. This is Year 1 for students in the +3 programme and Year 2 for students in the 1+3 programme. For the First Year Progress Review, the student submits a written progress report containing an extensive and updated research proposal (typically including an introduction to the topic and motivation for the research; aims and objectives/research questions; contribution to knowledge; summary of methods to be used; and outline of the work to be done) and either a comprehensive literature review or a substantive draft of a chapter/paper as evidence of progress made during the year. Normally, there will be a progress review meeting between the student and the supervisors (main supervisor and review supervisor) to discuss the written material presented. The work has to reach an acceptable standard to enable the student to progress to the second year. There is provision for a second Supplementary Review in cases where there are doubts as to whether progress has been sufficient to allow the student to enter the second year (third year of the 1+3 programme). Progression is also dependent on students having passed all required examinations and obtained at least one merit, and having presented their work satisfactorily in the doctoral presentation workshops.

All research students are initially registered for an MPhil and have to be upgraded to PhD status. The upgrade from MPhil to PhD usually occurs during the second year of full-time registration. This is Year 2 for students in the +3 programme and Year 3 for students in the 1+3 route. The exact timing depends on the student’s progress. Students are required to submit a formal written upgrade report consisting of an extensive revised research proposal, two substantive draft papers/chapters, of which one can be a literature review, and a detailed plan for completion. The material is evaluated by an upgrading committee that will recommend transference to PhD registration if the work is judged to be sufficient quantity and quality. The upgrading committee is normally formed by the student’s main supervisor, review supervisor and a third member of staff with relevant expertise. The upgrade is also dependent on students having completed all required training courses and having made a satisfactory research presentation in their doctoral presentation workshop.

In addition to these formal arrangements, each year during the Summer Term and throughout the course of their studies, all PhD students and their supervisors have to complete a yearly Progress Report Form, detailing progress made, problems arising and plan/timeframe for completion. The forms are sent to the relevant Doctoral Programme Director for approval before students are able to re-register for the following session. If perceived lack of progress is identified, it can trigger a more formal annual review of progress in which the student is asked to produce specific written documents to be evaluated by a review panel.
MPhil/PhD Information Systems
In addition to progressing with their research, students are expected to take courses in addition to those listed, and should discuss this with their supervisor.

YEAR ONE
Training courses
Compulsory (examined)
IS554 Information Systems PhD Seminar Series and Workshops (students are expected to attend each term and present at least once a year)

Optional (not examined)
PhD Seminar Series
Faculty Research Seminars

YEAR TWO
Transferable skills courses
Compulsory (not examined)
IS554 Information Systems PhD Seminar Series and Workshops (students are expected to attend each term and present at least once a year)

Optional (not examined)
PhD Seminar Series
Faculty Research Seminars

YEAR THREE
Transferable skills courses
Compulsory (not examined)
IS554 Information Systems PhD Seminar Series and Workshops (students are expected to attend each term and present at least once a year)

Optional (not examined)
PhD Seminar Series
Faculty Research Seminars

YEAR FOUR
Transferable skills courses
Compulsory (not examined)
IS554 Information Systems PhD Seminar Series and Workshops (students are expected to attend each term and present at least once a year)

Optional (not examined)
PhD Seminar Series
Faculty Research Seminars

MPhil/PhD International History
In addition to progressing with their research, students are expected to take courses in addition to those listed, and should discuss this with their supervisor.

YEAR ONE
Training courses
Compulsory (not examined)
HY501 International History Research Student Workshop

Transferable skills courses
Compulsory (not examined)
MY593A Authoring a PhD and Developing as a Researcher: Getting Started

YEAR TWO
Training courses
Compulsory (not examined)
HY509 International History Research Seminar

Transferable skills courses
Compulsory (not examined)
MY593B Authoring a PhD and Developing as a Researcher: The Middle Years

YEAR THREE
Training courses
Compulsory (not examined)
HY509 International History Research Seminar

Transferable skills courses
Compulsory (not examined)
MY593C Authoring a PhD and Developing as a Researcher: The Endgame

YEAR FOUR
Training courses
Compulsory (not examined)
HY509 International History Research Seminar

Progression and upgrade requirements
On being admitted, all students are formally registered for an MPhil. By 13 June (wk 8 Summer Term) of their first year (1 March of their second year for part-time students) they are required to submit 3 hardcopies of their dossier containing (1) the provisional title of their thesis, together with the provisional titles of their chapters; (2) a bibliography, setting out as comprehensively as possible the primary published and unpublished sources they intend to use, along with the books, articles, unpublished theses and other sources they will consult; (3) an historiographical essay, evaluating the contributions of other scholars to their subject, and indicating clearly how their own thesis will contribute to it; and (4) a draft chapter of approximately 10,000 words based largely upon primary sources. The dossier will be read by three members of the Department, and students will be required to undergo a 20-30 minute viva. After the viva you will be informed of the outcome and will receive a joint report from the panel. If the Committee deems the dossier/viva satisfactory, the Department will recommend the student for transfer of registration from MPhil to PhD status. If it is less than satisfactory it will be examined by the Committee who will determine whether the student should be allowed to resubmit revised upgrade materials, which may be permitted once. The review and viva process is designed to determine whether the student is likely to meet the requirements of a PhD, and whether the chosen topic is suitable for a doctoral dissertation.

MPhil/PhD International Relations

In addition to progressing with their research, students are expected to take the listed training and transferable skills courses. Students may take courses in addition to those listed, and should discuss this with their supervisor.

YEAR ONE

Training courses

Compulsory (not examined)

- IR500 International Relations Seminar for Staff and Research Students (withdrawn)
- IR501 International Relations Research Methods
- IR509 International Relations Research Design Seminar

YEAR TWO

Training courses

Compulsory (not examined)

- IR509 International Relations Research Design Seminar (second-year workshops)

Optional (examined/not examined)

The subject workshops offered by the International Relations Department include international relations theory; foreign policy analysis; security, conflict and peace studies; international institutions; political economy and public policy; European international politics; North-South relations, Asia-Pacific and the Middle East.

Relevant courses provided by the Methodology Institute and agreed with supervisor, including:

- MY400 Fundamentals of Social Science Research Design
- MY521 Qualitative Research Methods
- MY551 Introduction to Quantitative Analysis
- MY552 Applied Regression Analysis
- MY555 Multivariate Analysis and Measurement
- MY559 Special Topics in Quantitative Analysis: Advanced: Advanced Regression Modelling
- MY599 Methodology Institute Seminar
- MY530 Advanced Qualitative Analysis Workshops
- MY591 Computer Packages for Qualitative Analysis

Transferable skills courses

- MY593A Authoring a PhD and Developing as a Researcher: Getting Started (Year 1)
- MY592 Workshop in Information Literacy: finding, managing and organising published research and data (Year 1)
- MY593B Authoring a PhD and Developing as a Researcher: The Middle Years (Years 2 or 3)
- MY593C Authoring a PhD and Developing as a Researcher: The Endgame (Years 3 or 4)

Progression and upgrade requirements Early in the Summer Term first- and second-year research students will have their progress reviewed by a Research Panel. They may also be held at the end of the third or subsequent years of registration at the request of a supervisor or student. Supervisors will not attend Research Panels but will provide reports on progress. Panel members may attend student presentations at the Research Design Seminar (IR509). Students are expected for the first Panel to submit an outline of their proposed research and one draft chapter. Students who are deemed not to have made satisfactory progress will either be refused permission to re-register or will be required by the Research Panel to produce written work over the summer as a condition for re-registration in the autumn. In the event of conditions to re-registration being set, a further Research Panel may be reconvened in the September prior to re-registration.

For the second Panel, which will decide on the question of upgrading from MPhil to PhD, students will be expected to submit two additional draft chapters. The two chapters should be substantially new work, but may include revised material from year one. Students who have not made sufficient progress to be converted from MPhil to PhD registration by the end of their second year will normally have re-registration made conditional on further progress (details to be decided by the Panel) or may, exceptionally, be prohibited from re-registering.

MPhil/PhD Socio-Legal Theory

New programme starting in 2011-12

Further details will be available here soon.

MPhil/PhD Law

In addition to progressing with their research, students are expected to take the listed training and transferable skills courses. Students may take courses in addition to those listed, and should discuss this with their supervisor.

YEAR ONE

Training courses

Compulsory (not examined)

- MY400 Fundamentals of Social Science Research Design (H) or LL415 Socio-Legal Theory and Practice (H)

Transferable skills courses

Compulsory (not examined)

- LL500 Doctoral Research Seminar
- MY593A Authoring a PhD and Developing as a Researcher: Getting Started

Optional (not examined)

- Staff Seminar Series

YEAR TWO

Training courses

Compulsory (not examined)

- Minimum of three workshops of MY530 Advanced Qualitative Analysis Workshops

Optional (not examined)

- Staff Seminar Series

YEAR THREE

Training courses

Compulsory (not examined)

- PhD lunchtime seminar series

Optional (not examined)

- Staff Seminar Series

YEAR FOUR

Transferable skills courses

Optional (not examined)

- Staff Seminar Series

Progression and upgrade requirements Upgrade to PhD takes place at the end of the first year, progression being conditional on submission of a satisfactory statement of the research question and a satisfactory sample chapter towards the end of the summer term.
MPhil/PhD Programme Regulations

MPhil/PhD Management
In addition to progressing with their research, students are expected to take the listed training and transferable skills courses. Students may take courses in addition to those listed, and should discuss this with their supervisor. Students registered for the MPhil/PhD Management (Managerial Economics and Strategy Group) should see the MPhil/PhD Management (MES Group) programme regulations. Students will be registered for one of three tracks of this research programme and are required to take the courses as listed below.

Business Economics Track

YEAR ONE
Training courses
Compulsory (examined)
EC441 Microeconomics for MRes Students
MG411 Firms and Markets (students who have already taken MG411 should discuss alternatives with the programme director)
Full course unit Research Paper

Optional (examined)
1 of the below: EC532 International Economics for Research Students
EC533 Labour Economics for Research Students
EC536 Economics of Industry for Research Students
EC537 Microeconomic Theory for Research Students
FM502 Theories of Finance
FM503 Empirical Finance

Transferable skills courses
Optional (not examined)
Attendance and participation at Research Seminars held across the Department, details to be made available to student by email and on website.

YEAR TWO
Transferable skills courses
Optional (not examined)
Attendance and participation at Research Seminars held across the Department, details to be made available to student by email and on website.

YEAR THREE
Transferable skills courses
Optional (not examined)
Attendance and participation at Research Seminars held across the Department, details to be made available to student by email and on website.

YEAR FOUR
Transferable skills courses
Optional (not examined)
Attendance and participation at Research Seminars held across the Department, details to be made available to student by email and on website.

Progression and upgrade requirements
Students will normally be required to pass their first year modules with merit or above in order to progress to the second year. Upgrade will occur subject to the submission of a quality research proposal 18 months into the programme.

Management Quantitative Track (Stream A, with prior statistics background)

YEAR ONE
Training courses
Compulsory (examined)
2.5 units from the following: MY551 Introduction to Quantitative Analysis (H)
MY552 Applied Regression Analysis (H)
Or MG461 Quantitative Analysis in Management (H)
MG462 Qualitative Analysis in Management (H)
Full Unit Research Paper

Optional (examined) 1.5 units from the following:
MG414 Public Management and Governance
MG415 Policy Analysis, Evaluation and Implementation
MG426 Organisations in the Economy and Society
Management optional course or optional course from another department as agreed with supervisor

Transferable skills courses
Optional (not examined)
Attendance and participation at Research Seminars held across the Department, details to be made available to student by email and on website.

YEAR TWO
Transferable skills courses
Optional (not examined)
Attendance and participation at Research Seminars held across the Department, details to be made available to student by email and on website.

YEAR THREE
Transferable skills courses
Optional (not examined)
Attendance and participation at Research Seminars held across the Department, details to be made available to student by email and on website.

YEAR FOUR
Transferable skills courses
Optional (not examined)
Attendance and participation at Research Seminars held across the Department, details to be made available to student by email and on website.

Progression and upgrade requirements
Students will normally be required to pass their first year modules with merit or above in order to progress to the second year. Upgrade will occur subject to the submission of a quality research proposal 18 months into the programme.

Management Quantitative Track (Stream B with no prior statistics background)

YEAR ONE
Training courses
Compulsory (examined)
2.5 units from the following: MY551 Introduction to Quantitative Analysis (H)
MY552 Applied Regression Analysis (H)
Or MG461 Quantitative Analysis in Management (H)
MG462 Qualitative Analysis in Management (H)
Full Unit Research Paper

Optional (examined) 1.5 units from the following:
MG414 Public Management and Governance
MG415 Policy Analysis, Evaluation and Implementation
MG426 Organisations in the Economy and Society
Management optional course or optional course from another department as agreed with supervisor

Transferable skills courses
Optional (not examined)
Attendance and participation at Research Seminars held across the Department, details to be made available to student by email and on website.

YEAR TWO
Transferable skills courses

Transferable skills courses
Optional (not examined)
Attendance and participation at Research Seminars held across the Department, details to be made available to student by email and on website.

YEAR THREE
Transferable skills courses
Optional (not examined)
Attendance and participation at Research Seminars held across the Department, details to be made available to student by email and on website.

Progression and upgrade requirements
Students will normally be required to pass their first year modules with merit or above in order to progress to the second year. Upgrade will occur subject to the submission of a quality research proposal 18 months into the programme.

MPhil/PhD Management (Managerial Economics and Strategy Group)
In addition to progressing with their research, students are expected to take the listed training and transferable skills courses. Students may take courses in addition to those listed, and should discuss this with their supervisor.

Students registered for the MPhil/PhD Management (Business Economics Track, Quantitative or Qualitative Tracks) should see the relevant regulations: MPhil/PhD Management

YEAR ONE
Training courses
Compulsory (examined)
Two course units, chosen with relation to the intended area of research and agreed with the supervisor. One course should cover an aspect of research methodology.

Transferable skills courses
Compulsory (not examined)
Information to follow

Compulsory (examined)
Two course units, chosen with relation to the intended area of research and agreed with the supervisor. One course should cover an aspect of research methodology.

Transferable skills courses
Compulsory (not examined)
Information to follow

Optional (not examined)
Information to follow

YEAR TWO
Training courses
Compulsory (not examined/examined)
Information to follow

Transferable skills courses
Optional (not examined)
Attendance and participation at Research Seminars held across the Department, details to be made available to student by email and on website.

YEAR THREE
Training courses
Compulsory (not examined/examined)
Information to follow

Transferable skills courses
Optional (not examined)
Attendance and participation at Research Seminars held across the Department, details to be made available to student by email and on website.

YEAR FOUR
Training courses
Compulsory (not examined/examined)
Information to follow

Transferable skills courses
Optional (not examined)
Attendance and participation at Research Seminars held across the Department, details to be made available to student by email and on website.
Progression and upgrade requirements
Students must achieve a mark of at least 60% in all examinations. A formal Review Committee assesses the progress of all MPhil/PhD students on an annual basis. All students are required to provide samples of written work to the committee. Assessment is based on this written work, examination results, a report by the supervisor on research progress, and the quality of the presentation given during the seminar series. For each student at the end of the year, the Review Committee is asked to make one of three recommendations: (i) that the student cannot be re-admitted to the second year; (ii) that the student is permitted to re-register as a candidate for the MPhil Management; or (iii) that the student is upgraded to PhD status. The cases of students who were not upgraded to PhD status at the end of the first year are considered by the Review Committee again at the end of the student’s second year, following the submission of further written work by the student and provision of a second report by the supervisor. Performance in the student’s second year presentation is also taken into account. Two decisions are possible at this stage: (i) the student is upgraded to PhD status; or (ii) that the students cannot be re-admitted to the third year and should leave, possibly with an MPhil degree.

MPhil/PhD Management Science (formerly MPhil/PhD Operational Research)
In addition to progressing with their research, students are expected to take the listed training and transferable skills courses. Students may take courses in addition to those listed, and should discuss this with their supervisor.

Training Courses and Seminars There are no prescribed courses for all research students. Your supervisor will discuss with you your experience and background and will advise you or require you to take courses as appropriate. These would normally be taken in your first year of registration as a research student.

Students would be expected to be active participants in the Group’s Research Seminar Series and, where appropriate to their research, with the Mathematical Programming Study Group Seminar Series held in conjunction with the Operational Research Society. Normally research students are expected, under the guidance of their supervisor, to present their work and findings to the whole Group every summer in a session devoted to that purpose. Students engaged in preparing the final draft of their thesis are exempted from this requirement.

Methodological Training You will work closely with your principal supervisor, who will provide advice and guidance. You will also have the opportunity to take advantage of research methodology courses provided by the Methodology Institute and the academic and professional development programme offered by the Teaching and Learning Centre.

Upgrading to PhD
The review to upgrade to the PhD normally takes place within two years of full time registration. Progress is assessed by the first and/or second supervisor in consultation with the PhD programme director and another expert in the field of the research undertaken by the student. If satisfactory progress has been made, the programme director will recommend that registration be upgraded to PhD status.

Targets for Progress
Year 1 - Successful completion of any taught courses required
Year 2 - Upgrade to PhD
Year 3 - Completion of research and thesis
Year 4 - Completion of research and thesis

MPhil/PhD Management
From the 2012/13 session The Department of Management offers an MPhil/PhD Management programme with five tracks:

MPhil/PhD Management: Business Economics

MPhil/PhD in Management: Employment Relations and Organisational Behaviour
MPhil/PhD in Management: General Management
MPhil/PhD in Management: Information Systems and Innovation
MPhil/PhD in Management: Management Science

These are offered either within the Department or one of the its Academic Groups (Employment Relations and Organisational Behaviour, Information Systems and Innovation, Management Science).

H = half unit
F = full unit

Business Economics Track

YEAR ONE
Training courses
Compulsory (examined)
Full course unit Research Paper
EC441 Microeconomics for MRes Students
MG411 Firms and Markets (students who have already taken MG411 should discuss alternatives with the programme director)
1 of the below:
EC532 International Economics for Research Students
EC533 Labour Economics for Research Students
EC536 Economics of Industry for Research Students
EC537 Microeconomic Theory for Research Students
FM502 Theories of Finance
FM503 Empirical Finance

Transferable skills courses
Optional (not examined)
Attendance and participation at Research Seminars held across the Department, details to be made available to student by email and on website.

YEAR TWO
Transferable skills courses
Optional (not examined)
Attendance and participation at Research Seminars held across the Department, details to be made available to student by email and on website.

YEAR THREE
Transferable skills courses
Optional (not examined)
Attendance and participation at Research Seminars held across the Department, details to be made available to student by email and on website.

YEAR FOUR
Transferable skills courses
Optional (not examined)
Attendance and participation at Research Seminars held across the Department, details to be made available to student by email and on website.

Employment Relations and Organisational Behaviour Track

YEAR ONE
Training courses
Compulsory (examined)
Research Paper (full unit)
1.5 units from the following:
MY551 Introduction to Quantitative Analysis (H)
MY552 Applied Regression Analysis (H)
Or MG461 Quantitative Analysis in Management (H)
MG462 Qualitative Analysis in Management (H)
MY500 Fundamentals of Social Science Research Design (H)
MY521 Qualitative Research Methods (H) or MG462 Qualitative Analysis in Management (H)
Students may take alternative methods courses if more suitable to their research project or prior background as agreed with their supervisor and programme director. However, it is intended that students should graduate with knowledge of both quantitative and qualitative research methods.

1.5 units from the following:
ID410 Management of Human Resources: Strategies and Policies (H)
ID411 International and Comparative Human Resource Management (H) (n/a 12/13)
ID419 Cross Cultural Management (H)
ID420 Leadership in Organisations: Theory and Practice (H)
ID421 Human Resource Management and Employment Regulation (H) (n/a 12/13)
ID423 The Dark Side of the Organisation (H)
ID430 Organisational Behaviour (H)
ID431 Organisational Change (H)
ID432 International Employment Relations (H)
ID433 Negotiation Analysis (H)
ID434 Managing Diversity in Organisations (H) (n/a 12/13)
ID435 Organisational Theory (H)
ID436 Advanced and Emerging Topics in Organisational Behaviour (H) **
ID437 Reward System: Key Models and Practices (H)
ID438 Globalisation and Human Resource Management (H)
ID439 Foundations of Business and Management for Human Resources (H)
ID440 Corporate Social Responsibility and International Labour Standards (H)
ID441 Contemporary issues in HR Management (H)
MG414 Public Management and Governance (F)
MG415 Policy Analysis, Evaluation and Implementations (F)
MG426 Organisations in the Economy and Society (F)
MG436 Firms, Markets and Crises (H) (n/a 12/13) **
MG436 Advanced and Emerging Topics in Organisational Behaviour (H) **

Students may also take appropriate MSc level courses from within DoM or from another department as agreed with their supervisor and programme director.

Compulsory (not examined):
ID500 Employment Relations and Organisational Behaviour Seminar

YEAR TWO
Training courses
Compulsory (not examined):
ID500 Employment Relations and Organisational Behaviour Seminar

YEAR THREE
Training courses
Compulsory (not examined):
ID500 Employment Relations and Organisational Behaviour Seminar

YEAR FOUR
Training courses
Compulsory (not examined):
ID500 Employment Relations and Organisational Behaviour Seminar

General Management Track
Quantitative Approaches (for students with prior statistics background)

YEAR ONE
Training courses
Compulsory (examined)
Full Unit Research Paper
1.5 units from the following:
MY551 Introduction to Quantitative Analysis (H)
MY552 Applied Regression Analysis (H)
Or MG461 Quantitative Analysis in Management (H)
MG462 Qualitative Analysis in Management (H)
1.5 units from the following:
MG414 Public Management and Governance
MG415 Policy Analysis, Evaluation and Implementations
MG426 Organisations in the Economy and Society
Management optional course or optional course from another department as agreed with supervisor and programme director.

Transferable skills courses
Optional (not examined)
Attendance and participation at Research Seminars held across the Department, details to be made available to student by email and on website.

YEAR TWO
Transferable skills courses
Optional (not examined)
Attendance and participation at Research Seminars held across the Department, details to be made available to student by email and on website.

YEAR THREE
Transferable skills courses
Optional (not examined)
Attendance and participation at Research Seminars held across the Department, details to be made available to student by email and on website.

YEAR FOUR
Transferable skills courses
Optional (not examined)
Attendance and participation at Research Seminars held across the Department, details to be made available to student by email and on website.

Quantitative Approaches (for students with no prior statistics background)

YEAR ONE
Training courses
Compulsory (examined)
Full Unit Research Paper
1.5 units from the following:
MY551 Introduction to Quantitative Analysis (H)
MY552 Applied Regression Analysis (H)
Or MG461 Quantitative Analysis in Management (H)
MG462 Qualitative Analysis in Management (H)
1.5 units from the following:
MG414 Public Management and Governance
MG415 Policy Analysis, Evaluation and Implementations
MG426 Organisations in the Economy and Society
Management optional course or optional course from another department as agreed with supervisor and programme director.

Transferable skills courses
Optional (not examined)
Attendance and participation at Research Seminars held across the Department, details to be made available to student by email and on website.

YEAR TWO
Transferable skills courses
Optional (not examined)
Attendance and participation at Research Seminars held across the Department, details to be made available to student by email and on website.

YEAR THREE
Transferable skills courses
Optional (not examined)
Attendance and participation at Research Seminars held across the Department, details to be made available to student by email and on website.

YEAR FOUR
Transferable skills courses
Optional (not examined)
Attendance and participation at Research Seminars held across the Department, details to be made available to student by email and on website.
Qualitative Approaches

YEAR ONE
Training courses
Compulsory (examined)
Full unit Research Paper
1.5 units from the following:
MY500 Fundamentals of Social Science Research Design (H)
MY521 Qualitative Research Methods (H) or MG462 Qualitative Analysis in Management (H)
MY551 Introduction to Quantitative Analysis (H) or MG461 Quantitative Analysis in Management (H)
1.5 units from the following:
MG414 Public Management and Governance
MG415 Policy Analysis, Evaluation and Implementations
MG426 Organisations in the Economy and Society
Management optional course or optional course from another department as agreed with supervisor and programme director.

Transferable skills courses
Optional (not examined)
Attendance and participation at Research Seminars held across the Department, details to be made available to student by email and on website.

YEAR TWO
Transferable skills courses
Optional (not examined)
Attendance and participation at Research Seminars held across the Department, details to be made available to student by email and on website.

YEAR THREE
Transferable skills courses
Optional (not examined)
Attendance and participation at Research Seminars held across the Department, details to be made available to student by email and on website.

YEAR FOUR
Transferable skills courses
Optional (not examined)
Attendance and participation at Research Seminars held across the Department, details to be made available to student by email and on website.

Information Systems and Innovation Track

YEAR ONE
Training courses
Compulsory (examined)
Full Unit Research Paper
IS592 Foundations of Social Research in Information Systems: Paradigms and Traditions (H)
IS581 Interpretations of Information (H) (n/a 12/13)
Half unit course from Department of Management or other department, subject to approval from the supervisor and the Research Chair. The option would normally be an advanced level postgraduate course in an area that would contribute to their understanding or approach to the thesis topic.
MY500 Fundamentals of Social Science Research Design (H)
MY521 Qualitative Research Methods (H)
MY552 Applied Regression Analysis (H)

Transferable skills courses
Compulsory (not examined)
IS554 Information Systems PhD Seminar Series and Workshops (students are expected to attend each term and present at least once a year)
Optional (not examined)

YEAR TWO
Transferable skills courses
Compulsory (not examined)
IS554 Information Systems PhD Seminar Series and Workshops (students are expected to attend each term and present at least once a year)
Optional (not examined)

YEAR THREE
Transferable skills courses
Compulsory (not examined)
IS554 Information Systems PhD Seminar Series and Workshops (students are expected to attend each term and present at least once a year)
Optional (not examined)

YEAR FOUR
Transferable skills courses
Compulsory (not examined)
IS554 Information Systems PhD Seminar Series and Workshops (students are expected to attend each term and present at least once a year)
Optional (not examined)

Management Science Track

YEAR ONE
Training courses
Compulsory (examined)
Full Unit Research Paper
MA408 Discrete Mathematics and Complexity (H)
OR406 Mathematical Programming: Theory and Algorithms (H)
OR408 Combinatorial Optimisation (H)
1.5 units from the following:
OR409 Auctions and Game Theory (H) (n/a 12/13)
OR434 Principles of Decision Sciences (H)
MA402 Game Theory (H)
MA407 Algorithms and Computation (H)
MA409 Continuous-Time Optimisation (H)
MA411 Probability and Measure (H)
MA412 Functional Analysis and its Applications (H)
MA418 Preferences, Optimal Portfolio Choice, and Equilibrium
ST405 Multivariate Methods (H)
ST409 Stochastic Processes (H)
ST411 Generalized Linear Modelling and Survival Analysis (H)
ST418 Non-Linear Dynamics and the Analysis of Real Time Series (H)
ST422 Time Series (H)
Any Department of Management, LSE, University of London, or London Taught Course Centre (UTCC), or National Taught Course Centre in Operational Research (NATCOR) courses that are relevant and at an appropriate level, with the approval of the Programme Director.

Transferable skills courses
Optional (not examined)
Attendance and participation at Research Seminars held across the Department, details to be made available to student by email and on website.

YEAR TWO
Transferable skills courses
Optional (not examined)
Attendance and participation at Research Seminars held across the Department, details to be made available to student by email and on website.

YEAR THREE
Transferable skills courses
Optional (not examined)
Attendance and participation at Research Seminars held across the Department, details to be made available to student by email and on website.

YEAR FOUR
Transferable skills courses
Optional (not examined)
Attendance and participation at Research Seminars held across the Department, details to be made available to student by email and on website.

Progression and upgrade requirements (all tracks)
Students will normally be required to pass their first year modules with Merit or above in order to progress to the second year. The research paper must be submitted in the autumn of the second year for the upgrade decision. The panel will decide whether to upgrade the student to PhD status by the end of MT, or require them to ‘revise and resubmit’, with continued advice from the supervisor, by the end of March. A final decision would then be made.

MPhil/PhD Mathematics
In addition to progressing with their research, students are expected to take the listed training and transferable skills courses. Students may take courses in addition to those listed, and should discuss this with their supervisor.

YEAR ONE
Training courses
Compulsory (not examined)
Courses designed for research students in Mathematics, chosen in consultation with their lead supervisor. Most students will attend four courses organized by the London Taught Course Centre (www.ltcc.ac.uk), but there are separate arrangements for students in Financial Mathematics, where courses are provided by the London Graduate School in Mathematical Finance (www.londonmathfinance.org.uk).

Transferable skills courses
Compulsory (not examined)
MAS01 Research Student Seminar - students to attend and to make presentations.

Optional (not examined)
MAS00 Mathematics Seminar - students advised to attend regularly.

YEAR TWO
Training courses
Optional (not examined)
Students have the option of attending advanced courses organized by the London Taught Course Centre.

Transferable skills courses
Compulsory (not examined)
MAS01 Research Student Seminar

Optional (not examined)
MAS00 Mathematics Seminar

YEAR THREE
Training courses
Optional (not examined)
Students have the option of attending advanced courses organized by the London Taught Course Centre.

Transferable skills courses
Compulsory (not examined)
MAS01 Research Student Seminar

Optional (not examined)
MAS00 Mathematics Seminar

Teaching opportunities
All students are offered the opportunity to teach for the department, subject to a successful interview and language requirements.

Progression and upgrade requirements
Students are initially registered for the MPhil, and will be able to upgrade to PhD registration during their second year, dependent on satisfactory progress. Progress is assessed regularly by the student’s supervisors, in consultation with the Doctoral Programme Director, on the basis of the extent to which the agreed research goals have been achieved. Any upgrade is dependent on the successful completion of a Major Review, the date of which is determined by the Doctoral Programme Director in consultation with the lead supervisor.

MPhil/PhD Media and Communications
In addition to progressing with their research, students are expected to take the listed training and transferable skills courses. Students may take courses in addition to those listed, and should discuss this with their supervisor.

YEAR ONE
Training courses
Compulsory (examined)
MC408/418 Theories and Concepts in Media and Communications I and II (for students without the appropriate background)
MC5M2 Advanced Methods of Research in Media & Communications (includes MY551 Introduction to Quantitative Analysis and MY552 Applied Regression Analysis). By agreement, the Methodology Institute components (MY551 and/or MY552) can be replaced by other, more advanced, statistics courses or an advanced qualitative course taught at the Methodology Institute. At least one half-unit course of statistics needs to be included.

Optional (examined/not examined)
Other graduate courses relevant to research subject and agreed with supervisor.

Transferable skills courses
Compulsory (not examined)
MC500 Research Seminar for Media, Communications and Culture Annual Departmental PhD Symposium

Optional (not examined)
CLT04 Digital Literacy
MY593A Authoring a PhD and Developing as a Researcher: Getting MPhil/PhD Programme Regulations

Started
LN988 Thesis Writing course
Modern Foreign Language courses offered by the Language Centre
Other graduate seminars of relevance to research subject

Presentation requirements
At least one presentation annually at MCS00 Research Seminar for Media, Communications and Culture

YEAR TWO
Training courses
Optional (examined/not examined)
Either MY530 Advanced Qualitative Analysis Workshops (H) or MY555 Multivariate Analysis and Measurement (H)
MY559 Special Topics in Quantitative Analysis: Advanced Regression Modelling (H)
ST416 Multilevel and Longitudinal Modelling (H)
Other graduate courses relevant to research subject and agreed with supervisor

Transferable skills courses
Compulsory (not examined)
MY599 Methodology Institute Seminar
MY599 Methodology Institute Seminar

Optional (not examined)
MY593 Authoring a PhD and Developing as a Researcher: The Middle Years Other graduate seminars of relevance to research subject

YEAR THREE
Transferable skills courses
Optional (not examined)
MY593C Authoring a PhD and Developing as a Researcher: The Middle Years Other graduate seminars of relevance to research subject

YEAR FOUR
Students are expected to complete their research

Progression and upgrade requirements
Students will be required to submit a full Thesis Proposal of 10,000 words to their Thesis Committee by 1 June in their first year (part-time students can submit their Proposal by 1 March in their second year). This paper will include a substantive statement of the aims, theories and methods proposed for the thesis, a tentative chapter outline, an indicative bibliography and a timetable for its completion. Together with the Methods (MC5M2) and Theories & Concepts (MC408/418) examinations, this paper will form part of the evaluation process, and, together with an oral examination based on the Thesis Proposal, will determine whether students are permitted to upgrade from MPhil to PhD and continue into their second year.

MPhil/PhD Social Research Methods
In addition to progressing with their research, students are expected to take the listed training and transferable skills courses. Students may take courses in addition to those listed, and should discuss this with their supervisor.

YEAR ONE
Training courses
Optional (students should agree with their supervisor whether the courses taken will also be examined)
A selection of:
MY400 Fundamentals of Social Science Research Design (H)
MY521 Qualitative Research Methods (H)
MY551 Introduction to Quantitative Analysis (H)
MY552 Applied Regression Analysis (H)
MY555 Multivariate Analysis and Measurement (H)
MY556 Survey Methodology (H) MY557 Causal Inference for Observational and Experimental Studies (H)
A typical selection would be to take MY400, MY521, MY552 and MY555 in the first year, but students may be excused from some or all of them if they have previously taken graduate-level courses covering the same material. Students who use quantitative methods in their research, are also encouraged to take MY559 in their first or second year. The courses they take may also include ones from other institutes or departments at LSE, dependent on their needs.

Transferable skills courses
Compulsory (not examined) MY599 Methodology Institute Seminar
Optional (not examined) MY593 Authoring a PhD and Developing as a Researcher: Getting Started

YEAR TWO
Transferable skills courses
Compulsory (not examined)
MY599 Methodology Institute Seminar
Optional (not examined) MY593B Authoring a PhD and Developing as a Researcher: The Middle Years

YEAR THREE
Transferable skills courses
Compulsory (not examined) MY599 Methodology Institute Seminar
Optional (not examined) MY593C Authoring a PhD and Developing as a Researcher: The Endgame

YEAR FOUR
Transferable skills courses
Compulsory (not examined) MY599 Methodology Institute Seminar
Progression and upgrade requirements In the Summer Term of their first year, candidates will produce a 10,000 word ‘first year review’ that outlines the aims and methods of their thesis: this means summarising the key literature(s), motivating their specific research questions, and highlighting the planned contributions of their work. A first year review document typically includes a general introduction, a comprehensive literature review (covering relevant empirical and theoretical work), a motivation of the research questions and hypotheses, and an indication of the literature(s) that the candidate is seeking to contribute to (i.e. the gaps in knowledge that will be addressed). Candidates will also give an oral presentation of their proposal at the Methodology Institute PhD day. Written and oral work will be assessed by two academics (not on the supervisory team), normally members of Methodology Institute staff. This work has to reach an acceptable standard to enable them to progress to the second year. It is particularly important that the first year review clearly states the objectives of the doctoral research and indicate how the empirical work will be carried out. If the panel deems the first year review to be not suitably clear, they can choose not to accept the submitted document and give the candidate up to a month to clarify. This decision will be taken maximum one week after the Methodology Institute PhD Day. Examples of unclear work might include (but not be limited to):
• A first year review that does not state clear research questions;
• A first year review that does not adequately review the specific literatures that the empirical work is contributing to;
• A first year review that does not give enough methodological detail, showing how the design will produce data that allows the candidate to address the theoretical issues at stake in a systematic and rigorous way.
After the first year candidates will spend more time on independent study under the guidance of their supervisor(s). This will involve the collection, organization and analysis of data, and writing up the results. During their second year of registration, they will typically submit three (minimum) draft chapters of their thesis plus a short introduction and a detailed plan for its completion. The three draft chapters will typically include a detailed literature review, specification of research problem(s) and two empirical chapters. If candidates are pursuing a paper-based thesis, their upgrading documents will typically include a short introduction, a literature review and at least two empirical papers. Whether a traditional or paper-based thesis, the material will be evaluated by an upgrading committee (two academics, not necessarily of the MSc or even the LSE) who will recommend transferal to PhD registration if their work is judged to be of sufficient quality and quantity. Throughout the MPhil/PhD and PhD, candidates will attend the Institute’s research seminar and other specialist workshops and seminars related to their interests. The student must present at every Methodology Institute PhD day.

MPhil/PhD New Media, Innovation and Literacy
In addition to progressing with their research, students are expected to take the listed training and transferable skills courses. Students may take courses in addition to those listed, and should discuss this with their supervisor.

YEAR ONE
Training courses
Compulsory (examined)
Any two of:
MC413 new Media, Information and Knowledge Systems
MC418 Theories and Concepts in Media and Communications II
MC402 The Audience in Media and Communications
MC409 Media, Technology and Everyday Life
MC424 Media and Communications Governance
MC425 Interpersonal Mediated Communication
MC5M2 Advanced Methods of Research in Media & Communications (includes MY551 Introduction to Quantitative Analysis and MY552 Applied Regression Analysis). By agreement, the Methodology Institute components (MY551 and/or MY552) can be replaced by other, more advanced, statistics courses or an advanced qualitative course taught at the Methodology Institute. At least one half-unit course of statistics needs to be included.

Optional (examined/not examined)
Other graduate courses relevant to research subject and agreed with supervisor.

Transferable skills courses
Compulsory (not examined)
MC500 Research Seminar for Media, Communications and Culture
Optional (not examined)
CLT04 Digital Literacy
MY593A Authoring a PhD and Developing as a Researcher: Getting Started
LN988 Thesis Writing course
Modern Foreign Language courses offered by the Language Centre
Optional (not examined)
Other graduate seminars of relevance to research subject

Presentation requirements
At least one presentation annually at MC500 Research Seminar for Media, Communications and Culture

YEAR TWO
Training courses
Optional (examined/not examined)
Either MY530 Advanced Qualitative Analysis Workshops (H) or MY555 Multivariate Analysis and Measurement (H)
MY559 Special Topics in Quantitative Analysis (H)

ST416 Multilevel and Longitudinal Modelling (H)
Other graduate courses relevant to research subject and agreed with supervisor

Transferable skills courses
Compulsory (not examined)
MC500 Research Seminar for Media, Communications and Culture
Optional (not examined)
MY593B Authoring a PhD and Developing as a Researcher: The Middle Years
Other graduate seminars of relevance to research subject

YEAR THREE
Transferable skills courses
Optional (not examined)
MC500 Research Seminar for Media, Communications and Culture
MY593C Authoring a PhD and Developing as a Researcher: The Endgame

YEAR FOUR
Students are expected to complete their research

Progression and upgrade requirements
Students will be required to submit a full Thesis Proposal of 10,000 words to their Thesis Committee by 1 June in their first year (part-time students can submit their Proposal by 1 March in their second year). This paper will include a substantive statement of the aims, theories and methods proposed for the thesis, a tentative chapter outline, an indicative bibliography and a timetable for its completion. Together with the examinations in Methods (MC5M2) and the other two chosen compulsory first year courses from the list above, this paper will form part of the evaluation process, and, together with an oral examination based on the Thesis Proposal, will determine whether students are permitted to upgrade from MPhil to PhD and continue into their second year.

MPhil/PhD Philosophy, Logic and Scientific Method
In addition to progressing with their research, students are expected to take the listed training and transferable skills courses. Students may take courses in addition to those listed, and should discuss this with their supervisor. All programmes of study should be agreed with the supervisor at the start of the year.

YEAR ONE
Training courses
Compulsory (examined/not examined)
PH501 Philosophical Problems Seminar
Students who have never taken a paper in formal logic at degree must take PH502 Reasoning and Logic (examined).
Students who have already taken a formal logic course should choose one further MSc course not already taken as part of an MSc degree. Students can either decide to be examined in this course or instead choose to write two assessed essays, one at the end of each of the first two terms. This with the exception of students who choose PH419 Set Theory and Further Logic, in which case the examination is compulsory.
Either a further MSc course (again one not taken as part of the MSc course) plus three term units of PhD level seminars. The seminars on offer are PH551 Research Seminar in Philosophy of Natural Sciences, PH555 Research Seminar in the Philosophy of Economics and Social Sciences or PH500 Research Methods in Philosophy. Taking three term units means that students can either take all three terms of one of these seminars or ‘mix and match’ by taking different seminars in different terms. Seminars must be taken with associated course work.
Optional (not examined)
Transferable skills courses offered by the Teaching and Learning Centre or the Methodology Institute.

YEAR TWO
Training courses
Optional (not examined)
PH551 Research Seminar in the Philosophy of Natural Sciences
PH555 Research Seminar in the Philosophy of Economics and Social Sciences
PH500 Research Methods in Philosophy

Optional (examined/not examined)
Transferable skills courses offered by the Teaching and Learning Centre or the Methodology Institute.

YEAR THREE
Training courses
Optional (not examined)
PH551 Research Seminar in the Philosophy of Natural Sciences
PH555 Research Seminar in the Philosophy of Economics and Social Sciences
PH500 Research Methods in Philosophy

Optional (examined/not examined)
Transferable skills courses offered by the Teaching and Learning Centre or the Methodology Institute.

Progression and upgrade requirements
Successful completion of work required for each year is a necessary condition for re-registration in the following year; and for upgrading from MPhil to PhD status. During the first year students must write a first chapter of the thesis as well as an outline (research plan) of the rest of the thesis. The chapter should be around 40 pages; the research plan around 10 pages. Both have to be handed in to the Departmental Office by 1 September. This upgrading will normally take place after the successful completion of year 1 requirements in Case A, and after the successful completion of year 2 requirements in Case B. In both cases once you are registered for the PhD that registration will be backdated to the start of your MPhil/PhD studies.

MPhil/PhD Philosophy of the Social Sciences
New programme starting in 2011-12
Further details will be available here soon.

MPhil/PhD Regional and Urban Planning Studies
In addition to progressing with their research, students are expected to take the listed training and transferable skills courses. Students may take courses in addition to those listed, and should discuss this with their supervisor.

YEAR ONE
Training courses
Compulsory (not examined)
GY504 PhD Seminar in Regional and Urban Planning (there is a required essay for students in their first year)
GY450 Planning Practice and Research or GY502 Staff/Research Students Seminar

Compulsory (examined)
MY4M1 Foundations of Social Research 1 (For those with no formal research methods training)

Optional (not examined)
Specialism courses - Courses to the value of 1 unit addressing a specialist subject related to their thesis topic

Optional (examined, for those who have previous research methods training)
MY400 Fundamentals of Social Science Research Design (H)
MY521 Qualitative Research Methods (H)
MY551 Introduction to Quantitative Analysis (H)
MY552 Applied Regression Analysis (H)

Transferable skills courses
Compulsory (not examined)
GY450 Planning Practice and Research or GY502 Staff/Research Students Seminar
GY500 Geographical Project Seminar

Optional (not examined)
MY593A Authoring a PhD and Developing as a Researcher: Getting Started

YEAR TWO
Training courses
Compulsory (examined by course essay) GY504 PhD Seminar in Regional and Urban Planning

Compulsory (not examined) GY500 Geographical Project Seminar

Transferable skills courses
Compulsory (not examined) GY450 Planning Practice and Research or GY502 Staff/Research Students Seminar

Optional (not examined) MY593B Authoring a PhD and Developing as a Researcher: The Middle Years

YEAR THREE
Training courses
Compulsory (examined by course essay) GY504 PhD Seminar in Regional and Urban Planning

Compulsory (not examined) GY500 Geographical Project Seminar

Transferable skills courses
Compulsory (not examined) GY450 Planning Practice and Research or GY502 Staff/Research Students Seminar

Optional (not examined) MY593C Authoring a PhD and Developing as a Researcher: The Endgame

YEAR FOUR
Training courses
Compulsory (examined by course essay) GY504 PhD Seminar in Regional and Urban Planning

Transferable skills courses
Compulsory (not examined) GY450 Planning Practice and Research or GY502 Staff/Research Students Seminar

Optional (not examined) MY593D Authoring a PhD and Developing as a Researcher: The Final Stages

Further details will be available here soon.
Compulsory (not examined)
GY500 Geographical Project Seminar

Transferable skills courses
Compulsory (not examined)
GY450 Planning Practice and Research or GY502 Staff/Research Students Seminar

Progression and upgrade requirements
Students must achieve a Pass (50% or above) in all examined elements, including Methodological courses. All students will be subject to an annual review of progress in every year of registration at the end of the first year, students must submit a written first year progress report for formal review, encompassing a revised detailed research proposal and a chapter/paper (which can be literature review). More details about the required materials and review process are outlined in the programme orientation notes. All of the work carried out in the year, plus performance in specified courses will also be taken into consideration in the annual review.

All students will initially register for the MPhil and be required to pass through an upgrade process to register for the PhD. Upgrade from MPhil to PhD normally takes place in the second year of registration. Students must then submit a written upgrade report for formal examination, encompassing an extensive and detailed research proposal and two chapters/papers (one of which can be a literature review). More details about the required materials and the upgrade process are outlined in the programme orientation notes. Students may be required to complete additional courses, as deemed relevant by their supervisor, in later years of registration. Students are required to be in attendance throughout their period of registration. Absences or fieldwork must be approved by the Director of Graduate Studies in Geography and the Research Degrees Unit, LSE.

MPhil/PhD Social Policy
In addition to progressing with their research, students are expected to take the listed training and transferable skills courses. Students may take courses in addition to those listed, and should discuss this with their supervisor.

YEAR ONE:
Training courses
Optional (not examined)
If not already taken previously:
SA451 Social Policy Research
MY400 Fundamentals of Social Science Research Design (H)
MY521 Qualitative Research Methods (H)
MY551 Introduction to Quantitative Analysis (H)
Students will discuss with their supervisors any other methodological training that may be relevant for the successful completion of the MPhil/PhD programme.

Transferable skills courses
Compulsory (not examined)
SA550 Research Student Seminar

Optional (not examined)
Relevant courses provided by the Library, Teaching and Learning Centre and Methodology Institute

YEAR TWO:
Training courses
Optional (not examined)
MY552 Applied Regression Analysis (H)
MY555 Multivariate Analysis and Measurement (H)

Transferable skills courses
Optional (not examined)

YEAR THREE:
Transferable skills courses
Optional (not examined)
SA550 Research Student Seminar

YEAR FOUR:
Transferable skills courses
Optional (not examined)
SA550 Research Student Seminar

Progression and Upgrade requirements
Each student is required to undertake Major Review in the summer term of their first year (second year for part-time students). For Major Review they must submit a 10,000 word document with a detailed thesis proposal, their research question, a literature review, a description of their methodology, their plans for data collection and a timetable through to completion. They are interviewed on this document by senior staff who make the decision on upgrading. Each year post-Major Review, every student is expected to submit a 1,000 to 2,000 word progress report, approved by supervisors, to the Research Students’ Programme Director.

Each pre-Major Review student is expected to make a presentation on their proposed research to the SA550 seminar prior to the submission of their major review document and to address issues raised by the Research Students’ Programme Director(s).

MPhil/PhD Social Psychology
The MPhil/PhD programme includes taught courses on both methodology and theory. The precise courses students are required to attend varies and exemptions may apply depending on prior experience and qualifications. These matters should be discussed and agreed with the supervisor in the first formal supervision meeting.

YEAR ONE:
Training courses
Compulsory (students should agree with their supervisor whether the courses taken will also be examined) MY421 Qualitative Research Methods (H)
MY452 Applied Regression Analysis (H) or MY455 Multivariate Analysis and Measurement (H)
MY456 Survey Methodology (H)
PS400 Contemporary Social and Cultural Psychology or PS404 Organisational Social Psychology or PS429 The Social Psychology of Communication or PS461 Health, Community and Development. Half unit optional course.

Transferable skills courses
Compulsory (not examined)
PS950 Current Research in Social Psychology

Optional (examined/not examined/)
Students can take further optional courses which they should discuss with their supervisor (students should agree with their supervisor whether the courses taken will also be examined)

YEAR TWO:
Training courses
Compulsory (students should agree with their supervisor whether the courses taken will also be examined): Quantitative pathway
MY452 Applied Regression Analysis (H) (if MY451 taken in year 1)
MY455 Multivariate Analysis and Measurement (H) (if MY452 taken in year 1)

Qualitative pathway
MY455 Multivariate Analysis and Measurement (H)
Combined pathway

MY452 Applied Regression Analysis (H) (if MY451 taken in year 1)
MY455 Multivariate Analysis and Measurement (H) (if MY452 taken in year 1)
MY456 Survey Methodology (H) (if MY455 taken in year 1)
MY455 Multivariate Analysis and Measurement (H)

Optional (examined/not examined)
Students can take further optional courses which they should discuss with their supervisor (students should agree with their supervisor whether the courses taken will also be examined).

Transferable skills courses
Compulsory (not examined)
PS950 Current Research in Social Psychology

Optional (examined/not examined)
Students can take further optional courses which they should discuss with their supervisor (students should agree with their supervisor whether the courses taken will also be examined).

Year Three Training courses
Compulsory (examined/not examined)
Students can take further compulsory courses which they should discuss with their supervisor (students should agree with their supervisor whether the courses taken will also be examined):

Optional (examined/not examined)
Selection of courses taken at more advanced level than those in years 1 and 2

Transferable skills courses
Compulsory (not examined)
PS950 Current Research in Social Psychology

YEAR FOUR
Training courses
Students can take further courses following discussion with their supervisor.

Transferable skills courses
Compulsory (not examined)
PS950 Current Research in Social Psychology

Optional (examined/not examined)
Students can take further optional courses which they should discuss with their supervisor.

Progression and upgrade requirements
The first year Extended Essay and the second year Upgrade chapters (see below) are examined by a three-person thesis committee, which includes the student's supervisor, as well as two other academic colleagues.

Targets for progress
Year 1 - Extended Essay of 6000 words, submitted on first day of Lent Term.
Year 2 - Upgrade viva. Two draft chapters of 10 000 words each (total of 20 000 words), submitted on first day of Lent Term. These chapters form the basis of an oral examination by three person thesis committee usually four to six weeks after submission. Success in this examination results in upgrade from MPhil to PhD status. Year 3 - Completed first draft by end of three years.

Teaching experience
Graduates will usually gain some teaching experience and have had the opportunity to develop teaching skills.
by the end of their third year, and to submit their thesis within six years. The decision to upgrade from MPhil to PhD is taken by a panel consisting of two academics from the Department or the School, with the supervisor(s) in attendance and available to be consulted by the panel. For upgrade, students submit three draft chapters of their thesis, plus thesis abstract and outline schedule for completion. This material is then assessed by viva voce and a written report is made by the panel. Students should aim to have a complete first draft of their thesis in years three to four and allow three to six months for revision and submission.

MPhil/PhD Statistics

In addition to progressing with their research, students are expected to take the listed training and transferable skills courses. Students may take courses in addition to those listed, and should discuss this with their supervisor.

YEAR ONE

Training courses

Optional (not examined)
- Courses offered by the London Graduate School in Mathematical Finance.
- Courses offered by the London Taught Course Centre.

Optional (examined)
- Masters level courses relevant to research and agreed by supervisor in department, the School or University of London College

Transferable skills courses

Compulsory (not examined)
- Annual Research Presentation Event.

Optional (not examined)
- Departmental Seminar Series.
- Joint Econometrics and Statistics Workshops with the Department of Economics.
- Risk and Stochastics Seminar/Workshop.
- London Graduate School in Mathematical Finance Seminar Day.
- Poster Presentations.

Optional (examined)
- Courses provided by the London Taught Course Centre.

YEAR TWO

Training courses

Optional (not examined)
- Courses offered by the London Graduate School in Mathematical Finance.
- Courses offered by the London Taught Course Centre.

Optional (examined)
- Masters level courses relevant to research and agreed by supervisor in department, the School or University of London College particularly ST405, ST411, ST416 and ST421.

Transferable skills courses

Compulsory (not examined)
- Annual Research Presentation Event.

Optional (not examined)
- Departmental Seminar Series.
- Joint Econometrics and Statistics Workshops with the Department of Economics.
- Risk and Stochastics Seminar/Workshop.
- London Graduate School in Mathematical Finance Seminar Day.
- Poster Presentations.

Optional (examined)
- Courses provided by the London Taught Course Centre.

YEAR THREE

Training courses

Optional (not examined)
- Courses offered by the London Graduate School in Mathematical Finance.
- Courses offered by the London Taught Course Centre.

Optional (examined)
- Masters level courses relevant to research and agreed by supervisor in department, the School or University of London College particularly ST405, ST411, ST416 and ST421.

Transferable skills courses

Compulsory (not examined)
- Annual Research Presentation Event.

Optional (not examined)
- Departmental Seminar Series.
- Joint Econometrics and Statistics Workshops with the Department of Economics.
- Risk and Stochastics Seminar/Workshop.
- London Graduate School in Mathematical Finance Seminar Day.
- Poster Presentations.

Optional (examined)
- Courses provided by the London Taught Course Centre.

YEAR FOUR

Training courses

Optional (not examined)
- Courses offered by the London Graduate School in Mathematical Finance.
- Courses offered by the London Taught Course Centre.

Optional (examined)
- Masters level courses relevant to research and agreed by supervisor in department, the School or University of London College particularly ST405, ST411, ST416 and ST421.

Transferable skills courses

Compulsory (not examined)
- Annual Research Presentation Event.

Optional (not examined)
- Departmental Seminar Series.
- Joint Econometrics and Statistics Workshops with the Department of Economics.
- Risk and Stochastics Seminar/Workshop.
- London Graduate School in Mathematical Finance Seminar Day.
- Poster Presentations.

Optional (examined)
- Courses provided by the London Taught Course Centre.

Progression and upgrade requirements

Formal assessment is made towards the end of each Summer Term. This assessment is based on statements made by the student and the supervisors in the progress report form. Students are also required to complete a supplementary report of 1-2 pages (A4), providing in more detail an outline of their current research. The review to upgrade to the PhD normally takes place within two years of full time registration. Progress is assessed by the first and/or second supervisor in consultation with the PhD programme director and another expert in the field of the research undertaken by the student. If satisfactory progress has been made, the programme director will recommend that registration be upgraded to PhD status. The department's research committee also monitors the progress of PhD students.

Teaching opportunities
The department employs Graduate Teaching Assistants (GTAs) to teach a number of its undergraduate and postgraduate courses. In particular ST102, Elementary Statistical theory, and ST107, Quantitative Methods, are taught to a large number of students across the School and require a significant number of classes. Research students are encouraged to undertake some teaching from year two onwards. First year MPhil/PhD students are normally not permitted to teach, although some marking may be available during the year or for the external degree at the end of the year. A Postgraduate Certificate in Higher Education is offered to those who wish to pursue this.
Research Course Guides
AC500
Accounting, Organisations and Society
This information is for the 2012/13 session.
Teachers responsible: Professor M Power, KSW G314, and others.
Availability: Research students in the Department of Accounting, CARR staff, and other students with the permission of Professor Power.
Course content: This is an advanced course for doctoral and postdoctoral students focusing on the institutional and organizational context of accounting practices in their broadest sense. The seminars are generally based on key readings at the interface between accounting, organization studies, regulation and management. Discussions will be focused on the analysis of accounting and calculative practices in context drawing on a wide range of approaches.
Teaching: 20 meetings arranged by the Department (AC500).
Indicative reading: There is no single text for this course and the seminars will be based on pre-distributed readings. Students are advised to read the following: Hopwood and Miller (Eds.) Accounting as Social and Institutional Practice (Cambridge, 1994)
Assessment: Assessment will be based on written work as agreed with the Course Director.

AC501
Seminar in Accounting Research Methods
This information is for the 2012/13 session.
Teachers responsible: Professor M Power, KSW G.312 and others.
Availability: Research students in the Department of Accounting, CARR staff, and other students with the permission of Professor Power should attend.
Course content: This is a readings based course dealing with advanced issues in accounting research methods.
Teaching: 20 meetings arranged by the Department (AC501).

AC502  Half Unit
Foundations of Accounting, Organizations and Institutions
This information is for the 2012/13 session.
Teacher responsible: Dr Matthew Hall, OLD 2.11.
Availability: The course is compulsory for students taking an MPhil/PhD in Accounting. This course is offered for students from other MPhil/PhD programmes, with the approval and written permission of the PhD in Accounting Programme Director.
Pre-requisites: There are no pre-requisites and the course does not require a background in accounting.
Course content: The object of the course is to provide students with an advanced understanding of the changing role and position of accounting practices in organisations, both public and private, and societies more generally. Students will be exposed to advanced thinking about how accounting practices are much more than a collection of routine techniques but are shaped by their institutional contexts, have behavioural consequences and can represent different values. We will focus on how efforts to design internal and external accounting practices are both a function of specific economic and political interests, but are also shaped by social and political aspirations. The role of accountants and other agents will be addressed.
The course emphasises the inter-relations between technical, organizational and institutional issues. While some technical accounting knowledge will be helpful, it is not essential and each lecture will provide the necessary technical foundations.
Indicative topics include:
- Foundations of Reporting, Calculation and Disclosure; Transnational Regulation and Standardization; Accounting and the Notion of “Entity”;
- Audit and Assurance: The Audit Society; Organisational Boundaries, Structure and Control; Performance, Accountability Incentives; Accounting for Sustainability; Organisational Failure as a Process.
Teaching: Ten 2-hour lectures, ten 1-hour seminars in Michaelmas Term.
Formative coursework: Students will be required to produce two pieces of written work. This may take the form of either an essay, or the analysis of a case, and may also include in-class presentations and team-based work. This work will be assessed, but the grades will not count towards the overall course assessment.
Assessment: A long essay of 6,000 words (100%) due in early Summer Term (date to be confirmed). MPhil/PhD in Accounting students must successfully pass the course examination, normally with high Merit (at least 65%) or Distinction marks, to proceed to the next year of the programme.

AC550
Quantitative Methods in Accounting & Finance
This information is for the 2012/13 session.
Teachers responsible: Dr Stefano Cacchione (OLD3.32), Dr Pascal Frantz (OLD3.07), Dr Ane Tamayo (OLD5.05) and Mr Dimitrios P. Tsomocos.
Availability: The course is offered for MSc Accounting and Finance, MSc Law and Accounting and MSc Management and Regulation of Risk students.
Course content: The objective of the course is to provide students with the necessary background required for core accounting and finance courses. The course is organized in three sections:
Section 1 - “Accounting: Disclosure Principles and Practice” provides an overview of fundamental accounting concepts, practices and the main financial statements. This section emphasizes users’ perspective rather than preparers’ perspective on financial reporting (e.g., for valuation purposes).
Section 2 - “Game Theory: Application to Capital Markets” introduces the game theoretical tools required to analyze issues in accounting and finance in settings in which economic agents interact strategically.
Section 3 - “Finance: Quantitative Methods” provides the basic quantitative tools needed for technical MSc courses. This section consists of an introduction to Basic Calculus, Probability and Statistics.
Teaching: Teaching takes place over a 9-day period before the start of MT
Indicative reading: A detailed reading list will be provided at the beginning of the course.
Assessment: This course is not assessed. However, students will be given a number of application exercises to complete on their own or in groups.

AN500
Seminar on Anthropological Research
This information is for the 2012/13 session.
Teachers responsible: Dr Matthew Engelke, OLD 6.08 (MT), Dr Heonik Kwon, OLD 5.06 (LT), Dr Mukulika Banerjee, OLD 5.09 (ST).
Availability: For MPhil/PhD Anthropology
Teaching: Weekly seminars in MT, LT, ST.
Assessment: This course is not assessed.
AN501
Field Research Seminar
This information is for the 2012/13 session.
Teacher responsible: Dr Michael W. Scott, OLD 6.16
Availability: This seminar is for MPhil/PhD students preparing their detailed research proposal prior to embarking on fieldwork and other forms of empirical research.
Course content: The course aims to give you a thorough understanding of what is involved in carrying out ethnographic fieldwork, and what kinds of knowledge it can and cannot generate. It focuses both on the classic fieldwork methods used by anthropologists in the first half of the 20th century, and on more recent methodological developments and techniques that correspond to transformations in the nature of the social. It also engages you with the realities of turning research ideas into realistic plans, in the context of your chosen area of fieldwork. The first half of the course deals with general ethnographic methods. These include participant observation; field notes and the organization of data; visual methods; ethics and anthropological ‘codes of ethics’; interviews; written ethnography, ethnographic knowledge, and problems of representation; critical approaches to existing ethnographic texts; place, multi-sited ethnography, the local and the global; research into family, kinship and the genealogical method; archives and how to use documentary material; fieldwork methodology and the research proposal. In the second half of the course, students present drafts of their projects and think through associated methodological and ethical issues.
Teaching: 20 two-hour seminars over MT and LT.
Assessment: Students’ progress is monitored throughout the course by the teachers responsible. The work undertaken for this course is expected to feed directly into the preparation of the Research Proposal (AN443). The formal examination of the Proposal constitutes the assessment of the course.

AN503
Thesis Writing Seminar
This information is for the 2012/13 session.
Teachers responsible: Dr Catherine Allerton, OLD 6.08 (MT), Dr Mathijs Pelkmans, OLD 6.13 (LT), Professor Rita Astuti, OLD 6.11 (ST).
Availability: This seminar is for 3rd and 4th year MPhil/PhD post-fieldwork students.
Course content: Students present draft dissertation chapters in their cohort.
Assessment: This course is not assessed.

AN507
Theoretical Issues in Anthropology: Precepts and Practice II
This information is for the 2012/13 session.
Teachers responsible: Dr Mukulika Banerjee, OLD 5.09 (MT), Dr Matthew Engleke, OLD 6.10 (LT), Dr Harry Walker, OLD 6.14 (ST).
Availability: This seminar is for 3rd and 4th year MPhil/PhD post-fieldwork students.
Assessment: This is a non-examinable course.
Teaching: Fortnightly seminars in each of the MT, LT and ST.
Assessment: This course is not assessed.

AN900
A Programme of Ethnographic Films
This information is for the 2012/13 session.
Teachers responsible: To be announced.
Availability: Open to all
Course content: There will usually be 10 films in each of the MT and LT. Titles will be announced at the beginning of each term.
Assessment: This course is not assessed.

DV500
Research Seminar in Development Studies
This information is for the 2012/13 session.
Teacher responsible: Dr Diana Weinhold, H710.
Availability: This seminar is for MRes and PhD students in Economics, but other members of the School’s research community are very welcome to attend.
Course content: This seminar is designed as a forum for discussing theoretical and methodological issues in Development Studies research. Modules are organized around broad methodological issues (e.g. research design, case studies, causal inference) and presentations of research, with the former featuring heavily in the MT and the latter in the LT and ST. Research presentations at the seminar are made by DESTIN research students and also by staff, with some invited speakers from outside.
All research students are expected to attend the seminar while in residence in London. First year students are required to present a draft of their research proposal to the seminar during the LT or ST. Continuing students are invited to make presentations based on a report of their research, draft chapters or even their final draft of the dissertation. In making their presentations students are asked to provide (a) background material about the particular issue at hand, (b) a clear statement of the research questions and/or hypotheses that are being addressed, and (c) discussion of the research methods to be employed. Students should inform their supervisor(s) of the date when they are scheduled to make a presentation.
Teaching: The seminar meets through the MT and LT and ST for 90 minutes.
Assessment: This course is not assessed.

EC501
Work in Progress Seminars
This information is for the 2012/13 session.
Teachers responsible: Prof S Pischke (PhD Programme Director), LRB.R448 with others.
Availability: This course is for MRes and PhD students in Economics in the second and later years. Also available for PhD Finance.
Course content: Research students present their work to faculty and peers in the designated field. Outside speakers are also invited from time to time.
Teaching: Seminars EC501: eight seminar groups covering the major field options. The frequency of meetings to be determined according to the number of students in each specialism, but generally each group will meet weekly throughout the session.

Assessment: This course is not examinable.

EC518
Topics in Advanced Econometrics for Research Students
This information is for the 2012/13 session.
Teachers responsible: Prof J Hidalgo, STC.S578 and Prof Taisuke Otsu.
Availability: This course is for MRes/PhD students in Economics.
Course content: See course content for EC485. Additionally, this course will examine more advanced theories and applications in Econometrics. Recent developments in the field will be discussed, giving students an insight into the process by which research is conducted, and suggesting fruitful areas for research.
Teaching: Students are required to attend (i) EC485 Topics in Advanced Econometrics, and (ii) EC518 lectures (20 hours).
Indicative reading: See reading list for EC485. Additional readings will be recommended at the start of the course.
Assessment: A three-hour written examination in the ST.

EC532
International Economics for Research Students
This information is for the 2012/13 session.
Teachers responsible: Dr G Benigno, LRB.R426, Dr S Dhingra, LRB.R435, Dr K Jin, STC.S586, Prof G Ottaviano, LRB.R442a, Dr T Sampson, LRB.R430 and Dr S Tenreyro, STC.S579.
Availability: MRes/PhD students in Economics
Course content: This course is concerned with the latest developments in international economics. The course builds on techniques introduced in MSC International Economics (EC421) to take students to the research frontier. One term covers international trade and the other term covers international macroeconomics. The course is based around research papers. Topics covered vary from year to year as the research frontier expands. A list of representative topics in international trade includes: micro-econometric studies of international trade, theories of heterogeneous firms and trade, theories of incomplete contracts and trade, and the political economy of trade policy. A list of representative topics in international macroeconomics includes international business cycles, determinants of international capital flows, portfolio choice and risk sharing, monetary and fiscal policy in open economies, theoretical and empirical work on the real exchange rate and international financial crises (e.g., currency attacks and sovereign defaults).
Teaching: 60 hours of lectures, MT & LT
Indicative reading: Readings will be from journal articles; a list will be supplied at the start of term.
Assessment: A three-hour written examination in the ST.

EC533
Labour Economics for Research Students
This information is for the 2012/13 session.
Teachers responsible: Dr E Aucejo, Prof L Garicano, NAB.F5.23, Dr G Michaels, LRB.R438 and Prof S Pischke, LRB.R448.
Availability: MRes/PhD students in Economics
Course content: The aim of the course is to familiarise students with main theoretical and empirical issues in current labour economics, to provide them with the tools for carrying out independent research in the field, and to provide a perspective on areas of ongoing research. The course has a strong applied focus. For each major topic covered we will investigate the main available theoretical and empirical implications, and discuss the advantages and limitations of existing empirical work and assess policy options. Topics include:

EC534
Public Economics for Research Students
This information is for the 2012/13 session.
Teachers responsible: Dr H Kleven, LRB.R518, Dr C Landais, STC.S467 and Dr J Spinnewijn, LRB.R521.
Availability: MRes/PhD students in Economics
Course content: This course will cover the economics of the public sector, including material on taxation, public expenditures and political economics. The course, which covers both theory and empirics, aims to give students a broad overview of this growing field and bring them to the research frontier. The specific topics covered may vary from year to year, but the following general areas would typically be included: behavioural responses to taxes and transfers, optimal taxation, dynamic taxation, behavioural public economics, social insurance, federalism, privatization and regulation, voting, the role of communication in politics, special-interest politics, political institutions, and political accountability.
Teaching: 60 hours of lectures, MT & LT
Formative coursework: One piece of work per term will be required and feedback given by teachers.
Indicative reading: Readings will be mainly from journal articles; a list will be supplied at the start of term. Although the course will not be based on a textbook as such, it will make extensive use of the Handbook of Public Economics Vol. 1-4 (A.J. Auerbach and M. Feldstein, eds.) and of T Persson and G. Tabellini, Political Economy, MIT Press, 2002.
Assessment: A three-hour written examination in the ST.

EC535
Development Economics for Research Students
This information is for the 2012/13 session.
Teachers responsible: Prof O Bandiera, LRB.R526, Dr G Bryan, LRB.R522, Prof R Burgess, LRB.R524, Dr G Fischer, LRB.R537, Prof M Ghatak, LRB.R530 and Prof T Persson (Guest Lecturer).
Availability: MRes/PhD students in Economics
Course content: The course will cover advanced topics in development economics where current research is active. It is intended to introduce research students in economics to the latest research in development economics and to serve as an input into the research work of these students.
Teaching: 60 hours of lectures, MT & LT
Formative coursework: One piece of work per term will be required and feedback will be given by teachers.
Indicative reading: Readings will be mainly from journal articles; a list will be supplied at the start of term.
Assessment: A three-hour written examination in the ST.

EC536
Economics of Industry for Research Students
This information is for the 2012/13 session.
Teachers responsible: Dr M Gentry, Prof M Pesendorfer, STC.S878 and Dr P Schiraldi, STC.S876.
Availability: MRes/PhD students in Economics
Course content: The main goal is to familiarize students with selected theoretical and empirical topics in industrial organization and to put students in a position to do their own research. Classical IO theory, well established empirical techniques including estimation of demand, production and models of strategic interaction and topics at the forefront of current IO research will be covered.

Teaching: 60 hours of lectures, MT & LT

Formative coursework: One piece of work per term will be required and feedback given by teachers.

Indicative reading: Readings will be mainly from journal articles; a list will be supplied at the start of term.

Assessment: A three-hour written examination in the ST

---

EC537 Microeconomic Theory for Research Students

This information is for the 2012/13 session.

Teachers responsible: Prof J Hardman Moore, STC.S679, Prof G Levy, STC.S479, Dr M Levy, STC.S483 and Prof B Szentes, STC.S464

Availability: MRes/PhD students in Economics

Pre-requisites: EC441 Microeconomics for MRes students

Course content: The objective of this course is to provide students with a graduate level introduction to advanced topics and contemporary developments in Microeconomic Theory. Topics will include classic static and dynamic game theory, contract theory, bounded rationality and psychology and economics.

Teaching: 60 hours of lectures, MT & LT

Formative coursework: One piece of work per term will be required and assessed by teachers.

Assessment: A three-hour written examination in the ST

---

EC539 Macroeconomics for Research Students

This information is for the 2012/13 session.

Teachers responsible: Dr E Ilzetzki, STC.S879, Dr P Michaillat, STC.S484 and Dr K Sheedy, STC.S682.

Availability: MRes/PhD students in Economics

Course content: Surveys the most recent development in macroeconomics, with an emphasis on technical detail and directions for further research opened up by the material. The goal is to put the students on the research path by bringing them to the research frontier.

Teaching: 60 hours of lectures, MT & LT

Formative coursework: One piece of work per term will be required and feedback given by teachers.

Indicative reading: Readings will be mainly from journal articles; a list will be supplied at the start of term.

Assessment: A three-hour written examination in the ST

---

EC559 Research Paper in Economics

This information is for the 2012/13 session.

Availability: For MRes/PhD students in Economics.

---

EH518 Seminar on Comparative Economic History

This information is for the 2012/13 session.

Teacher responsible: Dr. Chris Minns, C319

Availability: For research students. Also open to other EH graduate students and attended by LSE and other faculty.

Course content: The seminar provides a context in which research students can discuss with a range of seminar presenters from inside and outside LSE presentations of different aspects of economic development during the modern period.

Teaching: Fortnightly seminars, in the MT, LT and ST.

---

EH520 Approaches to Economic and Social History

This information is for the 2012/13 session.

Teacher responsible: Dr. Olivier Volckart, C215

Availability: This course is restricted to 1st year MPhil students in the Department of Economic History, for whom attendance is compulsory.

Teaching: Weekly two-hour seminars (EH520) during the MT and LT.

Assessment: Assessment is by two pieces of written work, each approximately 1,500 words, on nominated topics to be submitted by the end of the Lent Term.

---

EU550 Research Workshop in European Studies

This information is for the 2012/13 session.

Teachers responsible: Professor P De Grauwe, COW.2.12, Professor S Hobolt, COW.2.14 and Professor H Wallace, COW.2.10.

Availability: This course is compulsory for all second and third year European Institute PhD students. The course is recommended for those second and third year PhD students in the Government Department whose research focuses on ‘European’ topics.

Course content: Presentation and detailed discussion of thesis outlines and progression, chapters and related work. Discussion of research design and methodology. Practice conference panel sessions. A detailed syllabus is fixed at the start of each term.

Teaching: 20 weekly one-and-a-half hour seminars (MT and LT).

Assessment: There is no examination for this course. Regular attendance and active participation is required. All students are required: to present at least one substantial chapter/paper draft; to act as a discussant on another paper; and to make a contribution to a conference panel session.

---

EU553 Not available in 2012/13 European Political Economy Research Seminar

This information is for the 2012/13 session.

Teachers responsible: Dr W Schelkle, COW. J210

Availability: This course is highly recommended for first and second year European Institute MPhil/PhD students focussing on Political Economy. Research students from other departments may attend with the permission of the teachers responsible.

Course content: In this research workshop, we will discuss major theories of political economy and how they still inform studies of European integration. We also discuss seminal contributions... that deal with fundamental questions of the statics (‘order’) and dynamics (‘change’) of the European political economy which include both cognitive (‘why is it?’) and normative (‘how should it be?’) issues. The workshop is made up of presentation and discussion of relevant political economy issues in participants’ ongoing research.

Teaching: Weekly 1.5 hour seminars in MT and LT.

Assessment: There is no examination for this course.

---

EU554
Research Methods and Design in European Studies

This information is for the 2012/13 session.

Teachers responsible: Dr R Hancké, COW 2.09

Availability: This course is the compulsory Research Methods and Design course for MSc European Studies (Research) students and first year MPhil students in the European Institute.

Course content: The course provides training in methods and research design tailored to European studies. Students are encouraged to discuss the distinctive problems of their own research in the light of the methodological and design issues raised. The last section of the course is taken up with student presentations and the development of research proposals in the run up to the first year assessment process in May/June.

Teaching: Weekly one-and-a-half hour seminars during the MT and LT.

Assessment: For MSc European Studies (Research) students: a take home examination in which one out of five questions has to be answered. For MPhil students: there is no assessment.

---

EU555
Political Economy and Public Policy Workshop

This information is for the 2012/13 session.

Teacher responsible: Dr Jeff Chwieroth DS12

Availability: This workshop is jointly organised by the European Institute, the Government Department and the International Relations Department for research students of these departments working in the general area of political economy and public policy and who have usually passed their first year. Research students from other departments wishing to attend should contact the teachers responsible.

Course content: Presentation and intense discussion of thesis chapters and related work. A detailed syllabus is fixed at the start of the year. Seminar presentations by outside speakers may be added.

Teaching: Ten 1.5 hour fortnightly meetings in MT and LT, commencing in week two of MT. A mini-conference in ST, organised by students themselves.

Assessment: There is no examination for this course. Regular attendance and active participation by all students is required. Each attending student has to give at least one presentation.

---

FM502
Theories of Finance

This information is for the 2012/13 session.

Teachers responsible: Dr Amil Dasgupta, OLD 3.45, Professor Dimitri Vayanos, OLD 3.14 and Professor Mike Burkart, OLD M2.17.

Availability: Doctoral students in the Departments of Finance and Economics and other students with the permission of Dr Amil Dasgupta.

Course content: Half of this course will focus on the theory of corporate finance, looking at the determinants of pledgeable income; the design of inside securities; the design of outside securities; financial intermediation and the macroeconomic implications of corporate finance imperfections. The other half will cover theories of asset pricing, considering static models of frictionless markets; dynamic discrete-time models; dynamic continuous-time models and frictions.

Teaching: 60 hours of seminars in MT and LT.

Assessment: Three-hour examination in ST (100%).

---

FM503
Empirical Finance

This information is for the 2012/13 session.

Teachers responsible: Prof. M Chernov, OLD M3.08, Dr D Thesmar, OLD M2.17, Dr K Yuan, OLD M3.05, and Dr V Hajivassiliou

Availability: Research students in the Departments of Finance and Economics, others by permission of Dr Y Nosbusch.

Course content: This course will cover some topical applied questions in Finance. The material will be presented in a way that will allow students to perfect their empirical skills and/or help them identify recent exciting research questions. The course is divided into two parts relating to empirical asset pricing and two parts relating to empirical corporate finance. The first part of empirical asset pricing will deal with topics in macro-finance and household finance, while the second part will cover cross-sectional returns and mutual fund performance. The first part of empirical corporate finance will focus on issues of firm financing and investment, while the second part will concentrate on corporate governance, the corporate finance of investment funds, and the effects of finance on growth.

Teaching: 40 lecture hours sessional.

Assessment: Three-hour examination in ST (100%).

---

FM505
PhD Seminar in Finance

This information is for the 2012/13 session.

Teacher responsible: Dr Amil Dasgupta, A353

Availability: This seminar is intended for PhD Finance students from the second year of registration for Route 1 students, and the first year of registration for Route 2 students.

Course content: This is a seminar course for PhD students in the early stages of their research to present their work in progress. Outside speakers may also be invited from time to time.

Teaching: Weekly seminars during MT and LT. Other meetings to be arranged as necessary.

Assessment: A 10,000 word essay on a topic to be agreed with the student’s supervisor. This essay is to be submitted by the end of the LT of the second year of registration for Route 1 students, and the MT of the second year of registration for Route 2 students.

---

GI500
Doctoral Workshop: Gender Institute

This information is for the 2012/13 session.

Teachers responsible: Dr Marsha Henry, COL 5.04H and Professor Clare Hemmings, COL 5.04B

Availability: For Gender Institute PhD students only. This seminar is a formally required component of the GI PhD programme, and all fully registered students are expected to participate.

Course content: The aim of this course is to give students experience and practice in presenting chapters or papers related to their current research for critical discussion. The focus of the seminar is on the research process and research students are expected to present at least once per year. Summer term sessions are given over to professional training, such as CV preparation, conference participation, publishing and teaching organisation.

Teaching: 15 x one-and-a-half hour seminars held fortnightly in the MT, LT and ST. First year students must also audit GI400 (lectures only) and GI402 (full course). All students are expected to participate in Methodology Institute or other Gender Institute courses as advised by their supervisors. We also expect that research students will participate in research seminars and public lectures.

Indicative reading: PhD chapters and articles suggested by students relevant to their topic.

Assessment: First year students will be assessed by means of a draft chapter setting the research issues and questions in the context of the wider literature, and suggesting and justifying appropriate methodologies and theoretical frameworks; and a proposal following ESRC guidelines, in which the thesis prospectus is revised. The chapter and proposal are read by the main and advisory supervisors, and a third person if necessary. The candidate is evaluated in a viva context, and either asked to resubmit the materials or passed through to the following year. This assessment has to be passed before progress to the second year is permitted. Arrangements for part-time students will be made on a pro-rata basis. After the first year students are expected to upgrade from MPhil to PhD (within 4 terms of registration, pro-rata for part-time students). Students are permitted to resubmit material for the upgrade on one further occasion within two terms of the first attempt, similarly on a pro-rata basis for part-time students. After these students are reviewed on an annual basis until the thesis is complete.

---

GV501
Doctoral Workshop: Political Theory
This information is for the 2012/13 session.

Teachers responsible: Dr Kai Spiekermann and Dr Lea Ypi

Availability: Compulsory for second and subsequent year research students in Government specialising in political theory. First year students are encouraged to attend.

Course content: An opportunity for students to present chapters or papers related to their current research for critical discussion.

Teaching: 15 two-hour seminars held fortnightly in the MT, LT and ST.

---

GV503
Political Philosophy Research Seminar
This information is for the 2012/13 session.

Teacher responsible: Dr Kai Spiekermann and Dr Lea Ypi

Availability: Research students in Political Theory. Also MSc Political Theory students. Other interested students are welcome to attend, if numbers permit.

Course content: Guest speakers present papers and initiate discussion at seminars.

Teaching: 15 two-hour seminars held fortnightly in the MT, LT and ST.

---

GV510
Ethnicity and Nationalism Research Workshop
This information is for the 2012/13 session.

Teachers responsible: Dr John Hutchinson

Availability: For MPhil/PhD students specialising in Ethnicity and Nationalism, who have attended an LSE Undergraduate or Master’s course in this or a related field, or equivalent at another University. By permission. Visiting Students and others may also participate.

Course content: Critical analysis of recent theories and research in the fields of Ethnicity and Nationalism.

---

GV512
Half Unit
Research Design: Comparative, Case Study and Historical Approaches
This information is for the 2012/13 session.

Teachers responsible: Dr Maja Rasmussen

Availability: MRes Political Science Stream B (compulsory); also MPhil/PhD Government Department and other PhD students with permission of class teacher and subject to capacity.

Formative coursework: Students will complete an un-assessed assignment to prepare them for the two assessed essays.

Teaching: Six sessions on different forms of research design; four sessions of research student presentations of their proposed PhD research design.

Formative coursework: Students will complete an unassessed essay to prepare them for the two assessed essays.

Assessment: Two assessed essays on research design, one on a major research design literature (3000 words) and the other specifically on the research design proposed for the student’s doctorate, showing how it relates to the relevant literature on research design.

---

GV513
Half Unit
Qualitative Methods in the Study of Politics
This information is for the 2012/13 session.

Teachers responsible: Dr John Chalcroft and Dr Steffen Hertog.

Availability: MRes Political Science Stream B (compulsory); also MPhil/PhD Government (optional) and other PhD students with permission of class teacher and subject to capacity.

Course content: This course introduces and critically evaluates, at the advanced postgraduate level, a key range of qualitative techniques and methods in political science, in order to provide a powerful resource for students to evaluate qualitative methods for themselves, and to select, reject, and deploy them in research theory, design and practice. The course begins with debates over the place of qualitative methods in political science, and the question of how to match... ideas to methods. The rest of the course is devoted to exploring a range of qualitative techniques, including questionnaires, case studies, interviews, reading texts, ethnography, contents analysis, and the use of popular culture.

Teaching: Ten two-hour seminars in the MT.

Formative coursework: Critiques of articles or books that use the various methodologies discussed in the course.

Assessment: EITHER (1a) A thorough critique of an article which uses one of the methods discussed in the course (1500 words) OR (1b) A short project using one of the methods discussed in the course, focused on how to analyse and present qualitative findings (e.g. a short content analysis, a set of interviews around a particular topic, etc) (1500 words) AND FOR ALL STUDENTS (2) A complete “mock” research design, preferably (although not necessarily) on their own research question (2500 words).

---

GV514 Political Science and Political Economy Doctoral Workshop

This information is for the 2012/13 session.

Teacher responsible: Dr Andrew Eggers

Availability: Mainly for second and subsequent year research students and staff in Government and elsewhere in the School involved in research in political science and/or political economy. First year MRes and research students may also attend if they wish.

Course content: Research students will present papers that are either close to submission or are work in progress. Several sessions might be set aside for research students to practice their ‘Job Talk’ presentations.

Teaching: The workshop will meet every second week in the MT, LT and ST.

---

GV515 Researching People, Politics and Organisations

This information is for the 2012/13 session.

Teachers responsible: Dr Michael Bruter, Professor Martin Lodge and Professor Edward Page.

Availability: Optional for second and subsequent year research students in Government and elsewhere in the School involved in researching political science topics. First year students may attend if numbers permit.

Course content: The workshop is for all PhD students doing empirical work in political science, whether quantitative, qualitative or mixed, and whatever theoretical approach they take. Around six of the twelve regular sessions are to be devoted to PhD student presentations and concentrate on setting the problems faced and choices made in approaching the empirical research. In the remaining four sessions we will arrange workshops involving outside speakers dealing with crosscutting issues for which we have experienced substantial demand including issues closely related to the empirical analysis of government such as interviewing techniques and the availability and use of international data banks as well as sessions of more general appeal including on how the UK and US job market works, the journal publishing process and presenting at academic conferences and job interviews. If numbers of students mean that we need more than 10 sessions, we will arrange extra late afternoon sessions, up to five throughout the year, to accommodate the crosscutting issues.

Teaching: 10 two-hour seminars held fortnightly in the MT and LT.

Indicative reading: Workshops will tailor reading to the research of the participants.

---

GV555 Political Economy and Public Policy Workshop

This information is for the 2012/13 session.

Teachers responsible: Dr J Chwieroth, Dr W Schelkle, and Dr Maja Rasmussen.

Availability: This workshop is jointly organised by the International Relations Department, Government Department and the European Institute for research students of these departments working in the general area of political economy and public policy. Research students from other Departments wishing to attend should contact the course convenors.

Course content: Presentation and intense discussion of thesis chapters and related work. A detailed syllabus is fixed at the start of the year.

Teaching: 10 1.5 hour fortnightly meetings in the MT and LT, commencing in week two of MT.

Assessment: There is no examination for this course. Regular attendance and active participation by all students is required. Each attending student has to give at least one presentation.

---

GV599 Research Prospectus in Political Science

This information is for the 2012/13 session.

Teacher responsible: Dr Paul Mitchell

Availability: For MRes/PhD students in Political Science only

Assessment: A research paper, not to exceed 10,000 words, related to the student’s designated major field, to be submitted on 1st September.

---

GV5X1 Research Design in Political Science

This information is for the 2012/13 session.

Teacher responsible: Dr Paul Mitchell and others

Availability: Compulsory on MRes/PhD Political Science and MPhil/PhD Government.

Course content: PhD students taking this course will find the focus on developing a research design for their PhD thesis immensely useful. The importance of a solid understanding of the principles of social scientific research design to the development of the PhD project cannot be underestimated. Students will learn to develop their research questions, to choose a feasible data collection strategy, and how to match data collection and analytic methods to the aims of the PhD project.

Teaching: 10 x two-hour seminars in the MT and LT.

Formative coursework: This is a PhD level Research Design course - we do not intend to have additional essays. Students will give presentations and receive extensive feedback on their work in progress. These are part of formative rather than summative assessment and are an important part of professional development. The main learning outcomes are to help the PhD students develop professional research designs.

GV5X2
Research Paper in Comparative Politics
This information is for the 2012/13 session.
Teacher responsible: MRes/PhD Political Science Programme Manager
Availability: Students on the MRes/PhD in Political Science only.
Course content: Audit a GV-prefixed course from the MSc in Comparative Politics and write a research paper on a topic agreed by the convenor of the MSc course and the student’s PhD supervisor. Students must obtain permission from the relevant MSc course convenor to audit the course concerned under this option.
Teaching: Attend the lectures and seminars of the relevant MSc course.
Formative coursework: A plan for the research paper (1,500 words) on which the students receive feedback and topic approval.
Assessment: Either a 5,000 word research paper (for a half-unit course) or a 10,000 word research paper (for a full-unit course), to be submitted in the first week of the Summer Term. The research paper will be co-marked by the convenor of the relevant MSc course and the PhD supervisor of the student.

GV5X3
Research Paper in European Politics and Policy
This information is for the 2012/13 session.
Teacher responsible: MRes/PhD Political Science Programme Manager
Availability: Students on the MRes/PhD in Political Science only.
Course content: Audit a GV-prefixed course from the MSc in Politics and Government in the European Union and write a research paper on a topic agreed by the convenor of the MSc course and the student’s PhD supervisor. Students must obtain permission from the relevant MSc course convenor to audit the course concerned under this option.
Teaching: Attend the lectures and seminars of the relevant MSc course.
Formative coursework: A plan for the research paper (1,500 words) on which the students receive feedback and topic approval.
Assessment: Either a 5,000 word research paper (for a half-unit course) or a 10,000 word research paper (for a full-unit course), to be submitted in the first week of the Summer Term. The research paper will be co-marked by the convenor of the relevant MSc course and the PhD supervisor of the student.

GV5X4
Research Paper in Global Politics
This information is for the 2012/13 session.
Teacher responsible: MRes/PhD Political Science Programme Manager
Availability: Students on the MRes/PhD in Political Science only.
Course content: Audit a GV-prefixed course from the MSc in Global Politics and write a research paper on a topic agreed by the convenor of the MSc course and the student’s PhD supervisor.

GV5X5
Research Paper in Political Science and Political Economy
This information is for the 2012/13 session.
Teacher responsible: MRes/PhD Political Science Programme Manager
Availability: Students on the MRes/PhD in Political Science only.
Course content: Audit a GV-prefixed course from the MSc in Political Science and Political Economy and write a research paper on a topic agreed by the convenor of the MSc course and the student’s PhD supervisor. Students must obtain permission from the relevant MSc course convenor to audit the course concerned under this option.
Teaching: Attend the lectures and seminars of the relevant MSc course.
Formative coursework: A plan for the research paper (1,500 words) on which the students receive feedback and topic approval.
Assessment: Either a 5,000 word research paper (for a half-unit course) or a 10,000 word research paper (for a full-unit course), to be submitted in the first week of the Summer Term. The research paper will be co-marked by the convenor of the relevant MSc course and the PhD supervisor of the student.

GV5X6
Research Paper in Political Theory
This information is for the 2012/13 session.
Teacher responsible: MRes/PhD Political Science Programme Manager
Availability: Students on the MRes/PhD in Political Science only.
Course content: Audit a GV-prefixed course from the MSc in Political Theory and write a research paper on a topic agreed by the convenor of the MSc course and the student’s PhD supervisor. Students must obtain permission from the relevant MSc course convenor to audit the course concerned under this option.
Teaching: Attend the lectures and seminars of the relevant MSc course.
Formative coursework: A plan for the research paper (1,500 words) on which the students receive feedback and topic approval.
Assessment: Either a 5,000 word research paper (for a half-unit course) or a 10,000 word research paper (for a full-unit course), to be submitted in the first week of the Summer Term. The research paper will be co-marked by the convenor of the relevant MSc course and the PhD supervisor of the student.

GV5X7
Research Paper in Public Policy and Administration
This information is for the 2012/13 session.
Teacher responsible: MRes/PhD Political Science Programme Manager
Availability: Students on the MRes/PhD in Political Science only.
Course content: Audit a GV-prefixed course from the MSc in Public Policy and Administration, the MSc in Regulation or any of the MPA programmes in the School and write a research paper on a topic agreed by the convenor. Students must obtain permission from the relevant MSc course convenor to audit the course concerned under this option.

Teaching: Attend the lectures and seminars of the relevant MSc course.

Formative coursework: A plan for the research paper (1,500 words) on which the students receive feedback and topic approval.

Assessment: Either a 5,000 word research paper (for a half-unit course) or a 10,000 word research paper (for a full-unit course), to be submitted in the first week of the Summer Term. The research paper will be co-marked by the convenor of the relevant MSc course and the PhD supervisor of the student.

GY500
Geographical Project Seminar
This information is for the 2012/13 session.
Teacher responsible: Dr Olmo Silva (SS06a) and Dr Carmen Marchiori (K102), Professor Ian Gordon, SS05A.
Availability: For MPhil/PhD Economic Geography, Regional and Urban Planning, Environmental Economcs, Environmental Policy and Development, Human Geography & Urban Studies Research Students throughout their period of registration.

Course content: Presentations by research students of aspects of their own research, stressing problems of theory, methodology and techniques.

Teaching: A series of workshops, running throughout the year, organised by each of the three research clusters in the Department of Geography & Environment (Economic Geography; Environmental Economics & Policy; Urban/Development).

Assessment: This course is not intended as preparation for any particular examination.

GY502
Staff / Research Students Seminars
This information is for the 2012/13 session.
Teacher responsible: Dr Olmo Silva, SS06a, Dr Simon Dietz, W11.01C, Dr Sharad Chari, S418.
Availability: For all MPhil/PhD students registered in the Department of Geography and Environment and staff. Other interested students may attend.

Course content: Topical seminar series involving presentations by speakers from both inside and outside the Department on aspects of their own research.

Teaching: There are three different seminar series taking place regularly throughout the year, organised by each of the three research clusters in the Department of Geography & Environment. The Economic Geography cluster seminar series is organized in conjunction with the Spatial Economics Research Centre (SERC); the Environmental Economics & Policy cluster seminar series is organized together with the Grantham Research Institute on Climate Change and the Environment; and the Urban/Development seminar series is organized with the Urban Research Centre. The timing and length of each seminar series vary across research clusters.

Urban/Development Cluster: 10 x one-and-a-half hour seminars in MT and eight x one-and-a-half hour seminars in LT
Economic Geography Cluster: 10 x one-and-a-half hour seminars in MT and 10 x one-and-a-half hour seminars in LT
Environmental Economics and Policy Cluster: a ‘brown-bag’ seminar series involving speakers from the cluster, meeting up to 5 times in each of the MT and LT, and 3 seminars with external speakers in each of the MT and LT.

Assessment: This course is not intended as preparation for any particular examination. But, students will find it useful in increasing their awareness of current research and the application of research methods across the discipline. Attendance is strongly recommended.

GY504
PhD Seminar in Regional and Urban Planning
This information is for the 2012/13 session.
Teacher responsible: Dr. Nancy Holman, STC514 and Dr. Alan Mace, STC509
Availability: For MPhil and PhD students in Regional and Urban Planning Studies. Other research students interested in the subject area would be welcome.

Course content: A detailed syllabus is fixed at the start of the Michaelmas and Lent Terms.
This course of seminars provides students with an opportunity to discuss their own research in the context of contemporary debates and research in the subject area. The discussions will take a number of forms. Students will present their own work for discussion in the seminar during the first year of their programme and again at a later date. Staff involved in supervising Regional and Urban Planning research students will attend these sessions. A second form of discussion will be based upon presentations by invited speakers who will present their research work. The emphasis will be on research method and will explore any difficulties faced in the work and the manner in which these were overcome. The third form of discussion will be oriented around critical evaluations of key contemporary debates, texts or research reports in the field.

Teaching: Two half-day workshops, one in the MT and one in the LT, when students present aspects of their research work; plus eight two-hour seminars over the MT and LT.

Assessment: Students in their first year are required to submit two short papers on contemporary issues in the field which will form part of their review at the end of the first year. Students will also be required to make two presentations on their own research during their period of registration.

HY501
International History Research Student Workshop
This information is for the 2012/13 session.
Teachers responsible: Dr A Best.
Availability: Compulsory for students registered for the MPhil/PhD in International History.

Course content: The workshop aims to introduce students to effective archival research, issues in the preparation of a thesis and means of launching a career in academic or related fields; and the opportunity to present research in progress.

Students yet to pass their upgrade from MPhil to PhD attend the Introductory Workshop, which meets weekly in the Michaelmas term. Meetings are devoted to research and interviewing techniques and mainly practical issues of historical research.

Students due to be upgraded attend the Advanced Workshop held in the Lent and Summer terms, the frequency of meetings depending upon the number of participants. The meetings are intended primarily as a forum for reviewing research in progress, with a view to enabling students to pass their upgrade.

Assessment: This course is not assessed.

HY509
International History Research Seminar
This information is for the 2012/13 session.
Teacher responsible: Dr Roham Alvandi, Room E310
Availability: Compulsory for second, third and fourth year PhD students.

Course content: Second, third and fourth year PhD students will present their research for discussion. There will also be seminars by staff from within and outside the department on their own research with relevance for PhD students either in terms of subject and/or methodology.

Teaching: Ten two-hour sessions during MT, LT and ST.
Assessment: This course is not assessed.

---

HY510 Cold War History Research Seminar

This information is for the 2012/13 session.

Teacher responsible: Professor O.A. Westad, COL 8206

Availability: Primarily for second and third year PhD students in International History, but also open to students from other departments. MSc/MA students may audit the course with the participation of the course convenor.

Course content: Second and third year PhD students will present their research for discussion. There will also be seminars by staff from within and outside the department on their own research with relevance for PhD students either in terms of subject and/or methodology.

Teaching: Four hour sessions every second week of MT, LT and ST.

Indicative reading: See the webpage for the course for further details.

Assessment: The course is not assessed.

---

ID500 Employment Relations and Organisational Behaviour Seminar

This information is for the 2012/13 session.

Teachers responsible: Dr. Jonathan Booth, Dr. David Henderson and Dr. Fei Qin

Availability: For research students in Employment Relations & Organisational Behaviour Group.

Teaching: Seminars; (ID500), Sessional.

Assessment: None.

---

IR501 International Relations Research Methods

This information is for the 2012/13 session.

Teachers responsible: Dr. Mathias Koenig-Archibugi, CON 4.08

Availability: Course intended for first-year International Relations Department research students.

Course content: This course provides an introduction to methodology and research methods relevant to undertaking a research degree in International Relations. The principal approaches to contemporary research in the main branches of International Relations will be addressed. These include: formal analysis, behaviouralism; quantitative and qualitative methods; comparative case study approaches; documentary and discourse analysis; and different modes of theoretical argument. In addition the course will introduce students to the background debates in philosophy of social science that underpin different methodological approaches. The purpose of the course is to help students identify the appropriate methodological approach for their project; it is not intended as a training in research techniques as such. Students are advised to attend School-based inter-disciplinary seminars on statistical techniques, survey methods, interviewing and any other relevant courses offered by the Methodology Institute. All students not already familiar with IBM PCs, should register on the Computer Service induction courses early in MT and complete the sessions ‘Introduction to PCs’, ‘Word 2000’, and ‘EndNote’.

Teaching: The course will consist of 19 seminars in MT and LT (IR501). Details of individual meetings and detailed readings will be provided at the beginning of the course. In addition, all students must participate in the Research Design Workshop (IR509), and at least one of the Department's several workshops where staff and research students present preliminary papers and discuss common problems of current research.

---

IR502 International Theory Workshop

This information is for the 2012/13 session.

Teachers responsible: Dr G Lawson, COL 2.03

Availability: IR502 is part of the research training programme for all new research students working in the area of international theory, broadly defined to include critical, post-modern and normative as well as traditional and classical theory. IR502 is open to all interested staff and research students.

Course content: The workshop is based around papers in international theory, circulated in advance, and presented by LSE staff, research students and occasional invited external speakers.

Teaching: 18 weekly seminars, each of one-and-a-half hour’s duration, commencing in week three of MT.

---

IR504 Foreign Policy Workshop

This information is for the 2012/13 session.

Teacher responsible: Dr C Alden, CLM 5.13

Availability: Course intended primarily for research students. All those working in the general area of foreign policy studies in the International Relations Department should attend. Others who may wish to attend should contact the course organisers in person.

Teaching: Seven meetings: weeks 3 and 5 of MT, and weeks 3, 5, 7 and 9 of LT.

---

IR505 European International Politics Workshop

This information is for the 2012/13 session.

Teacher responsible: Professor K Smith, CLM 4.09

Availability: Course intended for research students. All those working on international relations topics regarding the European region should attend. Others who wish to attend should contact the course organizer in person.

Teaching: Three meetings in MT, three meetings in LT and three meetings in ST.

---

IR506 North-South Relations Research Workshop

This information is for the 2012/13 session.

Teacher responsible: Dr J C Alden, CLM 5.13

Availability: All interested research students involved in area studies.

Teaching: Seven meetings, in weeks 2, 4 and 8 of MT and weeks 2, 4, 6 and 8 of LT.
IR507  Research Seminar: International Institutions
This information is for the 2012/13 session.
Teacher responsible: Dr J Meierhenrich, CLM 6.07
Availability: Course intended primarily for academic staff and research students.
Course content: This research workshop serves as an intellectual forum for faculty and graduate students interested in the theory, history, or practice of international institutions. The workshop's principal objective is to foster intellectual exchange across disciplinary boundaries. It seeks to revitalize the study of international institutions by showcasing new and innovative work from leading and emerging scholars. The focus is on international institutions, broadly defined, with a particular emphasis on international law.
Teaching: 10 meetings, each of two hours' duration.

IR509  International Relations Research Design Seminar
This information is for the 2012/13 session.
Teachers responsible: Professor I Neumann, CLM 6.06 (for first year research students), Professor M Light (for second year research students)
Availability: This workshop is compulsory for all first-year and strongly recommended for second year International Relations Department (IRD) research students and open to other interested IRD research students.
Course content: In the first year, this workshop will address issues concerning the formulation and design of the PhD research project. Its principal objective is to assist first year research students in designing a well-thought out and manageable thesis. It seeks to do so by providing a forum in which first year students discuss their research topic, the particular set of questions they intend to address and the methods they wish to use with other members of the workshop. Its aim is to provide students with constructively critical observations about their research project and the problems they may confront. It also seeks to promote an esprit d'corps amongst the first-year research students by familiarising them with the work of their peers.
In the second year, the focus will be on preparing students for their upgrade Research Panel in the summer. Exactly how the workshop will proceed will be decided by the members in their first session, but the aim is to give students the opportunity to update and refine their research proposals, get peer reactions to the draft chapters on which the decision to upgrade will be based, and also to talk to each other about the common problems they face. There will also be some sessions to consider such 'professional concerns' as the balance to be struck between teaching and research, the role of presentations at conferences, seminars and similar professional gatherings. The workshop seeks to sustain the esprit d'corps research students developed during their first year.
Teaching: In the first year, the workshop will meet for 15 two-hour sessions starting in week six of the MT. All first-year students are required to give a presentation outlining their research to the seminar in the LT, a copy of their research proposal (of no more than 5,000 word) being circulated in advance to the workshop participants. There will be two or three presentations per meeting. Students must also attend IR501 Research Methods Training Seminar and participate in at least one of the Department's other research workshops.
In the second year, the workshop will meet for 13 two-hour sessions starting in week five of the MT. All members of the workshop are required to present one or more draft chapters of their theses. They will need to provide a copy of the chapter for prior circulation to the workshop participants. Students must also participate in at least one of the Department's other research workshops.

IR512  Research Workshop: Security, Conflict & Peace Studies
This information is for the 2012/13 session.
Teacher responsible: To be arranged.
Availability: Course is open only to research students who are writing theses on relevant topics.
Course content: The workshop will provide a forum in which research students can present reports on their work and discuss the theoretical and methodological problems involved. The scope of the workshop is: international security including the threat and use of force and its avoidance or amelioration; conflict, war and violence; peacemaking, peace-building, state-building and reconciliation.
Teaching: Up to 17 seminars of one-and-a-half hours, meeting throughout the session, commencing in week four of MT.

IR514  Middle East workshop for PhD students
This information is for the 2012/13 session.
Teacher responsible: Professor Fawaz Gerges, CLM 4.06
Availability: Course is open to those writing a PhD on issues related to the Middle East at LSE.
Pre-requisites: Writing a PhD on issues related to the Middle East at LSE.
Course content: Nine meetings in which PhD students present papers on issues related to the Middle East.
Teaching: MT and LT starting week 2 on a fortnightly basis.
Indicative reading: This course does not have a reading list as it is based on papers generated by PhD students and guest speakers.
Assessment: This course is not assessed.

IR516  Half Unit
Asia-Pacific Research Workshop
This information is for the 2012/13 session.
Teacher responsible: Dr J Haacke, CLM 7.09 and Professor C Hughes, CLM 5.07
Availability: Available to research students with an interest in the international relations of the Asia Pacific.
Teaching: 3 meetings in the Michaelmas term - weeks 3, 6 and 10 and 4 meetings in the Lent term - weeks 3, 5, 7 and 9.
Course content: Students and other speakers present work in progress and obtain feedback.
Assessment: This course is not assessed.

IR555  Political Economy and Public Policy Workshop
This information is for the 2012/13 session.
Teacher responsible: Dr J Chwieroth, CLM 5.11, TBA, and Dr W Schelkle (European Institute)
Availability: This workshop is jointly organised by the International Relations Department, the Government Department and the European Institute for research students of these departments working in the general area of political economy and public policy. Research students from other Departments wishing to attend should contact the course convenors.
Course content: Presentation and intense discussion of thesis chapters and related work. A detailed syllabus is fixed at the start of the year.
Teaching: Ten 1.5 hour, fortnightly meetings in MT and LT, commencing in week two of MT.
Assessment: There is no examination for this course. Regular attendance and active participation by all students is required. Each attending students has to give at least one presentation.
IS554
Information Systems PhD Seminar Series and Workshops
This information is for the 2012/13 session.
Teacher responsible: Dr Will Venters
Availability: This course consists of a series of seminars and workshops at which PhD students present their work in progress.
Teaching: For 2011/12 this will consist of a weekly, two-hour, student-led seminar in weeks 2-9 of the Michaelmas and Lent Terms. There will also be one full-day PhD workshop with a guest speaker each term. Details of these workshops are listed on the ISG News and Events page and emailed to students and staff as they are arranged. http://www.lse.ac.uk/collections/informationSystems/newsAndEvents/Default.htm.
Assessment: There is no formal assessment but all students are expected to attend the one day workshops and must email the course teacher to explain any absences. Attendance at the weekly seminars is more flexible but students should make an effort to attend as many as possible and to be involved in the organisation of at least one per year.

IS581
Half Unit
Not available in 2012/13
Interpretations of Information
This information is for the 2012/13 session.
Teachers responsible: Professor Jannis Kallinikos, NAB3.24.
Availability: Compulsory for MPhil/PhD Information Systems students in their first year. Optional for MSc Media and Communications, MSc Media and Communications (Media and Communication Governance), MSc Media and Communications (Research) and MSc Management, Information Systems and Innovation. Other MSc students may follow this course but a good knowledge of information technology is required.
Course content: The course explores the theoretical foundations of information and the technological and institutional processes by which information is increasingly becoming a pervading and crucial element of organizational and economic life. A central theme of the course is how information and the technologies by which it is produced and disseminated are involved in the constitution and coordination of organizational operations and the control of professional practices and organizational outcomes.
Teaching: The course is taught through 20 hours of lectures in the LT and 10 hours of classes.
Indicative reading: Indicative readings are given below. A full reading list will be provided at the start of the course.
Assessment: An essay of between 5,000-7,000 words to be submitted by the end of March.

IS593
Half Unit
Qualitative Research Methods in Information Systems
This information is for the 2012/13 session.
Teacher responsible: Dr Susan Scott (NAB 3.12).
Availability: Compulsory for MSc Information Systems and Organisations (Research).
Teaching: Ten weekly two-hour lectures and nine one-hour classes in the second half of the course preparing the students for the writing of their course essay.
Course content: The course introduces students to concepts and techniques associated with designing and conducting and/or evaluating empirical research of predominantly qualitative character. The course deals with case study and ethnographic research in the fields of Information Systems and Organization Studies and focuses on issues of research design, data collection and interpretation methods. Case study design involves the consideration of conditions (research questions, available research, theory formation in the field studied, data access and availability) on the basis of which decisions concerning research design are made. Single and multiple case study research designs are considered in the course and the advantages and limitations of these alternative designs are examined. Furthermore ethnography is considered as an alternative option of research design due to its holistic, intensive and longitudinal participation in the institutional settings within which it takes place. The course primarily focuses on data collection and interpretation methods in the fields of Information Systems and Organizations Studies. Observations, interview methods and techniques, archival and documentary data, experiments are considered and issues of validity, reliability cross-checking and triangulation of data obtained through different data collection techniques are examined.
Formative coursework: Research question exercise (3000 words) due by 4pm, Wednesday, week 7. MT. This exercise is un-assessed, but compulsory. It provides an opportunity for feedback and contributes to the development of the assessed research design report coursework for IS593. Research design essay (6000 words) due by 4pm, Thursday, week 8. LT. This essay presents a hypothetical qualitative research design, i.e. a plan for a scholarly study. This exercise encourages students to explore the conceptual and practical consequences associated with designing a research question (including fieldwork design). This essay is assessed.

Assessment: A 6000 word essay submitted week 8, Lent Term.

LL500
Doctoral Research Seminar
This information is for the 2012/13 session.
Teacher responsible: Professor Linda Mulcahy
Availability: For MPhil and PhD research students.
Course content: This course aims to equip students with the skills required to undertake advanced legal research. Topics covered include unpacking the idea of originality, legal methodologies, advanced writing skills, giving presentations, managing the supervisory relationship, use of archives and libraries, preparing for upgrade and the viva and time management in academia.
Teaching: 15 two-hour seminars (LL500) in MT and LT (subject to number of currently registered research students).
Assessment: There are no examination arrangements. However, attendance is compulsory for first year research students and research students in other years are encouraged to attend.

MA500
Mathematics Seminar
This information is for the 2012/13 session.
Teachers responsible: Professor Bernhard von Stengel, B412, Professor Olivier Gossner, B309, Dr Tugkan Batu, B405 and other members of the Mathematics Department.
Availability: For MPhil and PhD Students in Mathematics, but other members of the research community are welcome to attend.
Course content: The seminar ranges over many areas of pure and applied mathematics. The emphasis is on topics in discrete mathematics, financial mathematics, and game theory. See www2.lse.ac.uk/maths/Seminars/Research_Seminars.aspx.
Teaching: 30 meetings throughout the MT, LT and ST.

MA501
Research Student Seminar
This information is for the 2012/13 session.
Teachers responsible: Dr Konrad Swanepoel, B307, Dr Pavel Gapeev, B410, Professor Mihail Zervos, B402 and other members of the Mathematics Department.
Availability: For MPhil and PhD students in Mathematics, but other members of the research community are welcome to attend.
Course content: The informal seminar ranges over many areas of pure and applied mathematics. The emphasis is on topics in discrete mathematics, algorithms and game theory. The seminar is regarded as an important part of the research students’ formal training and they will all be expected to attend and to make presentations. See www2.lse.ac.uk/maths/Seminars/Lunchtime_Seminar.aspx. There will also be additional reading groups aimed at students working in mathematical sciences. These will be compulsory for students working in this area but other students on the MPhil/PhD in Mathematics are welcome to attend. See www2.lse.ac.uk/maths/Seminars/Financial_Mathematics_Reading_Group.aspx.
Teaching: Approximately 70-80 meetings throughout the MT, LT and ST, dependent on speakers. See http://www2.lse.ac.uk/maths/Seminars/Research_Seminars.aspx for schedule and more details.

MC500
Research Seminar for Media, Communications & Culture
This information is for the 2012/13 session.
Teacher responsible: Professor Lilie Chouliaraki (S102).
Availability: For Research Students. The course is compulsory for students in the first and second years of the Doctoral Programmes in Media and Communications and in New Media, Innovation and Literacy. All Research Students in the Department are welcome and encouraged to attend.
Course content: The aim of the course is to raise awareness of theoretical, conceptual and methodological issues in the interdisciplinary field of media and communications research and to develop students skills with respect to theory building, research design and implementation. The course focuses, in particular, on the key conceptual issues and analytical strategies required in media and communication research, with special reference to the study of the changing environment of media production, dissemination and consumption, under conditions of globalization and digitization of information.
Teaching: Seminar (MC500) (two hours) x 10 MT and x 10 LT. Compulsory for first and second year students and open to others. There may be additional seminars or workshops in ST.
Assessment: This course is based predominantly on student presentations on their work in progress. Students are expected to use MC500 seminars as a key resource towards their Upgrade document at the end of their 1st year of study and towards the submission of their formative assessment document at the end of their 2nd year of study.

MC5M2
Advanced Methods of Research in Media & Communications (including Qualitative & Quantitative Analysis)
This information is for the 2012/13 session.
Teacher responsible: Dr Ellen Helsper, STC. S119c
Availability: For MPhil/PhD students in Media and Communications. This course is not available as an outside option.
Teaching: i. Principles of Research in Media and Communications: Lecture (one hour) x 10 MT; Lecture on Writing Methodological Critiques (one hour) x 1 LT.
ii. Principles of Social Research: Workshop (three hours) x 10 LT (each comprised of two 1.5 hour sessions).
iii. Principles of Social Research Analysis: MY551: Lecture (two hours) x 9 MT; Computer class (one hour) x 9 MT; MY552: Lecture (two hours) x 9 LT; Computer class (one hour) x 9 LT.
Course content: i. Principles of Research in Media and Communications: a series of lectures offered by media and communications staff in MT. The lectures will normally cover the following topics central to research design across the social sciences, with a specific emphasis on their application to media and communications contexts: the general nature of research as social inquiry, interviewing, critical discourse analysis, content analysis, visual analysis, survey design/questionnaires, experiments, ethnography and participant observation, as well as research ethics.

MC500
Research Seminar for Media, Communications & Culture
This information is for the 2012/13 session.
Teacher responsible: Professor Lilie Chouliaraki (S102).
Availability: For Research Students. The course is compulsory for students in the first and second years of the Doctoral Programmes in Media and Communications and in New Media, Innovation and Literacy. All Research Students in the Department are welcome and encouraged to attend.
Course content: The aim of the course is to raise awareness of theoretical, conceptual and methodological issues in the interdisciplinary field of media and communications research and to develop students skills with respect to theory building, research design and implementation. The course focuses, in particular, on the key conceptual issues and analytical strategies required in media and communication research, with special reference to the study of the changing environment of media production, dissemination and consumption, under conditions of globalization and digitization of information.
Teaching: Seminar (MC500) (two hours) x 10 MT and x 10 LT. Compulsory for first and second year students and open to others. There may be additional seminars or workshops in ST.
Assessment: This course is based predominantly on student presentations on their work in progress. Students are expected to use MC500 seminars as a key resource towards their Upgrade document at the end of their 1st year of study and towards the submission of their formative assessment document at the end of their 2nd year of study.

MC5M2
Advanced Methods of Research in Media & Communications (including Qualitative & Quantitative Analysis)
This information is for the 2012/13 session.
Teacher responsible: Dr Ellen Helsper, STC. S119c
Availability: For MPhil/PhD students in Media and Communications. This course is not available as an outside option.
Teaching: i. Principles of Research in Media and Communications: Lecture (one hour) x 10 MT; Lecture on Writing Methodological Critiques (one hour) x 1 LT.
ii. Principles of Social Research: Workshop (three hours) x 10 LT (each comprised of two 1.5 hour sessions).
iii. Principles of Social Research Analysis: MY551: Lecture (two hours) x 9 MT; Computer class (one hour) x 9 MT; MY552: Lecture (two hours) x 9 LT; Computer class (one hour) x 9 LT.
Course content: i. Principles of Research in Media and Communications: a series of lectures offered by media and communications staff in MT. The lectures will normally cover the following topics central to research design across the social sciences, with a specific emphasis on their application to media and communications contexts: the general nature of research as social inquiry, interviewing, critical discourse analysis, content analysis, visual analysis, survey design/questionnaires, experiments, ethnography and participant observation, as well as research ethics.
ii. Principles of Social Research: A series of ten three-hour workshops (each comprised of two x 1.5 hour sessions) offered by media and communications staff in LT. Students are required to participate in all ten basic and specialist workshops.

iii. Principles of Social Research Analysis: Students have to take at least one statistics course offered by the Methodology Institute. MY551 Introduction to Quantitative Analysis and MY552 Applied Regression Analysis are automatically included when you register for the standard MCSM2 course. (Students are permitted to substitute these for a more advanced quantitative or qualitative course offered by the Methodology Institute as long as least one statistical course is included in the course, with the approval of the MCSM2 course convenor and subject to timetabling constraints.)

Formative coursework: i. Principles of Research in Media and Communications: All students are expected to complete advance readings and submit one essay of 1,500 words in week 9 of MT.

ii. Principles of Social Research: All students are expected to complete advance readings and submit workshop assignments.

iii. Principles of Social Research Analysis: Most statistics courses require weekly assignments. The qualitative analysis courses vary in their formative assessment.

No one book covers the entire syllabus; students will be expected to read widely in appropriate journals and books, and a list of references will be provided at the start of the course and in advance of the workshops. In Lent Term students will be provided with examples of journal articles in which the discussed research methods are applied.

Assessment: 1. Coursework: One written assignment of either 5,000 or 7,000 words to be submitted in ST, depending on the MY courses selected.

2. One x two-hour examination in ST relating to Quantitative Analysis MY551 and one x two-hour examination in ST if another statistics course is taken (see Methodology Institute course guides). Note: Summative assignments differ depending on the components of the methodological training taken by the students. PhD students have to pass all components of MCSM2.

MN500
Seminar for Research Students in Management
This information is for the 2012/13 session.
Teacher responsible: Professor David de Meza, G512
Availability: This course is compulsory for MPhil and PhD students in the Managerial Economics and Strategy Group.
Course content: This seminar series provides a forum for research students in management to present work in progress. Outside speakers may be invited from time to time.
Teaching: Monthly one-hour seminars.
Assessment: The seminar presentation will be an element in the decision to transfer a student from MPhil to PhD status.

MY500 Half Unit
Fundamentals of Social Science Research Design
This information is for the 2012/13 session.
Teacher responsible: Dr Paul Mitchell
Availability: The course is available to all research students.
Teaching: 10 x two-hour lectures in the MT. One hour seminars in the MT.
Course content: Research design can be considered as a form of problem-oriented practical scholarship. It is one of the key components in the empirical social scientific study of social issues. Design is the means to provide relevant information on a research question in an efficient way that meets the criteria of public accountability, in the sense of openness to public scrutiny.

Any research design is characterized by both opportunities and constraints, and the selection of the optimal design is always a trade off between the strengths and weaknesses of different options, viewed in the context of feasibility. Drawing on a variety of examples from the social scientific literature, this course will explore design considerations and options, issues of data quality and analysis, and reporting.

The broad aims of the course are to: increase awareness of the role of research design in the social sciences; introduce a range of design options; and foster an appreciation of the strengths and weaknesses of the different options for particular research objectives. At the end of the course, students will be able to bring a more critical reading to the literature and have acquired a basic knowledge of social research design as a contribution to the PhD thesis.

Additional sources:

Assessment: A research design proposal in preparation for the PhD thesis, not to exceed 5000 words. Due the first week of summer term.

MY521 Half Unit
Qualitative Research Methods
This information is for the 2012/13 session.
Teacher responsible: Dr Jen Tarr (MT) and Dr Flora Cornish (LT)
Availability: The course is available to all research students.
MY527 Half Unit
Non-Traditional Data: New Dimensions in Qualitative Research
This information is for the 2012/13 session.
Teacher responsible: Dr. Jen Tarr
Availability: The course is available to PhD students in departments such as Media & Communications and Sociology. Also available where regulations permit and with permission of the teacher responsible.
Pre-requisites: Introductory course on qualitative methods (e.g. MY421, MY521 or MC4M1) as pre-requisite or co-requisite.
Teaching: 20 hours of lectures and 9 hours of seminars in the LT.
Formative coursework: Seminar activities will receive in-class feedback. One seminar exercise will be written up (c.1000 words) for formative feedback.
Course content: Most qualitative research is in the form of written or spoken texts, produced through interviews and field notes or collection and analysis of documents. Recently, qualitative researchers have become interested in ways of capturing and documenting other kinds of data and other dimensions of social life, including visual, audio, and other sensory data, space, and time. This course will examine methods for collecting and analysing data which are not primarily textual or linguistic, and how these can be integrated into qualitative research. The course will cover history, memory and longitudinal qualitative research; space and place; research in virtual environments; pre-existing and research-generated images and video; sound and audio data including music; kinaesthetic and movement data; and taste and smell as research data.
The aim is to understand how qualitative methods can be applied to these data and how to address traditional methodological concerns such as rigor and representativeness in their analysis and presentation.
The course is aimed at students who are considering one or more of these elements as part of their dissertation research design and/or who are interested in gaining advanced qualitative research skills. Seminars will provide practical skills through hands-on exercises in collecting and analysing non-traditional data. These develop skills for a final project of students’ choosing which is to be submitted at the beginning of summer term.
Indicative reading: Note: No one text covers the whole course.
Assessment: One project of 5000-6000 words (100%).

MY526 Half Unit
Doing Ethnography
This information is for the 2012/13 session.
Teacher responsible: Dr Flora Cornish
Availability: This course is available to all research students.
Pre-requisites: A postgraduate qualitative research methods course, such as MY421, as pre- or co-requisite. Familiarity with notions of research design in the social sciences, to the level of MY400 or equivalent.
Course content: Participant observation and ethnography enable us to examine how social order is produced as people go about their everyday interactions. Multiple sources of naturally-occurring data are used to understand how communities, organisations and institutions work, informally as well as formally. Contemporary conditions of globalisation, individualisation, bureaucratisation and digitalisation introduce new challenges for such fieldwork. This interdisciplinary course equips students with a practical understanding of qualitative fieldwork. Core conceptual, ethical and methodological debates are introduced through in-depth engagement with book-length exemplars, and through students’ experience of fieldwork. A field visit to a local public institution (a museum or train station) provides students with experience of data collection, and this data then provides the basis for a workshop on data analysis. Methodological concerns regarding case selection, establishing rigour, reflexivity, representing others, and ethical issues are addressed in detail. Practical issues addressed include access to study sites, studying elite and marginalised groups, innovative sources of data, and writing field notes.
Teaching: 8 x two-hour lectures and 8 x one-hour seminars in the LT, 2 x three-hour fieldwork workshops in LT.
Formative coursework: An excerpt of field-notes from the field visit undertaken as part of the course (up to 2,500 words). Field-notes should record rich details of observations (the data) and brief interpretations of the significance of these observations. Written feedback will be provided.
units of analysis. The second part looks at how different analytical traditions deal with these issues and present various strategies for analysing texts, i.e., discourse analysis, dialogical analysis and content analysis. The course is designed to provide PhD students with the opportunity of applying these methods to actual research projects.

Teaching: 10 x one-hour lectures and 10 x one-hour seminars in the LT.

Indicative reading: Readings for this course will vary according to the topics covered each year. A reading list will be provided at the beginning of the course.

Assessment: PhD students taking this course will be assessed on the basis of a Research Project (4,000 - 6,000 words).

---

MY530 Advanced Qualitative Research Workshops

This information is for the 2012/13 session.

Teacher responsible: Dr. Flora Cornish

Availability: Research students only, with previous qualitative methods training (e.g. MY400 and MY421 or equivalent) who are undertaking projects using qualitative methods. The course is particularly aimed at second and upper year PhD students but may be undertaken by students at an earlier stage.

Course content: MY530 is a series of workshop modules that provide hands-on, in-depth and advanced training for specific methodologies of qualitative data collection, analytic techniques and research design issues. Research students can sign up to as many workshops as they wish. The programme includes topics such as, discourse analysis, qualitative interviewing, focus groups, ethnography and participant observation, narrative interviewing and analysis, visual methods, classical content analysis, experience sampling techniques, rhetorical analysis etc. Each workshop consists of two sessions of two to three hours, with one or two weeks’ interval in between. In the second session, participants will bring in their own research data for discussion. These interdisciplinary sessions provide a space for students to develop advanced methodological skills and exchange ideas with others from across the School.

Teaching: Sessions to be held all throughout the year: MT, LT and ST, on Wednesday am or pm. Participants will sign up via MOODLE

Indicative reading: Each session will provide its own recommended reading list; no one publication covers the whole set of workshops.

Assessment: This course is non-examinable.

---

MY551 Half Unit

Introduction to Quantitative Analysis

This information is for the 2012/13 session.

Teacher responsible: Dr Paul Mitchell and Dr Sally Stares

Availability: The course is available to all research students.

Teaching: Ten two-hour lectures and nine one-hour computer classes in the MT or LT. Weekly assignments are required.

Course content: An intensive introduction to quantitative data analysis in the social sciences. The course is intended for students with no previous experience of quantitative methods or statistics. It covers the foundations of descriptive statistics and statistical estimation and inference. At the end of the course students should be able to carry out univariate and bi-variate data analysis and have an appreciation of multiple regression. The computer classes give ‘hands-on’ training in the application of statistical techniques to real social science research problems using the SPSS computer package (no prior knowledge of SPSS is necessary).

Assessment: A two-hour open book unseen examination in ST.

---

MY552 Half Unit

Applied Regression Analysis

This information is for the 2012/13 session.

Teacher responsible: Dr Jouni Kuhu and Professor Kenneth Benoit

Availability: Research students where programme regulations allow. Students are required to have completed MY451, MY551 or an equivalent level statistics course.

Teaching: 10 x two-hour lectures and nine x one-hour computer classes. Weekly assignments are required. This course is given twice per session, starting in the second week of each of the MT and LT. Students must either register for MY552M which is taught in Michaelmas Term, or MY552L which is taught in Lent Term.

Course content: The course is designed for students with a good working knowledge of elementary descriptive statistics; sampling distributions; one and two sample tests for means and proportions; correlation and the least squares regression model with one or more predictor variables. The course is concerned with deepening the understanding of the generalized linear model and its application to social science data. The main topics covered are linear regression modelling and binary, multinomial and ordinal logistic regression. Class exercises and homework will be carried out using the Stata or SPSS package, according to the student’s choice.

Indicative reading: A Agresti & B Finlay, Statistical Methods for the Social Sciences; M Lewis-Beck, Applied Regression: An Introduction; J Aldrich & F D Nelson, Linear Probability, Logit, and Probit Models. A course pack will be provided at the beginning of the course and additional reading will be recommended.

Assessment: A two-hour open book unseen examination in ST.

---

MY555 Half Unit

Multivariate Analysis and Measurement

This information is for the 2012/13 session.

Teacher responsible: Dr Sally Stares

Availability: The course is available to all research students.

Pre-requisites: The course will assume a knowledge of standard linear regression models, to the level covered in MY452/MY552.

Teaching: Lectures: 20 LT. Computer workshops: 4 x 2 hours LT.

Course content: An introduction to the application of modern multivariate methods used in the social sciences, with particular focus on latent variable models for continuous observed variables, and their application to questions of measurement in the social sciences. At least the following topics will be covered: principal components analysis, exploratory factor analysis, confirmatory factor analysis and structural equation models. In addition, a selection from the following topics will be covered: cluster analysis, correspondence analysis, multidimensional scaling, latent class models, latent trait models.

Formative coursework: Exercises from the computer classes can be submitted for marking.

Assessment: Research paper 25-30 pages, including tables and figures, or approximately 3,000-4,000 words, answering a set of questions by applying multivariate analyses to some given data (100%).
Survey Methodology
This information is for the 2012/13 session.
Teachers responsible: Dr Jonathan Jackson, COL 8812, and Dr Jouni Kuha, COL B802
Availability: This course is available to all Research students.
Pre-requisites: Knowledge of basic descriptive and inferential statistics, to the level of MY452/MY552 or equivalent. MY556 can also be taken in parallel with MY452L/MY552L. Familiarity with notions of research design in the social sciences, to the level of MY400/MY500 or equivalent.
Course content: This course provides an introduction to the methodology of the design and analysis of social surveys. It is intended both for students who plan to design and collect their own surveys, and for those who need to understand and use data from existing large-scale surveys. Topics covered include basic ideas of target populations, survey estimation and inference, sampling error and non-sampling error; sample design and sampling theory; methods of data collection; survey interviewing; cognitive processes in answering survey questions; design and evaluation of survey questions; non-response error and imputation for item non-response; survey weights; analysis of data from complex surveys; accessing, preparing and working with secondary data from existing social surveys. The course includes computer classes, using the statistical computer package Stata; no previous knowledge of Stata is required.
Teaching: 10 two-hour lectures in LT. 5 two-hour computer classes in LT.
Formative coursework: Exercises from the seminars can be submitted for marking.
Assessment: Research paper of 25-30 pages, including tables and figures, or approximately 3,000-4,000 words, reporting the data analysis of a given research question and data set (100%).

MY557 Half Unit
Causal Inference for Observational and Experimental Studies
This information is for the 2012/13 session.
Teacher responsible: Dr Dominik Hangartner
Availability: Available to all research students.
Pre-requisites: Knowledge of multiple linear regression and some familiarity with generalised linear models, to the level of MY452/MY552 or equivalent. Familiarity with notions of research design in the social sciences, to the level of MY400/MY500 or equivalent.
Course content: This course provides an introduction to statistical methods used for causal inference in the social sciences. Using the potential outcomes framework of causality, topics covered include research designs such as randomized experiments and observational studies. We explore the impact of noncompliance in randomized experiments, as well as nonignorable treatment assignment in observational studies. To analyze these research designs, the methods covered include matching, instrumental variables, difference-in-difference, and regression discontinuity. Examples are drawn from different social sciences. The course includes computer classes, where standard statistical computer packages (Stata or R) are used for computation.
Teaching: 10 two-hour lectures in LT. 5 two-hour computer classes in LT.
Formative coursework: Exercises from the computer classes can be submitted for marking.
Assessment: 4000-word coursework (100%).

MY559 Half Unit
Special Topics in Quantitative Analysis: Advanced Regression Modelling
This information is for the 2012/13 session.
Teacher responsible: Dr Benjamin Lauderdale
Availability: The course is available to all research students.
Pre-requisites: The course is available to all research students.
Teaching: 10 two-hour lectures in LT. 5 two-hour computer classes in LT.
Course content: The aim of the course is to introduce students to advanced analytic methods frequently used in leading-edge social research. The content of the course will change from year to year. In the 2011/2012 session, this course will primarily cover regression models for partially or completely discrete response variables.
Formative coursework: Exercises from the computer classes can be submitted for marking.
Assessment: 4000-word coursework (100%).

MY560 Half Unit
Workshop in Advanced Quantitative Analysis
This information is for the 2012/13 session.
Teacher responsible: Dr Aude Bicquelet
Availability: For MSc Social Research Methods and research students who intend to use advanced quantitative methods in their research.
Course content: It is intended to provide research students with an introduction to specific advanced research methods and hands-on training in the use of these tools.
Teaching: One-day introductory workshops consisting of a morning lecture and afternoon computer session during the LT and ST. Participants will sign up via MOODLE.
Assessment: This course is non-examinable.

MY591
Computing Packages for Qualitative Analysis
This information is for the 2012/13 session.
Teacher responsible: Dr Aude Bicquelet
Availability: For MSc Social Research Methods and research students who intend to use qualitative and quantitative computer packages in their research.
Course content: It is intended to provide research students with an appreciation of various computer packages for qualitative and text analysis through introduction and hands-on training in the use of these tools.
Teaching: Half-day introductory training courses on computer packages such as, Nvivo, ATLAS/ti, ALCESTE, QDA Miner/Wordstat/Simstat, Stata and SPSS during the LT and ST. Participants will sign up via MOODLE.
Assessment: This course is non-examinable.
MY592
Workshop in Information Literacy: finding, managing and organising published research and data

This information is for the 2012/13 session.

Teachers responsible: Maria Bell (Course Convenor), Academic Support Librarian; Dr Jane Secker, Copyright and Digital Literacy Advisor, Centre for Learning Technology; Clive Wilson, Academic Support Librarian.

Availability: First and second year research students and MSc Social Research Methods students.

Course content: MY592 is a six week programme of 2 hour workshops which aims to develop students’ research skills and introduce the essential sources and tools when undertaking research, and the skills required to use them. It is run by the Library and Centre for Learning Technology and is ideal for research students undertaking an extensive literature search and review. Students receive detailed advice on the most appropriate Library resources for their research topics. Materials, online activities and assessment will be available in Moodle to support the teaching.

Teaching: Six two hour classes will be held weekly, and students are expected to attend all sessions in order to develop their information literacy skills. MY592 will run in both the Michaelmas and Lent terms and in the Summer term subject to demand. Dates and times will be advertised at the start of each term. Note that not all sessions will last for 2 hours but this will allow for individual contact time at the end of classes with class tutors. If you only wish to attend an individual workshop, consult the Training classes offered by the Library and the Centre for Learning Technology on the LSE Training and Development System. Places on the entire programme can be booked using the LSE Training and Development System.

Assessment: This course is non-examinable.

MY593
Authoring a PhD and Developing as a Researcher

This information is for the 2012/13 session.

Teacher responsible: Dr Sarabajaya Kumar, with Professor Patrick Dunleavy and other colleagues.

Pre-requisites: Booking is essential for each individual workshop that you wish to attend, and should be done online via lse.ac.uk/tlc/training.

Availability: MY593A is aimed at first-year students registered for the MPhil/PhD. It offers you the opportunity to extend your networks with students in other departments and reflect on your research plans in a series of thematic workshops, suitable for students across all disciplines and covering key topics arising in the early stages of your work.

MY593B is intended for second- and third-year students registered for the PhD and embarking on the main body of their research. The thematic workshops are suitable for students in other departments and reflect on your research plans in a series of thematic workshops, suitable for students across all disciplines and covering key topics arising in the early stages of your work.

MY593C is intended for students who are within a year to six months of completing their doctorate. The thematic workshops are suitable for colleagues across all disciplines in the School.

Teaching: MY593A: Getting Started

Using online resources for literature reviews - expert advice from LSE Library and academic staff.

Working with and managing your relationship with your supervisor - explores the roles and responsibilities of each participant in the student-supervisor relationship and discusses how you can get the most from it.

Blogging, press, web presence and social media - guidance and advice on communicating your research beyond academia.

MY593B: The Middle Years

Using online resources for literature reviews - expert advice from LSE Library and academic staff.

Writing compelling abstracts - expert advice for how to generate interest in your research among the wider academic community.

Blogging, press, web presence and social media - guidance and advice on communicating your research beyond academia.

Academic job interviews - hints and guidance on preparing for and performing successfully at interviews for academic jobs.

Developing as an academic writer - aimed at students in the process of writing up their research and designed to help you develop your own writing style.

MY593C: The Endgame

Blogging, press, web presence and social media - guidance and advice on communicating your research beyond academia.

Preparing for and handling your viva - covers long-run and short-run things to do in preparation for the final oral examination, with advice from both recent PhD graduates and academics who have acted as PhD examiners.

Academic job interviews - hints and guidance on preparing for and performing successfully at interviews for academic jobs.

Writing journal articles - guidance on how to turn chapters of your thesis into articles and submit them successfully to journals.

Getting published 1, 2 and 3 - expert ‘how to’ guidance on developing a publishing strategy, getting a journal article published and making a successful pitch for a book proposal.

Indicative reading: MY593A

Patrick Dunleavy, Authoring a PhD: How to plan, draft, write and finish your doctoral thesis or dissertation (Palgrave Macmillan, 2003), chapters 1-4. To get maximum value from the workshops, participants should read relevant chapters before attending the session. There are multiple copies in the Library’s Course Collection.

MY593B Patrick Dunleavy, Authoring a PhD: How to plan, draft, write and finish your doctoral thesis or dissertation (Palgrave Macmillan, 2003), chapters 5-6, 9. To get maximum value from the workshops, participants should read relevant chapters before attending the session. There are multiple copies in the Library’s Course Collection. Also Rowena Murray, How to Survive your Viva (Open University Press, 2003).

Assessment: This course is non-examinable.

MY599
Methodology Institute Seminar

This information is for the 2012/13 session.

Teacher responsible: Dr Jen Tarr, B806.

Availability: Open to all.

Course content: Papers on topics of methodological interest will be presented by staff and visitors.

Teaching: Meetings arranged as needed, taking place in B813 unless otherwise stated. Seminar dates, venues and speakers will be advertised on the Methodology Institute webpage.

Assessment: This course is non-examinable.

PH500
Research Methods in Philosophy

This information is for the 2012/13 session.

Teacher responsible: Professor Luc Bovens.

Availability: The course is primarily intended for MPhil/PhD students. MSc students may attend with permission of the seminar teacher.

Course content: Topics in contemporary philosophy.

Teaching: Seminars PH500 15 x two-hour (MT, LT, ST). Different members of the department will lead the seminar in each of the three terms.

A more detailed syllabus will be posted at the beginning of each term.

Assessment: This course is non-examinable.

---

PH501
Philosophical Problems Seminar
This information is for the 2012/13 session.

Teacher responsible: Professor Christian List
Availability: This course is a compulsory component of the first year of the MPhil/PhD graduate programme in Philosophy. First-year research students are obliged to attend. Second-year research students may take this option as part of their seminar requirements (option 2) only if the course content is substantially different between the two years.

Course content: The idea of the course is to read and carefully discuss together a range of classic papers in contemporary analytic philosophy that might not otherwise be covered in LSE Philosophy Department courses. Topics are selected from the philosophy of logic, language, metaphysics, and the philosophy of mind and action. This list is illustrative.

Teaching: Seminars PH501 20 x one-and-a-half hour (MT and LT). Each week we will consider one topic - one or two participants of the seminar will be responsible for leading the discussion, but everyone will be expected to have read the relevant texts in advance. All students must attend PH221 Problems of Analytic Philosophy (the lecture series for undergraduate students). Any students who have relatively little philosophical background (or a philosophy background from a different tradition) are also advised to attend the introductory lecture course, PH103 Reason, Knowledge and Values: An Introduction to Philosophy.

Specific readings will be announced in a detailed syllabus.

Assessment: Four essays of 2,500-3,500 words each over the course of the two terms.

---

PH502
Reasoning and Logic
This information is for the 2012/13 session.

Teacher responsible: Professor John Worrall (LAK 3.02)
Availability: Purely for first year MPhil/PhD students in the Department of Philosophy, Logic and Scientific Method who have not taken a suitable course in formal logic before.

Course content: The course aims to give a precise formulation of correct deductive reasoning– of what it means for a sentence to follow from a set of other sentences taken as premises- and to investigate on this basis other important logical notions such as consistency. The course will also investigate how these formal principles are of use in analysing informal argumentation. Mathematicians lay down certain axioms and establish theorems by deducing them as consequences of the axioms; scientists postulate certain theories and test them by deducing certain consequences from them that can be checked experimentally; ordinary reasoners try to win (intellectual) arguments by showing that some position that they favour follows deductively from assumptions that everyone accepts. This course studies what exactly is involved in correct deductive reasoning.

It begins by considering certain very simple inferences that can be formalized in a system called propositional logic. The semantic notion of deductive validity is developed for this system and the truth table, “no counterexample” and tree methods for establishing validity in propositional logic are introduced. The connections between validity and other important logical notions such as equivalence, consistency and independence are precisely detailed. Some simple results about propositional logic are proved. More complex inferences require a system called (first order) predicate logic. The course shows how to formalize some ordinary informal sentences (and therefore informal inferences) in predicate logic; and introduces methods for establishing the validity or invalidity of predicate logic inferences: both a system based on rules of proof and one based on the tree method will be studied. Again the relationships between validity of inference, on the one hand, and the notions of the logical equivalence of two sentences, the consistency of a set of sentences or the independence of a sentence from a set of sentences, on the other, are investigated for the more powerful system of predicate logic. Both the systems that we shall study - of propositional and predicate logic - are entirely formal. Although we shall emphasize how some especially simple ordinary arguments can be ‘captured’ within such systems, it is of course true that ‘ordinary reasoners’ do not explicitly employ such formal techniques. How then, if at all, can formal logic help in assessing ordinary deductive reasoning in science, social science and elsewhere?

Teaching: Seminars: usually PH502 x 20 (MT and LT); Lectures: PH101 x 30 (MT and LT – shared with undergraduate students taking PH101). The exact timetable will be worked out with the individual students on the course at the start of term.

Indicative reading: Extensive lecture notes will be provided covering all aspects of the course. Students will however find it useful to consult C. Howson, Logic with Trees. This text concentrates exclusively on the method of trees, while the lecture also introduces other equivalent methods.

Assessment: Three-hour written examination in the ST.

---

PH551
Research Seminar in the Philosophy of Natural Sciences
This information is for the 2012/13 session.

Teacher responsible: Dr Roman Frigg, T501a
Availability: The course is primarily intended for MPhil/PhD students. MSc students are also welcome to attend but should consult with the teacher responsible first.

Course content: Topics in the philosophy and history of modern science, with a special focus on the natural sciences. The seminar incorporates the regular meeting of the British Society for the Philosophy of Science (BSPS) and the Sigma Club. Details regarding BSPS and Sigma can be found on their respective websites (www.bspsoc.org/ and www.lse.ac.uk/collections/CPNSS/projects/SigmaClub/Default.htm). Together these take up about 5 meetings each term. The remaining meetings are run as a research seminar, meaning that research students and members of the department present recent research which will then be discussed. In the summer term five seminars are run jointly with the Department of Science and Technology Studies at UCL. The topic of the seminar will be chosen so that it covers aspects of both the history and the philosophy of science. The topic is to be chosen by seminar participants.

Teaching: The seminar takes place on Monday evenings from 5.15 to 7pm in T206.
PH555
Research Seminar in the Philosophy of Economics and Social Sciences
This information is for the 2012/13 session.
Teacher responsible: Professor Richard Bradley
Availability: The course is intended for MPhil/PhD students in Philosophy and MRes/PhD students in Economics taking PH413.
Teaching: Seminars PH555 15 x two-hours (MT, LT, ST).

-------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------

PS940
Psychology (Seminar)
This information is for the 2012/13 session.
Teachers responsible: Prof Sandra Jovchelovitch, STC, S310.
Availability: Open to staff and graduate students in the Institute.
Teaching: Fortnightly seminars (PS940) Sessional. Papers will be presented by outside speakers.
Assessment: Non-examinable.

-------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------

PS950
Current Research in Social Psychology
This information is for the 2012/13 session.
Teachers responsible: Professor Saadi Lahlou, S303 and Dr Bradley Franks (S307).
Availability: Academic staff and research students only.
Teaching: Weekly seminars (PS950) Michaelmas Term, Lent Term and Summer Term. Seminars for research students in: Health, Community and Development; Social and Cultural Psychology; Organisational and Social Psychology; Social and Public Communication.
Assessment: Non-examinable.

-------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------

PS960
Classical Texts in Social Psychology
This information is for the 2012/13 session.
Teachers responsible: Prof Martin Bauer, B804, and Prof Sandra Jovchelovitch, S310 and others.
Course content: To provide an awareness of classical monographical studies of social psychology, its psychological as well as its sociological tradition. To provide a forum for entire textual reading and contextual discussions of contributions by J Vygotsky, K Piaget, Lewin, G H Mead, LeBon, McDougall, F Bartlett, S Freud, E Goffman, Ichheiser, Buehler and others.
Teaching: A series of discussion seminars centring on key texts and authors. Lent Term and Summer Term.
Assessment: Non-examinable.

-------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------

SA550
Research Student Seminar
This information is for the 2012/13 session.
Teachers responsible: Professor J Lewis, Old 1.18 and Professor A West, Old 1.16
Availability: For all MPhil/PhD students in the Department of Social Policy.
Course content: This course provides background sessions for MPhil/PhD students in their first year of study. It also provides the forum in which first year full-time and second year part-time MPhil/PhD students must present their work in advance of submitting their major review documents.

-------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------

SO500
Research Class for MPhil Students
This information is for the 2012/13 session.
Teachers responsible: Professor Bridget Hutter STC 217 and Professor Mike Savage STC 210
Availability: This course is compulsory for first-year research students in Sociology.
Course content: The research seminar aims to provide students with a conceptual and practical framework within which to think through planning their research. This includes devising research questions, how to do a literature review, selecting appropriate methods for research, linking theory and practices, ethical issues and writing. The course will comprise workshops and student presentations. By the end of the course students should be able to formulate clear aims and methods for their own research. All first year MPhil students must attend.
Teaching: 20 seminars in the MT and LT, each of two-hours’ duration.
Assessment: 5,000 word paper on the ‘Aims and Methods’ of the thesis, and a viva voce examination. For full-time students, three copies of this typed and paginated essay must be submitted to the Sociology Administration Office, Room S219a, by the first Friday in May. Satisfactory completion of the ‘Aims and Methods’ paper, and the viva are necessary in order to proceed to the next stage of the course. Part-time students may elect to be evaluated in May or September of their first year or May of their second year.

-------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------

SO501
Research Students Seminar
This information is for the 2012/13 session.
Teacher responsible: Dr Robin Archer, STC. S283
Availability: For Sociology research students - generally in their second year - who have passed SO500 but have not yet upgraded.
Course content: The course will consist of papers given by second year research students and specialists in areas relating to social research. The focus of the seminar is on the research process and practical, ethical and analytical issues that arise in sociological research. The seminar is oriented towards preparing students for the next stage in the PhD process, the upgrade, which usually happens at the end of the second year of registration.
Teaching: 20 seminars in the MT and LT each of two-hours duration.

-------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------

SO509
Not available in 2012/13
Research Seminar on Modern Theory
This information is for the 2012/13 session.
Teacher responsible: Professor Ulrich Beck, S220
Availability: For MSc and MPhil students, although numbers will be limited. If space is available, other graduate students may apply.
Teaching: Two four-hour seminars in the LT. Check timetable for exact dates and times.

-------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------

SO511
Research Seminar in Political Sociology
This information is for the 2012/13 session.
Teacher responsible: Dr Robin Archer, S283
Availability: MPhil/PhD students whose research is in the field of political sociology. Students from all departments are welcome.
Course content: Political sociologists seek to understand fundamental political phenomenon by studying them in their social context. This seminar seeks to provide a small, friendly forum in which research students can discuss important recent publications and debates in this field. It often spends a number of weeks reading recent prize-winning books and articles in the field, and sometimes examines a topical theme for part of a term. There are also occasional guest lectures. Last year, for example, there were lectures by Jeff Goodwin (New York University) on the legacy of the revolutions of 1989, and Michael Mann (UCLA) on the rise and fall of neo-liberalism. The seminar also provides an opportunity to develop individual research projects. In each seminar, a twenty or thirty minute presentation is followed by discussion.

Teaching: Fortnightly in MT and LT; three meetings in the ST.

Indicative reading: A short list of some important recent books and articles that could be discussed in the seminar will be suggested at the beginning of the year, and the seminar is always open to suggestions from participants. Readings continually change, but, for the purposes of illustration, recent seminars have discussed global anti-capitalism, suicide missions, human rights and the new imperialism, Christianity and American democracy, the welfare state, the politics of free markets, labour protest in China, street politics in Egypt, boycotts, and the crisis of capitalism.

Assessment: There is no formal assessment but participants are asked to present papers, contribute to discussion and read the work of selected scholars in the course of the session.

---

SO521
Research Seminar on Cities and Space

This information is for the 2012/13 session.

Teachers responsible: Dr Fran Tonkiss, STC 219

Availability: For MPhil/PhD students doing research on urban and spatial issues in the Cities Programme/Department of Sociology. If space is available, other graduate students may apply.

Course content: This graduate seminar is based on discussion of key readings in the fields of urban social theory and spatial analysis. It also provides a forum for discussion of research issues relating to the study of cities and space.

Teaching: One two-hour seminar every two weeks in the MT and LT.

Assessment: This course is not assessed.
Teaching and Learning Centre courses
Teaching and Learning Centre courses

Study skills and professional development for undergraduate and MSc students

This information is for the 2012/13 session

Teacher responsible: Teaching and Learning Centre staff

Pre-requisites: No previous knowledge required. All students are welcome and all events free of charge.

Course content: This is a year-long series of lectures and workshops designed to complement students’ academic learning, with specialist provision for undergraduate and taught Masters students. Topics include:

- Introduction to study at LSE
- Essay writing
- Effective reading strategies
- Structuring MSc dissertations
- Exam preparation
- Stress management

Teaching: All events follow the dates of the LSE teaching year. Further details, and links to booking pages, can be found at lse.ac.uk/tlc/training

Assessment: No formal assessment undertaken.

Academic and professional development for PhD students (see also MY593A, MY593B and MY593C in Research Course Guides section)

This information is for the 2012/13 session

Teacher responsible: Dr Sarababajaya Kumar (Teaching and Learning Centre), with LSE colleagues and external consultants

Pre-requisites: All PhD students are welcome, but booking for each event is required. For some events, participants are requested to bring along current work and/or to be prepared to participate actively.

Course content: This is a year-long series of interdisciplinary workshops is designed to encourage career researchers to communicate their work effectively beyond academia, with a particular emphasis on media outlets, and to support them generally in planning for their futures. Workshop subjects include:

- Writing for the media
- Developing as an academic writer
- Academic interviews
- Perfecting your one page pitch, focusing on print and radio

Teaching: All events follow the dates of the LSE teaching year. Further details, and links to booking pages, can be found at lse.ac.uk/tlc/training

Assessment: No formal assessment undertaken.

Postgraduate Certificate in Higher Education course: Associate Level

This information is for the 2012/13 session

Teacher responsible: Neil McLean (Teaching and Learning Centre)

Pre-requisites: Most participants are likely to be graduate teaching assistants in their first year of teaching, or experienced teachers returning after a break.

Course content: The course is based on three modules:

- Small group teaching
- Evaluating teaching
- Supporting student learning

Each of these requires course work, delivered after the Christmas and Easter breaks, in the form of a practical assignment and accompanied by a rationale of around 2,000 words explaining the candidate’s thinking and showing how it has been informed by reading relevant literature on higher education. A series of workshop-style training events runs throughout the year to support progression through the course.

Teaching: All courses follow the dates of the LSE teaching year. Further details (and links for booking events) can be found at lse.ac.uk/tlc/training

Assessment: Participants are required to submit a portfolio of their course work in either June or November which will be assessed. Successful candidates will be granted Associate Level of the PGCertHE and are eligible to become Associate Fellows of the HEA.

Postgraduate Certificate in Higher Education course: Full Level

This information is for the 2012/13 session

Teacher responsible: Neil McLean (Teaching and Learning Centre)

Pre-requisites: Participants move directly to this course from the Associate Level (see above) and are therefore likely to be graduate teaching assistants in their second year of teaching, or experienced teachers returning after a break.

Course content: The course is based on three modules:

- Assessing student work
- Lecturing
- Course design

Each of these requires course work, delivered after the Christmas and Easter breaks, in the form of a practical assignment and accompanied by a rationale of around 2,000 words explaining the candidate’s thinking and showing how it has been informed by reading relevant literature on higher education. A series of workshop-style training events runs throughout the year to support progression through the course.

Teaching: All courses follow the dates of the LSE teaching year. Further details (and links for booking events) can be found at lse.ac.uk/tlc/training

Assessment: Participants are required to submit a portfolio of their course work in either June or November which will be assessed. Successful candidates will be granted the full PGCertHE and are eligible to become Fellows of the HEA.

---

Postgraduate Certificate in Higher Education course:

Career Track

This information is for the 2012/13 session

Teacher responsible: Dr Jane Pritchard (Teaching and Learning Centre)

Pre-requisites: New Career Track members of faculty with fewer than three years’ teaching experience in higher education have been required since 2009 to take the Associate Level Postgraduate Certificate in Higher Education before passing Major Review. Faculty members with teaching responsibilities who have completed their PhD and at least two to three years’ teaching experience may also take this programme.

Course content: The Career Track option is a one year, part time course designed around offering an extended orientation to teaching and learning at LSE for academic staff. It focuses on the tasks new faculty are often asked to perform, in particular lecturing, seminar teaching and the proposal of new courses, and provides insight into student learning, feedback on teaching and ideas on how course design and teaching issues are addressed across the School and within the UK HE sector. The course is based on two assignments:

- Developing teaching practice and student learning
- Course design

Participants are strongly encouraged to draw on their previous teaching experience both during discussions and in their assignments and to consider how this informs their teaching at LSE.

Teaching: In addition to the New Academic Induction Programme in September, each assignment is supported by a number of optional lunchtime seminars during Michaelmas and Lent terms, and one-to-one meetings. All dates for sessions will be posted on Moodle and a briefing session will be held before the start of Michaelmas Term.

Assessment: Participants are required to submit a portfolio in June made up of course work from the two assignments, teaching observation reports and student survey results, and start of year and end of year reflections on teaching, observation of teaching and future plans. Building of the portfolio is done throughout the year, with assignment deadlines following the Christmas and Easter breaks.
Disclaimer

Every effort has been made to ensure that the information in the Calendar is correct and up-to-date at the time of publication (September 2012). Circumstances may change subsequent to publication. The online version of the Calendar, which will be adjusted from time to time throughout the year, is the definitive version: in the case of differences between versions, the online version should be considered authoritative. The School reserves the right at all times to withdraw or alter particular courses and syllabuses, and to alter the level of fees.