As well as all these workshops, we still have one-to-one sessions with Royal Literary Fund Fellows and English for Academic Purposes teachers available to help you with your writing until the end of the Summer Term (Friday 8th June).

But don't worry! There'll be plenty going on in LSE LIFE over the summer time to help you with your dissertation - one-to-one sessions with LSE LIFE study advisers (as usual!)

one-to-one sessions with quantitative methods advisers drop-in sessions for research ethics, data protection, and data management drop-in sessions for using Word and Excel to format your dissertation drop-in sessions to think about how to present your dissertation and your MSc to employers events to get you thinking, talking, and writing about your research, together with your peers.

For more information and to book one-to-ones visit lse.ac.uk/lselife or just drop by LSE LIFE reception, Monday- Friday from 10:00-18:00.
