1 Introduction

As an undergraduate student, you are required to take the equivalent of 4 full unit courses each year as prescribed by your programme regulations. All of these courses (whether compulsory or optional) will need to be selected using LSE for You. Once you have selected your courses, the Timetables Team will create your timetable.

This guide will take you through the process of course selection. It includes advice on how to find out more about courses, understand your timetable, and deal with any special circumstances that may arise.

Course selection is managed differently by different academic departments, so you are advised to consult this guide in conjunction with the Course Selection and Timetables pages in your Department or Programme Handbook along with any other information provided by your home department, and the department(s) teaching the courses you are taking.

Further information can also be found on the Student Services Centre's Course Selection Webpages.

Throughout the guide you will see three symbols which alert you to new information, common problems, or tips on good practice.

The blue icon calendar indicates something which has changed for the 2024/25 academic year. Please ensure you read these sections carefully so that you're up to date with the changes.

The orange caution icon indicates something recognised as a common problem or misconception with the course selection and timetabling process.

The green star icon indicates good practice in course selection. These are things that might help you in the course selection process.

Help us to improve these guides...

We're very keen to make these guides as useful as possible. If you spot an error, identify an omission or would like to suggest an improvement please provide us with your feedback.

2 Key Dates

Course selection for new undergraduates (and General Course students) will open at 10am on Tuesday 10 September 2024. Course selection for continuing undergraduates will open at 10am on Tuesday 03 September 2024.

Selections should be finalised by 5pm on Monday 14 October 2024 (Monday of Week 3).

If required, you can also make changes to Winter Term half-units between 10am on Monday 20 January 2025 - 5pm on Friday 31 January 2025.

3 Glossary of Key Terms

- LSE for You (LfY): An online administrative portal. You will select your courses on LSE for You during the course selection windows outlined in the Key Dates section above.
- Student LfY: Due to development work, some functions have moved over to Student LfY. All course selection will take place in LfY.
- Moodle: LSE's virtual learning environment, where course materials and lecture recordings are shared, you can submit work and engage with lecturers and class teachers. This is separate and distinct from LSE for You.
- Calendar: An online platform that gathers together all regulations relating to students and their study. It contains the programme regulations and courses guides you will use when choosing your courses.
- Terms: Periods of teaching into which the academic year is split. Autumn Term runs from September to December, Winter Term runs from January to April, and Spring Term runs from May to June.
- Courses: Individual modules of study that form part of a degree programme, e.g. FM213 or HY226, are called 'courses'. Normally the teaching in a course will consist of a lecture and a class, but this does vary. The two letters in a course code indicate which department teaches the course, and the first number indicates the usual year of study. For example, PB100 is a first-year course in the department of Psychological and Behavioural Science.
- Unit: A measure of course value. Assessed courses carry a unit value of either one full unit or one half unit. 4 units must be taken in each year of your undergraduate programme.
- Programme: A full BA or BSc degree comprising all units studied, for example BSc in Economics or BA in History are both degree programmes.
- Paper: In an undergraduate programme, each year of study is divided into 4 papers. Each paper will include a course or group of courses that can be selected as options or must be taken as a compulsory element of your programme. Your programme regulations in the Calendar will show the papers for each year of study for your programme.

- Unlisted course: A course that is outside of a programme's listed options, but that you can request to study.
- Compulsory/Core course: A course that must be taken.
- Elective/Optional course: A course chosen from a list of options.
- Capped course: Courses with limited places. When the number of students registered for these courses reaches the capped number, the course is full, and no further students can take it.
- Prerequisite: A requirement you must fulfil in order to be able to take a course. For example, a specific A-level may be required to select certain first year courses, or a specific first year course may need to have been completed to select some second year/third year courses.

4 Finding Courses

Before you start

If you are a new student, before you start selecting courses on LSE for You you should complete online pre-enrolment. You will activate your LSE network account during pre-enrolment. You will then be able to log into LSE for You to select your courses. You do not need to have completed campus enrolment to select your courses.

You are strongly advised to attend any induction and/or advice sessions hosted by your department before selecting your courses. These information sessions will provide you with guidance about the course selection processes specific to your programme.

You will receive information about these sessions from your department.

Using the LSE Calendar

The LSE Calendar is an online resource that contains programme regulations and course descriptions for all courses taught at LSE. You can use the Calendar to:

- 1) Check your programme regulations as they will tell you which courses are compulsory for your programme, and which optional courses you might be able to choose.
- 2) Read the course guides to find out more about every course including teaching arrangements, academic content, assessment, readings, and survey results from past students. You can also view introductory course videos by following the links in the course guides.

Finding out more about courses

In some cases, you may also be able to view course content from previous years by enrolling on courses on Moodle.

To find and self-enrol on a course on Moodle:

- 1) Login to Moodle with your LSE Office 365 username and password

- 2) Click on the 'Search Courses' option at the top left of the page and type the relevant course code or course title into the search bar that will appear. You will also have the option of browsing courses by department.

- 3) The course you have searched for should then appear in the search results. Click on the title of the appropriate search result to enter the course.

- 4) On the course landing page, click 'Enrol me in this course'. Then click 'Enrol me' at the bottom of the page to self-enrol as an auditing student.

Some courses may not allow self-enrolment or may require an enrolment key. For assistance in self-enrolling on these courses you should contact the department responsible for teaching the course.

Enrolling on a course on Moodle is not the same as selecting a course on LSE for You and being formally registered on the course to take the assessments. You can be enrolled on a course on Moodle, but not formally registered on the course.

Viewing the LSE timetable

The School-level timetables can be viewed on the Timetables webpages.

There are two School-level timetables, published at different times:

- 1) The Lecture & Seminar Timetable is published in mid-August. This shows the times of all lectures and seminars only. Access does not require an LSE login.
- 2) The Timetable viewed by course code is published in mid-September. This shows all lecture, class, seminar, and workshop timetables. Access requires an LSE username and password.

Together, these timetables show weeks in which teaching takes place, times, and locations of all teaching for every course and for each week of the Autumn, Winter and Spring Terms. At undergraduate level, the majority of small group teaching will take place in classes rather than seminars.

You should make use of the School-level timetables when choosing your courses. They can help give you an idea of what your personal timetable might look like when it is generated, and also help you identify any courses it may not be possible for you to take due to timetabling clashes.

Understanding Capped Courses

Some departments have capped courses, meaning that places on these courses are limited. On the LSE for You course selection system these courses are labelled as 'CAPPED'. A full list of capped courses for the 2024/25 academic year is available here.

These courses are offered on a first come first served basis and, as soon as the number of students registered reaches the capped number, the status of these courses will change to 'FULL' and no further students will be able to select them.

Remember that, depending on your programme, it may be advisable to have a few “back-up” optional courses in mind in the event that any of your preferred courses are already full.

If you do not secure a place on one of your preferred courses, remember you might be able to take it in a future year. It may also be possible for you to audit the course. Auditing is an arrangement whereby you enrol on the course on Moodle and attend the lectures for the course, but do not undertake any assessment for it. The Course Leader must give their permission. If you are interested in auditing a course, please discuss this with your Academic Mentor in the first instance.

5 Selecting Courses

Selecting Listed Courses

To select courses in the programme regulations (and therefore that appear in the lists in the course selection system) you will need to:

- 1) Login to LSE for You using your LSE username and password. Whilst LSE for You will work on a mobile device it is much easier to use a computer or laptop.
- 2) Find the 'Selection of Courses' option in the left-hand menu and click on it.

- 3) If you try to access course selection during the 15 minutes before it opens, you will be placed in a virtual waiting room. All students in the waiting room will be allocated a place in the queue when course selection opens and the message they will see while in the waiting room is below:

- 4) Either when it opens or a later point, if the queue is in operation and there is a high volume of students trying to access course selection, you may at this point be placed in a virtual queue. Students who are in the queue will see the below message until they have reached the front of the queue and are able to make their course selections:

- 5) If you have reached the front of the queue, you have 60 minutes to enter course selection. If you take longer than 60 minutes to enter course selection after reaching the front of the queue, you will see this message:

- 6) If the queue is not in operation or students have reached the front of the queue, they will see the undergraduate course selection landing page (please note, the image below is an example and does not reflect dates for the 2024/2025 academic year).

Selection of Courses

Welcome to the Undergraduate Course Selection application.

This application allows you to view your current course selections. During the course selection period it also allows you to make or change your course selections.

2022/23 Academic Year, Course Selection dates:

- Continuing undergraduate students from 10am UK time on 21 July 2022 until 5pm UK time on 7 October 2022.
- New (first year) students from 10am UK time on 06 September 2022 until 5pm UK time on 7 October 2022.

Continue to your course selections ...

START AGAIN

- You should then click on the “Continue to your course selections” link to progress to course selection.
- Students who are inactive within LSE For You after 20 minutes will be logged out of LfY. Once in course selection, students who are logged out owing to being inactive and then try to return may have to queue again if the queue is still in operation.
- Once you have entered course selection, tick the paper(s) you wish to select courses for and click ‘Change Selected Courses’.

All course selections are subject to availability, timetable constraints and approval from your Academic Mentor.

You can re-enter LfY and change your selection of courses as many times as you like during the course selection windows. If you are selecting capped courses, capacity on those courses could be reached while you are away. If the demand for course selection is high when you return to LfY, you may be placed in the virtual queue.

Selecting Unlisted Courses

If the course that you want to take does not appear in the list in LSE for You, you will need to request it as an unlisted course at step 11 Please make sure you have saved any other course selections or changes before requesting an unlisted course. Any unsaved course selections made when an unlisted course is requested will be lost.

- 1) Complete steps 1-13 above, as though selecting a listed course.
- 2) Scroll to the bottom of the page and click 'Request unlisted course'.

Selection of Courses

You are applying to take a course that is not explicitly listed in your programme of study. The level of permission that is required will vary depending on the course you wish to take (please refer to the programme regulations). Some courses may only require additional approval from your Academic Mentor, whilst others may also require the approval of your Departmental Tutor. If you wish to take a course outside your programme regulations then a Suspension of Regulations will be required. Please read the following terms and agree to them by clicking on the 'I agree' button before continuing.

You should provide academic reasons for your request on the page provided.

Your request will be automatically forwarded to your Academic Mentor for comment. If the request is approved it will be forwarded to your Departmental Tutor for comment, as appropriate.

Cases requiring a suspension of regulations may be forwarded to the Undergraduate Studies Subcommittee for consideration after they have been approved by the Departmental Tutor.

You should select a course from within the programme regulations whilst you are waiting for a decision on your unlisted course request. If your request to take an unlisted course is approved your course choice will be updated.

Once your request is approved the course will automatically be entered on your online course choice screen and, in term-time, you will be allocated to teaching within three days.

As with listed courses, unlisted course selections are subject to approval, availability, and timetable constraints.

Towards the end of the course selection period your Academic Mentor will check your overall course selections to make sure you have selected the right number of courses and that they align with your programme regulations.

If you are selecting an unlisted course that is also capped, you will not have a place on this course until your Academic Mentor and Departmental Tutor have approved your request.

The check from your Academic Mentor is distinct from the approval given when you request to take an unlisted course. This final check has no impact on whether you get a place on any capped courses, when your timetable is published, or when you are enrolled into courses on Moodle. You should not rely on your Academic Mentor to notice issues with your course selections – it is your responsibility to make sure you select the correct number of courses and that they align with your programme regulations.

LSE100

LSE's flagship interdisciplinary course is compulsory for all first-year undergraduate students and taught in fortnightly 80-minute seminar-style sessions. Before enrolling at LSE, you will select one of three themes to focus on during LSE100, each of which foregrounds a complex and pressing question facing social scientists. LSE100 will be added to your course selections and timetable automatically based on your choice of theme.

6 Your Timetable

On LSE for You

Students have the following options to access their teaching timetable:

To access the timetable in list view go into Student LfY.

- 1) Access the My studies tab. Go to the Teaching timetable sub-tab.

Note 1: timetable clashes will not appear.

Note 2: Students can see the details of their teachers by clicking on the button at the bottom of the screen.

Note 3: Students also have the "My teaching today" widget on the homepage of Student LfY. This will only start coming through when starting teaching weeks. This won't show other events.

- 2) Go into Student Hub to access the timetable in calendar view.

Student Hub

Student Hub is LSE's student app, which allows you to view your personal timetable, see news and events, and book office hours. Your timetable will appear on Student Hub and Student LfY on Friday 27 September 2024.

Student Hub is available for iOS, Android and on the web at studenthub.lse.ac.uk.

7 Special Circumstances

Requesting to take courses outside LSE (selecting Intercollegiate Courses)

In exceptional circumstances you may be allowed to take courses offered at other University of London institutions, this is known as intercollegiate study. To register for a course outside of LSE, you need to:

- 1) Complete the form available on the Taking a Course Outside of LSE web page. Your department will need to approve the request.
- 2) Request and complete the relevant registration form for the other University of London institution, obtaining the necessary approval as indicated on the form.
- 3) Submit both the LSE and the other institution's registration form to the Student Services Centre. A member of the Student Services team will sign and return the form to you, and you will then need to submit the form directly to the other institution.

Within 5-10 working days, the outside course will appear on your course selection list on LSE for You.

It is your responsibility to ensure that you abide by the other institution's course registration deadlines, as they may refuse your application if submitted late.

Timetable clashes

A timetable clash occurs when two or more of the courses you have selected have teaching (e.g. lectures, seminars, classes, or workshops/help sessions) scheduled at the same time. Whilst LSE makes every effort to avoid clashes, due to the number of optional courses available on some programmes, it is not always possible.

If you have enrolled for this academic year and made all of your course selections in LSE for You, but either cannot view your personal timetable or can see only a partial timetable, it's likely to have a timetable clash. There is a 'Student Timetable Clashes' screen in LfY which may help to identify your clash. This screen provides details of simple clashes, these are the straightforward lecture to lecture clashes. Some clashes are more complex and do not appear on the list in LSE for You. Complex clashes may involve more than two courses and often arise when a clash free seminar/class group can't be found even though there are multiple groups.

You are also advised to consult the School-level timetables (found on the Timetables webpage) and check all of your course timings so you understand the full nature of the clash(es).

If you do have a timetable clash:

- 1) Get advice from your Academic Mentor. We recommend you change one of your courses to another course that does not clash, and your Academic Mentor will give you advice about what changes to make.
- 2) Once you have chosen your new course(s), your personal timetable should update within 3 working days – as long as your new choice is clash-free.

If the clash involves a Language Centre course, it may be possible for the appropriate Language Co-ordinator to resolve the clash.

If you are seeking timetable clash approval for a clash between two lectures, you should check that at least one of the lectures is recorded via lecture capture before the Departmental Tutor can manage the clash approval. If you are seeking timetable clash approval for a clash between a lecture and a class, you should check that the lecture is recorded and let the Departmental Tutor know so they can manage the clash approval.

In exceptional circumstances, you may be allowed to take clashing courses. The clash should be discussed with your Departmental Tutor. If they approve the clash, they will ask you to accept a disclaimer, usually via email (some Departments will use a form). Once approved your Departmental Tutor will notify the Timetables Office who will then process in 3-5 working days.

As attendance at classes/seminars is compulsory, a clash between two classes/seminars will not be approved. There can only ever be one class/seminar involved in an approved clash. In cases where a class/seminar is involved in an approved clash, you will be expected to attend the class/seminar and catch up on the lecture (or other teaching) in your own time. You must not attend the lecture (or other teaching) instead of the class/seminar.

If you do have a timetable clash approved, it will be assumed that you understand the risks involved in not attending all available teaching and that it is your personal responsibility to catch up with any work that you may miss. You also understand that special consideration cannot be given to any of your assessments because of this clash. Any Exceptional Circumstance Forms submitted stating a timetable clash as grounds for special consideration will be automatically rejected.'

Late course change

You should complete your course selections in advance of the system closing on Monday 14 October 2024.

However, in exceptional circumstances, it may be possible for you to make changes after the deadline. If you are concerned that you may need to make changes after the deadline, you should contact your home department in the first instance. To make a late course change you are required to:

- 1) Complete the late course change form, which can be found under the 'Late Course Change' section of the **Selecting Courses webpage**.
- 2) Collect the relevant approval signatures on the back of the form.
- 3) Return the completed form to the Student Services Centre by attaching it to an **online enquiry form**.

No course changes to full units or Autumn Term half units are possible after 5pm on Monday 21 October 2024. Forms received after this deadline will be returned unprocessed.

Winter Term course change

You will be able to make changes to Winter Term half units from 10am on Monday 20 January 2025 until 5pm on Friday 31 January 2025.

To make changes to Winter Term courses during the Winter Term course selection period you should:

- 1) Complete the undergraduate Winter Term Course Change form, which can be found under the 'Undergraduate' section of the **Selecting Courses webpage**.
- 2) Collect the relevant approval signatures on the back of the form.
- 3) Return the completed form to the Student Services Centre by attaching it to an **online enquiry form**.

No course changes to Winter Term half units are possible after 31 January 2025. Forms received after the deadline will be returned unprocessed.

It is not possible to change full-unit courses or half-unit courses that were taught in Autumn Term during the Winter Term course change period.
