LSE Senior Common Room
Annual Dinner 2016

Guest of honour and after-dinner speaker
Lord Victor Adebowale

Lord Adebowale is a Governor of the School. He is Chief Executive of Turning Point, a health and social care organisation providing services for people with complex needs, including those affected by substance misuse, mental health issues and those with a learning disability.

In 2000, he was awarded the CBE for services to the New Deal, the unemployed and homeless young people. In 2001 he was appointed a cross bench member of the House of Lords.

He has a passionate interest in public service reform and reversing the inverse care law: those who need public services most tend to get them least. In pursuit of this, he lectures widely on the subjects of poverty, social exclusion, equality and human rights, leadership and change management.

He is a Visiting Professor and Chancellor at the University of Lincoln and holds numerous honorary doctorates as well as being a Fellow of the City & Guilds of London Institute, an associate member of the Health Service Management Centre at the University of Birmingham and of Cambridge University Judge Business School. He is also the founder and Chair of Collaborate at London South Bank University.

The SCR Annual Dinner is on Thursday 19 May 2016, reception from 6.30pm. For further information about the Annual Dinner and the booking form, please visit the SCR website: lse.ac.uk/SCR.
