

Yearly Checklists for Mentees - 2024

These checklists are aimed at guiding you on the topics you could discuss with your academic mentor when planning the actions for the year and also when you think there is not much to talk with them about.

Quick checklists for First-year Undergraduate students

This year, I will:

- Start my programme and gain a good foundational knowledge in key concepts
- Meet new people and join LSE's academic community
- Complete assignments and exams
- Receive feedback and plan how to improve work in the future
- Choose my course options for my second year of study

This year, I could:

- ➔ Attend Office Hours to discuss theories and ideas and raise any questions I have
- ➔ Join clubs, societies or volunteer groups
- ➔ Attend LSE LIFE, LSE Careers and departmental extracurricular activities
- ➔ Apply for paid work
- ➔ Apply for internships
- ➔ Look for private rented accommodation if I'm planning to live there in my second year of study

Quick checklists for Second-year Undergraduate students

This year, I will:

- Build on my understanding of the theories that underpin my discipline and start to take modules looking at more specialist areas
- Continue to meet new members of the LSE community
- Complete assignments and exams
- Receive feedback and plan how to improve work in the future
- Choose my course options for my third year of study

This year, I could:

- ➔ Attend Office Hours to discuss theories and ideas and raise any questions I have
- ➔ Join clubs, societies or volunteer groups
- ➔ Attend LSE LIFE, LSE Careers and departmental extracurricular activities
- ➔ Apply for Study Abroad programmes
- ➔ Apply for paid work
- ➔ Apply for internships
- ➔ Look for private rented accommodation if I'm planning to live there in my next year of study, including moving out of a previous property

Quick checklists for Final Year Undergraduate students

This year, I will:

- Continue to build on my specialist knowledge
- Continue to meet new members of the LSE community
- Complete assignments and exams
- Receive feedback and plan how to improve work in the future, at LSE and beyond
- Think about my future after my Undergraduate degree

This year, I could:

- ➔ Attend Office Hours to discuss theories and ideas and raise any questions I have
- ➔ Join clubs, societies or volunteer groups
- ➔ Attend LSE LIFE, LSE Careers and departmental extracurricular activities
- ➔ Apply for further study, at LSE or beyond
- ➔ Apply for graduate internships or paid work
- ➔ Consider running as an LSESU Sabbatical Officer
- ➔ Look for private rented accommodation if I'm planning to live there next year, including moving out of a previous property

Quick checklists for Postgraduate students

During my studies, I will:

- Gain a good knowledge of key concepts and arguments
- Meet new people and join LSE's academic community
- Complete assignments and exams, including a dissertation
- Receive feedback and plan how to improve work in the future

During my studies, I could:

- ➔ Attend Office Hours to discuss theories and ideas and raise any questions I have
- ➔ Attend LSE LIFE, LSE Careers and departmental extracurricular activities
- ➔ Join clubs, societies or volunteer groups
- ➔ Apply for further studies
- ➔ Apply for paid work
- ➔ Look for private rented accommodation if I'm planning to live there in next year, including moving out of a previous property