

GY328 Formative Assessment Self-Evaluation

The core objective of this self-evaluation is to give you the opportunity to reflect on your own work in GY328 thus far, and to consider how that work is reflected in your Formative Assessment.

Additionally, the exercise will:

- Enable students to incorporate student-led learning into course assessment and
- Give the instructor an additional opportunity to assess students' engagement with the course material and ensure that the remainder of the term is responsive to corresponding needs.

Please answer the following questions (approximately 3-4 sentences each):

- 1. How would you evaluate your own work in GY328 so far this term?
- 2. How do you think that your work in the course is reflected in your group's Field Guide map? How would you evaluate your contributions to your group?
- 3. Are there particular aspects of the Field Guide Map on which you would like feedback?
- 4. What aspects of the course have been most helpful in facilitating your comprehension of the course material? What else would help you to improve your comprehension of the material?
