Introducing the Estates Division Building Managers

As a result of customer feedback, LSE Estates Division has appointed five Building Managers to be the primary point of contact on Estates related issues for Departments, Research Centres and Divisions.

What do they do?

The Building Managers are each responsible for the care and upkeep of a group of buildings across Campus. They are the link between the various building users and Estates and are there to provide a quality customer-focused Facilities Management service to all stakeholders. The Building Managers provide a physical presence within their allocated buildings and are the first point of contact on all FM-related matters. The Building Managers are responsible for providing information and assistance to the users of the building and ensuring that all areas are clean, tidy and orderly. They also ensure any Health and Safety issues are reported and dealt with in a timely manner and that any repair and maintenance issues they come across are reported to the Estates Helpdesk.

What can you expect?

You can expect a first-class customer-focused service from a team of dedicated professionals who are on hand to work closely with Departments on all FM aspects of the building. We would welcome being invited to your Departmental meetings, where appropriate, to discuss FM/Estates-related matters, if that would be helpful.
